not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

TROLLEY FREIGHT

Old Colony Street Railway Take Petition to Commissioners

The trolley freight problem in Quincy has come to light again in a petition that has been filed with the Railroad Commissioners for a right to operate a trolley freight on Randolph avenue in Quincy between Braintree and Milton.

The petition recites that permission was asked for such privilege from the city council of Quincy on June 1, but the body failed to take action upon it and having waited more than the 60 days provided in what is known as the "missing link" public carriers act of 1907, the Old Colony Co. now comes to the commissioners for its approval and the right to carry such matter through Quincy.

The matter first came up in Quincy in 1905, when a petition was filed with the City Council asking approval of the company operating a trolley freight line on Randolph avenue, and on all other lines in Quincy.

No action was taken by the City Council that year the petitions being sent over to the Council of 1906. That year members of the Citizens' Association and others appeared before the committee and urged that the approval be granted with restrictions.

Later, however, considerable opposition developed, it being claimed that the street railway would not give any information as to rates to be charged; further that the company would not grant certain passenger service and other improvements much desired.

The result was that the petitioners were given leave to withdraw.

It was because of this refusal, which the street railway claimed tied up all towns south of Quincy from enjoying the privileges of a trolley freight, that the act of 1907 was changed.

The new law provides that unless action is taken inside of sixty days from the filing of a petition, the company may forward a petition to the Railroad Commissioners who are authorized to act.

This year the street railway came before the City Council with another petition for the privilege on Randolph avenue.

A public hearing was held and the necessary order offered. It took its usual course going to the Committee on Ordinances for engrossment at the meeting in July when adjournment was made for the summer vacation.

The Committee did not report on the matter at the meeting of Sept. 9, but did report correctly engrossed on the order at the meeting of Sept. 23.

At that meeting there was quite a spirited discusion in which Mayor Thompson took part although Councilman Hobbs strenuously objected to the executive department interfering with the duties of the legislative department.

There were but sixteen members present at this meeting, and there was some question as to whether a majority vote of those present or a two-thirds vote of the whole Council was necessary to pass the order.

A motion to lay on the table was offered and prevailed, and the order is now on the table.

In the discussion it was brought out that it might be a good thing to have the matter go to the Railroad Commissioners, for then Quincy people would be given an opportunity to ventilate its grievances.

Requirements Vary.

The Boards of Health in different cities have varying ideas as to what expense manufacturers shall be put under their orders to supply medical and surgical chests. Where the requirements of Salem without chest are but $2.75, they are as high as $14 in Chelsea with chest. The Boston requirements in a plain box with a hinged cover costs about $12.50.

A number of the stores in City Square will close all day Wednesday that the clerks may attend the Brockton fair.

Senator Jenney Is Renominated

Senator Charles F. Jenney of Hyde Park was unanimously renominated on Monday evening by the Republicans of the First Norfolk district, which includes Quincy, Braintree, Weymouth, Holbrook, Randolph, Canton, Milton and Hyde Park.

The convention was held in Wesleyan hall, Boston, but as there were no contests only 35 of the 49 delegates were present. Representative F. G. Katzmann of Hyde Park was chairman and H. W. Davenport of Braintree secretary. Quincy was represented on the committee on credentials.

Ex-Representative Barnes of Weymouth placed Senator Jenney in nomination, and the motion prevailed by acclamation.

H. Clifford Gallagher of Milton was reelected a member of the Republican State Committee.

The president of the City Committee of Quincy in 1908 together with the chairmen of the several town committees of the district were elected as the Senatorial committee of 1908.

Provisions were made for the filling of vacancies, and at 8.20 the convention adjourned.

The delegates were entertained by Senator Jenney after adjournment at Young's Hotel. He held a reception in one of the parlors, and welcomed each delegate personally. Later a banquet was served in the State dining room.

Chairman Katzmann presided at the post prandial exercises and spoke briefly, Senator Jenney received an ovation when introduced and spoke at length on measures before the Legislature, and the wisdom of appointinga committee to investigate the finances of the city of Boston. In marked contract was the economical administration of State affairs by the Republicans, and voters should not be led astray but vote this year for the Republican candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor. Because we have no contests we should not be idle, but rally at the polls on election day.

Mr. Gallagher told of the workings of the State Committee, and the need of organization. The word "Machine" was distasteful to him, and was not applicable to the State Committee. He urged the importance of electing active ward and town committees; not to reelect those who have become sour or disappointed.

Quincy School Girl His Fiancee

Miss Bertha Batchellor of Littleton, N. H., a recent graduate of the Quincy Mansion school, was the fiancee of Lieut. John H. Furse of the United States Navy who was killed on Sunday on the battleship Illinois in Cape Cod bay.

Lieut. Furse was stationed on the forward deck of the Illinois during the gale, and, with all the other officers and men on the ship, was working with might and main to prevent her dragging her anchor and fouling the other ships of the big fleet on the training grounds. He had just given an order for all hands to cling hard to the life lines when the mountainous billow he had seen coming, and which had been the reason of his warning, broke fairly over the big ship.

She did not rise to meet it at all, and before he himself, occupying the most exposed position on the deck, could rush to safety he was caught in the cataract and hurled with awful force along the deck. He was thrown against the forecastle bulkheads and so crushed and maimed that when the hundred sailors who had witnessed the catastrophe rushed to his assistance they thought that he was dead. Bones in all portions of his body were crushed.

He was taken to the officers' quarters, and the ship's surgeons did all they could to save his life, but it was useless, as he died at 4 o'clock Monday morning without regaining consciousness.

Lieut. Furse was a roommate and bosom friend of Lieut. Caspar Goodrich, who was killed by the explosion on the battleship Georgia near the same spot last summer.

Girls to Help At Elks Carnival

"Hello, Bill" is the greeting for the crowds passing through Hancock street, who will go to the Coliseum during the week of Oct 14 to 19, to view the work which the members of Quincy lodge of Elks have devoted to their carnival. A large banner bearing the above salutation was thrown to the breeze Monday morning, being suspended on a wire strung from the Savings Bank building to a pole on the opposite side of the street. Everyone passing through the street must see it and everyone who replies to the greeting by attending the Carnival will learn the meaning of the welcome contained in "Hello Bill."

The transformation of the interior of the Coliseum is progressing rapidly. For the past week Edward J. Murphy, the energetic chairman of the committee of arrangements, has had a force of cleaners at work on floor, ceiling and supports. Everything is now ready for the decorator, who will be given a free hand and every aid to produce the best results. Joseph Mohan and his assistants on the committee on display have planned some novel effects, and promise to set a standard for future electrical displays in this city.

The girls, too, are now coming forward to help make the Carnival a success. The sentiment of all is well expressed in the following letter which Exalted Ruler Deasy received from one of the fair friends of Quincy Lodge:

"I really am grateful for the opportunity to assist Quincy lodge in return for the good time which I had at the dance last winter. You may count on me and a number of my friends to do all in our power to crown the Carnival with success."

This augurs a bevy of charming young women presiding at the booths and tables, while others will be seen in the vaudeville entertainment.

Tonight the various committees will meet at the club house to make reports. Exalted Ruler Deasy expects that every member will be present, as there is new work now to be considered in convention with the opening of the Carnival.

FIGHT FOR PENNANT

Detroits and Philadelphias Have a Remarkable Contest

FORMER SLIGHTLY IN LEAD

Forty Thousand People Witness American League Leaders Play to a Standstill--Wanted to Continue Even After Darkness Had Fallen

Philadelphia, Oct. 1.—In one of the greatest baseball games ever seen in this city Detroit and Philadelphia, who are making a sensational fight for the American league championship, yesterday played each other to a standstill. The game went 17 innings and was called by the umpires because it was too dark to play any longer.

Both teams were worked up to a high pitch and neither side wanted to quit, although the street lamps surrounding the grounds had already been lighted. There being no result, the positions of the teams remain the same, Detroit having a lead of 7 points. Each team has seven games on its schedule before the season ends. Had it not been for the fact that two games were to have been played, necessitating an early start, the game would not have gone 17 innings.

It was a remarkable contest in many ways. It is estimated that fully 40,000 persons were packed in and outside the grounds. The official paid attendance was 24,127, and several thousand more were admitted on passes or otherwise. Hundreds gained admittance over the fence, the police for a time losing control of the crowd outside. Roofs of surrounding houses were crowded to the danger point, the thrifty householders charging from 25 cents to $1 for standing room on their roofs.

The multitude within the enclosure was well controlled except in the 14th inning, when First Baseman Rossman of Detroit nearly caused a riot. In this inning Davis hit to centre field, Crawford dropping the ball on the edge of the crowd. Crawford claimed he was interfered with and the whole Detroit team came in to back up Crawford's claim. In the confusion that followed, First Baseman Rossman struck Monte Cross, who was coaching. Cross went at Rossman, but the other players interfered and stopped hostilities. The crowd surged on the field and for a few minutes matters looked dangerous, but the excellent work of the police prevented further disorder and the crowd fell back. Davis was declared out and Rossman was put out of the game. Killian took his place.

The honors of the game undoubtedly belong to Donovan, who after being hammered for 14 hits in seven innings, pulled himself together and the more he pitched the better he seemed to get. In the last 10 innings he held the home team to six hits. He only gave three bases on balls in the 17 innings.

Dygert lasted only a little more than one inning, when he was relieved by Waddell. The latter pitched remarkable ball for three innings, striking out six of the first eight men that faced him. The crowd went wild over the performance, but later he weakened and was replaced by Plank in the ninth inning, after Cobb had hit him for a home run, tieing the score. Plank pitched his usual steady game and was seldom in trouble.

Philadelphia looked like an easy winner up to the seventh inning, when they had a lead of 7 to 1. In the seventh Philadelphia made one, bringing the score to 8. Detroit made four runs on poor fielding, added one in the eighth and tied the score in the ninth. Both teams scored in the 11th and from then to the finish neither side could get the extra tally.

PLATT SUED FOR DIVORCE

Mae Wood Claims She Was Married to the Senator In 1901

New York, Oct. 1.—Mae C. Wood, the former government clerk who has been suing Senator Platt for several years, yesterday brought action in the supreme court for absolute divorce from the senator, alleging that she had been married to him in the Fifth Avenue hotel, New York, in 1901.

J. D. Lee, representing the plaintiff, announced the action as "Platt against Platt" and he said the motion was for the purpose of framing an issue. He said he wanted the details to become generally known.

John B. Stanchfield, who appeared for Platt, asked that the matter be heard in private by a referee. He said Platt was never married to Miss Wood and therefore there was no ground for divorce. Justice Seabury reserved decision.

Old Permits Brought to Light

New York, Oct. 1.—The mystery of the pipe line under Central Park, belonging to the National Transit company, one of the subsidiary companies of the Standard Oil company, has been solved. Search through the records of the park board developed the fact that the original permit to lay the pipe line was granted in 1877, and that a permit to relay the pipe was granted in 1889. No one connected with any department of the city government remembers anything about the granting of the permits.

Swedes to Challenge For Cup

Stockholm, Oct. 1.—After many years given to the consideration of the subject, the financial and other difculties have been overcome and Sweden again is about to challenge for the America's cup, which she competed for in 1852. Two prominent millionai yachtsmen have subscribed $135,000 toward the expense of the undertaking and they have engaged the services of the best yacht designers and builders in Sweden.

Killed Sweetheart and Self

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 1.—John Miller, aged 24, shot and killed Mrs. Rose Pier, also aged 24, said to have been his sweetheart, and then committed suicide at his mother's home. It is said they quarreled and when the girl sat down at a table Miller is alleged to have picked up a shotgun and practically blown her head off. He then turned the weapon on himself and shot off part of his own head.

Another Lynching In Prospect

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 1.—Sheriff Casalas and a posse have gone to Whistler to begin pursuit of an unknown negro who seized Mrs. Johnson at her front gate last night. She screamed and the negro fled. A neighbor shot at him several times as he ran. This is the place where an attempt was made on Mrs. Breeder two weeks ago, for which Mose Dossett was lynched.

Doctor and Editor In Duel

North Sydney, N. S., Oct. 1.—Defending alleged aspersions upon his own and his wife's honor, contained in a newspaper article, Dr. Fromy of St. Pierre, Miq., fought a duel with M. Mazier, editor of The Revell, and wounded him severely. Swords were chosen as weapons. Mazier's wound is not regarded as likely to be fatal.

Planning For Judges' Ticket

New York, Oct. 1.—With a view to the selection of a non-partisan ticket for the coming judicial election at which two associate judges of the court of appeals are to be chosen, the Democratic state committee has appointed a committee of three to "confer with all parties that will unite in such nominations."

Booker Washington's Big Deal

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 1.—Governor Comer has sold his plantations in Barber and Bulloch counties, consisting of 18,000 acres, for $162,000. It is understood that the purchaser is acting for Booker T. Washington, whose intention is said to be to establish colonies of negroes on the land.

Airship's Great Performance

Friedrickshafen, Oct. 1.—Count Zeppelin made a successful flight in his airship yesterday. He was aloft for seven hours. The machine responded with splendid results to the will of the pilot. It came down on its voyage to take on board a representative of the ministry of war.

Much Money Left For Charity

New York, Oct. 1.—General Charles E. Furlong of this city, who died at Portland, Me., recently, bequeathed $140,000 to charitable institutions in New York city and the south, in his will, which has just been filed for probate. As yet the value of the estate is unknown.

Cholera Spreading In Russia

St. Petersburg, Oct. 1.—The epidemic of cholera, which broke out early in August, is spreading rapidly, and already 12 provinces are affected. It is not possible to check the scourge and every day it is appearing in new provinces.

Wife Drew Him Into Politics

Wheeling, Oct. 1.—A child wife's ambition is the cause of W. H. Hearne, the millionaire attorney, announcing that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of this state. Hearne is 60 years old.

STEAD'S COMPLAINT

Neglect of President Roosevelt by Peace Conference

WAS INITIATOR OF MEETING

Courtesies Extended to Other Great Chiefs of State Who Played but Secondary Parts--"Minor Scandal" That Ought Not to Have Occurred

The Hague, Oct. 1.—W. T. Stead has published in the Courier of the Conference an article entitled "Honor to Whom Honor is Due" and in which he recalls the three occasions when the conference rendered international courtesies: At the first sitting, when telegrams were sent to Emperor Nicholas and Queen Wilhelmina; at the laying of the foundation stone of the peace palace, and at the plenary sitting of Sept. 21, when homage was rendered Emperor Nicholas as the initiator of the conference and Queen Wilhelmina was thanked for her hospitality.

Continuing, Stead writes: "Is there not someone else to whom the conference, mindful of the international courtesies due the great chiefs of state, and even the filial feelings due the progenitor, ought to have paid some recognition, however slight? Has the collective body of the delegates no knowledge of the fact that without the impulsive initiative of President Roosevelt in 1904 there would have been no conference in 1907? President Roosevelt is the initiator of the present conference. Although Emperor Nicholas is worthy the greatest honor as the originator of the first conference, he played but a secondary part in summoning the second."

Mr. Stead says he believes the proprieties of the etiquette of international intercourse have been shocked by this conspicuous, although unintentional, neglect of President Roosevelt by the conference, which he calls one of those minor scandals that ought not to have occurred. Stead adds that Senor Barboza (Brazil), whose position entitles him to express the sentiments of Latin-America, might be able to suggest a remedy whereby the conference, even at the eleventh hour, might remedy this "curious omission."

England Proposes New Conference

London, Oct. 1.—Great Britain is sounding the great powers, including the United States and Japan, through her delegates to The Hague peace conference, according to The Daily Mail, regarding the holding of a conference in London in the autumn of 1908 to endeavor to arrive at an agreement regarding contraband and other questions of naval warfare, and it is believed that her proposals will be accepted.

Perhaps Knocked Out by Rush

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 1.—H. D. Fowler, a Cornell freshman of Galveston, died here after a mysterious illness. The circumstances surrounding his death gave currency to the rumor that he died from injuries sustained in the "rush" Wednesday evening. Dr. Beaman, however, says that the "rush" had nothing to do with Fowler's death. He said that death resulted from paralysis of the pneumogastric nerve, and the cause of such paralysis could only be absolutely determined by an autopsy.

Prison Guards Committed Murder

Belgrade, Oct. 1.—The autopsy on the bodies of Maxim Novakovics and Milan Novakovics, the two former army officers who were killed in jail during a fight with the prison guards, proves that the two men were victims of police ferocity. It was found that the wounds which caused death were not self-inflicted, as had been reported. Public excitement is running high, and troops are held in readiness to put down any possible demonstration.

Big Fair Officials Resign

Norfolk, Oct. 1.—Authentic reports disclose the fact that a number of heads of departments will resign with Director General Barr of the Jamestown exposition, who has declined to withdraw his resignation. John A. Wakefield, chief of concessions, and A. C. Sherwood, chief of admissions, announce their resignations. It is reported that W. M. Dixon, assistant director general, and S. W. Bowles, director of publicity, have resigned.

Army Balloon Experiments

Washington, Oct. 1.—A message from Captain McCoy of the signal corps of the army from Princess Anne, Md., announced the arrival there at 5 p. m. yesterday of himself and Captain Chandler, the army aeronaut, in the balloon which started from this city at noon yesterday and which is being tested with a view to its adaptability for use in the army.

Roosevelt Loses Companions

Lima, O., Oct. 1.—President Roosevelt was almost half an hour late in leaving Canton, and as a consequence his traveling schedule was somewhat disarranged. At Canton he lost some of his traveling companions and at Crestline others, so there was left in his car only Secretary Loeb, Assistant Secretary Latta and Dr. Rixey.

Denial of Mutiny Story

St. Petersburg, Oct. 1.—The chief the naval staff denies the report fro Odessa that a serious mutiny h broken out on board the Russian flee at Sebastopol.

An Unrevealed Mystery

[Original.]

Few United States army people remember the mystery which occurred at Fort C. many years ago, a mystery which has never to this day and doubtless never will be revealed. Those under whose notice it took place are now either on the retired list or dead. Yet here and there dozing over a newspaper at some army or navy club a white headed old man may be found who can give the circumstances.

One day away back in the last century guests were assembling at the quarters of Colonel Athern, commanding Fort C., to celebrate the wedding of the colonel's niece, Miss Roxana Bonfield, with Lieutenant Reginald Allen. Allen had secured a leave or had been sent away on some duty—it was claimed that he was purposely absent—and was to have returned for a bachelor farewell dinner he was to give on the evening before the wedding. There were no mails or telegraphs handy at that time by which he could send any word, and when he did not appear for the dinner it was supposed he had been unavoidably detained. But when the garrison clock struck 12 the next day, the hour appointed for the ceremony, and he did not appear there was a hum of surprise.

Allen never did appear again at Fort C. The lady he was to have married bore the slight put upon her so well, never uttering a word of blame, that she received the sympathy of every one. Not a person at the fort who afterward met Lieutenant Allen—he offered no explanation of his conduct—but gave him a dead cut. He remained in the army only a year after the day he was to have been married, when, finding himself tabooed wherever he appeared among army people, he resigned and disappeared.

Five years after her disappointment Miss Bonfield engaged herself to Captain Gregg. The engagement occurred just before Gregg was ordered to another post. Certain young wags with more love of saying mean things than delicacy debated among themselves if Gregg would behave as Allen had behaved. But Gregg, after being engaged for six months, during all of which time he was absent from his fiancee, returned in ample time for the wedding.

There is no record that any disagreement ever occurred between Captain and Mrs. Gregg. During the first few months of their marriage Gregg appeared as a devoted and happy husband. Then one day when he went on duty he gave evidence of having received a shock. To inquiries as to his health he replied that he was never better. Nevertheless he had a hunted look and lost flesh till his uniform hung about him in deep creases. While the loving devotion he had shown his wife did not continue, he was perfectly respectful and attentive to her. What surprised every one was that she did not treat him or appear to worry about him as a sick man. She seemed rather indifferent than otherwise. Then people whispered to one another that she had never recovered from having lost her first love.

Gregg finally got a year's leave and went abroad—without his wife. At the end of the year he returned in fair condition, but with something of the hunted look left.

In six months he was sent to a retreat, where he died a few years later.

Mrs. Gregg was now a woman of twenty-eight. She had no children and did not look her age. The unfortunate endings of her love affairs had not seemed to cast any cloud over her. She was not at all depressed. She appeared simply as any other young woman whose husband had died and left her a widow. Her widowhood was short. In eighteen months after Gregg's death she became the wife of Major Thurston.

Thurston's sister, an army woman, begged him not to marry Mrs. Gregg. But when the brother asked for reasons he got nothing except what has been told thus far in this story—that is, that the woman had been treated shamefully by her first fiance and that her husband had died of some brain or nervous trouble. The major declined to act the part of the first and saw no reason why he should fear the fate of the second. The sister still protested; but, without a reason, he declined to change his course. He married Mrs. Gregg and ten weeks later committed suicide.

Thurston is not the first man who has made a mistake by not heeding a woman's warning because no good or sufficient reason accompanied it. Women have been known to be right in condemning a man from the shape of his nose. However, there was not the slightest proof that Mrs. Thurston had any direct or indirect influence on her husband's suicide. What surprised every one was that this climax to her unfortunate matrimonial affairs seemed to have no more effect upon her than either of the other cases. She seemed perfectly passive under each and all of them. Nevertheless she did not marry again, though it was reported that several men at different time were attentive to her. It was supposed that on learning her marital record they desisted.

Mrs. Gregg-Thurston died when she was past fifty. No explanation was ever given of the blight that fell on her lovers, but there was a story told by the physician who brought her into the world that her mother a few months before the child's birth had been frightened by a snake.

May not Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes' character of Elsie Venner, whose mother suffered a similar fright, the child inheriting serpentine traits, explain the mystery of Roxana Bonfield?

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

ALL WORN OUT.

This is the time of year for the "all worn out" feeling. You hear it everywhere. "I'm all worn out." Did you ever stop to think what it means? Well, it means just this; 'my liver is dull and not working properly, my stomach is taking too much food which it is'nt digesting properly, I'm all clogged up from being indoors with so little fresh air all winter long, and my body is full of impurities. In consequence I'm dull, half feverish and tired all the time.' That is what 'all worn out' really means. Take a tablespoonful of Cooper's New Discovery three times a day for two weeks and the 'all worn out' feeling will certainly leave.

MR. JOHN BURGER.

Mr. Burger was 'all worn out' once. "For some weeks I suffered from an affection of the stomach that seemed to wear me out completely. My system was run down, my bowels constipated, I had dull headaches and although I was not sick enough to go to bed I did not have ambition to stir around. I read of Cooper's New Discovery and began using it. I am glad to say that two bottles put me on my feet and relieved every symptom of my trouble. It is one of the best system tonics I have ever heard of." John Burger, 1119 Hopkins St., Cincinnati, O.

BAIL IS FORFEITED

"Dr." Bolin, Charged With Burglary, Mysteriously Disappears

BARTENDER BY OCCUPATION

Man Said to Have Served Term In State Prison For Burglary Received Into New Rochelle Society and Became Popular

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 1.—The excitement under which New Rochelle labored Sunday when "Dr." Samuel Bolin was arrested on a charge of burglary changed to almost stupor yesterday, when developments came thickly.

In the first place, Bolin failed to appear in court when his case was called and the $1000 bail which friends had put up for him Sunday night was forfeited. The next shock came when Mrs. Bolin told the police that, while she believed her husband owned an interest in a drug store in Harlem, his regular occupation was that of bartender. Then came the assertion that Bolin had served a prison term in New Jersey and had been arrested for burglary in New York.

This was followed by the report that Mrs. Bolin had attempted suicide. She threw herself in front of a slowly moving trolley car on Main street yesterday afternoon, but the car was stopped before she was in any particular danger. Later the police stated that she had disappeared from town.

According to the story told by Mrs. Bolin, her husband attempted twice to kill himself after he was released on bail Sunday night, but she prevented him. Soon after, she says, he left the house and she has no idea what became of him.

Bolin and his wife, who moved here two months ago and bought a house in the exclusive section of town, were received into society and became very popular. Bolin was understood to be a physician and chemist and proprietor of a drug store in Harlem. Early last Thursday morning, the police claim, he attempted burglary at Abraham Levison's hardware store. His counsel, John A. Van Selm, told the court that he believed his client had killed himself.

Mrs. Bolin told the police that she had married Bolin in Russia in 1902. Soon afterward her husband came to America and two years ago sent for her and she joined him here. A general alarm and request to arrest Bolin has been sent out broadcast.

Picture In Rogues' Gallery

New York, Oct. 1.—That one Samuel Bolin, the name given by the man who was arrested in New Rochelle on a charge of burglary and forfeited his bail, has a police record, was stated by Chief Inspector McCafferty of the New York city detective bureau.

"This man was arrested in Newark, N. J., Nov. 2, 1903," said the inspector, "in connection with a robbery of silks and velvets and served a term in Trenton prison. On April 28, 1906, he was arrested here as Samuel Diamond, with Gussie Rosenberg, in connection with the theft of $3000 worth of silks and satins and sentenced by Recorder Goff to a term in prison. As Samuel Bolin he was arrested Oct. 20, 1902, with burglars' tools in his possession and served a six months' term on Blackwell's island. His picture is in the rogues gallery at police headquarters, its number being 5855."

Stole Silks In New Jersey

Newark, N. J., Oct. 1.—Captain Carroll of the detective bureau of this city has sent to the police of New Rochelle a picture of one Samuel Boling, who was arrested here five years ago and served a term in the state prison on a conviction of burglary. Boling and five others were captured in a spectacular manner. They were convicted of robbing David Klein of $2500 worth of silks.

Grub For Canal Workers

Colon, Oct. 1.—The government transport Culgoa arrived here with cold storage supplies for the canal workers. The isthmian canal commission has taken other measures to bring in a steady supply of provisions and a future shortage of supplies is now unlikely.

SHORTAGE OF 446 TONS

Evidence That Boston Paid For Coal Which It Never Received

Boston, Oct. 1.—A shortage of 466 tons, 1311 pounds, of coal, valued at $3.41 a ton, with a total value of $1589.06 on coal supposed to have been delivered to the city of Boston by the W. K. Niver and the Boston Coal companies, forms the gist of the evidence brought out before the finance commission at yesterday's sessions of that body, resuming its public hearings after an interval of nearly three weeks.

In this shortage the name of Maurice H. Klous figures repeatedly. Klous was agent for these two coal companies, and he was arrested last week and held in the municipal court for a hearing Friday of this week on a charge of larceny of $8008.13 in two counts, from the city of Boston.

Another significant feature of the session was the announcement by Counsel Sughrue that a summons had been served on William Thompson, employed by the Boston Coal company, and that apparently Thompson, acting on the advice of counsel, had declined to appear in answer to that summons. The commission has not decided what action it will take on this issue.

Naval Lieutenant Killed

Boston, Oct. 1.—The battleship Illinois came in to the Charlestown navy yard from target practice off Barnstable with the body of Lieutenant John H. Furse, who died from injuries received as a result of the storm of Sunday. Chief Boatswain's Mate R. D. Bottcher was also very seriously injured, and Boatswain's Mate Peterson was hurt. All three men had been thrown violently by the storm against a hatchway.

Honeymoon Is Interrupted

Providence, Oct. 1.—Fred La Crosse, 28, of Southbridge, who was married to a young woman of his home town at Fall River last Saturday, had his honeymoon brought to an abrupt end yesterday afternoon, when he was arrested by local officers on a warrant from Southbridge. He is suspected of stealing gold scraps from the American Optical company of Southbridge. His bride is completely prostrated over the arrest.

Says He Killed In Self-Defense

Boston, Oct. 1.—Lewis Harris of New York, who is on trial charged with murdering Michael J. Cunningham, a union teamster, during the teamsters' strike last spring, went upon the stand yesterday and told the jury his version of the tragedy. Harris who was a strike-breaker, said he was attacked and shot Cunningham, one of his assailants, in self-defense. The case may go to the jury today.

Opposed to Railroad Merger

Concord, N. H., Oct. 1.—William E Chandler issued today an open letter to the Republicans of New Hampshire, calling upon them to oppose the transfer of the Boston and Maine railroad to the ownership of the New York, New Haven and Hartford system. He declares that there is a wise limit to consolidated capital beyond which additional benefits to the people cannot be obtained.

Boston Loan Orders Rejected

Boston, Oct. 1.—The board of aldermen rejected two loan orders yesterday, refusing to endorse Mayor Fitzgerald's recommendations for a loan of $23,000 for the repair of the Congress street bridge and for a loan of $16,500 for the construction of a new dock at Long island. A third attempt made within three weeks to elect a Democratic chairman of the board failed.

Fatally Injured at Football

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 1.—Leonard J. Clarkson, 20 years old, manager of the Norwich university football team, died yesterday as a result of injuries received in the football game between Norwich and Dartmouth here Saturday. While attempting to tackle a runner during the game he ruptured the intestines.

Seventy Cows and Horses Burned

Pittsfield, Mass., Oct. 1.—Fifty-eight cows and 12 work horses were burned to death in a fire which destroyed two large barns, two silos and a boiler house on the Meadow Farm property, owned by the estate of Walter Cutting. The loss is estimated at $30,000. The cause of the fire is not known.

Open Season For Deer

Bangor, Me., Oct. 1.—The deer hunting season in Maine opened today, continuing until Dec. 15. A considerable number of sportsmen have already gone into the woods and the prospect is good for a successful season, should weather conditions be favorable. The moose season begins Oct. 15.

Old Legislator's Sudden Death

Boston, Oct. 1.—Collapsing in a crowded auction room while bidding on some rare old carpets, ex-Representative Marcus C. Cook, the father of the Greater Boston idea, died at the Relief hospital of heart failure and old age. He was born in Granby, N. Y., in 1827.

Hundred Lasters at Work

Brockton, Mass., Oct. 1.—The executive board of the Independent Lasters' union last night voted to furnish financial aid for the striking lasters. Superintendent Drake of the Douglas company says that 100 lasters are working in the shops. The number of lasters on strike was originally 250.

Strike of Bookbinders

Norwood, Mass., Oct. 1.—To enforce a demand for an eight-hour day, the bookbinders in the employ of H. M. Plimpton & Co. and E. Fleming & Co. went on strike this morning. The present schedule of work is 56 hours a week.

NEW EXECUTIVE CHOSEN

Van Etten Deposed as Head of Boston and Albany Road

Boston, Oct. 1.—The Post says: Aroused at last by the demands of the New England public and the threats of the Massachusetts railroad commission, the New York Central officials have acted.

Edgar Van Etten has been deposed as the executive head of the Boston and Albany in this city, and J. H. Hustis of Syracuse, rated one of the greatest traffic men in the country, will assume the executive charge of the system in Boston today.

The Boston and Albany is to be made a part of the New York Central system. Through trains are to be run from the west and south without change or shifting at Albany, and in Van Etten's office at the South terminal station last night, W. C. Brown, senior vice president of the New York Central lines, who came on to make the changes, pledged his personal word, in an interview with a Post reporter, that neither men nor money should be spared until the Boston and Albany has reached or exceeded the efficiency of the main system, and all its patrons are perfectly satisfied.

Would Repeal Fourteenth Amendment

St. Louis, Oct. 1.—A strong desire to do away with the conflict of jurisdiction between state and federal courts, and, as one of the phases of that, to restrict the power of federal courts in their dealings with affairs pertaining wholly to a state, seemed to prevail at a convention here of attorneys general from 13 states. Most of the trouble was traced to the 14th amendment to the constitution by Attorney General Fletcher of Mississippi, who said he did not see why it should not be repealed, as it did no good for the negroes, for whom it was originally passed, and succeeded only in embarrassing state courts.

Autoist Held In $10,000 Bail

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 1.—George M. Wetherbee, a Boston automobile dealer, pleaded guilty in the superior court to a charge of manslaughter in causing the death of Warren F. Bachelder of Cambridge. After the plea of guilty was entered, the case was continued for sentence until the next term of the court and Wetherbee's bail was increased from $5000 to $10,000. An uncle of the defendant furnished the necessary sureties. It is alleged that Bachelder was alighting from an electric car and was about to cross the tracks, when he was run down and fatally hurt by an automobile operated by Wetherbee.

Won Race, but Lost Balloon

Paris, Oct. 1.—The balloon Nord, piloted by M. De Lobel, has been declared the provisional winner of the race for the grand prize of the Aero Club of France, which started from here Sunday afternoon. This airship covered 159 miles. De Lobel was picked up at sea by a steamer and landed at Dover. The balloon found in Suffolk must have been his, as he abandoned the airship when he boarded the steamer. On quitting the balloon it reascended and disappeared.

Pair of Alleged Murderers

Camden, N. J., Oct. 1.—On a charge of having brutally killed Mrs. Frances Horner, wife of a prosperous farmer, and Victoria Natoli, a servant employed in the Horner household, Charles Gibson and Stephen Dorsey, negroes, have been placed on trial. Both women were killed while Horner was trying to put out a fire in the barn which, it is thought, was started by the murderers. The women were attacked with an axe and then the house was robbed.

Would Bar All Orientals

Ottawa, Oct. 1.—It is reported from Vancouver that a petition praying the dominion government to pass drastic legislation barring all Orientals from Canada is being circulated. The sentiment in Vancouver is reported as being in favor of appealing to the king if the dominion government does not act immediately.

Alleged Grafters Indicted

Harrisburg, Oct. 1.—True bills against seven of the 14 defendants in the capitol prosecutions were returned in three of 32 suits by the Dauphin county grand jury. The remaining 29 cases will be taken up at once, and there is reason to believe that true bills will be returned in all of these.

Root Reaches Destination

Mexico City, Oct. 1.—Greeted by several thousand persons, Secretary of State Root arrived in Mexico City yesterday afternoon as the guest of the Mexican government. Chapultepec castle was formally turned over to Root and the historic palace will be his residence during his stay in Mexico.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The announcement in Monday's Daily Ledger that ex-councilman George A. Sidelinger was a possible Republican candidate for mayor this fall meets with universal favor. On all sides nothing but favorable comment is heard, and the expression of all is that he will allow the use of his name.

Mr. Sidelinger is looked upon as a man in every way fitted for the position. He is not in any way identified with the present administration and is a man who can unite the party and bring about harmony once more.

The general impression on all sides seems to be that he could easily be elected.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

William Johnston of Faxon road has gone on a business trip to Connecticut.

The street railway has sent twenty of its open cars to Brockton for use during the days of the fair.

Mrs. John Hunt of Squantum street is spending the early part of the week with relatives in Holbrook.

Miss Fannie Hayes of Appleton street who has been at the Boothbay Hospital undergoing surgical treatment, came home Wednesday.

Little Willie Bowers son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bowers of Granite street has returned from the Good Samaritan Home, after a successful operation on his foot in May.

It is reported that the Knights of Columbus have secured the room in the Savings bank building recently occupied as the telephone exchange for a club room.

There will be special trains from Quincy to Brockton on Wednesday and Thursday at 8.30 A. M., and regular trains at 8.49, 6.49, 10.49, 11.49, and 12.49 which require one change.

The Ladies' Benevolent society of Memorial church met Monday afternoon with Mrs. Harry Read of Squantum street. The society will give the first church supper for Wednesday evening, Oct. 2, and a large attendance is anticipated.

Miss Bessie and Miss Mabel Drew of Walker street left Saturday for Jamestown. After a week at the Exposition, Miss Mabel Drew will return home and Miss Drew will go on to Hampton, Virginia where she teaches music in the Hampton Institute.

A menu that will appeal to the most exacting will be served by the ladies of Whatsoever circle of Kings Daughters at the family fair which opens in the vestry of Congregational church at Wollaston tomorrow. Cold meats, salads and home-made rolls and pastry never fail to touch a tender spot.

The date set for the organ recital to be given by Prof. Frank Wrigley at Christ church is Thursday evening, October 10th at 8 P. M. Mr. Wrigley will be assisted by Mr. Walter Hersey, bass of Trinity church, Boston. Tickets for this recital may be obtained from Mr. Luce, organist of the church, and only those holding tickets will be admitted on that evening.

Milk dealers advanced their price today; some to eight cents and some higher. They say that the rigid requirements of the State Board of Health is responsible, as they have been put to extra expense.

Councilman George Sawyer and family of Faxon road were expected home from their summer cottage at Squantum this week, but owing to a fracture of the arm Mr. Sawyer will be obliged to postpone his home-coming for a while.

Mrs. Alfred Jelinek of Botolph street will entertain the Atlantic whist club at her home this evening. The club has made it a rule that each hostess shall serve refreshments beginning with the first letter of her last name. This will give opportunity for unique ideas.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

On Sunday night in the gale the refrigerator ship Glacier collided Sunday evening off Barnstable with the U. S. cruiser Des Moines, built at Quincy. They were hurled together twice. A hole was stove in the Glacier and she had a perilous trip to Boston, crew and passengers donned life preservers and every one was ordered to work.

Henry Schulze head of the estimating department, has returned from his vacation, most of which he spent on his sailboat.

Miss Allen of the correspondence department, is ill.

Coal barge Chenango has discharged cargo and is waiting for a tug boat to take her away.

The S. S. "H. F. Dimock" of the Metropolitan S. S. Co., has been moored in the dock in the berth vacated by the "Herman Winter."

Captain-of-the-Watch Stoddard was keen in the detection of the man who wrapped some copper in his overalls and tried to get through the gate with it. It cost the man $15 in fines, which is quite high for copper.

Tugs "William Sprague" and "Juno" towed the S. S. "Herman Winter" to Boston on Monday. Port Captain Evans was in charge.

Manager H. G. Smith has issued this notice: "It is desired to complete the Lighter New England by Saturday, October 19. All concerned will use their best efforts to that end."

WARSHIP FLAGS.

Few realize the number of flags carried by a warship, nor the cost of all the gay bunting which flutters from mast to mast at holiday time, says the Army and Navy Life. In addition to fleet communication, necessary during all forms of maneuvors in home water, the ship must be equipped with an extensive array of flags stored on board for various forms of ceremonial and official occasion. This "dress suit" outfit of bunting, therefore, consists of 250 different flags, the material and making of which cost just $2500. Each ship is entitled to a new flag equipment every three years, though a flagship will often require a new set of signals, owing to their constant use and handling, in about a year.

A great deal more time and labor are required to finish certain of these flags than is generally supposed. For instance, the president's flag requires the longest time of any to make, as it takes one woman nearly a whole month to complete it. The life sized eagle, with long, outstretched wings, and other emblems, are all hand sewed, and involve the most patient work. The most difficult, and likewise consuming the longest time to make, are the foreign flags. This is especially true of the South and Central American ones. A half dozen specially skilled hand device sewers, each having acquired the knack of making certain of the centre designs in these to perfection, are continually kept on these respective flags. Every battleship carries 43 foreign flags, 25 ft. by 13 wide.

The most expensive ensign to make is the German, which, owing to the delicate scrollwork of the large imperial eagle and royal crown, necessitating delicate, slow and careful sewing, costs $56.50. The dragon flag of China consists of 200 separate pieces. Twelve to 14 days are ordinarily consumed in finishing this flag, which costs $51.75. The flag of Siam, with the huge white elephant, costs $38. The Mexican, with its centre design of a large eagle holding a serpent in its bill, cost $39.50. The cheapest foreign flag is the Moorish, which costs $21.

Why the Delay?

As the cooking room at the new High school building has not as yet been equipped, it will be impossible for Mrs. Wade to continue her cooking lessons this year.

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I "had 'em"—yes—a wiggling, squirming mass left me. Judge our doctor's surprise when I showed him thirty feet, and in another day the remainder (about the same length of a tapeworm that had been sapping my vitality for years. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. I trust this testimonial will appeal to other sufferers."

Syracuse Welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Harper

The teachers of the Syracuse High school gave a reception at the High school building on Saturday evening Sept. 28, in honor of Principal Charles F. Harper and his wife, recently of Quincy, Mass. Invitations were sent to the educational people of Syracuse, the principals of the grammar schools and their wives, the members of the Board of Education and their wives, the supervisors of the grammar schools and the Chancellor and deans of the various colleges of the university and their wives.

The reception was held in the library, the women of the teaching corps acting as hostesses. In the receiving line were: Principal and Mrs. Harper, Superintendent and Mrs. A. B. Blodgett and Vice-Principal and Mrs. George A. Lewis.

During the first hour Miss Patterson and Mrs. Kingsley presided in the dining room; during the second hour Miss Susie Brown and Miss Martha O'Brien. The committee of arrangements were: Chairman, Miss Annie Marion; Misses Tumim, Goulding, Sadler, Knapp, Moses, Mr. Fowler and Mr. Smith.

Assaulted Man At the Hospital

As a result of a cutting affray in the Fore River district early this morning, James Atchinson is in a precarious condition at his boarding house at 33 Winter street, and Charles Flannigan is under $1000 bonds until next Monday to await the result of Flannigan's injuries. According to the police, Flannigan made a murderous assault an Atchinson with a pocket knife cutting deep gashes in the latter's face and neck.

Both men occupy the same room at the boarding house and spent the early evening in a drunken debauch, making things hum at the boarding house. Later they retired to their rooms. Just what then happened is not known at the present time. About 3 A. M., the other boarders were aroused by cries of pain coming from the room occupied by the two men. Entering the room they found Atchinson on the floor with blood flowing frm two wounds and Flannigan in a drunken stupor.

Everything in the room was turned upside down, giving the impression that the two had been in a row.

Dr. E. H. Bushnell was called and he found Atchinson weak from the lose of blood. There were two deep cuts, one n the face and the other on the neck very near the juglar vein. He was nearly unconscious and could give no account of what had happened. The police were notified and Chief Burrell with Officers Cahill, Bishop and Boutin were hurried to the scene. They found Flannigan in the room and from what information they could obtain he was the man who had done the cutting. He was placed under arrest and upon being searched at Police headquarters a pocket knife on which there were blood stains was found upon him.

Atchinson was in such a precarious condition that he was removed to the City Hospital. Flannigan was arraigned in the district court for assault with a dangerous weapon on Atchinson and held in $1000 until next Monday.

According to the police if the cut in the neck had been half an inch longer it must have severed the juglar vein.

Both men are employed at the Fore River ship yard.

Steady Decrease In Criminal Cases

Probation officer Francis A. Spear, in his report for the month of September, states that the totals number of criminal cases before the district court that month were 151, against 184 for the corresponding month last year. Of these cases, 68 for drunkenness, 24 for assault and 14 liquor cases. The other cases were for various offenses.

Five of the cases were continued for furthur hearing, 3 for disposition, one to keep the peace, 3 appealed, and 16 complaints issued were not served.

Cudworth—Nash.

Mr. John Quincy Cudworth, one of the most popular members of the Granite City club, and Miss Wenonah Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Newcomb Nash of Upland road, were quietly married Monday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Edwin Noah Hardy, D. D., of Bethany church.

A reception to the immediate families followed at the home of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Cudworth left in the early evening on a brief trip. They will reside at 47 Saville street where they will be at home after Dec. 1.

Opens Next Week.

The New England Food Fair which opens in Boston at Mechanics Building, Oct. 7, will be the most colossal thing of the kind ever attempted. There will be more than 350 exhibitors and of these 50 are to give manufacturing exhibits.

Its free entertainments will make it attractive to the majority of people. Never before has such a bewildering array been offered. More than $25,000 is to be expended in providing amusements of all sorts and the Ceylon Government is expending $25,000 more on exhibit which will be entirely free.

During the first two weeks of the exposition the chief musical attraction will be the famous United States Marine Band. During the entire exposition the Imperial Ladies' Orchestra will play in Exhibition Hall.

The single free feature upon which more than $5000 is to be spent is the reproduction of an old-fashioned one-ring circus just as it was 40 years ago. It is going to take a lot of people back to boyhood days. Daily lectures will be given in the Women's department.

Convention Dates.

Quincy will send delegates to the following convention.

Oct. 3,—Norfolk County Republican at Wesleyan hall, Boston, at 10.30 A. M.,—112 delegates.

Oct. 4,—Second district Republican Councillor at Wesleyan hall at 3 P. M.—243 delegates.

Oct. 5,—Democratic State convention at Springfield.

Oct. 6,—Republican State Convention at Boston—1772 delegates.

Oct. 8,—Republican for district attorney in Southeastern district at Wesleyan hall at 10 A. M.

THE DAY NURSERY

Annual Reports Of Association

Average Cost 50 Cents per Child

The annual meeting of the Quincy Day Nursery Association was held Tuesday, October 1, 1907, in the Council Chamber, City Hall. The president was in the chair and there was a large attendance.

The committee on matron reported that Mrs. M. B. Jones, formerly of Newton had been chosen.

After the usual business the following annual reports were read:

PRESIDENT'S REPORT.

In presenting my fourth annual report as president, I desire to outline briefly the work and scope of the association and its growth since 1903 in which year I was first elected. At that time the nursery was situated on Elm street, but with its one room, lack of accommodations, inaccessibility to mothers and children, it was greatly handicapped in its work. It was soon afterwards transferred to Copeland street where it has been located since. Here, starting in with five rooms, we soon added three more and found this location with its larger quarters more conducive to good work and best results.

During this time we have had two matrons, the second of whom is just retiring after a service of three years and to whom I refer with a great deal of praise for her work with the children and her attention and kindness to the mothers. Her work has been of great practical value. The new matron comes with high recommendations and the continuation of the present state of efficiency and usefulness is anticipated.

In addition to the protection, care and providing meals for the children during the working hours of their mothers, nothing new has been attempted or introduced in the work of the association with the exception of the annual Christmas festivals. The president has regretted that something in the way of cooking lessons, sewing classes or occasional entertainment for the mothers could not be introduced, as carried on in day nurseries in other places, but it has been felt that such was impracticable.

The association in membership has grown from about ninety until there are 250 members at present, and its work, we may safely say, has earned the confidence and support of the citizens generally, as has been evidenced by the practical manner in which they have responded to its needs. It is an institution which is in our city to stay.

It is with the utmost satisfaction that the president has seen the work progress and wishes to thank the members most sincerely for their able assistance and support and, in retiring, gives her best wishes for the continued growth and permanent success of the association. Although the work has perhaps been hard and at times the cost of maintenance has seemed large, yet the returns of it all will show in later years in the development of the children and in having them helped to get started towards becoming better men and women. The president strongly believes, as has been very truly said, that "he who helps a child helps humanity in the greatest way possible."

Mary Addison, President.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Quincy, October 1, 1907.

The Quincy Day Nursery association today rounds out its fourth year of good work, having held ten regular and two executive meetings all but one of which were held in the Women's clubhouse, Goffe street. The attendance has varied from twenty-four members in May to six in April.

The first work of the year was a Rummage Sale, Mrs. E. G. Pratt chairman, held November 16-17 in a store on Granite street kindly loaned by Mr. H. M. Faxon.

At the Nursery on December 29th a bright and most enjoyable Christmas Party was given the children and their mothers. The generosity of the many friends of the nursery made the party possible as well as a success. Mrs. Pratt with able assistants arranged the festival.

Through the courtesy of the Colonial Dames the Dorothy Q house was opened for the Association on May 17th. Mrs. E. C. Bumpus and Mrs. D. E. Wadsworth prepared an interesting afternoon. Mr. Gibson of Boston read in the old kitchen after which ushers in colonial costumes showed the guests over the house and served dainty refreshments. In June Mrs. H. M. Faxon, a staunch friend of the Nursery, opened her home and gave an entertainment for its benefit. Quincy's charming reader Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis delighted all present with her paper on Eugene Field and Mrs. Faxon sang several sweet songs after which a social tea was enjoyed on the lawn.

On July 2d the Association held a most attractive Flag Festival on the Adams Academy grounds. Much of its success was due to the energetic and untiring work of the chairman, Mrs. W. W. Whitcher of Atlantic and of the Association President Mrs. Addison.

The Association was again fortunate in retaining as matron Miss A. M. Gove, who has brought to the work its first essential, a warm interest in children and their welfare, which has been amply repaid by their devotion to her. She has indeed proved a most efficient one for the position, and it is with regret that the Association accepts her resignation at the close of this year.

The Association thanks most heartily everyone who has given or in any way helped along this splended work. Sincere thanks are due Mrs. Addison our faithful president for four years whose devotion and enthusiasm has been unfaltering.

To increase both interest and finances a slight canvass of the city was made for new members and about seventy-five were obtained. Making the membership to date about two hundred and fifty. We are hoping that this number will be doubled the coming year. Thus assuring a large permanent income.

Alice Keith Prescott, Secretary.

O'Neil Arrested For Larceny

Officer Larkin went to Lynn on Tuesday and brought back Edward J. O'Neil, who is wanted by the Quincy police for larceny of clothing at boarding houses. O'Neil is a machinest by trade and early in the year he worked for the Fore River Shipbuilding Co.

At various times he boarded at Yule's Hotel, also in the brick block on Chestnut street and at the Y. M. C. A. Clothing was taken from the hotel and the Chestnut street house in June, and it is alleged by the police that O'Neil could tell how it happened to disappear.

O'Neil also disappeared about the same time. He was, however, arrested in Boston and sentenced to imprisonment at Deer Island. His sentence expired on Monday and immediately upon his release he was arrested by the Lynn police.

He was arraigned in the Lynn court Tuesday and placed on probation. Before he could get away he was again arrested for Officer Larkin and brought to Quincy.

In court he was arraigned upon three complaints for larceny from Philip W. Vincent, Daniel R. Shea, and L. F. Healey. All cases were continued until next Monday.

Flag Raising On Thompson Street

The flag pole which was presented to Albert L. Whitman of Thompson street by Capt. Smith of the yacht Wacondah was placed in position this week and at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon a beautiful flag presented by friends was raised. Among those present were: Capt. Treworgey of the yacht Idalia, Chief Engineer Jordan Percey of the yacht Idalia, Capt. James Smith and wife of the yacht Wacondah, Chief Engineer Swim and wife of the yacht Wacondah, Mr. Perry and Mr. Crowley of the yacht Wacondah, Mr. Keen of the yacht Celthea and Capt. Studley, Councilman E. R. Stone and wife, Fred Drake and wife of Farnum street, Mr. Jones and wife of Bayview street, Mr. and Mrs. George Sprague, Mrs. Henry Lawler and daughters of South Weymouth, Mr. Charles Star of Boston, Mr. Atwood of Thompson street, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Brooks of North Weymouth, Frank Tucker of River street, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Nolan, Mr. and Mrs. William Lee, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mellen and Mrs. S. B. Collins.

Speeches were made by Albert L. Whitman, Mr. Jordan Percey and Councilman Stone. After the exercise ice cream, cake and punch were served by Mr. and Mrs. Whitman and their daughter Mrs. Harris.

Democratic Conventions.

This afternoon, at Dedham, the Democrats are holding several conventions, including the Nortolk senatorial and also representative conventions for the first, the eighth and the ninth Norfolk districts.

Masonic Visitation At Wollaston

There was a very large attendance at Wollaston lodge Tuesday evening, when the lodge received an official visitation from Right Worshipful E. Alden Dyer of Whitman, district deputy grand master of the twenty-fourth Masonic district. He was accompanied by Wor. Silas S. Wright of Puritan lodge, Whitman, as district deputy grand marshal; Wor. Hartley L. White Rural lodge, Quincy, as grand senior warden; Wor. George A. Warren of St. George lodge, Campello, as grand junior warden; Wor. E. J. T. Dexter of Norfolk Union lodge, Randolph, as grand treasurer; Wor. R. F. Allen of Puritan lodge, Whitman, as grand secretary.

Others on the suite were Wor. William H. Cook of Puritan lodge of Whitman, Wor. George L. Maynard of Montgomery lodge of Milford, and Wor. Arthur W. Alden of Norfolk Union lodge of Randolph.

The fellow craft degree was exemplified. After the exemplification the officers of Wollaston lodge were complimented by the deputy on their good work. He also presented Worshipful Sidney F. Copeland with a Past Master's diploma. A banquet and social hour followed.

HOSPITAL WEEK BEGINS NEXT SUNDAY.

Speaking of Hospitals, do you know what a barber's pole means?

In the old times of medical ignorance it was the common belief that nearly all bodily ills had their seat in the blood, and that, consequently, if a man was sick the best thing to do was to open a vein and draw off a good part of his vital fluid! Now everybody knows that the barber has handy tools for bloodletting, and on this account he became a close rival of the doctor in ancient surgical practice. If some unlucky wight didn't feel well and was able to walk, he hied him to the barber for treatment, perhaps because it was cheaper than going to the doctor! For an anaesthetic he gritted his teeth and gripped a staff hard with his hands!

Between whiles the thrifty knight of the razor wound a bloody towel around this staff and set it by his door as a sign that he was ready to do blood-letting with neatness and dispatch!

Hence the barber's pole!

Alas for ancient medical ignorance! Never was anything else so cruel! Many times has snch ignorance, under the name of plague and pestilence, almost depopulated great regions of the earth.

We may thank our lucky stars that we live in these later days of medical light and knowledge, and that we have right here in our midst an institution which embodies the latest and best knowledge and practice regarding the healing of the sick.

Do not allow our Hospital to be hampered in its usefulness for lack of hearty and generous support on the part of all our citizens.

MAN WHO LIES DOWN

Roosevelt Declares That It Does No Good to Help Him

SELF-MASTERY NECESSARY

Stands by His Policy Concerning Undesirable Citizens and Corporations —Touched by Token of Esteem From the Negroes of Keokuk

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 2.—Keokuk put on gala attire to receive President Roosevelt when he arrived here. The occasion of the president's coming was the movement for a deep waterway down the Mississippi river to the gulf, and this city was selected as the point of embarkation for his voyage down the river to Memphis.

The president did not deliver his speech here just as he had prepared it and given it to the press. He did not omit any feature, but frequently turned from his manuscript to interject extemporaneous remarks for emphasis and elaboration.

Again, as at Canton, his theme was the similar treatment for rich and poor, and again he found occasion to point his story with familiar colloquialisms. "Isn't this good doctrine," he asked, after stating his proposition, addressing a Grand Army group in front of him, and when he received a shout of assent, he added that he was always willing to help a man who stumbles and falls, but not to carry the man who "lies down."

"It does him no good, and it is too much for me," he added. He dwelt on the necessity for self-mastery, declaring that "every man must have a master," and adding: "If he does not master himself, someone else will do so."

In another connection he laid down the general proposition that a No. 1 private soldier is worth a number of poor major generals, but added that an A 1 major general is invaluable, the point being that individual merit is the pearl of great price in every walk of life. He was willing to help the big railroad man who is honest and would protect him against the demagogue, but he would not desist in his condemnation of those who were not acting honestly.

"You will remember that a year ago I expressed my opinion of certain undesirable citizens," he said. "I now stand by what I said." He added that he would always condemn the man who incites to murder and would demand punishment for that offense as he would for the crime of the corporation criminals. He would treat both just as he would treat other offenders.

The president also emphasized the importance of preparation for any work. That the American people can "whip the world" he conceded, but contended that they would have a hard time doing it if not prepared. He would have all, both men and women, do well some work that was worth doing, and he announced his contempt for the woman who would shirk her duty as a wife and mother.

The president declared that his present policy in relation to corporations will be continued, regardless of results. He believes it has not disturbed business. Better river highways were suggested and he put in a word for the farmer. Modification of land laws was advocated. He held that federal control of railroads was necessary and said that we want neither mob nor plutocratic government.

Considerable rain fell during the speech, but the president did not allow it to interfere. After he had concluded he was presented with a gold-headed cane by the negroes of Keokuk. The presentation speech was made by a negro plasterer, who assured the president that the negro population of Keokuk has every confidence in his administration and in his determination to treat the black race with fairness.

The incident seemed to touch the president. He grasped the speaker's hand and held it while he made reply, saying that he accepted the present with great pleasure, and adding that in dealing with the black man, as in dealing with the white, he followed what he believed to be the only sane principle—that of treating every man according to his merits as an individual, regardless of race.

The Prairie-Nickerson Collision

Washington, Oct. 2.—Word has reached the navy department from Admiral Evans of a collision in Cape Cod bay or vicinity between the converted cruiser Prairie and the schooner Flora Nickerson. No details are given. The admiral has appointed Commander Potter of the battleship Vermont president of a board of inquiry to examine into the cause of the accident.

Ancients Changed Program

Norfolk, Oct. 2.—The Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston, which was to have come to the Jamestown exposition several hundred strong, to remain there from Oct. 7 to 12, has declared off its southern trip in favor of one to Canada. A special day had been set for the Bostonians at the exposition.

Sheriff Siezes Gloucester Schooner

Liverpool, N. S., Oct. 2.—The Gloucester schooner Agnes, which was ashore near here and towed in with keel and rudder gone, was seized by Sheriff Drew, on behalf of the crew, for wages and salvage. The men have entered a claim for $30 each.

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.
Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.
The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

A DEFICIT OF $10,000,000

Charge of Attorney General Against a New York Railway

New York, Oct. 2.—Startling charges of extravagance and neglectful management, or, if not that, failure to account for millions of dollars, are made by State Attorney General Jackson in a petition calling for the appointment of receivers for the New York City Railway company and the Metropolitan Street Railway company, and also demanding the dissolution of the New York City Railway company. The application for receivers was made to Justice Ford of the supreme court, who issued an order for the defendants to appear in court on Oct. 3 and answer to the complaint.

Receivers for the New York City Railway company were appointed in the federal court several days ago, and yesterday the same receivers were named in the same court to act for the Metropolitan Street Railway company. The New York City company leases the lines of the Metropolitan under a guarantee to pay 7 percent dividends on the Metropolitan stock. This dividend has never been earned since the date of the lease, and the attorney general charges that the deficit to date amounts to more than $10,000,000.

No Trace of Cancelled Checks

New York, Oct. 2.—The affairs of the Metropolitan Street Railway company were further investigated yesterday by the public service commission. It was brought out that over $700,000 in cancelled checks had disappeared and that the names of the payees had seldom been entered on the stubs, all of which, the attorney for the commission endeavored to show, was directly traceable to an effort on the part of the company to cover up transactions which it was unwilling to make public. Of this sum $217,306 was paid to Attorney Lemuel E. Quigg, formerly chairman of the Republican committee of New York county.

Indictment of Cuban Conspirators

Havana, Oct. 2.—Sevehteen indictments have been found by the special judge in the conspiracy cases, and the men indicted are being held in default of $10,000 bail each. The indictments accuse the conspirators "of having agreed upon a plan to overthrow the provisional government of the United States as quickly as possible by dynamiting bridges, burning the properties of all foreigners, excepting Spaniards, killing Americans and doing everything possible to prevent the realization of the coming sugar crop."

Will Remain on the Firing Line

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 2.—General Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, was given a warm welcome in this city. In the course of an address he said: "This is no farewell tour and I have never given the matter of discontinuing my present active work a thought, for as long as there is sufficient strength left in my body I shall be found on the firing line, fighting and lending a helping hand where wretchedness and poverty stalk."

Warship Held For Debt

Sarzana, Italy, Oct. 2.—The Italian battleship Duilio is being held by the local authorities for the non-payment of a debt by the navy department. A local court ordered the department to pay to the Sarzana co-operative bank a certain sum of money. This the department failed to do and yesterday the bailiff of Sarzana went on board the battleship and took possession.

May Have Far-Reaching Effect

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—The convention of attorneys general, in its final session here, appointed a committee to draft a scheme of anti-trust legislation to be sent to all attorneys general, and as a climax adopted a resolution which is expected to aid in removing a thorn in the flesh of the state officers—the interference by federal circuit courts with the operation of state laws.

South Wales Steel Combine

London, Oct. 2.—An important development in the South Wales tin plate industry is announced. It has for its object to cheapen and increase the production and at the same time exclude German and American steel bars. A newly formed combine will include 80 mills, with a working capital of $1,250,000. The work will be completed in a year's time.

New Haven Has a Strike

New Haven, Oct. 2.—Tinners and sheet metal workers in this city have gone on strike to enforce a demand for a wage of $3.50 a day and an eight-hour workday. They also ask that the number of apprentices be limited to one for three journeymen. The strike has tied up the tinning and sheet metal industry in the city.

Compulsory Education In China

Tientsin, Oct. 2.—An imperial edict decrees compulsory education for everybody in China and declares, furthermore, that the people are to be taught the principles of constitutional government in order that they may be better fitted to elect representatives when a parliament is created.

Borah Waives Argument

Boise, Ida., Oct. 2.—A motion for acquittal was made when the prosecution rested in the case of William E. Borah. Judge Whitson will render a decision today. The defense waived argument, but the government attorneys were heard at length.

The Weather Forecast

SIX MEN INDICTED

All Are Prominent In Boston Political Circles

UNDUE INFLUENCE ALLEGED

Charged With Securing Positions For Friends In Violation of Law Relative to Public Service Corporations and Their Employes

Boston, Oct. 2.—In the belief that the statute passed by the legislature of 1903 forbidding the soliciting of positions on public service corporations has been violated, the Suffolk county grand jury has indicted two state senators, two members of the legislature and two aldermen of this city. Those indicted are:

Senator Bromberg of West Roxbury district, Boston; Senator McLeod of Cambridge; Representative McDonald of Charlestown district, Boston; former Representative Gethro of this city; Alderman Curley and Alderman Baldwin. The company with which it is charged these men dealt is the New England Telephone and Telegraph company.

All of the above officials were arraigned and all but Bromberg pleaded not guilty and were released on $1000 bail each. Bromberg asked to be allowed to plead after he had read the indictment. His offense is said to have been committed while he was a member of the board of aldermen last year. The statute provides for a punishment of a fine of not less than $50 or more than $100 for each offense. The grand jury has been investigating the charges of soliciting by the city and state officials for more than a week.

The indictments were drawn under chapter 320, Acts of 1903, entitled: "An act relative to public service corporations and their employes."

The indictments against the state and city officials are due principally to the testimony of Superintendent Dresser of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company before the highway commission at its recent telephone inquiry. At that time Dresser admitted that several politicians were being kept on the payroll.

It is said that others equally as prominent as those already indicted will be haled into court in the near future and answer to the same charge as that lodged against the other state and city officials.

Nine Thousand Involved In Strike

New Orleans, Oct. 2.—The levee strike became serious last night when 1100 freight handlers of the Illinois Central Railroad company announced that they will handle no freight for the steamship lines now using the crews of the vessels to load cotton. The local steamship agents announce that within 24 hours they will begin loading cotton into a dozen vessels with non-union labor, thus defying the 8000 cotton handlers now idle in sympathy with the locked-out screwmen. Over 9000 men are involved.

Boston Newspaper Fined $1000

Boston, Oct. 2.—A fine of $1000 has been imposed upon a Boston newspaper by Judge Raymond in the superior criminal court for contempt. The offense was in an article and headline printed during the trial of Lorenzo D. Perkins, former deputy master of the house of correction, and Orrin Pray, an officer of the same institution, who were charged with assault upon a prisoner. The newspaper was adjudged guilty in writing, publishing and circulating the article, and was given 48 hours in which to pay the fine.

An Exchange of Courtesies

Mexico City, Oct. 2.—With all the members of the Mexican cabinet present, President Diaz received Secretary Root in the national palace. Root said he hoped for a continuance of the good results arising from the cordial relations between the United States and Mexico. Diaz said Root's zealous work for a better understanding between the United States and Latin-America was duly appreciated, and he welcomed the secretary in the name of the Mexican nation.

Anybody But Roosevelt Man

Atlanta, Oct. 2.—At a largely attended mass meeting under the auspices of the Republican State League of Georgia here to select candidates for delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention Senator Foraker of Ohio was put forward as a presidential nominee. The resolutions adopted said: "The league was for Foraker first and if he could not be nominated, then any man who could defeat Roosevelt or Taft, or any man named by Roosevelt."

Harriman Leaves Alton Directorate

Chicago, Oct. 2.—The annual meeting of the Chicago and Alton Railroad company was held at its general offices in this city. Robert Mather was elected to succeed himself and R. A. Jackson and Edwin Hawley were chosen to succeed E. H. Harriman and James Stillman of New York.

Four Blocks Burned--Many Killed

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 2.—The master of a fruit steamship arriving here reports that a conflagration destroyed four blocks in the business section of Port Limon, entailing a loss of $600,000 and resulting in the death of several persons.

A GREAT HANDICAP

Lipton Cannot Build Challenger to Cross the Ocean.

HE ABANDONS CHALLENGE

Regrets That New York Yacht Club Is Not Able, Under Mutual Agreement Clause, to Meet His Wish Under Their Own Universal Rule

Dublin, Oct. 2.—Sir Thomas Lipton again has expressed his deep regret at the refusal of the New York Yacht club to accept his challenge to a race for the America's cup, and in a lengthy letter to the Royal Irish Yacht club he sets forth his reasons in detail. The committee of the club met last night.

"While recognizing the responsibilities of the members of the club as trustees of the America's cup," writes Sir Thomas, "it might be pointed out that when the deed of gift was drawn up the developments which have taken place in regard to the modern racing yachts could not have been foreseen.

"I have already competed three times under the conditions of the deed of gift with the modifications arranged under the mutual agreement clause, and my personal experience of these contests is such that I consider that the handicap of having to design a vessel of the type which has been gradually developed during recent years, and which shall be of sufficiently light construction, yet capable of being taken with safety on its own bottom across the Atlantic, entirely precludes the possibility of competing on equal terms with a vessel which is not compelled to make this ocean voyage.

"My present challenge was drawn up with the view of complying with the principal conditions of the deed of gift, and at the same time encouraging the type of vessel which has been approved and adopted by the New York Yacht club. The sport of yachting, apart from the pleasure derived therefrom, is, to my mind, only desirable so long as it serves the purpose of improving the type of vessel engaged, and it was in that spirit that I desired to challenge under the rules so wisely adopted by the New York Yacht club some three months ago for application in all its races.

"I recognize that the members of this club are well within their rights in deciding as they have done, yet I am sorry that they have not been able, under the mutual agreement clause, to meet me in my wish to have a race under their own universal rule, which, in my opinion, encourages a very wholesome and desirable type of yacht.

"In view of their attitude, however, there is nothing left but to abandon the idea of a contest for the present, although I am always prepared, under mutually satisfactory conditions, to arrange a race."

American League

Philadelphia, Oct. 2.—Philadelphia kept up the fight for the American league pennant by shutting out Cleveland in easy fashion. The victory of Detroit over Washington makes the standing of the two leaders the same as before the games. Dygert was not in danger in any inning except the ninth.

BATTERED TO DEATH

Mysterious Murder of a Woman In a New York Lodging House

New York, Oct. 2.—So cautiously that fellow-lodgers were not disturbed, a young woman was beaten to death in a furnished room house at 431 East 118th street. At noon a man who, with the woman, had occupied the room since last Friday, left the house, lingered for a few minutes in the street in front, and then walked leisurely away. He did not return. The body was discovered soon afterward by the landlady. To the latter the two lodgers were known as Mr. and Mrs. George Boyle of Boston. Upon underwear left in the room by the man was stenciled "George V. Kramer."

The woman had apparently been killed by a blow on the head, and, following death, the same weapon, a beer bottle, had been used to cover the disrobed body with frightful bruises. The face had been pounded until the features were fairly obliterated.

The body is believed to be that of Nellie Quinn, who had been a nurse in the City hospital on Randell's island. Last night George Kramer, a plumber employed in the Metropolitan hospital on Blackwell's island, was arrested as a suspected person in connection with the case. The marked underwear, which also bore the stamp of the Blackwell Island laundry, led to Kramer's arrest. The prisoner, the police say, said that he had known the nurse for three months. They went together to the room on Friday. Since then they had drank a good deal and he could not remember what had happened except that he had left the house about 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Making a Try For the Pole

North Sydney, N. S., Oct. 2.—The American auxiliary schooner yacht John R. Bradley, which left here early in July for the Arctic regions, has returned to port. The Bradley landed Dr. F. H. Cook, who is in command of an exploration expedition at Smith's sound, lat. 79 N. The expedition will attempt to reach the pole by way of the Polar sea. It is provisioned for two years and fully equipped with dogs and sledges for the trip. The party consists of Dr. Cook, another white man, and a number of Esquimaux. It is wintering 30 miles further north than did Peary two years ago.

No Norwegians Need Apply

Stockholm, Oct. 2.—A deep feeling of patriotism and the desire to impress the world with the separate nationality of Sweden appear to be the underlying motives for the Swedish challenge to a series of races for the America's cup. "All men applying to participate in this race, from the captain down, will be examined as to their nationality, and any man having Norwegian blood, even as far back as the fifth generation, will be excluded." These words were used by a prominent yachting authority in discussing the subject.

Society Leader Seeks Divorce

New York, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Aurel Batonyi, a prominent society leader, has begun suit here against her second husband, a professional horseman, for divorce. Mrs. Batonyi is the daughter of Frank Work, a wealthy New York man, and was the former wife of James B. Burke-Roche, from whom she obtained a divorce. Recently it was reported that Work had threatened to disinherit Mrs. Batonyi and her two sons unless she gave up Batonyi.

Sympathetic Strike of Mechanics

Springhill, N. S., Oct. 2.—Four hundred mechanics went on strike at Springhill today in sympathy with the striking miners, and the Cumberland Coal and Railway company has notified the provincial government that it will not be able to keep the pumps going and that the government must be prepared to operate the collieries. The strike is now in its 10th week and the 1500 miners who ceased work and the company show no sign of yielding.

Steamship Line Dissatisfied

St. John, Oct. 2.—One more there is talk of the Allans cutting out the port of St. John from their sailings. This time it arises over the allotment of the harbor berths to the various steamship lines for the winter business. A new berth was given the Allans, but there is no grain conveyer to it, and it is intimated that the Allans will take their non-subsidized steamers to Portland, Me., and stop the mail steamers at Halifax.

Postal Coupon System Investigated

Washington, Oct. 2.—The postoffice department announces the consummation of negotiations with foreign governments for the establishmet of an international reply coupon system by which persons in one country may send to correspondents in aother coutry coupons which are exchangeable for the postage of that country. The purpose of this is to facilitate the prepayment of replies to correspondence.

NEWS IN BRIEF

On Nov. 20, 21 and 22 there will be held at Washington an examination to fill a number of vacancies in the consular corps and two vacancies in the corps of student interpreters in China.

The Massachusetts state trophy and championship of the corps coast artillery was won by the Fourth company of New Bedford at the annual fall rifle competition at Wakefield, the company getting an aggregate score of 575.

Harvard college has fewer students enrolled for this year in all departments than in 1906. The grand total for last year was 3774, while this year it is 3742.

Freeman Patten, a life-long citizen of Gardiner, Me., and its mayor for two years, died suddenly of heart disease, aged 61.

FIRST CLASS SERVICE

Promised to Boston by High Official of Boston and Albany Road

Boston, Oct. 2.—Senior Vice President Brown and other high officials of the New York Central railroad were given a luncheon here by President Shuman of the Atlantic conference. Prominent business men of the city were present.

Mr. Brown, in an address, referred to the complaints against the Boston and Albany service, and stated that he intended to give Boston as good railroad facilities as New York or any city in the country. Referring to the recommendations made to him last February by Boston merchants, he said that as a result he recommended to the management of the road that $1,275,000 be expended for third tracking and grading the Boston and Albany road; $1,389,600 for locomotives and $364,000 for passenger cars, all of which recommendations were at once adopted.

Mr. Brown stated that 36 locomotives had been delivered at the present time at a cost of $609,700 and that 42 more would be delivered in November and December. By Oct. 27 through passenger trains would be running from Boston to Buffalo and return, and in four or five years a four-track system would be in operation, it was also claimed by Brown.

Collision of Express Trains

Providence, Oct. 2.—Three persons were sent to a hospital, while a dozen or more others were slightly cut and scratched by flying glass as a result of a rear-end collision between express trains, both bound for New York from Boston, in the station here. The exact cause of the collision has not yet been determined. The trains leave Boston but three minutes apart. The Knickerbocker train was late and was standing in the station when the Shore Line train came along. It is believed that the engineer of the Shore Line train had every reason to suppose that the track ahead of him was clear.

Mangled by Elevated Train

Boston, Oct. 2.—The body of an unknown man, horribly mangled, was found on the elevated structure of the Boston Elevated road late last night. The attention of the officials of the road were called to the accident by women who saw something falling from the overhead structure to the street below and which on examination proved to be parts of a human body. On the body was a letter which was in a foreign language and signed "J. Poulson, 104 Kimball street, Fitchburg, Mass."

Boys Fell Into Lake

Newton, Mass., Oct. 2.—Joseph Lane, aged 8, and Clayton Davis, 10, went to Crystal lake to fish last evening and were accompanied by Clyde Davis, aged 8. The boys were all standing on a rock. Suddenly Lane lost his balance. As he did so he grabbed at the clothing of Clayton Davis and both went over into the water and were drowned. Clyde Davis hurried home and told his father, who went to the lake only to find the dead body of his son and that of Lane.

Indictment Against Bank President

Boston, Oct. 2.—The superior court grand jury reported an indictment against John J. Whipple, president of the Wildey Savings bank, charged with unlawfully receiving a gratuity of $50 for making a loan for the bank. It is charged that in making a loan for $10,000 at 6 percent interest, the borrower was charged 6½ percent for the first year, the half percent being for the accommodation. Whipple pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Anti-Auto Order Illegal

Nantucket, Mass., Oct. 2.—The town of Nantucket cannot exclude automobiles from the island under the present statutes, according to Judge Sherman, who delivered an opinion in the superior court. The selectmen had posted regulations forbidding the operation of automobiles in Nantucket. To test the order F. J. Tyler of Boston brought a car to the island and later appealed from a fine imposed by the local court.

Liabilities of Half a Million

Boston, Oct. 2.—The sum of $150,000 will be distributed among the creditors of the defunct brokerage firm of Haight & Freese, according to a decision of the United States circuit court of appeals. The liabilities of the company amount to about $500,000. Receiver Colt and each of the two attorneys who appeared as counsel for him are to receive $5000 each for their services.

Bank Robbers Created Commotion

Richford, Vt., Oct. 2.—The authorities of southern Quebec and northern Vermont are searching for five robbers, who blew open the safe of the Sovereign bank at Sutton, a town just over the Canadian border. The attack on the bank was followed by general shooting throughout the town and the organization of an armed posse, which failed to either kill or capture the burglars.

Uttered Forged Notes

Boston, Oct. 2.—Philip Hackett of Wilmington, under the name of Francis Morehead, pleaded guilty to four counts of uttering forged notes to the amount of $77. Outside of Massachusetts his operations have been larger. In Pittsburg he took $1100 receipts of a charity ball and in Washington he is wanted on a charge of stealing an automobile.

Woman Inspector of Factories

Hartford, Oct. 2.—Miss Julia C. Corcoran of Norwich has been appointed as the first woman deputy factory inspector of Connecticut, according to the provisions of an act passed at the legislature of this year.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Registration tonight at West Quincy.

Mrs. C. B. Marstin and daughter of Braintree left Tuesday for Georgia.

Today is Quincy day at the Brockton fair; about 20,000 people were present yesterday but with the Quincy contingent today the total may go over 30,000.

A three days' invitation tournament was opened by the Wollaston Golf club today with a large entry list. Tomorrow the first and second rounds will be played.

Report from the City Hospital are that Joseph Atchinson, the man who was cut during the row in the boarding house at 33 Winter street early Tuesday morning, is doing well, and will probably be out in a few days.

The Y. M. C. A. keeps open house tonight for members and their men friends. There will be an entertainment by the Association Mandolin and Guitar club and refreshments will be served.

Dr. John A. Gordon has returned from Canada, where he has been spending the month on a gunning trip, as the guest of the Megantic Fish and game club of that place. He returns looking fine and reports a pleasant trip and plenty of game.

Bland—Lycett.

Miss Margaret F. Lycett and Mr. Samuel Bland, both of Atlantic, were united in marriage Wednesday Sept. 25, by the Rev. Fr. Cuffe at the Sacred Heart church of Atlantic. The best man was Mr. Munsey the bridesmaid was Miss Bridget Dumphey, both of Quincy. The bride wore white net over white silk and carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore blue silk and also carried a bouquet of roses. A reception followed the ceremony. The couple will spend their honeymoon at Norwell.

Oct. 8,—Republican for district attorney in Southeastern district at Wesleyan hall at 10 A. M.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by Druggists Price, 75c. per bottle.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

The Junior Friday club opened the season on Monday, holding a business and social meeting at the home of its president, Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield of Brook street, Wollaston. There was a good attendance of members and the outlook for a pleasant and profitable winter is assured. The club will commence this season the study of Italy. The next meeting will be held next Monday, Oct. 7th, with Miss Abigail B. Wood of School street.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution after three months' vacation resumes meetings next week, meeting on Monday afternoon Oct. 7th at three o'clock at the birthplace of President John Adams. The council will meet for business at half past two. A pleasant meeting is looked forward to as it is such a long time since the members have met together. The meeting at Hingham in June was so stormy few members were able to attend which was a great disappointment.

The Hospital Aid Association met Thursday afternoon in the chapel of First church and discussed fall work and accomplished the usual amount of sewing.

The first fall meeting of the Mothers' Association is being held this afternoon in Bethany chapel.

A meeting of the state society of the Daughters of the Revolution is to be held Saturday at two o'clock at Hotel Vendome, Boston. The speaker will be Walter S. Hinchman of the Groton school and his subject "The Ideas of the Revolution as Embodied in English Literature. Music and a reception will follow.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Civic Betterment committee of the Quincy Women's club held an interesting meeting this morning at the club house. This is one of the largest and most active committees of the club and it has plans for three entertainments and a dance besides the regular afternoon in the club calendar.

An executive board meeting of the club will be held Thursday morning at the club house at ten o'clock.

The club will open its season on Tuesday afternoon the 8th, at the club house with a business meeting at half past two followed by music and a social tea.

As the year books will not be ready for several weeks postals have been sent out to members with the program for half of the year as follows:

Oct. 8—Business—Music—Social Tea.
Oct. 22—Civic Betterment, "Heraldry." Mrs. Charles E. Cameron.
Nov. 12—Philanthropy. Dr. Jeffrey R. Brackett. (Tea)
Nov. 26—Literature, (In First church chapel) Illustrated Lecture "Tiger Lands." Dr. William Lord Smith.
Dec. 10—Arts and Crafts. Illustrated Talk. Miss Lillian Dearborn. (Tea)
Jan. 14—Education. "Voice and Gesture." Mrs. Isabelle Davis. (Tea)
Jan. 28—Musicale (Tea)

NEIGHBORING CLUBS.

The Waltham Woman's club has arranged its programme for the season of 1907-08 as follows:

Oct. 25, general meeting, Miss Alice Chapman, reader.
Nov. 8, Miss Annie Peck, mountain climber.
Nov. 22, the Rev. W. T. McElveen, "George Eliot."
Dec. 11, Dr. James L. Vance, "The Passing of the Individual."
Dec. 27, Annie Beecher Schovel, "Indian Art and Handicraft.'
Jan. 9, Arthur K. Peck, "The Yellowstone National Park."
Jan. 24, Mrs. A. Isabelle Davis, "Enoch Arden," with Richard Strauss music.
Feb. 14, home afternoon and valentine party.
Feb. 28, club drama.
March 13, William A. Spinney, "Health Through Self-Control in Thinking. Eating and Breathing."
March 27, Appleton ladies' quartet.
April 13, Prof. Henry C. Metcalf, "Art in Relation to Industry."
April 24, annual meeting and election of officers.

Senorita Huidobro is to have full charge of a reception to be given Dr. Adelaide Wallerstein of New York, by the Professional Woman's club on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 10th, at Hotel Vendome, Boston. This club is comparatively young but is constantly growing and is often heard from, numbering many notable professional women among its membership.

The Milton Woman's club will hold its first meeting of the season, Monday, Oct. 7th, at 2. 30 P. M., in the Assembly hall of the High School. The various committees will report as to what work has been done, and give the plans that have been mapped out for the year. A social hour with music and tea, will follow. Notice had already been given of the Exchange, which is to be opened Oct. 7. Consignments to this Exchange may be made by any resident of the town. The Current Events lectures, by Mrs. May Alden Ward, will be continued another year. These meetings will be on the third Monday of each month, in the Historical room of the Public Library. Saturday, Oct. 26th, the club will entertain the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. There will be morning and afternoon sessions.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

Lieut. Commander Komonaga of the Japanese navy, who has been on duty at the yard, has returned to his studies at the Mass. Institute of Technology. He has been studying construction and other work at the yard.

The field which the Fore River association football team is to use for its league games is being fenced in. The league rules provide that all league games must be played on an inclosed field, and so the Fore River team has had to build a fence around the field across Bent's creek, which the Company has permitted the club to use.

Manager H. G. Smith has issued this notice: Attention is invited to the courses of evening study provided by the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy. The subjects of these courses have been chosen with a view to the particular requirements of practical working men who wish to advance themselves. The courses in mechanical drawing, architectual drawing, machine design, practical mathematics and practical shipbuilding have been especially adapted to the work of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company and the instructors are expert practical men employed in the work they teach. Other courses in drawing and study are provided to meet the call from ambitious men for instruction in other practical lines. The company heartily recommends these courses of evening study to all who wish to improve their opportunities for advancement.

Visiting Nursing Problems.

"And what does the baby eat?" the district nurse asked of the mother of a ten-months-old child whom we had found in the big tenement on our house-to-house hunt for babies sick with summer complaint.

"Oh, ice cream sandwige, and potato, and little bit of beefsteak and—"

"And mostly always bananas,' prompted the small sister, in whose arms the baby lay, fretful and feverish.

"And some soda water and pretzels and sometimes milk," contined the mother, with manifest pride in her infant's accomplishments.

"And watermelon, nurse, he can eat watermelon," chimed in Berty, determined that no one of her brother's gastronomical feats that might redound to the family honor should be omitted.

I looked at the nurse and gasped. It was evident, even to my lay mind, that this was a bill of fare which the renowned goat whose "stomach was lined with zinc" would have found indigestible; it was also pitifully evident that the mother was wholly ignorant of her own responsibility for her child's illness.—Boston Record.

Two Goals Kicked From the Field

The Quincy High football team journed to Bridgewater on Tuesday and were trimmed by the Normal school team to the tune of 19 to 6. It was a close contest until the home team kicked a couple of goals from the field. The line up:

Children's Day At the Carnival

The committee meeting at the Quincy Lodge of Elks, last night, in connection with the carnival week, Oct. 14 to 19, was very largely attended. The number of zealous workers present was gratifying to Exalted Ruler Deasy, as it convincingly showed the interest being taken in the carnival.

In point of size the meeting was tremendously augmented when the delegation arrived to report progress in Hull. Down in that beautiful section of the South Shore everyone is anticipating many pleasant hours during carnival week, and the representatives of Quincy lodge are seeing to it that all Hull, from Pemberton to the Cohasset line is made cognizant of the fact that Quincy will be the rallying point of all friends of the Elks the week after next.

Hull's delegation last night consisted of 300 pounds of George A. Jordan; Capt. Alfred Baliano, exchairman of the selectmen; James Jeffrey, one of Hull's weighty men; he is town clerk and a prominent citizen in every way; and Michael Burns, the genial host of the Pacific House. Ordinarily the trip from Hull to Quincy is a long one, but when the means of transportation is provided by a machine of the Maude type, 80 horse power and the rest mule, it is a trip full of incident with no thought for time or distance.

Maude is the pride of its owner, Mr. Jordan, and the boast of all Hull. It is the wish of Quincy members that it be brought up for exhibition at the carnival, but Mr. Jordan is averse to the proposition. He is afraid Ben Johnson would appropriate the machine.

As a substitute, however, he has offered to provide an entertainment for the children on the closing day of the carnival, Saturday afternoon Oct. 19. Mr. Jordan has made a reputation all along the South Shore with his marvelous medley of moving pictures, and he will be seen in the role of professor for the benefit of the children.

This will be a great treat for the little ones. With the pictures there will be singing in consonance with scenes shown, the singer being a well known artist. Prof. Jordan hopes to see all the children in Quincy on that Saturday afternoon and promises that they will have something to remember.

Booster Week At Y. M. C. A.

At the Y. M. C. A. building Tuesday evening an important movement was inaugurated by a committee of fifty members who met to consider plans for an immediate increase in the membership. By unanimous endorsement it was voted to make next week, Oct. 7 to 12, a "Booster" week, during which an energetic campaign of advertising and personal solicitation will be carried out. This campaign has for its object the doubling of the present number of members.

Several of the members spoke upon varying phases of association work. Considerable enthusiasm was generated, and Quincy people will look for further developments with interest as something will be doing every night.

Open house each evening, with a mass meeting toward the end of the week are under way.

The supper was served by members of the Women's Auxiliary, the committee being: Mrs. E. W. Sheppard (chairman,) Mrs. E. R. Blanchard, Mrs. A. H. Gilson, Mrs. Charles Hayden and Mrs. C. T. Sherman. The young ladies serving were: Miss Jessie Gardner, Miss Mabel Lovejoy, Miss Addie Park and Miss Marion Thomas.

Any of the following who were present may be consulted about "Booster Week:" R. D. Chase, A. D. Albee, G. H. Brown, W. F. Cummings, D. King, C. W. Bailey, Dr. E. R. Johnson, F. W. Crane, H. E. Crane, J. L. Miller, W. G. Shaw, J. A. Sedgwick, Harry Brooks, J. V. Swanson, E. E. Wheeler, Frank Burgess, C. T. Sherman, W. L. Pease, H. P. Dowst, F. R. Melville, H. C. Hallowell, Carl Tirrell, Archie Levangie, C. O. S. Howard, G. D. Thomas, J. G. Miller, J. M. Wilson, H. J. Hayden, Stanely Duncan, R. D. Wetherell, C. W. Hubbell, J. J. Floyd, G. H. Newcomb, C. E. Patch, E. V. Fitts, J. F. Hunt, J. A. Goodhue, G. H. Maxwell, E. G. Gay, Harold McDowell, Linwood Littlefield.

The special committee on guiding the campaign are: W. Leroy Pease, W. G. Shaw and H. P. Dowst.

—Dr. William Faxon of Stoughton was renominated for senator by the Republicans of the second Norfolk district on Tuesday.

—Latest popular sheet music received daily at La Croix, corner Hancock and School streets.

Liver Pills

Ask your doctor if he knows a better pill for a sluggish liver than Ayer's Pills. Then follow his advice.

It is impossible, simply impossible, for any one to enjoy the best of health if the bowels are constipated. Undigested material, waste products, poisonous substances, must be daily removed from the body or there will be trouble, and often serious trouble, too. Ayer's Pills aid nature, that is all. J. C. ## MR. STONE NOMINATED

Choice of Republicans For Norfolk Commissioner

But two ballots were necessary at the Republican Norfolk County convention this morning to nominate Silas A. Stone of Sharon as County Commissioner.

The convention was held at Wesleyan hall, Boston, at 10.30.

The Committee on Credentials reported 111 of the 112 delegates present.

The convention then proceeded to ballot for County Commissioner.

The result of the first ballot was as follows:

|---|---|
| Whole number of votes | 111 |
| Necessary for choice | 57 |
| Stone had | 51 |
| Bowker had | 37 |
| Johnson had | 19 |
| Boydon had | 4 |

The second ballot was as follows:

|---|---|
| Whole number of votes | 111 |
| Necessary for choice | 57 |
| Stone had | 57 |
| Bowker had | 38 |
| Johnson had | 16 |

Mr. Stone was declared nominated.

Samuel H. Capen of Dedham was nominated for sheriff by acclamation.

Other nominations made by acclamation were: Lewis R. Whitaker of Franklin and John Everett of Canton for special commissioners.

MacDowell—Silva.

Miss Mabel Helen Silva of Wollaston and Mr. Robert Hastings Macdowell of Virginia were married on Tuesday afternoon by Rev. W. E. Gardner of Christ church. The bride was prettily gowned in white crepe de chine and carried bride roses. The bridesmaid, Miss May E. Turner of West Hanover, was also gowned in white and carried white carnations. The best man was Mr. Allen Stevenson of Dedham.

The home of the bride was prettily decorated in autumn leaves and golden rod. A reception was tendered to her most intimate friends and relatives. The happy couple left early amid a shower of rice and confetti, for an extended trip through the south, and on their return will reside in Roslindale.

Orcutt—Hill.

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Hill, South Braintree, the bride being their daughter Florence Wilmot and the groom, Elmer Stickney Orcutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin W. Orcutt of East Weymouth

Only the two families were present. The ceremony was performed at five o'clock by Rev. Charles Dawson of the Methodist Episcopal church, South Braintree. There were no attendants.

The bride looked very pretty in white, the material being brilliantine with lace trimmings.

Dahlias and asters were used in decorating the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt are to reside at 287 Washington street, Braintree, where they will receive their friends after December first.

Rough—McDonald.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Tuesday evening at the residence of Mrs. Annie McDonald at East Milton, when her daughter, Miss Emma McDonald became the bride of James Rough of Boston.

The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her uncle, George Cameron of Boston. She was gowned in white and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Rev. Irad Hardy of the Baptist church performed the ecemoney.

After a brief trip Mr. and Mrs. Rough will reside on St. Botolph street, Boston. Guests were present from Somerville Linden, Norwood, Dorchester, Wellesley and Boston.

Street Railway Hunt on Saturday

While the weather last Saturday was of such a character that the big hunt for free trips planned by the Old Colony street railway company could not be run at Mosquito Woods, Palmer street, Quincy, the trips will be given away just the same, and the hunt will be held this coming Saturday. There will be an opportunity presented to secure some of the most interesting of fall trips as well as to have a large amount of excitement and fun incidental to the hunt itself.

As the plans were laid out before they will be carried out. Tickets will be hidden at various places about the grounds and at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon the hunt will be started. The cards will not be hidden until about the time for the hunt to start so none will have an advantage.

The fortunate finders of the tickets will receive full transportation entirely free to various points of interest. There are offered two round trips to Washington, two round trips to New York by way of Albany and the fascinating Hudson river, six round trips to New York itself and besides these there will be 15 collections of tickets that are good on any of the lines of the Old Colony Street Railway Co., giving the finders a chance to enjoy the numerous fine trips that are possible in this way.

Baby Boy Left On Door Step

Shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday night there was a violent ring of the door bell at the residence of Charles B. Brace at 656 Hancock street, Wollaston. Upon opening the door he found a bundle on the steps done up in a blanket. Upon being opened the bundle proved to contain a baby boy about one month old. The only clew was the initials "A. A. H." on the blanket. The police were notified and the child was removed to the almshouse.

Enthusiasm Grows Apace

At the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night more enthusiasm was aroused for "Booster" Week, which is to come Oct. 6-12.

At the annual "open house" to young men the association entertained a goodly number of their men and friends, with instrumental music, song pictures and refreshments.

The Mandolin and Guitar club played for three quarters of an hour in the reception hall on the first floor, while the guests were seeing the building and getting acquainted.

At 8.15 all went to the hall up stairs where an hour of very pleasant entertainment was furnished. Messrs. Osgood, Newcomb and Jacobs gave banjo duets, Claude Patch, sang two beautifully illustrated songs, Erastus Osgood gave examples of his humor in several readings which made a hit, and the Mandolin Club again pleased the fellows with their bright snappy music.

Refreshments—light but bounteous were served, after which bowling and pool were renewed, and the evening closed with general expressions of a good time.

Grateful Patient At Our Hospital

Dear Friend:—

If there is anything I could say or do to help the Hospital, I should be more than glad to do it, for my three weeks' stay there last January was not only helpful but pleasant.

The nurses gave me kind and loving attention, and I remember them gratefully. I should not hesitate to put a good deal of money into the Hospital if I had it, for I could see how its usefulness might be enlarged, and shall contribute what I am able on Hospital Sunday in my own church.

I should not hesitate to advise any one to go there for treatment, or to make generous gifts to the Hospital, and I shall always think of it with loving interest. Most sincerely,

Susan E. Barrows,
5 Charles street.

Quincy, Oct. 1, 1907.

Chairmen of the Hospital Collectors

The following is a list of chairmen of collectors for Hospital week in the various wards of the city:

Ward 1,—George A. Sidelinger, Arthur W. Stetson.

Ward 2,—Thos. B. Pollard, Joseph Dasha, Arthur B. Hultman.

Ward 3,—E. M. Marnock, W. H. Deacon.

Ward 4,—S. E. Ames, J. F. Burke.

Ward 5,—L. W. Nash, W. H. Hull, C. G. Farrell.

Ward 6,—Theo. Parker, Arthur C. Beale.

Mothers' Association.

There was a large attendance at the reception of the Mothers' Association, Wednesday afternoon in Bethany chapel. Dr. Hardy had charge of the devotional exercises and Mrs. Emma S. Moore sang three selections. The Association was fortunate in hearing Miss Sara Cone Bryant, who spoke on "Stories in Education," as she has a very charming personality and is an eloquent speaker. Even grown-ups could sit and listen to her telling stories by the hour. After the meeting, Mrs. Frank F. Prescott, with assistants, served refreshments in the ladies' parlor.

Opening Reception.

Elmer W. Baker opened his dancing season last night by a reception in Music hall to his former pupils and friends. There was a large number in attendance and a grand march was held in which many couples participated.

Saturday night begins his socials for the winter and he expects many dancers to attend.

Death of Veteran Of Civil War

Jonathan S. Paine, one of Quincys long residents, died Wednesday at the City Hospital aged 75 years. Mr. Paine fell some time ago and fractured a leg and he never fully recovered from the shock.

Mr. Paine was born in that part of Randolph, now known as Holbrook, June 5, 1832. After leaving school he learned the shoemaker's trade, and has worked on leather ever since that time. He married Miss Esther Thayer of Braintree, Nov. 17, 1853, and the couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 17, 1903.

In 1861 Mr. Paine moved to Quincy, which has since been his home. He was one of the early volunteers when the war between the north and south was declared, enlisting July 22, 1862, in Co. K. of the 33d Mass. Regt., known as a company of sharpshooters. His regiment was sent to Alexandria, Va., and later to New York, where he was detailed to the 19th Regt. V. R. C. band and sent to Washington. He remained in the capital city during the greater part of the remainder of his three and one-half years service. The last fifteen months, however, he was stationed at the rebel camp at Elmira, N. Y.

At the close of the war he again resumed his trade, and followed it up to the time of the accident by which he fractured his leg.

Mr. Paine was an accomplished musician in his younger days, playing the cornet in the Quincy band and also in an orchestra for dancing.

He leaves a widow, a son and a daughter, Charles E. Paine of South Boston and Mrs. Ida F. Humphrey, a teacher at the Washington school.

Monthly Meeting Board of Trade

There was but little business before the Quincy Board of Trade on Wednesday evening at the regular October meeting, but a goodly number of members were out and enjoyed a smoke talk.

Notice was received from the Railroad Commissioners of a hearing Oct. 9 on the petition for equalization of fares between all parts of Quincy and Nantasket. A committee of five was appointed to attend the hearing.

Two applications for membership were received and both were elected.

Relative to improved freight accommodations for the handling of granite at Quincy Adams, the committee reported the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. had forwarded a letter in which it was stated that the contract has been let for a travelling crane to be located there.

The committee on devising plans for additional house accommodations, especially for employes of the shipyard reported progress.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

Grows warmer Friday says the Old Farmer's Almanac.

How lucky the Brockton fair is in having good weather!

The length of days will decrease over an hour this month.

The Citizens' Gas Co. is laying a main on Newport avenue.

An ideal day for the Brockton fair and should ensure a large attendance.

The City Council Committee on Finance will meet tonight.

It was a quiet crowd of Brockton fair people that passed through Quincy on their way home last night.

Councilman Pinkham, candidate for representative from the sixth district, will be the guest of the Ward Four Republican Committee this week.

The Registrars of Voters met in the West Quincy ward Wednesday evening, and added fourteen names to the Ward Four lists, seven in each precinct.

Wollaston lodge of Masons has issued a book giving in addition to the organization of 1907 the name, residence, business, place of business and date of admission of all its members.

While the number of court cases is on the decrease in the East Norfolk district the clerk of the Boston municipal court report 4621 more cases than in the year ending Sept. 30, 1906.

Councilman Sawyer is suffering from a fractured arm as a result of a slight accident. He was at work on his yacht Eleanor, and in leaning over the side lost his balance and fell onto a pile of rocks. His arm is very painful.

The Gorham football eleven of Providence will be here on Saturday to play the Fore River association on the new enclosed grounds opposite the shipyard, between the dock and Washington street. It is a New England League game.

CLEANED OUT FARM

Live Stock and Everything Portable Taken by Eight Men

WOMAN QUICKLY GETS BUSY

Her Lawyer Has Special Officers Sworn In, Who Overtake Caravan and Arrest Offenders--Interesting Sequel to a Domestic Quarrel

Westboro, Mass., Oct. 3.—While the trial of Herman Hollander for an assault on his wife, Ada, was going on in the district court, eight men swooped down on the Hollander farm, the largest farm in Westboro, and carried away cows, horses, wagons and other property, valued in all at $3390.

The caravan reached the town of Hopkinton, just across the Worcester county line, before Mrs. Hollander, who has a bill of sale of the property, was aware of its disappearance. As soon as she discovered her loss, Lawyer John W. Slattery, representing her, with Officer John Ford and some special officers hastily sworn in, started in pursuit and overtook the caravan at Hopkinton. The property consisted of 49 cows, a bull, 8 horses, 10 wagons, a lot of farming tools and several incubators.

James S. Duval of Revere, who, with seven other men, is alleged to have charge of the caravan, declined to give them up to Slattery, saying that he had taken them by authority of the owner. The attorney then hurried back to Westboro, where he secured eight John Doe warrants, and with three carriages started after the caravan again, overtaking it this time 3½ miles nearer Boston than it was on the first attempt. All the men with the property were arrested and taken to the Westboro lockup, while the livestock and farming implements were returned to the Hollander farm.

The men arrested were James S. Duval and James S. Duval, Jr., of Revere, William C. Cole, Chelsea; John J. Gindorff, Jamaica Plain; Henry C. Fellows, Boston; George Duval, Chelsea; John Madden, Boston, and Robert H. Carlin, Chelsea. They were charged with grand larceny, and after a hearing on the question of bail the elder Duval was released on bail of $1000 and the others under sureties of $200 each. Two attorneys who had been defending Hollander in the district court furnished bail for Duval and Cole, and afterward Duval himself became surety for the other men. A hearing on the charge against the men will be held later in the district court.

It is understood that Duval supposed the property to belong to Hollander and believed he was acting under authority for him in removing it. Mrs. Hollander, however, produced a bill of sale of the stock and goods.

In the district court Hollander was fined $15 on the charge of assault on Mrs. Hollander. She alleged that during the quarrel, after she had thrown a tea cup at her husband, he cut her arm with a saucer which he hurled at her and then threatened to kill her with a knife.

Light on "Construction Fund"

New York, Oct. 3.—The Metropolitan Street Railway system's "special construction fund" was again considered by the public service commission yesterday. Lemuel E. Quigg told of paying former Judge Olcott $10,000 for "moulding public sentiment." Quigg said he spent most of his time stifling or promoting legislation and, as he put it, "accelerating public eagerness" in various directions. It was brought out that he controlled a complex organization of lawyers, detectives and "sentiment boosters," which he used to further the conditions of the Metropolitan.

Sailors Facing Death

London, Oct. 3.—The French ship Leon XIII went on the rocks near Seafield, on the Irish coast, during a storm yesterday. The crew of 25 men are huddled in the bow, the only part of the vessel where safety from the huge waves can be found. Most of the time the men have clung to the rigging, beaten and numbed by the pitiless seas. A big crowd on the beach is powerless to render any assistance.

New Play by a Clergyman

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Gustavus Frohman of New York has found a new play over which he is conservatively enthusiastic. It was written by Rev. William E. Danforth, minister of Christ church, Elmhurst, and bears the title "The Gates of Eden." The scenes are laid in Eden, a Shaker community in the Berkshire hills.

Fined and Cargo Confiscated

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 3.—Word was received here from Halifax that the Canadian government has released the schooner Fannie E. Prescott of Boston, seized in June for violation of the three-mile limit fishing law. A fine has been imposed on the schooner and her cargo confiscated.

To Mark Grant's Birthplace

Cincinnati, Oct. 3.—In the presence of a distinguished gathering a memorial tablet at the birthplace of President Grant at Point Pleasant was unveiled. A bronze cannon and memorial tablet has been placed on what is believed to be the exact spot where was located the house in which Ulysses S. Grant was born.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

'LACK OF ENERGY.'

No man or woman can be successful or happy if they lack energy. If they get up in the morning dreading the days work ahead they will accomplish very little. A great many people are this way. The cause is lack of vitality. Vitality or energy is the power to go and keep on going without becoming more than healthily tired. It comes from a perfectly working system just as power comes from a perfectly working engine. If you lack this power something is out of order. Ten to one it's your stomach.

MR. A. G. LATUBYS.

Take two bottles of Cooper's New Discovery. It will get the stomach in shape. See if energy and ambition don't come back before the two bottles are gone.

This letter is from a man who tried it:
"After suffering for some time from stomach trouble, loss of appetite, headaches and a kind of 'all tuckered out' feeling I decided to try Cooper's New Discovery."
"I used to get up in the morning with my tongue coated and sick at my stomach. I would feel as though it was almost impossible to drag myself to work. Lots of times I had dizzy spells and backaches. After I used several bottles all these symptoms began to disappear and soon I began to feel like my old self again. Now I feel like a new man. It is a pleasure to work, for I always feel like it. I eat well, and sleep well and am sure I will have no further trouble with my stomach." A. G. Latubys, 167 Porter St., Detroit, Mich.

It is estimated that nearly half a million bottles of the famous Cooper medicines were sold during Mr. Cooper's recent demonstration in Chicago. We are agents

Popular Sympathy With Borah

Boise, Ida., Oct. 3.—United States Senator-elect Borah last night was acquitted of the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government of Idaho timber lands. The case was submitted without argument by the defense, and the jury was out just long enough to take one ballot. The verdict was greeted with cheers and applause in court. As soon as the news reached the street bells were rung and the fire department made a spectacular run, stopping eventually at the Idaho hotel, whither Borah was escorted. As he reached the hotel a brass band played "Hail to the Chief." The streets about the hotel were blocked by a cheering throng. Borah thanked his hearers for their demonstration of confidence in him.

Canadian Pacific Improvements

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Stockholders of the Canadian Pacific railway have authorized the issue of 4 percent debenture stock sufficient to finance several additions and extensions to the road. Two additional steamships will be built or acquired either for the Pacific or Atlantic service and two for lake service. The annual report shows an increase in gross revenue from traffic of more than $11,000,000 for the year.

Big Plant to Resume Operations

New Haven, Oct. 3.—It is stated here by one of the receivers that the plant of the National Wire corporation, which has been bought by the United States Steel corporation, will resume operations as soon as alterations are completed. Several hundred hands were thrown out of work when the plant shut down a few months ago. The steel corporation paid $650,000 for the property.

Nobleman May Wed American

Vienna, Oct. 3.—The report made public in the United States that Miss Gladys Vanderbilt was engaged to be married to a Hungarian nobleman has been cabled back here. It is recalled that Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and her daughter spent much time in the company of Count Laszlo Szecheny about a month ago and even visited his estate in Hungary. Szecheny is 28 years old.

Former Sheriff Killed by Bomb

Baker City, Or., Oct. 3.—The Western Federation of Miners was accused of instigating the death of Harvey K. Brown, former sheriff of this county, in an ante-mortem statement made by the victim. Brown was blown up by a bomb as he was entering his front gate, the outrage being in many respects similar to that which destroyed former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho.

Convention of Episcopalians

Richmond, Oct. 3.—The 45th triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church convention in the United States convened here and was fully organized for business. The most interesting of the proceedings was the holy communion at Holy Trinity church, where Rt. Rev. Winnington-Ingram, bishop of London, preached the sermon.

New International Yacht Race

London, Oct. 3.—Inquiry in various yachting circles reveals the general conviction that a new international contest will be arranged to take place in British waters in 1908 for yachts built under the new international rule, and that competitors are expected from America, France, Germany and Sweden.

Bay State Prohibitionists Place Their Ticket In the Field

HOT WORDS AT CONVENTION

Republican and Democratic Parties Are Denounced, With Special Reference to the Alleged Misdeeds of Mayor Fitzgerald and Whitney

Boston, Oct. 3.—The Prohibition party of this state will be led by Hervey S. Cowell of Ashburnham in the coming campaign and the state election this fall, his unanimous nomination for governor being made at the convention of the party in this city. The balance of the ticket is as follows:

Lieutenant governor, J. S. Lewis of Stoneham; secretary of state, S. W. Bingham of Newton; treasurer and receiver general, E. S. Kendall of Cambridge; auditor, J. F. Pease of Merrimac; attorney general, Allen Coffin of Nantucket.

A set of resolutions containing 17 planks and embodying the cardinal principles of the national Prohibition party was also adopted and 14 members of the state committee at large chosen.

The feature of the convention was the attack made upon Mayor Fitzgerald and Henry M. Whitney by Professor John A. Nicholls of Boston, upon taking the chair as permanent presiding officer. Nicholls said in part:

"In this city we have a mayor elected to the position by means of the expenditure of enormous campaign funds, contributed largely by the liquor interests, and who, in return for that support, has appointed more saloonkeepers to public office than any previous occupant of the mayoralty chair. Every day comes some new revelation of graft and corruption. Boston is indeed fast becoming a busier booze town than ever before. Where rum rules, bad government is inevitable.

"The legislation at the state house during the past two years shows the pernicious influence of the liquor power. The passage of the Touraine bill, the extension of the time for the sale of liquor till midnight, and other measures of similar import, show the grip of this monstrous evil upon the affairs of the commonwealth. Where can good citizens turn for relief from this?

"Turning, for a time, to the Democratic party, we find the candidates for the nomination for governor. So far as I can ascertain, the special qualifications of General Bartlett for governor are that he is said by his friends, in common parlance, to be 'a good fellow' and wears his hair banged.

"The candidate who will probably be nominated, Henry M. Whitney, is well known to the people of this state. His reputation as a corruptionist is so rank that it 'smells to heaven,' or hades. His name is connected with the worst legislative scandals this state has ever known.

"Mr. Whitney is trying to delude the voters by using as his war cry 'reciprocity with Canada.' According to him, the people of Canada are lying awake nights wondering how they can secure that blessed privilege. During the last few months spent in the Dominion of Canada I have not met a single person who is in favor of the kind of reciprocity that Whitney is advocating. The very arguments used by him in favor of it are to Canadians the most powerful reasons against it. They look upon his campaign along these lines as an attempt to hoodwink the voters of this state, so that they will be blinded to his record as a political corruptionist.

"The people of Canada know Whitney only too well. They remember him as the organizer of syndicates to float corporations, by which millions of dollars were taken out of their pockets. They have not yet forgotten the Dominion Iron and Steel company, which was more 'steal' than iron, and the way the common stock was foisted on to an unsuspecting public until the boom broke and hundreds of small investors lost every dollar they had in the world.

"From the Republican party leaders we can hope for no relief. The Republican governor signs without hesitation all legislation in the interests of the liquor men and thus places himself squarely on the side of the saloon. The Republican city committee of Boston, according to its own filed statement, received nearly every dollar it spent in the last city election from the Hotel Keepers' association of Boston."

Whitney Men Bolted

Boston, Oct. 3.—With charges of "barefaced fraud" directed against the Bartlett men, the Whitney delegates bolted from the Second Norfolk senatorial convention yesterday afternoon. There followed a Bartlett and a Whitney convention with two sets of tickets. Each side claims that the other held an illegal convention. Each has filed a claim with the state ballot law commission, which must decide what convention was entitled to make the nomination for senator in the Second Norfolk district.

WATERWAYS PLAN

President Declares It Must Be Treated as a Whole

A LAKE TO GULF CHANNEL

Proposed Enterprise Must Be Free From Taint--Railroads Should Be Under Federal Control--Other Important Questions Discussed

St. Louis, Oct. 3.—President Roosevelt, in his speech here, declared it the nation's duty to control centrally interstate railroads and to restore the Mississippi river to its proper place as a great artery of commerce. He termed the proposed 14-foot channel from the lakes to the gulf a "national task." He warned against plans which might "entail reckless extravagance or be tainted with jobbery," but urged a liberal waterways policy.

Thousands of persons had congregated on the levee to witness the president's arrival. Amid a clamor of shrieking whistles, clanging bells and lusty cheers, the president landed, to greet 15 governors from states bordering on the Mississippi river and some from distant states, members of congress and officers representing the city of St. Louis.

Through a sudden heavy downpour of rain the president, standing in an open carriage and bowing to the multitudes, was driven to the Jai Alai building, five miles from the river, where he delivered his speech. He was introduced by Governor Folk.

The president especially emphasized his views on the necessity for central control of interstate corporations. His contention was that there must be some sovereign power that can control these institutions, especially railroads. He spoke at length of the difficulty in reaching the corporations which are incorporated in one state and operate in another. He instanced especially his experience in getting the Southern Pacific railroad to repair breaks in the Colorado river.

"That disaster occurred in California," he said, "but do you suppose I found it possible to deal with the railroad there? No. The railroad is a New Jersey corporation, and I had to deal with it as such."

The president contended that the constitution must be interpreted to fit modern day conditions, and not conditions that existed when it was adopted.

"It must be construed as an instrument of life, and not a symbol of death," he said. "The judges of the courts should always stand against popular clamor, but they should also recognize the necessity of a general conservatism of the public welfare under present conditions."

He contended that in taking this position he was fighting the future fight for the rich; for if the rich committed excesses now they invited excesses against themselves and their posterity.

Speaking of the improvement of the Mississippi river, the president warned the advocates of that interest against insufficiently considered local improvements. The waterways system must be treated as a whole, and the enterprise must not be tainted either with folly or dishonesty.

Referring to the navy, the president said we have definitely taken our place among the great world powers, and it would be a sign of ignoble weakness, having taken such a place, to shirk its responsibilities. Therefore, unless we are willing to abandon this place, to abandon our insistence upon the Monroe doctrine, to give up the Panama canal, and to be content to acknowledge ourselves a weak and timid nation, we must steadily build up and maintain a great fighting navy. The battle fleet will not be kept in the Pacific. The best place for naval officers to learn their duties is at sea by performing them.

After the address the president and other distinguished visitors were guests of the St. Louis Business Men's league at luncheon in the Jefferson hotel. There were no set speeches, but the president responded to the toast of President Smith of the league by expressing the wish that the ends of the league might be achieved; that is, the procuring of a 14-foot river channel.

To Arrest Mrs. Vanderbilt

New York, Oct. 3.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mrs. May Pepper-Vanderbilt, the Brooklyn spiritualistic medium, in a suit brought against her by Miss Minerva Vanderbilt, daughter of the so-called "spook bishop's" aged husband, recently pronounced incompetent. Counsel for Miss Vanderbilt have endeavored since the verdict of the jury to secure evidence which would warrant them in prosecuting Mrs. Pepper-Vanderbilt on a criminal charge.

No News of the Gloucester

Washington, Oct. 3.—Nothing has been heard at the navy department from the U. S. S. Gloucester since Sept. 27. The last communication was when she passed Cape Henry, when she communicated with the Norfolk navy yard by wireless. The fact that the Gloucester has wireless apparatus is brought forward as indicating that she has suffered nothing worse than perhaps being blown considerably off her course.

THE CANADIAN FUR STORE

Canadian Furs at Canadian Prices.

The high quality of Canadian Furs is well known to Americans. A custom's duty of 35 per cent prevents Americans who do not visit Canada from buying Furs there.

Our American house, 167 Tremont Street, Boston, will interest American buyers of Canadian furs. Here we receive our supply of raw skins from our own Canadian houses where they are collected direct from the trappers and admitted to the United States duty free in the undressed state.

All garments for our American business are manufactured by skilled American designers and finishers, and in selling direct to the wearer we eliminate intermediate profits.

Owing to its rigorous climate Canada produces the finest furs known to commerce. Silver Fox, Hudson Bay Sable, Mink, Otter, etc., are seen at their best. In dealing direct with us you secure the advantages that flow from a large and influential business following in our own stores in four Canadian cities, and a feeling of security and reliability that is always present when dealing with a house whose reputation has been merited by a constantly increasing patronage extending over a period of forty-two years, and whose products have been awarded five gold medals in different Canadian Expositions.

In comparing prices remember that quality is of first importance. Canadian Furs average 35 to 50 per cent higher grade than those of more temperate climates, because nature produces the quality; the furriers make only the garment, and the dyer's art can make a southern mink to imitate the Canadian article. To insure reliability and value, buy Canadian Furs from Canadian furriers.

A SLAVE TO ALCOHOL

Woman Who Was Murdered Had Tried In Vain to Reform

New York, Oct. 3.—The mystery surrounding the antecedents of Nellie Quinn, the former City hospital nurse on Randall's island, has been dispelled, but the motive for her murder is as obscure as when her horribly bruised body was found in a furnished room, house here. Even the arrest of the man who admits having been with the woman on the day she was killed has failed to make clear any plausible reason for her death and the subsequent attack upon the body.

George Kramer, the Blackwell's island plumber, who had lived for a few days with the woman prior to her death, was compelled to view the body at the morgue and later was arraigned in the Tombs court as a suspect in the homicide. The prisoner, who appeared dazed, said that he could not remember anything that he had done recently.

John H. Weyburn, superintendent of the Jerry McCauley mission, said that Mrs. Quinn had lived at the mission for more than two years in an effort to live down an appetite for liquor. He added: "If ever an effort was made to bring anyone back to a right life, it was in Mrs. Quinn's case. Time and time she fell, and time and time again she would attempt to start right.

"Her husband did all he could, but finally she was committed to the house of the Good Shepherd. She was released in six months. Later she was in the care of probation officers at the Tombs police court and the West Side court at various times, and then we lost track of her."

Commission Means Business

Boston, Oct. 3.—No matter what changes may be made in the Boston and Albany railroad management, or what promises the New York Central officials may make, the attitude of the Massachusetts board of railroad commissioners remains the same. They demand results or the leasing line must take the consequences. Such is the declaration made by Chairman Jackson of the commission. The commission has requested the New York Central to render a statement on Oct. 27, giving late trains and full particulars of what is being done to improve the Boston and Albany service, with amounts, dates and full details.

Taft's Farewell to Japan

Tokio, Oct. 3.—War Secretary Taft officially bade farewell to Japan last evening and left for Kobe amid the firing of an artillery salute and a great display of fireworks. While no official statement of what transpired at a private audience with the emperor yesterday was given out, it is understood that the emperor expressed his friendliness for America and his admiration of President Roosevelt and that Taft assured him that these sentiments were reciprocated by the people of the United States.

Drastic Action by Farmers

New York, Oct. 3.—Farmers of a half dozen districts of Staten Island have organized themselves as "Minute Men" to give their neighborhoods the protection the police department has been unable to afford. The telephone will summon them in an instant to the aid of any person whose house may be attacked by burglars or to the chase of an assailant of man or woman. They will obtain the right to bear arms and will arrest whenever it is deemed necessary.

Entertaining Root Party

Mexico City, Oct. 3.—Secretary Root and his party continue to be the recipients of the lavish hospitality and bounteous attentions which have been showered on them ever since their arrival in the republic. A garden party was held yesterday in the spacious grounds of the Chapultepec castle. The elite of Mexican society, as well as scores of the best families in the American and other foreign colonies, turned out to do honor to the guests.

Schooner Badly Battered

Boston, Oct. 3.—Schooner Empress, lumber laden, which limped into port considerably overdue, had a hard battle with Sunday's storm and came through with the loss of sails, some spars and her planks so wrenched that her crew have been pumping ever since. The crew was exhausted from pumping and lack of food, as the galley was flooded early in the storm.

Bundists Gathered In

Warsaw, Oct. 3.—The local police took into custody almost all the local members, together with 69 chiefs of different local branches, of the society known as the "Bundists of Poland." The arrests were made at a concert given by the society here to celebrate the 10th anniversary of its founding.

Many Deserters From Army

Rabat, Morocco, Oct. 3.—Sultan Abd-El-Aziz yesterday held a review of his army, for the purpose of ascertaining the number of desertions. It was found that 500 men, mostly foot soldiers, who receive less pay than the horsemen, had deserted with their arms.

Tramp Burned Child to Death

Oquawa, Ills., Oct. 3.—Because he had been refused food a tramp took vengeance by beating Mrs. John Hathaway into unconsciousness and then tieing her 4-year-old son to a tree and burning him to death. Citizens are scouring the country for the murderer.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Oct. 4.
Sun rises—5:44; sets—5:22.
Moon rises—2:32 a. m.
High water—9 a. m.; 9:15 p. m.
It will be fair and slightly warmer in New England.

PRESIDENT ELIOT'S ADVICE

Tells Young Harvard Men to Wed Early and Raise Families

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 3.—"Look forward to being married"—"make yourself fit for the loving service you expect your wife to give you"—"look forward to having children and a home," was the sum and substance of President Eliot's address to the class of 1911 at the faculty reception last night in the Harvard Union to an enormous gathering of freshmen.

Always an enemy to "race suicide," President Eliot could not lose an opportunity to impress upon the young Harvard men the duty they owe themselves and their university to lead a clean life and marry a good woman.

He commented on the "freedom" for which Harvard has sometimes been adversely criticised, and said he considered it indispensable for the development of solid moral character.

Milk Dealers Get Fair Warning

Portland, Me., Oct. 3.—Five hundred letters have been sent by the board of health to milk producers all over the state who send milk to Portland, warning them that they must have their cows tested by Oct. 31 or suffer the penalty of losing their privilege of furnishing milk to local dealers. A big shipment of milk bottles, ordered from a Boston firm since the enactment of the law in this city prohibiting the handling of milk in cans, has been rejected by the city sealer of weights and measures, who found that they were not full measure.

The Boston Coal Probe

Boston, Oct. 3.—Daniel F. Doherty, the Dorchester coal dealer, appeared before the finance commission yesterday. He testified that he had been in the coal business 17 years and had sold coal to the city. Before 1906 he sold mostly to the insane hospital; for 14 years, in fact. He sold under competition up to 10 years ago, and has sold to the city on orders for nine years. He then submitted a tabulation purporting to show his sales to the city in the various municipal departments for the year 1906-07.

Cox Defeated by Glidden

Boston, Oct. 3.—Walter S. Glidden of Somerville defeated Alfred E. Cox of Malden, the present incumbent, for the Republican nomination for the executive council from the Fourth district at the convention held in this city yesterday. The result came on the first ballot, when Glidden received 126 votes to 84 for Cox. The contest between the candidates was waged with considerable spirit. Glidden is a provision dealer in Faneuil hall market.

Semaphore Signal Obscured

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 3.—A thick cloud of smoke and steam obscuring a semaphore signal so completely that the engineer of a passenger train could not see it was directly responsible for a head-on collision with a freight train at Barber's crossing in this city, eight persons being more or less seriously injured, rolling stock and freight damaged to the extent of $10,000 and the tracks completely blockaded for several hours.

Harris Not Guilty of Murder

Boston, Oct. 3.—A jury in the superior criminal court found Lewis Harris not guilty of the charge of murder of Michael J. Cunningham. Harris was a strike-breaker at the time of the difficulty between the masters teamsters and their employes last winter. He shot Cunningham on the street during an attack upon the strike-breakers. Harris pleaded that the shooting was done in self-defense.

Boy Charged With Manslaughter

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 3.—Joseph Bird, 16 years old, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter last night on account of the death of Francis X. DesFortes, aged 14. The two boys were returning a borrowed gun to its owner and in crossing an open lot the weapon, which was in the hands of Bird, was discharged and DesFortes was shot.

Church Bequests Revoked

New Britain, Conn., Oct. 3.—Two big bequests to local churches were revoked in a codicil of the will of Horace Booth, the millionaire, who died here last week. When his will was drawn he provided that $20,000 be paid to the First Congregational church and $10,000 to the Methodist church, but in a codicil both of these bequests are revoked.

Cases Won't Go to Trial

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 3.—District Attorney Bancroft of Middlesex county has not prossed the two indictment cases of manslaughter against Andrew Jensen and Charles E. Barnes, who were indicted on the charge of manslaughter here as a result of the collapse of the Amsden building in South Framingham on July 23, 1906.

Bank Robbers Got No Money

Richford, Vt., Oct. 3.—Experts who have been at work endeavoring to open the vault of the Sovereign bank of Sutton, which was seriously damaged by five bank burglars, succeeded in effecting an entrance. They found the contents of the safe, amounting to about $15,000 in cash, to be intact. The robbers are still at large.

Gerhardt's Slayer Sentenced

Woodsville, N. H., Oct. 3.—John McGuire of Enfield was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment for killing Chris Gerhardt, also of Enfield. McGuire pleaded guilty to second degree manslaughter. Gerhardt was stabbed to death, following a quarrel. McGuire set up the claim that he had been drinking.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Considerable interest is about in reference to the bake. What is it?

The City Council Committee on Public Buildings will meet Friday evening.

A meeting of the Republican City Committee will be held Friday evening.

Mrs. A. E. Linnell of Davis street is visiting her daughter in Lebanon, N. H.

Rumor has it that still another Republican candidate for Mayor will be announced Saturday.

W. L. Melrose of Boston visited several of his friends of Wollaston Park on Wednesday.

Miss Anna Gould was the guest over Sunday of Miss Susie James at Furnace Pond.

Miss Bessie Rockwell of Holyoke, is the guest this week of Miss Dorothy Moore of Blake street.

Miss Annie Peters of Watertown, N. Y., is visiting Miss Lisabelle Linnell of Davis street.

Mr. Walsh and family have bought Mrs. Clara Knight's house on Rawson road, to which they moved last week.

Mrs. Eleanor Nickerson returned to Woonsocket, R. I., Wednesday, after spending two months here with her sister.

An engine on one of the early afternoon outward trains broke down at Neponset on Wednesday causing some delay in trains.

Horace Cumings who has been spending his two weeks' vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cummings, has returned to New York.

That seventy-five foot flag-pole and the new stars and stripes at A. L. Whitman's on Thompson street, speak well for his many friends at "the Basin."

Miss H. Philipps, president of the C. E. Society connected with the Washington Street church, has posted on the bulletin board, a list of leaders for October to December.

The Wage Earners club will hold a meeting Saturday evening when the matter of nominating a candidate for representative in the fifth district will be settled.

Only One "BROMO QUININE," that is

The Point C. E. Society is planning for a social.

The free evening schools of the city open next Monday evening.

About fifty people from the Point attended the Brockton fair on Wednesday.

The carpenter work is being done at the Point church, preparatory to the plumbing.

The Registrars of Voters meet at Quincy Point tomorrow night to revise the voting lists.

Several people of our city plan to attend the State S. S. Association at Lowell Oct. 8 to 10.

Owners of sailing boats are in no hurry to pull them up for the winter; the fishing is too tempting.

Congratulations to "Uncle Silas" Stone, the nominee of the Republicans for Norfolk county commissioner.

Mrs. Barrows of No. 5 Charles street was elected Vice President of this district at the W. C. T. U. meeting last week.

Many curiosity hunters from Dorchester and Quincy attended the administrator's sale of the household furniture of Lucy F. Bass at Atlantic on Wednesday by Auctioneer Johnson. Several relics were sold at good prices.

Bishop Allen of Mobile, Ala., will be at the Sacred Heart church, Atlantic, on Friday evening. He is endeavoring to raise money for his diocese which was badly damaged by a cyclone last year.

It is the first day since last Friday that Quincy has had temperature above 60 degrees.

All Republicans are invited to the "night before' reception to State officials and Congressmen at the American House, Boston, on Friday evening from 8 to 9.

It will interest the many friends of Miss Helen Curtin of Atlantic street who is ill with typhoid fever to know that she is holding her own and an improvement is looked for before many days.

Mrs. Tupper.

Mrs. Lewis T. Tupper of Spear street passed away this morning at her summer home at Post island. She had been in poor health for a few weeks but it was only recently that her disease became serious. Extensive improvements have just been completed at her residence, and it is regretted that she could not have enjoyed them. The daughters and sons have the sympathy of a large circle of friends in the loss of a loving mother.

New C. E. Officers.

Depot Burglars Get But Little

Officer Donovan while patroling at Norfolk Downs about 1.30 this morning, discovered that the depot had been entered by burglars. Entrance had been gained by smashing a window. The door leading to the ticket office was then forced and the money drawer smashed.

Ths station agent was notified and went to the depot. All that was missed was a ticket to Braintree and a ticket to Neponset.

There have been so many breaks in this vicinity that the station agent had received orders not to leave any money at the station.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

The freighter "Altamaha" is rapidly taking shape. The frames are all up and the stern post is in place. The plates on the 'midship section are nearly all fitted.

The tug boat for the New York, New Haven & Hartford is going up rapidly. About all the frames are in place so that the general contour of the boat can be seen.

Work on the lighter New England is being pushed vigorously. With her big derrick-mast in place and her deck house in the hands of the painters, her boilers in place and her heavy guards and railings almost completed, she is well on the way to completion.

The collier "Melrose," the third of the ships to be built for the New England Coal and Coke Company, could be put in shape to launch in a very short time if it were necessary.

Schooner "Emma" has arrived with a cargo of gravel and is berthed at the coal dock.

It seems to be definitely settled that none of the Quincy colliers will go to the Pacific coast with coal for the fleet of battleships of the U. S. navy. The Washington dispatcher states that only one of the four American bidders will get a contract. The Virginian of the American Hawaiian line, having a capacity of 12,000 tons, was accepted at $8 a ton. The vessel can afford to accept this offer, it was explained, because she is in the Hawaiian trade.

PROBATE COURT.

Judge White held Norfolk county probate court at Dedham on Wednesday.

Wills allowed—Of Edward A. Kelley of Cohasset, Fitzroy Kelley, David P. Kimball and Otis Norcross, all of Boston, executors, bond $600,000; of Elvira T. Hale of Hyde Park, Emma E. Hale executrix, bond $6000.

Administrations granted—On the estates of James P. Hutchinson of Needham, Bridget Jennings of Brookline, Timothy Allman of Quincy, Hannah C. Follansbee of Millis, Cora F. Hazard of Brookline, Elizabeth Freeman of New York city, William J. Collins of Dedham, Ann M. Davis of Bellingham, Arthur Hazard of Brookline, Susan T. Hall of Dedham and Charles B. Brigham of Cohasset.

An account was allowed in estate of Karl F. Green.

Big Golf Tournament.

A field of 90 entered the open golf tournament of the Wollaston club on Wednesday. W. M. Johnson of Somerville, with 79 had the best gross score, and was tied with E. Brooks and M. Allen at 71 for best net.

Seven Wollaston men qualified: R. E. Sproule, H. H. Harper, J. F. Morrill, H. E. Lodge, R. R. Freeman, J. E. McLaughlin and B. L. Pratt, who play in the matches today.

Crowd at the Fair.

The attendance at the Brockton fair on Wednesday was 37,100 against 36, 400 on the second day last year. Gov. Guild of Massachusetts and Gov. Floyd with many prominent officials of both states were present. Two successful flights were made by A. Roy Knabenshue in his air ship. Prof. Flower made two balloon ascensions, and successful parachute drops. The horse show was a great attraction, but divided attention with the trotting, the stage shows, the midway and the exhibits.

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

ATTEMPT TO RUN TOWN

Boston Toughs Terrorize People But Several Are Arrested

J. F. Gleason superintendent of the Water department, was roughly handled early Thursday evening by a gang of South Boston toughs on their way home from the Brockton fair. Mr. Gleason was entertaining James Nicol and Walter Prout. Suddenly there was a racket on the front piazza as a neighbor came running up to get him to telephone to the police.

Close upon the man's heels came the gang of toughs. Stepping to the door Mr. Gleason told them to get out. His only reply was a blow behind the ear. He then laid one of the men out, at which the others pitched in, and intended to do him up. At this point Mr. Nicol came down to see what the trouble was, and he received a blow in the face that later required the services of a physician to dress.

For a few minutes there was a rough and tumble fight during which "Jed" had two of the gang under control. Just then an officer came up, and although told by Jed to place the men under arrest Mr. Gleason alleges that the officer not only refused but also refused to render any assistance until he told him that if he did not follow the gang and arrest them it would go hard with him.

In the meantime the police station had been notified and started the patrol toward scene on the run. The patrol wagon passed the team containing the toughs at Doble's corner and turned round and gave chase. When near the corner of School and Franklin streets the patrol wagon overtook the team. Officer Phillips jumped out and grabbed the horses of the team, and Officers Thorne and Whalan with Driver Cahill hustled the gang to the police station.

They gave their names as Cornelius Batts, James O'Haloran, Henry Wells, William Knox, Fred Baird, Thomas McDonnell and William Bramfield. They were booked for assault on Mr. Gleason. They were later bailed out. In court a second complaint was sworn out against them for disturbing the peace.

Mr. Gleason says that the gang is the same crowd that stole a bushel of tomatoes from his back door step on their way to the fair in the morning.

Mr. Gleason's charge against the officer is a serious one and will probably call for an investigation.

Railroad Earnings Million a Week

The N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. reports earnings for year ending June 30, 1907, to the amount of $55,601,936, over a million dollars per week, and expenses of $37,850,081, leaving the net earnings at $17,751,855. A year ago an increase in earnings and decrease of expenses was reported, but this year the expenses increased more than the earnings. The net earnings for the year ending June 30, 1906, were $17,761,735, and for the preceding year $14,148,924.

New items appear this year to be added to the net earnings, viz: $3,615,900, the net income from street railway lines operated, and $635,127 from steamship lines operated. The balance applicable to dividends, however, was $8,893,042 against $10,185,377 a year ago, and the surplus was reduced from $3,718,285 to $1,988,054.

Booster Week And What It Means

Plans are rapidly maturing for the Y. M. C. A. "Booster Week" program beginning Oct. 7. Every evening during the week the building will be open to both members and strangers. The social committee will be on hand to do the honors—there will be a fire of logs in the ample fireplace—and the wherewithal to cheer the inner man will be forthcoming nightly.

Thursday night has been named for a big mass meeting to be addressed by several Quincy men who know how to make a good speech. There will be music and singing of the good old-fashioned kind.

During the week thousands of pieces printed matter will find their way into the homes of Quincy. The association takes this way of imforming the public of its purpose.

One thing should be distinctly understood—this campaign is in no way a solicitation of funds. No one will be asked to give a penny. In is simply a concerted effort to make the privileges and attractions of the Y. M. C. A. known to many persons who do not realize how much pleasure and profit can be had at a ridiculously small expense.

It is safe to say that no club in greater Boston offers so many advantages for both intellectual and physical enjoyment, yet the expense of belonging to almost any club is from three to ten times as great.

Convention Dates.

Quincy will send delegates to the following conventions:

Oct. 4,—Second district Republican Councillor at Wesleyan hall at 3 P. M.—243 delegates.

Oct. 5,—Democratic State convention at Springfield.

Oct. 5,—Republican State Convention at Boston—1772 delegates.

SEVERAL CHARGES

Much Wanted Man Arrested For Larceny At Shipyard

Joseph Ricchelli was arrested by Officer Larkin at his boarding house at South Quincy on Thursday afternoon for Constable Stoddard of the Fore River force, for the larceny of $14.41 from the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. The larceny was a unique one and showed Ricchelli to be possessed of considerable nerve.

It appears that he was a chum of one Addonio Abate, who was employed as a painter at the works. Tuesday he told Abate that a friend of his was coming from Vermont and wanted him to meet the friend at the depot. In the meantime Ricchelli had learned Abate's number at the Fore River and as soon as the latter started for the depot, Ricchelli started for the Fore River.

Going to the employees gate he asked for Abate's number. Armed with this he sought out Foreman Lally of the painters' department and showed him what purported to be a letter from Barre, Vt., and asked for his time that he might get what money was due him. Mr. Lally told him the only way he could give him his time was to discharge him. That arrangement was all right and he was given his discharge and time.

He then went to the office and drew the money due Abate. Thursday morning Abate returned to work and was surprised to find his number was gone. It did not take long to learn what had transpired, and Constable Stoddard got out a warrant and with Officer Larkin went to Ricchelli's boarding house and placed him under arrest.

After his arrest it turned out that he is probably the man wanted for other larcenies, and warrants were sworn out against him for the larceny of a watch from John Henry, and the larceny of a gold pin from Walter Rizzi.

While he was in court waiting for his case to be called, he was identified by Miss Jarvis as the man who entered her room at South Quincy two weeks ago and robbed her of $40.

This was the case where Miss Jarvis went to a room to make the bed and found a man standing before the bureau taking the contents from her pocketbook. She screamed and the fellow threw her onto the bed and disappeared. This complaint was not served on him at the time but probably will be when the other case comes up for trial. In the meantime Ricchelli is under $900 bail for his appearance next Thursday.

Free Trips To Washington

The offer of the Old Colony St. R. Co., to give away entirely free, round trips to Washington, down the Hudson river, to New York and other places has attracted a wide amount of interest as well as the manner in which these trips are to be presented.

It was arranged to have a hunt for these trips at Mosquito Woods, Palmer street, Quincy, last Saturday but the weather caused a postponement. It will be tried again on Saturday, however, when everybody, old and young, men and women will have an opportunity to show how bright their eyes are.

Twenty-five envelopes containing cards will be distributed at various places about the grounds just before 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the hunt will be on in earnest. The finders of these envelopes will be entitled to two round trips, to Washington, two Hudson River trips, six round trips to New York and 15 collections of tickets that will be good anywhere on the Old Colony system.

These trips will include all transportation charges as well as staterooms where a boat is included in the trip. It is an unusual chance to get some of the most delightful of fall trips absolutely free.

Where Quincy Was a Pioneer

Rev. Anson Titus in his address before the New England Historic Genealogical Society on Thursday on "Forgotten Bostonians," says:

The funeral of John Adams, July, 1826, was a turning point in the industries of New England. For years there had been a contest between the advocates of canal versus steam for a way between Boston and Albany. After the funeral the legislature and many honorable men inspected the little railway from the Quincy quarries to the harbor, and they at once saw the superiority of steam over the canal. On March 4, 1842, the Legislature and officials of New York and Massachusetts met in Springfield for a jubilee and a banquet ever since famous. Thomas B. Wales, president of the railroad, and Mr. De Grand, a Frenchman residing in Boston, were the most honored men of the occasion.

To discover forgotten Bostonians has been the office of historical societies and publications. Osgood Carlton, the eminent cartographer, is being recognized for his services to Boston and the Commonwealth, the Massachusetts Historical Society, the New England Historic-Genealogical Society and the Bostonian Society are rendering affective service in making known the men and events of former days. The Boston Record Commission, by the publication of official records, is doing a task unrivalled by any municipality.

The publication of Suffolk Deeds, a most economical enterprise, is giving an antiquarian service to Boston. The publication of the military Revolutionary rolls of Massachusetts is bringing to light many a patriot who performed his humble part. Peter Force was a pioneer in the publication of the American State Papers, and he deserves fresh recognition. There are men in Massachusetts who deserve biographies: Chief Justice Francis Dana, Horace Mann, Governor John A. Andrew, and John Hancock, among them, the latter born in Quincy.

Tramped to Brockton.

Six Wollaston young men took a long tramp on Tuesday, and say they enjoyed it. They walked to the Brockton fair, a distance of 14 miles, and were in good condition to take in the numerous attractions, returning in the evening by rail. In the party were Everett Rhodes, Chester Gurney, Charles Sayward, Theo and Franz Marceau and Master Jobin.

Freeman the Star At Wollaston

R. R. Freeman, the president of the Republican City Committee, is not at all nervous over the political contests, but is playing par golf, and has reached the semi-finals in the open tournament at Wollaston. The Herald expert says:

Out of a fine field of representative golfers of Greater Boston, R. R. Freeman of Wollaston looked high Thursday for premier honors of the open golf tournament of the Wollaston Golf club. Resplendent with a red bandanna tucked about his throat, and a slouch hat that looked as though it saw service in the Russo-Japanese war, Freeman romped twice over the course, in which he knows every blade of grass, to victory.

He didn't settle down to his usual steady stride until the waning afternoon on his homeward journey with J. Nelson Manning, the crack Commonwealth Country Club player. Then Freeman began to show his true worth, and when the 18th green had been reached Freeman had put Manning out of the tournament by the score of 4-3, and incidentally had a 78 chalked up to his credit, the best medal score in the two days of the tournament. He got a 37 for the second nine of his afternoon match, and that is going some for the Wollaston course.

Freeman's morning match with G. B. Higgins of Columbus, O., was another contest well worth looking at. It went to 20 holes, when Freeman, after a happy-go-lucky match, won his way into the second round. The fact that the western golfer outdrove the Wollaston veteran at times didn't bother him in the least. At the most momentuous period in the match, with the score all even, Freeman drove to the top of the club house. The ball took a somewhat lucky rebound, but was out of the line of play, while Higgins was on the green on his drive. Freeman wasn't disheartened, though it looked to every one that Freeman was about to be put out of the event. Higgins then proceeded to put in a manner mediocre, and Freeman, quick to take advantage of an opponent's falling off, squared the hole, and the match went to the 19th. Freeman played par golf to the next three holes and won. Higgins deserved great credit for the keen match he played against the Wollaston golfer. At no stage was one ahead of the other to any appreciable extent.

Mr. Freeman will play T. M. Claflin of Weston in the semi finals, while R. E. Sproule of the Wollaston club will play H. P. Farrington of the Commonwealth club.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

Registration at Quincy Point tonight.

Quite a few High school pupils did not hear the no-school signal this morning and reported at school.

Ex-postmaster Fred Read of Newport News, Va., is the guest of Joseph Carruthers of Hancock street.

The family of Benjamin Johnson have closed their bungalow at Adams shore and have returned to their School street home.

The Point merchants are filled with joy over the news of building the seven new submarines at the Fore River yard.

People of the Point, where Mr. George A. Sidelinger used to live, are glad that he is a possible candidate for Mayor.

The New England Telephone Co., is building a tar concrete sidewalk in front of its exchange building on Merrymount road.

Mrs. Margaret Walsh has closed her summer cottage at Houghs Neck and the family are at their winter residence on Quincy avenue.

Work decorating the Coliseum for the Elks Carnival is already under way, a car load of decorating material having arrived this week by freight.

Ralph H. Hall of this city was one of the ushers at the church wedding in Cambridge on Wednesday evening of Miss Mildred Sparrow of Cambridge and Mr. Charles J. Goodale of Ashmont.

The first meeting of the season of the Unitarian club of Wollaston will be held in the vestry, on Tuesday Evening, October 8. Dinner at 6.30. The speakers will be Mr. Edw. E. Babb and Mr. Joseph B. Maccabe who will talk on "The Needs and Benefits of Athletics for Young Men."

A large party assembled at Johnson's hall on Wednesday and enjoyed whist for two hours. The following being the lucky ones: Mrs. Annie Pratt, Mrs. M. Tucker, Mrs. A. Boutilier, Mrs. Jas. Birnie, Mrs. A. T. Jones, Richard E. Barry, J. M. Ellison, W. S. Clements, W. O. Phelps and A. S. French.

The introduction of the sewer down Bayfield road has made Squantum street very wet and sloppy. The overflow of water has run down into the field on the corner of Squantum street and Faxon road, making it impossible to cross, and it is a popular by-way. Dennis O'Neil has within the past few days placed large boards across this field and if one is surefooted he can cross in safety with dry feet. It was a most timely thoughtfulness.

REVIVING WAR TALK

"Element of Danger" In American Relations With Japan

SO THINK FRENCH PRESS

Germans Believe Relations Between the Two Countries Are Improved, While Britishers Interpret Discussion of War as "Party Politics"

Paris, Oct. 4.—Secretary of War Taft's visit to Japan and other points in the Far East and President Roosevelt's speeches, coupled with the sensational utterances of certain American papers which have been cabled here, have served to attract renewed attention to the relations between the United States and Japan.

The French papers are devoting much space to the subject, but not one of them regards the situation as being acute, though they all think that it contains elements of danger. This, however, has not affected the tone on the Bourse.

The Temps expresses the opinion that "there is fire smouldering under the ashes, which the two governments must extinguish." Nevertheless, the semi-official organ holds the American press, which it says is "practicing the faults of a portion of its European rivals," largely responsible for the "moral tension between the two peoples, which no number of trips, speeches, banquets or compliments can remove."

The Temps considers it essential that each country shall recognize its respective wrongs, adding: "No matter what danger yellow labor constitutes for California, it does not justify violence against the Japanese or the educational exclusion of the whole people. If necessary the United States must impose its will on California, and on the other hand Japan must recognize America's right to send her fleet where she pleases."

London Newspaper Opinion

London, Oct. 4.—"Party politics" is the general interpretation here of the discussion over the propriety of sending the American battleship fleet to the Pacific. The English and all the European papers print the speeches of President Roosevelt and War Secretary Taft and they all reproduce comments of the American papers which are attacking the battleship project. The stock exchange, where premonitions of war in any quarter of the globe are felt first, has not shown any reflection of the "war talk" in some of the American papers.

Several extracts from certain American papers hinting that President Roosevelt desires to bring on a war with Japan to make his re-election logical have been printed here, but were received as partisan political charges. Diplomats generally believe that Japan wishes to avoid war, and consider the probability of war to be small unless the newspapers fan the two peoples into hostility.

A Calm View In Germany

Berlin, Oct. 4.—German official circles are disposed to take a calm view of the sending of the American battleship fleet to the Pacific ocean and do not consider that this step is an aggressive one against Japan or likely to lead to war. German officials are convinced that neither the United States or Japan is disposed to allow the controversy to reach a stage where its settlement by force would be the only recourse. On the contrary, the opinion in authoritative quarters is that latterly the relations between the two countries have improved, and it is remarked that the recent attacks on Japanese subjects at Vancouver is liable to make Japan more willing to come to terms with the United States, since a contrary course might tend to draw Great Britain to a sympathetic attitude with the United States against Japan.

Wages of Navy Yard Employes

Washington, Oct. 4.—Between now and Jan. 1 the wage boards at all navy yards and stations will prepare the schedule of wages of the mechanics and laborers for the calendar year 1908. Hereafter foremen and master mechanics who represent that their wage scale has been unchanged for a decade shall be treated as a class instead of as individuals in the matter of wages, and the wage boards shall consider their wages as well as the wages of mechanics and laborers in recommending the general scale of wages for next year.

Great Honor to Root

Mexico City, Oct. 4.—Secretary of State Root was yesterday the recipient of the highest honors granted to a foreign visitor at the City of Mexico. A special meeting of the chamber of deputies convened especially to show the appreciation of the lawmakers of this republic for the distinguished guest and in the evening a ball was given at the jockey club.

Austrian Railroaders on Strike

Vienna, Oct. 4.—The strike of the railroad employes throughout Austria for increased wages, which began Oct. 1, is spreading, and the serious inconvenience to the public is growing every day. On some lines freight traffic has been completely suspended. The machine shop workers have joined the railroad men.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

INDIGESTION

Show me a person who suffers from indigestion or dyspepsia and I will show you a person with the meanest disposition on earth. You can't blame them.

MRS. E. KEOGH.

Nothing in the world takes all the cheer and brightness out of life like a balky stomach. People who suffer in this way feel out of humor, out of sorts and irritable all the time. They can't eat a meal without suffering intensely afterward. Their faces are usually covered with pimples and blotches. They always have headache, constipation, are tired and listless and as many whom I have talked to put it 'just feel mean and bad all over.' They are always dosing themselves on pills and pre-digested foods and the like until they have so weakened their stomachs that they can't eat anything. It's all nonsense. I have seen and talked with people who had lived for months on milk and toast, take a bottle or two of Cooper's New Discovery and inside of two weeks sit down and eat a big meal at night then go to bed and sleep as well as any one. Here is one case I have in mind,

Mrs. Ellen Keogh, 1907 Ogden Ave., Superior, Wis., recently wrote me:

"No one knows what awful suffering I have endured from indigestion. My stomach would not digest the simplest foods and no matter what I ate I would be sure to suffer afterwards. I was also constipated and had queer dizzy spells and frightful headaches. Oft times I felt so badly that I could scarcely walk. I had taken Cooper's New Discovery but a short time when I noticed a decided improvement. Now I can truthfully say I feel greatly improved in every way and today for the first time in ten years I enjoyed a hearty meal. I am indeed very grateful to you."

The fact that Mr. Cooper's medicines enjoy larger sales than any others is proof of their great merit.

FIRE DEPARTMENT INQUIRY

Charges That Certain Boston Men Bought Their Promotions

Boston, Oct. 4.—The Boston fire department is slated to be the subject of investigation by the finance commission. Charges which have been made that a district chief of the department, appointed since Mayor Fitzgerald took office, paid $500 for his appointment and a fireman paid $300 to be promoted to lieutenant, started the investigation.

"Insinuations of purchased promotions in the fire department have been circulating for some time," said Fitzgerald last night, "but nothing definite has appeared till the definite statements in the evening papers. It is due to the fire department and to the citizens of Boston that this matter be cleaned up, and I expect that the finance commission will act at once. I know that Fire Commissioner Wells will give all the aid in his power to assist the finance commission to make a thorough investigation."

Society Man Seeks Divorce

Boston, Oct. 4.—Much of a sensation in Boston's exclusive society is the libel suit for divorce, filed at Salem by George L. Peabody, against his wife on grounds of desertion. Peabody is a member of the banking firm of Lee, Higginson & Co. and is a well known clubman of Boston. Mrs. Peabody, previous to her marriage, was well known in local, south shore and Newport society. The couple were married June 4, 1891, and lived happily until about four years ago, Mrs. Peabody spending much of her time since then in England.

Forced to Sail In Ballast

Boston, Oct. 4.—Owing to delays on the part of the railroads in forwarding western grain to Boston for shipment to foreign ports, steamer Georgian of the Leyland line went out with a cargo of 1800 tons of sand, coal and water ballast, instead of the 80,000 bushels of grain, with other consignments, she was scheduled to carry. The Georgian received only 1600 bushels of grain from the railroads. The steamship officials state that the vessel will not make enough on the trip to pay her expenses.

Bell Companies Change Policy

Boston, Oct. 4.—An important change in the policy which the Bell Telephone companies have maintained for 30 years became known when it was announced that the Western Electric company, which manufactures the apparatus used by the Bell companies, would hereafter sell telephones and supplies to all buyers. Heretofore the Western company has refused to sell its instruments to independent companies.

Shot Without Provocation

Boston, Oct. 4.—James E. Downey, a member of the Boston fire department, was probably fatally shot on Harrison avenue, in the heart of Boston's Chinatown, at midnight. Clement Yore is under arrest, charged with the shooting. Downey was walking along the street when he claims he was grabbed by Yore, whom he says he never saw before. A scuffle followed and in the melee Downey was shot.

Big Drop In Payroll

Boston, Oct. 4.—The monthly report of City Treasurer Slattery will show the total of the payroll draft for the month of September to have been $1,038,586.57, which is $268,641.81 less than a year ago. The total of the payrolls for the nine months, including September, was $9,552,223.55, which is $258,304.82 more than the payroll drafts amounted to for the corresponding months of 1905.

Apprehension Relieved

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 4.—The naval collier Lebanon, with the converted yacht Gloucester in tow, has arrived here from Pensacola. Both vessels are in good condition. The Gloucester comes here to be renovated before being taken over by the Massachusetts naval militia. The vessels were two weeks out from Pensacola.

The Canaan Wreck Inquiry

Concord, N. H., Oct. 4.—The state railroad commission continued in this city yesterday its investigation into the collision on the Boston and Maine railroad at West Canaan, Sept. 15, but elicited no new facts save an official explanation of the reason for the almost complete telescoping of the day coach by the baggage car.

Two Women Victims of Drink

Boston, Oct. 4.—Two women died in cells during yesterday while under arrest for intoxication. One, Margaret Fanning, was 35 years old. The other, Mrs. Margaret Dinsmore, was 45 years old. Neither woman was known to be in a serious condition.

Train Ran Over Lineman

Readville, Mass., Oct. 4.—William Fields, aged 45 years, a lineman, while inspecting wires here, stepped backward upon the railroad tracks as a train was passing and was instantly killed. He leaves a wife and two children.

Disembowelled by Locomotive

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 4.—Arthur J. McEnaney, aged 31, a sandman, was ground beneath the wheels of a locomotive at the roundhouse here last night and died in 40 minutes. His body was disembowelled and otherwise mangled.

Assaulted 107-Year-Old Man

New Haven, Oct. 4.—Alphonso Salvatore was fined $5 in the city court on the charge of assaulting Bernard White. The case developed in interest because the fact came out that White is in his 107th year.

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

OIL FOR RAILROADS

Ninety-Seven Percent of Business Controlled by Combination

TESTIMONY AS TO REFUND

Evidence of Discrimination by Fact That One Company Got Oil For 24 Cents a Gallon, While Others Paid as High as 48 Cents

New York, Oct. 4.—That the Galena Signal Oil company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company, controls 97 percent of the lubricating oil business with the railroads of the United States, and that the prices for its products are not uniform with all railroads was written in the record of yesterday's hearing of the federal suit against the so-called oil trust.

C. C. Steinbrenner, an accountant for the Galena company, told in detail how contracts were made with railroads whereby they were guaranteed a maximum cost for the lubrication of the road, based on a mileage basis for engines and cars, and when the maximum cost was found at the end of certain periods to fall short of the standard invoice price, which all railroads paid when they received the oil, the Galena company made a refund of the difference.

From statements compiled from the Galena company's books Mr. Kellogg, for the government, was able to show that in some cases the amount of the refund was nearly 50 percent of the invoice price. Steinbrenner testified that the lubricating oil furnished to the Pennsylvania railroad was sold at a loss. The Galena company fixed the standard invoice price of valve oil for engines last year at 48 cents a gallon, and Kellogg drew from the witness that the Pennsylvania railroad, after the refund was deducted, obtained its oil for 24 cents.

Mr. Steinbrenner testified that the New York Central, Union Pacific, Delaware and Hudson and Southern railroads paid 48 cents a gallon, or the full invoice price without refund. The Baltimore and Ohio railroad paid 38 cents a gallon, while the Toledo, Peoria and Western obtained its oil for 26 cents. Steinbrenner said that the fixing of the maximum cost of lubrication to a railroad was a matter of hard bargaining.

A letter written by President Miller of the Galena company in 1905 to Vice President Marony of the Pittsburg, Shawmut and Northern railroad, and placed in evidence, stated that the Galena company was supplying 97½ percent of the total mileage of the United States, Canada and Mexico.

One of the railroads that the Galena company did not supply with oil, Steinbrenner said, was the Tidewater railroad, owned by Henry H. Rogers, vice president of the Standard Oil company. The witness said the Galena company had tried to obtain the contract with the Tidewater railroad, but had failed. Kellogg suggested that Rogers thought he could get better oil elsewhere.

Forty-Five Thousand People Homeless

Boston, Oct. 4.—The great fire which recently destroyed four-fifths of the city of Hakodato, Japan, was a far greater calamity to the Nippon empire than the San Francisco disaster was to the United States, according to an account of the conflagration received from Rev. George M. Rowland, D. D., who states that 300 persons lost their lives in the fire. Thirteen thousand buildings were reduced to ashes and 45,000 persons are shelterless, with the severity of winter approaching.

Hebrew Weds His Niece

Woonsocket, R. I., Oct. 4.—A romance checked by the laws of New York state reached its climax here when David Cohen and his niece, Miss Annie Cohen, his brother's daughter, were married. In Rhode Island the bars are let down to Hebrews, whose religious laws permit the custom. Cohen is 28 years old and his niece and wife is 18.

Young Italian Used Revolver

New York, Oct. 4.—John Barbarino, a 13-year-old Italian bootblack, threw several hundred passengers on a ferryboat into a panic last night when he shot and seriously wounded one of the passengers, Robert Bain. The boy said Bain stepped on his toes, and when he told him to keep off he slapped his face.

Big Lift For Amherst College

New York, Oct. 4.—The sum of $1,000,000 is divided in 10 portions of $100,000 each and bequeathed to several colleges and church and charitable organizations by the will of D. W. James, the philanthropist, which was filed for probate yesterday. Among the colleges which will benefit is Amherst.

Suicide Mania In Schools

St. Petersburg, Oct. 4.—During the year 1906 there were 180 attempts to commit suicide among the pupils of the Russian high schools. Of this number 114 succeeded in taking their lives. The disturbed state of the country is given as being the main reason for this state of affairs.

Taft Party Off For Manila

A POLICY OF PEACE

Can Best Be Maintained by a Hard-Hitting Navy

NEW COURSE TO BE BEGUN

Fleet to Alternate In Pacific and Atlantic--Will Give Good Training and Show Points Needing Strengthening--Gist of President's Speech

Cairo, Ills., Oct. 4.—In the course of his address here President Roosevelt said:

This nation is now on terms of the most cordial good will with all other nations. Let us make it a prime object of our policy to preserve these conditions.

To do so it is necessary on the one hand to mete out a generous justice to all other peoples and show them courtesy and respect; and on the other hand, as we are yet a good way off from the millennium, to keep ourselves in such shape as to make it evident to all men that we desire peace because we think it just and right and not from motives of weakness or timidity. As for the first requisite, this means that not only the government but the people as a whole shall act in the needed spirit; for otherwise the folly of a few individuals may work lasting discredit to the whole nation.

Let us build up and maintain at the highest point of efficiency the United States navy.

In any great war on land we should have to rely in the future as we have relied in the past chiefly upon volunteer soldiers; and although it is indispensable that our little army, an army ludicrously small relatively to the wealth and population of this mighty nation, should itself be trained to the highest point and should be valued and respected as is demanded by the worth of the officers and enlisted men, yet it is not necessary that this army should be large as compared to the armies of other great nations.

But as regards the navy all this is different. We have an enormous coastline, and our coastline is on two great oceans. To repel hostile attacks the fortifications, and not the navy, must be used; but the best way to parry is to hit—no fight can ever be won except by hitting—and we can only hit by means of the navy.

This year I am happy to say that we shall begin a course which I hope will be steadily followed hereafter, that, namely, of keeping the battleship fleet alternately in the Pacific and in the Atlantic. Early in December the fleet will begin its voyage to the Pacific, and it will number among its formidable fighting craft three great battleships, named, respectively, the Illinois, the Missouri, and the Kentucky.

It is a national fleet in every sense of the term, and its welfare should be, and I firmly believe is, as much a matter of pride and concern for every man in the farthest interior of our country as for every man on the seacoast. A long ocean voyage is mighty good training; and not the least good it will do will be to show just the points where our naval program needs strengthening.

Incidentally I think the voyage will have one good effect, for, to judge by their comments on the movement, some excellent people in my own section of the country need to be reminded that the Pacific coast is exactly as much a part of this nation as the Atlantic coast.

There is every reason why we should fight whatever is evil in the present. But there is also every reason why we should feel a sturdy and confident hope for the future. There are many wrongs to right; there are many and powerful wrongdoers against whom to war; and it would be base to shrink from the contest or to fail to wage it with a high, a resolute will. But I am sure that we shall win in the contest because I know that the heart of our people is sound.

Our average men and women are good men and women—and this is true in all sections of our country and among all classes of our countrymen. There is no other nation on earth with such vast natural resources or with such a high standard of living and of industrial efficiency among its workers. We have as a nation an era of unexampled prosperity ahead of us; we shall enjoy it and our children will enjoy it after us.

The trend of well-being in this country is upward not downward; and this is the trend in the things of the soul as well as in the things of the body.

An Expensive Yacht Cruise

New York, Oct. 4.—Fifteen friends of Colonel Robert M. Thompson, financier, retired naval officer and lawyer, are to be his guests on a cruise around the world on the 3000-ton steam yacht Mineola. The journey will occupy nine months and the estimated expense is $500,000. The Mineola will have 15 staterooms in styles of Louis XV and George III periods, each stateroom to have a sitting room and bathroom attached.

Argentina Has a Revolution

Buenos Ayres, Oct. 4.—A revolution has broken out in the province of Carrientes, in the Argentine Republic. The insurgents already have seized several positions, and in the fighting with the government troops many men on both sides were either killed or wounded.

HISGEN FOR GOVERNOR

Independence League Nominates Its Ticket For Massachusetts

Boston, Oct. 4.—The fourth ticket of state officers which will contest the November election was placed in the field yesterday by the Independence League, with Thomas L. Hisgen of West Springfield as the candidate for governor. The Independence League qualified as a recognized party under the state laws when the candidate for governor last year, John B. Moran, polled nearly 36,000 votes, or more than the required 3 percent. The balance of the state ticket chosen was as follows:

Lieutenant governor, E. G. Brown of Brockton; secretary of state, D. J. Ring of Lowell; treasurer, E. J. Cantwell of Fall River; auditor, E. F. Finnerty of Clinton; attorney general, W. N. Osgood of Lowell.

The convention also adopted a platform of 11 planks which condemns the merger of the Boston and Maine railroad with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, refers to what is termed as "the harmless inactivity of the present governor," denounces Henry M. Whitney, one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination, as the great public enemy of the state, and urges shorter hours for workingmen, the popular election of judges and United States senators, the recognition of labor unions, public ownership of public utilities and the extension of the initiative and referendum. The preamble of the platform declares that the burdens of the workingmen are constantly growing, while "champagne suppers, $50,000 balls, private yachts, private cars and private palaces" are increasing even more rapidly.

Mr. Hisgen is an oil merchant in Springfield and as the Democratic candidate last year for auditor made a spirited campaign by denouncing the Standard Oil company.

Competition Not the Life of Trade

Cincinnati, Oct. 4.—That co-operation and not competition is the life of trade was the position taken by Chairman Knapp of the interstate commerce commission, in his address before the convention of the Grain Dealers' National association here. Knapp said that he believed elements that are now conflicting will gather in harmonious effort and that the highest honors and the greatest glories will go to the citizens who are the most useful and perform the greatest service.

Newfoundland Concludes to Yield

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—The government of Newfoundland has decided to remove all restrictions on the sale of herring. This policy has a particular significance for Canada. It has all along been feared that Premier Bond's course in taking objections to the reference of the entire question of the treaty of 1818 to The Hague tribunal would cause the United States to recede from its position in favor, with the result that the fishery question would remain an open and irritating one.

Quigg's Startling Admission

New York, Oct. 4.—That he deliberately destroyed checks for $43,878, so that he would not be compelled to say to whom the money represented by them was paid, was admitted by Lemuel E. Quigg at the hearing on street railway merger matters before the public utilities commission. "My memory is faulty. I should not like to attempt it," he replied, when asked if he could tell to whom the checks were drawn.

Minister Ferguson Under Arrest

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 4.—Rev. Wilber P. Ferguson has been arrested on a charge sworn out by Arthur E. Cross, alleging criminal relations with Mrs. Cross. The complaint follows the recent church trial of Ferguson at the Methodist Episcopal conference, which ended in his withdrawal from the ministry and his $25,000 damage suit against several clergymen.

Admits Killing Fourteen Men

Chattanooga, Oct. 4.—D. D. Edwards, on trial for the murder of Sam Brooks, a negro, under cross-examination said: "I have shot and probably killed 14 men in my time." He said a majority of the killings occurred in the Kentucky mountains and during a labor strike in Chicago. Edwards is known as a Kentucky feudist.

To Build Wooden Challenger

Copenhagen, Oct. 4.—It is declared here that the Swedish yachtsmen who desire to challenge for the America's cup are ready to accept the conditions under which Shamrock III sailed off Sandy Hook. It has been decided to build the Swedish challenger entirely of wood.

Priest Gets Thirty Years In Prison

Pittsburg, Oct. 4.—Ludwig Szozygiel, the Polish priest, convicted of murder in the second degree for killing Andrew and Stephen Starzynski, hotel proprietors, was sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment.

Four Italians Hanged Together

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 4.—Four Italians were hanged at one time in the jail yard here for the murder of a fellow countryman, who was killed for resisting when the four attempted to rob him.

Old Ped Completes 600 Miles

Cincinnati, Oct. 4.—Haggard, but still determined to walk 1000 miles in 1000 consecutive hours, Dan O'Leary tramped his 600th mile at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Oct. 5.
Sun rises—5:45; sets—5:41.
Moon rises—3:35 a. m.
High water—9:45 a. m.; 10 p. m.
Rain is indicated for New England. The temperature will fall.

ON THE DIAMOND

American League

Washington, Oct. 4.—Although the winning of yesterday's game by Detroit did not, as events proved, make it impossible for Philadelphia to close the gap in the championship series, Manager Jennings' Washington friends waived the question of doubt and presented him with a floral horseshoe in token of his men's victory just before the game started. His men responded for him by running away with the game in brilliant style.

No Testimony For Defense

San Francisco, Oct. 4.—Notwithstanding that the Tirey L. Ford defense yesterday subpoenaed Abraham Ruef as a witness, when the time came for the introduction of evidence in behalf of the general counsel of the United Railroads, the defense refused to offer any testimony, thus blocking any intent the prosecution may have had to make of Ruef a rebuttal witness. Both sides went to argument, the people without having adduced direct evidence connecting Ford with the crime charged—that of bribing supervisors—and the defense without having offered a sworn word in its own behalf.

Wives For Soldiers In Africa

Hamburg, Oct. 4.—Several hundreds of young German women left Hamburg yesterday on steamer Feldmarschal for German Southwest Africa, where they will take positions with the families of German settlers and government officials. The Colonial society is, with the support of the government, offering inducements for women to emigrate, with the hope that they eventually will marry soldiers serving in the colony and becoming permanent settlers.

The Leon's Crew Safe

Kilrush, Ire., Oct. 4.—The last batch of the crew of the Leon XIII, wrecked off this coast, were brought safely ashore at a late hour last evening. The entire crew have thus been saved. They had nothing to eat since Tuesday morning, as it was impossible for them to reach the provisions on board. The men came ashore at different times in small parties.

Arrested For Double Murder

Albany, Oct. 4.—Jacob Bostschy, or Besche, wanted in connection with the murder at Loudenville of Mrs. John A. Dargatz and her adopted son, was captured while walking down the West Shore railroad tracks near West Camp. He admitted his identity and was brought here and lodged in jail. He gave little information regarding the murder.

Fever "Under Reasonable Control"

Washington, Oct. 4.—Reports received by the public health and marine hospital service from Cuba indicate that while cases of yellow fever continue to appear on the island, the epidemic is under reasonable control. There have been 88 cases reported, of which 26 have resulted fatally.

No Indirect Damage Claims

Tokio, Oct. 4.—It is believed here that in presenting the claims for damages which Japanese subjects sustained as a result of the Vancouver riots, the Tokio government will not include any amount for indirect damage. A speedy settlement of the matter is anticipated.

Gale Sweeps Newfoundland

St. Johns, Oct. 4.—A heavy gale has prevailed throughout the colony since Wednesday morning. Several fishing vessels are ashore and at a number of northern ports the crews were forced to abandon their craft.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The New York Chamber of Commerce received from the Tokio chamber a letter appealing to the New York organization to do all in its power to prevent a breach of relations between Japan and the United States following the San Francisco incident.

Mgr. Della Chiesa, assistant papal secretary of state, has been made papal nuncio at Madrid in succession to Aristide Rinaldini, who has been made a cardinal.

The Russian government has decided to dismantle the naval fortresses at Libau, Sveaborg, Uskdvinsk, Kertch and Batoum, as they are not required under the reduced navy.

A passenger train collided with a freight train near Chapin, Ills. The conductor of the passenger train was seriously injured and several passengers were bruised and cut.

John D. Rockefeller, accompanied by his wife and family servants, arrived at Tarrytown, N. Y., from Cleveland. Rockefeller seems in perfect health.

Permits Average Over One Per Day

Up to Oct. 1, Warren S. Parker, inspector of buildings, has issued 304 permits. As he did not assume office until the first Monday of February, this means an average of over 35 permits per month. The permits are for new buildings and alterations.

To A. W. Parker, for a building 125 feet by 70 feet at the Baker Yacht Basin, for the storage of boats.

To Guilo Brogilo, for a house on Rodman street.

To N. G. Nickerson for a house on Beale street.

To J. W. Pratt for a two-family house on Broadway, Quincy Point.

To W. A. Andrews for a house on Hobart street, Wollaston.

To Josef Erickson for a small store on Whitwell street.

To Adams Real Estate trust, for repairs and additions to the ice houses on Adams street.

Numerous Breaks At Wollaston

When Inspector McKay went to Wollaston on Thursday to investigate the break at the Norfolk Downs depot, he found that there had been quite a chapter of breaks at Wollaston on Wednesday night, but in only one case was anything of value taken.

This was at the fish market of Harry W. Titus, at 353 Newport avenue, where $35 in money was secured from the money drawer. Entrance was made by smashing a window.

The store of Frank F. O'Reilley, at 351 Newport avenue, was entered in the same manner, but nothing is missed.

The store of C. H. Backus further down the avenue, was also entered by smashing a window but nothing was taken.

At Boynton & Russell's store a window was smashed. The noise awakened Mr. Boynton who lives above the store. He came down with a shot gun and the parties made themselves scarce. According to Mr. Boynton it was about 10 o'clock in the evening.

MILTON.

Mrs. May Alden Ward, president of the State federation of Women's clubs, has returned to her Milton home for the winter.

East Milton was almost deserted Thursday, and it appeared as though everybody had gone to Brockton fair.

The church wedding of Miss Frances M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell of East Milton, and Mr. Charles B. Hoxie of Wollaston, will take place next Monday at the East Milton Congregational church, and will be followed by a reception in the vestry.

R. G. Andrews of Thistle avenue has resigned his position as instructor for the Wollaston Golf club.

Officer Fallon is the man selected to ride the motor cycle to catch automobile speeders. The machine will soon pay for itself.

Mortgagee's Sale of Real Estate.

By virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain mortgage deed given by Michael F. O'Brien and John T. McNeil, both of Quincy, Mass., to Arthur W. Stetson, of said Quincy, dated August 12, 1895, and recorded with Norfolk Deeds, book 742, page 510, for breach of the condition of said mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing the same, will be sold at public auction on the premises on FRIDAY the first day of November A. D. 1907, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, all and singular the premises conveyed by said mortgage, and therein described as follows, to wit:—"A certain lot of land containing 14,117 square feet, situated in said Quincy, and being lots Nos. 16 and 17 on a certain plan called "Plan of land on Hall's Hill" made by Whitman and Breck, and dated April 1884 and bounded as appears by said plan as follows, viz:—Northwesterly on lot No. 18, one hundred (100) feet; Northeasterly on land of the late Joseph W. Robertson, seven and 82-100 (7.82) feet and on land of Nells Nelson, thirty-two and 33-100 (32.33) feet, also Northeasterly, but in a different course, on said land of Nelson, fifty-one and 97-100 (51.97) feet; Easterly on land of Bridget Dempsey, fifty (50) feet; Southeasterly on land of Dr. J. M. Sheahan, fifty-four and 57-100 (54.57) feet; Southwesterly one hundred and five and 79-100 (105.79) feet on a certain private way that runs Northwesterly from Hall Place, also nearly Westerly on said private way seventy-three and 1-10 (73.1) feet."

The premises will be sold subject to all unpaid taxes, assessments, and tax titles, if any there be; and particularly to taxes assessed May 1, 1905, for which the undersigned holds a mortgagee's tax receipt duly recorded with said Norfolk Deeds. $100 will be required to be paid in cash by the purchaser at the time and place of sale. Further terms at sale.

Loyal Temperance Legion Proposed

A largely attended meeting was held at Faxon hall Thursday afternoon, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., to take action on the proposition of establishing a local Loyal Temperance Legion. All young people were invited, and many were present.

Mrs. Frisby, who has charge of the State legion, gave an interesting talk, telling what the aims and objects of the Loyal Legion are, and what it was doing in other places; also the importance of having the churches take hold of the matter.

There was some discussion as to whether it would be better to have one central legion or to have legions in the several churches. This will be decided upon at the meeting of the W. C. T. U. to be held Oct. 15.

A committee of young ladies was appointed to present a list of names for officers.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

The annual smoker of the Fore River draftsmen will be held this evening at Greenleaf hall. The heads of other departments have been invited, and an enjoyable evening is promised.

The Fore River Association Football team will play its first league game on its new grounds on Saturday with the Gorham team from Providence, R. I. The new field is now enclosed and much hard work has been done getting it into shape. A steam roller was at work several days.

Thursday the smokestack was fitted in the lighter "New England" and the painters were giving the pilot house and deck house their inside coat of paint.

Building No. 39, was moved Thursday across the railroad track, to make room for the extension of the machine.

There are three lines of endeavor that do not work well in the yard; stealing copper wire, cheating the boarding mistress, and drawing another man's pay. The three men who tried them have quickly come to grief.

Assistant Manager Brown has gone to New York and Baltimore for a few days.

Lieut. Commander Roger Welles, U. S. N., inspector of equipment, visited Newport, R. I., on Thursday where he inspected the electrical equipment of the submarines Viper and Cuttlefish, built at Quincy.

Mr. Tate, engineer of the steamship "H. F. Dimock" is in charge of the ship while she lies up here.

Mr. Hart, chief timekeeper, took some photographs of the floral tributes sent by men in the yard on the occasion of the funeral of the late Timekeeper Linton, and will, at the request of the family, furnish them with copies.

A handsome silver service, the gift of the state of Vermont will be presented to the United States battleship Vermont built at Quincy at the Charlestown Navy Yard this afternoon. In addition, the ship will be presented with a silk flag by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The sailors will be given comfort bags. Gov. Proctor will present the silver service, which will be accepted on behalf of the ship by Capt. W. P. Potter, its commander, a native of Vermont. The service consists of 14 pieces—a punch bowl, punch ladle, plauteau upon which the bowl will rest, two candelabra, water pitcher, syrup pitcher, two salad bowls, meat dish, entree dish or serving tray, two compotes and a butter dish. The Vermont is the last vessel of war that was built at the Fore River Yard.

THE RAID ON MINERVA ISLAND.

[Original.]

"Boat, ahoy! Any harbor on that island?"

"Yes, but you can't go in there."

"Why not?"

"That's Minerva island. Occupied and managed by women. They don't allow any men there. Got guns mounted to protect the channel."

"Old girls or young ones?"

"Mostly young ones."

That was enough for the yachtsmen. A council was held, and it was determined to make a conquest of Minerva island or die in the attempt. There were Lynn Pomeroy, Truby Miller, Reid Scarborough and Henry Ruddock. They had all been graduated the preceding June in the same class at college, and Pomeroy, the wealthy one of the lot, had invited the rest for a summer cruise on his yacht, the Vulcan. Ten minutes after the council broke up they sailed between two points of land up toward the harbor. They had not gone far before a boat put off from shore manned by six girls in white, with blue sailor collars and blue tam-o'-shanter hats with white bands. They came alongside the yacht, and one in the stern politely requested the party to keep off. Pomeroy bowed nearly to the deck and declared that he had come to make an inspection of Minerva island and write up an account of it for the benefit of the women of America who were interested in it. He was informed that this would not be permitted. Then, with a warning to proeed no farther, the boat was pulled away. The yacht sailed on up the channel between two forts. Suddenly a dozen girls in each fort sprang to the guns, and two shots were fired simultaneously. One cut away the yacht's bowsprit; the other put a hole amidships.

This looked serious. The wreckage forward occasioned a loss of control, and the yacht drifted down stern foremost. As soon as possible the anchor was dropped, and the Vulcan remained hors de combat half a mile below the forts. Not having guns aboard, an offensive move was impracticable.

Soon after dark Henry Ruddock, a scapegrace of the first order and the crack liar of his class in college, bid adieu to his shipmates and, plunging into the water, struck out for the shore. He got within a few yards of it when he gave a cry for help. A boat put out from a landing, and, following his cries, he was rescued. Taken ashore and revived, he was asked to explain.

"Those men on the yacht," he gasped, "are a set of devils. Just because I advocated letting you young ladies alone they pitched me overboard, knowing I couldn't swim a stroke."

"The wretches!" exclaimed the girls at once.

"How I got as far as I did I don't know. Permit me to thank you young ladies for my life." The last words were spoken in a tremulous voice, and the girls simultaneously exclaimed:

"Poor fellow!"

Nothing was heard aboard the yacht of the man who had been "thrown overboard." He was treated kindly by the owners and defenders of Minerva island and at once started a violent love affair (concealed, of course) with the captain of the battery. The next evening Truby Miller was pulled in the dingey under cover of the darkness past the forts up to the main dock near where were the principal buildings of the community. He, too, was "pitched overboard" and, reaching the dock, asked the first woman he met to take him at once before the governor of the island. The governor scowled, and Miller told his story. He had swum ashore to inform the ladies that the men on the yacht were intending to tow the yacht past the forts at midnight with the dingey. He had protested, but without avail, and had then resolved to spoil the game.

The governor informed him that a searchlight was in position and would be used if the night was so dark that it would be needed, but since the moon would rise at 10 o'clock it would probably not be needed. She thanked him, however, for his noble conduct and ordered him treated well till he could be sent away.

No attempt was made to pass the forts, and the next day a man was seen from the shore to cut the dingey's painter and pull away from the yacht, followed by shots. It was Scarborough, who came ashore with another cock and bull story about the men on the yacht and their intention to steal ashore in a body and put the denizens of the island to the sword. The crew on the yacht now consisted of Pomeroy, who was obliged to fire revolvers with both hands to make an appearance of men instead of a man. Then Pomeroy deserted, and the four men agreed to protect the women against those who remained in the yacht, and not one should get ashore if it required all their four lives to prevent it. The yacht was now lying at anchor without a soul aboard.

Several days passed. The yachtsmen averred that the deserted appearance of the yacht indicated some underhand cutthroat scheme was to be perpetrated. On the evening of the fourth day the men asked for a boat to reconnoiter. It was given them, and they left the dock, never to be seen on it again. The next morning the yacht was nowhere to be seen, and four of the girls failed to answer to roll call—namely, the captain of the battery, one tutor and two seniors.

The governor called the community together in the chapel and pointed out the wisdom of their course in keeping aloof from treacherous man. But a guard of illiterate, red headed, snaggle toothed men was hired to protect the harbor. S. HUNTER HALSEY.

The Social Realm

Our portion is not large indeed;
But then how little do we need!
For nature's calls are few.
In this the act of living lies—
To want no more than may suffice
And make that little do.

H. G. Smith, the general manager, was asked to preside as chairman, and he did it to the satisfaction of all, not only as chairman, but in his heart-to-heart talks with his employes.

It developed that the men assembled had talents outside of their vocations as draftsmen. First with Wendell Luce as director there was a good orchestra which was heard frequently during the evening. There were other artists, both on musical instruments and as vocalists, and then there was wit in the toasts and replies.

President Declares Himself to Be Half a Southerner

A GULF-TO-LAKE CHANNEL

Must Not Be Started Until We Are Sure We Are Right--Talk on the Navy, Corporations and Undesirable Citizens at Memphis Meeting

Memphis, Oct. 5.—With bands playing, children singing and enthusiastic men shouting the slogan of deep waterways, Memphis threw wide her gates to President Roosevelt, a score of governors and many other distinguished personages in the Mississippi valley.

The president was conducted to a carriage and the most imposing parade ever given here was begun. The president was continuously cheered throughout the march. The city was a waving mass of color, not only along the line of parade, but on many other streets as well. When the president's carriage turned into Main street he was saluted by a regiment of Confederate veterans, who thereafter acted as a bodyguard. The president arose and warmly greeted the warriors of a half century ago.

Arriving at the Auditorium rink, where the deep waterways convention is holding, President Roosevelt ascended the platform. He departed from his printed speech in several instances. Speaking of the Confederate guard of honor, he said it was a touching sight to see these old Confederate soldiers carrying the flag of this great Union. If any one wanted to know if they would fight for that flag, let him ask the Boys of Blue how the Boys in Gray fought against it. He said with emphasis that he was as much the president of the south as of the north, and was devoted to the south's interests. He said he was half a southerner and when he told of two or three of his uncles having worn the gray, he was tremendously applauded.

Speaking of a deep water channel from the gulf to the lakes, the president said he favored rapid improvement of the Mississippi river. "Like Davy Crockett, the great Tennesseean," he said, "I favor his motto: 'Be sure you are right, then go ahead.' And this deep water problem is almost up to the 'go ahead' stage. But we want to be sure about it."

The Panama canal, he said, was getting on well, "and the reason it is getting on so well is because we did not allow ourselves to go off half cocked." When the canal has been completed, he said, this nation would not ask other governments "kindly not to bother the canal;" that we would protect it. "We must have a larger and highly effective navy to patrol our coasts, not only on the Atlantic, but on the Pacific," he said.

He urged the people to disregard party lines in all purely national affairs. In connection with his discussion of corporations, the president said his experience in the last few years had brought him to the point of feeling sincere sympathy for certain persons who were cast into a frenzy by the most common sense remarks.

It had come to the point where a remark of his that honesty was the best policy was likely to lead to a run on the banks. He did not want to punish any one except for wrong-doing, but he would punish the wrong-doer who was poor as freely as the one who was rich.

"I will use my utmost power to stamp out murderous and lawless anarchy," he declared, "and I will no more stay my hand because a wrong-doer masquerades as a labor leader than if he masquerades as a captain of industry. I have heretofore expressed myself on the subject of undesirable citizens and I stand by what I said: 'Alike when he is a great capitalist who wins fortune by chicanery and wrong-doing, and when he is a man who, under the guise of standing up for labor, preaches and encourages violence and murder.'"

When the president closed his address he departed for Lake Providence, La., for a hunting trip.

Should Be "Good Mexicans"

Mexico City, Oct. 5.—"Americans in Mexico should be good, loyal and true Mexican citizens," was the gist of Secretary Root's speech at the banquet given him by the American colony of this city at the Country club. The banquet was attended by 100 prominent members of the colony and a dozen high Mexican officials. Root toasted President Diaz as the man who more than all others had given opportunities for American enterprise in Mexico

Steamship Officer Drowned

Annapolis, N. S., Oct. 5.—A cable received here from Liverpool states that steamer Pandosia, Captain Wyman, from St. John, has arrived there after a terrific passage and that her first officer, Johnson Grant, was swept overboard and drowned. He was one of the best known mariners in Nova Scotia.

Driven Ashore In Gale

Yarmouth, N. S., Oct. 5.—Schooner Annie D, which left Wood's Harbor for Grand Manan for bait, was driven ashore at Chebogue point in a gale. The vessel will probably be a total loss. The vessel was of 62 tons.

TO RETIRE NEXT SPRING

Ambassador Tower to Sever Connection With Diplomatic Service

Berlin, Oct. 5.—Ambassador Tower has written a letter to President Roosevelt asking that he be permitted to retire from the diplomatic service next spring.

Mr. Tower's reasons are understood to be that, having been abroad for nearly 11 years, he desires again to live in his own country in order to have a home there for his sons, who are now nearly ready to go to college, and to give his personal attention to his extensive financial, mining and railroad interests that have been left to the supervision of others during his long absence.

Mr. Tower's retirement will remove from the diplomatic list one of the most experienced of the American representatives in Europe. He has been continuously minister and ambassador longer than any diplomat in the American service. Besides the public questions with which Tower has dealt while at this post, he has had exceptionally agreeable relations with the American colony in Berlin. He has been welcome at the German court because he has been known to possess the entire confidence of his own government, and he has been able to get all that he ever asked for on behalf of any American.

Carbineers Protect Little Princess

Florence, Oct. 5.—An attempt was made yesterday by two men to carry off Princess Anne Monica Pia, the youngest daughter of the former Crown Princess of Saxony, who was married in London recently to Enrico Toselli, an Italian pianist. Toselli has notified the authorities that he will resist any attempt to carry off the little princess by force and that he has armed all his servants with revolvers. The Toselli villa is guarded by carbineers, who are constantly on duty.

Not Complimentary to Boston

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 5.—"I should rather live in San Francisco than in Boston," said President Roosevelt to Benjamin Wheeler, when Wheeler asked the president about the advisability of giving up the presidency of the University of California to accept the presidency of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Wheeler told of the incident to 3000 students who gathered to express their appreciation of Wheeler's declining the offer from Boston, at a higher salary.

To Fight Fire With Fire

New York, Oct. 5.—Fifty-seven of the largest silk traders in the United States pledged themselves at a meeting of the Silk Association of America here "to discriminate so far as possible against establishments which violate the principle of commercial freedom in trade." Their action was aimed directly against a Japanese silk trust, which has announced a policy of discrimination against American and other foreign silk dealers.

Millionaire's Daughter Missing

New York, Oct. 5.—Miss Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney, the millionaire Standard Oil man, is missing from her home at Spring Lake, N. J., and her parents are searching for her. Miss Maloney, on her 21st birthday recently, received a gift of $50,000. Mrs. Maloney, however, believes her daughter is now the wife of Samuel Clarkson, a wealthy Londoner.

Trainmen Jailed For Wreck

Hartford, Oct. 5.—Engineer Wilson and Conductor Maroney, charged with manslaughter, were found guilty in the superior criminal court and were sentenced to nine months each in jail. Wilson and Maroney were in charge of the passenger train which on June 23 collided with a work train in this city, killing 10 and injuring 40 others.

Mormons Fired From Germany

Dresden, Oct. 5.—Three American Mormons have been expelled from Germany as the result of persisting, despite official warnings prohibiting them from spreading their propaganda, in conducting river baptisms and making converts, whereupon they were arrested and summarily taken under guard to the frontier.

British Proposal Rejected

The Hague, Oct. 5.—At the peace conference the British delegation insisted that belligerent warships be allowed to remain only 24 hours in a neutral port, even if this is not sufficient time for them to take on the coal necessary to reach the next port of their nationality. This proposal was rejected, 11 to 8.

Sultan of Morocco Is "Broke"

Paris, Oct. 5.—M. Gaillard, the French consul at Fez, thinks it essential that France should make a loan to Sultan Abd-El-Aziz, who, before Jan. 1, will need $1,000,000 to meet the most urgent necessities and pay the army, calds, etc., and has not any money.

Telegraphers' Strike Near End

Chicago, Oct. 5.—The telegraph strike will be ended not later than Oct. 15, according to an official announcement, and the strikers are confident that they will win the victory.

Platt Denies Marrying Miss Wood

New York, Oct. 5.—Senator Platt made formal denial yesterday that he ever married Mae C. Wood, who is suing him for divorce.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Oct. 6.
Sun rises—5:46; sets—5:19.
Moon rises—4:38 a. m.
High water—10:30 a. m.; 10:45 p. m.

The weather promises to be fair and moderately cool in New England.

STATE POLITICS

Warring Elements of the Democracy Cause Divisions

STRONG ANTI-WHITNEY TALK

Many Democrats Averse to Installing City Hall Methods at State House--Republicans Must Work For Success

More than ever the inquiry is being made among Democrats whether their party is really one party or whether it is composed of two separate individual parties. Thomas B. Reed of Maine, when he was speaker of the national house of representatives, once made the statement that the Democratic party, being made up of dissimilar and antagonistic elements, was never able, and never would be able, to unite upon any platform other than a fight for the spoils of office.

Mr. Reed was a keen philosopher. The inherent weakness of the Democratic party lies in the fact that it is not one party, but two parties. It is composed of a radical element and a conservative element. These two elements are more violently antagonistic to each other than they are to the Republican party.

The commonwealth has recently witnessed, and is still witnessing, a conflict between these two diverse elements in the Democracy. The radical element supported the candidacy of General Bartlett for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, while the conservative element backed up the claims of Henry M. Whitney. The radical element controlled the Democratic state committee, but the conservative element had the most money, the keenest intellects and stubborn persistency, backed by many years' experience in the manipulation of public sentiment and the caucuses.

These two elements are as widely apart on what should be the leading issues of the campaign as heaven is from the other place. Whether these elements will be unified before the polls close on Nov. 5 remains to be seen. It is absolutely certain, however, that some parts of the radical wing of the Democracy will not support the nomination of Henry M. Whitney for governor.

The Roosevelt Democrats

A great many Democrats in this commonwealth call themselves "Roosevelt Democrats." By this they mean that they approve the policies and principles which make the administration of the President of the United States distinctively his own. They believe the president is doing everything in his power to protect the interests of the common people and to demonstrate to powerful corporations and interests that no one, and no interest, in this country is above the law. They recognize in him a man of sterling ability, of absolute integrity of purpose and motive, of financial probity and honor, and of a courage which does not quail before the combined power of wealth in this nation.

Those men of this type who have considered the question carefully are prone to admit that Henry M. Whitney, in his past and in his present, represents everything which President Roosevelt has been fighting for the last half dozen years. In their inmost souls they are compelled to admit that the election of such a man to the governorship of Massachusetts, at such a time as this, would be a reversal of the trend in political affairs. Instead of holding up the hands of the president in his magnificent work, the election of Whitney would tend to show that the tide was setting in the other direction, and that men of the Whitney type were to be preferred by the people to men of the rugged Roosevelt type.

Citizens generally, regardless of party, see clearly that President Roosevelt is contending for clean methods and honest men, not only in business, finance, and in the world at large, but also in politics. His whole career has exemplified in the highest degree his admiration for men of honesty and character everywhere. The election of a man like Henry M. Whitney in this state would be the hardest kind of a rebuff for the president and his policies.

This a Serious Question

Another pertinent question which many Democrats are asking themselves today is whether they wish to have installed at the state house the party which is responsible for the looting of the city of Boston, and whether they are willing to have their taxes increase year by year, in order to support a crowd of grafters like those who are being discovered and uncovered in the Hub.

It cannot be denied that the finance commission, regardless of the party affiliations of its members, is determined to let the public know exactly what has been going on at the city hall for the last two or three years. Without question there has been a tremendous amount of stealing, but this thieving was never so rampant, never so open and bold, never so fearless and defiant as during the last two years. The frauds uncovered and the thievery exposed in San Francisco were probably no worse, and perhaps not so flagrant and outrageous as those perpetrated in the city of Boston under the Democratic administration which pledged itself to protect the taxpayers and the people by every means in its power.

It is significant that no sooner was this Democratic administration installed in office than this wholesale looting and thieving began with added zest and speed.

It would seem as if this exposure ought to be an object lesson, not only to Boston itself, but to the rest of the commonwealth.

Do the people wish to have an era of graft let loose at the state house under the reign of a Democratic party, or will they vote to keep in office Republican officials under whom there has never been any such methods as seen in city hall? This is the question which is before the voter just at present.

Republicans Must Be Awake

However, notwithstanding the dissensions in the Democratic party, it will not do for the Republicans to take it for granted that they are to have a walkover this year. Henry M. Whitney is a resourceful politician. He has had large experience in working up public sentiment, and he and his supporters have unbounded means with which to make an active and persistent campaign. They will endeavor to inaugurate a sharp, aggressive and swift campaign and undertake to unify the broken ranks of the Democratic party. In a month's time a great amount of work can be done, and there is already observed among the Republican rank and file a disposition to consider the battle already won, a disposition which, if persisted in, may be a menace to Republican success.

It is never safe to underestimate an antagonist. It was that which defeated John L. Bates, three years ago, one of the best governors the state has ever seen, and elected William L. Douglas, a Democrat, to succeed him.

An effort will be made by the Democratic party to prove that the present high prices prevailing throughout the country are the result of the Dingley tariff act. Nothing could be farther from the fact. Political economists who divorce political economy from partisan politics declare the present era of high prices is due to the enormous increase in the gold supply which has poured into this country from Alaska and the northwest during the last six or eight years.

The present situation in regard to the volume of money is the antithesis of what prevailed in 1893, '4 and '5, when the prices of commodities were extremely low. At that time the amount of gold added to the circulation from mining operations was very small for several years, and resulting in a contracted currency, made the purchasing power of money much greater than it normally would be.

Today the volume of money in circulation in this country, and in other countries for that matter, is very much larger per capita than at that time, and has resulted in the depreciation of the purchasing power of the dollar, which accounts for the present high prices so general in every direction.

Tariff Revision Coming In 1908

Republicans believe, however, that there should be a general revision of the tariff immediately following the presidential election in 1908, and that wherever it shall appear that the tariff is being used by trusts, combinations, organizations or individuals to exact tribute from the consumer the schedules shall be reduced sufficiently to permit competition from foreign producers.

There is always plenty of trouble when a new tariff act is to be framed, and this trouble is not confined to the men who make the act, but extends to the manufacturer, whose money is invested in his business, and also to the workman whose skill has made it a success, and who is dependent upon the prosperity of the business for his employment.

Business is extremely timid, and the official announcement from Washington that the tariff is to be revised is sufficient to send the cold chills down the back of every manufacturer, and cause him to curtail his operations until he can ascertain how the new schedules are to affect his affairs. Hard times have almost invariably attended the revision of the tariff, but, of course, a rearrangement of the tariff schedules must be made about once in so often, in order to correct inequalities which grow out of the operation of a tariff act extending over a period of several years.

The Truth.

Gobsa Golde descended painfully from his ninety horsepower automobile.

"I wish to purchase," he said, an engagement ring."

"Yes, sir," said the eager clerk. "We have just imported a superb ring, sir—two ruby hearts surrounded"—

"No," said the aged millionaire in a cold, disillusioned voice; "no, that won't do. There is only one heart concerned in this affair. The girl is marrying me for my money."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

"Packing Off of Widows."

Some curious customs in the way of pastimes prevail in Korea. Among the farming classes there is one known as the "packing off of widows." This means a raid on a certain village known to contain a young widow. A widower, accompanied by friends, enters the village, carries off the woman in question and marries her.

The Deadheads.

"What started the riot at the performance of 'Hamlet' last night?"

"Ham held the skull and said, 'Alas, poor Yorick, you are not the only dead head in the house.'" — Pearson's Weekly.

Her Way.

"There's a young woman who makes little things count."

"How does she do it?"

"Teaches arithmetic in a primary school."

BOLT NOT UNLIKELY

Hot Time Promised In Massachusetts Democratic Convention

WHITNEY-BARTLETT CONTEST

Primary Returns Favor the Former For Governor, but His Opponent Controls the State Machinery--Great Conflict In Prospect

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 5.—Daniel J. Kiley of Boston, an ardent supporter of Charles W. Bartlett for governor, was selected at a meeting of the state committee as temporary chairman of the Democratic state convention today, defeating William S. McNary, who was favored by Henry M. Whitney, the other aspirant for governor, by a vote of 23 to 21.

The machinery of the convention will therefore be started in Bartlett's favor, but it is reported that if it is used far enough to unseat a large number of Whitney delegates a bolt will take place and that a Whitney "rump" convention will be held in a hall which has been secured for such an emergency.

The convention will be called to order by John P. Feeney, as chairman of the state committee, and after he has fulfilled his duties, it is expected that he will give up the chair to Kiley. It will be Kiley's province then to preside until a committee on credentials is appointed and permanent organization effected.

The Bartlett supporters won the first skirmish of the ante-convention fight last night when the executive committee of the state committee delegated five of its members, all of them favorable to Bartlett, to report a list of convention officers. The Whitney followers did not seem to be discouraged because they were not represented on this committee, but took steps immediately to counteract this minor victory by calling a meeting of a number of their members on the state committee. Twelve of these men met in another room in the hotel and had a long conference, in which former Congressman McNary of Boston was the principal speaker.

On the face of the returns from the primaries it would seem as if Whitney would capture the nomination, but as the supporters of Bartlett are in control of the state machinery, a conflict of more than ordinary proportions is predicted.

The convention will nominate a state ticket and will adopt the usual platform, and it is said that the leaders of the two candidates for the nomination for governor are ready with a collection of planks when their favorite is endorsed.

Neither side, however, will disclose any particular sentiment, although it is known that Whitney favors national issues, and especially reciprocity with Canada, as a campaign cry, while Bartlett is strenuously opposed to the merger of the Boston and Maine railroad with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad.

Thomas W. Proctor of Boston will nominate Bartlett at the convention. Former Congressman Sullivan will probably place Whitney's name before the convention. Should the Whitney faction win the convention a platform will be submitted by Josiah Quincy of Boston. On the other hand, if Bartlett is successful, a platform in his interest will be placed before the convention by George Fred Williams.

ON THE REPUBLICAN END

Present State Officers Are Renominated Without a Hitch

Boston, Oct. 5.—The Republican state convention was called to order today in Symphony hall by the chairman of the state committee, George H. Doty of Waltham. The chaplain of the day was Rev. John O. Haarvig, pastor of the Congregational church, Allston, and the permanent chairman of the convention was Senator Lodge.

The state ticket previously mapped out went through without a contest and the convention was one of the most harmonious and shortest in many years. Nominating speeches were made as follows:

Governor Guild, by Herbert Parker; Lieutenant Governor Draper, by John W. Weeks; Secretary of State Olin, by John D. Long; State Treasurer Chapin, by Joseph Walker; State Auditor Turney, by Louis A. Frothingham; and Attorney General Malone by John L. Bates.

Lawson's Latest Production

Springfield, Oct. 5.—In a typically Lawsonesque production, Thomas W. Lawson, in his promised "A Black, Brutal Bribery," attacks the candidacy of Henry M. Whitney, whom Lawson characterizes as the "33d degree master of American bribery, the man who has taught bribery from its rotten beginning to its last stage of pollution, who has practiced it in all of its perfection of meanness, and who hired others to do it as a profession." The pamphlet is a reprint from passages in "Frenzied Finance."

Death of Mikado's Mother

London, Oct. 5.—In a dispatch from Tokio the correspondent of The Standard declares that Lady Nakayama, mother of the Emperor of Japan, is dead.

ON ABOUT TWENTY COUNTS

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company Is Indicted

Boston, Oct. 5.—The officials of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company have been notified that the corporation has been indicted by the grand jury which finished its work last week. The indictment is the result of the investigation made by District Attorney Moran relative to the charge that politicians had obtained from the company employment for their constituents, in violation of the law.

Already several politicians have been indicted on the charge that they solicited employment for their constituents with the telephone company. Among them are Aldermen Bromberg, Baldwin and Curley of Boston, State Senator McLeod of Cambridge, Representative McDonald of Boston and former Representative Gethro of Boston.

It is understood that the indictment against the telephone company contains about 20 counts. Counsel Hurlburt, for the telephone company, has informed the clerk of the court that he will be present in court on Monday morning, ready to plead to the indictment.

There is no intimation from the office of the district attorney as to when the trial of the charges against the telephone company will be heard.

Jury's Service Not Satisfactory

Boston, Oct. 5.—Shortly after a jury yesterday had brought in a verdict of not guilty on six and guilty on one of the seven counts in the grand jury indictment against John P. Clark, former city building inspector, District Attorney Moran informed Judge Raymond that he was disgusted with trying cases before juries that, in his opinion, returned verdicts contrary to the evidence, and that he would not present any more cases for the present superior court jurors. Raymond conferred briefly with Clerk Manning and excused the entire panel from further attendance, and the September term of court abruptly ended.

Husband Wrote With Blood

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 5.—The separate maintenance case of Anna B. Blais of this city vs. Williston Blais was heard in the probate court here. The petitioner alleges that her husband deserted her on Sept. 10, 1906, and she asks for separate support and for the custody of the two minor children. Mrs. Blais testified that her husband stuck a knife in her leg and used the blood to write with. Judge Chamberlain ruled that $30 should be allowed for the counsel fees in the case and $5 a week.

Accidentally Killed Brother

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 5.—Henry Welch, aged 19, was instantly killed by his brother, Fred Welch, aged 24, on the Welch farm in Bedford. Fred was about to kill a lame horse by request of its owner, when the shotgun exploded prematurely and Henry received the charge in his heart. Medical Examiner Davis declared the shooting accidental, and Fred was not placed under arrest. The latter was so distracted that he attempted to kill himself, but was prevented by his father.

Death at Political Gathering

Boston, Oct. 5.—While present as a delegate at the second councillor Republican convention in Wesleyal hall, J. Varnum Abbott, aged 71, chairman of the board of overseers of the poor of Dedham, dropped dead of heart disease. Abbott was president of the A. Varnum Abbott Manufacturing company of Dedham, makers of loom-pickers and leather goods. He was prominent in many local and fraternal organizations and was a veteran of the Civil war.

Will Be a Great Wedding

Newport, R. I., Oct. 5.—It seems quite certain that the wedding of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and Count Laszio Szechenyi will take place here, and that it will be a brilliant affair. The count is now the guest of his future brother-in-law, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, at Oakland. Yesterday he was brought in from the country. Miss Vanderbilt was waiting for him, and together they went over the great quantity of mail that has arrived for them.

Silver Service For Battleship

Boston, Oct. 5.—The state of Vermont's gift to the great battleship bearing its name—a handsome silver service—was presented on board the battleship at the Charlestown navy yard. At the same time a beautiful silk flag was given the ship by the Vermont Daughters of the American Revolution, and each sailor received a comfort badge from Vermont W. C. T. U. friends.

Strike of Express Drivers

Boston, Oct. 5.—Over 65 expressmen in Brookline went on a strike yesterday. The men's demand for 11 hours' work a day was not granted. The men were offered $15 a week and were promised the hours would be made as short as possible, but this was not accepted.

Tried to Wipe Out Family

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 5.—Samuel Perks, a weaver, 62 years old, attempted to murder his wife, Annie, and his 15-year-old stepdaughter, Ada Robinson, with a razor last night. He then cut his own throat and is in a critical condition. His family was uninjured.

Shooter Held In $1000 Bail

Boston, Oct. 5.—Clement Yore, who was arrested on a charge of shooting James E. Downey in Chinatown, appeared before Judge Sullivan and had his case continued until Thursday next. He was held in $1000 bonds. Downey is reported out of danger.

BAD BREATH

"For months I had great trouble with my stomach and used all kinds of medicines. My tongue has been actually as green as grass, my breath having a bad odor. Two weeks ago a friend recommended Cascarets and after using them I can willingly and cheerfully say that they have entirely cured me. I therefore let you know that I shall recommend them to any one suffering from such troubles." Chas. H. Halpern, 114 E. 7th St., New York, N. Y.

THE

Young Men's Christian Association

OF QUINCY, MASS.

(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, Ernest G. Gay, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)

INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, Timothy Reed, Adams St Quincy, or the Treasurer, Richard D. Chase, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

Not In the Army After All.

A Methodist negro exhorter shouted, "Come up en jine de army ob de Lohd!"

"I's done jined," replied one of the congregation.

"Whar'd yoh jine?" asked the exhorter.

"In de Baptis' chu'ch."

"Why, chile, yoh ain't in the army! Yoh's in de navy."

A BOY TO BE PITIED.

God help the boy who never sees
The butterflies, the birds, the bees,
Nor hears the music of the breeze
When zephyrs soft are blowing;
Who cannot in sweet comfort lie
Where clover blooms are thick and high
And hear the gentle murmur nigh
Of brooklets softly flowing!

God help the boy who does not know
Where all the woodland berries grow;
Who never sees the forests glow
When leaves are red and yellow;
Whose childish feet can never stray!
For such a hapless boy I say—
When nature does her charms display—
God help the little fellow!

—Nixon Waterman.

The Sun a Foreigner.

"Sunset" Cox's most successful sally at his opponents in congress was his resolutions against free sunshine, made when there was a fight on against lowering the duty on coal:

"Resolved, That all windows, skylights, inside and outside shutters, curtains and blinds shall be permanently closed, as also all openings, holes, chinks, clefts and fissures through which the light and heat of the sun have been allowed to enter houses, to the prejudice and injury of meritorious miners and dealers in gas coal, to protect domestic industry."

"For the sun is a foreigner," explained Mr. Cox. "He comes from abroad, and we must shut out the light of the sun in order to gratify these Pennsylvania gentlemen who have a monopoly of this article of coal."

His Secret.

"You ought not to work such long hours. Surely your boss can get along without you part of the time."

"Sure he can, but I don't want him to find it out."

The Pot and the Kettle.

A portly German of obvious Hebraic ancestry boarded a Broadway car. He handed the conductor—a ruddy faced Irishman—a transfer not good on that particular line. The inevitable wrangle followed, in which much vehement language found expression, colored with a strong Hibernian flavor and an unmistakable Teutonic accent.

At length the fat German rose, but before he left the car shook his fist in the conductor's face and exclaimed, with profound contempt: "You! You are no Amer-rican citissen! You have not yet lost your broc-que."—Lippincott's.

All's Fair In Love and War.

A soldier belonging to a brigade in command of a general who believed in a celibate army asked permission to marry, as he had two good conduct badges and money in the savings bank.

"Well, go away," said the general, "and if you come back to me a year from today in the same frame of mind you shall marry. I'll keep the vacancy."

On the anniversary the soldier repeated his request.

"But do you really, after a year, want to marry?" inquired the general in a surprised tone.

"Yes, sir; very much."

"Sergeant major, take his name down. Yes, you may marry. I never believed there was so much constancy in man or woman. Right face; quick march!"

As the man left the room, turning his head, he said, "Thank you, sir; but it isn't the same woman."—Ladies' Home Journal.

What an "Amendment" May Do.

"Such an amendment," said Senator Tillman during a debate, "would destroy the bill's meaning, as the meaning of the epitaph on old John Skinn's tombstone was destroyed. The amendment that was tacked to John's epitaph consisted of one word—'friend.' It was put on in the dead of night. The epitaph before that read: 'He did his best.'"

No Need For Pensions.

A traveler in the orient, who was picking up material for a book, asked a pasha: "Is the civil service like ours? Are there retiring allowances and pensions?"

"My illustrious friend," replied the pasha, "Allah is great, and the public functionary who stands in need of a retiring allowance when his term of office expires is a fool."

Some Words With the Cook.

He was a sad faced American tourist, and as he seated himself in a London restaurant he was immediately attended by an obsequious waiter.

"I want two eggs," said the American, "one fried on one side and one on the other."

"'Ow is that, sir?"

"Two eggs—one fried on one side and one on the other."

"Very well, sir."

The waiter was gone several minutes. When he returned, his face was a study.

"Would you please repeat your horder, sir?"

"I said very distinctly—two eggs, one fried on one side and one on the other."

Oppressive silence and then a dazed "Very well, sir."

This time he was gone longer, and when he returned he said anxiously, "Would it be awsking too much, sir, to 'ave you repeat your horder, sir? I cawn't think I 'ave it right, sir, y' know."

"Two eggs," said the American sadly and patiently, "one fried on one side and one on the other.

More oppressive silence and another and fainter "Very well, sir."

This time he was gone still longer. When he returned, his collar was unbuttoned, his hair disheveled and his face scratched and bleeding. Leaning over the waiting patron, he whispered beseechingly:

"Would you mind tyking boiled heggs, sir? I've had some words with the cook."

Ready For the Next Customer.

"My rubber," said Nat Goodwin, describing a Turkish bath that he once had in Mexico, "was a very strong man. He laid me on a slab and kneaded me and punched me and banged me in a most emphatic way. When it was over and I had got up, he came up behind me before my sheet was adjusted and gave me three resounding slaps on the bare back with the palm of his enormous hand.

"'What in blazes are you doing?' I gasped, staggering.

"'No offense, sir,' said the man. 'It was only to let the office know that I was ready for the next bather. You see, sir, the bell's out of order in this room.'"—Everybody's.

Why He Was Sad.

"Oh, my friends," exclaimed the orator, "It makes me sad when I think of the days that are gone, when I look around and miss the old familiar faces I used to shake hands with!"

Fox Hunting In a Greenhouse.

The only fox hunting I have ever done was on board an impetuous, tough mouthed, fore and aft horse that had emotional insanity. As I was away from home and could not reach my own horse I was obliged to mount a spirited steed with high, intellectual hips, one white eye and a big red nostril that you could set a Shanghai hen in. This horse, as soon as the pack broke into a full cry, climbed over a fence that had wrought iron briers on it, lit in a cornfield, stabbed his hind leg through a sere and yellow pumpkin, which he wore the rest of the day, with seven yards of pumpkin vine streaming out behind, and away we dashed cross country.

I remained mounted because I hated to get off in pieces.

We did not see the fox, but we saw almost everything else. I remember riding through a hothouse, and how I enjoyed it! A morning scamper through a conservatory when the syringas and jonquils and jack roses lie cuddled up together in their little beds is a thing to remember and look back to and pay for. To stand knee deep in glass and gladioli, to smell the mashed and mussed up mignonette and the last fragrant sigh of the scrunched heliotrope beneath the hoof of your horse, while far away the deep mouthed baying of the hoarse hounds, hotly hugging the reeking trail of the aniseed bag, calling on the gorgeously caparisoned hills to give back their merry music, is joy to the huntsman's heart. —Bill Nye.

One on the President.

When President Roosevelt alighted at Red Hill, Va., to see his wife's new cottage he noticed that an elderly woman was about to board the train and rushed forward to assist her. That done, he grasped her hand and gave it an "executive shake."

The woman, snatching her hand away, exclaimed, "Young man, I don't know who you are, and I don't care a cent, but I must say you are the freshest somebody I've ever seen in these parts."

Isaac and the Angel.

Old Isaac was a devout Christian. It was his custom when his work was done to retire to his cabin and devote himself to worship until bedtime. His earnest and frequent announcements that he was always ready to meet his "Lawd" had been so often heard that some boys decided to test Isaac's faith. One night, while he was under full headway: "O Lawd, we know dy long suf'rin' fur dis beni'ted sinner, but we feel, O Lawd, dat in dy love we will be spahed dy vangins and raf. We are always reddy, Lawd, at dy biddin' to cum and meet dy angel Gabr'el. Send him, O Lawd, wid his shinin' trumpit, his robes ob glory and his crown ob life, and take dy poh sahvant into dy vineyard"—

"Isaac! Isaac!" came in deep sepulchral tones down the chimney.

"Amen!" softly said Isaac, closing his prayer abruptly and rising, with fear and trembling.

"Isaac! Isaac!" came the still dreadful tones.

"Who-ho-ho's dat?" stammered the awe stricken negro.

"The angel of the Lord has come for Isaac!"

Isaac hesitated, and then, with a show of enforced courage, it came:

"De Lawd bless you, dat old nigger hain't been here for a week!"

The Reporter's Version.

When Helicon hall, Upton Sinclair's Utopian colony, burned down, among those injured was Mrs. Grace MacGowan Cooke, the well known author. A youthful reporter on one of the big New York dailies, eager to get his story in the first edition, wrote hurriedly that "Grace MacGowan, the cook, suffered from serious burns."

Which reminds Lippincott's of a typographical error in one of Ella Wheeler Wilcox's poems. The author had written a sonnet containing this line:

My soul is a lighthouse keeper.

To her amazement the verse read in print:

My soul is a light housekeeper.

The Hunt Is On For Free Trips

The street railway had all of its available cars ready this noon to use on the Houghs Neck line this afternoon for the grand hunt through Quincy woods for envelopes containing free trips to New York, Washington and other places.

An army of small boys were on hand bright and early, quite a bunch of young America going down this morning to watch out, in hopes that they might see where the man hides the envelopes.

The hunt was to have been held last Saturday but owing to the stormy weather in the morning it was decided to postpone it until today. It turns out to have been a wise postponement for a more ideal fall day would be hard to find.

Some of the youngsters hoped by hiding behind trees they would be able to see where the envelopes were hidden. Their hopes, however, were not materialized, for the envelopes were not to be hidden until about time for the hunt to commence.

No one knows who the man is that is going to hide them. In fact it may be a woman. Even the local railway officials do not know who it is.

Aside from the possibility of securing one of the free excursions, it was very exhilerating sport and the benefit to be derived from that will be worth something.

New Inspector At Shipyard

Lieut. Clarence L. Arnold, U. S. N., has arrived at Fore River and taken up his duties as inspector of ordinance in place of Lieut. Pollock, who has been detailed to the U. S. S. "Wolverine" in service on the Great Lakes. Lieut. Arnold's last tour of duty was on the U. S. armored cruiser Washington. He will reside on Whitney road, Quincy.

Miss Chase of the stenographers' staff has returned from a few days' vacation spent in Maine.

Employment Clerk Durkee has had much difficulty in getting men to do excavating for the machine shop extension. He has had to go to Boston to look for them and he found the number available to be small.

Good Opening.

Mr. Graham, the dancing master at Faxon hall this winter, opened his dances last night with a very good party. Kutz's orchestra furnished excellent music and many people attended from Quincy and neighboring towns, several coming from Boston. Mr. Graham is holding these dances every Friday evening and last evening gave proof of a very successful season. He is also holding classes for children and adults.

Bicycles Recovered.

Lieut. FcKay recovered two bicycles yesterday that had been stolen by boys. One at Brewers corner and the other from the granite sheds of Birnie & Diack on Columbia street. The boys will be brought into the juvenile court later.

To Explain the Public Opinion Bill

The Men's Club of Christ Church has issued a most attractive program for the coming season. Owing to the growth of the interest of the men in the club, besides the regular meeting on the first Monday of each month there will be held a second monthly meeting on the third Wednesday.

The following speakers have been secured: Representative Engene Hultman; Colonel Anderson; Mr. James Supple, of the Board of Arbitration and Conciliation; Superintendent Frank E. Parlin and Cashier Rupert Claflin.

On the 3d Wednesday the program will consist of a debate. The following are some of the subjects:

Resolved: that the city charter of Quincy be changed.

Resolved: that Thomas W. Lawson is a benefit to the community.

Resolved: that tax on land is the only just taxation.

Resolved: that it would not be a benefit to the country for President Roosevelt to be re-elected.

Resolved: that Quincy should take some action to prevent the spread of tuberculosis.

The club is well officeered by the following:

President, James Smith; Vice President, Merton Turner; Treasurer, John McGregor; Secretary, Harry Ford Auditor, J. H. Stedman.

The following committees have been appointed:

Refreshment: H. G. Johnson; H. Dickie; Albert Andrews. Recognition: Charles Chase; Norman Ross, William Walker. Debate: Archibald MacLeod, Arthur Newcomb, A. C. Smith. Entertainment: Robert D. Smith.

The first meeting is next Monday evening when Mr. Hultman will be the speaker. All men are invited.

Section 1. On a request signed by one thousand voters, asking for the submission of any question for an expression of opinion and stating the substance therof, the secretary of the Commonwealth shall transmit such request to the state ballot law commission, who shall determine if such question is one of public policy, and if they so determine, shall draft it in such simple, unequivocal, and adequate form as they may deem best suited to securr a fair expression of opinion. Thereupon the secretary shall prepare and furnish suitable forms, each to contain spaces for not more than one hundred signatures, and if such forms shall be signed by five thousand voters, he shall upon the fulfilment of the requirements of this act place such question on the official ballot to be used at the next state election. Forms shall bear the date on which they are issued, and no aplications made on forms issued more than twelve months before the election concerned, shall be received.

Section 2. Signers of requests for the issuance of forms and signers of applications shall append to their signatures their residence, with street and number, if any, and shall be certified as registered voter by the proper registrars of voters. One of the signers to each paper shall make oath of the genuineness of the signatures thereto, and a notary public, justice of the peace, or other magistrate, when taking such oath, shall satisfy himself that the person to whom the oath is administered is the person signing such paper, and shall so state in his attestation of such oath. All provisions of law relating to nomination papers shall apply to such requests and applications as far as may be consistent.

Section 3. Applications shall be filed with the secretary sixty days before the election at which the questions are to be submitted. Not more than four questions under this act shall be placed upon the ballot at one election, and they shall be submitted in the order in which the applications are filed. No question negatived, and no question substantially the same shall be submitted again in less thau three years.

Bemis Renominated.

The second councillor Republican convention at Dedham yesterday renominated Albion F. Bemis of Brookline. Just as the convention was called to order J. Varnum Abbott of Dedham, one of the delegates, was stricken with apoplexy and died shortly after.

Body Comes Ashore.

The body of Joseph Belliview, who was drowned off Peddocks island Sunday, Sept. 22, was found on the beach at Hull yerterday. The young man's relatives were notified and visiting Hull they identified the remains. After being viewed by Medical Examiner Spooner of Hingham the body was brought to Quincy.

Less Trains By New Timetable

There are but few changes in Quincy trains by the new timetable which goes into effect on Sunday night.

In the outward week day trains the only change is the 9.27 P. M. train which will leave Boston at 9.20 arriving in Quincy at 9.42.

Of the inward week day trains, the train now leaving Quincy at 6.15 P. M. will leave at 6.13, and arrive in Boston at 6.33. The train now leaving at 10.01 P. M. will leave at 10.09, and arrive in Boston at 10.32.

There are several changes in the Sunday trains. Of the outward trains. the paper train leaving Boston at 4.30 A. M. stops at Quincy arriving at 4.51. The outward express trains leaving at 1.45 and 2.45 P. M. are taken off.

The inward train now leaving Quincy at 10.37 A. M. is taken off. The accommodation train now leaving at 6.03 P. M. will leave at 6.16 arriving in Boston at 6.44. The 11 P. M. inward train is taken off.

Are You a Y. M. C. A. Booster Rooster?

Do you know there's lots of people settin' 'round in every town,
Growlin' like a broody chicken, knocking every good thing down?
Don't you be that kind of cattle, 'cause they ain't no use on earth,
You just be a booster rooster—crow an' boost for all you're worth.

If your Y. M. C. A. needs boostin', boost 'er, don't hold back and wait to see
If some other feller's willin'—sail right in, this country's free,
No one's got a mortgage on it, it's just yours as much as his,
If your Y. M. C. A. is shy on boosters, you get in the boostin' biz.

If things just don't seem to suit you an' the world seems kinder wrong,
What's the matter with a boostin' just to help the thing along?
'Cause if things should stop a-goin' we'd be in a sorry plight—
You just keep that horn a-blowin'; boost 'er up with all your might.

If you see some feller tryin' for to make some project go,
An' you can boost it up a trifle, that's your cue to let him know,
That you're not a-goin' to knock it just because it ain't your "shout,"
But you're going to boost a little, 'cause he's got the best thing out.

If you know some feller's fallin's, just forget 'em, for you know
The same feller's got some good points, them's the ones you wan't to show;
"Cast your loaves out on the waters," they'll come back, a sayin' true,
Mebbe they will come back "buttered" when some fellow boosts for you.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

The collection of ashes by the city begins next week.

Chief of Police Burrell is in New York on a business trip.

The collection of ashes by the Board of Health will be commenced next Monday.

Edgar Willey of Walker street started this week on his annual western trip.

A session of probate court for Norfolk county will be held in Quincy next Wednesday.

Lieut. McKay is acting chief during the absence of Chief of Police Burrell in New York.

John Kenily returned this week from a short visit to Albany and New York.

Several Atlantic young men have purchased season tickets for the college foot ball games this season.

It is rumored that the Coliseum will be run as a theatre the coming winter with vaudeville performances every evening.

"The Greatest Standing Army in the World" is the theme of Dr. Hardy's discourse at Bethany church tomorrow morning.

A number of the hand fire engines took part in the firemen's muster in Brockton passed through Quincy last night on their way home.

Next Wednesday evening, the Ladies' Benevolent society, will give the annual harvest supper in Memorial church vestry. An appropriate menu has been planned.

The evening schools open next Monday at the Adams and Willard buildings for the common schools, and at the High school building for drawing.

The promotion exercises of Bethany Bible school, deferred last Sunday on account of the weather, will be held in the different departments at the regular session tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Halloran of Hancock street left on Tuesday for Ireland with their son and daughters. Mr. Halloren has been in the emyloy of the Old Colony street railway.

The ladies who will assist at the Elks carnival are to meet at the club house on Foster street next Wednesday evening to organize. They will then proceed to the Coliseum to get an idea of the arrangement of booths, etc.

The funeral of Jonathan S. Paine was held this afternoon at 2.30 from his late residence on Baxter street. The services were conducted by Rev. Edwin N. Hardy of the Bethany church. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

Maple street sidewalk, especially on the south side beginning at Chestnut street, needs attention in the way of gravel. At the present time during a storm it is almost impassable even with rubbers and is especially disagreeable after dark, when one cannot see to pick their way. Take a look at it Mr. Commissioner the next time it rains.

Residents of Spear street feel very grateful to the Gas Company not only for putting in a larger pipe, thereby giving better service, but for being the means of cleaning up and improving the street which has been an eyesore since the sewer was put in last spring. The street has been full of large stones and traveling over it has been anything but pleasant. The Gas Company certainly does its work well and could give the city points.

One of the most successful fairs held at the Wollaston Congregational church was that of Whatsoever circle of King's Daughters on Wednesday evening known as the "Family Fair." There were tables for fathers, for mothers, for daughters, for children and for infants. All but that of the fathers had appropriate articles for sale. The fathers displayed a sign "Everybody works but father," and they were objects of charity. About $40 in cash was dropped into their box. The supper was a very nice one, including escalloped fish, cold meats, pies, etc. A well known Wollaston young lady made quite a hit as a Spanish fortune teller. The Boston Serenaders entertained with new and popular music.

KIND WORDS FROM VERMONT.

Barre, Vermont, Sept. 24, 1907.

The Hospital Week Committee:—

Gentlemen:—In view of the approaching "Hospital Week" when your Committee engage in the noble work of obtaining funds for the support of the City Hospital, it affords me a great amount of pleasure to enclose my own little mite for the good cause, although the amount I can give does not represent a thousandth part of my appreciation of the benefits and skilful treatment received by me at the above institution.

Over fifteen years ago, as a schoolboy, light of heart and nimble of body, I, with a number of other school children, sang at the dedication of "Our Hospital."

Early in July of this year I returned, broken in body and mind, stricken with the dread typhoid while travelling in a far Western state. Guided by kind friends I gained yonder haven of refuge.

It is needless to say that I received careful and most excellent treatment, as did every patient there, regardless of caste or class, and many were the words of praise I heard for the doctors, nurses and attendants, who were tireless in their efforts to ease the pain and sickness of the inmates, and minister to their wants. I cannot express how sincerely I admire your institution and the superb treatment of its inmates. My words but poorly express the richness of my thankfulness and gratitude.

I hope that this year's contribution will be generons, and that your Committee will be highly rewarded for their work in that direction.

Very sincerely yours,
Albert T. Hirtle.

(The Hospital would be fortunate indeed if all the "mites" were as large as Mr. Hirtle's.)

Fore River Annual Smoker

Fore River flavor, and there was a pride and loyalty which was commendable. Mr. Crain said the Fore River could claim some credit for building up the U. S. Navy. Commander Gow said the Fore River battleships were superior, and that one had exceeded the contractor's record for speed. At no place in his 33 years of service had his duties been so pleasant as at Quincy. Lieut. Gillmor, althought here but a short time as inspector, felt identified with the Fore River, and a strong interest in the plant.

General Manager Smith reviewed the history of the company, and the growth of shipbuilding. The Fore River was now among the four largest shipyards in the country, although it had its inception in 1900. It has an equipment to carry on all large work that cannot be beat. He itemized the Quincy fleet of thirty vessels and said the company had large contracts ahead. The men assembled had obtained extraordinary experience, because of the great variety of ships built. In time of war the shipyard would be a valuable asset, and therefore should be encouraged by the government. It is admirably situated. The strategical position was good, with a wide channel to the ocean yet protected by forts from foreign navies.

At first some feared the Fore River would be handicapped by freight rates on supplies, but he assured the men that this was not the case. Because of its location more work could be accomplished than in any other shipyard in the country. It was the aim of the Fore River to do good work and honest work. The company to be successful must build at a profit, and he appealed to all to do good work and economical work. The future is bright, and if you all have the same faith in the company shared by me all will be well.—(Applause.)

Mr. Cassidy explained the necessity of building up and maintaining the merchant marine, and said the passage of the ship subsidy bill by Congress would help us all.

Mr. Hendry tried to explain the initials "P. B. O. D.," the accepted version of which is "Poor Bloody Old Draftsmen." It might have been applicable to architects of old, but it was the draftsmen of today who made possible the Lusitania, the Vermont and the North Dakota. The guests were also interested in his version of how the committee arranged for the smoker.

Mr. McQuarrie said he always envied the draftsmen who had helped to make the Fore River what it is Much of the success is also due to Chief Engineer Edwards who always had a sublime faith that everything would come out right. He felt proud of the Fore River, a company of young men, where positions were held not by influence but by ability.

Lieut. Arnold, the new inspector of ordnance, said he had the choice of five places, but no hesitancy in selecting Quincy. He felt that he had made no mistake.

The toast to President Bowles was followed by hearty cheers. All through the program there were spontaneous applause at frequent intervals.

The blue print programs prepared for the evening were unique and works of art, which will be retained as souvenirs. The program itself filled in all decks of a hull. It was surrounded by drawings which were very clever cartoons. One would think from the following "gem" which was on the last page of the program that it was a hard-drinking crowd, but only light drinks were served. The cigars were of the best brands, and Landlord Porter of the Greenleaf served salads, crackers and cheese.

The New England Associate Alliance will hold its fall meetings at Manchester, N. H., on Thursday, October 17.

The Plymouth and Bay Conference will hold its fall meeting at the Unitarian church in West Bridgewater on Tuesday October 8. The devotional service at ten o'clock will be conducted by Rev. C.A. Drummond of Norwell. The morning conference subject will be "Closer Relations of Fellowship between the Churches of the Conference." Speakers, Rev. Frederick R. Griffin of Braintree, and Rev. Dudley S. Ferrell of Brockton, Mr. Harold Lyon of West Bridgewater and Mrs. F. S. Faxon of Brockton.

The Opportunity circle of King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. C. F. H. Crathern of Washington street, next Thursday, Oct. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. White of Town street are visiting relatives in Tilton, N. H. Mr. and Mrs. Trott are keeping house for them while they are away.

Miss Louise Witherell of Rochester, N. Y., has been visiting her aunts Mrs. J. E. Hayden and Mrs. Willis Martin before entering Mt. Ide school at Newton.

The ladies quartet composed of Mrs Jennie Haskell, Miss Eleanor Shaw, Mrs. Avery and Mrs. Wallace, gave very pleasing selections at the Philergians Tuesday afternoon repeating same at the First church supper Wednesday evening.

On the first Sunday of September the Baptist church of Rumney, N. H., admitted ten members to their fellowship. The pastor Rev. John L. Crane had baptized eight of the number previously. These new members are young and the church and its pastor are pleased with the spirit of helpful interest shown by the young people.

The friends of J. Parker Hayward, Charles Hayward and Miss Annah Hayward sympathize with them in the loss of their brother George Hayward of Neponset. The funeral was held on Wednesday. He was the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hayward, married in early life and lived at Dorchester.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. James T. Reardon of Jersey avenue in the loss of their infant son Francis Patrick. He was the ninth child born Nov. 1, 1906. About five months ago he fell out of the baby carriage and fractured his skull causing concussion of the brain. In spite of surgical aid he passed away Wednesday evening aged 11 months and two days. Pupils of the many grades at the Penniman school sent beautiful floral offerings. Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment at Randolph.

Auto Fire Wagon.

At Milton this afternoon there was a demonstration of an automobile combination fire wagon. It was given by the manufacturers and the wagon used was the type that the engineers are considering recommending that the town purchase to take the place of the present chemical wagon. The matter was mentioned by the engineers in their report last year, it being their opinion that with such a piece of apparatus the town can be much better protected than at present. An automobile chemical has been tried in Boston with good results and in Springfield two automobiles are regularly in use in the fire department.

Bitter Pill.

It was a bitter pill to the Brookline Republican to lose the nomination for county commissioner, but the "richest town" cannot expect to have its claims to representation in the county board recognized unless it puts forward candidates who are acceptable to the rest of the towns and the city of Quincy, especially the latter.—Milton Record.

The Weather Of September

L. A. Wells of the Blue Hill observatory reports as follows for September:

Frequent and heavy rains, much cloudiness, and temperatures somewhat higher than usual, characterized the weather of September. The mean temperature of the month was 61.4 degrees, the maximum being 84 degrees on the 21st and the minimum 39 on the 29th.

The total rainfall of 8.81 inches was the greatest in September since 1896 and was nearly twice the average amunot. Rain fell on 16 different days and the largest amount in any one day was 2.61 inches on the 29th, which is also the heaviest precipitation for any day since Sept. 15, 1904, when nearly four inches were recorded.

There was more cloudiness than usual, also an excess of relative humidity, and the total amount of sunshine was 12 percent less than the average number of hours.

There was more wind than usual and the prevailing direction was from the west.

The highest velocity attained was 52 miles an hour from the south on the 23d. Thunderstorms occurred on six different days, that of the 21st being particularly severe.

Frost was observed in the surrounding lowlands on the mornings of the 26th and 27th and aurora was seen on the evening of the 12th.

CONTRACT OF TRUST

Oil Goes to Africa at Half the Rate Charged Competitors

A PROTEST OF NO AVAIL

Further Evidence of Railroad Rate Discriminations In Favor of Standard Company--Prices Cut to Below Actual Cost In Pipe Line War

New York, Oct. 5.—An omnibus contract whereby the Standard Oil company obtains from every steamship company operating between New York and all ports in Africa a rate for the shipment of lubricating oil that is about one-half what its competitor, the New York Lubricating Oil company, pays, was produced yesterday in the hearing of the federal suit against the alleged oil combine.

This contract was placed in evidence and Philip Harrison, a manager of the New York Lubricating Oil company, declared that his company was forced to pay double the standard rate, notwithstanding his protests to the steamship companies. Harrison said that by reason of the freight discrimination the Standard could place its product in Africa at less than the cost price of oils of his own company, and that to maintain its African trade the New York Lubricating Oil company was forced to purchase from the Standard the cheaper grade of oils which it sold to its customers.

Mr. Harrison said that shipping charges to his company were increased from about 21 shillings until they reached 42½ shillings in 1905. (This is the English shilling, equal to about 24 cents of United States money.) The contract, which the Standard made on Feb. 10, 1906, with the Hansa, Prince, Houston and American-Africa steamship lines, made the rate to the Standard for oil shipment slightly less than 17 shillings. The witness declared that he wrote a letter to the steamship agents demanding equitable rates for the company, but no change in the charges was made.

W. W. Tarbell of Philadelphia, treasurer of the Pure Oil company and of the United States Pipe Line company, related the difficulties his companies had encountered in competition with the Standard. Tarbell stated that the business of the Pure Oil company was placed in districts selected with a view to avoiding business relations with certain railroads, whose rate discriminations in favor of the Standard Oil company, he continued, were more feared by the company than the opposition of the Standard in open competition. Tarbell is a brother of Miss Ida Tarbell, who has written much about the Standard Oil company.

Mr. Tarbell said that while the independent pipe line was being constructed the Standard cut prices, and the independent refineries were forced in some instances to sell refined oil under the cost of crude oil. Ultimately three independent companies gave up the fight and sold out. The Standard, he said, bought the refineries, and through the purchase obtained control of 30 percent of the stock of the United States Pipe Line company. Tarbell said the Standard had no interest in the Pure Oil company.

Mr. Tarbell said that the Standard cut prices so that the Pure Oil company for a time had to sell its product at a loss. The company was now doing a profitable business.

Editor Guilty of Libel

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 5.—Frank E. Xavier, proprietor of the Yonkers Herald, was found guilty of criminal libel in the county court, where he has been on trial on a charge of publishing an article which accused District Attorney Jerome of New York of entering into an agreement with the insurance men to give them immunity from indictment, in return for which he was to receive their financial and political support in his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination last year.

Explorer Cook Is Optimistic

New York, Oct. 5.—This message, dated Etah, Aug. 26, 1907, was received in this city from Dr. Frederick A. Cook, the explorer, of New York: "I have hit upon a new route to the North Pole and will stay and try it. By way of Buchanan bay and Ellesmere Land, and northward through Nansen strait over the Polar sea seems to me to be a very good route. There will be game to the 82d degree, and here are natives and dogs for the task. So here is for the pole."

Fall Retail Trade Is Good

New York, Oct. 5.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that interest centers in fall retail trade and results are all that could be desired. There is no sectional difference on this point, all leading cities reporting a liberal distribution of seasonable wearing apparel. Supplementary orders are coming to wholesale and jobbing houses, and manufacturers are extending preparations for the next season.

To Marry Beneath Her Station

Rome, Oct. 5.—A sensation has been caused in aristocratic circles by the announcement that Marquise Sachetei, a member of an ancient and noble Florentine family and a cousin of Prince Orsini, is about to marry a sergeant of gendarmes. The man is eight years younger than the marquise.

American League

Washington, Oct. 5.—The Philadelphias went down to defeat in the first game of the Washington series, thus losing one of the four games they had counted on winning in order to overcome the Detroits' lead, should the latter lose the St. Louis series. The Philadelphias' only chance now lies in winning both games today and Detroit losing their three games with St. Louis.

Coal Controversy Settled

Washington, Oct. 5.—Attorney General Bonaparte has decided that the navy may use foreign vessels for transporting coal from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific coast in foreign bottoms when sufficient American vessels cannot be had or the charges made by them are excessive and unreasonable. It is expected that contracts for shipping over 90 percent of the coal for the use of the battleship fleet on its cruise to the Pacific will be awarded to vessels of foreign register.

Steamer Captain Suspended

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 5.—Hull Inspector Williams has issued orders ordering the suspension of the license of the captain of steamer Fred Hartweg for 90 days, in accordance with the order of President Roosevelt. The captain of the Hartweg raced with the steamer Alton, thereby endangering the Mississippi, on which President Roosevelt was traveling. The Fred Hartweg and the Alton accompanied the Mississippi on its trip down the river to Memphis.

To Keep Close Watch on Japs

Bellingham, Wash., Oct. 5.—As a result of the investigations made by G. B. Babcock, a special agent of the United States treasury department, a force of federal officers will be installed at the international boundary line to keep back the scores of Japanese who are daily crossing the border into the United States. Babcock found that hundreds of Japanese had illegally crossed the international boundary, and are continuing to do so.

Attended Over 3000 Funerals

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 5.—With the record of 3092 funerals that she has attended, Mrs. Rebecca Wentzel, an octogenarian of this city, who since she was a young woman has been gratifying a peculiar whim to see people buried, must now forego the pastime, as she called it, because of advanced age and illness.

Hindoos Driven Into Canada

Spokane, Oct. 5.—At Danville, Wash., a mob drove a small party of Hindoos across the line into Canada. A few shots were discharged at the trespassers, but none was injured, it is believed. The Hindoos had found shelter in a cabin at Danville following their escape from Canada.

Twelve Thousand to Strike

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—The Dock and Cotton council of New Orleans, whose membership is made up of all classes of laborers employed in connection with the shipping of the port, numbering about 12,000 men, voted for a general strike. They demand an increase in wages.

Out of the Frying Pan.

By CECILIA A. LOIZEAUX.

Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

"There's not much use in our planning anything," said Mrs. Halsted, a trifle petulantly. "You don't know Mary. She's too contrary to agree with herself, and the minute she finds out that we want her to meet Ben she'll go off at a tangent and everything will be spoiled."

"There are more ways than one to kill a cat," replied Mrs. Markham succinctly. "Why do you let her find it out, then? Just let him take her by surprise. I'll arrange it so that he stops here on his way up to Wisconsin, where he goes for his vacation. He will just drop off for a day to see his aunt, and then our troubles will be over. There is no doubt whatever that they were made for each other, and they might as well have it over with. If I were you I'd have the wedding in October," she finished complacently.

"Well"— said the other doubtfully. And then: "How does Ben feel about it? After all, it mostly depends on how he takes it. Is he interested?"

"Indeed he is. He feels a little shy, I think, but he's willing to be shown. Says he's from Missouri. I think he's even anxious. But, as far as that goes, Mary is interested, too, only she is too independent to show it. Just give her a chance to meet him accidentally or unexpectedly and everything will be all right."

"Is that so!" ejaculated a girl in the dimly lit hall, though she suppressed her voice. "So I'm to have a blue ribbon tied about my neck and be exhibited to this eager young man from Missouri, am I?"

Once in her room she turned the lights on at either side of her dressing table and looked at herself in the glass. Her glowing dark face was anything but meek, and she turned the light off again with a little vicious snap and then sat down in the open window. She was angry—very angry, she told herself.

"The very idea of planning to marry me off to a man I've never seen and never want to see! It's positively mediaeval."

But presently the humorous side of it came to the rescue, as was usual with her, and she laughed as she undressed.

Early the next morning she wrote a long letter to her best friend, who was spending the summer at the lakes, and laughed gleefully as she ran downstairs to put it in the box. Early as she was, however, some one had been there before her. A letter was sticking out, and, thinking that the postman must have passed already, she pulled it out to see if it was hers.

"Mr. Ben Markham, Des Moines, Ia.," she read and rammed it viciously back into the box. "They aren't wasting any time at any rate. But it takes two to fall in love, Mr. Ben Markham, and 'I can't get away to marry you today,'" she sang, "nor this October either."

For two days she watched the mail closely, and on the third day the postman on his noon trip put into her outstretched hand the letter for which she was waiting. It was in a masculine script and addressed to Mrs. Markham. She carried it up to the lady in her room and then went on into her own, leaving the door open a crack. She was rewarded by hearing the guest say to her mother: "He's coming Thursday. He has tried to write indifferently, but"— And then she banged the door.

"He probably was indifferent. He would be if he were anything but a petticoat man! I should think he'd hate the sound of my name as badly as I do his. He would if he were anything but a mollycoddle!" And she wrote another brief note to Madge, telling her she would be down on the noon train Thursday.

On Wednesday while her mother and Mrs. Markham were out driving she got a large trunk safely away from the house.

"There is no use going down there without anything to wear," she philosophized. "I shall probably see other people quite as wonderful as Mr. Benjamin Markham and a great deal more interesting."

She thought she understood the amused glances which the older women gave her.

"They think they've got me trapped," she said to herself. And she spent the evening talking sweetly to Mrs. Markham until her mother came out to the piazza and asked her to run over to a neighbor's for something. When she came back Mrs. Markham was at the telephone in the hall, and her mother shut the door and kept her talking until the other came out. Mary grinned in the dark.

"They are planning some more little surprises, I presume," she thought.

The next morning no one seemed to notice that she was dressed in her pongee suit instead of her usual house gown, and she strolled down the street after breakfast slowly and carelessly, quite unconscious of the fact that the two women on the porch were having a good time at her expense.

"I hope to goodness that Ben didn't miss that train," said Mrs. Markham.

"That makes it twice as funny for him to be on the same train."

And Mary coolly entered the chair car, settled herself with deliberate satisfaction. "Mary, my child, you are too young for such deceit," she chuckled as she pulled down the shade. "But think of the eager young man's discomfiture when he finds that little Mary has flown." Then she became aware that the strange young man across the aisle was regarding her with much interest in his glance, and she lifted her chin a little and began to read her magazine. The young man went back to his paper, and after a little she looked him over surreptitiously. He was evidently a college man, she decided—clean cut, big and vigorous, with a clear, brown skin and gray eyes. And presently there came to her a haunting sense of familiarity. She thought she must have seen him somewhere.

The young man looked up to see her gazing speculatively at him, and their eyes met. Again she tilted her chin, but it was too late, for she had been caught, and the warm rosy red tingled in her cheeks and on her forehead. The man lifted his hat gravely, but with an amused twinkle.

Mary felt horribly embarrassed and humiliated. In sheer desperation she turned to the window to put it down. It worked more easily than she thought and before she could pull her arm back had caught and imprisoned the corner of the loose sleeve of her little pongee wrap. She could not pull it out without tearing it, and the suit was new. She spoke softly to the old man in front of her, but he did not hear. And then, while she bit her lip and flushed still more deeply, the young man from across the aisle had reached over her without a word, and her arm was free.

"Thank you," she said icily, and then in spite of herself she looked up and caught the gleam of a pin on his soft shirt. "Oh!" she exclaimed and then blushed again.

He whipped off his panama and bent down. "Please don't be formal. You see I'm from your own college, only I've been east since at a law school."

Later she asked suddenly: "Didn't you belong to the Dramatic club? Weren't you Benedict in your class play? That's where I must have seen you. The pictures are up in the clubroom, you know."

It was three hours later that the train pulled into the little station at Okeboji, and she realized that she did not even know the young man's name.

"But Madge will remember, and she is a Dramatic club member and will probably be able to place him," she thought as she sat erect and wondered what she should say to him when she got off.

When the train stopped and she rose to go he didn't move.

"If you wait a moment, the aisle will be less crowded," he suggested, and she waited. Neither spoke, and when the aisle was cleared he rose, picked up his hat, lifted his suit case from the seat across the aisle and followed her to the door. It had never occurred to her that he would be getting off here too.

Madge was waiting for her, and the two girls embraced with a sudden ripple of laughter. The young man stepped to one side and waited, hat in hand.

"Did you escape him?" he heard Madge say, and Mary answered: "Easily as you please. But they'll be furious when they find out what I've done. He's there by this time, and"— They turned around to go to the waiting trap, and Madge caught sight of the man.

"There!" she almost screamed and stared at the young man and from him to Mary. "Why, you must be insane! Don't you know"— The man drew closer, and Madge suddenly laughed at the utter bewilderment on Mary's face.

"What are you talking about? You must be insane yourself! Why"—

Madge wiped her eyes and held out her hand to the man.

"You have hopped out of the frying pan straight into the fire, my dear," she said to the dazed girl. "Allow me to introduce Mr. Ben Markham."

* * * * * * * *

It was quite six weeks before he dared to tell Mary that he had not run away from her, too, as she had interpreted his presence on the train, but had been there by design. When she heard that her mother had met the trunk on its way to the station the day before she left and Mrs. Markham had telephoned her nephew she gave up in despair.

"You see," said the man, "you might at least have given me the chance I was giving you. I felt as much like a fool as you did, only I was willing to be shown, and you—well, you were afraid."

"I wasn't," said Mary. "But at any rate we will not be married in October. That would be too much. Your aunt actually said, 'If I were you, I'd have an October wedding,' to my mother, just as if I had nothing to do with it. We will show them that they can't manage everything."

"We will!" said Ben firmly. "We'll be married in September."

The Only Convert.

For some years there had been a Presbyterian mission at the Winnebago reservation in Nebraska, but there were few converts. The missionary hit on a brilliant plan. There were some bucks on the reservation who had been at the Carlisle school, where they had studied singing. He organized a quartet. The bucks liked to show off their hymns. One of them had a yellow dog that always accompanied his master to church.

At first the Indians liked the singing; then they grew tired of it. Even the choir lost its religion. It became a trio, then a duet; finally the solo quit. A new missionary came into the field. One day he ascended the pulpit and looked around. The only sign of life in the pews was a yellow dog. Calling to the sexton, he said, "Put that dog out."

"Excuse me," replied the sexton mildly. "I'd rather not. The fact is he is the only convert."—Saturday Evening Post.

CITY OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace Of Two Burial Place Of Two

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grandfather of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck; comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponsit river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb, reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams, founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7, 1744 and many other notable people.

THEORY AND PRACTICE.

In M. O. the Latter Generally Exposes the Falsity of the Former.

The theory of municipal ownership is that municipal corporations can do for the public at cost the service now done by private corporations at a profit, saving to the public the amount of the profit in reduced charges.

In the common practice of municipal ownership the city does for the public at increased expense, but for a lower price, what private corporations have been doing for a profit. Usually not only the profit is absorbed in the increased expense, but a continual annual deficiency is covered up by increase of the municipal debt and failure to provide out of earnings for depreciation of plant.

By the time the plant first installed is worn out the city, unless very rich and strong, is apt to be at the end of its credit. In many cases, like that of the Philadelphia gas works, a private corporation gets the city plant for a song and makes money out of it faster than ever. The fundamental idea of it, therefore, is to take the money of taxpayers to render service to non-taxpayers for less than the service costs.—Editorial in Minneapolis Tribune.

M. O. IN MILWAUKEE.

Unwarranted Action of the City Council In the Wisconsin Metropolis.

If you authorize an agent to purchase a piece of property for you at $5,000 and he finds that it will cost $13,000 and goes ahead and buys it without consulting you on the ground that you had said that you wanted the property, your words would probably not look well in print. This is practically what has just been done in Milwaukee, the first party being the taxpayers of that city and their agent being the city council. Some time ago the people of Milwaukee voted to authorize a bond issue of $500,000 to install a municipal lighting plant.

The city fathers found that the estimate was $800,000 too low and passed a resolution to issue bonds to the extent of $1,300,000. The city comptroller at first refused to sign the necessary papers on the ground that in view of the great difference in cost the matter should be again submitted to the people. This point was, however, overruled by the city attorney. If his opinion is good law, the law is bad, for it permits the agents of the people to abuse their powers with impunity.

Why Kirkwood Shut Down.

Some time ago the city of Kirkwood, Mo., was reported to have shut down the generating plant of its electric light plant and made a contract for current with a private company. The arrangement was not, however, consummated, for the company, Mayor Ochterbeck claims, did not act in good faith. The mayor gives the further frank statement in regard to the municipal plant:

"Our plant was built about the year 1901, and on account of its being a municipal matter the city did not get an up to date plant and is today suffering from having a plant that does not meet the requirements, and the cost of production is too high; consequently it does not pay the city if we take into consideration depreciation and the interest on our investment."

Two Diverse Estimates.

The question of installing a municipal lighting plant at Hancock, Mich., has been laid at rest for five years at least, a contract for that period having been made by an almost unanimous vote of the aldermen. This matter has been under discussion for some time, and an estimate of the cost of a plant was obtained from an engineer. The amount of this estimate, $15,000, seemed so low that one of the aldermen got another estimate from an entirely disinterested engineer, who figured that the cost would be $33,000.

Interest Goes Right Along.

In 1898 Greenwood, S. C., issued 5 per cent bonds to the amount of $57,358 for a water and light plant. The last report available shows that none of the bonds has been paid, but the generating plant has been shut down, as it was found to be cheaper to buy current. A contract has been made for ten years, at the end of which period the plant will in all probability be too antiquated for effective service, so that it might as well be written off the books—but the interest on the bonds keeps right on.

A Municipal Overflow.

Of the fads that have swept o'er the country—
The Lawson fad, Dunne fad and Hearst—
I think—but I may be mistaken—
The fad called M. O. is the worst.

The city would have M. O. bake shops
To furnish municipal bread.
M. O. undertakers would follow
To box the municipal dead.

We'd have a municipal dentist
Who'd put on municipal crowns;
All kinds of municipal worries
To furnish municipal frowns.

A million municipal silkworms
Would weave our municipal silk;
Ten thousand municipal babies
Cry out for municipal milk.

We'd have a municipal barroom,
Municipal whisky and gin.
The spree would be charged to the city;
'Twould be a municipal sin.

When out in municipal snowstorms
You'd wear an M. O. mackintosh.
You'd go to the M. O. theaters
To hear the municipal bosh.

You'd have to be full of M. O. love
To please your municipal wife.
Each awful municipal moment
Would make up municipal life.

Your dear M. O. heart would be aching.
You'd heave a municipal sigh.
If sure of no M. O. hereafter,
You'd jump this M. O. life and die.

MONUMENT TO WORK

Splendid Memorial of Present Age Planned by Rodin.

TOWER OF LABOR DESIGNED

Committee Formed to Push French Sculptor's Project—Appeal For Funds to Be Issued In Europe and America. Fine Inner Decorations.

A great monument intended to be a permanent expression of the age we live in has been designed by the famous French sculptor, Auguste Rodin, and a committee, headed by Armand Dayot, has been formed with a view to putting M. Rodin's project into execution, says a special cable dispatch from Paris to the New York Times. An appeal for funds will be issued both in Europe and America in the belief that all progressive nations will contribute to honor labor and creative thought and leave a memorial of the present age as one of work.

Rodin's design is for a lofty tower, which he calls the Tower of Labor. He designs it to be about 200 feet in height, with a central shaft surrounded by a spiral staircase supported by eight pillars. At either side of the main doorway is a gigantic figure, one representing day, the other night. The outer surface of the tower is to be plain, all decoration being reserved for the inner column. This is to be covered with bas-reliefs and statues representing all kinds of labor and human effort. Miners and divers are appropriately placed on the ground floor. On the top is a small pink marble temple with a gilded roof, crowned by two winged figures symbolizing humanity freed from slavery. The tinted marble and gold are intended to suggest the perpetual sunrise of happiness on honest toil.

M. Rodin was asked recently whether he thought his conception likely to be carried out.

"Who knows?" he replied, shrugging his shoulders. "A great deal of money would be needed to realize it, and I fear there are very few people willing to open their purses for the sake of an artistic conception. Personally I have more hope of America than of any other country because America possesses many men ready to place great wealth at the service of art. A solemn glorification of work ought to strike the imagination of a country which gives us such wonderful examples of industry.

"There is no reason why artists of all nations should not contribute statues and frescoes for the interior decoration and so make the monument an international symphony in marble and bronze. The general plan alone would be mine.

"I may never see the tower, but at any rate I will have the satisfaction derived from a fine idea, and that is worth all the rest."

Rodin said this in his Paris studio, near the Eiffel tower. He had finished his day's work and was preparing to return to his home in Meudon. He was asked if he never took a vacation.

"I work," he replied, "until I feel too tired to do my best. Then I go away for a few days' rest without making plans in advance. I hate to be far from my studio and always return feeling that life can offer no greater satisfaction than work."

WARNING TO CARD PLAYERS.

Mrs. A. B. Sims, Whist Champion, Says Game Is Demoralizing.

Mrs. A. B. Sims of Des Moines, Ia., winner of the woman's whist championship of the United States, stood before an audience of 4,000 at Winona Lake the other night and told why she burned up the forty decks of cards that she had at home, says a special dispatch from Warsaw, Ind., to the New York World.

"It was not uncommon for me to play whist from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m.," said Mrs. Sims. "After I saw what I was really doing I burned up all the pasteboards. I should like to speak in every church to the women and tell them what card playing led me to and what it will lead them to. It was undermining our church. The whist and euchre parties were sweeping the women of the congregation, and the church was sinking because of their neglect. The card craze as it prevails among women is the most serious competitor the church has today."

Invited to Smoke In Church Club.

"Smoke your pipe, your cigar or your cigarette," will be one of the signs displayed prominently in the new clubroom to be attached to the Church of the Ascension at Atlantic City, in charge of the Rev. Sidney Goodman, the new pastor, whose work will appeal directly to men, says a special dispatch to the New York World. "The club is to be for both the mental and spiritual good and pleasure of the members," said the rector, "and we shall take the trouble to let the men know that their pipes are as welcome as themselves."

Thousands For Half a Kansas Hog.

C. W. Dingman, a Poland-China hog breeder of Clay Center, Kan., has sold to A. & P. Schmitz of Alma, Kan., a half interest in the fine Poland-China male Victor for $4,000, says a Clay Center correspondent of the Kansas City Star. This hog was bought by Mr. Dingman last winter in the east and is to be shown at the big state fairs this fall. He is pronounced by many to be the best Poland-China hog alive today, and the price of $4,000 for half an interest makes Victor the highest priced hog ever sold.

The Reward of Haughtiness.

The other day a chemist was awakened about 1 o'clock in the morning by a lad clamoring at his shop door. Opening his bedroom window, he saw a small boy, who was gesticulating wildly.

"What's the matter?" inquired the chemist.

"I want a penny'orth o' camphorated chloroform for t' toothache!" howled the lad.

The chemist was not overjoyed when he found how small the order was for which he had been so rudely awakened from his slumber; but, taking pity on the sufferer, he dressed himself and went downstairs to supply the much desired relief. While measuring the drug he could not help doing a growl at the lad.

"It's like your cheek," he observed, "to wake me up at this time of the night for a paltry penn'orth of chloroform."

"Oh, is it?" said the boy resentfully. "Then I'll tek mi custom somewheer else. Yer can keep yer chloroform. I wean't hev it neaw for yer blooming sauce!"

And he didn't. He went off quite indignantly, nursing his jaw, to wake up another chemist.—Pearson's Weekly.

Easily Turned.

A small boy was asked to take dinner at the home of a distinguished professor in Princeton. The lad's mother, in fear lest he should commit some breach of etiquette, gave him repeated directions as to what he should and should not do.

Upon his return from the great occasion the mother's first question was, "Harold, did you get along at the table all right?"

"Oh, yes, mamma, well enough."

"Are you sure you didn't do anything that was not perfectly polite and gentlemanly?"

"Why, no—nothing to speak of."

"Then something did happen. What was it?"

"But I fixed it all right, mamma."

"Tell me at once."

"Why, I got along pretty well until the meat came, but while I was trying to cut mine it slipped off on to the floor. But I made it all right."

"What did you do?"

"Oh, I just said sort of carelessly, 'That's always the way with tough meat.'"—Youth's Companion.

Disraeli's Nuptial Joke.

There was a little joke between them (Disraeli and his wife) which I heard from the late dean of Salisbury. "You know I married you for your money," Disraeli would say to her. "Oh, yes, but if you were to marry me again you would marry me for love!" was the regular reply, "Oh, yes!" her husband would exclaim, and the little nuptial comedy ended.

But what Disraeli said to Bernal Osborne once about his marriage is much better worth the telling. It was at a dinner party after dinner when the men were alone. "What did you marry her for?" Osborne asked in his characteristic way. Disraeli twiddled his wineglass in the pause that followed this point blank inquiry. Then he lifted his head slowly and looked the other very expressively in the face. "For a reason," he said, "which you could never understand—gratitude."—From "Lord Beaconsfield and Other Tory Memories," by T. E. Kebbel.

The Smelts Were Biting.

John Quincy Adams of Massachusetts, third of that name, was very fond of fishing and not especially fond of his legal profession. One day, the story runs, a case in which he was counsel was down for trial in a Massachusetts court. Mr. Adams did not make his appearance, but sent a letter to the judge. That worthy gentleman read it and then postponed the case with the announcement:

"Mr. Adams is detained on important business."

It was afterward learned by a colleague of Adams that the letter read as follows:

"Dear Judge—For the sake of old Izaak Walton, please continue my case till Friday. The smelts are biting, and I can't leave."

The Owe Sheridans.

Richard Brinsley Butler Sheridan, the great Irishman, was all his life long in dire straits for money, and when he died in 1816 the bailiffs were actually in possession of his house. Sheridan's forbears had been O'Sheridans.

"Why," asked on one occasion his little son—"why have we not the O' as well as they?"

"Heaven only knows," was the father's reply. "We ought to have it, for we owe everybody."

Only One of a Kind.

"Why do you think he is such a remarkable man?"

"He's the only one I ever knew who had nerve enough to make the responses in the marriage service loud enough so that any one could hear him."—Chicago Post.

Her Selection.

Blanche—The most difficult thing is to make up one's mind what to take and what to leave behind. Henriette—Oh, I don't think so. I take all my frocks and leave my husband.—Rire.

Fault of a Woman's Watch.

Miss Hiborn—It seems to run very well for about a day and a half, and then it will not go at all. Watchmaker—Yes; it should be wound occasionally.—Jewelers' Circular-Weekly.

Correct.

Teacher—What became of the children of Agamemnon? Pupil (after mature deliberation)—I think they're dead by this time.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Smelting parties are the present fad. Not many large catches are being made however.

The Republican City Committee met Friday evening at headquarters. No business of importance was transacted.

Employes of the Electric Light company are at work wiring the Coliseum for 1000 electric lights for carnival week.

The City Council Committees on Public Buildings and Licenses will meet Monday night before the Council meeting.

The Loyal Ladies of Clan McGregor will hold a whist party at Clan McGregor hall South Quincy Tuesday evening.

The Memorial service of Abigail Adams Circle, C. of F. of A., which was postponed on Sunday Sept. 29th, will take place on Sunday Oct. 6th at 2 P. M. in A. O. H. hall, Franklin street.

The Wage Earners club will meet tonight and decide what it will do in regard to placing a candidate in the field for representative to the general court from the fifth district. Several names have been proposed as possible candidates.

Mrs. H. T. P. Bates of South Central avenue who has been ill since early summer is at Cohasset at the home of her mother Mrs. F. E. Brigham. Wollaston friends will be sorrry to learn that she is critically ill.

Rev. Carl H. Rupach of Fort Fairfield, Maine, has been assigned to the West Quincy M. E. church as pastor and will begin his duties Sunday, Oct. 13. He is well endorsed by Presiding Elder Galbraith as a fine man, a great worker and a spiritual force. Rev. George O. Crosby appointed as pastor at the last conference was called away after a few Sundays because of the death of a relative, and the church has missed a regular pastor.

The Young People's Religious union of the Wollaston Unitarian church will begin their season of winter meetings tomorrow evening at seven o'clock in the vestry. Rev. E. W. Hunt will be the speaker. The officers are: president, Miss Evelyn Cummings, vice president Edward R. Hall; secretary, Miss Persis A. Thompson; treasurer, Miss Gertrude Jones, corresponding secretary Miss Dorothy Fay and the advisory board, Fred M. Rollins, Ernest W. Arnold, Ray F. Weston, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney and Mrs. Thomas Lacey.

The date set for the organ recital to be given by Prof. Frank Wrigley at Christ church is Thursday evening, October 10th at 8 o'clock. Mr. Wrigley will be assisted by Mr. Walter Hersey, bass of Trinity church, Boston. Tickets for this recital may be obtained from Mr. Luce, organist of the church, and only those holding tickets will be admitted on that evening.

Louis E. Flye Renominated

The Republican representative convention for the eighth East Norfolk district (Braintree, Holbrook and Avon) was held in Holbrook last Wednesday evening. Twenty-one out of twenty-four delegates were present, fifteen from Braintree, five from Holbrook and one from Avon. Charles B. Cummings of South Braintree was elected chairman and Charles B. French, secretary. Mr. Southworth of Holbrook gave a good account of Representative Louis E. Flye's record in the house and as town clerk in Holbrook for five years. He took pleasure in nominating Mr. Flye for another year in the legislature. There was no other candidate and Mr. Flye received the unanimous vote. Messrs. W. H. Dam of Braintree, Southworth of Holbrook and Porter of Avon were appointed by the chair to go out upon the highway in search of the nominee.

They were not out long and as the quartet entered the hall they were greeted with loud applause. Mr. Dam then introduced the Republican nominee for representative. Mr. Flye thanked the delegates for his nomination and hoped if elected to serve the district in a creditable manner. He spoke of the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. and B. & M. R. R. merger, and other important bills before the legislature.

Mr. Southworth was very much pleased with the fairness of the Braintree Republicans and said that the Republicans of Holbrook would stand by the ten year agreement.

CAREY—McDONALD.

Mr. Thomas F. Carey of Quincy and Miss Mary Lauretta McDonald of Dorchester, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. McDonald of 86 East Cottage street, were married on Wednesday evening at seven o'clock by Rev. Fr. Ryan of St. Margaret's church, Dorchester.

The bride wore a dress of white satin trimmed with duches lace and carried a large bunch of white roses. Her only ornament was a diamond brooch the gift of the groom. Miss Alice McDonald was maid of honor and she wore an embroidered silk muslin over old rose silk and carried pink roses.

Mr. Jeremiah A. Carey brother of the groom acted as best man. The ushers were Joseph and William McDonald of Dorchester and William A. Carey of Quincy.

A reception was held at the home of the bride from half past seven until eleven o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Carey being assisted in receiving by the maid of honor and best man.

The house was prettily decorated with rubber plants, ferns and cut flowers. A wedding supper was served and there was also a display of beautiful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey have gone to New York on a short trip. On their return they are to reside on Thayer place, South Braintree where they will be at home to their friends after December first.

Mr. Carey although a Quincy man is well known to Braintree people as he has been for several years letter carrier on the South Braintree route, where he has been most faithful in the discharge of his duties, and will now be further identified with the village as he is to make his home here.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE.

Grace George in "Divorcons" at the Hollis Street theatre has repeated in Boston the success which she achieved both in London and New York. The story of the play which is most interesting in brief is as follows: The French legislative chamber is discussing a new bill legalizing divorce. M. de Paunelles and his wife Cyprienne are living in the country. She has grown very weary and bored. In one of the purple patches of the evening she "rounds on" her husband and tells him plainly that men are veterans in the art of love and women neophytes when they marry and it isn't fair on the women. Cyprienne then imforms her husband that she intends to graduate from such a stupid class. She has a lover—a silly fellow who has not as yet even kissed her lips but because he is not her husband she thinks herself devoted to him. To cut a long story short, the husband and lover change places—superficially only and directly afterward Cyprienne repents. Now that it is no longer unlawful her flirtation with Adhemar becomes more flat, stale and unprofitable than her previous existence with her husband. It is the latter now who provides the spice of life. She becomes violently in love and tremendously jealous. In the end of course, the lover is sent about his business. As the Boston engagement terminates next week an early reservation of seats is advisable.

BOSTON THEATRE.

Next week the new stock company at the Boston theatre will be seen in one of the brightest comedies of recent years, "The Girl with the Green Eyes" by Clyde Fitch. Originally brought out a few seasons ago by Grace George and her company it gained especial favor when played in Boston.

The jealousy of Jinny Austin, newly married, makes the motif of the play and in telling its story Mr. Fitch has, as is his custom, introduced dozens of small, extraneous episodes that give a deal of color and atmosphere to the performance. The first act, in the Tillman's house in New York, shows the flutter and excitement attending a fashionable wedding. The scene of the second act is in the Vatican in Rome, with the huge statue of Apollo occupying the centre of the stage. The third and fourth act pass in the library of the Austin's home.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Merriment will bubble at Keith's next week, for the bill arranged is noticeably strong in comedy features, among them being Peter F. Dailey and company, Stella Mayhew, Ellee Taylor and company, Lew Bloom, Charles F. Semon, Paulton and Dooley, Sulerno, Anderson and Goines, and Willie Weston. In fact there is hardly an act on the whole list that is not a smile bringer. Charles F. Semon, "The Harrow Feller," drollest of all the musical monologists, Salerno, the great juggler who will close his engagement; Paulton and Dooley, in a very funny bicycle act; Anderson and Goines, two of the cleverest colored comedians in vaudeville, and Willie Weston, with stories and imitations will all cause their share of smiles. Beautiful and graceful Clara Ballerini, in a most attractive trapeze performance; Donnelly and Rotali, pleasing vocalists, The Kalmos, novelty dancers, Hilton and his trained dogs; The Walters, in a comedy sketch, and the kinetograph will round out the bill.

THE ORPHEUM.

A house packed with pleased patrons is the surest sign of success. That has been the experience of the Orpheum theatre since its opening because of the fact that the big house makes a practice of presenting the biggest shows. For the week of Oct. 7, another bill of supreme features and unique novelties has been selected from the wonderful resources of the United Booking Office, the biggest vaudeville booking agency in the world.

The famous minstrel man Carroll Johnson, heading a big company of minstrel men in a singing and dancing sketch, which is presented with special stage settings, entitled "In Louisiana," is the big feature. The quaint melodies of the Southern darky are given full sway in this act which is in reality a minature minstrel show, with all the good qualities conned to twenty minutes.

Others on the big bill are DeWitt, Torrance and Burns, in their beautiful act, "The Awakening of Toys"; Felix and Caire, two youngsters who have created a furore by their impersonations; the Carter Taylor Co., and the kinetograph.

Meeting of The Philergians

The Philergians held the first meeting of the season on Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 1, in Cochato hall, Braintree, with a large attendance.

The season promises to be a very successful one for the club as a long list of new members were received.

Announcement was made of a meeting of the Board of Directors to be held on Oct. 9, at ten o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Dow.

A report of the meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation, which was held at Great Barrington in June, was read by the president, Mrs. Dow, who was the delegate appointed by the Philergians.

Mrs. Dow reviewed the work being done by various women's clubs, showing the many fields of practical and beneficent work in which they are engaged. This report must have made all present feel that the club engaged in a work outside of its own little sphere of membership gains immeasurably over the club meeting for entertainment or intellectual development alone. It was an excellent report, and contained much food for thought.

The program was interspersed with the following well interpreted music, under the auspices of the music committee;

Song—"Carmena" by H. Lane Wilson

Club Quartette { Mrs. Jane Haskell. Miss Eleanor Shaw Mrs. Susan J. Avery Mrs. Nora M. Wallis

Piano Duet—Three dances from the music of Shakespeare's Henry VIII, by Edward German,

Mrs. Lucy M. Wales, Mrs. Edith B. Griffin

Contralto Solo—"Still as the Night," Miss Annie Ellis

Song—"Snowflakes," by F. H. Cowen. Club Quartette

The business meeting was followed by a reception and tea.

TODAY'S COURT.

Antonio Modento and Antonio Rosnio were fined $50 each for violation of the liquor law at Cohasset.

Edward E. Bascom and Emerick W. Sharp were fined $15 each for exceeding the automobile speed limit on the Blue Hills parkway.

Memorial Service Of C. of F. of A.

The annual memorial services of Abigail Adams circle, C. of F. of A., was held Sunday afternoon at A. O. H. hall at South Quincy. The hall was appropriately decorated about the stage where there were large banners of mourning. On an easel was a large panel draped in black reading, "Gone to Rest." On the desk were eleven lighted candles representing the living dead. As the roll of dead was called a candle was extinguished.

An elaborate program was arranged under the direction of Mrs. Mary Pritchard, chief companion. The program opened with a piano selection by Mrs. Gus R. White: followed by a song, "Come Ye Disconsolate," by a ladies quartette, composed of Alice Nicol, Josie Dow, Hannah Imlay and Margaret Guivens. A brief address was given by Mrs. Evelyn Sawyer, supreme chief companion, followed by a solo "Passing out of the shadow," by Elizabeth M. Boutiler.

An address by Rev. N. J. Sproul, was followed by a quartett selection by Miss H. Galvin, Miss A. McCarthy. D. F. McCurdy and Dr. D. B. Reardon, who sang "Jubilate Deo."

An address by Grand Chief Companion was followed by a solo, "Crossing the Bar," by Thomas Roche Donovan, and a selection "How firm a foundation," by the ladies quartet.

"The Eternal City" was beautifully rendered by Gus R. White, the violin obligato being given by Master Lee Brooks. The quartet sang "Some Blessed Day," and there was a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Gus R. White.

Then came the roll call of the dead by Mrs. Mary A. Ferguson. During the eight years of Abigail Adams circle, eleven have passed away. The speaker had a few words to say of each, and as their names were called a candle was extinguished. The following have passed away: Margaret Pews, Jennie McLaughlin, Margaret Alexander, Helen Kirkland, Gordon McIntosh, Margaret Robertson, Amelia Monti, Mary Gordon, Garland Mischler, Christine Drumgold and Nellie Mary Barton.

The service closed with the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee" by the audience.

The committee who had the service in charge were: Mary Pritchard, Mary A. Ferguson, Catherine Cotter, Margaret Stronach, Mary Kennedy, Helen Kelley, Jane Lillie, Mary Ford, and Margaret Robertson.

BOYS WIN

Find Most of Free Trips in Hunt Held at Quincy Woods

That the eyes of young people are much sharper than those of grown persons was shown conclusively on Saturday at the hunt for free trips held at Quincy woods, under the auspices of the Old Colony street railway company. The hunt was for free tickets to Washington and return, to New York and return, to New York up the Hudson river and return, and for packages of twenty rides on the local street cars.

The hunt was started shortly before 3 o'clock and the crowd kept at it until dark. By that time nineteen of the twenty-five envelopes had been found. The six that were left were a trip to New York, a Hudson river trip and four packages of local tickets.

The space where the envelopes were dropped was not large and no great effort was made to secret them for some were placed on branches of bushes, about the trunks of trees and others were dropped on top of the leaves. The envelopes were the small manila kind commonly used as pay envelopes. The crowd beat about the bushes thoroughly but as noted above it was the young people who found them.

Supt. Gammons was on hand, and as soon as an envelope was found, it was turned over to him and redeemed. For the trips orders were given so that the holder could make the trip when desired. When they desire to go all that is necessary is to call at the office and exchange the order for transportation tickets.

There was a good deal of good natured bantering during the hunt and some of the women who could not find envelopes declared that the scheme was a fraud. Suddenly the cry went up that one of the envelopes had been found and the next minute Ambrose O'Dowd presented a card to Supt. Gammons calling for twenty tickets. They were quickly handed over to him. This seemed to stimulate the crowd and the hunt was resumed with increased vigor.

Henry Prescott was the next lucky boy, and he found a trip to New York and a few minutes later he found twenty tickets. Roland Grant then found a bunch of tickets and he was followed by Charles Fackdock who secured a trip to New York.

Charles Farrell was extremely lucky, for he not only found the trip to Washington, but he also found one of the Hudson river trips. Robert Pratt found two bunches of tickets, and Stanley Sherman was close behind him with a Washington trip. Then came Louis French with a New York trip and Charles Vasdick with two bunches of tickets.

Up to this time the girls had not captured anything. One little girl, however, Helen Fillmore was successful in finding a New York trip. When asked what she intended to do with it she said she intended to take a trip to Maine. A few minutes later she was successful in finding a bunch of local tickets.

By this time the older people had become tired out and gave up the hunt, but the boys kept at it. Four more envelopes were found all of which called for tickets. Philip Martin got two of these and William J. O'Brien two.

The boys announced their intention to resume the hunt on Sunday.

Continuous Representation

The lament of the Brookline Chronicle over the result of the Republican county convention is awfully amusing: It says editorially:

"For the first time that has ever come under our observation, the principle that Brookline is entitled to continuous representation on the board of County Commissioners has been challenged. Mr. Darling of Hyde Park denied this claim, and used the denial in support of his argument in favor of the nomination of Mr. Johnston of Hyde Park in opposition to Dr. Bowker. We do not find Mr. Darling argument at all convincing, for he falls into the error of urging that political strength should be the basis of representation, a doctrine which would evidently result in the placing of inferior men in office. If he had said that merit and efficiency alone should determine the selection of candidates, his remarks would have had real force. In that case, though, he would be maintaining an opinion nowise different from our own, for nothing has been said in these columns in support of Brookline's continuous representation when the town in unable to put up a candidate of equal calibre to that of any candidate from elsewhere in the county. This year Dr. Bowker was certainly the equal, to say the least, of the other candidates and we feel therefore that the failure to nominate him is a mistake and an injustice. However, the doctrine of Brookline's continuous representation must stand until more weighty arguments are brought forward than those made by Mr. Darling in the convention."

In the Chronicle's report of the convention was this paragraph:

"Quincy was probably the largest and most important factor in Dr. Bowker's defeat. That city had 17 delegates and Brookline 18. Had the two "played together." they could have controlled the convention in Bowker's interest. A delegate, however, is authority for the statement that Quincy gave Stone 14 votes on the first and 15 on the second ballot."

It looks as if Brookline wanted to play politics. The town evidently thinks that wealth instead of numbers should rule.

YOUNG MAN DROWNED

Party of Seven In Row Boat Capsized off Peddocks Island

One young man was drowned and others would have met with a like fate on Sunday afternoon but for assistance given by T. L. Williams, the president of the Quincy Board of Trade. Seven young fellows from South Boston were at Peddock's island. They landed from their sloop at Princess head at 3 P. M. They had a jolly time ashore, and later all put off in a punt built for about three. There were no row locks and two of the number stood to paddle the boat along. The result was a capsize. Only one could swim and he reached the shore safely.

Mr. Williams noticed the accident, and he put off alone in his little skiff. He went to the rescue of the two that seemed to need help most and with difficulty pulled two aboard. One other was drowned, but a sloop saved three.

The saved were landed almost exhausted on Peddock's island. A rousing fire was built, and their clothing taken off and dried, while they were kept in motion for exercise. All were very grateful to Mr. Williams and others who came to the rescue, but the drowning of one of the number caused a sadness. The victim was Albert Corea of West street, Somerville, aged 16 years.

The others in the party were: Morris Anderson of the United States Hotel, John Cummings of 97 Mercer street, South Boston; Alfred Waters of 102 Mercer street; Joseph Fowler of 99 Mercer street; Henry Weibrecht of 76 Mercer street and Charles Upton of 1 Sayward place.

Odd Fellows and Foresters Attend

The funeral of the late Joseph Beliveau, Jr., who was accidentally drowned off Peddock's island on Sunday, Sept. 22, was held on Sunday. The remains were escorted to their last resting place by over 300 relatives and friends.

Leading the cortege were the Foresters of America, Court Roger Wolcott and the Manchester Unity Oddfellow; Granite lodge on either side followed by representatives of Roger Wolcott circle, C. of F. of A. and the Quarrymens' Union. Then followed the hearse containing the remains enclosed in a massive steel casket followed by the hacks with the immediate family and friends followed by a long line of mourners.

The floral pieces included:

A massive cross from Foresters.
Pillow from Oddfellows.
Pillow from C. of F. of A.
Pillow from Willard Association.
Floral piece from John Smith.
Floral piece from Sidney Gates.

And several other floral tributes from family and friends.

The pall bearers were ten in number as follows:

Foresters of America,—William J. Herbert, Daniel F. Forde, Herbert Boutin, Jeffrey DeCoste, Theodore Belangee.

Oddfellows,—Sam McCormack, Con Driscoll, Charles McCue, Ed P. Caron, A. Murray Piree.

High mass of the requiem was held by Rev. Fr. Ambrose Roche this morning at St. Mary's church.

Fire at Wollaston.

The alarm from Box 56 at 8.06 this morning was for a slight fire in Moore's bakery, located in the Adams & Copeland building on Brook street, Wollaston. The fire started about the oven and made a dense smoke. There was but little damage by fire, but the contents of the bakery was considerably smoked.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Loud of Washington street have been entertaining the past week their neice Miss Neidhart of New York.

Boy Killed Stealing a Ride

Howard Frye, the 10 year old son of Edward Frye was fatally injured Saturday night by being run over by a street car on Quincy avenue near the corner of Water street. It was in the vicinity of 8 o'clock when two cars came along headed toward Quincy. The first car stopped at the corner of Water street to let a passenger off. While at a standstill it is said that Frye and another boy jumped on to the rear to steal a ride. They did not ride far before they jumped off. They evidently did not notice the car coming behind.

Motorman McLaughlin of the second car did all in his power to stop his car, but he was too near and the fender of his car struck the Frye boy rolling him under the car. When the car was stopped he was so wedged against the motor beneath the car that it was necessary to use a jack to hoist the car before he could be removed. This took some time. He was unconscious and Dr. Reardon who had been called ordered his removal to the City Hospital, where he was taken in the police ambulance.

At the hospital it was found that he had sustained a compound fracture of both legs and arms, a fractured skull and mulitiple injuries about the body. The physician expressed but slight hopes of his recovery, and he died during the night.

Birthday Surprises.

Saturday evening, G. W. Gragg, the druggist at Quincy Point, invited a few immediate friends to celebrate his fiftieth birthday. Upon going home to supper he found his house on Packard street in possession of the Sons of Veteran Auxiliary of Quincy who had brought with them the necessary things to make up a Saturday night supper. An enjoyable social was the result. After 7.30 the friends invited by Mr. Gragg arrived from Waltham, Everett, Dorchester and Hooksett, N.H. About 8 o'clock upon going to the door another party of thirty unexpected guest from the Ashmount Universalists church of Dorchester came in and filled the house. Mr. and Mrs. Gragg were both surprised. During the evening Mr. Gragg was presented with valuable tokens of esteem from his friends. The Olympia orchestra furnished music, and lunch was served.

Several street hearings have been advertised to be held by the City Council tonight. There is also considerable other important business to come up.

Mrs. Walter Linnell and daughter Della, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dow of South Framingham, were the guests Sunday of A. E. Linnell of Davis street.

A whist will be held Tuesday afternoon at G. A. R. hall under the auspices of W. R. C. Corps meeting in the evening at 7.15. Inspection of work.

A union meeting of the East Norfolk Christian Endeavor will be held this evening at the Park and Downs Congregational church. President Copeland of the State Union will be the speaker.

It was rumored Saturday night that The Independence League intended to nominate Benson Myatt as Representative from the fifth district. Mr. Myatt already has the nomination for that office from the sixth district.

TWO TICKETS NAMED

Conventions Held In the Same Hall at the Same Time

DEMOCRATS IN BIG TANGLE

Massachusetts Ballot Law Commission Must Decide Who Is Democratic Candidate For Governor--Bartlett Men Captured Convention

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 7.—Two separate tickets were nominated by the Democrats of Massachusetts in convention in the Court Square theatre, while pandemonium reigned. One was headed by Charles W. Bartlett of Newton, and the other by Henry M. Whitney of Boston. The state ballot law commission will be invoked by the Whitney followers to settle the question as to which ticket shall be recognized as regular. The tickets are as follows:

The Bartlett ticket: Governor, Charles W. Bartlett, Newton; lieutenant governor, John A. Thayer, Worcester (nomination declined); secretary of state, Charles Z. E. Chareste, Holyoke; treasurer and receiver general, William P. Connery, Lynn; attorney general, Harvey H. Pratt, Scituate; auditor, Daniel L. Shea, Chicopee.

The Whitney ticket: Governor, Henry M. Whitney, Brookline; lieutenant governor, George A. Schofield, Ipswich; secretary of state, Charles Z. E. Chareste, Holyoke; treasurer and receiver general, Arthur Lyman, Waltham; attorney general, David F. O'Connell, Worcester; auditor, Joseph A. Conry, Boston.

Having gained control of the machinery of the convention, the Bartlett faction, by getting to the convention hall early and in large numbers, was able to carry through its program.

Upon announcement by the chairman of the state committee that a Bartlett leader, Daniel J. Kiley of Boston, had been chosen temporary chairman, the Whitney delegates, who were apparently in the minority in the proportion of about one to three, retired to the rear of the theatre and held a convention in the foyer.

At Whitney headquarters, after the convention, Whitney announced that he would remain as a candidate, but that he would throw aside every other issue in favor of that of fair treatment for the majority.

The Bartlett leaders were at the theatre early and brought to their assistance a great portion of the police force of this city. They had their own set of doorkeepers, and an hour and a half before the convention was called to order, the first five rows in the orchestra were occupied by Bartlett men. Delegates wearing Bartlett ribbons seemed to have little difficulty in exchanging their credentials for tickets at the box office of the theatre, while, on the other hand, the delegates with Whitney badges encountered much delay and some absolute denials. The result was that when Chairman Feeney of the state committee called the convention to order, the main part of the orchestra was completely filled with Bartlett supporters.

The storm broke almost immediately, when nominations were made for temporary chairman. Daniel J. Kiley of Boston, an ardent Bartlett leader, and Joseph A. Conry, also of Boston, a Whitney supporter, were placed before the convention for this position. By this time half the delegates were on their feet, shouting and cheering, and there was great confusion, in the midst of which Feeney declared that Kiley had been chosen, and, flinging the gavel on the floor, left the stage.

Mr. Kiley picked up the gavel and began his duties as presiding officer. As he did so, Conry arose in a box beside the stage and began to talk. It was impossible to hear what either said, but in a few moments Conry left the box and went to the foyer. There he mounted a table and was soon surrounded by Whitney supporters. The shouts of the two presiding officers could be heard once in a while above the din, but only those who were close to them could understand what was being done.

The Whitney convention, in the rear of the hall, transacted its business with great speed, and although the police were ordered to remove the Whitney men as disturbers, nothing of that sort was done. In the meantime the Bartlett convention was being conducted in a more leisurely, and yet more noisy, manner.

The conventions both went through the usual formalities of permanent organization, appointment of committees on credentials and the adoption of resolutions. The Bartlett platform was presented by George F. Williams, and the Whitney resolutions by Josiah Quincy of Boston. Every effort was made to conduct both conventions in a strictly legal manner, as both factions realized that their actions would be brought before the state authorities for adjudication.

The Bartlett faction adopted a platform which was devoted chiefly to denunciation of monopolies in general and of the proposed merger of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and Boston and Maine railroads in particular. The platform adopted by the Whitney faction had for its principal feature the advocacy of reciprocity, and condemnation of the Dingley tariff.

After Bartlett's nomination, he appeared on the stage, but his words of acceptance were stifled by the noise. The Bartlett leaders waited until nearly all the Whitney men had left the building before declaring the convention adjourned.

Just before the Bartlett convention adjourned, hairC (61H v cmcm cm adjourned, Chairman O'Connell of the committee on credentials announced that the convention was entitled to 750 delegates, and that 700 credentials had been handed in.

The first step toward testing the legality of the Bartlett convention was taken earlier in the day, when an injunction was granted by a local judge preventing the state committee from issuing credentials to the towns which held no caucuses. The next step was the taking at Whitney headquarters of depositions from delegates who were unable to obtain admittance to the theatre. The claim of the Whitney faction for approval of its ticket will be made to the ballot law commission this week.

Against Abrogation of Contracts

New York, Oct. 7.—President Small addressed the local Telegraphers' union yesterday. A recent resolution of the local to call out leased wire operators who are working under contracts with brokers and newspapers in this city awaits the sanction of the national officials to become effective. What Small advised the strikers was not given out, but after the meeting he declared that under no circumstances would the national officers agree to an abrogation of working contracts.

Second Trial For Murder

Houlton, Me., Oct. 7.—The second trial of Juan Robens for the murder of his former employer and friend, J. E. Dickinson, the Smyrne Mills farmer and guide, begun here today. Robens had a trial last April which lasted a week and the jury failed to agree. Dickinson's wife was indicted as an accomplice and was on trial with Robens for several days when she was discharged, the case against her being dropped by the state.

Drowned In Six Feet of Water

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 7.—Mrs. Mabel Stevens, aged 46, a servant employed in Shrewsbury, fell from the houseboat Whistler into Lake Quinsigamond and was drowned. The body was found in six feet of water. The woman is supposed to have taken refuge in the house while on her way home late Saturday night. The medical examiner decided death was due to accident.

Won't Go on Democratic Ticket

Toledo, Oct. 7.—Mayor Whitlock has declined the Democratic nomination for mayor tendered him by the city convention, on the ground that the convention failed to endorse the principles of the independent party. All other independent candidates for city offices endorsed by the Democrats declined to permit their names to go upon the Democratic ticket.

England Accepts Bandit's Terms

Tangier, Oct. 7.—The release of Caid Sir Harry McLean, who for some time has been held captive by the bandit, Raisuli, at last seems to be within measureable distance. The British government has accepted Raisuli's terms for McLean's release, the principal items being $150,000 ransom and British protection for Raisuli and his family.

New Head of Jamestown Show

Norfolk, Oct. 7.—Alvah H. Martin, first vice president and governor of transportation of the Jamestown exposition, was elected director general of the exposition to succeed James M. Barr, who resigned as the result of friction with President Tucker growing out of the administration of the social features of the ter-centennial.

Sunday Football Player Killed

Portage, Pa., Oct. 7.—Thomas Bertram, 20 years old, received injuries during a football game here yesterday that caused his death last night. Bertram was kicked in the head during a scrimmage. His death, it is said, will result in prosecutions against those who played Sunday football.

Roosevelt's Quiet Sunday

Stamboul, La., Oct. 7.—The president spent Sunday quietly in his camp on Tensas bayou, with the intention of beginning his hunt early today. This report is not official, but comes through natives who are keeping as close an eye upon the movements of the chief executive as courtesy will permit.

Fright Causes Loss of Voice

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 7.—John Martin, a barber, dreamed a few nights ago that he was in danger, and that when he tried to cry for help he was unable to utter a sound. Next day his voice gradually failed. Prominent medical men say Martin lost his voice through fright.

The Rowlands Acquitted

Raleigh, Oct. 7.—The jury in the Rowland murder trial returned a verdict of acquittal Sunday. The jury took the case Saturday. Dr. and Mrs. David Rowland were jointly charged with poisoning the woman's former husband, Charles R. Strange.

Deliberately Killed Brother

Pittsburg, Oct. 7.—Angered because his brother, George, 18 years old, chided him for remaining away from home all night during the absence of their mother, Moses Rosenburg, aged 16, shot George through the heart, killing him almost instantly.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Oct. 8.
Sun rises—5:49; sets—5:16.
Moon sets—6:20 p. m.

MILK FARMERS' PLANS

May Conduct Business Independent of Boston Contractors

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 7.—A plan by which Worcester county milk producers may ship the 10,000 cans of milk which that district supplies to Greater Boston, independent of the milk contractors in case some agreement with the latter over the price of milk cannot be reached, is made public by Jonas Bemis, chairman of the milk producers' committee which has been conducting negotiations with the contractors.

The plan outlined is that which is being discussed at a big meeting of Worcester county milk producers here today, at which they will decide what to do with their milk in case they should break off relations with the contractors. The farmers ask 38 cents a can for their milk, while the highest price named by the contractors so far has been 35½ cents a can, which price the producers have already voted not to accept.

What to do with the 10,000 cans of milk supplied to Boston by this district is a serious problem to the farmers and to the consumers in the metropolitan district. Bemis states that the plan considered by his committee was for each shipping point to send its milk into Boston independent of the contractors. They could obtain, he said, a freight rate of 2 cents a can on their milk, the same rate as is now obtained by the contractors. By sending agents to Boston, Bemis suggested, the farmers could secure their own customers and conduct an indepndent business. This plan will be one of the most important to be acted upon at today's meeting.

Fitzgerald Takes Exceptions

Boston, Oct. 7.—As a reply to the criticism of the administration and affairs of the city of Boston made by Senator Lodge at the Republican state convention on Saturday, Mayor Fitzgerald has issued a lengthy statement, in which he says he shall formally call the finance commission's attention to the senator's statements and shall request that body to ask the senator for "the immediate production of any information which he may have in his possession tending to justify the grave language which he has used, or as to the persons from whom the evidence in support of it, can be obtained."

Bark and Lightship Collided

Chatham, Mass., Oct. 7.—In a collision of the bark Freeman with the Shovelful shoal lightship last night, both mastheads of the lightship were carried away. The accident was caused by the attempt of the bark to clear a tug towing two barges which gave scant room for the bark to pass between it and the lightship. When the yards of the bark were swung around they crashed against the mastheads of the lightship, carrying them away.

Had Ten Stowaways Aboard

Boston, Oct. 7.—On her first entry into the port of Boston the full-rigged ship Rhine, which for 20 years has been engaged in trade between the East and West Indies, made a record for the port by bringing 10 stowaways, who were found soon after the ship left Cardiff. They were at once put to work, being confined when the ship reached Boston harbor and held pending action by the immigration officials.

Death Due to Exposure

Kingston, Mass., Oct. 7.—After an examination of the dead body of Percy Montague, found on the marshes near here, the medical examiner decided that the suspicions of foul play entertained at first were groundless, and that death was due to exposure. Montague was 40 years old. It is supposed that he wandered to the marshes while temporarily deranged.

Demented Man Wandered Away

Colebrook, N. H., Oct. 7.—After an all day and all night search, in which 200 men and boys participated, Elbridge Hurlburt of Clarksville, who had been missing since Thursday, was found in an abandoned camp on Dead Diamond island, nearly 25 miles from his home. He was greatly exhausted. Hurlburt, who is slightly demented, is 45 years of age.

Deputy Sheriffs Sieze Liquor

Portland, Me., Oct. 7.—A seizure of liquor valued at $606 was made by deputy sheriffs from the Forest City Express company, a new concern. There were three wagons loaded with the liquor, two of which had just arrived from the railroad station and had not been unloaded. No arrest was made.

Election Day In Connecticut

New Haven, Oct. 7.—Elections are being held in most of the towns of Connecticut today for town officers, in some of them on the excise question, and in all of the 168 towns on the matter of the acceptance or rejection of a revision of the state constitution, while in five cities there will be municipal elections.

Looking Into Benton Wreck

Waterville, Me., Oct. 7.—The Maine railroad commissioners examined several witnesses in their investigation of the collision of the freight and work trains near Benton Wednesday night, in which one trainman was killed and another critically injured. Their decision will be reached later.

Death of Ledyard Bill

Paxton, Mass., Oct. 7.—Ledyard Bill, formerly a successful publisher in New York city, known also as a writer and politician, died of pneumonia. He was born in Ledyard, Conn., 71 years ago. He retired on account of poor health and removed to Paxton in 1874, after amassing a fortune.

BY ABOUT $425,000

Envelope Makers Are Said to Have Wrongfully Benefited

A VIOLATION OF CONTRACT

Cheaper Material Than Called For In Envelopes and Wrappers Supplied the Government For Many Years by Hartford Company

Washington, Oct. 7.—Postmaster General Meyer has suspended the payment of all moneys due from his department to the Hartford Manufacturing company of Hartford and has submitted the matter to the attorney general for such further action as may be deemed proper.

The Hartford Manufacturing company up to July 1 last supplied the stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers sold at postoffices. Chemical analysis of samples have disclosed the fact that the composition of the envelope paper has been below the requirements of the contract, and, according to the computations of the experts of the postoffice department, the company has in the last four years wrongfully benefited to the extent of about $425,000.

One of the manufacturers who supplied paper to the company has admitted that his firm furnished different and cheaper material than specified in the contract, and that it was so made at the instance of the Hartford Manufacturing company.

Suspicion arose several months ago that the Hartford company had been using inferior paper for some time, and a very extensive examination was required in order to determine just how long the specifications had been disregarded. During the investigation a new contract was entered into for the supplying of stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers with the Mercantile corporation of Dayton, O., beginning July 1. As the Harfford comany had carried on successive contracts for nearly 30 years, naturally there was no other plant in existence to do this particular class of work, but the guarantees furnished by the new company, showing its financial standing and ability to obtain a plant, paper, machinery and labor, satisfied the postmaster general after several weeks' personal inquiry in Washington and elsewhere.

The product must average nearly 4,000,000 envelopes every working day in the year. Of these 30 percent are plain stamped envelopes, the remaining 70 percent being the return cards, names and addresses of the senders. The two concerns mentioned were the only competitors for the new contract, the bid of the Hartford company being $5,837,635, figured on the basis of the estimated quantities required during the four years of the contract term, while that of the Mercantile corporation was $162,251 less.

Under the specifications of the present contract, authorized Jan. 15, 1907, and March 2, 1907, the formula as to the quality of the paper was changed to a slightly lower grade, a small proportion of the sulphite being used with the rag, which does not affect the weight or strength. Under the specifications of the former contract the Hartford Manufacturing company was called upon to supply rag paper. During the last few months of its contract the Hartford Manufacturing company furnished envelopes up to the contract requirements.

Disaster In Steel Plant

Butler, Pa., Oct. 7.—An explosion caused by the upsetting of a metal pot of the Standard Steel company caused the death of four men, fatally injured 20 and seriously injured 10 others. The large wheel plant was demolished, causing a loss estimated at $100,000. The condition of the 30 men injured is pitiable. Although still alive, the features of a majority are mutilated beyond recognition.

Record For Kite-Flying

Washington, Oct. 7.—The highest altitude ever reached by a kite in this country, according to Professor Henry of the weather bureau, was that recorded at the Mount Weather station in Virginia, when an altitude of slightly over 23,000 feet was attained. At that height a temperature of 5 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, was recorded.

Duelists Were Poor Shots

Paris, Oct. 7.—Count De Rozans and Marquis De Sardelys fought a duel in the Bois de Boulogne as the result of a private quarrel. After exchanging two shots with pistols without any effect, the duel was resumed with swords and the count sustained a slight wound in the right arm, which caused the seconds to separate the combatants.

Germs May Generate Rabies

Washington, Oct. 7.—Experiments have just been completed by savants of the department of agriculture to determine the contention that hydrophobia was an imaginary disease purely. The conclusion reached is that rabies is a real disease which may be generated by germs.

Mob Lynched Negro Murderer

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 7.—William Burns, a negro desperado, who shot Policeman Burns, inflicting a wound from which the officer died, was taken from jail by a mob and shot and kicked to death.

NORFOLK, ss. PROBATE COURT.

TO the heirs-at-law, next-of-kin, creditors and all other persons interested in the estate of late of Quincy, (Atlantic,) in said County, deceased, intestate.

STEPHEN BARTLETT BURCH,

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court to grant a letter of administration on the estate of said deceased, to John S. Burch of said Quincy, (Atlantic,) without giving a surety on his bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the ninth day of October, A. D. 1907, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And the petitioner is hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in said Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-fourth day of September, A. D. 1907.

ABBE KLEIN'S VIEWS

Met With Surprises In Extensive Tour of the West

ANTI-JAPANESE SENTIMENT

Much More Pronounced In Canada Than In United States--Idea of War Scouted--Marvels In Nature Exceed In Grandeur Wonders of Europe

New York, Oct. 7.—Abbe Felix Klein, one of the prominent members of the clerical element in France, who is making a study of American social and economic conditions, has returned from an extensive tour of the west. Speaking of his observations, Klein said:

"I was much impressed while on the Pacific coast with the anti-Japanese feeling existing at Vancouver and throughout British Columbia, which is far more intense than the feeling on the American side of the border. At San Francisco, the anti-Japanese element is comparatively small and one hears little of active agitation against the Japanese.

On the other hand, I visited Vancouver shortly after the anti-Japanese riots, meeting the Japanese consul and going through the Japanese quarter. Everywhere there was evidence of intense hostility. It was not a question of labor, but of race. The people have taken up the shiboleth of 'Canada for the Canadians' and they feel that the exclusion of the yellow race is essential for their self-preservation. They are very determined in this feeling and are pressing their view forcibly on the authorities at Ottawa and London.

"Before coming to America I shared the view of a considerable element in France and throughout Europe that the Japanese question might lead the United States into war. But personal investigation has completely changed my views. The people of the west are not thinking of such a thing, and scout the very idea of war. Even in San Francisco, which I supposed in Europe to be the center of anti-Japanese hostility, there was much less feeling than I found to exist in the British colonies to the north. It is quite evident also, in witnessing the splendid development of the Pacific coast, that a war would be little short of criminal, alike disastrous, to Japan and the United States, neither of whom have anything to gain by such a recourse to barbarism.

"This Canadian branch of the Japanese question is really of much importance to the United States, as Japan can hardly expect more from the United States than she exacts of Canada, where the opposition to the Japanese is far more acute. Moreover, British public opinion can well afford to moderate its views on San Francisco's opposition to the Japanese, since a British colony is showing greater animosity to the Japanese than any of the states on the American side of the border."

Abbe Klein extended his southern trip to the petrified forests of Arizona and the Grand Canyon. He describes the latter as the greatest marvel in nature, exceeding in grandeur the nature wonders of Europe, Asia or Africa. He also visited the Apache Indians. The word "Apache" has been adopted in Paris as the name of the hoodlum class.

"I was obliged to apologize to the Indians," said Klein, "as I found them far less savage than their namesakes in Paris. The Apaches are attending schools where practical farming and housekeeping is taught, and they are highly self-respecting and intelligent people."

Speaking of the people in the west, Klein said that he was struck by the fact that they look upon the east as a sort of foreign country, much as the people of the Atlantic states look upon Europe. They are making great strides forward, particularly in the region about Puget sound, which, in the judgment of this foreign observer, is to be a field of America's greatest future development.

Abbe Klein goes to Boston today, where he will deliver a course of lectures on the church crisis in France. These will be published later. His present tour of America will be the basis for a volume on the future development of the United States.

Too Many Asiatics Coming

Washington, Oct. 7.—Immigration of Japanese into America is increasing at so alarming a rate that it has been determined by the government to adopt extraordinary measures to prevent the introduction into the United States, not only of Japanese, but of other Asiatic coolie laborers. One result of the trip of Secretary Straus along the Canadian border and the Pacific coast has been an order increasing the force of immigration inspectors along the Canadian border, with a view to controlling, if possible, the flood of Asiatic immigration into America.

For many months the government has had immigration inspectors in Mexico and Canada making investigations respecting the coming to America of Asiatic laborers, especially Japanese. In practically every instance the inspectors have reported that the Japanese who reach Mexico or Canada from Hawaii are bound for the United States. Inquiries in the Hawaiian islands have revealed organizations whose business it is to procure Japanese laborers for work in the United States.

LEAGUE PENNANT WINNERS

Detroit and Chicago Will Battle For World's Championship

Chicago, Oct. 7.—The National baseball commission met here and completed arrangements for the world's championship series between the Detroit team, winner of the American league pennant, and the Chicago team, winner of the National league pennant. The series will open in Chicago on Oct. 8. Two games will be played here. On Thursday, Friday and Saturday the games will be played in Detroit. The final standing of the leagues follows:

National League

To Buy Newfoundland's Fish

Washington, Oct. 7.—The state department has received word from Professor Alexander, who is in Newfoundland waters looking after the interests of American fishermen, that the modus vivendi recently concluded is now working well. Negotiations are on between the American fishing captains and the Newfoundland authorities, the basis of which is the purchase outright by the Americans of the fish caught by the Newfoundlanders.

As to Royal Arcanum Rates

New York, Oct. 7.—The legality of the action of the supreme officers of the Royal Arcanum in rearranging the insurance assessments of the order was upheld in a decision in the appellate division of the supreme court in Brooklyn. A member of the order obtained an injunction preventing the supreme officers from putting the new insurance rates in force. This injunction is, by the decision of the appellate court, dissolved.

Fresh Outburst Against Jews

Odessa, Oct. 7.—The Unionites yesterday, after the funeral of M. Dalfinski, assistant chief of the secret police, who was killed during an attempt to break up an anarchist meeting, renewed their anti-Semitic outrages. Jewish tea-rooms were ransacked and a number of Jews were brutally beaten, it being necessary to send 18 to hospitals. The police dispersed the mob, but made no arrests.

Engine and Cars Demolished

Rocky Mountain, N. C., Oct. 7.—A passenger train ran into an open switch and collided with a yard engine at South Rocky Mountain, and Engineer Boney of the passenger train was instantly killed. Although many passengers were thrown from their berths, not one suffered injury. Both engines were completely demolished, as also were the mail, express and baggage cars.

Child Mutilated and Killed

Camden, N. J., Oct. 7.—Hidden under a heap of rubbish in a swamp on the outskirts of this city, the body of Mary Marx, aged 9 years, was found by searchers. The body was badly mutilated and showed evidence that the child had been cruelly maltreated before death. The police arrested Joseph Wood, aged 16, on suspicion of knowing something about the crime.

Killed by Three-Story Fall

New York, Oct. 7.—John Marks, president of the Marmac Construction company, was killed by falling from a scaffold which was attached to the third floor of a 12-story building which the company is constructing here. Marks was taking measurements with the superintendent when he stepped back too far and fell.

Death Rate Increased by Flies

London, Oct. 7.—The remarkably high death rate in Liverpool recently is attributed by the health committee of that city to the large number of flies which made their appearance during the warm weather.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The body of Ernest H. Dugan, aged 38, son of Captain Dugan of the Boston police headquarters, was found by a trackwalker on the tracks near the Boylston station, Boston. It is believed that Dugan accidentally fell from a train and was killed by the fall.

Daniel Igo of Boston, aged 40, was found unconscious, with injuries about the head, near the railroad station at Clinton, Mass., dying shortly afterward. It is supposed that he was struck by the steps of a passenger car while he was sitting beside the railroad track.

The cruiser Prairie has arrived at Newport, R. I., to take drafts of apprentice seamen for the battleships now at the League Island navy yard.

As the result of the capsizing of a small tender in Boston harbor, Albert Carrea, aged 16, was drowned.

Henry C. Barnabee, the veteran actor, was struck by a trolley car at New York and seriously injured.

The coming of the first German immigrants to this country was celebrated by a large gathering of German residents at Boston under the auspices of the Boston branch of the National German Alliance.

THIS IS HOSPITAL WEEK

AND THIS IS WHERE YOU COME IN.

During the first few days of this week a small army of polite and enthusiastic collectors will swarm over the city, sowing seed for a bountiful harvest which they hope to gather two or three days afterwards !

They will carry little account books for keeping strict tabs on themselves and other people ; they will scatter beautifully printed literature in your homes, so that you may read convincing testimony as to the indispensable usefulness as well as the crying needs of Our Hospital ; and lastly they will distribute strong little envelopes, made to stand the strain of any number of bills and coins which may be stuffed into them !

After two or three days' interval to let the effects of the literature soak into your minds, the same collectors, more polite than ever, will call for the envelopes and their contents, whether bulging or otherwise. The collectors do their work cheerfully without pay, for the good of the cause, and contributors are asked to lighten their labors as much as possible by having their envelopes ready promptly. Perhaps in many cases there might be an agreement at the first call as to the most convenient time for the second visit.

Please write names and amounts plainly on the envelopes (ink preferred) bearing in mind the Treasurer's task of reading and copying some thousands of these envelopes.

Do not seal the the envelopes unless the money is actually spilling out of them !

And that will be about all.

The Committee hopes that everybody will take a keen interest in this canvass and look sharp for the final returns when they are published.

Please Support OUR HOSPITAL lovally.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

The great bake is coming all right.

The High school foot ball team will play at Medford tomorrow.

The deposits in the Quincy Savings bank now amount to $3,962,385.94.

The first number of the Citizens Association Bulletin will be issued this week.

A beautiful grey squirrel was seen Sunday on the grounds of the public library.

Mrs. B. M. McLeod of Arlington street is enjoying a weeks visit at Andover.

Thomas Elcock won second prize on Saturday in the 440 yard run at the Brockton fair.

Miss Edna Wood of Wellesley college spent Sunday with her parents at their home on Upland road.

The White whist club will give a whist party in Electa hall, Johnson's building on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Malcolm Rich and son of Gloucester were the guest of relatives in this city over Sunday.

The water receipts of 1907, to Oct 1, amounted to $97,560.97 against $94,332.88 to Oct 1, 1906. The total for the year 1906 was $103,781.24.

The Ladies' Circle of Bethany church will open the season on Wednesday afternoon with a meeting at the residence of Mrs. Theophilus King on Adams street.

R. R. Freeman was the winner of the Wollaston open tournament last week. Three extra holes were required in the finals with Harold Farrington.

The Registrars of Voters added 23 names to the voting lists at their meeting in Ward Two last week, 16 in precinct one, and 7 in precinct two.

George Elcock is cutting about 1000 blossoms a day from his dahlia garden, but none seems to be missed. On Saturday he found time to bag another fox near the Braintree line.

The first social meeting of the Tri Phi club composed of nine young ladies of Wollaston, Park and Downs, will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. Winslow on Beach street.

Charles Flannigan, who assaulted James Atchinson with a knife at the boarding house at 33 Winter street last week, was sentenced to six months in the house of correction by Judge Avery in the district court this morning.

Some of the Quincy delegates who went to the Democratic State Convention at Springfield were not even permitted to walk in turn around and walk right out; they could not get in at all; that is to the Bartlett convention.

A young lady tried to board a train, at the Quincy depot this morning after it had started. She lost her balance and would have fallen beneath the car but for the promptness of two carriage drivers who caught hold of her and pulled her out of harm's way.

Wednesday night the apprentice boys of the Fore River will be entertained in the club rooms of the Y. M. C. A. by a committee of the Employed Boys' department, consisting of Albion Bonney, Harold McDowell and Linwood Littlefield. Vaudeville, music, refreshments and inspection of building are on the program.

Representative Eugene C. Hultman is the speaker at the opening meeting of the Men's club of Christ church tonight. Representative Hultman's subject is the so-called Public Opinion bill. While the bill was under discussion in the legislature, Representative Hultman was one of its strongest supporters. He is therefore thoroughly conversant with every phase of the bill, and in a position to explain it in a clear and concise manner.

Opening Reception To Y. M. C. A. Juniors

Saturday night the Juniors and their boy friends were entertained at the Y. M. C. A. by a committee of older boys. Lee Brooks had charge of the registration, Harold Marsh of the refreshments, Everett Rhodes of the entertainment, Brewster Walker of the reception and Bruce Saville of the basket-ball game in the gymnasium. they were assisted by Charles Hull, Carl Marsh, Harold Leathers and Charles Hearn.

One hundred boys were present. After witnessing an exciting game of basket-ball between two advance junior teams, Prof. Ray Newton, the magician, gave an excellent entertainment in the auditorium. The feature of the evening was his escape from a straight jacket. Many of the boys were not members but promise to "boost" during "Booster week" by joining.

On Saturday the Boys' Work director, Mr. Goodhue, will give a stereopticon talk on the land of Palestine and Syria. This is Bible class rally night.

Mad Dog Makes Things Lively

shepperd dog, evidently suffering from the rabbles, made things lively for a time Sunday morning at Squantum.

The animal first made his appearance near the Moon island gate house. He was frothing at the mouth and snapping at everything that came his way. He made a rush for Thomas Monahan, who took refuge behind a boulder, from which position he threw a block of wood at the dog.

At that time Christopher Baker came along and the dog turned his attention to him. Baker lost no time in climbing a telephone pole where he held on while the dog stood barking and snapping beneath him.

The dog then started toward Atlantic where it met another dog and after a short but lively fight the mad dog continued on his way.

On Atlantic street he encountered another dog and there was another fight. The mad dog broke away and ran down Hancock street toward Neponset. Someone on Neponset bridge raised the cry "mad dog," and the crowd made a rush for places of safety. After the dog had passed into Neponset an Officer of Station 11 put him out of misery with a shot from a revolver.

TODAY'S COURT.

Paul Revere W. R. C. will hold a whist party in G. A. R. hall tomorrow afternoon. In the evening at its regular meeting the corps will have an inspection of its work and its officers. A collation will be served.

Engineers to Visit The Shipyard

The Providence (R. I.) Association of Mechanical Engineers is to visit the yard on Wednesday. About 50 are expected in the party. They will leave Providence at 11.07 A. M., and after luncheon in Boston, will take the 1.24 train for Quincy. President John A. Gledhill, of the association; E. C. Bliss, chairman, publication committee; and Luther D. Burlingame, chairman, lecture committee, have the arrangements in charge. The afternoon will be spent in going over the yard and men will be detailed from the Fore River staff to act as guides.

Louis French, mail boy in the main office, found one of the tickets to New York in the hunt in the Quincy woods on Saturday in the quest arranged by the street railway company.

Steam has been made in the donky boilers of the collier "Everett," and the dock test of the propelling engine will take place in a few days.

The steamship H. F. Dimock, now at the yard, has, in more than 20 years of service, made 1099 round trips between Boston and New York.

The P. B. O. D. at the Fore River are much pleased with the extended and excellent report which the Daily Ledger gave of the annual smoker at the Greenleaf. The smoker will be the talk of the men for many a day.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

A Veto From The Mayor Letter From An Applicant

A regular meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening. Councilmen Curtin, Falconer, Ferguson, McKinnon and Deacon were absent

THE WHITE PLAGUE.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Board of Health relative to a new law in regard to caring for persons afflicted with contagious diseases which obliges the Board of Health to support such if they are not able to support themselves. In other words they cannot be made paupers.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Stone offered an order appropriating $800 for the Board of Health miscellaneous account. Referred to Committee on Finance.

MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTING.

The Mayor forwarded a communication relative to a uniform system of keeping municipal accounts and recommending that a special committee be appointed to consider the same.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Polk offered an order for a special committee of five to include the President to consider the same. Voted.

The President appointed as that committee President Piper and Councilmen Polk, Curtis, Donovan, Sawyer.

TROLLEY FREIGHT.

The Mayor forwarded a communication from the Railroad Commissioners giving notice of a public hearing Oct. 11, on the petition of the Old Colony Street Railway for approval of its operating a trolley freight on Randolph avenue.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Hobbs offered an order that the Mayor and City Solicitor be requested to attend the hearing and protect the city's rights. Adopted.

EXPRESS LICENSES.

A communication was received from Amos DiVitio giving his reasons for asking that he be granted a permit to transport liquor. Placed on file. The letter would fill a column of the Daily Ledger and as it gives away many of the secrets of the liquor traffic, it will be published in full on Wednesday.

A communication was received from the Mayor returning without his approval the order granting James Flannigan a permit to transport liquor.

The veto was as follows:

Mayor's Office Oct. 3, 1907.

Mr. Walter E. Piper, President City Council:

"I hereby return without my approval order No. 260. This is an order granting a permit to transport liquor. My objections are general and impersonal to the grantee, as I believe he would fully comply with the statue if granted the same. The preponderance of the no-license sentiment in this city, forcibly expressed upon all occasions in the past twenty-five years when given opportunity, demends its representatives shall give heed and govern their actions in accordance with that sentiment. As a number of permits already granted in public opinion are numerous enough now, I believe it is time to call a halt, and there fore return this order without my approval."

Upon motion of Councilman Donovan the veto was laid on the table.

A communication was received from the Mayor appointing Oscar Djerf as a weigher of hay and grain. Confirmed.

HOLIDAYS FOR FIREMEN.

A petition was received from the permanent firemen asking that the fire department ordinance be amended so as to provide that all permanent men shall be given one day's leave of absence at the end of every seven days instead of at the end of every ninth day.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Stone offered an order amending the Ordinance so as to give the pernament firemen one day off at the end of every seventh day. Referred to Committee on Fire Department

The New England Telephone Co. petitioned for attachments on Buckley and Garfield streets. Referred to Committee on Streets.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Finance reported an order transferring $100 from the Excess and Deficiency Fund to the appropriation for the assessors department. Adopted.

The Committee on Finance reported reference to the Executive department on the claim of Albert Keating for storing High school furniture. Adopted.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported ought not to pass on order 233 of 1906 for a skating pond in Ward Four. Accepted.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported ought not to pass on order 186 appropriating $500 for painting and repairing the Lincoln school. Accepted.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported an order authorizing the Mayor to accept a deed of gift from the Manet Land Associates conveying a parcel of land on Centre road to the city for a public playground. Adopted.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported ought not to pass on the order for a skating pond at Ward Six.

Councilman Hobbs asked the reason.

Councilman Gelotte. The Commissioner says that the only way to make a skating pond would be to build a dam about the ground and that the appropriation would not be sufficient.

Councilman Hobbs moved the order be recommitted.

Motion lost 5 voting yes and 9 no. The recommendation was then adopted.

PUBLIC HEARINGS.

Public hearings were held as follows:

On the acceptance of Cushing street.

On the acceptance of Wayland street.

On the acceptance of a part of Glendale road.

On the acceptance of Hunt street.

Granting the New England Telephone Co. a location for poles on Quarry street.

The orders were then recommitted to the Committee on Streets.

NEW ORDERS.

Councilman Sawyer offered an order for two incandescent lights on Squantum street, between Huckins avenue and Ocean street. Referred to Executive department.

Councilman Sawyer offered an order to accept Ocean street as a public way of the city. Referred to the Committee on Streets.

Councilman Curtis offered an order designating the polling places for the caucuses of Nov. 12. Adopted.

CODDINGTON REPORT

Not Received At Meeting Last Night of City Council

Councilman Hobbs offered an order for the Commissioner to place signs on Hollis avenue and on Oak street. Adopted.

BUILDING ORDINANCE.

Councilman Stone offered amendments to the Building ordinance which were referred to the Committee on Ordinances.

The ordinance, as amended, adds the words in capitals in the following section:

Section 6—No wooden or frame building, except dwelling houses and private stables, shall be hereafter built within the limits of District No. 1. NO DWELLING HOUSE SHALL BE HEREAFTER BUILT WITHIN THE LIMITS OF DISTRICT NO. 2, WITHOUT FOUNDATION WALLS. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from without said limits into the same. No person shall move or cause to be moved any wooden building from one place to another within said limits, nor shall any person repair or rebuild any building within said limits, which has been partially destroyed by fire or otherwise, NOR ADD TO ANY SUCH BUILDING, without the written permit of the Inspector of Buildings.

SUNDAY TRAINS.

Councilman Donovan moved and it was voted that a committee of three be appointed and the Mayor and City Solicitor be requested, to confer with the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. relative to more Sunday trains to Boston and improved conditions at the Quincy depot.

The President appointed as that committee Councilmen Donovan, Hayward and Hull.

THE CODDINGTON.

Councilman Stone moved that the Committee on Public Buildings report on the new Coddington school at the next meeting. Voted.

ORDERS PASSED.

The following orders took their second reading and were passed under suspension of the rules:—

Granting the New England Telephone Co. locations on Sea and Adams streets.

Revoking location of pole on South street of the Electric Light Co. and granting a new location.

Granting the New England Telephone attachments on Edwin street.

Councilman Sawyer objected to granting the Telephone Co. any more locations until they gave the city a five cent toll rate all over the city. He considered the present charge of ten cents especially for some Atlantic customers as unfair. He moved to lay on the table. Voted.

Later Councilman Hobbs moved to take from the table. He said that this line was practically in and to refuse the attachment meant the cutting off police protection for two ladies. It was a small matter and did not amount to anything.

Councilman Pinkham thought nothing would be lost by letting the order remain on the table. Then the matter could be brought to the attention of the Highway Commission. Telephone would not be taken out.

Under the circumstances Councilman Sawyer would not object to the passage of the order.

Councilman Donovan saw nothing to be gained by leaving the order on the table.

The motion to take from the table prevailed. The order was then passed, Councilman Brokaw and Hull voting in the negative.

Adjourned at 8.44 until Oct. 21.

Granite Shed Razed by Gale

The high wind Monday night and this morning did a great deal of damage in Quincy especially to fruit trees which were stripped of their fruit that was about ready to be picked.

Quite a number of trees were uprooted and ruined. One large elm in the Thomas Crane public library was blown down, and the streets are full of broken branches.

Some damage was done to the overhead wires, but as they were in good shape but little attenion was needed. There was a cross on the fire alarm wires early this morning, and there was some temporary trouble on the day circuit of the Electric Light Co. One of the street railway feed wires in Braintree was also blown down.

At Wollaston beach it was said that the storm was off shore and that no damage was done.

At Houghs Neck it was reported that no damage was done to the yachts. The fence on the steamboat wharf was blown down, however.

At Adams shore the high wind caught one of O'Keefe's grocery wagons and overturned it. The team was smashed some but the horse was captured before any great damage could be done.

THE GREATEST LOSS

During the gale about 8 o'clock this morning the stone shed of Bishop & LaCount on Brooks avenue, near the Lincoln school was blown down. No one was injured and no stones damaged, but the firm estimate their loss at $400 to $500.

The Norfolk Civil Court

The October civil session of the Norfolk superior Court, with juries, opened at Dedham on Monday morning, his Honor Judge Schofield presiding. After the jurors had been sworn in and the list for the day called, it was found that there was no case in which the attornies on both sides were ready for trial, and court was adjourned till this morning.

The following gentlemen from Quincy will serve as jurors during the term: Henry L. Estabrook, Daniel Pope, A. Lincoln Turner.

The case of the Unitarian church against the city is not on the list and may therefore not be tried during the life of the present city administration.

The action of Belle McBeth against Malcolm Cummings to recover damages for an alleged breach of promise to marry is on the trial list.

The action of E. L. Beal against the Old Colony Street Railway Co. to recover damages for the death of his child is on the list. It will be remembered that at a former trial of this case the presiding judge took the case from the jury and ordered a verdict for the defendant. On appeal to the Supreme court this was held to be an unwarranted ruling, and the case was sent back to be tried anew.

The present term will last twelve weeks, ending December 27.

PUBLIC OPINION

Representative E. C. Hultman Would Allow Voters to Instruct

The parish house of Christ church was filled with men on Monday evening to attend the opening meeting of the Men's club, and to listen to an address by Representative Eugene Hultman on the "Public Opinion Bill."

President James Smith was in the chair, and after the formal opening of the meeting reports were received from H. G. Johnson, chairman of the refreshment committee; C. M. Chase, chairman of the recognition committee; and Archibald Macleod, chairman of the debate committee.

Mr. Hultman was then introduced by the president and enthusiastically received. He did not discuss the details of the bill of 1907 as he had a better one to offer, but said in part:

"Our country's wealth has more than doubled in forty years and with that increase has arisen necessarily institutions and methods of doing business never contemplated by our forefathers in their wildest flights of fancy. Aggregations of capital have been brought about by necessary consolidations, combinations and trusts so powerful that they threaten the very foundations of our government.

"Now the people are awaking to these conditions and demanding that the government be made strong enough to cope with these great corporations and trusts, and through that great leader of the people Theodore Roosevelt they are demanding that these creatures of theirs be made their servants, and to cease being their masters.

"Under these conditions certain people in this state realizing the tremendous influence that those in control of these great masses of capital could exert in shaping legislation decided that they should be allowed to exercise that constitutional right guaranteed to them in the bill of rights in Section XIX, which says in part: "The people have the right in an orderly and peaceable manner to assemble to consult upon the common good; and give instructions to their representatives."

After the address there was an informal discussion and many questions asked of the Representative.

The entertainment, in charge of Mr. Robert D. Smith consisted of musical selections from an orchestra of six pieces and songs and readings.

Refreshments were served by Henry Furnald.

A large number of men entered their names as members, and the year promises to be the most successful in the history of the club.

The Louisville and Nashville Awarded Contract For Oil

A SUBSIDIARY OF STANDARD

Contracts With New York Company Were Not Renewed, Although Railroad Company Would Have Saved $30,000 a Year Thereby

New York, Oct. 8.—Testimony that railroads purchased their lubricating oils from the Standard Oil company at prices that were higher than those of its competitors was heard yesterday in the federal suit for the dissolution of the so-called oil trust.

Philip Harrison, manager of the New York Lubricating Oil company, which has engaged in a long strife with the Standard in the lubricating oil industry, was on the witness stand all day and testified that, though the products of his company had proven satisfactory to the railroads and were sold at prices under the Standard's figures, the railroads declined to renew their contracts with the New York Lubricating Oil company.

Mr. Harrison said he was never openly told by the railroad officials why the contracts were not entered into again, but he had a well defined idea of the cause. The New York Lubricating Oil company entered into a contract in 1903 to supply the Louisville and Nashville railroad for a period of two years, said Harrison, and six months before the contract expired President Smith of the railroad informed the oil company that it need not endeavor to obtain a renewal of the contract.

Mr. Harrison testified that he had informed Smith that if he was permitted to bid for the business he was prepared to reduce the price of engine oil from the current contract price. Notwithstanding the fact that Smith had praised the quality of the oil and that it was offered at a lower price than that asked by the Standard, Harrison said, the Louisville and Nashville entered into a contract with the Galena Signal Oil company, a subsidiary of the oil combine.

Mr. Kellogg, counsel for the government, showed the witness the contract entered into between the Louisville and Nashville and the Galena company after the railroad's contract with the New York Lubricating company had expired and Harrison said that the figures showed that the railroad paid $30,000 a year more for its oil to the Standard than it would have paid under a contract with the New York company.

Mr. Harrison testified that the Central Railroad of Georgia had purchased its oil from his company and that it had been found satisfactory. The Standard obtained the business, the witness said, notwithstanding the fact that the oil combine charged a higher price than the New York Lubricating Oil company.

Mr. Harrison's testimony was illuminated by several exchanges between the witness and counsel. Mr. Rosenthal, one of counsel for the defendants, asked Harrison if his attorney had not informed him that the contracts entered into between the Standard and the steamship companies engaged in trade to Africa were of a private nature and that the bureau of corporations under the law had no authority to inquire into corporation business of that character.

Mr. Kellogg declared that counsel had no right to ask such a question, and added: "I will tell you that there is such a law and you will find it out if you look long enough."

Violation of Sunday Law

New York, Oct. 8.—While Maggie Cline's rendition of "Throw Him Down, McCluskey" does not violate the law which prohibits stage entertainments on Sunday, the appearance of trick bicyclists and trained elephants is a clear violation of the law in the opinion of the referee appointed to hear the evidence in the application of the city for the revocation of the license of Olympia Music hall.

"Monstrous Piece of Coercion"

St. Johns, Oct. 8.—Rev. Michael Howley, Roman Catholic archbishop of Newfoundland, in an address at a church festival at Portugal Cove, condemned the recent rescript issued by the British cabinet suspending the Newfoundland laws governing the herring fisheries as "a monstrous piece of coercion." He deplored the public apathy regarding the matter which seemed to exist.

To Consider Prize Fund

Washington, Oct. 8.—Secretary Straus has issued a call for a meeting of the trustees of "the foundation for the promotion of industrial peace," the Nobel prize fund given by President Roosevelt, to be held in this city on Nov. 8 next to prepare plans, perfect an organization and formulate regulations to govern the existence of the foundation.

Steamer Faces Big Bluff

Parrsboro, N. S., Oct. 8.—The Norwegian steamer Volund is hard and fast on the rocks at Blomidon. Divers are patching up the holes with timbers and cement from the inside. The steamer is very badly damaged. The steamer's bow is almost against a bluff 160 feet high.

12,000 MILES BY WIRELESS

Marconi Station In Nova Scotia Picks Up Message From Manila

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 8.—While Marconi experts were testing new receiving cones at the top of the towers at the station at Morien, the operator below picked up the wireless station at Manila, South Pacific. The message received was that the American cruiser Philadelphia had arrived there safe. The Marconi people explain the strange happening on the ground that the cone at Morien must have been in perfect tune with that at Manila.

The message from Manila was "picked up" while being sent to some other station in the Pacific or to a war vessel. The message was recorded at the time by an operator in the regular receiving room at the Marconi station.

At the time the experts were experimenting in an effort to receive messages sent from Ireland. They received several messages from the Irish station, and were in the act of making further tests when the instruments recorded the arrival of the Philadelphia at Manila.

The Marconi people say that no mistake was made and that the message was undoubtedly sent by the Manila station, which is about 12,000 miles distant, and that experiments with the station in the east will shortly be attempted.

Rare Fossils From Egypt

New York, Oct. 8.—The American Museum of Natural History has received from Egypt 27 cases of rare fossils, about 600 specimns in all, comprising forms new to science, exceedingly valuable fossils of the ancestral elephant and of an extraordinary beast, the arsinoetherium, which is not closely related to any living form or any extinct group. These are the product of an expedition financed by Morris K. Jesup.

Popular Authoress Dead

Rochester, Oct. 8.—Mrs. Mary Jane Holmes, the authoress, died at her home in Brockport, in her 79th year. She was born at Brookfield, Mass., on the farm of her father, Preston Hawes. Her first article was written and published when she was 15. The statement has been published that Mrs. Holmes, next to E. P. Roe, was the most popular of American authors.

Giving Leopold Full Control

Brussels, Oct. 8.—The parliamentary commission on the Congo Independent state accepted article 9 of the colonial bill, which provides that the Congo budget shall be drawn by King Leopold alone, without consultation with or submission to the chamber. Should parliament ratify this action, Belgium will be without direct control in the finances of her own colony.

Woman Found Dead on Rails

New York, Oct. 8.—The police are investigating the case of a young woman whose body was found lying near the railroad tracks at One Hundred and Eighteenth street, in the belief that she may have been murdered and the body thrown over the embankment. At that point the embankment falls sheer for 35 feet from Riverside park to the railroad tracks.

No-License Gains In Connecticut

New Haven, Oct. 8.—Democrats yesterday swept the cities of Waterbury and New Haven and they won the mayoralty in South Norwalk, while the Rpublicans won an administration aldermanic ticket in New London and the mayoralty in Norwalk. In the state at large the no-license advocates won a number of towns from the license column.

To Cut Off Extremists

Paris, Oct. 8.—The repudiation by the Republican majority in the chamber of deputies of the pernicious anti-military propaganda conducted by the extreme Socialists is now regarded as complete. There is little doubt that a complete separation of the two parties will be decreed at the coming radical congress.

No War In Central America

Washington, Oct. 8.—Assistant Secretary of State Adee characterizes as "an absurd canard" the report from San Francisco that Honduran land forces have captured the port of Acajutlan, after a battle with the army of Salvador. Adee says that Honduras and Salvador are on friendly terms.

Trod on Grass and Was Slain

Brooklyn, Oct. 8.—When Policeman Shuttleworth was arraigned in court, charged with shooting and killing Isaac Jaffe, 23 years old, witnesses appeared to swear that Shuttleworth had killed Jaffe because he dared walk on the grass in Saratoga park, and after he was clubbed tried to run away.

Rebels Beaten by Peruvians

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Oct. 8.—A large band of Ecuadorian rebels has been defeated by a detachment of Peruvian police near the city of Piura, Peru. The rebels had planned to invade Ecuador, expecting heavy reinforcements after they had crossed the frontier.

Convicts Killed by Guards

Tobolsk, Siberia, Oct. 8.—A gang of convicts who were being escorted here from Tyumen, Eastern Siberia, attacked their guards and wounded six of them. The guards fired on the convicts, 22 of whom were killed. Eleven of the prisoners escaped.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Oct. 9.
Sun rises—5:50; sets—5:14.
Moon sets—6:52 p. m.
High water—12:15 a. m.; 12:30 p. m.
There will be rain in New England; colder in northwest portion.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

SLEEPLESSNESS.

MRS. GEO. WEISEL.

Do you know what makes people lay awake and toss and roll about at night? Doctors tell you there are various causes. I tell you it's stomach trouble. I know it because I've seen thousands of cases and watched them.

A stomach that is over-crowded with undigested, decaying food matter effects every organ of the human body. It causes nervousness, headaches, constipation, impure blood, poor circulation and dulls the mind. It makes one restless and uneasy. When your stomach is working right you feel right. You sleep well and you eat well.

People come to me day after day and tell me they can't rest after eating. They have a dull headache. At night they go to bed simply because they are exhausted. They catch a few cat naps and get up in the morning feeling as worn out as they did before.

I have recommended Cooper's New Discovery, a regular diet, regular habits and invariably these same people come to me afterwards and tell me they feel much better because they eat well and sleep well.

Herewith is a sample.

A letter I received from Mrs. Geo. Weisel, 1121 Providence Road, Scranton, Pa., says:

"I suffered for three years from stomach trouble, inactive liver and rheumatism. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I lay awake night after night. I had no pleasure in life and could scarcely do my work about the house. I heard from a neighbor of Cooper's New Discovery and I bought two bottles of it. It helped me right away. Now I have a good appetite and never suffer from indigestion. I sleep well and awake refreshed. I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart for what this medicine has done for me."

The Cooper medicines have a larger sale than any medicine on the market. Our customers speak highly of them.

BY GOOD MAJORITY

Peace Delegates Adopt Project For Obligatory Arbitration

A VICTORY FOR AMERICA

Strong Pressure From Germany to Thwart Proposition Has Little Effect--Austro-Hungarian Gets a Lecture From an American Delegate

The Hague, Oct. 8.—The approval at last evening's session of the committee on arbitration of the Anglo-American project for obligatory arbitration, referred to during the course of the debates as the permanent international high court of justice, the court of arbitral justice, obligatory arbitration and universal arbitration, is regarded as a great victory, especially for the United States. The first proposition on this subject was presented to the conference on July 8 by the American delegation, and Joseph H. Choate has labored unceasingly and determinedly for its acceptance.

The project was approved with a majority greater than was hoped for. It is essentially American, and its basis, the enunciation of the idea of compulsory arbitration, was taken bodily from the American proposition. The vote, 31 ayes to 9 noes, the countries in opposition being Germany, Austria-Hungary, Switzerland, Belgium, Roumania, Greece, Turkey, Bulgaria, and Montenegro, proved that, as M. Renault (France) said in the discussion, "arbitration is not a strange beast that must be muzzled."

Another great success for America was the unanimity with which all the countries of the American continent stood firmly at the side of the United States, thus putting an end to the impression of lack of harmony between the governments of the Western Hemisphere created by reports of recent dissensions.

The compactness of Latin-America was more noticeable, insomuch as it is known that Germany exercised strong pressure to get support from some South American countries. All the combined efforts from Berlin on the different governments at their capitals and from Baron Von Pieberstein, the head of the German delegation, on the delegates here, had only one effect, that of inducing Austria-Hungary to vote against the measure. Germany succeeded also in inducing Italy to abstain from voting, but the triple alliance sufficiently explains this.

But outside of the triple alliance Germany made headway only because she does not accept General Porter's proposition regarding the collection of contractual debts, which is a matter connected with the project of obligatory arbitration. Thus Switzerland, a country which cannot bombard the ports of any American debtor country, is the only power which refuses to adhere to the new doctrine forbidding the employment of force for the collection of private pecuniary debts.

During the afternoon sitting of the committee Herr Kapos-Mere (Austria-Hungary) caused an incident by again raising the question that it was useless to conclude treaties with the United States, as the American senate might refuse to ratify them, but he received from James B. Scott of the American delegation such a lesson that he will remember it for a long time.

The Austro-Hungarian delegate declared that, contrary to Renault's assertion at the sitting of last Saturday, the conditions in the United States in the matter of arranging treaties was not analogous to those in any other state.

"It is not a question of good faith, which is under discussion," said Von Kapos-Mere, "but the government of the United States, after concluding a treaty with Austria-Hungary in 1904, did not ratify it, explaining that the American senate had imposed a condition that ratification would compromise, namely, a special agreement to be submitted to the senate. This is an obstacle against which not only the peace conference but even the American government is powerless."

Mr. Scott then arose and said with much irony: "I am touched at the lesson on American internal constitutional law which the delegate from Austria-Hungary has given me. The question of ratification and compromise belongs solely to the internal constitutional law of the United States. It is different to international law, whether the compromise be by sovereigns or by legislative bodies or by both. A foreign government looks not to the process, but to the completed act, and it has no right to discuss or examine the internal means by which the act is concluded. It is the result, not the process, which is important."

After further discussing the matter Mr. Scott declared that the policy of the United States is not a subject for duscussion at an international conference.

Buying Foreign-Made Torpedoes

Washington, Oct. 8.—It has developed that the ordnance department of the navy has an agent in Europe, sent there to purchase a number of Whitehead torpedoes. This recourse to foreign manufacture was necessary because the department was unable to secure enough in the United States to properly equip the torpedo boats with this class of armament.

Ralston Health Shoes

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it!

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

WHITNEY MEN FIRST

Up to Bartlett to Show Opponent's Ticket Irregular

CAMPAIGN STUMPING BEGUN

Whitney Stands as "Representative of Insulted Dignity" of the State—Denounces Bartlett and His Lieutenants and Criticises Lodge

Boston, Oct 8.—The contesting Democratic nominees for the state ticket for the November election will present their claims before the ballot law commission of the state on Wednesday. As the ticket headed by Henry M. Whitney was filed first with the secretary of state yesterday, it will be for those representing Charles W. Bartlett, the other aspirant for the nomination for governor, to show cause why the Whitney ticket is irregular.

The commission may also consider a petition to throw out both tickets and declare that no convention was held at Springfield on Saturday, filed yesterday by E. G. Brown of Brockton, who last week was nominated for lieutenant governor by the Independence League, and claims to have been a candidate for the same position on the Democratic ticket at Springfield.

The Whitney ticket will be represented at the hearing by former Attorney General Parker, a Republican, while it is expected that Bartlett will take personal charge of his own case. If the ballot law commission finds that there was no convention and throws out both tickets, it will be necessary for the candidates to file nomination papers, but not as regular Democrats, in which case there will be no Democratic ticket at the November election, and, according to some lawyers, none in the state for the coming year.

What bearing such a contingency will have on the selection of four delegates at large next spring to the national convention has not been ascertained.

Henry M. Whitney opened his campaign at a largely attended rally in Brookline last night. He said in part:

"I come before you as a candidate for the position of governor of the commonwealth. But owing to the infamous practices of certain men, I come before you today on an entirely new issue. I stand as the representative of the insulted dignity of the commonwealth of Massachusetts. You all know what happened in Springfield, how the constitutional rights of the citizens of Massachusetts were violated, how force and fraud usurped the place of law and order, how the sacredness of the ballot was violated, and the good name of the state of Massachusetts was trampled in the dust.

"I appeal to men in all parties to help in redeeming the state from this great disgrace. I guarantee that the Democratic party will do her part. She will purge herself from her Kileys and O'Connells and their co-conspirators; aye, and her George Fred Williams and her Charles W. Bartletts, and come forth from this ideal purified as by fire. No, the hand of the assassin has not drawn the life-blood from the Democratic party of the state of Massachusetts. She will arise invigorated from this encounter with her foes, and will again become, as of old, an aggressive and potent influence for good.

"What I have been striving to bring to the attention of the people of Massachusetts is the importance of the open door to markets nearer home, to that great country to the north and east of us now entering upon a career of development akin to that which was witnessed a century earlier in the United States of America. The people of Massachusetts are well nigh a unit upon this question. Senator Lodge has the bad taste to sneer at these efforts, to decry all attempts at improving the material conditions of the people of the state of Massachusetts by any attempt to regain the ground that he, false to his duty and false to his state, abandoned years ago when the people of Canada were freely offering us this great boon. He rejoices in our misfortunes and glories in his shame. This opportunity is not lost to us if the people of Massachusetts will but express themselves in favor of reopening this question. That is the only way in which at the present time anything can be done by the people of Massachusetts in the promotion of this great cause.

"Natural conditions have not changed with the refusal of the senator to consider the offers made by Sir Wilfred Laurier. We stand related geographically just the same as we always have stood, and always shall stand. The almighty decreed that these two great nations should dwell together in bonds of mutual relations. God reigns. Sooner or later His laws will assert themselves, tariff barriers will be banished from the border, and trade with Canada be as free and unrestricted as it is between the states in the American Union."

BEFORE GRAND JURY

Lodge Will Be Asked About Alleged Corruption In Boston

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 8.—This city was the scene of an animated meeting of milk producers in protest of the Boston agreement in which the directors accepted for the New England farmers the price of 35½ cents a can offered by the Boston contractors. What the farmers demanded was 40 cents, modifying this to 38 cents.

Three resolutions were offered, all meeting with enthusiastic applause. These are the resolutions adopted:

"That the farmers demand of the state of Massachusetts to know what the real standard is."

"That we urge Governor Guild to have every railroad in the state furnish facilities to farmers at reasonable rates for transportation of milk to any market in the state they see fit to supply, that they may sell their milk independently of the so-called milk trust, if it is to their interest to do so.

"That the farmers should know, and should have it fixed, which is the standard as to fat contents in milk."

It was voted to have a committee of six appointed to act in co-operation with the directors of the Boston Co-Operative Milk Producers' company in notifying the Boston contractors that the 15,000 cans of milk supplied to Boston by the Worcester county zone will be supplied until Nov. 1 at 35½ cents a can. After that date it will cost 38 cents a can. This committee has also to find a market for the milk of Worcester county if the Boston contractors will not take it at that price after Nov. 1.

A tacks Upon Jews Con nie

Odessa, Oct. 8.—The Unionists of Odessa continued yesterday their attacks and outrages upon the Jews. They began by surrounding the Hebrew cemetery, where a funeral service was going on. First they stoned and then they fired a volley of revolver shots at the mourning Jews, many of whom were wounded. The Jews fled in panic. Later in the day members of the Black Hundreds ransacked several Jewish shops and mercilessly beat the proprietors. Up to the present time Governor General Novitsky has made no attempt to stop the outrages.

Inveig ed Woman to Boston

Biddeford, Me., Oct. 8.—On the charge of having inveigled Miss Elizabeth Laughlin of this city to Boston, Byron B. Durgin was held for the grand jury here. Miss Laughlin testified that she went to Boston with Durgin on the agreement that they should be married in that city. He did not tell her he was a married man. She knew nothing of this until her sister, Katie, and Mrs. Durgin found her in Boston, where they had taken up their residence. She testified that he gave her an assumed name. The respondent introduced no evidence.

Russia Surrenders Privi'eges

Pekin, Oct. 8.—A new telegraph convention between Russia and China was signed here yesterday. Under it China recovers all her previous telegraph rights in Russian Manchuria and 2000 miles of lines and connections are formally turned back to her. Russia in the future will pay telegraph royalties to China. This is quite different from the Japanese procedure in Manchuria. Japan increased her claims for telegraph and telephone privileges and extended both methods of communication in defiance of the sovereignty of China.

Boy Murdered Little Girl

Camden, N. J., Oct. 8.—Joseph Wood, aged 16 years, who was arrested on suspicion in connection with the murder of Ethel Nevils, aged 9, whose mutilated body was found in a thicket not far from hr home in East Camden, made a confession last night, according to an official statement by Prosecutor Scovel, in which he admitted having murdered the child.

May Build "Sailing Machine"

London, Oct. 8.—John Carlsson, a prominent member of the Swedish Yacht club, declares, according to The Daily Mail, that if the rules of the New York Yacht club cannot be altered to permit a yacht of the cruiser type to contest for the America's cup, then a "sailing machine" will be built outside of Stockholm as a challenger.

Unexpected Raise In Wages

Topeka, Oct. 8.—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad company announces an increase in the wages of all telegraph operators on the system. The increase comes as a surprise to the men. This is the second increase in wages the Santa Fe operators have had in the last 12 months. The road employs non-union operators.

Carried Out Mayor's Ukase

Fort Dodge, Ia., Oct. 8.—Mayor Bennett, who recently gained fame by issuing a ukase that all bachelors within the city must wed within a year or pay a fine, was taken at his word by Nolan Snow, who eloped with the mayor's daughter, Mabel. The elopers were wed here and fled to Des Moines.

APPEAL TO GOVERNOR

Milk Farmers Solicit His Influence to Secure Concessions

Boston, Oct. 8.—As a result of statements concerning the corruption alleged to exist in the Boston city government made by Senator Lodge at the Republican state convention, Lodge has been summonsed by District Attorney Moran to appear before the grand jury and tell what he knows of the situation at city hall. The senator was directed to appear at the courthouse next Monday. In his speech Saturday Lodge said:

"The government of the city of Boston has sunk in the eyes of men to a point of degradation utterly unknown in the annals of the city. The air is heavy with the stories of corruption at city hall, of offices sold, of percentages taken, of payrolls loaded, of loans made to support men in idleness, of widespread frauds at the ballot box, which should be rigidly investigated and brought to the light of day."

Boys Disobeyed Regulations

Exeter, N. H., Oct. 8.—Booker T. Washington, Jr., cannot return to Philips Exeter academy under present conditions. Neither can his friend, J. E. Gomez, who left the academy in company with him. The lads gave out the report that they left the institution because of race prejudice shown there, but Dr. Amen, president of the academy, denies this statement. He says that the boys would not comply with regulations which are supposed to govern all students irrespective of race or color.

Farmer Smith's Surprise

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 8.—William Smith, a farmer, living near Ludlow, drove to Londonderry to attend the Grange fair. Arriving on the fair grounds Smith could find no suitable place to hitch his horse, so he unharnessed the animal and put him in a vacant stall in one of the sheds. The judges, thinking his horse was on exhibition, awarded a premium and bestowed a red ribbon.

House Burned After Woman's Death

Antrim, N. H., Oct. 8.—While at work in her kitchen making pies Mrs. Amos Colby was seized with heart failure and died instantly. During the confusion caused by her sudden death, the house caught fire from an overheated chimney and was burned to the ground. The remains of Mrs. Colby were carried through the smoke and flames to the home of the nearest neighbor.

Not Guilty of Discrimination

Boston, Oct. 8.—On complaint of William H. Scott and Louis F. Baldwin, both negroes, Frank L. Robbins, proprietor of the Quincy house, and two clerks appeared before Judge Ely, charged with refusing rooms and entertainment to the negroes. After hearing the evidence Judge Ely discharged the defendants.

Mystery In Sudden Death

Malden, Mass., Oct. 8.—Mystery surrounds the death of Harry E. Wakefield, 34, who was found dead on the bed in his room by his wife, to whom he was married a week ago. Dr. Fulton was called in and thought death was due to heart disease. Dr. Durrell, the medical examiner, will perform an autopsy.

Perhaps Fatally Shot by Father

West Derry, N. H., Oct. 8.—Charged with the probable fatal shooting of his son, Fred, aged 29, Carrillo Gloleau of this town was arrested last night. The father claimed that his son had been drinking and threatened him and that the shooting was done in self-defense. The victim is married, but has no children.

Ship Has Million-Dollar Cargo

Boston, Oct. 8.—The Anglo-American Oil company's steamship Seneca arrived yesterday from the far east with a cargo valued at more than $1,000,000. She was 97 days completing the voyage from Shanghai, and loaded her cargo at other ports before shaping her course in the direction of Boston.

Boy Held For Manslaughter

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 8.—Joseph H. Bird, 16 years old, was arraigned in the district court, charged with manslaughter. He is held responsible for causing the death of Francis X. Desforges by shooting him during a hunting trip. He was held for the grand jury in $5000 bail.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Club notes tomorrow.

A house is being built on South street.

The no-school signal was sounded at 7.30.

The plumbers are at work at the Point church.

Today is the anniversary of the death of John Hancock, on Oct. 8, 1793.

Quincy lodge of Elks has a class of fifty for initiation at its meeting tonight.

Arthur Newcomb is regaining his former good health, after, his recent operation.

The people of the Point parish have been presented Rev. and Mrs. Atwood with two new rugs.

The blows on the fire alarm circuits early this morning were caused by the high wind crossing the wires.

The Ladies Aid Society of Quincy Point met Monday afternoon with Mrs. William Hayden of River street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Adams are enjoying a well-earned vacation on his father's homestead in New Hampshire.

Roscoe Horton of Appleton street will sail Wednesday for New Orleans on the Southern Pacific S. S. line, on steamer Proteus. Mr. Horton will be gone two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Tirrell announce the engagement of their daughter, Estelle Clifford, to Mr. Herbert Weymouth Cass, of Dover, Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Beal of 68 Washington street are receiving congratulations, a nine pound girl arriving on Sept. 28 to join the happy household.

Letters which have passed between President Miller of the Granite Manufacturers' Association and the Railroad Commissioners will be published in full in the Daily Ledger of Wednesday.

The young ladies organization the "Priscillas," have initiated two more into their order, which seems to be a growing and popular organization. Elsie Kerby is its secretary and Marion Johnson its president.

The Daily Ledger will publish on Wednesday or Thursday the column letter of an expressman who claims Boston liquor dealers have lost trade because of the attitude of the Quincy City Council to expressmen.

The Citizens Association will take action tonight on several amendments proposed to the by-laws. President Kincaide has declined a reelection, and the candidates for his office are Paul R. Blackmur and Dr. John F. Welch.

It was on Oct. 7, 1826, that the "Quincy Railroad," the first incorporated railroad in the country was completed and the first car run between the granite quarry and tide water. On Oct. 7, 1871, the greater part of the route was reopened as the Granite branch of the Old Colony railraad.

Monday started the Y. M. C. A. "Booster Week" in good style. The members are busy interesting their friends who are on the outside to get on the inside; the reception committee was kept busy Monday evening showing parties of young men abut the building answering questions, helping fill out application blanks, and serving refreshments to all comers.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued cases of Cornelius Batts, James O'Holoran, Henry Willis, William Knox, Fred Baird, Thomas McDonald and William Bramfield for assault and disturbing the peace at Quincy were heard. All of the defendants were found not guilty on the assault charge. On the complaints for disturbing the peace O'Haloran was fined $25 and Knox $10. The others were found not guilty and discharged.

Church Wedding At East Milton

There was a pretty church wedding at the East Milton Congregational church on Monday evening, when two popular young people, Miss Frances M. Farrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farrell, and Mr. Charles Buffington Hoxie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hoxie of Wollaston were united in marriage.

Miss Mary McKay at the organ played while the guests were gathering and promply at eight o'clock to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the bridal party entered the church. First came the ushers: Walter J. Farrell, brother of the bride; Albert L. Soule, Frederick H. Mitchell and Frederick B. Jacob of Wollaston, followed by the ring bearers, Ruth A. Farrell and David H. Farrell, cousins of the bride, the maid of honor, Miss Emily J. Farrell, sister of the bride, and lastly the bride and her father. At the altar they were met by the groom, his best man, Albert M. Hoxie, and Rev. George Credeford, pastor of the church, who inpressively preformed the ceremony

The church was simply and artistically decorated with ferns and rubber plants, the arrangement at the altar making an effective background for the bridal party. The bride's gown was very beautiful being a white satin messaline, with princess and fillet lace trimmings. The veil was of embroidered tulle caught up with orange blossoms and the bouquet was of bride roses. In delicate contrast the maid of honor wore a blue nun's veiling trimmed with liberty satin. She carried a large bouquet of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the parlor of the church until ten o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie being assisted in receiving by their parents. Here the decorations were foliage, autumn and green leaves being used profusely.

The bride presented her maid of honor with a gold brooch, and the groom gave his best man gold cuff links, and the ushers gold scarf pins, as souvenirs of the happy occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoxie have gone to Canada on a ten days' trip and on their return are to reside at 122 Taylor street, Wollaston, receiving their friends after December first.

Grover Renominated For District Attorney

The Republican District Attorney convention for Norfolk and Plymouth counties was held this morning in Wesleyan hall, Boston. George E. Adams of Quincy was chairman, and Austin W. Greene of Milton the secretary.

Thomas E. Grover the present incumbent was renominated by acclamation.

A district attorney committee of five were appointed as follows; Eugene R. Stone of Quincy; Fred G. Katzmann of Hyde Park; James A. Allen, Jr., of Brockton; Joseph P. Collingwood of Plymouth and George M. Stetson of Middleboro.

Readings and Music At Colonial Hall

The evening of readings and music by Mrs. Babcock, Mrs. Davis and others, at Colonial hall, drew an appreciative audience who thoroughly enjoyed the long program presented.

The musical part was by the Hayden trio composed of Edwin Byron Powell, violinist; Miss Eleanor Soule Hayden, mandolin, xylophone and chimes soloist; and Miss Edith Gertrude Wales, accompanist.

The program opened with an overture "Lustspiel" by the trio and was followed by selected readings by Mrs. Davis and solos by Miss Hayden and Mr. Powell, and trios. Number seven on the program was assigned to Mrs. Babcock. The title of her number was, "Books we used to read, and those we read now," with selections. Mrs. Babcock has an exceedingly pleasing delivery and her number was greatly enjoyed.

The program closed with a march, "The Gibson," by the trio.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. ## Good Progress At the Shipyard

The engine was put in the lighter "New England" Monday afternoon, thus marking an important advance in the work or finishing this vessel at the time specified in Manager Smith's recent order; namely, Oct. 19. The permanent girders and stanchions supporting the deck house are in place, and the heavy wood work at the bow will soon be finished.

Congressman Fallon of Idaho was a visitor to the yard on Monday. He came with his uncle, John Fallon of Braintree.

The winches in the collier "Everett" were worked with steam on Monday and the stockless anchors and heavy anchor chains were shipped.

The pilot house, bridge and flying bridge of the collier "Malden," and the deck house are taking shape and the ship is making steady progress toward completion.

Piles are being driven for the foundations of the machine shop extension.

Items of personal interest are solicited for this column from all employes at the shipyard. It is the little items that the Daily Ledger wants.

The Brockton Assault Cases

Cornelius Batts, James O'Haloran, Henry Willis, William King, Fred Baird, Thomas McDonald and William Bramfield, the seven fellows who it is alleged made an assault on J. F. Gleason and his guests last Thursday night, when returning from the Brockton fair, were given a hearing this morning in the district court.

There were two complaints against each of the defendants, one for assault, and the other for disturbing the peace. Owing to the discrepancy of the government witnesses in identifying the particular parties who made the assault, they were all discharged on that complaint. On the complaint for disturbing the peace James O'Haloran was fined $25 and William Knox $10. The others were discharged.

Harvest Supper.

Quincy chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, held a harvest supper, entertainment and dance on Monday evening at Electa hall. From 6 to 8 o'clock the supper was served, which was partaken of by a large number. Then followed an hour's entertainment, the program including selections by the Olympia orchestra, vocal solos by Mrs. Robert Grant and Mrs. James Bingham, readings by Mrs. Henry P. Furnald, and fancy dancing by Miss Marion Bill. The entertainment was followed by dancing.

Board of Railroad Commissioners.

On the Petition of the Old Colony Street Railway Company for approval of right to act as common carrier of newspapers, baggage, express matter and freight in the city of Quincy, from the boundary line between the town of Randolph and said city of Quincy, over and along Randolph avenue to the boundary line between the town of Milton and said city of Quincy, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 402 of the Acts of the year 1907, the Board will give a hearing to the parties in interest at its office, No. 20, Beacon Street, Boston on Friday, the eleventh day of October, instant at ten-thirty o'clock in the forenoon.

And the petitioner is required to give notice of said hearing by publication hereof twice prior to said date in the Quincy Ledger, to serve a copy hereof on the City of Quincy, and to make return of service at the time of hearing.

By order of the Board,
(Signed) CHARLES E. MANN,
Clerk.

FREIGHT FACILITIES

Railroad Commissioners Say They Will Take Prompt Action

President Miller of the Granite Manufacturers' Association appears to have brought to a head the matter of better freight facilities for shipping granite. The letters which follow are self explanatory:

Quincy, Oct. 5, 1907.

The Honorable Board of Railroad Commissioners, 20 Beacon St., Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen:—In May last you wrote me in regard to better shipping facilities at Quincy Adams station, that the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. had informed you that they had ordered a travelling derrick and that it would be installed in a few months.

But five months have passed since that time and there is no appearance of any travelling derrick, or better facilities. The latter part of May they did work part of two days with a gravel train at the new yard, but since that time they have done nothing, and it will take weeks to prepare the new yard for the derrick and cold weather is almost here.

Is it not possible that the railroad authorities are even deceiving your board with promises they do not intend to keep, as they have done with us for the past five years.

The conditions were never worse than now. They give scarcely any cars to keep the little antiquated derrick that is here busy.

For instance, yesterday, when there were over thirty cars of granite piled up under the derrick they only had two cars to load. The day before there were four.

From now until the ground freezes there will be an extraordinary rush to get our goods off before the winter sets in.

Our business has been injured many thousands of dollars this season alone. Is there no relief, or no power to compel this railroad to give decent shipping facilities for our goods? Must we sit back and see our business ruined and diverted to more favored centres.

Very respectfully yours,
J. L. Miller.
President of the Quincy Granite Manufacturers' Association.

Boston, October 7, 1907.

Mr. J. L. Miller, President, Granite Manufacturers' Association Quincy, Massachusetts.

Dear Sir:—In an interview today with Vice-President Byrnes of the New York, New Haven and Hartford, it was admitted that the work promised ought to have been done long ago.

It seems that some discussion among those who had charge of the improvement has delayed the work.

I am assured that prompt action will be taken to make good the promise which was given.

Regretting the delay that has occasioned this annoyance, and thanking you for the information which has enabled us to take up this matter again with the railroad management, I am,

Very truly yours,
James F. Jackson, Chairman.

New Officers.

The Junior C. E. society at the Point held a "Rally Sunday," Oct. 6, with about fifty present. The exercises were in charge of Miss Helen Sherburne, with Miss Bessie Chisholm at the piano. The following new officers were elected: President, Parmalee Studley; Vice President, Eva Forrest; Secretary, Selma Thayer; Treasurer, Carl Hammond. The Juniors meet every Sunday afternoon at the church at 4.

—The corner stone of the new Methodist Episcopal church at Oakdale, Dedham, will be laid with appropriate ceremonies Saturday afternoon, Oct. 12, at three o'clock. Rev. L. J. Birney of Newton Centre will deliver the principal address and will be assisted in the exercises by former pastors of the church.

Large Classes At Y. M. C. A.

Another pleasant evening was passed at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night. The senior gymnasium class held its second session with large attendance. Mr. Maxwell is showing them the way in fine style. Larger classes are sure to follow "Booster Week."

Remember, All men who join the Association during this week will have their ticket dated November first 1908, a gift of three weeks privileges. Why not join now?

The front of the building is decorated with a double line of electric lights and red , white and blue bunting from the steps to the street and across the walk, which gives the approach a very bright and attractive appearance. The American flag floats from the staff on top of the building and the Association flag with the circle and triangle flies from the pole on the front. The festive appearance will be continued during the entire week.

The Fore River apprentices are invited for Wednesday evening in a body and will be entertained by a committee of the employed boys with music, songs, refreshments, etc.

A week is short at the longest so all members are advised to hustle now and all the time.

The Association evening school will open Monday, Oct. 14. The courses offered this year are:

Building Construction and Joinery.
Clay Modelling—Elementary and Advanced.
First Aid to Injured.
Free Hand Drawing—First year, Second year and Third year.
Mechanical Drawing—First year, and Second year.
Mechanics and Tool Design.
Practical Mathematics.
Monumental Drawing—First year, year, Second year and Third year.
Practical Shipbuilding—Elementary and Advanced.

Enrollment should be made during the present week.

MAY HAVE CANDIDATES

For Mayor The Council And School Committee

A new element has now entered in municipal affairs for the Citizens' Association has decided to enter the political arena. This action was decided upon at its annual meeeting Tuesday evening after a lengthy discussion.

In the absence of President Kincaide, Councilman Walter S. Pinkham was elected chairman pro tem.

The first business on the call was the election of officers and Messrs. R. A. Sears, C. L. Hammond and N. G. Nickerson were made a committee to receive and count ballots, which resulted as follows:

President,—Paul R. Blackmur.
Vice President,—George H. Brown.
Secretary,—Charles H. Burgess.
Treasurer,—Nathan G. Nickerson.
Directors.—H. F. McIntire and John F. Welch, M. D. of Ward One; J. W. McAnarney and H. Gerrish Smith of Ward Two; Henry McGrath and John L. Miller of Ward Three; James F. Burke and William T. Shea of Ward Four; A. L. Baker and Walter S. Pinkham of Ward Five; Herbert S. Barker and Harry W. Read of Ward Six; Edward H. Angier, Clarence Burgin, and Henry L. Kincaide at large.

While that was in progress other business on the call was taken up. The secretary read the annual report of the president, which reviewed the work of the association, and told what it had accomplished.

These in brief were: the telephone league movement, reduction in insurance rates, efforts to defeat the missing link trolley freight bill, changes in water rates, and improved street and steam car service. In closing he bespoke a bright future for the Association.

The Secretary's report showed the present membership to be 142, and the treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $430.33.

The secretary was authorized to personally see those who were indebted for dues.

Article 11 of the by laws was amended, so that representatives of the local and Boston newspapers may be admitted without the payment of initiation fee and the payment of anual dues.

The articles relative to meeting every month and repealing certain articles in the by-laws were laid on the table.

CITY ELECTION

The next matter on the call was the following:

"The advisability of the Citizens' Association taking an active interest in the city election this fall either by endorsement of political candidates or by the placing of independent candidates in the field, will be up for discussion.

No one seemed to want to start the ball rolling, but after H. G. Smith had read the poem that appeared in the Bulletin, John L. Miller came to the rescue, expressing his belief that the association should put a ticket in the field.

Others agreed with Mr. Miller, but as they said the trouble was, just how to get at it. The belief was expressed that if candidates were put into the field independent of the regular nominees it meant slaughter.

E. H. Angier moved that a committee of one from each ward be appointed to get together to see if they can find a good candidate for Mayor to run under the auspices of the association.

Andrew Milne wanted to amend so that the directors should select a candidate.

Then followed quite a lengthy discussion. J. W. McAnarney believed that as soon as a committee, such as suggested by Mr. Angier, was appointed, there would be great lobbying. If we run an independent candidate we will be making a sacrifice hit.

The chair then informed the meeting that an independent candidate could not be run at the caucuses, as none but the Republicans, the Democrats and Independence League had tickets.

Finally, Mr. McAnarney proposed an amendment, which after many changes and some further discussion was adopted. This amendment in substance was as follows:

That the directors be requested to solicit each of the parties entitled to file nomination papers at the next municipal caucuses to place in nomination the names of only desirable candidates for the offices of Mayor, Councilmen and School Committee; and the directors are authorized, if they deem it advisable so to do, to place the names of one or more candidates on each of the lists in each caucus for these offices, of men they believe would make desirable candidates for the offices.

There was another clause, which provided that the directors should be prepared to recommend to the association names of candidates at a later date if the nominations at the caucuses were not satisfactory.

The association then voted that when adjournment was taken it be for one week, and that the directors report at that meeting. Adjourned.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

Ralph Lovell, assistant chief engineer, has returned from a trip to Washington.

Mr. Murphy, Lloyds' surveyor at Boston, visited the yard on Tuesday.

J. J. Crain, electrical engineer, has returned from Washington on business connected with the electrical equipment for the new battleship North Dakota.

James E. Neary, instructor of apprentices, has reported for duty. The new books in arithmetic are ready for the use of the boys and the course of study will be taken up next Monday. There will be about thirty-five apprentices who will take the course and instruction will be given two hours each working day except Saturday. Mr. Neary comes here from Buffalo, N. Y., where he has had much experience in the work which he is to take charge of at this yard. There has been a steady increase in the number of apprentices since the course was begun here.

The new gate for vehicles leading off Howard street, will soon be in operation. It will also be used by men leaving and entering the yard during the day.

—An appeal is soon to be made to members of the Massachusetts Society, Sons of the American Revolution, in behalf of the project of erecting the Massachusetts bay as a part of the larger "Cloister of Colonies" of the new Washington Memorial Chapter at Valley Forge. About one-fourth of the entire expense involved in the undertaking will be met from the society's treasury, and the balance is to be raised by popular contributions.

—Popular sheet music. 19 cents per copy; at La Croix, corner Hancock and School streets.

AMATEUR SPORT

Experts Address Wollaston Unitarian Club On Subject

Rev. E. W. Hunt, the pastor of the Wollaston Unitarian church, was pleased to admit on Tuesday evening, at the meeting of the Wollaston Unitarian club, that two sporting men, the speakers of the evening, had preached a more able and helpful sermon than he had ever known in the church.

It was the opening meeting of the season of the club with President Frank E. Parlin in the chair, and the speakers Mr. Edward E. Babb and Mr. Joseph B. Maccabe. Dinner was served at 6.30, and there were fine roasts of beef, mashed potatoes, squash, celery, coffee, ice cream and cake; all home cooking, and served by young men of the church. The attendance was large.

President Parlin was pleased to greet so many, and first introduced Mr. Babb, prominent in athletic sports throughout the country. Mr. Babb told of the reason for the existence of the Amateur Athletic Union and how it developed boys and men physically, socially and morally. It promotes manly sports, and secures necessary state and national legislation. It looks after young athletes as against professional athletes, He regarded professional coaching as one of the worst phases. They generally teach to win at any cost. Victory is not the only thing to be desired but exercise, and development of all, not a few. The training table was a bad feature. School boys should always be in condition to enter sports. Playgrounds were very desirable, and should be used in connection with the public schools. Work should always be under supervision. Have the big boy help the little boy. Be fair, and honest, and clean.

Mr. Maccabe was introduced as the man who had done as much as any man in the country to promote amateur athletics. Sports were never as prominent, he said, as today, and man is no older than he feels. The Amateur Athletic Association took up the work a few years ago of establishing a calendar of sports under direction. Today there are ten subsidiary asso-

A page of a Sunday paper was devoted to the growth of the city of New Bedford. To the figures showing the growth of eastern cities during the past fifteen years the Daily Ledger adds the percentage of Quincy for the same period, and it will be seen that the "City of Presidents" makes a remarkably good showing.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

"I want to be your Mayor"—Chorus.

The mercury was in the 30s at sunrise this morning.

There is soon to be a benedict in the Iroquois club.

Tom Forrest is very ill at his home on Hancock street and typhoid fever is feared.

Dr. Ernest G. Brooks of Beach street returned Monday from a short trip to New York.

Mrs. Mary Brooks of Beach street has returned after a five weeks' stay in New York.

Mrs. Annie Chamberlain and Miss Chamberlain of Hancock street have returned home from New York, where they spent two weeks visiting relatives.

A minstrel show will be given under the auspices of Abigail Adams circle, C. of F. of A., on Wednesday evening, Oct. 30.

Mrs. D. Nowlands of Weymouth, Nova Scotia, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Gilbert H. Rhodes of Old Colony avenue.

Myron Stebbins of Broomfield street has just returned from a two months visit with his uncle in South Vernon, Vermont.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rose (Blanche Souther) of Cohasset have taken the upper flat in Mr. Armstrong's house at 54 Warren avenue.

H. T. Stirling of Roxbury has succeeded to the drug business in the W. B. Rice block owned by the Hannaford drug company.

Miss Mabel Drew of Walker street, who accompanied her sister on her trip south, has decided to remain at Hampton another week.

The annual opening reception of the Unity club of Wollaston will be held on Friday evening in the vestry of the Unitarian church.

Mrs. George E. Thomas of Newton street returned on Saturday from Nova Scotia, where she spent three weeks with her mother, Mrs. Grant at Anapolis.

Judging from the reputation of the decorators who have charge of the display at the coming Elks' Carnival, the interior of the Colesium will be transformed into a veritable fairyland of beauty. The committee are sparing no endeavor to bring the interior decorations up to the acme of perfection. The carnival proper with its myriad of attractions is to be the best of its kind.

BICYCLE RAILWAY

Will Be Built Between Cities Of Brockton And Quincy

A petition for authority to issue $1,000,000 of stock and bonds, filed with the Railroad Commission on Friday, is the first official indication that a line of single-rail railway is to be actually constructed by the companies which now control the patents taken out by E. Moody Boynton, says the Transcript. The petition comes as the sequel to the revival by the last Legislature of the charter secured some years ago by Mr. Boynton for the Boston, Quincy and Fall River Bicycle Railway Company; but it is entered in the name of the reorganized combination which is understood to hold the patents under the title of the Boynton Bicycle Electric Railway Companies. It asks for $500,000 capital stock and $500,000 bonds.

At the time the bicycle railway was first talked of, and right down to the present time, it was generally understood that if the company ever constructed a line under its charter, the first section would be from the outskirts of Boston to the city of Quincy; but at the State House Mr. Boynton asserted that his company had options sufficient to cover the entire route between Boston and Fall River, and the petition now filed states that the securities are intended to cover the cost of building from Quincy to Brockton. The route in not described in detail.

The signers to the document are E. Moody Boynton as president of the companies, and Arthur A. Cogswell as secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Cogswell said Friday afternoon, in regard to the general plans: "We have parties who stand ready to build the first section of the line immediately, if we can get the required authority. The bonds will build the line, but stock must be issued and sold in order that we may base the bond issue on it. Our intention is to start the first section of the line at Brockton, and build partly over streets and partly over private land towards Quincy. From Brockton to East Braintree is somewhat more than five miles, and our people are ready to build that much at once. We have asked for the right to build ten miles however, in order to carry the line to Quincy. We shall build the standard gauge track, like regular steam railroad track, four feet eight inches between rails, but as our system requires only a single rail for operation, this track will give us a double-track line, equivalent to twenty miles of single rail."

Mr. Cogswell remarked that if all went well it was hoped to have the section between Brockton and East Braintree in operation by next summer, and when it was suggested that this would apparently mean a prosecution of construction work in winter Cogswell replied:

"We have options on the land for the location, and our line will be built to a large extent on piling, without the filling and grading that is necessary in an ordinary railroad. For this reason I am inclined to think a good deal of it can be built in the winter time."

The matter comes before the Railroad Commission for public hearing on Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 12.30 P. M.

Side by Side.

The Hon. William Eaton Chandler and the Hon. George Fred Williams are side by side and voice by voice denouncing the merger of the New York, NeNw Haven and Hartford and the Boston and Maine. Mr. Mellen, the president of the former railroad has most unfairly and with evident malice prepense postponed the merger to a more convenient season, when the people of Massachusetts are ready for it and the clouds of buncombe have rolled by. Mr. Chandler and Mr. Williams will not give up their prey. Mr. Williams is furious with the merger because Mr. Whitney favors it. Mr. Chandler because if the Boston and Maine disappears, if it ends its separate existence, he willhave nothing left to fight. The Boston and Maine has been his dearest foe, his constant target, his perpetual bugaboo. Our solicitude for his health almost makes us sympathize with his desire to keep the Boston and Maine going on its own legs.—The New York Sun.

Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

PLAYED TO A STANDSTILL.

Over 24,000 Spectators at First Game For Baseball Championship

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Detroit and Chicago, leaders of the American and National leagues respectively, played 12 strenuous innings to a tie here in the first game of the series for the baseball championship of the world. The contest was replete with sensational situations, and when Umpire O'Day called the play off on account of darkness most of the 24,377 spectators sighed with relief, and went home well satisfied with the outcome.

Permanent Railway Receivership

New York, Oct. 9.—Judge Lacombe of the federal court has made permanent the receivership for the New York City Railway company and the Metropolitan Street Railway company. The general interest in this action is due to the effort of Attorney General Jackson to take those properties from the jurisdiction of the federal court and have receivers appointed in the state court, and to the effect of the receivership upon the plans of the public service commission for the improvement of the street railway service.

Alleged Violation of Agreement

Cincinnati, Oct. 9.—Several printing and publishing firms in Chicago, St. Louis, New York and Massachusetts, with national officers of the United Typothetae of America, have brought action in the United States court, asking that the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of America be enjoined from violating an agreement of January, 1907, by demanding an eight-hour day.

French Captain Unduly Excited

Antwerp, Oct. 9.—The action of a French captain, whose vessel was bound for northern Pacific points, in taking out a war risk policy on his cargo yesterday, caused a groundless report that the Antwerp underwriters, fearing hostilities between the United States and Japan, were exacting war premiums for their policies. An investigation of the matter showed the report to be absolutely untrue.

Newfoundland Vessels Damaged

St. Johns, Oct. 9.—A heavy gale severely damaged the fishing fleet on the Grand Banks. By the submergence of a cableway at the Harmsworth Pulp mills at Grand Falls four of the employes were drowned. Two dismasted schooners were sighted off the northern coast yesterday. It is thought that the vessels are those which, it was feared, were lost with all hands during the gale of Sept. 18.

Plotting by Ex-Emperor

Seoul, Oct. 9.—Since the arrival here of Prince Ito, the Japanese resident general, investigation has brought out the fact that during his absence the former emperor has been engaged in formulating a conspiracy with the object of preventing Japan from carrying out her plans in Korea. The influence of the former emperor is increasing, and nothing is done without his consent.

Call For Books and Records

New York, Oct. 9.—Judge Lacombe, in the United States circuit court, issued an order directing the American Sugar Refining company to show cause why a permanent order should not be issued requiring the company to produce its books and records in the action against it brought by the Pennsylvania Sugar Refining company to recover $30,000,000 damages.

Battleship Ashore Many Hours

Norfolk, Oct. 9.—With the assistance of seven powerful tugs, the battleship Kentucky, whch stranded off Lambert's point at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, while endeavoring to avoid a possible collision with vessels lying at anchor in the stream, was floated late last night. It is not thought that the Kentucky sustained any damage.

Cholera Rapidly Spreading

Tokio, Oct. 9.—The cholera outbreak is gaining alarming proportions in Tokio. Nineteen new cases have been reported recently. Tokio is regarded as particularly dangerous on account of the over-population and the crowding among the lower classes. The disease is spreading also into Korea.

Protecting the Æsthetic Sense

Berlin, Oct. 9.—A circular, countersigned by three cabinet ministers, has just been sent to all chairmen of local authorities calling for a strict enforcement of the enactments forbidding the erection of buildings or other objects likely to offend the aesthetic sense.

Money For Cuban Improvements

Washington, Oct. 9.—Carrying out his policy of using the surplus Cuban revenues for the improvement of the internal communications of the island and in sanitation and other public works, Governor Magoon expended nearly $1,000,000 last month.

Peanut Choked Baby to Death

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

Serious Damage by Gale of Hurricane Proportions

SMALL VESSELS BUFFETED

Storm Raged Along New England Coast For Ten Hours--At Least Three Lives Lost and Heavy Loss of Crops In Some Sections

Boston, Oct. 9.—The most destructive October gale that has swept New England in a dozen years raged for 10 hours yesterday. Shipping was severely shaken up, many small vessels were either driven ashore or sunk at their moorings, and at least three lives were lost. On land the damage to buildings, trees and fruit crops was extensive in some sections.

The bays and harbors in southeastern New England received the full force of the storm, a 60-knot wind driving great billows among the shipping at anchor.

At Fall River the barge Bessie J, which arrived from Edgewater, N. J., with coal, was sunk at her moorings. Captain Allen W. Robbins and William McComker were drowned. In the same harbor steamer Warren dragged her anchor and drifted ashore. She was not damaged. The wind blew over a huge crane for unloading coal at the Staples Coal company's wharf in Fall River, about $50,000 damage resulting.

Schooner S. H. Sawyer, from Bath, Me., for Vineyard Haven, caught the full fury of the tempest off Pollock Rip and sprung aleak. The schooner was in a sinking condition when the Chatham lifesaving crew took off her crew late yesterday. An unknown schooner was anchored near the Sawyer, but she dragged her anchor and was blown to sea.

While the Monomoy lifesavers were waiting an opportunity to assist her they received word that a three-master had been blown ashore at Bass River, 12 miles west of Monomoy. The schooner proved to be the Charlotte T. Sibley, Belfast, Me., for New York, with lumber. The heavy seas threw her onto the outer bar, where she pounded heavily. Signals were set in the rigging, but before the Monomoy crew reached the schooner the sailors had all been taken off by a volunteer crew in a large power boat. The Sibley may be floated.

The Philadelphia and Reading tug Tamaqua, Boston for Philadelphia, lost one of her three barges off Chatham, but recovered it last evening.

In Boston harbor schooner Alma struck on Lovell's island. She was floated later. Several vessels dragged their anchors, and numerous yachts and small craft at South Boston and in Dorchester bay were sunk or badly damaged.

Off Beverly the three-masted schooner Henry B. Tilton went on the rocks near west beach, but was floated. The Tilton was severely strained and is leaking. She is from Philadelphia for Salem with coal.

The gale was severe in Maine and heavy damage was done on land. Shipping also suffered. In Portland harbor the big six-master George W. Wells, coal laden, was driven ashore. Three tugs floated her before damage resulted.

Schooner Catherine, a small Ellsworth vessel built in 1833, was blown ashore at Sullivan harbor, and will probably never be refloated. Steam yacht Bobolena, owned by D. T. Timayenis of Boston, was also driven ashore at Sullivan and damaged to the amount of $3000. At Sandy Point, Me., several persons in a sloop narrowly escaped with their lives. The sloop was cast up on the beach.

The gale did much damage on land. At Malden, Mass., trees and wires were blown down, and Henry A. Smith, a motorman, lost his life by attempting to push aside a live wire. In various parts of Maine trees were blown down, buildings damaged, wire service crippled, and the late apple crop injured. Within 10 miles of Limerick, Me., the owners of apple orchards lost $10,000. The heavy rain which accompanied the gale washed out highways in many places.

Along the southern Rhode Island shore cottages were damaged and fishermen's boats and gear destroyed. In Narragansett bay yachts were sunk or badly smashed, and in Providence and other places trees were blown down and wires disarranged.

At Sagamore, on Cape Cod, a building 250 feet long, just erected by the Keith Car company, was blown down.

It is thought further reports of damage will be received when vessels at sea reach port.

Gale Strikes Jamestown Show

Norfolk, Oct. 9.—A severe windstorm swept the Jamestown exposition, raising clouds of dust. The windstorm was followed by a severe rainstorm. The wind damaged awnings and street souvenir stands, but no serious damage was done.

Won't Visit Atlantic Coast

Washington, Oct. 9.—Stories that Germany is about to send a fleet of battleships on a friendly visit to the Atlantic coast during the absence of the Atlantic fleet have called forth official and decisive denials from the German foreign office.

BABY'S BODY IN A BAG

Suit Case Mystery For Providence Police to Solve

Providence, Oct. 9.—This city has its mysterious dress suit case murder in the discovery of the body of a 2-year-old boy crowded into a grip of that kind and left in a yard near the Hope reservoir.

Deliberate murder is disclosed in the autopsy. Not satisfied with inflicting fatal injuries, the perpetrator of the crime had apparently stuffed the still living child between the folds of a feather bed to stifle its cries.

The spot where the dress suit case containing the body was discovered is in the heart of the fashionable East Side. The locality is inhabited chiefly by the wealthy and influential, and the authorities are at a loss to account for the fact that four other cases of infanticide have been brought to light within a radius of a mile of the same spot.

No clue that would throw light on the ownership of the suit case was found in connection with that article.

Two Men Received Bullets

Brunswick, Me., Oct. 9.—John McCoy was shot through the abdomen, and another man, who refused to give his name, was shot in the leg by an unknown man here last evening. The two injured men claim that the man who did the shooting was a stranger to them, but other persons state that the three men were engaged in earnest conversation for some time before the shooting. The police searched for the fugitive, but failed to apprehend him.

Narrow Escapes From Death

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 9.—Fifteen persons narrowly escaped death in a fire, supposed to be of incendiary origin, that started in the basement of a three-story tenement block here last night. A locked door at the foot of the main stairway, down which many of the tenants rushed, was locked, and fatalities here were prevented by the heroism of other tenants. The property loss will not exceed $1000.

No Longer Daughter's Guardian

Boston, Oct. 9.—Robert F. Straine, who attempted to abduct his daughter, Dorothy, from her home in Wellesley, severed his business relations with his daughter yesterday by resigning the guardianship. This action on the part of Straine practically closes the last chapter in the sensational case, and comes about as the result of a hearing before Judge Grant in the probate court.

Won't Run With Bartlett

Boston, Oct. 9.—O. Z. E. Charest, who was nominated on both the Bartlett and Whitney tickets at the Springfield convention last Saturday, has withdrawn from the Bartlett ticket. Charest called at the Whitney headquarters yesterday and made out his official declination to serve on the Bartlett ticket, which he transmitted to the office of the secretary of state.

Dennison Wants Moran's Berth

Boston, Oct. 9.—The Suffolk county Democratic district attorney convention last night nominated Joseph A. Dennison as Democratic candidate for district attorney for Suffolk county. Dennison defeated the present incumbent, John B. Moran, for the nomination, receiving 108 votes to 71 for Moran. Dennison was formerly an assistant in Moran's office.

Towell Ruined Child's Eyes

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 9.—Despite the efforts of nurses in the City hospital, who sponged her eyes every five minutes, it is feared that 11-year-old Mary Thompson will lose her sight. One eye is already gone, and it is hardly possible that the other can be saved. The child had wiped her face on a towel previously used by a lodger at her mother's house.

Found Dead In Bushes

Webster, Mass., Oct. 9.—Henry Stevens, 65 years old, was found dead in the bushes that fringe the railroad tracks here. Stevens lived alone and was last seen alive last Sunday. It is believed he crawled into the bushes to rest and died while asleep. It is said he left personal property worth from $40,000 to $50,000. He leaves two brothers.

Woman Perhaps Fatally Shot

Torrington, Conn., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Gertrude M. Nott was shot and seriously, if not fatally, wounded, at the home of John Campbell. Frank Ritche, for whom Mrs. Nott formerly kept house, is under arrest, charged with the shooting. It is alleged that the shooting followed Mrs. Nott's refusal to again become Ritche's housekeeper.

Rhode Island Democrats' Ticket

Providence, Oct. 9.—The following state ticket was nominated at the Rhode Island Democratic state convention in this city: Governor, J. H. Higgins; lieutenant governor, Charles Sisson; secretary of state, A. A. Tucker; attorney general, E. M. Sullivan; general treasurer, J. B. Archambault.

Death of Old Mason

Boston, Oct. 9.—John A. Johnson, claimed to be the oldest Mystic Shriner in the world and one of the oldest Knights Templar, died last night at his home in the Jamaica Plain district, aged 95 years. He was born in Sweden in 1812.

The Philadelphia Not at Manila

Seattle, Oct. 9.—The cruiser Philadelphia, referred to in a dispatch from Sydney, N. S., which stated that a wireless message from Manila had been "picked up" by the station at Morlon, C. B., saying that the cruiser had reached Manila, is at the Bremerton navy yard. She is out of commission.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Wedding bells will ring this evening.

The Registrars of Voters meet in Atlantic tonight.

The alarm from Box 46 at 7.09 Tuesday night was a false alarm.

The frost last night ruined the flower gardens which weathered the gale of yesterday.

A large tree in the yard of Dr. Gordon on Hancock street was blown down Tuesday during the storm.

Mrs. Louis Eckert and son of Edison street left today for Newport News where they will make their future home.

A benefit for the Floating Hospital is to be given by the Clancy Kids at Bethany chapel on Wednesday evening, Oct. 16th.

Councilman George Sawyer and family of Faxon road have returned from their summer home at Squantum.

The Eaton heirs were the ones who obtained the building permit last week for additions at the ice house on Adams street.

An attempt will be made to organize a Quincy chess team to enter for the trophy offered by the New England Chess Association.

The Harvest supper which was to be given in Memorial church vestry this evening has been postponed to the evening of October sixteenth.

Mrs. Chandler W. Smith called at the Quincy Women's club house yesterday for a few minutes during the social hour of the club and received a warm welcome.

Rt. Wor. E. Alden Dyer, the district deputy grand master of the 24th Masonic district, with his suite, will pay Rural lodge an official visit at the communication this week. The Schubert quartette will furnish music.

Owing to the havoc of the wind Monday night a great deal of damage was done to the trees in Atlantic and several flower beds were entirely ruined just as they were about to give a fall opening. Dennis O'Neil was kept busy all day Tuesday straightening things out.

Sudden Death

Joshua Wilkins, who was probably the best known horseman on the South Shore, dropped dead this morning at his home 495 Commercial street, East Braintree.

Mr. Wilkins arose in apparent good health and went to the barn early to milk. A little later he fell over dead.

Mr. Wilkins was about 69 years of age, and leaves a son, Benjamin T. Wilkins of Braintree, and daughter Mrs. C. D. Harlow of Weymouth; also a sister.

An infant child of his daughter, Mrs. Harlow passed away on Tuesday.

Kindergarten Exchange.

A kindergarten exchange will be opened at the residence of Mrs. Wm. G. Curtis No. 10 Grand View avenue, Wollaston, on Saturday, Oct. 12, from 2.30 to 4.30 P. M. for the sale of home made cake, pies and bread. This sale will be continued at same place each Saturday, until further notice, and will be in charge of some member of the committee of fifteen of the Wollaston free kindergarten.

TODAY'S COURT.

Edward H. Talbot was fined $15 and Gilbert H. Browne and Alonzo L. White $10 each, for exceeding the automobile speed limit at Milton.

M. Edna Swain was arraigned for a statutory offense at Quincy and was held in $1000 until Saturday.

—Latest popular sheet music received daily at La Croix, corner Hancock and School streets.

ODD TABLES.

For the parlor or library at the auction, Newton St., Wollaston, tomorrow, Thursday at 1.30.

JOB PRINTING

AT OFFICE OF DAILY LEDGER

THIS IS HOSPITAL WEEK

AND THIS IS WHERE YOU COME IN.

During the first few days of this week a small army of polite and enthusiastic collectors will swarm over the city, sowing seed for a bountiful harvest which they hope to gather two or three days afterwards!

They will carry little account books for keeping strict tabs on themselves and other people; they will scatter beautifully printed literature in your homes, so that you may read convincing testimony as to the indispensable usefulness as well as the crying needs of Our Hospital; and lastly they will distribute strong little envelopes, made to stand the strain of any number of bills and coins which may be stuffed into them!

After two or three days' interval to let the effects of the literature soak into your minds, the same collectors, more polite than ever, will call for the envelopes and their contents, whether bulging or otherwise. The collectors do their work cheerfully without pay, for the good of the cause, and contributors are asked to lighten their labors as much as possible by having their envelopes ready promptly. Perhaps in many cases there might be an agreement at the first call as to the most convenient time for the second visit.

Please write names and amounts plainly on the envelopes (ink preferred) bearing in mind the Treasurer's task of reading and copying some thousands of these envelopes.

Do not seal the the envelopes unless the money is actually spilling out of them!

And that will be about all.

The Committee hopes that everybody will take a keen interest in this canvass and look sharp for the final returns when they are published.

Please Support OUR HOSPITAL lovally.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Y. M. C. A. will be held on Friday afternoon in Association hall.

The Wheaton Seminary club has voted $25.00 toward the entertainment of the General Federation of the Women's clubs at its biennial convention in Boston in June 1908.

First Church Alliance resumes its meetings on Monday, Oct. 14th, in the chapel when there will be a miscellaneous program, participated in by Rev. E. C. Butler, Mrs. John W. Sanborn and Mrs. William B. Nichols. Mebers will not wish to miss a meeting this season as a fine program has been carefully arranged for every meeting covering a wide field of subjects in which the Alliance is particularly interested.

The Shakespeare club of Atlantic had a particularly pleasant outing on Thursday, Oct. 3d, going to Cambridge where points of interest at Harvard university were enjoyed. The Shakespeare garden at the Botanical gardens proved of special interest. Some two hundred flowers are mentioned in the various works of Shakespeare and a goodly number of these are grown at Cambridge.

Miss Abbie B. Wood entertained the Junior Friday club at her home on Monday afternoon and a most enjoyable meeting was held. The president Mrs. Jesse I. Litchfield presided and welcomed the new member Miss Grace M. Isaac. Italy the subject for this season's study proved interesting from the start and will be more so as the study progresses as it is a country rich in art, music, literature and history.

The Massachusetts society of the Daughters of the Revolution are to observe Yorktown day on Oct. 19th by a trip to Newburyport. Members will take the 10.10 A. M. train from the North station, Boston. Lunch will be served at Wolfe tavern and the afternoon spent in visiting points of historic interest.

Rev. Ernest W. Hunt is to give a report of the International Council at the Oct. 16th meeting of the Wollaston Alliance.

A column article on the biennial of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, prepared for this department, will appear in the Daily Ledger tomorrow.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

About one hundred braved the elements and attended the opening meeting of the Quincy Women's club on Tuesday afternoon at the club house. In the absence of the president and first vice president, Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, second vice president was in the chair, presiding most graciously. Routine business was transacted and favorable reports given by the various chairmen of committees.

Considerable work is to be undertaken this season by the club. The Arts and Crafts committee reported classes to be formed in millinery and leather work. The Education committee will have a current events class with Mrs. W. T. Babcock as leader. During the summer this committee has had classes in sewing, sloyd, and also had charge of children's gardens. The Philanthropy committee gave during the summer a garden party at the club house for clerks in some of the Boston stores. The Civic committee reported improvements contemplated and future entertainments in aid of the work. The Visiting Nurse committee reported 327 visits paid by the nurse since the last meeting of the club in May.

A letter of resignation was read from Mrs. Chandler W. Smith president of the club, the resignation being necessary because of her removal to Manchester, N. H. It was voted to accept the resignation with regret. The club feels deeply the loss of Mrs. Smith who was about to enter upon the duties of her office. She has served the club most faithfully the past two years as first vice president presiding at several meetings in the absence of the president and becoming well known to club members.

The club is fortunate in having two very capable vice presidents Mrs. Geo. W. Morton, first vice and Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney second vice.

It was voted that the nominating committee which served last spring for the election of officers be asked to serve in filling the vacancy and report at some future meeting. In the meantime Mrs. Morton will conduct the affairs of the club.

At the close of the business Mrs. Gurney introduced Mrs. Otho A. Hayward, chairman of the Music committee, as the chairman of the afternoon's program. A short informal program was given; a group of songs by Mrs. Henry M. Faxon and a reading by Miss Hazel Jennings. Mrs. Faxon's songs were: "When the birds go north again," "In Arcadie" and "Love Song." Mrs. Ellsworth accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Faxon sang beautifully, with feeling and expression and each song was heartily encored. Miss Jennings read "The Mallets Masterpiece" which was exceptionally well done and the little piece which she gave in response to the insistent encore was appreciatively received.

A very informal, and therefore delightful, social hour brought the afternoon to an end. Members seemed pleased to be back again to meet club friends and good cheer prevailed.

Refreshments were contributed by the officers of the club, consisting of sandwiches, cake and delicious fruit punch. The Hospitality committee, Mrs. Eben W. Sheppard, chairman, was in charge, the committee for the afternoon being: Mrs. George G. Saville, Mrs. W. H. Doble and Mrs. W. G. A. Pattee. Punch was served by Mrs. W. O. Wellington, Mrs. James H. Stetson and Mrs. Otho A. Hayward assisted by twenty members of the club.

The next meeting Oct. 22, will be in charge of the Civic Committee and Mrs. Charles E. Cameron a most interesting speaker, will give a talk on "Heraldy." The meeting will be at three o'clock at the club house. Dr. Brackett comes to the club on Nov. 12 and the meeting will be open to the public.

ADAMS CHAPTER.

Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, held the first meeting of the season on Monday afternoon at the birthplace of President John Adams. It was an informal gathering to talk over the summer and plan for the winter's work.

The regent presided and favorable reports were given by the secretary and treasurer.

It was decided to extend an invitation to the officers of the State Society to attend the November meeting at the Adams house; the council to arrange all the details.

Reports on "Old Home Week" were given. Plans are already made for several meetings and an unusually pleasant season is anticipated.

NEIGHBORING.

Nixon Waterman read from his own poems at the meeting of the Brightelmstone club of Allston, on Monday afternoon. The club this season is to have classes in current events, physical culture and singing and also has others in view.

Mrs. Margaret Deland speaks on "The Duty of Happiness" at the October meeting of the Wheaton Seminary club, at hotel Vendome, Boston, on Saturday.

The Current Events club of Hyde Park enters upon the season with its membership limit of 400 reached and a waiting list. The first meeting since spring was held this morning when Miss Grace Chamberlain gave a recital of "Candida."

Among the speakers engaged by the Brockton Woman's club are: Heloise E. Hersey, Mabel Loomis Todd, Margaret Deland and Leland Powers.

ciations in the country with 200,000 members. The A. U. was interested in the poor boy, and also the girl. We believe in building up the body. Boston was a pioneer with the first open-air gymnasium, the Charlesbanks, also with the first public indoor gymnasium. He told of the balmy days of the East Boston Athletic Association and what it did for that section of the city, and its great success in sports. He advocated class work and the spirit of helpfulness, the strong for the weak. He claimed athletics will help to make the country better. They appealed to the youth and there was a great opportunity. Mr. Maccabe's account of the relay race of the East Boston and Cambridgeport teams was vivid and thrilling, and his audience almost felt as if they were there.

President Parlin and Rev. E. W. Hunt endorsed what the speaker said, and upon motion of Walter E. Simmons a rising vote of thanks was given them.

Browning—Morrow.

A very pretty wedding was held at the home of Mrs. Lottie Weymouth Morrow, 16 Farnum street, at five o'clock Tuesday afternoon, her daughter, Lillian Weymouth, being united in marriage to Mr. Frank Horace Browning of Washington, D. C., by the Rev. A. R. Atwood of the Washington Street Congregational church.

The bride was attended by Miss Estelle C. Tirrell as maid of honor, while Mr. Herbert Weymouth Cass of Dover, Maine, a cousin of the bride, acted as best man. The double ring service was used, the ring bearers being Miss Gertrude Osgood and Master Roy Webster. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. George C. Morrow, of Brockton. The wedding march was played by Miss Elizabeth Germaine Scouler.

The bride was prettily gowned in a princess dress of messaline satin with yoke of fillet lace and carried white roses. The maid of honor wore a gown of French muslin trimmed Irish lace and carried pink carnations

Following the ceremony a short reception was held, Mr. and Mrs. Browning being assisted in receiving by their parents. Misses Sadie Pawsey, Margaret Morrow, Marion Tirrell and Marion Morrow served refreshments. The house was tastily decorated in red and green autumn foliage.

Mr. and Mrs. Browning left for a few days' visit in Washington and on their return will reside at 16 Farnum street, where they will be at home to their friends after November the twelfth.

Speatley—Sawe.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at 767 Washington street Saturday evening. The groom was Richard J. Speatley, one of the foremen at the Fore River, and the bride, Miss Johanna Augusta Sawe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. R. Atwood, pastor of the Washington Street Congregational church. A reception to immediate friends followed the ceremony.

House Warming.

Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield and Miss Lizzie Waldron were given a housewarming Tuesday evening at their new apartments on Hancock street by a number of their friends. Games were played in which many "tumbled," and singing was enjoyed. There was fancy dancing by some of those present and fortunes were told. During the evening the hostesses were presented with a gas stove for their apartments. The guests brought plenty of good things to eat, and during the merriment tables were set and all partook of the goodies. After singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "Good Night Ladies" came adjournment.

Assault Alleged.

There came near being a serious cutting affair Tuesday night in an Italian grocery store on Canal street. Officer Bishop was notified and arrested Francesco Di Santes the proprietor.

Hearing on Trolley Freight

There is a general feeling among the members of the City Council that rather a brief notice was given by the Railroad Commissioners of the hearing to be given the Old Colony street railway on its petition for permission to operate a trolley freight on Randolph avenue.

The law says that suitable notice shall be given, and the Railroad Commissioners gave their first newspaper notice on Tuesday for a hearing on Friday.

It was not until late Monday afternoon that Mayor Thompson received notice that the hearing was to be held this week Friday, and only by chance that he was able to notify the City Council this week.

This gives the city but little time in which to prepare its case. Councilman Hull, however, intends that there shall be a good representation of citizens present at the hearing.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. ## Masonic Election And Presentation

The annual election and installation of St. Stephen's Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, was held at the regular convocation on Wednesday evening. These officers were elected:

Excellent High Priest,—Charles E. Monroe.
Excellent King,—John Morgan.
Chaplain,—Rev. C F. Hill Crathern.
Excellent Scribe,—Thomas D. Borst.
Treasurer,—Elihu T. Spear.
Secretary,—James H. Webb.
Captain of the Host,—Roscoe M. Horton.
Principal Sojourner,—William H. Parry.
Royal Arch Captain,—Albert M. Willis.
Master Third Veil,—Walter E. Piper.
Master Second Veil,—Hartley L. White.
Master First Veil,—Lawrence D. Duncan.
Senior Steward,—Lafayette Gleason.
Junior Steward,—Louis S. Cleaves.
Tyler,—James W. Rideout.
Organist,—Herbert Y. Follett.

The officers were installed by Past Excellent High Priest Elihu T. Spear, assisted by Past Excellent Hight Priest E. E. Hoxie as grand captain of the host.

A pleasing feature of the evening was the presentation to Benjamin H. Barlow, the retiring excellent high priest, of a past officers jewel the address being by the Most Excellent Grand High Priest Elihu T. Spear.

A banquet followed the business of the evening.

Birthday Surprise.

A few immediate friends of John A Kelly gathered at his home, 35 Penn street, South Quincy, Saturday evening to help celebrate the twenty-first anniversary of his birthday. John bade them welcome and in a quiet way explained to his friends that he had an engagement and would return in a short time. In the meantime John had taken a notion for a speel and skidooed to Music hall. Getting out of patience for his return the jolly crowd sent a hurry up messager to Music hall after him, who brought him home a little quicker than he went, and to John's surprise was presented with a valuable ring and a diamond stick pin. The presentation was made by Miss Margaret Murphy. During the evening refreshments were served by his mother, Mrs. William A. Kelly, assisted by Mrs. Alex McKee, Mrs. Florence Kelly, Miss Margaret Murphy and Mrs. Emma Savoie. Piano selections, dancing and singing by Mrs. R. Smith, Mrs. J. Gorman, Mrs R. McLellan, James Murphy, Joseph Culbert, Joseph Houston and Alex McKee were enjoyed until a late hour. Before the jolly friends sang "Auld Lang Syne" John did not forget to sing "Will ye no come back again."

Milk at 8 Cents.

Stories have been circulated in WOLLASTON, WOLLASTON PARK and NORFOLK DOWNS, that we are to charge fancy prices for milk this winter, but we hereby give notice to our customers and others that the price will be 8 cents.

OCTOBER WEDDINGS

Three Last Night Crowley---Elcock Fitts---Tanner Melville---Newcomb

Bethany chapel was prettily trimmed with autumn leaves, hardy hydrangea blossoms, dahlias, barberry, cut flowers, ferns and rubber plants for the wedding of two popular young people of the church. The bride was Miss Jeannette Miller Tanner, youngest daughter of Mrs. Hannah M. Tanner, and the groom the youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Fitts.

The ceremony was solemnized at half past seven by Rev. Edward Norton, assisted by Rev. Dr. Hardy. Only the immediate families assembled for the ceremony. Mr. Wendell Luce organist of Christ church played from the opera Tanhauser for the bridal procession which entered the parlor in the following order: the four ushers, J. Holland Otis and G. Edward Brown of Dorchester, George M. Luce of Quincy and William Hodges of Mansfield; the two little flower girls, Grace Miller and Gertrude Fitts, the two bridesmaids, Miss Emma M. Spaulding of Quincy and Miss Ethel A. Fitts of Mansfield; the maid of honor, Miss Maude E. Lillibridge of East Greenwich, Rhode Island, and lastly the bride. Mr. Walter S. McKenzie of Quincy was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her mother.

The bride, a beautiful blonde, looked unusually pretty in her white bridal robes. The gown was of batiste trimmed with lace. She carried a large bouquet of bride roses and the tulle veil was caught up with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a necklace with pearl pendant, the gift of the groom. The maid of honor was in white with pale blue sash, and the bridesmaids were dressed alike in pale blue silk batiste trimmed with lace and they carried bouquets of white carnations. The flower girls wore white muslin.

As souvenirs of the day the bride presented her maid of honor with a pearl brooch and the bridesmaids with belt buckles, and the groom gave his best man and ushers scarf pins.

Following the ceremony a reception was held from eight until ten, Mr. and Mrs. Fitts being assisted by the bride's mother and the maid of honor. There was music continuously during the reception by a harp and violin. A wedding supper of ices, cake, coffee and punch was served. There was a large gathering of friends to extend congratulations and the young people were also the recipient of many gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Fitts have gone to Washington on their wedding trip and on their return are to reside at 18 Bigelow street.

CROWLEY—ELCOCK.

St. Mary's church at West Quincy looked very beautiful on Wednesday evening with decorations of palms, ferns, cut flowers and soft colored lights, for the wedding of two well known young people of that village. Miss Estella Marie Elcock, daughter of ex-Councilman and Mrs. James H. Elcock, and Mr. Dennis Francis Crowley, son of Mr. Michael Crowley.

Miss McKay, at the organ, played while the guests were assembling and promptly at seven o'clock, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bridal party consisting of Mr. Crowley and the maid of honor, Miss Alicia Elcock, the bride and best man, Mr. Michael Crowley, nephew of the groom, and the ushers Alexis Elcock, James Elcock, Jr., James Geary and Daniel Duggan, entered the church and proceeded to the altar where the ceremony was solemnized by Rev. Ambrose Roche, pastor of the church.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents which had been transformed into a bower of beauty by the use of autumn foliage, palms, cut flowers, festoons and wedding favors. The parents of the bride, father of the groom, the bridesmaid, and best man assisted in receiving. A wedding supper was served by Whittemore, and there was music by Wilson's orchestra. The presents displayed were rich and beautiful, consisting of cut glass, silver and china.

The bride looked very attractive in a white crepe de chine with Irish point lace trimmings over white taffeta. The soft bridal veil was arranged with orange blossoms and the bouquet was of white roses. In delicate contrast the bridesmaid wore a blue silk voile over blue taffeta with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowley left amid congratulations, showers of confetti and rice for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Virginia Hot Springs and other points of interest. On their return they are to reside at 658 Adams street, in their beautiful new home, where they will be at home to friends after the sixteenth of December.

Mr. Crowley is a popular young contractor and has the best wishes of a host of friends as he enters upon the new life contract of a partnership of two.

MELVILLE—NEWCOMB.

Among the pretty home weddings of the month was that of Wednesday evening of Miss Florence Frances Newcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Newcomb of 49 Newcomb street, and Mr. Frank Rex Melville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Melville of East Howard street, Quincy Point.

Autumn leaves, barberry and cut flowers made a pretty setting for the ceremony which was performed at eight o'clock by Rev. Alfred R. Atwood of the Washington Street Congregational church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Bertha Newcomb, and Samuel Melville, brother of the groom, acted as his best man. The ushers were: James Melville and R. Cady Loud.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon with trimmings of velvet and embroidery, and the maid of honor wore a white point d'esprit over pink, trimmed with val lace.

Guests were present from New York, Providence, New Bedford, Framingham, Weymouth, Braintree and Quincy. During the reception the bride and groom were assisted in receiving by the maid of honor and best man.

A dainty lunch was served and there was also a display of beautiful gifts of silver, cut glass and ornaments.

Mr. and Mrs. Melville are enjoying the autumn foliage in the Berkshire hills. On their return they are to live at Quincy Point at 1 Reed park.

Accident.

Chester Shirley, son of Alexander Shirley, who was injured last week, is reported as doing nicely. The boy with others was playing snap the whip on Brooks avenue. In their play they did not see a three-horse stone team and the Shirley boy who was on the end of the whip was thrown against the horses. One of them reared and came down with his fore feet on the boy. One of the shoe caiks cut a gash in his head but his companions rescued him before he was injured further. It was a narrow escape.

Ladies Interested.

The ladies who are to assist at the Elks carnival in the Coliseum next week met at the club house on Wednesday evening for a conference. From the club house they went to the Coliseum and viewed the general layout of the booths, etc.

The decorators have already commenced their work and much of the paraphernalia is already in place. After the visit to the Coliseum they returned to the clubhouse where they were entertained with music, ice cream and cake.

The arrangements for the grand carnival are fast nearing completion, and the present indications are that it will be the most elaborate and successful affair of its kind ever held in Quincy.

There are so many social events this week that the Daily Ledger is crowded every day, and finds it necessary to lay over many reports in type.

LOSS OF TRADE

Claimed By Liquor Dealers Because Quincy Limited Expresses

The letter of Amos Di Vito of Boston, who seeks a permit to transport liquor in Quincy, which was read at the meeting of the City Council on Monday evening is a unique one in many ways. It is also, incidentally, a strong argument in favor of restricting the number of permits issued. It is a good campaign article for the Citizens' No-License League.

The writer claims that by reducing the number of permits that a sort of express monopoly has been created and that many Boston rumsellers are loosing trade in Quincy.

That the transportation of liquor is a lucrative one is evinced by the statement that he could raise $15,000 for the exclusive right to transport liquor into Quincy.

As it is now, expressmen receive fifty cents from every case of beer brought into Quincy. Twenty-five cents of this is paid by the purchaser for transportation and the expressman also receives a commission of twenty-five cents from the liquor dealer of whom he purchases the liquor.

Is it any wonder then that there are so many expressmen, or alleged expressmen, who desire the privilege of transporting liquor.

The letter in full follows:

No. 46 Lewis Street.
Boston, Mass., Sept. 21, 1907.
President of the Common Council,
City Hall, Quincy Mass

Dear Sir:—The writer of this letter has signed a petition, to be submitted for consideration to the Honorable Common Council Board of Quincy, Mass.; the petition is a request for an express license to convey liquor from Boston to Quincy.

I believe that the Honorable city fathers should grant the petition by the following reasons:

1st because the transportation facilities are not adequate enough to satisfy both the liquor dealers of Boston and the Quincy customers, 2d since the City Fathers have limited the express licenses to twelve not only have transportation facilities decreased but an express monopoly has seemingly been formed. The chief reasons why I have made an application is because the wholesalers of Boston are complaining of the loss of trade to their firms which has been caused and largely due to the reasons reported to me by some liquor dealers as follows:

Quincy patronizers of Boston liquor firms of long standing have ordered liquors from Boston firms but the considerable delay caused by express delivery, has brought the same trade in other channels, that is to other firms, of the considerable liquor merchandise express to Quincy, partly has been delivered long after it was expected; partly has been known to go to the wrong resident and another portion of it has returned to the Boston firm from Quincy after a long delay; with a loss to the firm of not only the sale of merchandise so much as double transportation charges which had to be paid.

The cause of the above results is due partly to the ignorance of the express drivers and in many cases as I am made to understand, the drivers can not read the Italian names correctly. While in many other cases they are unable to deliver the merchandise to the right parties, whether this is really so or whether the drivers do it intentionally, I am at a loss to know.

There is another reason and a serious one, Honorable Quincy City Fathers do you realize a possible transportation monopoly formed either in Quincy or Boston?

As I understand it, a liquor dealer has come before the Quincy Common Council and said that if the Quincy Common Council would restrict or limit the express licenses to twelve that he would give $12,000, to the Quincy City Treasurer.

What does this mean I ask, does it not mean a monopoly? If the Quincy City Fathers for the restricted twelve will accept money I can raise $15,000, for the same, and still hold or sell the licenses at a profit, but such a thing is to my estimation contrary to any constitutional principle and I don't believe that the Quincy City Fathers are going to sanction or cultivate any monopolistic tendency that is contrary to the fabric of the commonwealth. Mr. Chairman and City Fathers I am satisfied that with the restricted twelve express licenses, it not only remains with the expressmen to do as they like with the Boston firms by delivering the merchandise to suit their own convenience, again it isn't impossible for any unscrupulous body of men of business intelligence to see the advantageous loop hole in the restricted twelve licenses, what is going to stop a few greedy liquor dealers, to combine with the twelve expressmen and form some kind of a trust, that will spoil business for the Boston firms and smash competition, as I have already explained, delay delivering the orders and when they are delivered too late the Boston firm not only loses the customer but both Boston firms and Quincy customers are at the mercy of the express trust.

Respectable City Fathers, I appreciate the fact that Quincy is a temperance city and that the City Fathers are struggling to carry out, the full letter of the law, but the existing condition produced by the restricted twelve express licenses is not ameliorating affairs, since the same amount of liquor is sold in Quincy, the only objections that the wronged Boston firms have, is the unfair methods of business competition in Quincy induced by the limited twelve express licenses. I do believe, that in justice to all, that either no liquor should be allowed on expresses to Quincy, or else licenses should be granted to me, especially considering the fact that I am not only an Italian but also because I have shown reasonable grounds as to why I should get a license.

City Fathers of Quincy, the motive that has actuated me to apply for an express license is such a sincere one that I honestly believe that the City Fathers will grant my petition. I remain,

Yours truly,
Amos DeVito.

Webster Nominated.

Walter A. Webster who recently came to Atlantic for a bride, was last night nominated as the Republican candidate for district attorney of Boston. He addressed the Unitarian club and the Congregational club at Wollaston last winter, and convinced his audiences that he was a staunch believer in good government and that he would be aggressive when opportunity offered in enforcing the laws.

Mr. Webster has been prominent in the councils of his party since 1890. Elected to the House of Representatives in 1905, he served on the committee on street railways. Re-elected in 1906, he was appointed chairman of engrossed bills and House chairman on the special committee on Sunday laws. This year he has been House chairman of the metropolitan affairs and the rules committees.

At the opening of the last session Mr. Webster introduced a bill asking the Legislature to appoint a committee to investigate the condition of Boston's finances. It was this bill that resulted in the selection of a finance commission by the mayor.

Mr. Webster was born in Newton, Dec. 4, 1875, and is a graduate of Boston University law school. He was admitted to the bar in 1899, the year of his graduation. He married Miss Florence M. Gray of Atlantic, April 25, 1907.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

All hallows eve the last night of the month.

The street railway is storing its open cars for the winter.

For two mornings the temperature at sunrise has been near the freezing point.

A gas main is being laid on School street from the junction of Franklin street west.

Supt. of Wires Gavin is connecting up the new police signal boxes at Atlantic and on Edwards hill.

All nominations for the municipal caucuses must be filed with the party secretaries on or before the last day of this month, Oct. 31.

Those in want of fruit trees, shrubbery, etc., would do well to consult the advertisement of David J. Roche elsewhere in the Daily Ledger.

The special committee on uniformity of municipal accounting of the City Council will meet next Tuesday evening. It is something City Auditor Fairbanks has long desired to accomplish.

The Christian Endeavorers of the Washington Street Congregational church held a social Tuesday evening under the leadership of Miss Harriet Phillips. The vestry was very prettily decorated with autumn foliage, flags and bunting, which reflected great credit on Thomas Skinner and Carleton McNeil. There were games under the direction of Miss Helen Lincoln and graphophone selections by the Artis Bros. Refreshments were served.

Age of Battleships.

The annual conference of the National Liberals of Germany this week adopted Count Oriola's resolution committing the party to the support of the proposals to strengthen and develop the navy, especially by the building of new vessels equal in size and in efficiency to those of other Powers, and reducing the age limit of battleships. The latter proposal refers to the general demand that battleships be replaced when they have been twenty, instead of twenty-five years afloat.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

The General Federation to Hold Biennial In Boston

The ninth biennial of the General Federation of Women's clubs is to be held in Boston during the week beginning June 22, with the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's clubs as the hostess organization.

The invitation to come to Boston given by vote of the Massachusetts Federation and endorsed by a cordial assurance of welcome by Governor Guild, was extended at the St. Paul biennal in 1906.

The first steps taken by the Massachusetts Federation on receipt of the acceptance of its invitation was to send out a statement to the clubs in membership of the amount needed to defray the expenses and ask for voluntary contributions, and to appoint the local Biennial Board. It was estimated that $10,000 would be needed to entertain the guests in a manner worthy of Massachusetts and her many women's clubs, and the pledges returned more than realized the amount. Most of the clubs raised one-half the amount pledged and and forwarded it during the last club year and have a like amount to raise this year. Not a few of the clubs pledged additional help if it were required.

To meet these pledges most of the club members have contributed their proportional part in one or two payments as they desired, some of the clubs have taken the money from their treasuries in one or two payments and a few have raised it by giving entertainments or by holding fairs. The Local Biennial Board of the Massachusetts Federation it made up of 12 members, representing as many different clubs, and ten different cities, with Miss Georgia A. Bacon, of Worcester, as Chairman, Mrs. Lillian G. Breed of Lynn, as Recording Secretary, Mrs. Lelia C. Pennock of Somerville, as Corresponding Secretary, and Mrs. Mary Morton Kehew of Boston, as Treasurer.

The principal sessions of the biennial will be held in Symphony hall, which is widely known as one of the finest auditoriums in the country. It is by far the most convenient convention hall in the city and it has a seating capacity of 2,569, and, in addition 250 persons may be seated upon the platform. Rooms suitable for committee use, are so numerous that all the local committees will find ample accommodations in the building. Chickering hall, a few steps down Huntington avenue from Syhphony hall, will be used if necessary for overflow meetings. In this building the Emerson College of Oratory is housed, occupying nine rooms. These rooms have been engaged by the Massachusetts State Federation and will be used as State headquarters for large visiting delegations. By vote of the local biennial board no charge will be made to State delegations for the use of these rooms during the biennial.

The Woman's clubhouse, situated just below Chickering hall, has been generously offered to the local Biennial Board and its two large halls will be used for conferences and for exhibits respectively. The Hotel Vendome will be the official headquarters of the State and General Federations.

While as hostess, we lay stress, on making ready to receive our guests let us remember that there are coming to us expert speakers along many lines of thought and endeavor. The conferences and discussions in which some of the brightest women from all sections of the country will take part will, in themselves, be a surprise and a delight to our club women who have never attended a biennial of the General Federation. As the Massachusetts clubs could more than fill the of tickets, and it is to be hoped for used by as many members as possible and for every session of the conhalls it will be necessary for each club to have, in addition to its delegate privileges, but a limited number the benefit resulting to the members and through them to the clubs they represent, that these tickets may be vention. The Massachusetts women's clubs have proven the executive ability of their members and they are given to hospitality. They will have, next June, an opportunity worthy their power and their cordiality. Toward this event they are looking with pleasant anticipation.

TAFT'S TALK AT SHANGHAI

Chinese People Regard It In a Most Favorable Light

Shanghai, Oct. 10.—The comment of the Chinese press, officials and people on the visit to Shanghai of War Secretary Taft is most enthusiastic. The general feeling of the Chinese on the utterances of Taft may be summarized as follows:

"The United States will not sell the Philippine islands, an assurance which is welcomed, as it means that there will be no extension of Japanese influence and a continuance of American influence in the Far East.

"The Chinese desire to interpret Taft's statement reiterating that the United States favors the open door policy in China as being unofficial, but at the same time made on high authority and indicating that the United States will support it in China and maintain the policy in Manchuria, the only place where the open door is threatened.

"Mr. Taft's endorsement of the United States court for China, over which Judge Wilfley presides, is looked upon as meaning a continuance of the new era of justice and as demonstrating that the United States is really interested in China, as shown by the acts which follow her assurances on the subject.

"The enthusiastic welcome accorded to Taft here atones for the boycott of American goods and demonstrates China's friendship for America.

"The assurances given in regard to fair treatment of the emigration question are accepted in good faith. China trusts in the United States and believes the latter to be her true friend."

The Whitney Campaign

Salem, Mass., Oct. 10.—Henry M. Whitney addressed a rally here last night. Whitney referred to the Springfield convention, stating that he stood for law and order and was opposed to "fraud and farce." Senator Schofield read a newspaper clipping, which quoted Senator Lodge as saying that there was not much difference between the Bartlett and Whitney forces, except that the Bartlett men got into the hall first. Schofield said if he cared to follow the line of argument adopted by Lodge he might say there was no difference between the senator and his former secretary, who had been convicted of taking money wrongfully. Schofield, however, said he did not think the erring secretary's method was sanctioned by the Republican party.

Point In Whitney's Favor

Boston, Oct. 10.—It is the irony of fate that the Bartlett men, after contending, as they have contended, that Whitney lost the state convention because his delegates did not get around early enough, now find that Bartlett is going to be under a disadvantage before the state ballot law commission because of a similar slip-up on their own part. Chairman Cunningham announced that the commission would follow its usual practice in making the papers "first filed as a prima facie case," and requiring the sponsors for the other papers to prove that the first are not legal. The Whitney papers were filed at 9:05 a. m. last Monday, but it was 9:37 a. m. before the Bartlett papers were formally received by the secretary's office.

A Let-Up on Jews

Odessa, Oct. 10.—The unionists have voluntarily and unexpectedly discontinued their raids upon the Jewish population, which have been going on for the past few days. In the course of these disorders nearly 50 persons were wounded, many seriously. Six persons were hanged here yesterday after trial by court martial.

Steamer Hauled Off Rocks

Parrsboro, N. S., Oct. 10.—The Norwegian steamer Volund was hauled off the rocks at Blomidon yesterday afternoon and towed to the pier at Partridge island. She will be towed to Parrsboro to make temporary repairs, after which she will proceed under her own steam to New York for permanent repairs.

Milk Stays at Nine Cents

Boston, Oct. 10.—The milk situation in Boston, so far as the consumers go, with the present price of 9 cents a quart in vogue, promises to remain thus for some time to come, according to the statements of the contractors.

Suicide of Aged Man

Rochester, N. H., Oct. 10.—Brackett Dore of Pickering's crossing, aged 85, committed suicide by shooting in the head with a gun. Despondency, due in part to ill-health, is believed to have been the cause of his act. His widow is also well advanced in years.

NEWS IN BRIEF

THE CANADIAN FUR STORE

Canadian Furs at Canadian Prices.

The high quality of Canadian Furs is well known to Americans. A custom's duty of 35 per cent prevents Americans who do not visit Canada from buying Furs there. Our American house, 167 Tremont Street, Boston, will interest American buyers of Canadian furs. Here we receive our supply of raw skins from our own Canadian houses where they are collected direct from the trappers and admitted to the United States duty free in the undressed state.

All garments for our American business are manufactured by skilled American designers and finishers, and in selling direct to the wearer we eliminate intermediate profits.

Owing to its rigorous climate Canada produces the finest furs known to commerce. Silver Fox, Hudson Bay Sable, Mink, Otter, etc., are seen at their best. In dealing direct with us you secure the advantages that flow from a large and influential business following in our own stores in four Canadian cities, and a feeling of security and reliability that is always present when dealing with a house whose reputation has been merited by a constantly increasing patronage extending over a period of forty-two years, and whose products have been awarded five gold medals in different Canadian Expositions.

In comparing prices remember that quality is of first importance. Canadian Furs average 35 to 50 per cent higher grade than those of more temperate climates, because nature produces the quality; the furriers make only the garment, and the dyer's art can make a southern mink to imitate the Canadian article. To insure reliability and value, buy Canadian Furs from Canadian furriers.

NEVER DISSOLVED

Kellogg Says Oil Trust Continued Operations as an Entity

ONLY A PSEUDO LIQUIDATION

Ineffectual Effort to Find Reasons For Loans of Several Millions--Treasurer Rockefeller May Yet Be Called--Probe of Ocean Rates

New York, Oct. 10.—The method through which the trustees of the Standard Oil trust liquidated the company in order to comply with the order of the Ohio courts was further unfolded yesterday when Wesley H. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, was recalled to the witness stand in the federal suit against the so-called trust.

Statements compiled from stock books of the various subsidiary companies during the period of the trust liquidation were placed on the record, and from their transcripts and from Tilford the government's counsel, Frank B. Kellogg, says that the gravamen of the government's charge that only a psuedo liquidation was effected and that the trust continued its operations as an entity and under the same control as at the time of its inception in 1882 has been proved.

Mr. Kellogg was to develop that the liquidating trustees and their associates liquidated only enough trust certificates to give them a majority of the stocks of the 20 subsidiary companies, and that they voted these stocks as individuals and maintained a constant control over the integral companies. The dividends declared on the stocks of these companies were paid directly to those holders who had liquidated their trust certificates and to the trustees who held the stocks against the unliquidated certificates of the trust. Kellogg showed that the trustees and one or two associates were the only certificate holders who liquidated their shares in the old Standard Oil trust.

Mr. Tilford testified yesterday that the cross-town pipe line under Central Park, whose ownership has caused considerable perplexity to the federal counsel when it did not appear on the books of the Standard Oil company of New York after 1906, was still owned by the New York company.

Mr. Kellogg again tried to find out the reasons for the large loans, amounting to several millions, given to P. S. Trainor by the Southern Pipe Line company over a period of several years. Efforts to find out the nature of these loans by the federal counsel at a previous hearing developed nothing of moment, and George Chesebro, accountant for the subsidiary pipe line companies of the Standard, called as a witness yesterday, said that he knew nothing about the loans except that they have never been returned.

That the Standard Oil company of New York was a lender of millions of its surplus funds was testified to by Tilford. From a statement of the company it was developed that over $32,000,000 was loaned last year to "interests other than the Standard." What these interests were and the nature of the loans Tilford was unable to say. Kellogg said he would call William G. Rockefeller, the treasurer of the company, to throw light on these loans. Tilford said, in part explanation, that the Standard loaned its surplus funds out on call and short time loans.

The Journal of Commence says that the shipping trade here is greatly interested and somewhat concerned at the turn taken by the federal inquiry into the operations of the Standard Oil company, which may lead to an investigation by the bureau of corporations of the relations of the steamship lines with corporations engaged in heavy export business.

This is expected to follow the evidence given by Philip Harrison, manager of the New York Lubricating Oil company. Harrison charged that five steamship lines had made discriminations in rates in favor of the Standard Oil company, until his firm was forced to pay more than twice as much as the trust for the transportation of oil. By reason of this his company was practically forced from the South African territory. An omnibus contract whereby the Standard Oil company obtains from every steamship company operating between New York and all ports in Africa a rate for the shipment of lubricating oil that is about one-half what its competitors pay was produced. This contract was placed in evidence.

Moritz Rosenthal, counsel for the Standard, contends that the act creating the bureau of corporations gives it no power over ocean freights, and asserts that ocean freights are simply a matter of private contract. He says there is no law under which they can be regulated.

"I confidently believe that the bureau of corporations has the power to investigate the relations of any of the corporations doing business in this country," said Frank B. Kellogg, deputy attorney general. "I believe it will be shown that it has the power."

A transcript of the testimony in regard to the question will be made and forwarded to the bureau of corporations at Washington, where it will be given careful consideration.

CHICAGO DEFEATS DETROIT

Another Big Crowd Witnesses Long-Drawn-Out Game For Championship

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The Chicago National league team defeated the Detroit pennant winners of the American league in the second game of the series for the world's championship. Slow pitching and several slight accidents caused the contest to drag out over two hours, the delays trying the patience of the big crowd, which numbered 21,901, as against over 24,000 Tuesday.

Western Man Relieved of Money

Biddeford, Me., Oct. 10.—William Gaslin of Omaha got stranded in this city, having been obliged to leave a Boston bound passenger train because he had been robbed in Portland of all he possessed. Pickpockets in that city got his money, a railroad ticket to Chicago, a pass from there to Omaha, promissory note for large sum of money and other valuables. He did not learn of his loss until the train had left Portland. When notified later the police were unable to get any clue to make an arrest. Gaslin is attorney for a western railroad.

Emperor's Health Not Satisfactory

Vienna, Oct. 10.—Emperor Francis Joseph, who has been ill of bronchial catarrh since the beginning of this month, is still confined to his apartments, and his condition is pronounced by the attending physicians to be unsatisfactory. In view of his advanced age—he was born in 1830 and has been on the throne for 59 years—there is considerable uneasiness regarding his health. Three prominent physicians held a consultation yesterday over the imperial patient.

Coal Bunkers Are Empty

Halifax, Oct. 10.—Steamer Gibralter, 90 days from Singapore, bound to New York, arrived here with her bunkers empty. The steamer met boisterous weather throughout the voyage and while passing through the Suez canal, the machinery became disabled and she was detained there three weeks, making repairs. The steamer ran into a terrific gale off the Nova Scotia coast, the worst of the voyage, but came through it without damage.

The Japanese Emigration Problem

Tokio, Oct. 10.—The Japanese government recently has placed heavy restrictions on the emigration companies. Announcement has just been made of the promotion of a vast colonization scheme which will open up 1,000,000 acres of land in Korea to Japanese settlement. Officials aver that this will solve the question of emigration to America.

Damage by Floods In France

Paris, Oct. 10.—Continuous heavy rains have caused serious floods in many parts of France. Up to the present few deaths have been reported, but fears are entertained that the casualty list will grow. The damage has been heavy. The principal rivers to overflow their banks are the Rhone, the Loire and the Tarn.

Probably Hustled For Bear

Stamboul, La., Oct. 10.—Not since early yesterday have any tidings been received from the president's hunting camp. The best judges of the conditions express their opinion that the day must have been one of activity, if not of results. The rain left a faultless sky and the temperature was all that could be desired.

Not Ready to Be Buried

Wheeling, Oct. 10.—Relatives of Mrs. Frederick Hartzell, the young wife of a farmer living near Huntington, were bemoaning her death a few minutes before the minister arrived to conduct the funeral rites, when she suddenly sat up and climbed out of the coffin. There was a rush of mourners for the open air.

Donovan For Sheriff

Boston, Oct. 10.—James Donovan, erstwhile boss of the Boston Democratic machine, had a close shave last night in the Suffolk county convention. But he won the Democratic nomination for sheriff of Suffolk county, while Fred H. Seavey, again and again the Democratic nominee, was frozen out.

Porter Talks on Contractual Debts

The Hague, Oct. 10.—The peace conference committee on maritime war, after an appropriate speech by Horace Porter (America), approved the proposition on the subject of contractual debts, the vote standing 38 to 1 in its favor. Six abstained from voting.

Divers to Examine the Kentucky

Norfolk, Oct. 10.—The battleship Kentucky, which grounded off Lambert's point, arrived at the Norfolk navy yard in tow of two naval tugs. While it is not thought the Kentucky is damaged, divers will be sent down to examine her bottom plates.

No General Strike In Cuba

Havana, Oct. 10.—Eilio Sanchez, one of the labor leaders of Cuba, called on Governor Magoon and declared that the laborites had abandoned their intention of calling a general strike and that they purposed to continue the railroad strike without violence.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Oct. 11.
Sun rises—5:52; sets—5:11.
Moon sets—8:11 p. m.
High water—1:45 a. m.; 2 p. m.
Rain is indicated for New England. Important temperature changes are not anticipated.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

The lawn about the Quincy Point church is being regraded.

Capt. Hadlock, the chronometer expert, visited the yard Wednesday.

The Quincy Point collectors for Hospital week report good responses.

Joseph Melrose of Boson was in town Wednesday renewing old acquaintances.

Fred J. Gross of West Elm avenue has gone to Washington, D. C., for a brief visit.

Miss Agnes Early of Newton Lower Falls is visiting Miss Lisabelle Linnell of Davis street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leavitt Mayhew of Oak Bluffs are this week visiting Mrs. Chester Jones of Calumet street.

The call for the Republican Municipal caucuses will appear in the Daily Ledger tomorrow.

Two toilet rooms have been put in the Washington Street Congregational church this week.

A. B. Robbins & Co., iron workers, have moved their factory from Albany street, Boston, to Norfolk Downs.

Theta Sigma club will entertain this week by giving a box party Friday evening at the Hollis Street theatre.

Louis French, one of the lucky boys at the hunt in Quincy woods last Saturday, is planning to take the trip to New York.

The 39th Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry association will hold its 41st reunion on Wednesday, Oct. 23, at Hendrie's, Dorchester.

Registration was brisk on Wednesday evening at the session of the Board of Registrars at Atlantic, when 36 names were added. Two became Ward Five voters and 34 Ward Six voters.

City Auditor Fairbanks accompanied State officials to Pawtucket, R. I., today, upon invitation of City Auditor Rex of that city, who has a superior system of municipal accounting.

The Citizens' Association was so interested in politics at its meeting this week that it overlooked the trolley freight hearing advertised by the Railroad Commissiomers for Friday at 10.30.

At the regular meeting of Corps 103 Tuesday evening the entire ritualistic work was inspected by Mrs. Caroline R. Morse. Visitors were present from Weymouth, Braintree and South Boston. Refreshments were served by committee in charge.

And now the doctors have a trust and a boycott with penalties. The Norfolk South District Medical Society has adopted resolutions against contract or lodge work, and intend to enforce them by arbitrary methods.

The delegates from the Quincy Point church to the State Sunday school convention at Lowell this week are: William Lee, T. B. Pollard, James Cotes, Miss Harriet Phillips, Miss Margaret Thomas, Mrs. George Bailey, Mrs. Rollin H. Newcomb, Mrs. P. H. Holman. They will report at the fellowship meeting Friday evening.

NANTASKET FARES

Committee of Board of Trade Heard by R. R. Commissioners

Wednesday forenoon the Railroad Commissioners gave a hearing on the petition of the Quincy Board of Trade for a reduction of fares between Quincy and Nantasket from 20 cents to 15. Representative Hultman opened the hearing, saying that citizens of Quincy are discriminated against when they go to Nantasket. People want a reduction from the whole of Quincy to Nantasket from 20 cents to 15. By the long route by way of East Weymouth the fare is 15 cents and it ought not to be more by the short route. Tickets for 15 cents are sold at only two points, one at Quincy City Square and one at Quincy Point. These are in drug stores where the people do not go often, and to reach these points they would in most cases have to walk a long distance, sometimes a mile or so. He presented T. L. Williams, president of the Quincy Board of Trade as the first witness.

President Williams said that the proposed reduction of fares would not injure the street railway company. The company would make just as much money if the petition were granted. Formerly the rate from Quincy to Houghs Neck was 10 cents, but the rate was reduced to five cents and the company made more money by it. This was some four or five years ago. Present arrangements are very bad. People who are nearer to Nantasket than Quincy City Square have to pay 20 cents against 15 cents from the Square. A better arrangement would be one by which conductors can sell tickets.

Chairman Jackson asked whether tickets could not be sold in some other places. Mr. Williams thought that sales by conductors would be better. In most cases the people would be better satisfied by increasing the number of places where tickets can be sold.

Mr. Williams, in reply to a question from Chairman Jackson, said that he thought that the citizens of Quincy would be satisfied if the desired reduction of fares were to apply only to summer traffic. Present rates are a hardship to a man who wants to take his family to Nantasket beach on Sunday. These troubles have been brought to the Board of Trade time after time.

A. L. Whitman testified that at some places people have to walk from three quarters of a mile to a mile in order to buy the 15 cent tickets. Very few people know that the tickets are on sale at the drug stores. The company charges 20 cents for a fare where the route is a mile shorter than where they charge only 15 cents by way of East Weymouth. Not 25 per cent of the people of Quincy know that tickets are for sale at the drug stores. The road would get more money if the fares were lower.

John R. Richards regarded the 20 cent fare as a discrimination against the people of Quincy. The road does not treat the people of Quincy right. A man cannot take his family to Nantasket beach as he used to do.

Bentley W. Warren, counsel for the company, said that the 15 cent fares are advertised in the papers, where they are to be bought. He secured an admission from Mr. Richards that in going by East Weymouth for 15 cents, a passenger had to change cars twice.

William H. Teasdale, chairman of the Board of Health, said that there was a discrimination against certain parts of Quincy. Some people get a rate of 15 cents, but other people, in order to get the advantage, must walk a long distance,—a mile in some cases. He wanted to go back to the old rate of 15 cents which they had three years ago. In some cases the people pay more to go one way than to go another.

Counsel Warren said that the company wanted to please the people. But this line was built for summer business only. Fares were made low. Business in winter is very small. The line is not profitable by itself. It pays only in three months. Heavy travel is confined to two days in each week. A large equipment has to be provided which must be kept up the whole year, for it cannot be transferred to any other place. The company would be better off today to discontinue the line altogether. If it is said that the fares should be adjusted to the whole system, it is sufficient answer to say that the whole system is earning only 4 per cent, and there are many places where improvements are needed. With so small a dividend and so many demands for improvments in other places, the fares on this line ought not to be reduced. A lower fare over this very line has been tried and the company known that it would lose by lower fares. If it were otherwise the company would reduce the fare without coming to the board.

East Weymouth line has nothing to do with this case. It is made up of three different sections, and by changing cars twice a person can ride from Quincy to Nantasket for 15 cents. As to the sale of tickets by conductors, he did not think it would be practiable. If a person is at Quincy Square he can buy his tickets for 15 cents each. If he is between the Square and Quincy Point he can walk not over three-quarters of a mile to either place and buy for 15 cents. Between these two points, there is no place where tickets can be put on sale.

Chairman Jackson asked how it was if a person rode to the Square and wanted to go to Nantasket, would they have to buy a ticket? Mr. Warren said no. They would ride along without getting out and pay only 15 cents. There are serious objections to selling tickets on the cars. These are four-coupon tickets. Temptation ought never to be placed in the way of the conductor, and it would add much to their duties at the time when they have the most to attend to. This whole question was before the board a year ago, which resulted in the vote of 15 cents from center to center, though the company wanted 20 cents.

Charman Jackson said that the board would give the matter careful consideration and give their answer within a reasonable time.

Counsel Warren said the company be glad to have an inspector go down and see if tickets could be sold at any other place and the company would be glad to advertise more widely where tickets were to be sold,—an idea which Chairman Jackson approved.

Fore River Night At the Y. M. C. A.

There was a big time at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night. Seventy-five of the Fore River apprentice boys attended a special open house for them at the Association building. Mr. Osgood did some splendid entertaining.

A banjo and guitar trio, composed of Messrs. Osgood, Newcomb and Davenport, gave pleasing selections. Charles Dornan gave twenty minutes of his interesting features, and Gilbert Booth furnished orchestra music. Refreshments were served.

President James L. Richards of the New England Gas and Coke Co. visited the yard on Wednesday accompanied by Gen. Manager Winn.

A delegation of 54 members of the Providence Association of Mechanical Engineers of Providence, R. I., visited the works of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company on Wednesday and spent the afternoon in an inspection of the plant. In the party were: President John A. Gledhill, Secretary T. M. Phetteplace, Treasurer Alfred H. Whatley, E. C. Bliss, H. J. Randall, J. L. Taudvin, A. A. Fuller, L. F. Arnold, W. L. Coop, William L. Barber, L. D. Burlingame, W. L. Locke, G. Q. Pingree, Arthur A. Fuller, Warren S. Locke, and D. D. Donovan. They were shown over the works by Messrs. Homer, Rowen, and Wells of the Fore River staff. The party left on special cars for Boston at 4 o'clock and the members expressed themselves as greatly pleased over the visit which had afforded them pleasure and instruction.

The Quincy members who accompanyed the Ancients on their trip to Toronto returned home Wednesday night and reported a grand time. They were very hospitably entertained in Canada.

The first grand dance held in A. O. H. hall will be on Friday evening under the auspices of Ladies' Auxiliary No. 10.

WAR CLAIMS

Spanish War Veterans to Be Paid by Government

The Quincy men who enlisted in Co. K. Fifth Massachusetts regiment in 1898, are to be paid by the government. The Boston Transcript reports that between four and five thousand citizens of Massachusetts will share in the allowance of $101,-943.17 made by the auditor for the War Department for the payment of the Second, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth and Ninth regiments of the Massachusetts Volunteer Militia for their services at the outbreak of the war with Spain. This allowance is in accord with the decision of the Court of Claims at Washington, and the case is one in which the attorney general of Massachusetts has been deeply interested. The Commonwealth in this case was represented by H. Douglas Campbell of Boston, and associated with him were Calhoun and Sizer, a Washington law firm.

The award is for the payment of the Massachusetts Militia between the time of their assembly under the President's proclamation calling for troops in the spring of 1898 and the date of their muster into the service. The allowance was divided as follows among the regiments: Second, $16,-012.74; Sixth,$23,174.21; Eighth, $20,-641.55; Ninth, $18,967; Fifth, $23,147-67.

Most of the money goes directly to the soldiers the balance going to the State to reimburse it for soldiers' pay heretofore paid by it to the men.

The individual allowance will range from $15 to $25 per man, but before the actual payment is made the attorneys for the State of Massachusetts will carry an appeal to the comptroller of the treasury on the ground that the payment should cover the service of the militia prior to their assembly in camp and from the date of the proclamation of the President under which they were called into service.

A somewhat similar case was that of the First Regiment of Heavy Artillery. This case was appealed to the comptroller of the treasury, and the amount was increased by 50 per cent over that originally allowed by the auditor. The attorneys in the case just settled expect an increase in the allowance, but not as much as 50 per cent.

Tomorrow or Saturday the Daily Ledger will print a list of those who served in Co. K or otherwise represented Quincy during the Spanish war.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frye desire to express their appreciation and extend thanks, in the hour of their bereavement, to the employes of the Quincy Electric Light and Power Company, to kind neighbors, and to the schoolmates of little Howard at the Adams school who attended the services in a body. # TROLLEY FREIGHT

Hearing Today Before the Railroad Commissioners

But a small representation from Quincy attended today the following hearing before the Railroad Commissioners:

On the Petition of the Old Colony Street Railway Company for approval of right to act as common carrier of newspapers, baggage, express matter and freight in the city of Quincy, from the boundary line between the town of Randolph and said city of Quincy, over and along Randolph avenue to the boundary line between the town of Milton and said city of Quincy, in accordance with the provisions of chapter 402 of the Acts of the year 1907, the Board will give a hearing to the parties in interest at its office, No. 20, Beacon Street, Boston on Friday, the eleventh day of October, instant at ten-thirty o'clock in the forenoon.

Among those present were Mayor Thompson, City Solicitor Thomas, Councilman Ralph W. Hobbs, Councilman Wendell H. Hull, ex-President Walter M. Nichols, A. F. Schenkelberger and a representative of the Daily Ledger.

Lawyer Garfield represented the Old Colony street railway company at the opening.

City Solicitor Thomas reviewed the situation in Quincy saying the city government had asked repeatedly for improvement of the street railway service, but without any success. The city had no way of knowing whether the trolley freight would be of any benefit to the city, as rates were unknown.

The chairman of the Railroad Commissioners intimated that should the city ask the company to announce in advance its rates it would not be allowed to give them. That it would be wrong. That company must submit rates to the board which would pass upon them.

It was difficult for the board to say what would be for the benefit of the public. On general principles it was better for the city to come to an agreement with the street railway company.

City Solicitor Thomas thought time had not been offered. That the petition came to the City Council shortly before the summer vacation and the sixty days expired almost before the vacation was over.

Lawyer Garfield thought the city of Quincy was not much concerned over the privileges over Randolph avenue as the thoroughfare was remote from the city proper.

That Lawyer Warren might be heard for the company an adjournment was made at 11.30 until 12.30.

About 1.15 the Commissioners adjourned the hearing until Nov. 6, to give the City Council time to act.

MILTON.

Thursday night was ladies' night of the Thursday Evening club. There was music cards and refreshments.

Morning services were resumed on Sunday at the Mission of Our Saviour church with Stanley T. James as lay reader. The hour of the Sunday evening service has been changed to 7 o'clock.

Henry E. Sheldon and H. A. Souther were elected members of the Republican club of Massachusetts at the semi-annual meeting on Wednesday.

The second story of the Rugby building is being altered over into tenements.

There was quite an addition to the population of Squantum street last week, daughters being born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph White, Mr. and Mrs Leonard Rosenquist, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Travers.

Annual Visitation To Rural Lodge

The largest gathering of Masons ever assembled in Quincy, was in attendance Thursday evening at the annual visitation to Rural lodge. Rt. Wor. E. Alden Dyer of Whitman, district deputy of the 24th Masonic district, was accompanied by a large suite including Wor. Silas L. Wright of Puritan lodge of Whitman as grand marshal; Wor. Sidney F. Copeland of Wollaston lodge as grand senior warden, Wor. Charles H. Bixby of Fellowship lodge as grand junior warden, Wor. George A. Warren of St. George lodge as grand treasurer, Wor. R. F. Allen of Puritan lodge as grand secretary, and several past masters from other lodges in the district.

There were three candidates for the Master Masons' degree and a grand exemplification of the work was given by Worshipful Master Hartley L. White and the officers of the lodge. The Schubert Quartette assisted, and added choice selections to the ceremony. The pretty lodge room was enriched with plants and flowers from the green-houses of Bro. William Patterson of Wollaston.

The district deputy grand master in his address complimented the officers of the lodge upon their work, and the lodge upon its growth, and its history of over 100 years. He also called attention to the movement for a Masonic home in Massachusetts.

Rural lodge has a wide reputation for hospitalits and with Bro. Henry P. Furnald as caterer a bountiful spread was served to the 250 in attendance. It included escalloped oysters, salads, ices, cake and coffee. Cigars were also passed.

Weekly meetings are being held by Rural lodge this month because of the large number of applicants for membership and the lodge is having an unparalelled era of prosperity.

Annual of the Cape Cat Association

The annual meeting of the Cape Cat yacht racing association was held Thursday evening and these officers elected for the year 1908:

President,—Frank Fessenden Crane.

Vice President,—George G. Saville.

The past season was the most successful that the association has ever held. During the season the fleet took part in 33 races of which 21 held under the auspices of the Y. R. A.

The Irisof Commodore Crane, winner if the season's championship, the Windom Kidd, Almira, Arawak, Elmira took part in every race of the season. For the coming year the indications are the it will be even more successful than the season just closed. It is reported that several new boats will be built during the coming winter to compete in next season's races.

Booster Week Brings New Members

Literally, hundreds of young men are thinking of the Y. M. C. A. and about oining it. Twenty thousand pieces of printed matter, letters and invitations have been circulated this week; and over half of these placed directly in the hands of selected young men. Over 1000 names with definets addresses have been passed in by members, and they are being systematically followed up personally and with letters. Many of these intend joining right away. If you are in this group of men, don't wait any longer but join now.

Thursday night a fine crowd watcher the senior gymnasium class and refeshments were served to all. See the advertising in another column for tonight's program.

Cow Arrested.

An interesting incident occured at Quincy Point on Wednesday when a cow belonging at Yule's hotel broke from her stake and wandered down to sample the fruit in the yard of Mrs. Whitman. The lady at once telephoned to police headquarters, and Lieut. McKay and another officer arrived on the scene and arrested the cow. She was taken to headquarters and locked up without a trial. The owner was at once notified by messenger and the amount of bail required was at once sent when the cow was released. Being in such an urgly mood going home she stood on the car track and refusted to move blocking the Fore River cars for about five minutes.

ACTION CONDEMNED

Bartlett Leaders Violators of Fundamental Civil Rights

VIEW OF NOTED DEMOCRATS

Guilty Participants In Springfield Convention Insulted Entire Electcrate of State--Bartlett Disclaims Knowledge of Wrongful Methods

Boston, Oct. 11.—The Democratic Club of Massachusetts, at a meeting here, condemned the Bartlett leaders for their acts at the Springfield convention. Among the officers of the club are Arthur Lyman, Charles J. Barton, former Governor Douglas, former Secretary of State Olney, Josiah Quincy, William A. Gaston, Thomas J. Gargan, James B. Carroll and other noted men. A statement issued last night is in part as follows:

"The Democratic Club of Massachusetts unqualifiedly condemns the action of Daniel J. Kiley and his fellow-conspirators who, at Springfield, deliberately defrauded delegates of their legal right to participate in a Democratic convention.

"While the members of this club differed as to the wisdom of choosing of one or the other of the two aspirants for the Democratic nomination for governor, they are united in denouncing this scandalous proceeding as the grossest violation of fundamental civil rights.

"The guilty participants have done more than to insult the Democratic party; they have insulted the entire electorate of a free state and have exposed to ridicule the commonwealth itself.

"True men of all political beliefs will hold in deepest contempt the leaders in this assault upon cherished institutions and upon the high repute of Massachusetts for honest elections.

"The perpetrators of this violence upon the sanctity of the franchise of free men will, so long as men have memories and respect justice, be branded as unjust, un-Democratic and un-American."

Charles W. Bartlett last night gave out the following statement:

"A great deal of discussion has appeared in the public press in regard to the Democratic convention held at Springfield. In justice to the people of Massachusetts, to the Democratic party, to my friends and myself, I desire to make my position in this matter clear.

"I have been seeking for several months the Democratic nomination for governor, at the hands of the Democratic party. When notified of my nomination I went before the convention and accepted the same. My opponents through the press charge that this nomination was procured by fraud, by trickery, by illegal and wrongful methods. My friends, on the other hand, assert, and I have confidence in their statements, that there can be no just criticism of their action and that illegal and wrongful methods were used by their opponents.

"The only tribunal that can settle the legality of that convention and of my nomination is the ballot law commission. This body will have before it all the facts bearing on the question. It would be unbecoming in me to discuss the merits of the controversy while it is pending before the court. All fair-minded men will form their judgment after that decision rather than before."

Railway and Operators Agree

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The Canadian Pacific railway and its telegraph operators have reached an amicable settlement on the wage question. The men get an increase of 14 percent and hours of work range from eight to 12 hours, according to location. Two weeks' holidays or double pay for two weeks a year, where substitutes cannot be secured, will be given to men in the employ of the company for four years or more.

Was Roosevelt's Guide

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Michael Cronin, one of the president's Adirondack guides, has been adjudged insane and brought to the state hospital here. It was Cronin who drove with Vice President Roosevelt 16 miles through the North Woods to the nearest railroad station in 1901, when a courier brought him the news of McKinley's assassination.

Pettibone Demands Trial

Boise, Ida., Oct. 11.—At a conference with attorneys in the Pettibone case, Judge Wood of the district court announced that he would make personal inquiry into the condition of the prisoner, who is demanding trial in spite of his serious illness. The trial is set for Tuesday.

Boom For Uncle Joe Cannon

Owosso, Mich., Oct. 11.—An endorsement of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon for the Republican nomination for president was adopted here at the Republican convention of the Eighth congressional district, after an animated debate.

Bears Elude Roosevelt

Stamboul, La., Oct. 11.—A courier who arrived from the president's camp on the Tensas river late yesterday reported that the president had killed a fine buck, but otherwise the hunt was barren of results.

CHICAGO WINS AGAIN

Takes Second Game From Detroit In Championship Series

Chicago, Oct. 11.—The Detroit American league team suffered its second successive defeat at the hands of the Chicago Nationals yesterday, scoring only one run. Chicago tallied five times, four of the runs being the result of solid hitting. Siever started to pitch for Detroit, but the locals batted him out of the box in four innings. Killian then took up the work and was found for three hits and another run in the fifth.

Detroit tried vainly to break through the Chicagos' defense. Reulbach pitched strongly in the opening innings and when he showed signs of weakening in the fifth and sixth innings, his team-mates came to his rescue with fast double plays. The game failed to attract the usual large crowd to the ground. The official figures made the total 13,114.

Eskimos Like Trial Brides

Washington, Oct. 11.—Trial marriage among the Eskimos of Alaska is a complete success and the life and morals of those people excel those of any civilized country. This is the opinion of V. Stefansson, ethnologist of the Leffingwell-Mikkelsen Polar expedition, who has just returned from the far north. He says the entire problem of conjugal relations has been solved by these people and divorce and family troubles are unknown to them excepting in some localities where strangers have installed ideas of modern civilization into the brains of the Eskimos.

Lusitania Fastest Ocean Liner

New York, Oct. 12.—The Cunarder Lusitania, with practically all the trans-Atlantic records to her credit, arrived abeam the Sandy Hook lightship at 1:25 this morning. The time for the trip from Daunts Rock to the Sandy Hook light, the official course over which speed trials are made, was 4 days, 20 hours. The Lusitania beats her time for her maiden trip by approximately five hours. The Cunard line captured its first record for the voyage across the ocean when the Europa, in 1846, made the then remarkable time of 11 days 3 hours.

Steamer and Sixteen Men Lost

Copenhagen, Oct. 11.—The Arctic steamer Frithjof, which accompanied the Wellman-Chicago Record-Herald expedition to Spitzbergen, was lost off Cape Langanes, Iceland, Oct. 5. The captain and 15 of her crew were drowned. The engineer clung to a plank, on which he drifted ashore. The Frithjof was homeward bound to Norway.

Moorish Army Near Casablanca

Paris, Oct. 11.—A telegram has been received here from General Drude, the commander of the French expeditionary force in Morocco, saying that one of Mulai Hafid's armies has arrived within 20 miles of Casablanca. The Moors have with them four pieces of artillery.

Exodus of Armenians

St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—The methods employed by Turkey to put an end to the famine in Armenia is causing a wholesale emigration of Armenians into the Caucasus. No less than 300,000 Armenians already have applied for passports to leave the country.

New Englanders Lose Money

Seattle, Oct. 11.—The H. D. Reynolds bank at Valdez, Alaska, has closed its doors. Boston and New England capital, furnished largely by schoolteachers, formed the basis of the Reynolds bank. Seattle banks are involved for about $50,000 in loans.

New Steeplejacking Record

New York, Oct. 11.—A new record for steeplejacking was made when Ernest Chappelle climbed up the flagstaff of the Singer building tower and clamped a gilded globe to the top of the staff, 703 feet above ground. The staff is 96 feet, 3 inches long.

New Trotting Wonder

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 11.—Trampfast, a 2-year-old roan colt by The Tramp, is the new champion 2-year-old trotter. He won the 2-year-old Kentucky futurity here, the first heat in 2:12 1-4, the fastest mile ever trotted in a race by a 2-year-old.

Pugilist Johnson Arrested

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Arthur Johnson, the negro heavyweight pugilist, was arrested on the charge of obtaining money by false pretenses. Thornton Williams of this city charges that Johnson passed a worthless check on him two years ago.

Catholic Communities Dissolved

Paris, Oct. 11.—Minister of Education Briand has signed decrees providing for the dissolution of three Catholic communities, including the sisters of Marie Joseph, for violation of the law governing religious congregations.

Bad Men Disposed Of

Newcastle, Pa., Oct. 11.—Twenty-three Italians, recently convicted of Black Hand outrages, were sentenced here to terms in prison ranging from two to 10 years. They were later taken to the penitentiary at Pittsburg.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Oct. 12.
Sun rises—5:53; sets—5:09.
Moon rises—9 p. m.
High water—2:30 a. m.; 3 p. m.

Generally fair weather is indicated for New England, with small temperature changes.

Why Do Country Boys Flock to Big Cities?

Most small towns are short of young men. As a rule there are plenty of agreeable girls who would not object to matrimony; there are plenty of old people and enough babies to go around. But the boy—oh, where is he?

The boy, the young man, has gone to the city, where he imagines there are opportunities. To him the old home town is dull and stupid. He sees no future for himself there. Both for social and financial considerations he rushes off to the great city. Very frequently he finds that he is lonesomer there than at home—nearly always so; and even more frequently he finds that riches do not grow on ten story walls.

BUT STILL HE GOES TO THE CITY.

In going there the boy simply follows his daddy's dollars. For years his daddy and his mother and his big sister and his Aunt Mary Ann have been mailing their money to the big city for Mail Order bargains.

Result: Home merchants don't thrive, grass grows in the streets, no jobs are to be had, no opening for a new business, and the young man goes to the city because it is a place where people have traded at home and built up their own community and provided opportunities for outsiders as well as for themselves.

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP YOUR BOY AT HOME BUILD UP YOUR TOWN SO THAT HE CAN BUILD UP HIS CAREER AMONG HIS HOME FOLKS.

MUNICIPALUNACY.

By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.

Judging from the reports that reach us from various parts of the country as to the condition of civic lighting companies and wilted water plants, we shall soon be relieved of the stigma placed upon us by the British visitor to this country who declared that we had no impressive ruins to attract the traveler. Would it not be a good plan for some munificent millionaire to buy up a few of these, transfer them to the banks of the Hudson and thus put that beautiful waterway into the running in the matter of legendary interest with the Rhine? A few moss and ivy covered ruins of this kind would add much to the scenic beauty of the picturesque river and doubtless inspire our literati with ghastly legendary lore that will make those old stories of the Rhine look like a mark and a half. Here indeed is a chance for Mr. Andrew Carnegie to do something to beautify his adopted native land and to fill the shelves of his many libraries as well with good reading at one fell swoop.

The increase of the public debt of Birmingham, England, from $4,000,000 in the early seventies of the last century to $75,000,000, according to the last available figures, shows how completely municipal ownership wipes out a debt of that kind. Alongside of $75,000,000, a paltry sum of $4,000,000 is not only wiped out, but actually annihilated.

The police of Chicago were assessed in the last elections to pay the expenses of the municipal ownership campaign. This is another point in favor of a comprehensive system of public ownership. After awhile, with the motormen, conductors, watermen, gasman, ditch diggers, linemen, electricians, and so on, to assess for similar purposes, the public will doubtless enjoy free elections. One might almost hope that such a fund as this would wax so great that after elections are over there would be a balance left to declare a municipal dividend with. The byproducts of the municipal ownership idea grow daily more and more interesting, not to say alluring.

It is nonsense to say that municipal ownership breeds socialism. On the contrary, it is driving people back to individualism. In some European cities people who used to patronize the trolleys now walk because they wish to get where they are going along lines of least official resistance. And in Valley City, N. D., the quality of the service of the public gas plant has driven a number of business men to install gasoline lighting systems of their own on their premises.

Muncie, Ind., has abandoned her lighting plant, but consoles herself with the thought that her bonds remain. As the poet said, or would have said if he had thought of it:

Old ties are hard to sever.
Other ties endure forever.

The city fathers of Brunswick, Mo., have just done a good stroke of business in selling its lighting plant for 35 cents on the dollar, taking pay in light and water. It is fortunate it wasn't a municipal bakery. It would be hard to pay for that by sending large drafts of rhubarb pie and cream cakes to the city treasury, to say nothing of the risk Brunswick would incur of a sudden attack of civic indigestion running into chronic appendicitis from overindulgence in doughnuts. Operations upon the body politic are dangerous things, since the patient is apt to experience ill effects from taking gas.

Can't Do It by Statute.

Any corporation is entitled to a fair return on all its legitimate investments over and above all expenses when these are carefully and economically administered. There are some corporations which are undoubtedly overcharging the public, but there are more whose stock has never paid any dividends whatever, and only an unfortunate aggravation of the present strained relations existing between the people and the public service corporations can result from the expectation of the former that they can through legislative action obtain a universal reduction in the charges made by such corporations.—Municipal Journal and Engineer.

A Danger to Be Avoided.

If a city is not well governed, municipal ownership is the most dangerous thing imaginable and should be carefully avoided. There is always the danger that the public utilities the city is supposed to own will become nothing more or less than the private property of the people at the head of the government, who will work to their own advantage and the enhancement of their private wealth.—William T. Stead.

Only as a Last Resort.

Any city which is getting fair treatment from a privately owned plant should eschew municipal ownership. Except under unusually favorable conditions—conditions that promise to make the proposed plant a positive money earner—municipal ownership should be only a last resort.—Marquette (Mich.) Journal.

Political M. O. Machines.

Municipal ownership of street railways, gas and electric lighting means an enormous political machine with thousands of employees to be voted at the behest of some political party.—Mayor Mahool of Baltimore.

Statement Which Led Bank Cashier to Accept Forged Notes Amounting to Millions--Wound Up by Wrecking an Ohio Banking Institution

Columbus, O., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick, whose amazing financial transactions culminated in the wrecking of an Oberlin bank, died in the Ohio penitentiary last night. Mrs. Chadwick had been in a comatose condition for some hours previous to her death, and the end came peacefully. No friends or relatives waited at her bedside, only the prison physician and hospital attendants being present. Her son, Emil Hoover, has been summoned from Cleveland.

Mrs. Chadwick, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Bigley, was a native of Woodstock, Can. She first came into public notice in Toledo about 20 years ago, where she told fortunes under the name of Mme. Deviere. While in this city she forged the name of Richard Brown of Youngstown, and for this crime was sent to the penitentiary at Columbus for nine years.

She served but a portion of this sentence, and then located in Cleveland, where she married a man named Hoover. Her second husband was Dr. Leroy S. Chadwick of Cleveland, a man of good family and excellent standing in his profession.

In the latter part of 1902, or early in 1903, Mrs. Chadwick, in the presence of her husband, gave to Ira Reynolds, the cashier of the Wade Park bank of Cleveland, a box containing notes signed with the name of Andrew Carnegie. These forged notes are alleged to have amounted to $7,500,000. Reynolds gave a receipt for the papers, which described the notes and the signatures upon them. Mrs. Chadwick left with Reynolds as an explanation of the notes the statement that she was a natural daughter of Carnegie.

With the receipt of Reynolds in her possession, Mrs. Chadwick went to different banks and many capitalists, making loans and paying not only high interest to the banks, but heavy bonuses to bank officials who loaned her money. The extent of these transactions will never be fully known, but they ran up into the millions. They involved men of high standing in the financial world and caused heavy losses to many banks.

Altogether six banks crashed, nine men were ruined and sent to prison, her own family was wrecked, and something like $3,000,000 raised and squandered by the woman, whom the federal prosecutor, Sullivan, declared was the greatest criminal of the age.

In November, 1904, she was sued by Herbert B. Newton of Brookline, Mass., from whom she had borrowed a large amount. Other creditors came down upon her, and soon she was arrested by the federal authorities on the charge of conspiring with Charles Beckwith, president, and A. B. Spear, cashier of a national bank at Oberlin, which had been looted. Mrs. Chadwick had obtained from this institution such large sums that it was compelled to close its doors, causing heavy losses to the depositors and ruining many of them.

Mrs. Chadwick, Beckwith and Spear were indicted for a variety of offenses against the national banking laws. Beckwith died before coming to trial. Spear pleaded guilty, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary and is in the Columbus penitentiary.

Mrs. Chadwick was brought to trial March 6, 1905, and after a hearing which lasted two weeks was found guilty of conspiracy to defraud a national bank and was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary. Her health, which was not good at the time of the trial, failed steadily after its conclusion.

Mrs. Chadwick left one son, Emil Hoover, born of her first marriage. He is now about 20 years old.

Mulai Hafig Gains Power

Tangier, Oct. 11.—The power of Mulai Hafid, who has been proclaimed sultan in the south, has been greatly strengthened in the northern part of Morocco by the declaration of the Ulemas, or holy men, at Fez, that he has more legal and moral right to the throne than has Abd-El-Aziz, the sultan of record. This, coupled with the approach of Mulai Hafid's army upon Fez, argues a speedy capitulation of the northern capital.

Episcopalians Raise Huge Sum

Richmond, Oct. 11.—George C. Thomas, treasurer of the Board of Missions, announces that the thank-offering from the men of the Episcopal church amounts to $760,213. This was increased to $775,000, so that with the offerings of the women made last week, $1,000,000 may be available for church extension work.

Cleveland Able to Leave Home

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 11.—For the first time since his recent illness former President Grover Cleveland yesterday was able to go to New York city. The purpose of his visit is understood to be private business. He will return to Princeton this afternoon.

INTERESTED IN MERGER

Federal Government to Take a Hand In the Probe at Boston

Boston, Oct. 11.—That the United States authorities are to take a hand in the investigation of the proposed New York, New Haven and Hartford and Boston and Maine railroad merger, even to the extent of prosecution, if necessary, was definitely shown by a visit to this city of Assistant United States Attorney General Purdy of Washington, who came here for a conference with United States District Attorney French. The two were in conference for five hours and later Purdy gave out the following statement:

"We discussed the best way of having the proposed investigation proceed expeditiously and thoroughly. We did not go into the details as to the proposed merger or discuss the merits of the plan. All that we did had reference to ascertaining what facilities and assistance the district attorney had for the proposed investigation. There is a great interest taken in this proposed merger, not only by the attorney general's office, but by others out of the state, especially at Washington, and for that reason the attorney general thought it would be better to have an assistant confer with the Boston office."

Mr. French said: "Although the investigation has not yet developed into the prosecution stage, we talked over the question of prosecution. Whether or not prosecution will be made in a court of equity or in a criminal court has not yet been decided. We are endeavoring to find out the practical results of a prosecution."

No Dues From Foreign Vessels

Washington, Oct. 11.—Foreign bottoms carrying coal for the United States navy will not be compelled to pay the tonnage and light dues assessed under regulations of the department of commerce and labor. The enforcement of the tax meant that the navy department would be called upon to pay a higher amount for the coal to be used by the Atlantic fleet in its voyage around the Horn. The attorney general decided that the regulations assessing such dues against foreign vessels engaged in coastwise trade was not intended to apply to vessels carrying cargoes exclusively for the federal government.

Shortages May Reach $50,000

Boston, Oct. 11.—Cumulative testimony tending to show that his alleged shortages amount to at least $50,000 is piling up against Joseph N. Pastene, the former prominent Italian lawyer, now said to be a fugitive from justice. Circulars with a picture of the lawyer and a description of the charges preferred against him have been sent broadcast throughout the United States. The alleged original defalcation of Pastene was $4500, and the alleged victim was Gaetano Razeto, superintendent of the H. H. Hunnewell estate at Wellesley.

Jamestown Pledges Not Kept

Washington, Oct. 11.—Treasury officials are seriously discussing the question of taking over the gate receipts of the Jamestown exposition from next Monday until the end of the season. It was the distinct understanding in congress when the loan was made that if the exposition authorities failed to pay promptly, the treasury department would take charge of the gate receipts, and members of congress are urging the government to take steps for the protection of the loan. Nearly $900,000 is now due the government.

Failure of Trust Company

Baltimore, Oct. 11.—Tightness of the money market and inability to realize on its securities, is the reason assigned for the failure of the Farmers' Trust, Banking and Deposit company of this city, for which receivers have been appointed by Judge Garter. The company admitted insolvency. Officials of the company decline to make any statement as to its financial condition.

Jerome May Be Side-Tracked

New York, Oct. 11.—The Evening Post says: There was a report in financial circles that Governor Hughes had decided to appoint a special district attorney to act on traction matters over Jerome's head. An attempt to verify the rumor resulted in obtaining confirmation from a man high in the business world, generally well informed and uniformly reliable.

No Inducement For Gold Exports

Paris, Oct. 11.—A high financial authority, who is in touch with the Bank of France, referring to the reported possibility of the shipment of gold from New York to Paris, said that the bank was not offering inducements at present for the exportation of gold from America.

But Three Dissenting Votes

The Hague, Oct. 11.—The report of James B. Scott (American) on the proposed international high court of justice was adopted by the peace conference committee by 38 to 3 votes, three delegates being absent.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The cholera in Russia is spreading steadily. Every day hundreds of new cases are reported.

FROM TRUST'S BOOKS

Valuable Information Secured Regarding Standard Oil

IS AN ILLEGAL CORPORATION

Kellogg Says It Is Still Directed by Those Who Had to Do With Formation of Trust--Profits and Dividends Are Revealed For the First Time

New York, Oct. 9.—From statements culled from ledgers and books found in the offices of the Standard Oil company, Frank B. Kellogg, counsel for the United States government, succeeded in placing on yesterday's record of the federal proceedings against the oil combine the processes and stages through which the combine passed in its changes from the old Standard Oil trust to the present Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

Out of the maze of figures developed in a voluminous mass from the company's books and from testimony given by Clarence G. Fay, assistant auditor of the Standard, called as a witness, the government's counsel says he believes he has proved the federal allegation that the Standard is an illegal corporation and that by devious devices has maintained its entirety and that it is under the same ownership as when it was formed.

Mr. Kellogg says that he is of the opinion that, notwithstanding that the government was unable to discover the transfer books and stock ledgers of the liquidating trustees, the evidence adduced yesterday shows that the so-called oil trust only affected to dissolve under the order of the Ohio courts in 1892 and that its direction is still held by those who had to do with the formation of the Standard Oil trust.

Statements submitted yesterday showed in brief that at the inception of the Standard Oil trust in 1882 there was $70,000,000 in trust certificates issued for stocks of various companies, which entered into the combine. In the trust period from 1882 to 1892 a stock dividend of $15,000,000 was declared, and this, with other stocks issued for plant purchases, brought the total capitalization of the Standard up to $97,250,000.

As a result of a decision of the supreme court of Ohio, forbidding the trustees from voting the trust certificates, there was a resolution passed by the trustees directing that the trust be dissolved. Fay read a statement in the record showing that the day following the passage of that resolution 64 subsidiary companies were consolidated with the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and 19 other subsidiaries of the trust.

Seven months later, on Nov. 30, 1892, the witness read from statements, there were 494,619 trust certificates presented for cancellation and to the holders were given their pro rata shares in the 20 subsidiary companies which then made up the trust. There

Mr. Kellogg sought to show that those who held control of the trust, with the exception of a few friends, were the only ones who liquidated their trust certificates and that, by liquidating only a majority of the total certificates outstanding which they owned, they continued their direction of the trust by voting a majority of the stock in the subsidiary companies.

Mr. Kellogg endeavored to show that those who liquidated their trust certificates and took the stocks of the subsidiaries were John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller, H. M. Flagler, Benjamin Brewster, J. D. Archbold, H. H. Rogers, W. H. Tilford, C. W. Harkness, estate of C. P. Jennings, Emma Auchincloss, estate of Charles Pratt, and O. H. Payne.

For the first time the profits and dividends of the Standard Oil trust, from its inception in 1882 to 1891, were made public yesterday. The profits of the Standard Oil trust, as stated by Fay, were as follows: 1882, $12,388,507; 1883, $11,231,790; 1884, $7,778,205; 1885, $8,382,935; 1886, $15,350,787; 1887, $14,026,590; 1888, $12,757,727; 1889, $14,845,201; 1890, $19,131,470; 1891, $16,331,886.

The dividends declared by the Standard Oil trust, from 1882 to 1891, were spread on the record as follows: 1882, $3,695,253; 1883, $4,268,086; 1884, $4,288,842; 1885, $7,479,223; 1886, $7,226,452; 1887, $8,463,327; 1888, $10,236,277; 1889, $10,620,630; 1890, $11,200,000; 1891, $11,648,826.

Ownership Still In Doubt

New York, Oct. 9.—An attempt to rescind the franchise of the Standard Oil pipe line, which crosses the Hudson and East rivers and Manhattan island, by which oil is delivered from the refineries in New Jersey to Brooklyn and Long Island, was made in the board of aldermen. The ownership of this line has been one of the questions which the government has been trying to elucidate in the hearings of the action against the Standard Oil company now in progress. It is charged that the pipe line is operated in the interest of the Standard, but no witness has yet been found who would so testify. It was laid in 1877 by John M. Tousey. Alderman Sullivan, who offered a resolution to rescind the franchise, said that Tousey was dead, that the city receives no revenue from the line and that the franchise is illegal and void. The resolution was referred to a committee.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

Members of the Citizens' Association were loud in their demands at the annual meeting this week that strong men should be nominated and elected to the City Council. There were a number present at the meeting who would make good Councilmen but not one offered to become a candidate.

The President's enlightened views on the subject of inland navigation have long been known but it is gratifying to note the change of view of many railroad men and others who, not so very long ago, were antagonistic to this mode of transportation. Some of the foremost railroadmen of the day are conspicuously advocating canal construction and river improvement and the movement is being still further promoted by organized industrial and commercial bodies throughout the country. Even the completion of the Panama Canal, which is destined to compel a reduction of trans-continental railroad rates, is looked forward to with pleasure by all.

Devotees of football, almost at the opening of the season, are regaled with the news of the death of two victims and the amputated leg of a third, as the result of last season's games, and doubtless before the season is closed the number of broken legs and arms and collar-bones and noses, to say nothing of the deaths, will be ample to have satisfied the most bloodthirsty of the Roman Emperors. Is it not a sad commentary on the good sense of Americans that we pursue a game, taken up largely because it is English, which is recognized to be cruelly dangerous, which actually leaves so many of its victims maimed and unfit for their life duties? We have an idea, antiquated perhaps, that sports are intended primarily to promote the present and future well-being of the participants, physical, mental and moral. Is it truly American to perpetuate a game which annually sends forth hundreds of young men permanently maimed and handicapped for the game of life?

WHAT IS AN OPEN SHOP.

I am glad you asked that question, says James B. Morrow of St. Louis. It covers a point on which the public seems to need enlightenment. The open shop means a shop which is open on equal terms to every man, regardless of whether he is or is not a member of a labor union. Can you do the work? is the only inquiry he has to answer. He may have a union card in his pocket, or he may have been expelled from a union, or he may have been a free man all his life. The employer dosn't care one way or the other. The applicant's position and pay in the shop depend wholly on the amount and equality of the work he is able to do.

The doctrine of the open shop is based on the following principles: No restriction in the use of tools, machinery or materials, except those which are unsafe; no restraint as to output; no limitation in the number of apprentices and helpers when of proper age; no boycotts; no sympathetic strikes; no sacrifice of the independent workingman to the labor union, and no compulsory use of the union label.

Thus all workers are put on a dead level, not by raising the quality and quantity of the work of the least efficient to that of the most efficient, but by lowering that of the most efficient to the level of the least efficient. In this way, as I know from personal experience, the average work done per man in union, or closed shops, is lower in quantity and inferior in quality to that which is done in open shops.—Exchange.

"I WANT TO BE YOUR MAYOR"

Seven Possible Candidates Disposed Of By the Citizens' Association.

EX-MAYOR JOHN O. HALL.

The following verses from the Citizens' Association Bulletin are published by request :

WHICH?

"I want to be your Mayor," says little Johnnie Hall.
"I used to live at City Hall, and therefore know it all;"
"I have a new Commissioner—who is my pride and joy;"
"Pray let me introduce you, to the little Tupper boy."

"I want to be your Mayor," says little Genie Stone.
"And with your City Charter I want to pick a bone."
"There's been a lot of trouble with Commissioners of late,"
"I have a brand new remedy—I'd wipe them off the slate."

"I want to be your Mayor," says little Billy Shea.
"I want to run your city in the Democratic way."
"I am well up in paving stones and also trolley freight,"
"And if I am elected, you'll lose Burke at any rate."

"I want to be your Mayor," says Peter Piper's son.
"Ward Three's enthusiastic and says that I must run."
"I have three friends to help me—they'll all get out and work—"
"Chick Hammond, Billy Thomas and little Tommie Burke."

"I want to be your Mayor," says the Present Occupant.
"I yearn to go back and sit down, but somehow simply can't."
"I have a "wise" crowd round me, as you can plainly see,"
"They all know how to run the thing, so why not let them be."

"I want to be your Mayor," says little Wallie Gray.
"I don't think I can get there, but I'll get in some one's way."
"I know about finance, and things, and also how to talk,"
"And if I am elected, the gang will have to walk."

"I want to be your Mayor," says Georgie from the Hill.
"I used to work at City Hall and talk about it still."
"It needs a cleaning badly, as everybody knows,"
"And if I am elected, I'll start in with broom and hose."

And the voter sits and ponders, and reads their letters through,
The woods are not so far away—he knows what he can do.
And so he sits there pondering—as silent as the Sphinx,
He never says a word at all, but thinks, and thinks, and thinks.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

Charles W. Bailey of Lincoln avenue is very ill with typhoid fever.

Chief of Police Burrell has returned from a brief visit to New Bedford.

Not a case of any kind before the district court this morning.

The Registrars of Voters will meet at South Quincy tonight to add names to the voting lists.

Mr. Alden and family of Rawson road have started for Colon, Panama, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Alfred P. Jenney of Dorchester is visiting her mother, Mrs. Whitacre of Safford street for a fortnight.

Clarence A. Conrad of Brooklyn, N. Y., made a short business trip to Wollaston and Medford the first of the week.

Warren S. Parker, inspector of buildings, has issued permits to John Daniel for a house on West Elm avenue and to Fred Torrey for a house on Bromfield street.

The directors of the Citizens' Association who have been considering possible candidates for Mayor, Councilmen and School Committee will report at the meeting of the Association to be held next Tuesday.

Councilman Hull planned to have a large delegation of Wollaston men at the hearing before the Railroad Commissioners this morning on granting approval of the street railway operating a trolley freight on Randolph avenue.

Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus R. White, celebrated their fifteenth wedding anniversary on Thursday evening at their home 23 Edwards street. They had intended to celebrate in a very quiet way but loving friends willed it otherwise, several dropping in during the afternoon and evening to leave good wishes and dainty remembrances. One was an especially pretty set of crystal from the Ladies' Aid society of the Universalist church.

Mr. and Mrs. White have the earnest wishes of their friends, that they may live to celebrate many such happy anniversaries.

Surprise Party.

In the vicinity of 7 o'clock Wednesday evening a happy lot of boys and girls met in Jelma Jacobson's parlor to enjoy a pleasant time.

When the party had been seated but a short time Jelma entered the room and all cheered and after a few games were played a presentation was made.

Miss Anderson and Miss Capiferri made the speeches. They gave him a watch fob, necktie and a box of chocolates. Refreshments were served and a pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Among those present were: Ellen Anderson, Rose Capiferri, Sadie Hennessy, Eva McMahon, Florence Hanson, Winnie Hanson, Edith Friberg, Catherine Smith, Ingrid Jacobson, Lillian Jacobson, Minnie Friberg, William Holt, Albert Friberg, Albin Anderson, Edward Maloney, John Wren, Frederick Anderson, Peter Williams, Jelma Jacobson, Randolph Jacobson and Carl Anderson. Miss Anderson and Miss Rose Capiferri were the committee.

GREW MISS CARROLL'S HAIR

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT

Beautiful Hair At Small Cost.

WITHIN the last decade great and rapid strides have been made in Materia Medica. Many diseases that were considered incurable fifteen years ago are now cured in a few days, and in many cases prevented altogether. The scientists of late years have been delving for the cause, the foundation, the reason and the starting point of disease, fully realizing that the actual and true cause must be ascertained before the remedy can be located. Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp, and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, and when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all of its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural and logical thing to do in either case is, feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is identical with the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp. It feeds and nourishes the hair and does all the work originally carried on by the natural nutrients or life-giving juices generated by the scalp itself. It penetrates the pores of the scalp quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One twenty-five-cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself. Now on sale at every drug and toilet store in the land. Three sizes, 25c, 50c and $1.00.

MISS J. CARROLL
2307 Irving Ave., Chicago

FREE To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

LARGE QUOTA

Quincy Was Well Represented In the War With Spain

It was good news to the large number of young men who enlisted from Quincy in the Spanish war of 1898-99 that they are, after waiting over eight years, to be recompensed at least $15 to $25. The young men who enlisted in Co. K, did not see service, but they were in camp in the south from September to March and really suffered many privations.

Among those who served from Quincy or as members of Co. K were the following; the list being taken from the folder issued for the "Welcome Home" banquet given by the citizens April 6, 1899:

Annual Banquet Wollaston Baptists

The annual banquet of the Social and Benevolent Society of First Baptist church of Wollaston, was held Thursday evening in the church parlors and was largely attended, the repast being served by an out-of-town caterer.

Guests of the evening were: Herbert W. Pinkham, toast master; Rev. M A. Levy of Newton Center, the speaker; Mr. A. L. Hayden of Quincy, soloist; Miss Florence Olney, accompanist. Music was furnished by the Wollaston orchestra.

The well-balanced program, which followed the repast, was in charge of Mr. Pinkham who proved himself a most genial toast-master.

The reports of the various committees showed the important work which is carried on by the society the year just closed having been a very successful one.

Mr. Levy, as speaker of the evening, made a very pleasing address, taking for his topic: "In the world: For the world." Mr. Levy is well and favorably known as a public speaker.

Mr. Webber, the pastor, on being called upon to speak, made a brief and humorous response.

Mr. Hayden, as soloist, rendered several selections in a manner which brought well deserved applause.

Following the banquet, a social hour was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Webber, who succeeds herself as president of the society, presided.

Ladies Interested In Elks Carnival

The fair friends of Quincy lodge of Elks are showing their deep interest in the Carnival, which will open in the Coliseum Monday night. They have all been eager to take some part in the actual work of the Carnival and the response to Exalted Ruler Deasey's invitation was most gratifying to him and the other members.

Next week they will be taking an active part in the Carnival work attending the various booths and tables and piling up a good cash account.

The ladies interested are:

Mrs. D. J. Deasy, Mrs. E. J. Murphy, Mrs. E. N. Courtenay, Miss Margaret M. Coleman, Miss Agnes M. Deasy, Mrs. George T. Magee, Miss Sadie E. Thomas, Mrs. R. P. Coombs, Miss R. J. ## Pipe Line's Books Say That Vast Sums Went to Trainor

LATTER FORGETS ABOUT IT

Says He Never Heard of the Loans, but Had an Oil Account With Southern Company--President of Continential Oil Destroyed Old Reports

New York, Oct. 11.—Loans of over $20,000,000, which the books of the Southern Pipe Line company show were made to P. S. Trainor between 1899 and 1905, became more puzzling of solution to Frank B. Kellogg, conducting the federal suit against the Standard Oil company, yesterday, when Trainor testified that the money had never been paid to him and that he had never heard of the account.

The Southern's books show that unsigned vouchers were received for these loans and that the money was never paid back to the company. Trainor said that he was formerly crude oil purchasing agent for the Standard Oil company of New York and, as such, purchased all the oil and sold it to the refineries. He said he acted in a similar capacity now for the Standard Oil company of New Jersey.

Mr. Kellogg called Trainor's attention to the various loans, amounting to over $20,000,000, which were made by the Southern Pipe Line company and charged to "P. S. Trainor," and asked him to tell all he knew concerning the loans.

"I do not know anything about these loans," answered Trainor. "I had an oil account with the Southern company, but no money account. I never gave them any vouchers and never heard anything about the loans."

Mr. Trainor said that he fixed the price paid for crude oil after consulting with John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard. These consultations were held daily, Trainor said, and after they were over he made public the market price of crude oil.

H. M. Tilford, treasurer of the Standard Oil company of California and president of the Continental Oil company, when asked to produce the reports of the Continental company, testified that whenever a new report was received he invariably destroyed the old one. The reports of the Continental contained information regarding business done by competing oil companies.

Mr. Kellogg will have a conference with Attorney General Bonaparte at Washington today to discuss the progress of the government's case against the Standard Oil company.

Gospel In a Vaudeville Show

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 11.—The final meeting of the largest convention in the history of the Massachusetts Sunday School association, which has been in session here three days, was held last night. An interesting side feature of the convention was the appearance of Rev. Robert W. Peirce, D. D., of Scranton, Pa., at a local vaudeville theatre. Peirce occupied 15 minutes of the time of the regular performance at the theatre in giving a Bible chalk talk, which was followed with close interest by the performers and attaches of the theatre, as well as by the audience.

Prescott Released by Canada

Halifax, Oct. 11.—After having been detained at the local dock yard since last winter, the Gloucester fishing schooner Fannie E. Prescott finally was released yesterday after a payment by her owners of a fine of $200 and costs for alleged violation of the fisheries laws. The Prescott was seized by a government cruiser on the charge of having been engaged in fishing inside the three-mile limit.

Jackson Named For Governor

Providence, Oct. 11.—At the annual Republican state convention Lieutenant Governor Frederick H. Jackson of Providence was nominated for governor, and the party platform was endorsed. The balance of the ticket is as follows: Lieutenant governor, R. C. Watrous; secretary of state, C. P. Bennett; attorney general, W. B. Greenough; general treasurer, W. A. Read.

Mitchell Popular With Miners

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 11.—The news that President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America had announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election because of ill-health caused regret among the union mine workers and their sympathizers throughout the anthracite coal regions.

Decreased Steamship Service

Boston, Oct. 11.—The White Star and Leyland steamship lines yesterday withdrew one steamer each from the Boston to Liverpool service. The White Star steamer Republic is on her last trip to Boston and the Leyland liner Cestrian, due at Liverpool today, is through for the winter season.

Emperor's Condition Improved

Vienna, Oct. 11.—There has been a marked improvement in the condition of Francis Joseph, the aged Emperor of Austria and King of Hungary, who is suffering from bronchial catarrh. His fever has decreased and his temperature is reported as normal. The cough continues.

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

ON MURDER CHARGE

Woman Arrested In Connection With Providence Suit Case Mystery

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 11.—Charged with the murder of the 18-months-old boy, whose bruised body was found in a suit case in Providence Tuesday morning, Mrs. Sarah McDonald, alias Irene Clark, 22 years old, was arrested in this city last night for Providence officers.

A Providence officer who had come to this city on the case identified the woman and the identification was verified later by messages from Providence. The woman was then taken back to Rhode Island.

The baby's body was found Tuesday morning in a cheap suit case in a yard at the rear of a house on the corner of Prospect and Hidden streets, Providence. The medical examiner found bruises on the head and chest of the child and gave a verdict of death by violence.

Declare City Is Wide Open

Biddeford, Me., Oct. 11.—Democratic members of the city government say they will attempt at the meeting on Monday night to pass resolutions calling on the Sturgis commission or Governor Cobb to send the Sturgis deputies to this city. The members of the city government allege that the city is being run wide open. Similar resolutions were passed and sent to Sheriff Athorne some time ago, but the raids which followed were on prominent drug stores instead of kitchen dives, which the party pushing the measure allege to exist in large numbers.

Made Contradictory Statements

Houlton, Me., Oct. 11.—John Roberts, who is charged with the murder of J. E. Dickinson, went on the stand in his own defense yesterday and told the story of his movements on the week of the murder in support of the defense to prove an alibi. His answers to the cross-examination of the prosecution appeared somewhat confused, and when confronted with statements made by him at the previous trial, apparently contradictory of those made yesterday, he pleaded forgetfulness.

Balloonist Fell a Hundred Feet

Claremont, N. H., Oct. 11.—Professor Bonnette, a balloonist, was badly injured while making an ascension at the Sullivan county fair here. Bonnette's balloon burst as he was about 200 feet from earth. Bonnette made frantic efforts to cut away his parachute, but did not succeed until the balloon had settled to within about 100 feet of the ground, when it suddenly gave way and Bonnette was precipitated to the ground, the parachute failing to open.

Must Tell About Promotions

Boston, Oct. 11.—For the purpose of determining whether promotions in the fire department have been purchased through the aid of politicians District Attorney Moran will on next Monday begin an investigation on this phase of alleged municipal corruption by hearing the evidence of a large number of firemen. These facts developed last night, and it is said that fully 100 firemen will be summoned to tell how and why they received their promotions.

Guilty of Assaulting Prisoner

Boston, Oct. 11.—Lorenzo D. Perkins, former deputy master at the Deer Island house of correction, and Orrin F. Pray, night watchman of the institution, were found guilty of assault upon Edward F. Kane, a prisoner, by a jury in the superior criminal court. It was a retrial of the case because of statements made by a newspaper at the first hearing of the case before Judge Raymond and a jury. The special trial was before Judge Aiken.

Alleged Firebug In Jail

Harwich, Mass., Oct. 11.—Suspected because of the peculiar footprints found about several buildings that have been fired within the past two weeks, George A. Taylor, a cripple of this town, was arrested on the charge of setting fire to the barn of Manuel Comes last Tuesday night. He pleaded not guilty, was held in $1000 for trial Oct. 18 and in default of bail was taken to the Barnstable jail.

Got Back Part of His Money

Danbury, Conn., Oct. 11.—During the carnival celebration here last night Peter McKiver was held up and robbed on a crowded street. He alleges that two negroes seized his arms from behind while a negress secured his pocketbook and took $40 of the $100 in it, returning the remainder to him. The woman was arrested, but the men got away.

Yale Students In Court

New Haven, Oct. 11.—Four riotous Yale students who went on a rampage in Temple street were in the city court to answer to the charge of breach of the peace and of destroying railroad property. Two were each fined $25 and costs and one $10 and costs. The fourth student arrested had his case continued.

Defaulted Chinaman Shows Up

Boston, Oct. 11.—Goon Hing Sing, who disappeared from the superior criminal court on Wednesday afternoon and whose bail of $6000 was later defaulted, showed up yesterday. He was placed in a cell and the default on his bail was lifted. He was being tried on a complaint made by a small girl.

Suicide by Suffocation

Boston, Oct. 11.—Miss Ann Thomas, aged 65, was found dead in bed at her rooms here, one gas jet being turned full on, showing that she had committed suicide. In the room were found two bank books showing deposits of $1000 each and $22 in money. No cause for the suicide is known.

BIG COTTON COMBINE

Whole Industry to Be Under One Great Organization

IT INCLUDES ENTIRE WORLD

Will Handle Product From Time of Planting Until Made Into Goods--Action Looking Toward Saving of $25,000,000 by Spinners

Atlanta, Oct. 10.—When the plan adopted yesterday afternoon by the international conference of cotton growers and spinners goes into effect, the cotton industry of the world, from the time of the planting of the seed to the time the mills turn out their goods, will be under one great organization of planters and spinners to be known as the International Committee of Cotton Growers and Manufacturers' associations.

This body will consist of 14 members, two from each of the five organizations composing this conference, two representing the spinners of continental Europe, and two from the Sea Island Cotton Growers' association, which was admitted to membership in the conference yesterday.

In addition to the two latter organizations just named, the international committee will therefore be composed of delegates from the Farmers' union, the Southern Cotton association, the International Cotton Spinners' association of Europe, the Association of Cotton Manufacturers and the American Manufacturers' association.

The 14 members or delegates forming the committee will select a chairman from one of the associations represented. The opinion is expressed by several of the leaders that James R. Macoll of Providence, chairman of the present conference and representing the American Association of Cotton Manufacturers, will be chosen chairman. Each organization will send the names of its nominees to Secretary Woodbury of Boston, and when all have been named the chairman will be formally elected. The international conference adjourned last evening.

The first meeting of the new world-wide organization may possibly be held in Paris next year, as the International Cotton Spinners' Association of Europe meets there, and Herr Kuffler of Vienna states that delegates from all organizations will be invited to attend.

The conference at its sessions yesterday took action that it is believed will soon result in a vast improvement in the methods of putting raw cotton into shape for the handling by the spinners, with a consequent saving to them of fully $25,000,000 a year now lost, it has been asserted, by reason of slipshod methods of baling.

A sharp fight was made over Congressman Heflin's resolution calling on the United States congress and the British parliament to regulate cotton speculation, but the matter was finally referred to the different bodies for independent action.

The spinners, while admitting that cotton speculation was an evil, yet did not see how it could be eliminated altogether.

Hangman's Occupation Is Gone

Trenton, Oct. 10.—With the going into effect of the state law abolishing hanging and substituting electrocution, will pass the Jersey hangman, James Van Hise. When the bill changing the method of execution to that by electricity was pending, Van Hise lobbied hard against it. Van Hise is 71 years old. The state allows a sheriff $500 for an execution. Few sheriffs have done the work themselves, but have hired Van Hise, giving him the whole $500, or half of it.

An Argument of Canadians

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The Canadian manufacturers of pulp and paper waited on the government and asked for the prohibition of the export of wood pulp. Premier Laurier said that the matter would be taken into consideration. At a later date the manufacturers will present their case in detail. Their chief argument is that American paper manufacturers will be compelled to establish mills in Canada if deprived of Canadian pulp wood.

Offer to Striking Telegraphers

Montreal, Oct. 10.—While a board of conciliation is endeavoring to effect an agreement between the Canadian Pacific railway and its telegraphers it developed that the company had made an offer to the men on which a telegraphic vote is now being taken. It provides for an increase of 12½ percent in wages, payment for Sunday and overtime work. In addition, the two weeks' holiday with pay given the men is to be done away with.

Parcels Post System Favored

Atlanta, Oct. 10.—In his annual address to the convention of the National Rural Free Delivery Carriers' association at its session here, President Lindsay of Georgia strongly advocated a parcels post system in connection with the United States postoffice department.

Bigelow Was Short of Money

Denver, Oct. 10.—Kemp V. Bigelow, arrested for sending infernal machines through the mails to Governor Buchtel, David B. Moffat and C. B. Kountze, confessed that lack of money was the impelling motive of his acts.

A GREAT RECEPTION

Taft Highly Honored by Chinese Residents at Shanghai

A DEPARTURE FROM CUSTOM

Women Allowed to Take Part In Social Function--The Open Door and Needed Reforms Discussed by the Secretary of War at a Banquet

Shanghai, Oct. 9.—Secretary of War Taft and the members of his party arrived here yesterday on steamer Minnesota, which is conveying him from Japan to Manila. The Chinese and the foreign residents of Shanghai united in giving Taft the heartiest welcome that ever has been extended to a foreign statesman.

Yesterday afternoon Taft dedicated the local building of the Young Men's Christian Association and later he was given an elaborate reception by the Chinese residents. This function was out of doors in a native garden. The promoters of the reception were prominent Chinese merchants representing 45 of the guilds formerly in the boycott movement against American manufactures.

The change of sentiment was marked. Speeches of welcome were made in English by local Chinese business men, officials and the representative of the viceroy. The Chinamen emphasized the cordial relations existing today between China and the United States, saying the friendship of America had been evidenced by sending relief to the famine sufferers, the support of schools and hospitals, and the waiving by the United States of a part of her Boxer indemnity.

This reception marked an epoch in the matter of status of women in China, for Chinese women of aristocratic families were present at the reception and even presided at tables. This is the first time such a thing has happened in China.

The American residents gave a banquet in Taft's honor last evening. It was in every respect the largest and most representative banquet ever given in Shanghai. In reply to an address of welcome, Taft renewed his assurances that the United States had no intention of selling the Philippine islands, saying that the country was in honor bound to retain them or give the Filipinos their independence. He praised the islands and their inhabitants, and then turned his attention to the open door in China. He declared that American trade was now second in China, and that certain branches of this trade was sufficiently important to make it incumbent upon the American government to listen to the protest of every legitimate business man against diminution in, or injury to, this business or political preferment for any competitor.

"We do not complain," the secretary continued, "of loss of trade that results from the employment of greater enterprise, ingenuity or attention to the demands of the Chinese market, or the greater business acumen shown by our competitors. We would have the right to protest at being excluded from the trade of China by reason of our insistence upon the policy of the open door.

"The United States and the other powers favor the open door, and if they are wise they will encourage the empire to take long steps in administrative and governmental reform, the development of the resources of China and the improvement of the welfare of the people. To do this will add to China's strength and position as a self-respecting government and aid her in preparing to resist possible foreign aggression in the seeking of undue and exclusive proprietory privileges. Thus no foreign aid will be required to enforce the open door and the policy of equal opportunity for all."

Continuing, the secretary said that the gold standard for China would redound to the benefit of the empire, and that the cry of "China for the Chinese" need not frighten any man. He said the Chinese should devote their energies to the development of the country's resources, the elevation of the people, the enlargement of trade and administrative reform, and that these changes would increase America's trade.

"It is pleasant to note the improvement in our relations with China that have resulted from the efforts adopted by President Roosevelt. The harshness in the administration of our immigration laws has been mitigated without impairing their efficiency, and the boycott, which resulted in more or less ill-feeling and injured China as much as it did us, is now a thing of the past."

In conclusion Taft said it was incumbent upon the United States to expend a larger sum to house the court and the American consulate in a more dignified manner, thus giving evidence of its appreciation of the importance of its business and political relations with the Chinese empire.

There is no doubt but that Taft's visit to Shanghai will increase the cordial relations between China and the United States and add to the prestige of American trade in the Orient.

CHAPTER I.

The man and the woman stood facing one another, although in the uncertain firelight, which alone illuminated the room, neither could see much save the outline of the other's form.

The woman stood at the further end of the apartment by the side of the desk—his desk. The slim, trembling fingers of one hand rested lightly upon it, the other was hanging by her side, nervously crumpling up the glove which she had had only taken off a few minutes before.

The man stood with his back to the door through which he had just entered. He was in evening dress; he carried an overcoat over his arm, and his hat was slightly on the back of his head.

A cigarette was still burning between his lips, the key by means of which he had entered was swinging from his little finger.

So far no words had passed between them. Both were apparently stupefied for the moment by the other's unexpected presence.

It was the man who recovered his self-possession first. He threw his overcoat into a chair and touched the brass knobs behind the door. Instantly the room was flooded with the soft radiance of the electric lights. They could see one another now distinctly.

The woman leaned a little forward, and there was amazement as well as fear flashing in her soft dark eyes. Her voice, when she spoke, sounded to herself unnatural. To him it came as a surprise, for the world of men and women was his study, and he recognized at once its quality.

"Who are you?" she exclaimed. "What do you want?"

He shrugged his shoulders.

"It seems to me," he answered, "that I might more fittingly assume the role of questioner. However, I have no objection to introduce myself. My name is Herbert Wrayson. May I ask," he continued with quiet sarcasm, "to what I am indebted for this unexpected visit?"

She was silent for a moment, and as he watched her his surprise grew. Equivocal, though her position was, he knew very well that this was no ordinary thief whom he had surprised in his rooms, engaged to all appearance in rifling his desk.

The fact that she was a beautiful woman was one which he scarcely took into account. There were other things more surprising which he could not ignore. Her evening dress of black net was faultlessly made, and he knew enough of such things to be well aware that it came from the hands of no ordinary dressmaker. A string of pearls hung from her neck, her only ornament, and her black hat, with its drooping feathers, was the fellow of one which he had admired a few evenings ago at the Ritz in Paris.

It flashed upon him that this was a woman of distinction, one who belonged naturally, if not in effect, to the world of which even he could not claim to be a habitant. What was she doing in his rooms?—of what interest to her was he and his few possessions?

"Herbert Wrayson," she repeated, leaning a little toward him. "If your name is Herbert Wrayson what are you doing in these rooms?"

"They happen to be mine," he answered calmly.

"Yours?"

She picked up a small latchkey from the desk.

"This is No. 11, isn't it?" she asked quickly.

"No! No. 11 is the flat immediately overhead," he told her.

She appeared unconvinced.

"But I opened the door with this key," she declared.

"Mr. Barnes and I have similar locks," he said. "The fact remains that this is No. 9, and No. 11 is one story overhead."

She drew a long breath, presumably of relief, and moved a step forward.

"I am very sorry!" she declared. "I have made a mistake. You must please accept my apologies."

He stood motionless in front of the door. He was pale, clean-shaven and slim, and in his correct evening clothes he seemed a somewhat ordinary type of the well-bred young Englishman. But his eyes were gray and his mouth straight and firm.

She came to a standstill. Her eyes seemed to be questioning him. She scarcely understood his attitude.

"Kindly allow me to pass!" she said coldly.

"Presently!" he answered.

Her veil was still raised and the flash of her eyes would surely have made a weaker man quail. But Wrayson never flinched.

"What do you mean by that!" she demanded. "I have explained my presence in your room. It was an accident which I regret. Let me pass at once."

"You have explained your presence here," he answered, "after a fashion! But you have not explained what your object may be in making use of that key to enter Mr. Barnes' flat. Are you proposing to subject his belongings to the same inspection as mine?" he asked, pointing to his disordered desk.

"My business with Mr. Barnes is no concern of yours?" she exclaimed haughtily.

"Under ordinary circumstances no!" he admitted. "But these are not ordinary circumstances. Forgive me if I speak plainly. I found you engaged in searching my desk. The presumption is that you wish to do the same thing to Mr. Barnes."

"And if I do, sir," she demanded, "what concern is it of your? How do you know that I have not permission to visit his rooms—that he did not himself give me this key?"

Max's Mission.

By LULU JOHNSON.

Copyright, 1907, by E. C. Parcells.

Max would not have taken the short cut through the alley had not Tengrove, the clean cut young chap who had given him the note, impressed upon him the need of great speed.

"She will be leaving the house for the boat at 11," he had said as Max tucked the envelope into his breast pocket. "It's a half dollar if you get there before she leaves."

Max grinned with the wisdom of his fourteen years. For two years he had worn the blue uniform of the messenger service, and one learns a very great deal in two years. He winked at Tengrove and darted out of the office.

All of the boys steered clear of the alley, a slum of the financial district, for more than once messengers had been held up by a gang of roughs who had a pull with the political leader of the district.

But this letter did not contain money, and the short cut meant a saving of five minutes, and so Max took chances. He had almost reached the far end of the alley when an arm shot out from a dark doorway and dragged him inside the gloomy hall. Three or four half grown boys were drinking out of a can, but the vessel was set down as they crowded about their capture.

With unsteady hands the leader drew out the letter and eagerly opened it in search of the money he thought might be within. His face grew black as he laboriously read the note, and while one of the others went through the boy's pockets, relieving him of what small coins he had, the leader read aloud the tender pleadings by which Tengrove had hoped to win Dorothy Metheun's forgiveness. Max squirmed as the youths shouted in coarse glee at the burning words, but he could not wriggle out of the grasp on his coat collar. Not until the letter had been read did they let him go.

"Gimme the note," he demanded hoarsely. For answer the bully tore it into tiny pieces and threw them into the boy's face.

"There it is," he said roughly. "The next time we catch you, and you don't have money we are going to kill you. See?"

Max made a dive for the envelope and darted out of the entry, skillfully evading the kick aimed at him by his tormentor. He had no thoughts of the police. He must hurry to the Metheun house. There was no time to go back for another letter. Miss Metheun would be gone by then. It was not the first time he had carried notes for the nice looking man, and he was bound to see him out of this scrape.

By dint of stealing rides on the street cars, he made his way to the residential section and tore madly up the front stoop of the Metheun town house.

The butler shook his head in answer to the boy's demand for an audience with Miss Metheun. Miss Metheun and Mrs. Metheun had gone to the yacht. It was the Sylvia and she was lying off the yacht station. He did not think that there would be time to reach the landing before the yacht sailed.

"Gimme a dime," demanded Max. "I gotter run for it. I was frisked. Hurry up," he added impatiently as the butler stared at the demand. Something in his manner compelled obedience, and the stolid servitor handed over the coin.

The car seemed to creep down to the docks, but at last they came to the landing, and he dashed out on the pier. The watchman pointed out the Sylvia, and even as he spoke the boat began to move slowly from the anchorage. There was a power boat at the landing stage with a good natured young fellow at the wheel. Max dropped down to his side.

"Was you ever in love wit' a goil?" he demanded of the skipper. The skipper admitted the charge.

"There's a fellow what loves a goil on that boat Sylvia," he said. "Less'n I get a message to her he won't git her. Will you take me out?"

Max's earnestness was convincing, and, with a smile, the skipper nodded to the boy to jump in. Max sat gingerly upon the soft cushions, nursing the wrist that had been wrenched when he was fighting with the gang in the alley. He had roughly bandaged it with the rag he called a handkerchief, but now it was throbbing most unpleasantly.

The power boat slipped smoothly through the water, gaining rapidly on the Sylvia, and presently they were running side by side and with a "T'anks; you're th' real t'ing," Max had climbed aboard the yacht.

To the sailor who came to inquire his business he made demand for Miss Metheun and was led aft to where the party sat under the awnings.

"I got a message for you," he announced. "It ain't in writin'," he added as she stretched forth her hand; "leastwise it ain't written now."

"What is it?" she asked smilingly.

"It's a private message," he said meaningly as he glanced at a man who sat scowling at him. For a moment the girl hesitated, but for a third time Max's earnestness carried the day, and she followed him to the side of the boat. He drew out the envelope he had saved from destruction.

"That's all that's left of it," he apologized. "You know who he is. He told me to hurry, and I was runnin' through th' alley, and th' gang frisked me."

"They what?" she demanded.

"Frisked me," he explained—"went through me clothes, took me cush and read th' letter."

"The envelope is not sufficiently important to warrant such strenuous efforts to deliver it," she said a little coldly.

"But th' letter was a peach," he explained. "Th' gang read it out, and I remembered it. I come to tell you what was in it. Th' nice lookin' guy said he was a darn fool to put up such a holler, and he was sorry he made th' beef. He took it all back in big words—I can't remember 'em—but he laid down all right."

"What do you mean?" she asked. "Mr. Tengrove apologized. Is that it?"

"Apologized ain't no word for it," said Max expansively. "It was down in the gutter for his. You c'd make him jump over a stick if you wanter. He backs up about not wantin' you t' go on the sail wit' dis guy, but he wants yer t' come back an' marry him afterward an' not hitch up wit' th' pirut over there." He indicated the scowling host, and Miss Metheun smiled faintly. Max thought that her smile was one of discredit, and his heart sank.

"I can't spiel no big words," he said disconsolately, "but on th' level if you c'd have heard him you'd be cryin' by now. He's dead gone on y', an' he's the candy kid all right. Please can't I tell him it's all right, lady? He's the real goods, an' he's sorry to beat th' band. I'm givin' it to y' straight."

Dorothy smiled. She, too, had regretted the quarrel that had followed Tengrove's jealousy and the earnestness of the boy was its echo in her own heart.

"You may tell Mr. Tengrove," she said softly, "that his envoy is a most able pleader and that his mission has been successful."

"Dat's yes?" demanded Max. "He c'n git th' ring?"

"It is yes," she assented softly. "Tell Mr. Tengrove that I shall be back in town day after tomorrow."

The yacht had drawn inshore and now it swung up to a dock. Dorothy leaned over and deliberately kissed the freckled cheek. "You were a dear to take all that trouble," she said softly. Max looked up with shining eyes.

"It was wort' it f'r th' kiss," he said as he climbed on to the dock. "I wish I was Mr. Tengrove; betcher life I do."

RESPECT YOUR WORK.

Don't Go at It Complainingly, but Put Your Heart In It.

It ought not to be necessary to ask a man if he likes his work. The radiance of his face should tell that. His very buoyancy and pride in his work, the spirit of unbounded enthusiasm and zest, ought to show that. He ought to be so in love with his work that he would find his greatest delight in it, and this inward joy should light up his whole being.

A test of the quality of the individual is the spirit in which he does his work. If he goes to it grudgingly, like a slave under the lash; if he feels the drudgery in it, if his enthusiasm and love for it do not lift it out of commonness and make it a delight instead of a bore, he will never make a very great place for himself in the world.

The man who feels his life yoke galling him, who does not understand why the bread and butter question could not have been solved by one great creative act instead of every man's being obliged to wrench everything he gets from nature through hard work, the man who does not see a great beneficent design and a superb necessity in the principle that every one should earn his own living, has got a wrong view of life and will never get the splendid results out of his vocation which were intended for him.

The man who does not look upon his vocation as a great unfolding, enlarging, cultivating, educative, elevating process, the results of which could come in no other possible way, has made a very poor guess at life's riddle.

Multitudes of people do not half respect their work. They look upon it as a disagreeable necessity for providing bread and butter, clothing and shelter—as unavoidable drudgery instead of as a great man builder, a great life university for the development of manhood and womanhood. They do not see the divinity in the spur of necessity which compels man to develop the best thing in him, to unfold his possibilities by his struggle to attain his ambition, to conquer the enemies of his prosperity and his happiness. They cannot see the curse in the unearned dollar, which takes the spur out of the motive. Work to them is sheer drudgery—an unmitigated evil. They cannot understand why the Creator did not put bread ready made on trees. They cannot see that the best thing in man has ever been developed by the necessity of labor. They do not see the stamina, the grit, the nobility and the manhood in being forced to conquer what they get.

What a pitiable sight to see one of God's noblemen, made to hold up his head and to be a king, to be cheerful and happy and to radiate power, going about whining and complaining of his work, apologizing for what he is doing and deploring the fact that he should have to work at all!—Success Magazine.

The Explanation.

"That fellow," said Tete de Veau, "is always getting off the old joke about the difficulty of finding a woman's pocket."

"But, you know," L'Oignon explained, smiling, "he married a rich wife."—Exchange.

Not Quite What He Meant.

"Now, I don't suppose," said Miss Passay coyly, "that you could guess my age."

"Really," replied Mr. Meanwell, "I—er—wouldn't like to. I'd be sure to—er—guess too high."—Philadelphia Press.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

The "Priscillas" hold the banner "Excelsior."

Mr. Merriam and family of Stuart street have moved to California.

The steam roller is at work on Charles street where leveling down is much needed.

Mr. Froman and wife of Edison street have returned to their former home near New York City.

Rally Sunday observed on Sunday at the Atlantic M. E. church. There was a large attendance.

Frank Curtin of Atlantic street has been confined to the house this week on account of illness.

The Unity Club reception will be held this evening, Oct. 11. A general good time is expected. All are welcome.

A special meeting of the School Committee has been called for Monday evening to further consider Coddington school plans.

The street railway expect to have the double tracking of Hancock street completed by the first of November although work has not been commenced.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Quincy Point are planning for an enjoyable entertainment for the near future at their "Harvest Supper."

Miss Mary B. Adams of the Wollaston golf club was defeated on Thursday in the third round of the womens national Golf championship tourney at Chicago.

A great transformation scene has taken place at the Coliseum during the past few days and the thousands who attend the Elks carnival next week will open their eyes in wonderment.

George E. Thomas, the builder, bought the property of the late Seymour Field on Newton street which was sold by Frank F. Crane at auction on Thursday; price $2,275.

The First church was represented on Thursday at the unveiling of the statue of Rev. John Cotton in the First church of Boston. It was the work of Bela L. Pratt, the sculptor, and is a recumbent marble effigy.

The Y. M. C. A. has received a gift of a steel engraving of Lincoln and another of his Gettysburg addresses. These engravings are 35x28, beautifully framed and add greatly to the attractiveness of the social room. Mr. Chas. E. Goodspeed of Wollaston was the donor.

Rev. H. Deetz, the popular young minister who built the Atlantic Methodist church twelve years ago, has lately been transferred to the Detroit Conference and stationed at the Cass Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Detroit, Mich. Rev. Guy W. McGreery, another popular pastor, has lately been appointed to the First church, Ogden, Utah.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

Lieut. Commander Roger Welles, U. S. N., inspector of equipment at Fore River, is away on leave for three weeks. He will spend the time in the White Mountains.

Chief Engineer Salbador of the Creole has returned from a visit to New York.

Two of the five starboard top-side water ballast tanks of the collier "Everett" were filled on Thursday, the pumps working very satisfactory.

A shifting about of the vessels has been made, the "Creole" and the collier "Malden" changing places. This brings the "Malden" alongside the dock in Bent's creek.

The submarine "Tarantula" having completed repairs, has left the marine railway and is now in the dock with the "Octopus."

REMARKABLE LAUNCH.

The Transcript prints a cable of interest from Belfast, Ireland, which reports a remarkable launch there on Saturday when the new bow built for the White Star line steamer Suevic, to replace the one left on Stag Rock, near the Lizard, March 17, last, slid into the water. The Suevic, during a fog, ran on the rocks and after vain attempts to refloat her, the salvers cut away her fore part, refloated the rest of the ship and towed it to Southampton, where it is now in drydock and ready to receive the new bow.

The latter, which is 200 feet long, considerably longer than the old bow, is fitted with deck houses, captain's bridge, mast and so on. It will be towed to Southampton, where the two sections will be connected, not as two clean-cut portions, but almost in the same shape as when they were separated, the jagged ends of the iron work, the bent pipes and splintered woodwork having been prepared for accurately joining the two portions of the steamer.

The Political Calendar

The fall elections are near at hand, as will be seen by the following data. The law requires that election officers shall be appointed in cities this month, and registration dates will soon be announced.

REGISTRATION.

In cities and towns outside Boston. "Registrars shall hold such sessions as the town by bylaw or the . . . city by ordinance shall prescribe."

Oct. 16—"In every city registrars shall hold a continuous session from 12 noon till 10 o'clock . . . . when registration shall cease."

Oct. 26—In every town a like continuous session shall be held.

CONVENTIONS.

Oct. 15—Latest date for calling and holding conventions for the nomination of candidates to offices* to be filled at the state election other than those to be filled by all the voters of the commonwealth.

Must be called and held before 5 P. M.

NOMINATIONS.

Oct. 7—Certificates of nomination for offices to be filled by all of the voters of the commonwealth must be filed.

Oct. 14—Nomination papers for the same must be filed.

Oct. 17—Certificates of nomination for all other offices to be filled at a state election must be filed.

Oct. 18—Nomination papers for the same must be filed.

All such papers must be filed with the secretary of the commonwealth before 5 P. M. on the date specified.*

MISCELLANEOUS.

Oct. 14—Canvassing boards of Suffolk senatorial districts meet in Boston at office of election commissioners at 10 A. M.

Oct. 5—Last day for designation of polling places in cities and towns divided into voting precincts.

Oct. 5—Last day for posting copies of voting lists in every place except Boston.

Oct. 11—Last day for posting copies of voting lists in Boston.

Oct. 14—Last day for petitioning for the appointment of supervisors of election.

Oct. 21—Last day in cities for filing complaints against incorrect and illegal registration.

Oct. 31—Last day in towns for filing such complaints.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

The Latest Fad In Dress Is Jewelry Costuming.

NEW WAYS TO SET DIAMONDS

If the Gown Be Empire, My Lady Must Wear Jewels Set In This Style—Colored Precious and Semiprecious Stones Popular.

Fashion moves cautiously in exclusive jewelry shops. Its changes are made by gradations, not by arbitrary and radical dictates; hence it happened that one of the most learned students and dealers in ultra exclusive jewelry had to ponder before he answered the question, "What are the very latest fashions in jewelry?"

"Reduced to a phrase, I would say the latest thing is jewelry costuming," he said. "By that I mean the striving for perfect harmony between gown and jewelry. Formerly a woman who possessed a fine set of diamonds wore them with all her costumes—that is, at night. Diamonds and other precious stones were bought for their gem value. Now she must wear jewelry distinctly appropriate to the particular gown. Today, if the costume be empire, she must wear tiara and pendent earrings in empire style or none at all. Further than this, the precious and semiprecious jewels the woman of fashion wears must harmonize in color as well as in form of setting. The jewelry must be a part of the general color scheme."

This mandate from those "who must be obeyed" in such matters has led to the creation of the new fashions in the best class of jewelry. The use of small diamonds in "calibre," or cut square to a certain gauge and set with colored stones, is gaining. Instead of a piece being set with round stones, with spaces between, it now is "paved" with square stones, set edge to edge, making a solid glittering mass. The stones used for this purpose are small, some of them, "paving" diamonds, running 500 to one carat of weight. This practice permits of the multiplicity of form and color demanded by the creations of the costumer.

Naturally "jewelry costuming" has brought into favor all the colored precious and semiprecious stones, aquamarine, amethyst, topaz, jade—anything to get the color effect desired for special costumes.

Among the most exquisite novelties are the necklaces, belts and dog collars of plain black silk ribbon or velvet, supplied with clasps and designs in diamond "paving" set in platinum. Attached to these necklaces are diamond "paved" watches of incredible thinness.

Despised, or, rather, feared, for many years, the opal at last has come into its own. It was a case of sheer beauty conquering superstition. Now that the battle is won fashion is tumbling over itself to buy opals.

In the very exclusive shops coral is scorned, and the reason given is that it can be so easily and so closely imitated. Those who make a business of being exclusive will have nothing of any stone that successfully can be imitated by hoi polloi. Gun metal as a factor in jewelry has been cast aside because it rusts.

Pearls are growing in favor and in price, for the chasm between the real and the imitation in pearls is so wide that the mistress who can afford to own the real is not afraid of being rivaled by her maid, who buys the imitation by the yard.

AMY VARNUM.

The Baked Cucumber.

Wherever there is located an inn, as the roadhouse is now being called, and the motoring party demands "something good to eat" its members may have cucumbers cooked for them after the ideas of the Persian minister, who has introduced the dish in Washington society. He has contributed more than his quota of recipes to the good dishes which tickle the Washington palate, but when it comes to cooking cucumbers those who have sampled the art of this epicurean can't say enough in his praise. The homely cucumber is first sliced out of recognition and then covered with the crumbs of a sweetened bread and baked after the way of apples. It is then served with a thick cream gravy flavored with Rhine wine. Of course, being a good Mohammedan, the minister frowns on the use of wine and explains that his French chef introduces it as a necessity. It makes good eating, however, as one guest puts it, and the laws of the Koran can be occasionally broken in so worthy a cause.

WORLD EVANGELIZING PLAN.

Interdenominational Society to Raise $25,000,000 Yearly For Five Years.

In the hope of evangelizing the world in the present generation the Layman's Missionary movement, an interdenominational organization of wealthy church members, is planning to raise $25,000,000 a year for the next five years among laymen in the United States, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

J. Campbell White of Pittsburg, secretary of the movement, who visited Philadelphia recently, outlined the plan. He said it had just been completed by those in charge of the scheme and had been approved by the mission boards of the various denominations interested. The plan will be tested within the next few weeks.

Mr. White said that the Christian people of the world were spending $21,280,000 a year at present on foreign missions, of which amount the people of the United States contributed $8,980,000. This $21,000,000, he said, supports 18,000 missionaries, who are working in foreign territory to evangelize 325,000,000 persons, but there are 675,000,000 others who are not provided for.

Mr. White declared that 40,000 missionaries were needed, which would require an expenditure of between $75,000,000 and $80,000,000. The proposition is to raise $125,000,000 within the next five years. It is estimated that $25,000,000 will be received in small amounts from children and others in the churches. The remaining $100,000,000 will be obtained by the sale of "shares" among church members of all denominations and others, as follows:

Two million shares at $5 a year for five years, $50,000,000.

Two hundred and fifty thousand shares at $100 a year for five years, $25,000,000.

Twenty-five thousand shares at $1,000 a year for five years, $25,000,000.

The laymen's missionary movement will turn this money over to the various mission boards for the extension of their work.

"Even if we gave $25,000,000 a year for foreign missions it would be only one-sixth of what we give to our church work at home," said Mr. White. "Instead of decreasing that contribution for work at home I believe it would increase the offerings, as there would be greater interest in church work."

HERE TO STUDY OUR MEN.

Elinor Glyn May Write a Book About Them if She Finds Out Enough.

Elinor Glyn, the English novelist, author of "Three Weeks" and other stories, who was a passenger on the steamship Cedric, which arrived at New York recently, is the wife of an English squire who has a fine home at Sherring, in Essex, says the New York Sun. She has come to the United States to study Americans and may write a book on the result of her observations. She said:

"I am much interested in America and Americans and am an admirer of the American woman. The American woman is attractive in every way, and she has a knack of dressing smartly. I am much more of an admirer of the American man, though, than of the American woman. The men here are so considerate of women, so delightfully polite to women. They have an innate sense of humor and keen mentality.

"They go to the root of things at once, and one does not have to explain more than once. I want to find the reason for this. It may be the climate or it may be the mixed character of the people, but if I find out what I want I shall write a book. It will not be a book on sociology, and I am not going to write on the smart set here. I am more interested in the business man, the statesman, the man who does things. It is no wonder that America progresses while the old world is dormant."

Then, changing from the sublime to the ridiculous, Mrs. Glyn said:

"I like your hot corn and your wheat cakes. I have had some on the other side, but while here I am going to get my fill of these things."

She will be the guest for a few days of Colonel and Mrs. William Jay and will then tour the country from Maine to California.

A Monster Buoy.

For the mooring of the gigantic Cunard turbine ocean liner Lusitania in the Mersey, where the tidal currents run at six or even seven knots an hour, a huge pear shaped buoy has been anchored between Tranmere and Rock Ferry, on the Cheshire side of the river, near the school ship Conway, says the New York Globe. The buoy is held by four enormous chain cables made of links with metal three and three-quarter inches in diameter, having an aggregate weight of about 200 tons. The four anchors between them weigh thirty-six tons. The cables have twice the strength of those used for mooring the largest warship of the royal navy, the H. M. S. Dreadnought.

Starvation Society's Newest Fad.

"The society women of Pittsburg are breaking their necks to get thin," said a fashionable Penn avenue modiste the other day to a correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer, "so they can be in style. Many of them tell me they have quit eating corn, potatoes and other things which have a tendency to make them fat. Some women are almost frantic because they are so fat and are consulting all sorts of books on how to reduce their weight. Many are fasting, thinking failure to eat will reduce their size." The same story is told by all the swell dressmakers. Starving has become society's fad.

Bell Telephones May Be Bought

An important change in the policy for thirty years of the Bell telephone companies has been made known. When questioned this week regarding the report that the Western Electric Company, the concern that manufactures the apparatus used by the Bell companies, would hereafter sell telephones and supplies to all buyers. President Theodore N. Vail of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company confirmed the report. He explained that the idea had been under consideration for a long time, but that heretofore one difficulty had been that the Western Electric Company needed more plant, its full energies being required to supply the demands of the Bell companies alone. This obstacle to doing a general business has been overcome by the recent completion of very large additions to the Chicago factory of the Western Electric Company, and hence it is now in a position to take care of outside orders.

In reply to a question as to the probable effect of this action on the revenues of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, Mr. Vail said that no considerable direct increase was anticipated but that a great indirect advantage was looked for from improved relations between the public and all of the associated Bell companies, because there has been an entirely erroneous idea more or less prevalent, that the charges of these companies for their services were based on a monopoly of telephone instruments, while the fact is that the instrument is but a samll part of the plant required in giving telephone service.

It is felt that this action may cause it to be more clearly understood by the public that the Bell companies' only claim for patronage is based on their ability to furnish the best service at reasonable prices and not on any instrument monopoly.

Mr. Vail explained that at the present time many inefficient telephone instruments are in use on local and private lines and that the Bell companies desire to see these replaced by standard instruments in order that it may make traffic connections with the greatest possible number of properly equipped lines, assuring proper service and transmission. For eample, there are thousands of so-called "farmer's lines" which will furnish valuable feeders for the toll lines of the larger system when properly equipped and maintained. This situation can now be provided for through the sale outright of Bell instruments and apparatus.

In answer to the question as to whether it was intended that the Western Electric Company should become an aggressive competitor of the independent manufacturers who, up to this time, have had a monopoly of the selling trade, the only reply was that the Bell interests were fully prepared, either from the manufacturing or operating side of the business, to meet all the needs of the public, and that they wished to demonstrate that they claimed or asked no advantages other than their ability to meet those needs under square competitive conditions of quality and price. There would be no trade war but any manufacturers who have been getting high prices for inferior goods under the old monopoly of the selling trade would naturally suffer a loss of business.

Gone and Forgotten.

Editors of Daily Ledger:

Thursday morning the Superintendent called my attention to a tomb in the Hancock cemetery where the door is open and four or more of the coffins in a state of decay with the remains exposed are to be seen.

It would seem that the family in Quincy whose name is on the tomb would repair it. Is this not a shameful condition in our proud old city. If this state of things had been reported as existing in darkest Africa we would not have beleived it.

EVERY RHEUMATIC INVITED TODAY

TO TEST URIC-O FREE!

75-Cent Bottle Given Free To All Who Apply.

If there are still any sufferers from Rheumatism in this county or wherever this paper reaches, that have not yet tried the wonderful Rheumatic Remedy Uric-O, we want them to try it now at our expense. We firmly believe that there is not a case of Rheumatism in the world that will not yield to the wonderful effects of Uric-O, and we want to prove it to every doubter beyond all possibility. The best way to do this is to give a large trial bottle of this remedy outright to every suffer and let him test and try it to his own satisfaction. If you or any of your family suffer from Rheumatism, no matter what form, just cut this notice out of the paper and send it together with your name and address, also the name of your druggist, to the Smith Drug Co., 288 Smith Building, Syracuse. N. Y., and they will send you by return mail a liberal trial package free of all expense. There is no reservation to this offer. You take the remedy home and use it according to directions until thoroughly satisfied of its merits.

We could not afford to do this if we did not know that after you are freed from this dreaded disease that you will recommend it to all your friends who have rheumatism. We know from experence that personal recommendation from one person to another is the most valuable advertising, and that is the way we intend to acquaint the world with Uric-O. Don't put off writing because this offer will soon expire, and then it will be too late. Do it today and start yourself upon the highway to perfect health and happiness. Send for Uric-O, no matter where you live. It is sold by Druggists all over this country, and we want you to ave a bottle free.

Uric-O is sold and personally recommended in Quincy by E. J. Murphy.

A PLEASANT VOYAGE

Training Ship Enterprise Returns From European Cruise

NO COMPLAINT FROM CADETS

Declare That Food Was Good and That They Were Treated Well--Healthy and Happy After Long Journey--Old Troubles Forgotten

Boston, Oct. 12.—With nothing but praise for the food served during the trip, delighted with an opportunity to see the European countries, and happy that all were enjoying excellent health, the boys of the training ship Enterprise gave a cheer of pleasure when the ship dropped anchor off Long Island head last night at 6:30 o'clock.

The ship had been about five weeks making the trip across from Gibraltar, and touched only at Maderia on the homeward voyage, after a three months' cruise.

Many rumors early in the summer from Gibraltar that a repetition of the trouble over poor food had occurred led many newspaper men to hurry down the harbor in the hope of getting information from the officers or crew.

As Captain Lowe was busy in his cabin making out his reports, which he will submit to the nautical training commissioners today, he dispatched the executive officer to talk with the men upon the press boat.

Permission to board was denied, not because there was any evident desire not to allow the representatives of the press to talk with the cadets, but because the captain believed that his report should be submitted first.

In response to questions as to the nature of the voyage, the executive officer stated that everything had been pleasant and agreeable since the ship left Gibraltar five weeks before. There were no gales encountered, the weather had been ideal, and the ship singularly free from illness.

In answer to the query as to the half dozen boys who had been reported ill and quarantined at Maderia, the executive officer said that he guessed there was not much to the affair.

In response to a query as to whether there were any of the cadets ill in the hospital at Galloupe's island, the officer replied that everybody on board was well. The appearance of the cadets on the vessel, who were grouped about the officer, seemed to give added weight to the truth of the statement. The boys looked healthy and happy, and wore the brown of five weeks under a tropical sun on their cheeks.

There seemed to be no signs of the mutinous feeling that marked the previous trip of the training ship, and all the boys seemed unanimous in declaring they had been treated well. Every cadet who started on the cruise returned, and there were none who deserted to stay abroad.

The lads stood the cruise exceptionally well, said the executive officer, and there was but little seasickness; the little fellows in this respect had it all over their larger brothers, and not one of the "tots" lost a moment from "mal de mer."

Nothing that savored of an insurrection or a mutiny could be discerned among the cadets, and it seemed as though all the previous troubles had been wiped out, and that the lads were satisfied, healthy and contented.

Strike Ended by Arbitration

Springhill, N. S., Oct. 12.—The Springhill miners' strike was settled last night and the men will return to work on Monday, they having decided to accept the decision of the arbitration board. The men were out 10 weeks, the longest strike in the history of the town. It is estimated that they lost during that period $200,000 in wages and the business of the town was seriously affected.

Charge of Criminal Negligence

Norfolk, Oct. 12.—Engineer Addition and Fireman Sawyer of the switch train which crushed to death Mrs. U. G. Munsell of New Haven and Mrs. Henry Holmes of Springfield, Mass., were acquitted of the charge of causing the deaths, while Conductor Hayman was held for trial with Superintendent of Terminals Du Barry, charged with criminal negligence.

Gave Mark Twain His Start

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 12.—George Rees, a veteran printer, the man who gave Mark Twain his start, suffered a stroke of paralysis yesterday, from which he has not yet recovered. Rees was the first man to pay Clemens for his literary efforts and the humorist worked for him in his newspaper office in Quincy, Ills.

Time For Prosecution Expired

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Arthur Johnson, the negro heavyweight pugilist, who was charged with passing a worthless check, was discharged. Johnson proved that he had no knowledge of the character of the check. It was also found that the prosecution was barred by the statute of limitations.

Judge Lenient With Clark

Boston, Oct. 12.—John P. Clark, former building inspector of Boston, was placed on probation when brought before Judge Raymond for sentence, following his recent conviction on the charge of accepting a bribe to pass upon a defective wall.

ON THEIR OWN GROUNDS

Detroits Are Defeated by Superior Playing of the Chicagos

Detroit, Oct. 12.—In the first game of the world's series on their own field the Detroit American league team was beaten by the Chicago Nationals by the score of 6 to 1.

It was a well deserved victory for the Chicago team, as it played superior baseball throughout the game. There were several errors of omission on the part of the Detroit team, beside the two errors scored against them which figured in the Chicago run making.

Curing Cancer by Electricity

Paris, Oct. 12.—Dr. Keating Hart of Marseilles gave a practical demonstration in this city at the Broca hospital for women of the new electro-surgical cure for cancer. The system consists of applying high tension intermittent sparks to the cancerous growths. These are softened by the electricity and their cutting out is made most easy. At the same time the electricity causes the wound to heal with magical rapidity, kills all pain, and prevents a recurrence of the growths.

Goes to Prison For Non-Support

Boston, Oct. 12.—For the first time in his career as prosecuting officer, District Attorney Moran appeared in court yesterday and asked that the maximum penalty be imposed in a criminal case. It was the case of Benjamin Snyder, convicted of non-support, and Judge Brown agreed with the district attorney, giving Snyder six months in the house of correction. Snyder married in March, 1904. His wife had $400. The husband got this money and never lived with his wife.

Legless Corpses In River

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—Following the finding of the body of a young woman in the Delaware river, the recovery of the legless body of a man from the same stream near Paulsboro, N. J., has caused much comment. A dredging crew brought up the body of the young woman in a burlap bag, which broke and permitted the body to fall back into the water. The legs of the corpse had been severed at the knees. The legs of the man had been severed close to the body.

General Business Fairly Good

New York, Oct. 12.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that a larger volume of business is being transacted than at this time last year, although conditions in 1906 were most favorable. Many contemplated undertakings await more normal financial conditions, and securities have fallen to the lowest point since 1904, but general business throughout the country makes fairly good progress.

Bears Out of Roosevelt's Range

Stamboul, La., Oct. 12.—Roosevelt camp on the Bayou Tensas has passed into history. The president left the place yesterday with a determination not to return. Another camp will be pitched near Newellton. The change of camp was decided on not only because no bear had been killed, but because the president and his friends became convinced that there were none to be killed on the upper Tensas.

Fire Drill's Value Exemplified

New York, Oct. 12.—The fire drill was executed to advantage at the post-graduate hospital last night when 150 patients, many of them helpless, were hurried to the ground floor, while the five floors above were rapidly filling with smoke. The fire originated in the basement and was soon put out. Though badly startled, none of the sick or their attendants was injured.

Rise In Price of Petroleum

New York, Oct. 12.—The price of refined petroleum for export, which has been $8.41 a barrel, was raised 30 cents in New York by the Standard Oil company yesterday. No announcement was made as to the reason for the increase, although the greater cost of barrels was suggested as a possible cause.

Strike Disturbance In Milan

Milan, Oct. 12.—A general strike was declared here as the result of a fight between the striking gas workers and a body of strike-breakers, in which the carbineers were forced to interfere and fire on the mob. No newspapers are being published in Milan today.

Twins Born In Runaway Auto

Turin, Italy, Oct. 12.—With the motor car, in which she was a passenger, tearing down a steep hill at a 60-mile-an-hour clip and beyond control through a break in the mechanism, the Countess Bina gave birth to twins last night.

$25,000,000 For Manchuria

Tokio, Oct. 12.—A telegram from Manchuria states that the viceroy has obtained the approval of the Chinese imperial government to an American loan of $25,000,000, which will be used in the construction of public works.

Railroad Granted Rebates

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12.—The jury in the case of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad, charged with rebating, rendered a verdict of guilty. The maximum fine for all the offenses charged is $1,100,000.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Sunday, Oct. 13.
Sun rises—5:54; sets—5:07.
Moon sets—9:58 p. m.
High water—3:30 a. m.; 4 p. m.
Rain is indicated for New England. It will be colder.

BACON A LIFESAVER

Secretary Rescues a Cripple From the Icy Waters of Charles River

Boston, Oct. 12.—Assistant Secretary of State Robert C. Bacon figured in a heroic rescue in the icy waters of the Charles river when he jumped overboard from the Harvard launch Veritas and swam to the rescue of two boys, one a cripple, who had capsized in a canoe, and succeeded in saving the life of the cripple by pulling him aboard the launch. The second boy was rescued by J. Reed, a student of Harvard, who followed Bacon into the water.

Mr. Bacon was returning from up the Charles river, where he had been witnessing the practice of the 'varsity squad, in which were his two sons, Eliot and Gasper, when the party on board the Veritas saw a canoe capsize some distance away, overturned by the wash of a passing tug.

One of the occupants clung to the boat. His companion, however, was swept away and had twice disappeared from sight into the water when Bacon's attention was called to the scene. Without a moment's hesitation, and without waiting to even slip off his coat, Bacon dove into the water and made for the drowning boy. Almost at the same instant Reed plunged overboard and Bacon yelled for him to take the boy on the canoe while he took the other one.

After swimming for nearly 75 yards, Bacon reached the crippled boy, who had become unconscious and was sinking for the third time. Grasping him firmly, Bacon turned back toward the launch which was being moved slowly toward him and willing hands drew both back on board. Then the launch made for the canoe and Reed and the second victim were picked up. Both the capsized boys later came out all right.

The Providence Suit Case Tragedy

Providence, Oct. 12.—Patrick E. McDonald, who was wanted by the police in connection with the alleged murder of the infant whose body was found in a suit case, voluntarily gave himself up to the authorities yesterday. He denies any connection with the crime. The mother of the child, Sarah McDonald, or Sarah Heagney, who has been known as McDonald's wife, although she is not married to him, is said to have implicated McDonald.

More Trouble For Former Consul

Boston, Oct. 12.—The United States grand jury has reported another indictment in four counts in the United States district court against Michael Latros, charging him with conspiring in a scheme to unlawfully land aliens at this port. Latros was arrested several months ago on a similar charge and was removed from the Lowell consulship by the Greek government, at the present time being out on $1000 bail awaiting trial.

Wife Murderer Sentenced

Salem, Mass., Oct. 12.—A plea of guilty of murder in the second degree was made by Thomas F. Murphy of Haverhill, when he was arraigned here on the charge of having killed his wife, Almira Murphy, at their home in Haverhill. The plea was accepted, and Judge Fessenden sentenced Murphy to imprisonment for life in the state prison. Murphy had been indicted for murder in the first degree.

For Roosevelt In 1908

Salem, Mass., Oct. 12.—Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts and Congressman Foster of Vermont were the principal guests at a banquet of the Salem Republican club last evening. Gardner devoted much of his address to state matters, but in closing he expressed his preference for President Roosevelt as a candidate for the nomination in 1908.

Given Up by Bondsman

Boston, Oct. 12.—Representative S. J. Lamoureux of North Adams, accused of requesting and accepting a gratuity and of bribery in connection with the passage of the shoe machinery bill, was surrendered in the superior criminal court by his bondsman. The bail fixed by the court some months ago when the representative was indicted is $2000.

Skull Crushed and Body Mangled

South Norwalk, Conn., Oct. 12.—An unknown youth about 19 years old was killed here last night. He was riding on the front end of the baggage car of an express train and leaned out from the car. His head struck the fence as the train drew into the station, his skull was crushed and when he fell his body was mangled.

Fled Because of Worry

Boston, Oct. 12.—Joseph N. Pastene, the lawyer, who disappeared about 10 days ago, is in Montreal. Several letters from him have been received by friends within the past week. He says that he fled because of mental worry and that when his health improves he will return and prove that his accounts are correct.

"Victim of Stray Shot"

Houlton, Me., Oct. 12.—That J. E. Dickinson was not murdered, but was the accidental victim of a stray rifle shot, was the contention of Attorney Shaw, counsel for the defense, in the trial of John Roberts, accused of Dickinson's murder. Shaw argued that the state had failed to establish a motive.

Senator's Auto Kills Boy

New Haven, Oct. 12.—Ray Hoxie, 10 years old, was struck and killed here by an automobile owned by State Senator Blakeslee and driven by his chauffeur, Ernest J. Frey. It is alleged that the boy ran in front of the car. The coroner is investigating, the chauffeur being held under bonds.

Ralston Health Shoes

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

THE LITTLE SCHOOLMA'AM.

[Copyright, 1907, by Mary McKeon.]

She was a teacher in one of the public schools in the city, having a "B" class, and she was referred to as "that little schoolma'am" oftener than as Miss Sutherland. She was hardly above eighteen years old, and there were those who thought it curious that such a slip of a girl should have secured the position. There may have been a "pull" somewhere, but as she was perfectly competent to fill the place no one had any right to complain.

The little schoolma'am was one of six teachers boarding with good Mother Williams. She had kept a boarding house for schoolteachers for many long years and had come to be regarded as a mother to that class. She took Miss Sutherland under her wing at once, and no incident of note happened for the first three months. Then a diamond ring belonging to one of the other teachers in the house was suddenly missing. Three more articles were missed; then a detective was called in. He was not ten minutes making up his mind about it.

"The three robberies were committed by the same person, and that person is your Susan," he said. "The fact that she has been with you for five years and has never stolen anything before makes no difference. Men live straight lives for fifty years and then commit crimes. Let me take her to the station house, and I can make her confess within half an hour."

Mother Williams would not listen to this. She not only refused to make a complaint, but gave the teacher the amount she had lost and kept Susan in her place. The robberies were, of course, a subject of conversation among the teachers, but that any one should suspect another was a thing impossible. It was a month before anything further happened. Then a debt of $70 was paid to Mrs. Williams in cash. As she had no bank account, she put the money in her trunk in her room. In just a week it was missing. She couldn't say within three days of the time it was taken. It was there all right of a Monday, but on Thursday she looked for it in vain. The door of her room was never locked, and on Tuesday afternoon when she went out to market she remembered that she left the key in her trunk.

This last robbery made things look serious indeed. Every one clamored for another detective to be called in, and the girl Susan, who felt that she might be under suspicion, declared that she would not remain another day unless a thorough investigation was made.

There are detectives and detectives. The second one called, heard the particulars of all the robberies and did not lay any one under suspicion. He said he would think it over and see what could be done. He talked with the servants and the teachers and agreed with them that it was a mysterious case. Two weeks had gone by and he had not been heard of again when the little schoolma'am took a book in her hand of a Saturday afternoon and went into one of the public parks. She had been reading for half an hour when a man sat down on the bench beside her. She looked up to recognize the detective. He was a middle aged man, of fatherly look, and, though engaged in detecting and punishing evil doers, it was evident that he had a kind heart. After a few casual remarks had passed he said:

"Miss Sutherland, I have been waiting for the last three days to see you alone. Had I called at the house and had a private conversation with you it might have been embarrassing."

"But why should you want a private conversation with me?" she asked.

"About those robberies, my dear. I have found where the ring and the watch were pawned. I have the dates when you expressed the money to your sister Mary."

"Sir!" exclaimed the girl, rising.

"Sit down, child, and don't attract attention. You can't be vicious by nature. You have not spent a cent of the money on yourself. It has all gone to some one else. Tell me what actuated you. I am here to pity more than to accuse. I can't believe that you realized the heinousness of your offenses. Don't weep and draw attention, but just tell me all about it."

The girl was white as a sheet and trembling all over, but she fought back her emotions and after a minute said:

"It was all for Mary. Mary is my sister, and she is a cripple. She hasn't had the chance that I and other girls have had, and I have always pitied her. If you knew her and knew how good and patient she is you couldn't help but love her. Soon after I came to teach school a young man fell in love with her. We are very poor but very proud at home. I wanted this young man to marry Mary—I wanted it, oh, so bad, and I—I stole the things and money to buy her clothes. That was it—that's all. You can take me to jail now. We are all ruined and Mary can't get married now."

The detective sat there with his face in his hands and his eyes on the ground for long minutes, while the little schoolma'am trembled and gasped and sobbed. Finally he reached out his hand and touched hers and said:

"No one knows it but you and I. I have the ring and the watch, and they can be sent to the losers through the mail. As for the money, we will pay it back together, half and half. When we have got it together I will tell you now. Go on with your teaching. That's all."

That's all the reader need know, except that Mary was married six months later and that a mystery greater than the robberies still hangs over the boarding house. M. QUAD.

BABY'S FIRST OUTFIT.

What the Economical Mother Should Provide For the Newcomer.

The very first hint on this subject is "Don't make or buy too many things for the first outfit."

For a first outfit the following things will be necessary:

Six vests.

Three or four long sleeved vests—for cold weather.

Four webbing bands.

Six nainsook day gowns.

Four flannel nightgowns.

A dozen bibs.

Crocheted wool or flannel jackets and boots.

A warm wrapping shawl.

Bonnet, cloak and veil for outdoor wear.

Be careful to provide nothing but the softest wool and flannel for all the inner garments.

Make the garments sufficiently large to fit a good sized baby. If the clothes are made too small you may be in the uncomfortable fix of finding that they won't go on at all.

First, a warm shawl made of fine flannel or cashmere, scalloped at the edges and embroidered in one corner.

Second, a pretty cloak, also of cashmere, with a wide circular collar edged with a ruffle of lace.

Third, knitted booties, of which there should be several pairs.

Fourth, a short jacket, which baby may wear in the house.

Next comes the plain little night robe made of shaker flannel trimmed only with a little lace at the neck and fastening down the back.

A pretty embroidered pillow, which may be used either in the crib or carriage, and next the baby's christening dress of finest nainsook or lawn, with round yoke of insertion and lace and a ruffle of embroidery. The bottom of the skirt is finished by rows of tucks and insertion and a ruffle of embroidery.

A snug bonnet tied with strings of some washable silk.

HAPPY DAYS AHEAD.

Housework Done by Electricity—Invention of a Frenchman.

Apparently the happy days when we shall be able to do all our housework by electricity are near at hand.

There is an electrician living at Troyes, in France, M. Knap by name, whose house is simply crammed with automatic electrical time and labor saving devices.

Eight course dinners are served without a servant entering the room. The dishes are sent up from the kitchen by an electric waiter.

They are handed, if such a word is permissible, round the table by a miniature electric railway.

Opposite the seat of each guest there is an electric radiator and under each chair an electric foot warmer.

The dinner table is beautifully illuminated by electric lights of various shades.

The cooking, washing and ironing in this wonderful house are all done by electricity, and so are the coffee grinding and the butter churning.

All the doors open and shut automatically, and by means of a telephone and microphone M. Knap can hold a conversation with a visitor at the front door in whatever part of the house he may happen to be.

Decorating a Desk Interior.

An enthusiastic amateur in pyrographic work owned a little oak desk. The outside was rather ornate, and the whole was well finished, with the exception of the pigeonholes and drawers, which were of plain, unvarnished wood. The bare look of the interior annoyed the fair owner considerably until one day the idea occurred to her that the unvarnished wood would bear the touch of her pyrographic needle. So she set to work.

The wood framework making the pigeonholes was about three-eighths of an inch thick, and along the edges she burned a simple scroll and beading design. The drawers being deeper, she had space for a trailing floral design, and as the knobs were also of wood she decorated them. The result was satisfactory, and thereafter when her desk was left open to display her pretty writing utensils it presented an excellent appearance.

A burnt wood note paper holder and several burnt leather blotting pads and notebooks enhanced the effect.

It is an excellent plan when one sees some particular piece that would decorate well to buy it and lay it away until it is wanted, for there is a tremendous demand for subjects when the season of bazaars and Christmas gifts looms up, and then it is difficult to find a satisfactory choice. In pyrographic work it is necessary to have smooth, unknotted wood in order to do good work. In rush seasons it is almost impossible to get the articles wanted in good material.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The Brookline delegates to the Norfolk county Republican convention wanted the Quincy delegates to "play politics," but when they were unable to carry their point and secure the nomination for a Brookline man, they had no use for Quincy or any other part of Norfolk county. Because of unjust taxation Brookline is a favored town, and because of the influence of wealth it has engineered through an unjust basis of Metropolitan assessments, but political strength is based on numbers and not on wealth, and Brookline finds that she cannot dominate everything.

Here is a challenge to Quincy and the county from the Brookline Chronicle this week:

"Conceding the election of Mr. Stone of Sharon as County Commissioner, which can scarcely be prevented, it is nevertheless evident to every Brookline man, if not to our fellow citizens everywhere in the county, that the question of Brookline's representation is by no means finally disposed of. Unfortunately, the selection of the candidates has been marred by some unpleasant features. The attitude of the Hyde Park delegates, as voiced in the remarks of Mr. Darling, was not exactly praiseworthy. Both Mr. Darling and the Hyde Park Gazette maintained that "political strength," whatever that may mean, should determine the selection of a candidate,—a plea dangerously apt to be misinterpreted, and to lead one to express the wish that some of our county politicians might exhibit a more desirable quality of strength. If the Hyde Park delegates were not actuated by a spirit of the most evident fairness and public spirit, in their devotion to this idea of "political strength," the temper of the Quincy delegation, also, if some of the rumors afloat are to be credited, was not all that could have been desired. We have seen it stated that Quincy's opposition to the Brookline delegation was destined to results in a refusal, later, on Brookline's part, to "co-operate" with Quincy when that city should be particularly eager to nominate any one of its own citizens; but the truth of the mater seems more likely to be the reverse, namely, that the Quincy delegates voted as they did out of spite, because Brookline had turned down, some time ago, a Quincy candidate for county treasurer. It is disagreeable to hear rumors of deals between delegates, which can hardly be said to exhibit a very keen sense of honor, or much knowledge of duties and responsibilities not only to certain constituents, but to the community."

Beautiful Monument Of Quincy Granite

J. L. Miller has erected in Mount Wollaston cemetery a very beautiful monument for William S. Williams. It is 7 feet, 9 inches long and 5 feet wide at the base, and stands 6 feet high.

The monument is made from dark Quincy granite and all polished. The stock is perfect and anyone seeing this memorial must conclude there is no granite equal to the Quincy, if the best quality is used.

This monument is surmounted by the figure of "Meditation" in a sitting posture, and is sculptured from westerly granite, and is the first granite statue in our cemetery. This is certainly a memorial that is a credit to maker and owner.

NO TARIFF OF RATES

Can Be Obtained In Advance Says Railroad Commissioners

There was not a very large representation of citizens at the hearing Friday before the Railroad Commissioners on the petition of the Old Colony street railway for approval of its operating a trolley freight on Randolph avenue.

City Solicitor Thomas in speaking for the city reviewed the history of the trolley freight matter in Quincy. When the Petition was before the city last year several conferences were held with the railway company and certain requests made relative to its existing service, and the rates of tariff the company intended to charge on its trolley freight lines. The railway company could not see its way clear to better the service and nothing could be obtained from them as to rates. There was no means of knowing if it would be advantageous to the city as far as charges. The railway has not informed us how it proposes to get its freight to the north.

This year a new petition came in. This petition is now pending before the City Council. It has not been granted or refused. The matter is on the table.

Chairman Jackson at this point said: "If we felt that the city government of Quincy was dealing with this matter and could grant the privileges which the company seek, we should think it was better that the city government deal with the affair. Now, in regard to the information that the aldermen or councilmen or the mayor or whoever is interested in looking into the matter, may seek to get, the Board would advise the company that they were entitled to a statement of such facts as the company could reasonably be asked to give. If the city government should ask the company to give them a tariff of rates, we would say, 'No, we won't let them.' And if anybody should ask the season, the reason would be this, that we do not believe, in Massachusetts, in a tariff of rates made beforehand. It may be absolutely wrong. It never does any good to anybody. A rate that is just today is unjust tomorrow. The company is bound to give a reasonable rate."

Mr. Thomas:—"Might I interrupt and say a probable rate?"

The Chairman:—"No, there is only harm done when you touch that question of what the rate is to be. The company is under legal obligation, and it is subject to the action of the Board in regard to rates. All over this Commonwealth that principle has been adopted; and city governments have given street railways the right to do a freight business. It is proper that they should have that right, there is no question about that. It is of benefit to the public in any city that the kind of transportation of goods that a street railway company is capable of giving should be given And the company is bound to charge what is reasonable and nothing else."

Lawyer Garfield, who represented the railroad company in the absence of Mr. Warren who was in court, said that this was for a right in a small part of Quincy between Milton and Randolph. He did not feel that there was reason for the delay and this commission was appealed to. We have not followed the sixty day limit for the petition was presented in June and we did not file this petition until Sept. 8. The City Council has had time.

At this point the chairman said that the board would adourn the hearing until 12.30 that Mr. Warren might be present.

When the hearing was resumed at the latter hour, Mr. Warren said that the petition was presented June 10. Not only have the 60 days expired but twice that number. We have not applied to do business in general in Quincy. The location does not concern the City of Quincy. It makes no difference to Quincy in way of burden or benefit. It is a little over 6000 feet long. Grants have been granted on both sides as far south as Randolph, Avon, Brockton, to Taunton to the boundary line between Taunton and Fall River.

The matter first came to the attention of the City Council of Quincy, Oct. 31, 1905. These petitions were not acted upon till Feb. 5, 1906. Nothing was then done until May. It was neither granted or refused. Certain things were suggested by the Citizens' Association and the vital matter with them was that the company should name its rates. The Council Committee also discussed the matter of rates.

Then a petition was brought to the Legislature and the present bill enacted. The company again petitioned the City Council June 10, 1907. A hearing was held and the company has waited for action.

The matter was of great importance to the public who want to enjoy these privileges. It is not material to Quincy as no other petition is pending. We are ready to answer any question on matters which they are entitled to. I will say right here that the company does not intend to give any exclusive business to any company, but intends to carry on a general express business itself. The matter of rates has got to be equalized. We do not expect any business in Quincy on this line.

He would be willing to have the hearing adjourned two weeks that the City Council might act, but he did not want it held up on account of questions which it might be desired to ask for we are here now ready to answer any questions. He felt that the people of other communities wanted this business undertaken. He had several business men from Brockton and Whitman present who would testify that they wanted it.

In reply to a question by the Chairman, Mr. Warren said the company had been ready to do business as far as this line was concerned. We have been doing business for a year and a half.

City Solicitor Thomas said that the act was misleading. The letter of the law said sixty days but the spirit of the law is that while the matter is still pending and there had not been any unreasonable delay the city should have time to fight this matter out. He did not want the city to stand as the first to be brought under the law. If the aproval is refused then they can come here. The City Council had not been treated in a spirit of fairness. It was only two meetings ago that the matter was held up. It was not the intention of the city to oppose a trolley freight. He favored an adournment until November to give the city an opportunity to act.

Chairman Jackson said that as he understood the law, it was where cities and towns had considered local interests rather than the general public interest that the Board has a right to act. It was not drawn for the Board to interfere. Without referring directly to Quincy, there was no question but what grants have been delayed in the interests of possible trades. There is a larger interest than a local interest at stake when some board of selectmen or aldermen think it a good time to trade for other street railway matters. There was no question but what they should discuss the way in which these grants should be approved. We are bound by law to treat them as impartial matters. We can not accept what they have not done on other matters. The public are entitled to have action taken. There is no doubt but what other matters in Quincy have been responsible for the delay and some have been brought to this Board and this morning in executive session the Board discussed a matter upon which a recent hearing was held on a Quincy matter.

The City Council must deal with this matter independent of other matters. The fact that the company do not effect a trade will be no excuse why this Board shall not act. If no agreement is reached by the end of this adjournment because of no trade being made the Board may act.

A. F. Schenkelberger desired to address the Commission but the chairman said that it was the hour for adjournment.

Mr. Warren asked if the gentleman was in favor or opposed.

Mr. Schenkelberger said he was in favor. He was then allowed to ask the question he desired. This was if the matter of trolley freight on other lines in Quincy could not be taken up at the same time.

He was informed that this was the only petition now pending before the city and the other petition could not be considered.

The hearing was then adjourned until Nov. 6.

May Ride In Chick's Auto

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Kindly print the parody below on that brilliant poem in the Bulletin:

"Last year I was the butter in,"
Says little Emmie Crane;
"But a sour lemon was handed me,
"And now I do complain,
"That no one thinks, and thinks, of me;
"Why not try me again."

Nay, Nay, my little quitter,
The last year's opportunity
Was your "Dried Apple"
In this community.

And Wallie, and Bill, and Genie,
Will linger at the side,
And Tom and Lawyer Willie,
In Chick's auto they may ride
For 'John O,' will have none of them
In the "Hall" he does preside.

An Out Fielder.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

The coal barge "Saucon" of Philadelphia is discharging part of her cargo at the coal wharf. About 400 tons of coal will be put on board the collier "Everett" and for this purpose, the "Saucon" will be put in the dock alongside the "Everett."

The work of exctvating for the machine shop extension, the work on the sewer extension and the changes in railroad tracks leaves the main street of the yard in a torn-up condition.

The smoke stacks for the scout cruiser "Salem" are on the dock ready to be put in place.

The steamship "H. F. Dimock" will be taken away today to go back into service.

THIS IS HOSPITAL WEEK

AND THIS IS WHERE YOU COME IN.

During the first few days of this week a small army of polite and enthusiastic collectors will swarm over the city, sowing seed for a bountiful harvest which they hope to gather two or three days afterwards!

They will carry little account books for keeping strict tabs on themselves and other people; they will scatter beautifully printed literature in your homes, so that you may read convincing testimony as to the indispensable usefulness as well as the crying needs of Our Hospital; and lastly they will distribute strong little envelopes, made to stand the strain of any number of bills and coins which may be stuffed into them!

After two or three days' interval to let the effects of the literature soak into your minds, the same collectors, more polite than ever, will call for the envelopes and their contents. whether bulging or otherwise. The collectors do their work cheerfully without pay, for the good of the cause, and contributors are asked to lighten their labors as much as possible by having their envelopes ready promptly. Perhaps in many cases there might be an agreement at the first call as to the most convenient time for the second visit.

Please write names and amounts plainly on the envelopes (ink preferred) bearing in mind the Treasurer's task of reading and copying some thousands of these envelopes.

Do not seal the the envelopes unless the money is actually spilling out of them!

And that will be about all.

The Committee hopes that everybody will take a keen interest in this canvass and look sharp for the final returns when they are published.

CLAIMS PRESENTED

Ballot Law Commission Begins Listening to Evidence

PROMISES TO BE LENGTHY

Counsel For Whitney Has String of Charges Which He Expects to Prove—Opponent Declares Belief In Regularity of Convention Proceedings

Boston, Oct. 12.—In beginning its investigation of the recent Democratic state convention at Springfield which nominated two tickets, the state ballot law commission yesterday heard the claims of the attorneys of the two candidates for governor, Charles W. Bartlett of Newton and Henry M. Whitney of Boston, and the partial testimony of one witness.

The hearing will be continued with the introduction of more testimony on the part of the Whitney faction, and it is expected that with a large number of witnesses called on both sides it will be well into next week before the commission will reach a conclusion.

In the meantime the time for filing tickets for the state election by nomination papers will probably have expired, and it is expected that both factions will take such action, pending the decision of the commission on the regularity of the Springfield convention.

In his opening argument in support of the claims of the Whitney faction, former Attorney General Parker declared that the Bartlett convention proceedings were void because a substantial portion of the delegates had been excluded from the hall through an illegal method of compelling the delegates to exchange their credentials for tickets. He said that the Bartlett convention proceedings were rushed through without giving the Whitney delegates a chance to participate, and for that reason the latter withdrew to the rear of the hall and held a convention of their own. He also claimed that the delegates at the Whitney convention represented constructively those outside the hall, because the latter would have joined in the proceedings had they been able to get inside.

Mr. Parker charged that Daniel J. Kiley told City Marshal Quilty of Springfield that it was his convention and that he was going to run it, and ordered him not to allow anyone in the Court Square theatre, which had been secured for the convention, unless he had a red ticket. Only Bartlett delegates or Bartlett hirelings, he charged, had these tickets.

Mr. Parker declared that after his talk with Kiley he told the Whitney leaders that they were "up against a packed convention."

Among the Bartlett "delegates," said Parker, were many whose "faces were more familiar at the prize fight ring than in a Democratic convention of Massachusetts."

Mr. Parker made charge after charge against the Bartlett convention managers and declared that he will be able to prove every one of them.

George L. Mayberry, in Bartlett's behalf, affirmed the regularity of the proceedings in connection with his client's nomination. He said that everything was done according to custom, and that if delegates were unable to get into the hall it was because they did not arrive in season to exchange their credentials for tickets. He admitted that about 100 tickets had been given out to spectators in Springfield on the morning of the convention, as was also customary. He declared that the Whitney people came to the convention with the intention of bolting if they found themselves in the minority.

After the records of the state committee had been placed in evidence by the secretary without being read, William S. McNary of Boston, a Whitney leader and member of the state committee, gave an account of several meetings of the state committee and the executive committee of that body. He stated that in making the arrangements for the Springfield convention, the customs of previous years had not been followed, the selection of committees for the convention having been left until the night before the convention, and the choice of officers, as well as committees, delegated by a vote of the executive committee to five members, all of whom were supporters of Bartlett. All efforts by the Whitney members of the committee to obtain recognition on convention committees were voted down by the state committee, as was a proposition to have doorkeepers and members of the committee on credentials divided equally between the supporters of the two candidates.

United States Did Not Vote

The Hague, Oct. 12.—The arbitration committee of the peace conference adopted an important declaration drafted by Count Tornielli (Italy) that the conference unanimously favors the principle of obligatory arbitration. The United States, Japan, Hayti and Turkey abstained from voting.

Will Pay Damages to Japanese

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—At the cabinet meeting yesterday it was decided to send an agent to Vancouver to assess and pay the damages to Japanese citizens who suffered in the recent riots. Canada will at once pay the damages and will later ask the city of Vancouver to defray the costs.

(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Boston Theatre.

Manager Morison has planned for a production of "Sky Farm" by the Boston Theatre stock company next week which promises to be something of a sensation. It will be remembered that the production of this charming play by Manager Charles Frohman's company, at the old Boston Museum six years ago gained for it such favor that it was continued for twelve consecutive weeks and only then withdrawn because of other plans for the season. It was written by Edward E. Kidder. The action of the play is in Sol Smith Russell and it has all the quaint humor which characterized the plays written for Mr. Russell by Mr. Kidder, the playwright made famous by and about "Sky Farm" a creation of the playwright suggested by some of the farming lands in Berkshire county in this state, the characters being sketched from Mr. Kidder's memory of the inhabitants of that section of Massachusetts.

Keith's Theatre.

One of the most notable events in the history of vaudeville in Boston is due to occur next Monday. It is nothing less than the initial appearance at Keith's theatre of the distinguished actress, Nance O'Neil. Supported by a company headed by McKee Rankin, Miss O'Neil is to appear in a condensed version of "The Jewess" with the famous curse scene included in the action. Miss O'Neil's engagement is for one week only. One of the most novel comedy acts of the season will occupy a prominent place on the bill—Robert Dailey and company in a sketch depicting happenings on a trolley car, with Mr. Dailey as the conductor and the members of his company as the passengers. Many very funny character types are introduced.

Castle Square Theatre.

Italian grand opera will be heard at the Castle Square next week, "La Sonnambyla" having been chosen by Manager Masson for a series of performances limited to a single week. This work by the great Bellini, contrary to the general run of Italian operas, has a romantic and a cheerful, and not a tragic plot, and it will therefore provide the best and liveliest sort of entertainment for Castle Square patrons. It recounts a simple story of peasant life in Switzerland, where the characters pass their days in happy and idyllic employment. The heroine is a sonnambulist, and the close of the opera finds her, after many vicissitudes, happily wedded to the man she loves. In active preparation for early production at the Castle Square are Auber's romantic opera "Fra Diavolo." Wagner's grand opera "Lohengrin" and De Koven's comic opera, "Rob Roy."

The Orpheum.

Quite the most remarkable bill of features ever framed up for a vaudeville show is the programme which will be offered at the Orpheum for the week beginning Monday Oct. 14. The steady advance in the quality of vaudeville at the Orpheum has been marked by the Boston press, but the show selected for the coming week must take precedent as the choicest aggregation of headline act so far presented at this popular playhouse, which is familiarly known as the "big house with the big shows for little money." What is proclaimed as the greatest monkey act in vaudeville is that of Raffin's Monkeys, one of whom does an imitation of Charmion in her disrobing act on the trapeze, which is declared to be hilariously funny. Welch, Francis and Co., will appear in their funny sketch, and a genuine novelty will be furnished by Juno Salmo, the Mephisto Moderne, whose act with unique electrical and scenic effects has scored a tremendous hit. Black and Jones, the colored comedians and new moving pictures by the kinetograph will complete the bill.

Park Theatre.

Charles Frohman, maker and manager of the majority of the scientillating stars of the theatrical world, added another luminary to his constellation at the Park Theatre, Boston, on Monday night when he presented Marie Doro, with stellar prominence, in "The Morals of Marcus." Again was the rare Frohman discernment manifested. Miss Doro emerged from the initial performance with a luster that has already begotten for her ranking with Miss Maude Adams, especially in so far as the latter's famous portrayal of "Babbie" in "The Little Minister" is concerned. Such a personal triumph as that acheved by Miss Doro on Monday night has no counterpart in Boston stage annals. Truly, she had received favorable consideration for her work with Wm. Gillette in "Clarice" but no one was quite prepared for really such cleverness, talent and intelligent ability as she displays in this new play. In verity it might be said that she has emerged as a new stage idol with women as well as the men prepared to worship at her shrine. The play is of English extraction, being an adaption from W. J. Locke's novel of the same name. The story has to do with Sir Marcus Ordeyne, an almost middle-aged baronet with no taste for society and a strong liking for research in Renaissance literature, who has long succeeded in repelling mammas with marriageable daughters, disarming them with the shy man's bluntness often passing for cynisism. Into his methodical life one day comes Carlotta, taken from a Turkish harem by a youth who brought her to England and then shirked further responsibility by committing suicide. She is lovely, helpless and unsophisticated. No knowing what else to do, Sir Marcus takes her into his household, but Sebastian Pasquale, the professional Lothario, runs away with her, grows tired of her, leaves her to find her way back to Sir Marcus again. Eminently forgiving, he welcomes and marries her.

MINISTER FOUND "AFFINITY"

He and a "Living Soul" to Be Examined as to Mental Condition

New York, Oct. 12.—Rev. Maxwell J. H. Walenta, pastor of the German Mission church of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Louis A. Bauer, a parishioner and the wife of an electrotyper, were arrested and in court held for an inquiry into their mental condition. The action was instituted by Mr. Bauer and the minister's father, Rev. Wenzel Walenta, of the German Emmanuel Reformed church of Brooklyn. The complainants asserted that Mrs. Bauer had left her husband and child and sought refuge at the younger clergyman's house. The two were charged with offending public decency.

In court the accused minister, who is 28 years of age, denied wrongdoing, but admitted that the woman had been welcomed to his "official room" at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. "She and her husband had differences," he explained. "I saw it was impossible for me to effect a reconciliation. I welcomed her to my church. I felt in Mrs. Bauer a living soul, and my soul cried aloud for somebody who was alive in the twentieth century. In her I realized my affinity."

"I believe you both need to be examined as to your mental condition," commented the magistrate, who committed the prisoners.

Pacific Cruise Not Significant

New York, Oct. 12.—Kikujiro Ishii, chief of the commercial bureau of the foreign office and head of the consular service of Japan, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given here by Japanese Consul General Koike. Ishii spoke of the friendly relations between the United States and Japan. Referring to the proposed battleship cruise to the Pacific he remarked: "It is natural that America should at times move its fleet about and therefore it should not be taken as significant."

Czar In Another Mishap

London, Oct. 12.—There are persistent reports here, cables the St. Petersburg correspondent of The Daily Mail, that a pinnace landing the Emperor of Russia from the imperial yacht yesterday struck a submarine rock and sprung a serious leak. The czar was transferred to another pinnace. This mishap, following the stranding of the imperial yacht Standart, has caused much comment.

Going Over Standard's Books

New York, Oct. 12.—Government experts are busily engaged going over books and records of the Standard Oil company, taking advantage of the adjournment of the federal suit against the Standard of New Jersey until Monday. Frank B. Kellogg and Charles B. Morrison, the government attorneys in the case, are in Washington consulting Attorney General Bonaparte.

Neglected to Call Physician

Mount Holly, N. C., Oct. 12.—A verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to mercy, was rendered by the jury in the case of Edwin M. and Mary Watson of Morristown, charged with manslaughter in having caused the death of their 7-year-old son. Both are Christian Scientists and neglected to employ a physician for their child until within a few hours of his death.

To Be Buried In Old Home

Columbus, O., Oct. 12.—The body of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick was taken last evening to Woodstock, Ont., the place of her birth, for burial. The body was accompanied by Emil Hoover, son of Mrs. Chadwick, and Mrs. J. W. Weston, a sister, who arrived from Woodstock. No services were held and plans for the burial at Woodstock were not announced.

Will Shoot Unleashed Dogs

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 12.—Because of a mad dog scare, the mayor has issued a proclamation demanding that every dog owner for the next three weeks keep his dogs indoors. Additional ball cartridges were issued to the police last night, with instructions to kill every dog seen on the street except those held in leash.

War on Rodents

Oakland, Cal., Oct. 12.—Systematic extermination of rates has commenced in Oakland under the direction of the board of health and United States Surgeon Long. Six of the seven physicians, who are to act as medical heads of the districts into which the city has been divided, were appointed by the board of health.

Episcopal Church Propositions

Richmond, Oct. 12.—Greater activity in restricting the marriage of divorcees, a more widespread movement against child labor and the much mooted phrase "the American church" in a preamble to the constitution were among the measures urged at yesterday's proceedings of the Episcopal convention.

Do Not Know Where They Stand Regarding a Challenge

REPLY OF NEW YORK CLUB

Leaves Room For Doubt as to Necessary Length of Boats to Contest For America's Cup--Charge of Failure to Plainly Answer Questions

Stockholm, Oct. 11.—The Royal Swedish Yacht club held a meeting here to discuss the reply of the New York Yacht club to its inquiry as to the conditions under which a challenge for the America's cup would be considered.

After a long debate, in which was emphasized the fact that the New York Yacht club had not given a clear reply to the question whether the length of the competing vessels could be fixed at 70 feet or not, it was agreed to await the settlement of this point. A further meeting has been fixed for Oct. 21, when other techical and financial questions will be discussed.

After the meeting Rear Admiral Halgg, commodore of the club, said:

"Perhaps we did not put the question plainly to the New York Yacht club, but we are anxious to know definitely whether a challenge for the cup with a 70-foot boat would be accepted and whether the defender also would measure 70 feet or if the defender would be 90 feet long and the challenger 70, and whether or not the New York Yacht club would allow a handicap corresponding with this difference in size.

"From the deed of gift and the resolutions referred to, we would infer that no handicap will be allowed, but we must have a positive and unequivocal reply on this point before we can go any further. We mean business, but we must know definitely the size of the boat in order to get the required sum of money guaranteed before making the formal challenge.

"The Swedish schooner Svenge lost against the America off the Isle of Wight in 1854 owing to the bad work of her crew, and this was a result of a mixture of nationalities and languages and the misunderstanding of orders consequent thereon. In the coming race the challenger will be manned exclusively by Swedes. Since 1854 our seamanship and boatbuilding have improved vastly. We hope the New York Yacht club will meet us on fair terms."

William Olsson, a prominent member of the club, said: "I and all the other members of the Royal Swedish Yacht club are greatly surprised and hurt at the slighting manner in which the New York Yacht club replied to our communication and the failure of this club to answer in plain language Sweden's civil inquiry as to whether or not it was willing to race with 70-foot boats. We mean business and we are not trifling. We hope that the two million Swedes in America will back us in our enterprise."

The Clarksons In England

Liverpool, Oct. 12.—A young couple traveling under the name of Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham, but whose names do not appear on the passenger list, landed here from the steamer Empress of Britain, from Quebec. It is suspected that they are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clarkson. The couple at once left here for London. Mrs. Clarkson was Helen E. Maloney. She disappeared from New York with Clarkson and went to Montreal, where she was married to Clarkson on Oct. 3.

Aeronauts Fear Great Lakes

New York, Oct. 12.—All of the European aeronauts who are to compete in the James Gordon Bennett cup race, to start from St. Louis Oct. 21, are now in this country. Fear of dropping into the Great Lakes is the chief concern of the aerial racers. All newspapers throughout the lake region have been asked to print a general notice to mariners to be on the lookout for the balloons for 24 hours after the start of the race at 3:30 p. m. Oct. 21.

Aged Emperor Near Death

Vienna, Oct. 12.—Francis Joseph's physicians are visibly becoming more anxious. The fever, which has lasted 10 days, seems to have exhausted the wonderfully trained system of the monarch, and the symptoms of inflammation of the lungs are growing. The doctors are doing everything in their power to prevent more serious complications.

Strikers Returning to Work

New York, Oct. 12.—Officials of the Western Union Telegraph company state that their force has recently been largely augmented by personal applications of strikers to return to work, and that many have been taken back in various parts of the country. Comparatively few vacancies now remain.

Boy Killed by Lockjaw

Malden, Mass., Oct. 12.—Russell Washington, 14, died yesterday from lockjaw. He was playing in the yard of his home last Saturday when he stepped on a nail, which penetrated deeply into his foot.

Triple Lynching In Mississippi

Tunica, Miss., Oct. 12.—Three negroes were lynched here for a series of burglaries. Two were hanged to telegraph poles and the other was shot to death.

The Scrap Book

Would Be the Death of Her.

A priest asked a young man who had come to confess how he earned his living. "I'm an acrowbat, your reverence." The priest was nonplused. "I'll show ye what I mean in a brace of shakes," said the penitent, and in a moment was turning himself inside out in the most approved acrobatic fashion.

An old woman who had followed him to confession looked on horrified. "When it comes my turn, father," she gasped, "don't put a penance on me like that; it 'ud be the death of me!"

THE PARCHMENT TEARERS.

Ours is the hardest task, yet not the less
Shall we receive the blessing for our toil
From the choice spirits of the aftertime.
My soul is not a palace of the past,
Where outworn creeds, like Rome's gray senate, quake,
Hearing afar the vandal's trumpet hoarse
That shakes old systems with a thunder fit.
The time is ripe, and rotten ripe, for change.
Then let it come. I have no dread of what
Is called for by the instinct of mankind,
Nor think I that God's world will fall apart
Because we tear a parchment more or less. —Lowell.

In a Different Class.

Melinda had eliminated the servant girl problem from our domestic circle for five years, and we felt conscience stricken on the subject of her pay.

"We've been paying Melinda $4 a week for three years," mother said, "and she does the washing every Monday just as regularly as the day comes."

"Why don't you pay her five a week?" father suggested.

"Let's," mother responded promptly.

Melinda was informed that she was to get five per henceforth. She was delighted. On the following Monday she did not bring forth the tubs on the back porch, as was her wont.

"Aren't you going to wash today, Melinda?" mother asked after the morning had worn along.

"No'm. De five dollah gals don't do no washin'. Dat is fo' de cheapah ladies."—Lippincott's.

It Depended.

A Scotch minister was endeavoring to steer a boat load of ladies to a landing place on one of the highland lochs. A squall was bursting, and the steering was difficult, when one of the girls annoyed him by jumping up and calling out anxiously, "Oh, where are we going to?"

"If you do not sit down and keep still, my young leddy," said the minister pilot, "that will verra much depend on how you were brought up."

One Point of View.

Bart Kennedy, the English novelist and sociologist, says of our senate:

"The senate is true to the American people. Oh, yes, very true to them—very true indeed. Whenever I think about how true the senate is to the people the case of Mary Miles comes into my mind. Mary's husband was a soldier out in India fighting for his king. One day a friend said to Mary:

"'Mary, are your thoughts always true to Charlie away out there fighting the hill tribes?'

"'Yes, indeed, they are,' Mary answered. 'Whenever a man kisses me I shut my eyes and try to think it's Charlie.'"

The Audience Agreed With Him.

An English orator rose to make an extended speech. He began:

"Mr. Chairman, I have lived long enough"—

"Hear, hear!" yelled the audience, and amid a storm of laughter the aspirant for political honors resumed his seat.

Stood the Test.

Coasters of Cape Cod can tell where they are by a scrutiny of the sand brought up by the lead. Captain Bunker, confined to his cabin by sickness, once directed that the lead should be brought to his berth for his inspection. The craft belonged to Nantucket and was in a sand ballast. The mate, doubting the captain's infallibility, dropped the lead into the ballast.

The captain's eyes dilated when he saw it, and he asked, "Do you say you got this sand by sounding?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then, by the great horn spoon, Nantucket's sunk, and we are right over Tupper's Hill!"

Hard Praying.

An old colored man stole a pig and after getting home with the animal knelt to pray before retiring. His wife heard him praying to the Lord to forgive him for stealing the pig. She went to sleep with Uncle Eph still praying. Later in the night she woke up and saw her husband still kneeling in prayer. At daybreak his supplications had not ceased. "Eph, why don't you come to bed?" asked his wife. "Let me 'lone, 'Riah. De mo' I tries to 'splain to de Lord how I come to steal dat pig de wusser I gits mixed."

As They Were Written.

A New England druggist is preparing a unique scrap book, containing the written orders of some customers of foreign birth. Here are some that are copied from the originals:

"I have a cute pain in my child's diagram. Please give my son something to release it.

"Dear Docther, ples gif bearer five sense worse of Auntie Toxyn for garle baby's throat and obleage.

"My little baby has eat up its father's parish plaster. Send an anecdote quick as possible by the enclosed girl.

"This child is my little girl. I send you five cent to buy two sitless powders for a grown up adult who is sike.

"You will please give the lettle boi five cents worth of epecac for to throw up in a five months old babe. N. B.—The babe has a sore stummick.

"I haf a hot time in my insides and wich I wood like it to be extinguished. What is good for to extinguish it? The enclosed money is the price of the extinguisher. Hurry pleas."

Apostle and Epistle.

A man riding through the mountains of Tennessee stopped one evening to water his horse before a little cabin, outside of which sat an old colored woman watching the antics of a couple of pickaninnies playing near by.

"Good evening, aunty," he called. "Cute pair of boys you've got. Your children?"

"Laws-a-massy! Mah chillun! 'Deed, dem's mah daughteh's chilluns. Come hyah, you boys."

As the boys obeyed the summons the man inquired their names.

"Clah to goodness, sah, dem chilluns is right smaht named!" said the old woman. "Ye see, mah daughteh done got 'ligion long ago, an' named dese hyah boys right out de Bible, sah. Dis hyah one's named Apostle Paul, an' de uddah's called Epistle Peter."

A Pertinent Query.

"Beg pardon, sir," began the beggar, stopping a suburbanite at the ferry. "Can you spare a few cents to help me across the river?"

"Haven't you any money at all?"

"Not a cent," replied the beggar.

"Then what difference does it make which side of the river you're on?"—Lippincott's.

He Recognized Them.

"Private" John Allen of Mississippi stood watching the parade of the Grand Army of the Republic.

"That's a fine lot of men," commented Allen, who fought all through the civil war on the Confederate side. "There is something strangely familiar about them. It seems that I have seen many of them before."

"Do you mean to say," asked Senator Mason of Illinois, who stood alongside, "that you recognize any of those faces forty years after the close of the war?"

"Not faces; backs."

The Signature Was Good.

When the late Governor Gilmore of New Hampshire was superintendent of the Concord and Claremont railroad he once wrote a letter to one of his section bosses who had done something to displease him. All the man could make out were the date and Superintendent Gilmore's signature.

Some time afterward, being in Concord, the man went to call on the superintendent at his office.

"Hello, John, how do you do?" said Mr. Gilmore. "Well, what are you doing now?"

"Why, I'm up here at the same place on the section, Mr. Gilmore."

"What! Didn't you get a letter from me?" naming the date.

"Yes, certainly."

"Well, didn't you know that that was a letter of dismissal?"

"Letter of dismissal!" cried the astonished John. "No! I couldn't make it out, except that it was from headquarters and signed by you, sir. But after some study I concluded it was a pass. As none of the conductors on the road could read it they all accepted my statement that it was a pass from Mr. Gilmore, and I have been riding on it ever since."

John kept his place on the section.

Sacred Rights.

A true specimen of manly chivalry was encountered in a Boston kindergarten. The teacher discovered that a very small boy was chewing gum, and she bade him disgorge it.

"I can't," he said.

"You can't?" she answered in surprise. "Why, yes, you can, and you must."

"No, I can't," he persisted and kept the gum in his mouth.

"Now, why can't you give me that gum, Johnny?"

"Because it belongs to a little girl in Somerville."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Hard Lines.

"My mother gives me a nickel every morning when I take cod liver oil," said Willie proudly.

"What do you do with it?" inquired his little friend.

"Mother puts it in a money box until there is a dollar."

"And what then?"

"Why, then mother buys another bottle of cod liver oil with it."

Embarrassed the Boy.

A business man was telling some friends of the disadvantages of having two telephones in his business office.

"A new office boy entered upon the discharge of his duties last week," said the merchant, "among which duties is that of answering the telephone calls. The very first call resulted in his coming to me with the statement:

"'You're wanted at the phone by a lady, sir.'

"'Which one?' I asked, thinking of the two phones.

"'Well, sir,' said the boy after an embarrassed pause, 'I—I think it's your wife, sir!'"—Harper's Weekly.

A Chance For Fighting Bob.

Through a typographical error in the title a bill came to the senate reading "A bill to retire pretty officers in the navy," etc., when it should have read "petty" officers.

Senator Tillman, who is no great shakes for beauty himself, saw the bill, read the title and said: "That's a good idea. Retire all the pretty officers and give Bob Evans a chance."

SONOMA GIRL WINS

Three Straight In 2.05 and 1-4 For Transylvania Purse of $5,000

A Lexington dispatch of Oct. 11, to the Herald says Sonoma Girl, owned by Lotta Crabtree of Quincy, Mass., today won the 19th Transylvania stake in straight heats, equalling her record of 2:05 1-4. The Crabtrees have the single honor of winning this classic feature two years in succession, as Nutboy won the event last year in a blinding snow storm.

There is but little to say of the race, except that Sonoma Girl, the greatest green trotter the world ever saw, won easily. She clearly outclassed her field and the result was never in doubt. Being unlucky in drawing an outside position for the first heat, McHenry took Sonoma Girl to the first position in 100 yards after leaving the wire and retained it throughout the heat. The pace was a hot one. The first quarter was stepped in 30 1-4 s., the half in 1:02 3-4, and then McHenry, seeing he had his field beat, took the mare back, but she came home handily in 2.07 1-4.

The next two heats were but repetitions of the first, Sonoma Girl making every post a winning post from the start to the finish.

In the finish of the last heat Jack Leyburn, under a masterful drive of "Pop" Geers, displayed unexpected strength through the stretch, and would have forced Sonoma Girl to reduce her record if he could have gotten out of a pocket.

After the race Miss Crabtree was photographed in the floral horseshoe and carried across the track in front of the grand stand, where she was given an ovation. Miss Crabtree said she did not know what she would do with Sonoma Girl this winter.

Milton Officers Arrest Two

Officers Higgins and O'Connell held up two men on Randolph avenue, Milton, this morning who are believed to be members of a yegg gang.

It was about 3 o'clock when the officers stopped the two men and began to question them as to where they came from, and where they were going. At this, one of the men reached for his hip pocket as though to draw a revolver. Then it was that the officers grabbed them. On being searched a loaded revolver was found in the hip pocket of one of the men. The contents of their pockets proved to be a miscellaneous assortment of tools, including a screw driver and chisel.

When questioned as to whence they came, and where they were going, their stories did not agree. It was then decided that the people of Milton would be better off with the men under lock and key.

They gave their names as Richard H. Finney and Rosco I. Lowe, and claimed their home to be in Waterbury, Conn. They were arraigned in the court at Quincy on the charge of being tramps and later will be looked over by Boston detectives.

SURPRISE PARTY.

On Wednesday evening last Atlantic was aroused by the ringing of bells and blowing of horns; somewhat similar to a Fourth of July celebration. It proved however to be a party of young ladies who surprised Miss Etta Harding of 83 Botolph street with a tremendous tin shower. Miss Harding is soon to become a bride so the articles were of a useful nature.

A very enjoyable evening was spent with much singing and music. Miss Abraham rendered several selections; also Miss Harding and the William sisters of East Boston.

Later in the evening the young ladies presented the future bride with a dinner set of one hundred and thirty pieces of English china. Refreshments were served. Among those present were Miss Donovan of Dorchester, Miss Sweeney of Charlestown, Miss MacDonald of Chelsea, Miss Crist of Winthrop, Miss Abraham and Miss Saftel of Dorchester, Miss Haneborg and Miss Merrill of Boston; Miss Strout of Roxbury, Miss Reynolds of Dedham, and the Misses Williams of East Boston.

Is It A Burning Question

with you where you will get some good exercise after the outdoor season is past? Where you can add to your salary-earning ability by self-improvement along technical lines without going to college? Where you can meet your men friends socially during week day evenings for bowling or a game of pool?

Solve your question by joining the Y. M. C. A. tonight—last night of Booster Week—something doing all the evening—Come in and have a good time with us.

Quincy Couple Going West

Mr. and Mrs. Dougal Robertson of Glencoe place, faithful workers in the First Presbyterian church, are soon to leave Quincy to make their home in the west. Mr. Robertson has been deeply interested in various departments of the church, particularly the choir and Sunday school.

On Thursday evening they were tendered a reception and a surprise by the choir at the home of its leader on Franklin street. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were enjoying supper with Mr. and Mrs. McKeller when the company arrived.

While the couple were recovering themselves, Mrs. McKeller assisted by Mrs. J. McKay, prepared a bountiful supper for all. After having partaken of the many good things Mrs. McKeller in behalf of the members of the choir presented Mr. Robertson with a beautiful bible and gave a silver coffee pot handsomely engraved to Mrs. Robertson. She also mentioned what a strong worker Mr. Robertson had been ,and it was mostly through his efforts that the choir had prospered. The choir will miss him greatly, but while he goes to his new home the best wishes of all those present go with him.

Mr. Robertson thanked the choir and Mrs. McKeller for their kindness to him and his wife. He further said that he always had a deep interest in the church and all he did was done with a willing heart. He enjoyed helping the choir and hoped that it would still prosper in its good work.

Each member marked their favorite verse of scripture in the bible

Games and music followed, in which all took part with a good spirit.

New Fountain.

George W. Morton has again come to the rescue of the thirsty animals which travel the Hough Neck road. A few years ago he erected a drinking fountain at Quincy woods, and has now had one erected on the grass plot on Canal street, at the junction of Coddington and Sea streets.

It is a large block of granite placed at convenient height, hollowed out on top to make a suitable drinking trough. There is an inscription in a panel on the side facing Valley street which reads; "In Memory of Thomas Morton of Merry Mount 1625."

The lettering is cut into the stone and is to be painted black. When completed it will be an ornament to thelocality as well as a blessing to the thirsty.

Surprise Party.

Joseph Uppling was summoned home in a hurry last evening from his place of business to meet a Boston friend. He was surprised, however, to see his house filled with young friends, and himself the victim of a surprise party. John R. Nelson, Esq. acted as master of ceremonies, and presented the pipe of peace, a handsome meerschaum. Vocal and instrumental music were enjoyed, and ice cream and chocolate were served.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the neighbors and friends who sent floral tributes, and who helped us by their acts of kindness and thoughtfulness during our bereavement.

FOOD FAIR.

The New England Food Fair and House Furnishing Exhibition, given by the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' and Provision Dealers' Association, was opened to the public Monday evening, Oct. 7, at eight o'clock in the Mechanics' building, Boston.

At two and eight o'clock daily the United States Marine Band, lead by William H. Santelmann, render popular selections. The Imperial Ladies' Orchestra play thrice daily, morning ten to twelve, afternoons one to three, and evenings seven to ten. In Paul Revere hall moving pictures of the famous Passion Play are shown several times daily. There is a children's theatre in the second balcony and an "Old Fashioned one-ring circus" in the grand hall.

The exposition committee are Frederick Humphrey president; East Weymouth; A. C. Dowse, secretary, Boston; A. T. Faunce, treasurer, North Abington; Henry W. Mansfield, South Braintree and David Gerow. Messrs. C. H. Green and E. J. Rowe, managers, have made it their business to conduct large fairs.

Previous to the opening of the fair on Monday the exposition committee had as their guests the Massachusetts and the Suburban Press Associations with ladies. Following the regular monthly meeting of the Massachusetts Press Association at twelve o'clock dinner was served in the dining room. At the head table were seated Gov. Curtis Guild, officers of the press associations and their ladies. The Imperial orchestra played during the dinner hour and Daisey Shaw Merritt rendered soprano solos.

THE PHILERGIANS.

The Philergians will hold their second meeting of the season in Cochato Hall, Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 15, at 2.30 o'clock. The speaker of the afternoon will be Mrs. Margaret Deland, who will speak on "The Value of the Novel." Mrs. Deland has endeared herself to too many people, through her novels, to need any introduction to a Braintree audience. Those who had the pleasure of attending her previous lecture, given under the auspices of the Philergians, know that her abilities are not confined to her literary and philanthropic work.

The womans exchange will, as usual, have articles of fancy work and excelent home cooking on sale.

An important change has been made relative to the time of admitting the public to these sales. It has been decided more advantageous to all concerned to admit the public only between 4 and 5 P. M., and not before the meeting as previously agreed upon.

Between 4 and 5 P. M. any person, having friends in the club or not, will be gladly welcomed to these sales. Admission does not mean an obligation to purchase, and a pleasant and able Exchange Committee will be present at that time to serve all who may care to attend.

Fifty degrees temperature at sunrise.

Scene of Splendor At Elks' Carnival

During the past week a grand transportation scene has taken place at the Coliseum, and next week the thousands who will attend the Elks carnival will open their eyes in wonderment. The hall is scarcely recognizable as its original form is hidden in a mass of bunting and attractive booths.

The ceiling is one mass of streamers, —pink, green and white being the prevailing colors. Suspended by small wires from the ceiling are numerous white doves and gorgeous butterflies. In one corner is a representation of the woman flying through the air on a broom, so familiar to all who have read Mother Goose melodies.

Running through the decorations over head are hundreds of electric lights which at night will enhance the effect and make it beautiful to behold. Then there are numerous illuminated signs are emblems. In the centre of the hall is a large elevated platform over which is suspended an immense white bell. This bell is also covered with electric lights. Around the sides and ends of the hall are tastily draped flags.

The booths are many and all are decorated with bunting,—purple and white being the color scheme. There are also about the booths many paper machie figures with a painted scene as a background.

A large illuminated sign "welcome" and an Elk's head occupy conspicuous places in the hall. The effect at night when the thousand of electric globes are illuminated is beautiful and must be seen to be appreciated.

The carnival will open Monday night and will be honored by the presence of Gov. Guild, Mayor Thompson and other distinguished guest. Music will be furnished by the Salem Cadet band which in itself is a feature.

Then there is a first class orchestra and an entertainment for each evening. The latter is in charge of Clarence Fouche, which is a good guarantee of excellence.

"Hello Bill," will be the password next week, and with a bit of cardboard will be all that is necessary to admit to this scene of wonderland.

No Bones Broken.

Charles W. Cummings and Maurice I. Gatcomb had a narrow escape from a serious accident Friday afternoon on Pond street. They were driving down the street toward the wharf when the front axle broke causing one of the shafts to drop onto the horses heels. This threw Gatcomb out who landed on his hands and knees. Cummings remained in the buggy and the horse started on the run. He had not gone far before Cummings jumped out and landed in the gutter. Then the other shaft dropped, clearing the horse from the buggy. The latter turned upside down in the gutter. The horse ran a shot distance and stopped.

Mr. Cummings who is 65 years of age was thoroughly shaken up, and the ligaments of his left leg strained. He was taken to Johnson's lumber wharf where Dr. Jones looked him over. His leg was swollen somewhat, but it is thought no bones were broken.

Hindoo at Bethany Church.

At the morning service in Bethany church tomorrow Mr. S. C. K. Rutnam M. A. president of Central College, Colombo, Ceylon, will speak. Mr. Rutnam is a Hindoo by race and a native of Ceylon. His earlier years were marked by a splendid career at the university of Madras, and later at Princeton. Returning to Ceylon ten years ago he devoted himself to the elevation of his own people, establishing, at first as a Christian school for boys, the college of which he is now president and which has some 200 students. President Charles Cuthbert Hall, during his recent tour in India and the east has, after a careful inspection, especially commended the work of Central College. Mrs. Rutnam, who is a physician and a graduate of Trinity University, Toronto, has also rendered great service to the women of Ceylon. Mr. Rutnam is an eloquent and forcible speaker.

Last Call for Booster Week.

Booster week closes with a grand rally tonight at the Y. M. C. A. While it is the last call for this week it doesn't mean that there will be no more effort on membership lines or in more joining, for this week has been short and the enthusiasm and push is just beginning to take effect on many. So it is expected that for the remainder of the month young men and boys will be joining in large numbers.

All members are urged to "round up" their men for tonight and sign all possible, that the immediate results of the week may be as large as possible.

Tonight's program will consist of music, refreshments, general good time in gymnasium, and alleys. All young men are invited.

Good Record By The Bowdoins

The Bowdoins base ball team of this city, which closed its playing schedule on Oct. 5, proved to its supporters that it had the fastest team of any that ever represented Quincy. Its schedule was a long and tedious one and they suffered but 3 defeats out of 27 games played. The team met and dafeated some of the best semi-professional teams in the state, and also played two games in Maine against Biddeford and won both.

Although Bowdoin lost the championship of the Suburban League they proved by defeating the North Dorchester team that they had the fastest ball players, taking the odd game in the series after the league had closed its schedule.

Among the regular men on the team some of them have been offered try-outs with the league teams and it would not be suprising to see some of its members in faster company next season.

The batting of the team was very good, Capt. Kelley leading with an average of .427, followed in order by Michaels .420; Barrows .400; Fallon .387; Smith .357; Desmond .345; Troupe .318; Saunders .300; Rogers .300; Ryan .295 and Collins .290.

Colored Man Arrested On Suspicion

William Robinson, a colored man, was arrested by Officer Crooker, near the Wollaston depot about 6 o'clock Sunday morning, and locked up on the technical change of drunkenness, until the police had a chance to look him up.

Shortly before this, word was telephoned to the police station that there had been a colored man prowling about Hancock street near West Elm avenue all night. The telephone message said that the man was bareheaded and had been looking into windows and acting suspiciously.

Officer Crooker was sent down and he learned that Mrs. DeForest of Hancock street had seen the man coming out of her hen house with a bundle under his arm about 5 o'clock. From other sources the Officer learned that the man had gone toward the Wollaston depot, and there he found him.

Near the corner of Hancock street and West Elm avenue the officer found a hen tied up in a handkerchief. The handkerchief Robinson admitted belonged to him, and the hen proved to be one of Mrs. DeForest's brood.

On Robinson's person Officer Crooker found a pair of heavy wire cutters, a Stilson wrench, and a monkey wrench. He gave no satisfactory explanation as to how they came into his possession. He at first claimed to belong in Cambridge but afterward said his home was in New Brunswick.

He was arraigned in court for drunkenness and held under bonds until Tuesday. In the meantime the police will endeavor to locate the owner of the tools found on the man.

Quincy View Which Is Unsurpassed

The Third Hill reservation at Wollaston has attractions for many, especially on a pleasant Sunday. The view is unsurpassed on the Massachusetts coast, a beautiful panorama being unfolded to view, including all parts of Quincy; the city of Boston; the harbor of Boston, and considerable of the North and South shore; the surrounding towns of Milton, Braintree, Randolph, Holbrook, Weymouth, Hingham and Hull. With powerful glasses one of the Thatcher lights near Gloucester may be seen on a clear day, and also a hill in Maine. Quincy itself is more extensive and beautiful than many realize. From Moon head at Squantum to Tucker hill in the Blue Hill reservation is nearly ten miles in an air line, and it is about the same distance from Tucker hill to Great hill at Houghs Neck. From the Fore river at the shipyard to the Neponset river at New Squantum is nearly six miles as the crow flies. The quarries and hills in the Blue Hill range add variety to the view with which every resident of Quincy should be familiar. Show it to your friends.

SHOULD BE NO CONFLICT

Between Labor And Capital Says Cardinal Gibbons

Labor has its sacred rights as well as its dignity. Paramount among the rights of the laboring classes is their privilege to organize, or to form themselves into societies for their mutual protection and benefit. It is in accordance with natural right that those whose who have one common interest should unite together for its promotion, writes Cardinal Gibbons in the October Punam's Monthly.

Throughout the United States and Great Britian there is today a continuous network of syndicates and trusts, of companies and partnerships, so that every operation from the construction of a leviathan steamship to the manufacture of a needle is controlled by a corporation. When corporations thus combine, it is quite natural that mechanics and laborers should follow their example. It would be as unjust to deny the workingmen the right to band together, because of the abuses incident to such combinations as to withhold the same right from capitalists, because they sometimes unwarrantably seek to crush or absorb weaker rivals.

God forbid that the prerogatives which I am maintaining for the working classes should be construed as implying the slightest invasion of the rights and autonomy of employers. There should not, and need not, be any conflict between capital and labor, since both are necessary for the public good, and the one depends on the co-operation of the other. A contest between the employer and the employed is as unreasonable and as hurtful to the social body as a war between the head and hands would be to the physical body.

Whoever strives to improve the friendly relations between the proprietors and the labor unions, by suggesting the most effectual means of diminishing and even removing the causes of discontent, is a benefactor to the community. With this sole end in view I venture to touch this most delicate subject, and if these lines contribute to some small measure to strengthen the bond of union between the enterprising men of capital and the sons of toil, I shall be amply rewarded.

But if labor organizations have rights to be vindicated and grievances to be redressed, it is manifest that they have also sacred obligations to be fulfilled and dangers to guard against. As these societies are composed of members very formidable in numbers, varied in character, temperament and nationality, they are, in the nature of things, more unwieldly more difficult to manage, more liable to disintegration than corporations of capitalists, and they have need of leaders possessed of great firmness, tact and superior executive ability, who will honestly aim at consulting the welfare of the society they represent, without infringing on the rights of their employers. They should exercise unceasing vigilance in securing their body from the control of designing demagogues, who would make it subservient to their own selfish ends, or convert it into a political engine.

We must guard against any word or act that is contrary to the law. Every American citizens has the right to be protected in his efforts to earn an honest livelihood. No man or combination of men should have the power to prevent him from following his vocation even by intimidation, for he may have not only himself but a wife and children for whom to provide. It is my opinion that the honest laborer who is willing to do work which is proper and in no way conflicts with the interests of the community, should be given the opportunity to perform it, and to have the same protection from the authorities which is extended to any peaceful citizens, no matter how powerful or influential may be the person or society which opposes him.

I take for granted that all unions and other societies of American laboring men are disposed to array themselves on the side of peace and order and are as strongly opposed to violations of the law as other citizens. Hence they should exert their influence to see that the laws are upheld if they would maintain the respect with which they are regarded by their fellows. It is not only a question of patriotism, but of self-interest which deeply concerns them.

I am persuaded that the system of boycotting by which members of labor unions are instructed not to patronize certain obnoxious business houses, is not only disapproved by an impartial public sentiment, but that it does not commend itself to the more thoughtful and conservative portion of the guilds themselves. Every man is free indeed to select the establishment with which he wishes to deal, and in purchasing from one in preference to another he is not violating justice. But the case is altered when by a mandate of the society he is debarred from buying from a particular firm. Such a prohibition assails the liberty of the purchaser, and the rights of the seller, and is an unwarrentable invasion of the commercial privilege guaranteed by the government to business concerns. If such a social ostracism were generally in vogue, a process of retaliation would naturally follow, the current of mercantile intercourse would be checked, every center of population would be divided into hostile camps, and the good footing which ought to prevail in every community would be seriously impaired. "Live and let live" is a wise maxim, dictated alike by the law of trade and by Christian charity.

Experience has shown that strikes are a drastic, and at best a very questionable remedy for the redress of the laborers' grievances. They paralyze industry, they often foment fierce passions, and lead to a destruction of property; and above all they result in inflicting grievous injury on the laborer himself by keeping him in enforced idleness, during which time his mind is clouded by discontent while brooding over his situation and his family not infrequently suffer from the want of the necessaries of life. The loss inflicted by strikes on the employers is not much more than half as great as that which is sustained by the employed. who can much less afford to bear it. It would be a vast stride in the interests of peace, and of the laboring classes, if the policy of arbitration which is now gaining favor for the settlement of international quarrels, were also availed of for the adustment of disputes between capital and labor. Many blessings would result from the adoption of this method; for, while strikes, as the name implies are aggressive and destructive, arbitration is conciliatory and constructive. The result in the former case is determined by the weight of the purse, in the latter by the weight of the argument.

With Honors.

Miss Marion Lee Barker of Wollaston was one of the graduates Oct. 9, from the Malden Commercial school, receiving the highest diploma in the commercial department and next to the lightest in the stenographic department. The graduating exercises and reception were a great success from every point of view. The students' papers showed very careful preparation, and were a great credit to themselves and the school. Mr. Tucker's address was of an exceedingly practical and valuable nature, and was most enthusiastically received. The remarks by the Mayor were very appropriate to the occasion.

Coal Contracts.

On Saturday the Navy department awarded contracts for carrying coal to Rear Admiral Evans' fleet, when it goes to the Pacific in December. Every pound of the 133,000 tons of fuel will be carried in foreign bottoms, under foreign flags.

All the coal will be from American mines, the proposals for the delivery of Cardiff coal having been declined.

A fleet of 30 vessels will be reamount of fuel which will be conquired to transport the enormous sumed on the Pacific cruise, each ship averaging about 4,500 tons capacity. The cost of transportation will be $755,880.

TRAIN DERAILED

No One Hurt But Passengers Are Shaken-up At Atlantic

There came near being a bad railroad accident on the Granite branch just south of the Atlantic depot, Sunday night, when the engine drawing the 5.16 train from Boston entered a derailing switch and was nearly overturned. The locomotive, tender and the forward trucks of the passenger coach following left the iron and ploughed their way through the gravel until they were thoroughly embedded.

The train consisted of a locomotive, a day, and a combination baggage and smoker in charge of Conductor Charles L. Abeel and Engineer Jesse Gifford. It left Atlantic at 5.36 and after passing under the bridge entered the tracks of the branch. The engineer says that the signals were set all right, and his statement is borne out by other railroad men. Just after entering the branch tracks and when quite a speed had been obtained the engineer noticed that instead of keeping on the right tracks that he was on a siding owing to a misplaced switch. He applied his emergency brakes but did not succeed in checking the train enough so that the train left the derailing tracks and was ploughing its way through the gravel. As it went along it sank deeper and deeper in the sand and gravel until it came to a stop and the engine was canted over to one side and almost overturned.

The engineer and firemen were thrown together in the cab, but escaped with a general shaking up. The passengers in the cars were thrown forward when the emergency brakes were applied, and many received the scare of their life. One woman Mrs. J. A. O'Brien of 31 Bates avenue, West Quincy, fainted but soon recovered. She was attended by Dr. McIntosh of East Milton.

The passengers were taken back to the Atlantic station where the express train following was flagged and they were sent to their destination. A wrecking train was soon on hand and work straightening out the tangle was begun under the direction of Supt. Taylor. It was after midnight, however, before the locomotive was righted and put back on the iron. Travel, however, was but little interrupted as the trains could use the main line rail.

It is said that the man in the switch tower at Atlantic was to blame for the accident. It is claimed that the signal near the bridge showed green denoting safety but after passing under the bridge and entering the branch track the signal showed red, denoting danger. At that time it was impossible for the engineer to check his train. The tightly set brakes on the train showed that the engineer had done all that was possible to prevent the accident. The railroad officials will have an investigation to determine who was to blame for the accident.

Gov. Guild Guest of Elks

Gov. Guild is scheduled to arrive in Quincy this evening at 5.15 and will be the guest of Representative and Mrs. E. C. Hultman at dinner.

GOVERNOR GUILD

At 8 P. M., His Excellency will be a guest of Quincy lodge of Elks at their carnival.

This morning the Coliseum was about ready for the opening of the six-days' carnival under the auspices of the Elks. All that remained was the finishing touches such as arranging articles on the different booths. This was the work of today and by night everything will be in readfness.

The electric current was turned onto the building for the first time Saturday night, and many were the exclamations of surprise from those privileged to witness it. The thousand electric light globes are of different colors so that there is one constant scheme of red, white and blue.

On the piazza outside the hall there have been hung a half dozen witches so that from a distance they look as though flying through the air on their brooms. A little light globe on the handle end of the broom gives them the apearance of stars

Sunday afternoon many of the ladies who are to assist on the booths visited the hall and were assigned their booths, so that when the carnival opens tonight there will be no confusion.

The opening tonight will be a gala one. The Salem Cadet band, one of the best musical organizations in the state, will be present and furnish music and the opening will be graced by His Excellency Gov. Guild, Mayor Thompson and others.

They will formally open the carnival, and from then on until the close next Saturday night there will be something doing every night. In fact, to be in it, one must attend the carnival this week.

FUNDS EXHAUSTED

No Money to Properly Conduct Strike of Telegraphers

SMALL IS ASKED TO RESIGN

Charged With Failing to Properly Approach Subject of Raising Money --Says That He Is Not to Blame and Has No Intention of Resigning

New York, Oct. 14.—The New York local of the Commercial Telegraphers' union voted to continue the strike against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies. President Small, in messages to subordinate officers, had pointed out the inability of the general assembly to further finance the strike and recommended that locals in the various cities vote upon the advisability of the men returning to work.

The meeting was characterized by bitter exchanges between President Small and the other speakers, who charged the national leader with inconsistency in first claiming that the strike was successfully financed and on Saturday admitting that the general assembly was without funds, and with having conducted the fight in a half-hearted, dilatory way. Small tried to explain his position, but was frequently interrupted by hisses.

When he suddenly left the hall in the midst of the speechmaking, cries of "resign" followed him. Last night Small issued a statement in which he said he was willing to continue the strike if the men insisted.

When the meeting opened Small was given the floor and said: "I am not here to make an argument for or against continuing the strike, but merely to explain why I yield for a vote of the locals on the proposition. Saturday Commissioner Neill informed me that President Clowry had told him that further negotiations were futile. I believe what they say. Our funds are quite exhausted, as you know, and we were unable to make a payment to you yesterday. There are no more in sight. These are the facts; you can do as you will."

Percy Thomas, former national deputy, followed Small, saying that the latter had said when the strike began that he could raise $2,000,000 to support it. Small, he said, had asked him 30 days ago to send out the word "no funds," but the speaker refused. He continued:

"President Small has utterly neglected to properly approach the subject of raising money, and now he comes before you and tells you that we have no money. Small's policy has been tomorrow, postpone, wait, delay, and it is no wonder that there is no money. This strike cannot be lost if we have a leader, a national president with any ability."

There were cheers for Thomas and, as Small rose to reply, shouts of "resign" greeted him. "I have no intention of resigning," he said, when he could be heard. "To resign is the last thing that I will do, and I want to tell you that personal attacks on me won't get you bread and butter.

"As for assessments of other labor organizations, I want to tell you what they amount to. The Order of Railroad Telegraphers, with a membership of 40,000, assessed first $2, then $1, has turned in just about $32,000. From the 27,000 locals of the American Federation of Labor we have received about $25,000. I have come here to state facts and to tell you of your position. Do what you will."

As Small sat down Daniel Russell, chairman of the local board of strategy, sprang to his feet. "Up to last night," he said, "that was Sam Small's strike, and up to last night he did everything he could to lose it. Today it is your strike; keep it up and win. He alone brought the strike and now he is trying to repudiate it."

Other speakers followed in a similar vein, after which resolutions declaring that the strike be continued and calling upon the national executive committee to remit at once $3000, the New York local's share in the general treasury, and requesting the appropriation of the insurance fund for strike purposes was adopted.

In his statement Small says that in his recent recommendation he merely wished the locals to intelligently understand the situation. He adds:

"Should the locals throughout the country, or a bare majority of them, vote to continue the strike, it will be pushed with greater vigor than ever, and the membership being in possession of the facts regarding negotiations and finances, no doubt with greater determination."

Suspension of Small

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The following message was sent to President Small by the executive committee of the Telegraphers' union last night: "Under article 15, section 7, of the constitution of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America, you are hereby suspended from the office of president, to take effect immediately."

Moral Sentiment Stifled

Cleveland, Oct. 14.—"Cuba is in need of missionary and civilizing work," Rev. George L. Todd of Havana declared before the national Congregational council. "The moral sentiments of the people of Cuba are stifled and their ideals are of low order," he declared.

SANK IN FIVE MINUTES

Coal Schooner Struck by a Barge In Vin yard Sound

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Oct. 14.—Schooner Demozelle of Parrsboro, N. S., from Guttenburg, N. J., for St. Stephen, N. B., with a cargo of coal, was sunk at the entrance to Vineyard sound yesterday by collision with the barge Harrisburg. The five men on board had barely time to escape going down with her.

The Demozelle was entering Vineyard sound and the tug Teaser was passing out through the sound, towing barges Harrisburg and Horace A. Allyn, from Boston for Philadelphia.

Captain Morris of the schooner was at the wheel and one man was on the lookout, the other three members of the crew being below. The tug passed the schooner all right, but, according to the Demozelle's captain, the Harrisburg did not follow the course of the tug and struck the schooner on her starboard bow, cutting her down, so that she sank in five minutes.

The Demozelle lies in about 13 fathoms of water, with topmasts out of water. She is directly in the track of vessels and a dangerous obstruction to navigation.

Death's Harvest In Large Family

Gloversville, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Half an hour after a party of merry-makers early Sunday had left Solomon Frank's home, where they had celebrated the approaching nuptials of one of his daughters, fire swept through the house and six members of the family, including the affianced wife, were killed. Only the mother and two infant sons escaped. All were suffocated by smoke which filled the rear of the house in which they were sleeping. That portion of the building was destroyed and the bodies were found in the ruins. The flames apparently originated from a defective chimney.

Said to Be Employing Minors

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 14.—Superintendent of Public Schools Wood of Worcester has created a big stir by declaring that several chair manufacturers are liable to criminal prosecution by the employment of minors under 14 years of age, in direct violation of the state law. He is of the belief that the state inspector will have to prosecute some of the Gardner manufacturers to prevent any further wholesale violation of the state child labor law.

Threw Acid In Butler's Face

Newburgh, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Abram Miller, butler at "Homeland," the residence of Mrs. G. K. Vanderbilt, Cornall-on-Hudson, is nearly blind as a result of an encounter with supposed burglars. Miller met a stranger on the piazza. The fellow asked the way to Newburgh, and while Miller was talking with him a second man appeared and dashed the contents of a vial of vitriol in Miller's face.

Skull and Ribs Fractured

North Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 14.—Alexander Munroe of this town was thrown from his wagon by colliding with an automobile in Wrentham and suffered fractures of the skull and several ribs. On account of his age, 76 years, it is believed that he cannot recover. The automobile was driven by Julius Straus of Boston. It ran into the rear of Munroe's wagon, completely wrecking it.

New Ship and Crew Lost

Sault Ste Marie, Mich., Oct. 14.—Bound down from the head of the lakes on the second trip she had made since being launched at Lorain, O., on Aug. 17 last, the fine steel freighter Cyprus, 440 feet long, foundered in Lake Superior, taking down with her 22 members of the crew. Second Mate Pitt, washed ashore lashed to a liferaft, is the only person left alive of the ship's people.

Killed Young Bride and Self

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 14.—General Web Sick, a Civil war veteran, murdered his young bride of two weeks and then committed suicide at her home in Fairview, a suburb. The shooting is supposed to have followed a bitter quarrel on the previous day. Sick and his bride had just returned from their honeymoon trip through the south. The murdered woman was Sick's third wife.

NEWS IN BRIEF

John M. Oxton, on the staff of the Boston Herald from the time of the establishment of the paper 61 years ago, died at the age of 83 at his home in Boston.

Dr. A. G. Hart, aged 81, father of Albert Hart, professor of history at Harvard university, was killed at Cleveland by a street car.

The body of an elderly woman, well dressed, who, it is believed, must have fallen or jumped overboard from a New York steamer, was found on the north shore of Jamestown, R. I.

President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America entered the hospital at La Salle, Ills., and it is said that he will submit to an operation for appendicitis.

Rev. Ephraim H. E. Jameson, D. D., for 16 years district secretary for the American Baptist Missionary Society for Michigan and Ohio, died at his home at Detroit, aged 72 years.

George H. Adams, 62, a former representative in the New Hampshire legislature and one of the oldest manufacturers of knitting machine needles in this country, died at Franklin, N. H.

Lieutenant Colonel Reuben A. Whipple of the Second regiment, M. V. M., retired, died at North Adams, Mass., of liver trouble. He was a veteran of the Civil war and of the Spanish-American war and was 61 years old.

ARE WORLD'S CHAMPIONS

Chicago Nationals Took Four Straight From American League Leaders

Detroit, Oct. 14.—By defeating the Detroits, champions of the American league, here by a score of 2 to 0, the Chicago Cubs, champions of the National league, become the new champions of the baseball world. In making it four straight, the Chicago men accomplished something never before done in a series for the world's championship, and once more proved the absolute honesty of the greatest sport known to man.

Many figured that the inducement of the big receipts awaiting a Sunday game in Chicago was strong enough to prolong the series for at least one more game, for $30,000 would have been the Cubs' share at Chicago yesterday. It was a tempting bait, but not enough to be considered for the 10th part of a second by the great ball players battling for glory, and the Cubs are being toasted from one end of the country to the other as the finest of baseball machines, while the Tiger band may always look back for consolation to the fact that it won the championship of its own league in the greatest season's race known to the game.

"Tainted Money" For Mission Work

Norfolk, Oct. 14.—Thomas W. Phillips, an oil and gas magnate, made an unsuccessful effort to have the foreign Christian Missionary Board of America, which is connected with the Disciples of Christ, return $25,000 given by John D. Rockefeller, on the ground that it was "tainted money." The money was accepted, with a final clause providing that no more will be "solicited" from the same source.

Minister Says He Needs a Rest

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 14.—"It was a carefully considered action. There is much work I could take up if I cared to, but I want to rest and play golf." Rev. Dr. Willard Scott of the Piedmont church, who recently resigned his pastorate, thus explains the reason for his step. He further says that he has been a hard worker for years, has collapsed twice under the strain, and now proposes to take life easy.

Naval Sponsors' Plans

Chattanooga, Oct. 14.—Sponsors of navy vessels are organizing a society of naval sponsors. There are 163 names on the list of eligibles. Of these only 50 have been reached, because no record has been kept of the women who have christened the great vessels or the smaller gunboats. A meeting will be called for some time this winter in Washington to perfect permanent organization.

Missing Man's Body Found

Lewiston, Me., Oct. 14.—Some mystery surrounds the death of Felix Lavinge, a street department laborer, aged 50, whose body was found in the canal. While physicians decided death was due to drowning and that the body had been in the water only between 15 and 20 hours, his wife declares that he disappeared last Monday noon.

Great Button Collector

Reading, Pa., Oct. 14.—John C. Hepler, superintendent of Evans cemetery, is dead at the age of 78 years. While a well known and highly respected citizen, his chief claim to fame rested on the fact that he was one of the best known button collectors in the world. Hepler's collection numbered 80,000 buttons, and there are no duplicates.

Root's Mexican Mission Ended

Mexico City, Oct. 14.—Secretary Root paid his final visit to President Diaz at the National palace. None of the parties to the conference would make any statement as to the nature of the subjects discussed. It is generally believed, however, that the meeting was more than a mere farewell. Root has planned to be in Washington Oct. 20.

Steamer Sunk In Collision

Detroit, Oct. 14.—One man was killed and steamer John W. Moore was sunk in a collision between the Moore and the Queen City in the Detroit river. The Queen City's bulwarks are flattened to the deck and her forepeak is filled with water. The Queen City crushed in the bows of the Moore as far back as the pilot house.

Francis Joseph Near Death

Vienna, Oct. 14.—Although Emperor Francis Joseph's condition yesterday morning was regarded as slightly better, it again became worse during the day. His physicians now fear an outbreak of lobular pneumonia. His fever is higher. A feeling of depression reigns among the members of his entourage.

Everything Goes to Democrats

Guthrie, Okla., Oct. 14.—The state election board has finished the canvass on governor and seven other state officers. Charles N. Haskell, Democrat, is elected governor, over Frank Frantz, Republican and present governor. The other officers are all Democrats.

Offering of $65,625

New York, Oct. 14.—The annual missionary offering subscribed yesterday, the closing day of the Christian and Missionary Alliance convention, amounted to $65,625. President Simpson of the alliance preached the missionary sermon.

The White whist club will hold a whist party in Electa hall on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ratcliffe of Newton visited relatives in this city on Saturday.

Mrs. Calvin G. Fletcher of Garfield street entertained a party of lady friends at her home this afternoon.

Burkhardt—Wilde wedding reception to-morrow evening at the home of the bride, 214 Billings street, Atlantic.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tirrell entertained friends from Boston and Quincy over Sunday at their cosy little home at Manet beach.

Mrs. Owen Gibson of Granite street is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Lennon of Marlboro, for two weeks.

The special committee appointed to consider a unifarm system of municipal accounting will meeting Tuesday evening.

People appreciate the Blue Hills reservation these fall days and there are pedestrians on every path, as well as considerable driving. The foliage is very beautiful.

Owing to the serious illness of her husband with typhoid fever. Mrs. Hannah Neminskern of Willard street left Saturday for Los Angelos, California.

"Guy Marden" of the Training Naval school at Newport, R. I., returned today after a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Marden of Orchard place.

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Connor of South Walnut street, left today for Milford, where the former will attend the convention as a delegate from the Central Labor Union, Quincy.

Quincy lodge L. O. L. will observe its annual ladies night Thursday evening at Wilson's hall. The program will include an entertainment, refreshments and a social hour.

The Ward Three Republicans will hold one of those old-time caucuses on Friday evening, when everybody may take a hand in nominating candidates for the regular caucus to be held later.

At the meeting of the Granite City club Saturday night it was voted to hold a series of weekly whist tornaments the coming winter and to give an enteretainment for club members and their friends in the near future.

Mrs. J. F. Gleason reached another milestone in life's journey on Saturday, and entertained a party of friends at her home on Independence avenue that evening. She was the recipient of many tokens and best wishes.

It would be hard to find a more beautiful spot than Merrymount park was on Sunday afternoon at full tide. It was almost a flood tide and the combination of deep blue water, blue sky, green grass and autumn foliage was a delight to look upon and many enjoyed it.

Another meeting of the Citizens Association tomorrow night.

Marcus Wight's new house on South street is nearly completed.

Mrs. E. H. Bushnell returned today from a visit in New Hampshire.

The grading about the High school grounds is now practically completed.

C. Webster Newcomb is erecting a building on his land on Howard street and will open a variety store.

The Boston district conference of Swedish churches will be held in Quincy this week at St. Pauls church, beginning on Wednesday evening and continuing into next week.

A handsome Toppin power launch has been added to the articles to be sold at the Elks' carnival. The boat is valued at $350. There is also a $250 piano.

That Bake a Grand Food Fair

That "Bake" about which the readers of the Daily Ledger have been wondering, opened upon time this morning at the furniture house of W G. Shaw and will continue all the week.

The bake is to demonstrate the superiority of the Stewart ranges. Three of these ranges have been set up and connected with one pipe and all three are constantly in use baking good things to eat in the pastry line.

Otto Davidiet, the famous German pastry chef, is in charge, and boxes containing some of the good things he cooks are to be given away to every lady and gentleman who calls during the week.

During the week three barrels of flour, two cases of eggs, one-half barrel of sugar, a tub of butter, a tub of lard and spices of all kinds will be used.

The famous Stewart stoves have been on the market since 1833, and their reputation has never been questioned. The prices of the ranges are from $19 up to $75, and $1 down places one of them in your house.

In addition to a box of good things to eat that are to be given away is a neat folder containing the latest map of Quincy.

In addition to the cooking stove exhibition, Mr. Shaw is also giving an exhibition of the Domestic sewing machine.

MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Jury Finds That Robens Was the Slayer of Dickinson

Houlton, Me., Oct. 14.—After deliberating more than 10 hours, the jury in the supreme court which has listened to the evidence in the trial of Juan Robens, alias Jack Roberts, a guide and farmhand, charged with the murder of J. E. Dickinson at Smyrna Mills on Oct. 18, 1906, returned a verdict of guilty. This was the second trial of Robens, the first having resulted in a disagreement of the jury.

The penalty for first degree murder in this state is imprisonment for life. Robens listened to the verdict of the jury consigning him to state prison for the remainder of his days with the same lack of emotion that has characterized his demeanor throughout the trial.

The evidence upon which the conviction of Robens was secured was of a circumstantial nature, there being no witnesses of the shooting and the prisoner denying any knowledge of the crime.

Suicide In Powder Magazine

Boston, Oct. 14.—The badly decomposed body of a young man was found behind the iron doors of an old, unused powder magazine at Fort Independence, on Castle island, in the harbor. Beside the body was an electric pocket lamp, two bottles, one bearing a red poison label, and a revolver. In the man's head was a bullet wound, giving evidence of suicide. The man was identified as George W. Hardy, a machinist, aged 20, of Somerville. No reason for his act is known.

NO LONGER A "BOSS"

Brayton Will Not Embarras Republicans of Rhode Island

SURPRISE TO BOTH PARTIES

Man Characterized by Governor Higgins as "Notorious Lobbyist"--Will Keep Out of Coming Campaign and Remain Away From State House

Providence, Oct. 14.—General C. R. Brayton, Republican national committeeman from Rhode Island and for more than a generation a mighty power in the politics of Rhode Island, has announced his intention of not taking part in the gubernatorial and state campaign this fall, and, furthermore, in order that party success may not be jeopardized at the polls, the general has stated that he will no longer make his headquarters for the transaction of political business in the office of the high sheriff of Providence county in the Rhode Island state capitol.

The announcement of Brayton's intentions came as a surprise to political leaders of both parties. During the last state campaign one of the chief issues on which Governor Higgins, a Democrat, was elected was his expressed intention of driving Brayton from the state capitol. Higgins, durling the legislative session, made several attempts to oust Brayton from the office of Sheriff White, but Brayton persistently refused to go.

The governor commanded White not to allow Brayton the use of his office, referring to Brayton as "a notorious lobbyist," but the sheriff, in replying to the governor, refused to oust Brayton and accused the governor of attempting to make political capital.

General Brayton's announcement of his intention to keep out of the campaign and to remain away from the state house was contained in a letter written on Oct 3 to Lieutenant Governor Jackson, the Republican candidate for governor, and just made public. Brayton explained to Jackson that the reason he was at the capitol so often during the past session was because the governor was trying to oust him, something the governor, in Brayton's opinion, had no right to do. It was to defy the governor that he visited the capitol, Brayton wrote, although he did so oftentimes at inconvenience to himself.

The reason he conducted his affairs in the sheriff's office, he said, was because he had become blind and could not get around with his former facility. He said in the letter that if his presence in the state capitol would embarrass Jackson or jeopardize Republican success he would remain away.

With the retirement of Brayton, Rhode Island politics loses one of its most picturesque figures. Although blind for many years, Brayton had a large following and his personality was a forceful element in the Republican policies in the state.

Farmer's Complaint About Bees

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Since the Bell Telephone company announced an advance in rates in central New York a few weeks ago there has been nothing but trouble and worry for the managers. But yesterday saw the climax in the way of complaints when a farmer living near Carthage demanded that 35 telephone wires strung near his house be removed. The farmer alleges that in flying from the buckwheat field to the hives the bees by thousands hit the telephone wires and drop lifeless to the ground.

Still Looking For Game

Stamboul, La., Oct. 14.—Citizens from the whole countryside turned out yesterday in expectation of seeing President Roosevelt take his departure from Stamboul for the south, but because of the change of plans they were disappointed. Now that the change is not to be made Stamboul confesses that it would have been much chagrined to have the president go away with an empty bag before the time originally fixed.

Steamer's Fuel Gave Out

San Francisco, Oct. 14.—Steamer Mariposa, which was adrift without fuel 70 miles off Monterey, was towed into port by two tugs. In addition to her crew the Mariposa had 27 passengers. Last Thursday night the Mariposa exhausted her supply of fuel. On Friday First Officer Watson volunteered to try to reach the coast in a yawl to procure a tow and he succeeded.

Great Hunter at 89

Somerville, Mass., Oct. 14.—Timothy Tufts of this city, in accordance with a birthday custom of several years' standing, celebrated his 89th birthday today by leaving for a hunting trip to the wilds of Maine. Tufts for more than 50 years has not missed his fall hunting. On Oct. 1 last he returned from a three weeks' trip on Cape Cod, bringing back over 100 birds.

Cruisers Start on Long Journey

Washington, Oct. 14.—President Roosevelt's policy of sending the battleships of the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific was inaugurated yesterday when Rear Admiral Sebree sailed from Newport News with the armored cruisers Washington and Tennessee, the pathfinders for the battleships soon to follow.

Wealth Should Not Govern

As we understand it, says the Hyde Park Gazette, the question of "merit and efficiency' did not enter into the nomination of county officers at the Republican convention, as Representative White of Brookline in nominating Dr. Bowker, stated emphatically that all of the candidates were eminently qualified to fill the position.

Continuing, the Gazette says, Brookline urged her candidate because she paid one-third of the county tax, in other words because she owned one-third of the wealth of the county. For many years his claim from Brookline has been urged in Norfolk county conventions, and it is true that it has never before been challenged on the convention floor. This year it was met squarely by Mr. Darling and we believe it will be some years before it intrudes itself again. "The outcome has cleared the atmosphere for some time."

Mr. Darling claimed that the amount of county tax paid by Brookline, $88,000, was much less of a burden upon her than the amount paid by Hyde Park, $12,000, was upon Hyde Park, because Brookline receives $220,000 per year from the state for bank and corporation tax while Hyde Park receives about $7,000.

"The real claim of Brookline is that as she owns one-third of the wealth of the county she is entitled to one-third of the offices."

"How long," said Mr. Darling, since wealth was the basis of representation in this county? Such a principle would strike at the very foundation of popular government. The only recognized basis of political representation is political strength. It would be a sorry day for Norfolk county or any other community when it recognized the claim that wealth should govern."

Close Rivalry For First Place

The Wollaston Whist club played at their rooms in Odd Fellow's hall on Saturday evening and great interest is being taken this year by the members. The club has been admitted to membership in the Mystic Valley Whist League this year and is looking forward to some good games. Any one who plays whist is welcome any Saturday night at 7.45.

The result of Saturday's play was:

Superintendent of Contruction Arrives

A. B. Raymond, superintendent of construction of Federal buildings for the government, arrived in Quincy this morning and will remain here during the construction of the new Post Office building, whose construction he will superintend.

Mr. Raymond informed a representative of the Daily Ledger, this noon, that the contract for the erection of the building had been signed and he expected that work would be commenced any day.

He said that he had nothing to do with the contractor, but was to see that the work was carried out according to contract. He expects to remain in Quincy fourteen months.

The Fore Rivers Play to a Tie

The Fore River football team played the Rovers at Fall River on Saturday in the presence of 1500 people. The teams were so evenly matched that a tie game resulted, 2 to 2. The two teams are also tied for the leadership of the New England league.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

Treasurer Sedgwick returned today from an excursion to New York by way of the Hudson river.

T. Dennis Braodman of Boston, was a visitor to the yard on Saturday.

Chief Officer McGray of the collier Everett has reported at the yard.

The chief engineer of the Everett will be Mr. Mearns, who has been here for some time inspecting the machinery installation.

The classes for apprentices began today under the new instructor, Mr. Neasy. Over 30 boys are in the class.

Mr. F. O. Wellington, assistant to the president, has returned from Brunswick, Ga., where he has been directing the work of the railroad and steamship terminal there. The work is progressing satisfactorily.

The protected cruiser Des Moines, built at Quincy, has arrived at the Charlestown Navy Yard and shows many injuries from her collision with the supply ship Glacier during the gale of two weeks ago. The ship's stern above the water line is buckled and twisted, the steel plates being in bad condition. It is probable that the work on the crusier will be held up pending the repairs on the battleships Vermont, Missouri, New Jersey and Illinois, which are being rushed for the Pacific cruise of the Atlantic fleet. It is expected that night work will be ordered for next week.

Result a Tie.

A tie game was the result of the Association football match on Saturday at the Ward Three playground when the McGregors met the Andovers in the Boston league. It was very closely contested, neither team scoring in the first half. In the second half Ross scored a goal for Andover, and McAllister for the McGregors, and the final score was 1 to 1.

TODAY'S COURT.

Raffaile Antonucci of Braintree was fined $10 for hunting on the Lords day, and $10 for hunting without a license.

John Kitridge of Weymouth and Jo n McGilvray of Milton were fined $10 each for drunkenness.

—The corner stone of the new Odd Fellows' building at Malden was laid on Saturday afternoon.

HOME RULE SYSTEM

This Week Will See Its Inauguration In the Philippines

FIRST BRUSH AT A CAUCUS

Decision to Open Assembly Proceedings Without Prayer--No Resolution For Independence of the Philippines Will Be Considered

Manila, Oct. 14.—Great interest is shown in the opening of the first Philippine assembly, which occurs during this week, and the arrival of Secretary Taft, which comes at an opportune time in the inauguration of Philippine home rule.

Already the contending political factions are showing great activity, and at the caucus held on Thursday the first brush occurred over a motion to have the assembly proceedings opened with prayer, which was defeated by one vote, on the broad ground that affairs of church and state should be kept distinct. The caucus was attended by 48 delegates, but only 33 voted on the motion for prayers.

The action of the assembly on questions relating to the political future of the Philippines is expected to be determined largely by the opinion expressed by Taft in his address opening the session. This is the view held by Filipinos, as well as Americans. The latter are generally in favor of a specific pronouncement on Philippine policy.

The course of legislative action will depend mainly on the result of the fight of the Gomez radicals for control of the National party. The Nationalists when united exercise controlling influence, but their internal divisions give the progressive independents the balance of power. It is not likely that party spirit will play much part in the assembly's affairs, owing to personal differences within the parties.

Guerrero, one of the native leaders of Manila, backs Gomez in his promise to secure the repeal of the drastic "flag sedition" laws. If this repeal is carried through, other radical measures will probably follow. The conservative element declares against any extreme legislation, and the better class of politicians favor an ultra-conservative course. The governor general and the officials of the Philippine commission expect that the chief activities of the assembly will be devoted to the enactment of a mass of legislation for the general improvement of the islands.

The indications are that Manuel Quezon will be the successful candidate for speaker. He is believed to be favorably regarded at Washington and his election gives assurance that no resolution for the independence of the Philippines will be considered.

Quezon is one of the two delegates from Tayabas. He is a lawyer and in the last insurrection was a major in the Filipino army. He was provincial fiscal and later was elected governor of Tayabas, which office he held at the time of his election to the assembly. He is an orator of ability and is classed among the most talented of the younger political leaders of the islands.

Agitation Due to Politics

Tokio, Oct. 14.—Count Okuma, who, in the first stages of the immigration troubles in America, strongly disapproved of the government's pacific attitude, now practically admits that the radical utterances of both sides were largely prompted by politics. He holds the opinion that the whole discussion is largely due to the fact that the United States is to have a presidential campaign next year.

Great Shrinkage In Stocks

New York, Oct. 14.—Henry Clews, the banker, predicts lower prices for stocks than any the market has yet experienced, although stock exchange orders have already suffered the enormous shortage of $3,500,000,000, a greater loss than in any panic in history. Rogers and Rockefeller have been hit so hard, Clews says, that they are unable to give any support to the market.

King's Lungs Not Healthy

London, Oct. 14.—An unusually well-informed correspondent, stationed in Madrid, who is in close touch with court news, says that the gravest apprehensions are felt about the lungs of the King of Spain. Every effort, he says, has been made to conceal the truth, and the usual formal official denials will be issued, although it is well known that they will convince no one.

Trouble on Geronimo's Mind.

Tulsa, I. T., Oct. 14.—Geronimo, Apache prisoner of war, accompanied by his eighth wife and his daughter, passed through Tulsa yesterday for Collinsville, where he is to be the guest of honor of the last Indian war dance and pow-pow. The old warrior looked tired and worn, but he said it was trouble on his mind that made him appear weary.

Policeman Gave Boy a Bath

New Britain, Conn., Oct. 14.—For petty theft, Stanley Griswold, 14, was sentenced by Judge Cooper to one bath. The lad said he had not had his clothes off since August. Policeman English was delegated to bathe Stanley, and after he had used a scrub brush took the lad home and introduced him to his mother.

Inquiries Take New Turn

Boston, Oct. 14.—Public hearings by the finance commission will probably be held within another week, and the sewer department of the city is likely to be the subject for investigation at these sessions. William T. Barnes, the consulting engineer, who for weeks has been probing into the affairs and conduct of this important depart nent, will today make his report to the commission at an executive session of that body. He has practically finished his labors, it is said.

Paraded With Non-Union Band

Providence, Oct. 14.—As the result of the presence of the Seventh Artillery band from Fort Adams in the Knights of Columbus' parade here yesterday, four other bands which had been engaged for the parade, being union organizations, dropped out upon orders from President Gambell of the local Musicians' union, who refused to allow the men to parade with a non-union band. The parade was held with but one band officiating, that from Fort Adams.

Exonerated His Chum

Boston, Oct. 14.—Harold Richmond, 19 years old, who was accidentally shot by his chum, Alfred Wallingford, while both boys were target shooting in a boat on the Neponset river Saturday afternoon, died yesterday. In his last conscious moments the youth pleaded that his chum, Wallingford, would not be arrested, saying that the shooting was done accidentally. The bullet penetrated Richmond's chest and lodged in the back of his left shoulder blade.

Gov. Guild Holds Reception At Elks' Carnival

Novel and Brilliant Electrical Effects The Best of Music And Grand Success

One of the features of the opening night of the Elks carnival was the public reception tendered to His Excellency Gov. Guild and Mayor Thompson.

Gov. Guild arrived in Quincy at 5.40 and was met by Representative Hultman who enterained him at dinner at his home on Washington street.

At the dinner covers were laid for seven. In the party aside from these two were, Exalted Ruler D. J. Deasy, Secretary Edmund Courtney, Treasurer Benjamin Johnson and Dr. F. E. Jones of the Elks and President Walter E. Piper of the City Council.

The party arrived at the Coliseum at 8 o'clock. The hall up to that time had been in semi darkness. As the Governor entered the hall the lights were turned on, and the brilliant illumination was seen for the first time.

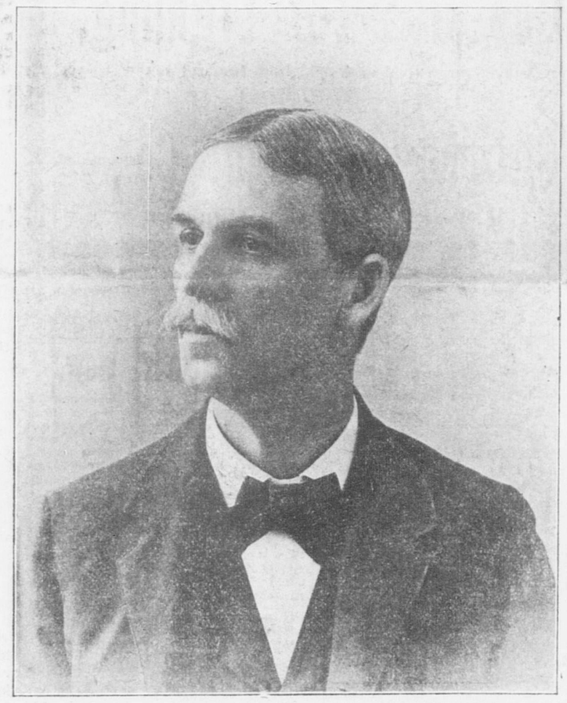
The Governor was escorted to the reception corner where he was welcomed by Mayor Thompson.

Exalted Ruler Deasy then declared the carnival open, and everybody was invited to meet the Governor informally.

Gov. Guild was in a happy mood and had a pleasant word and smile for all, including the young boys as well as the adults. All the ladies said he was a fine looking gentleman

The Governor was assisted in receiving by Mayor Thompson and Mrs. Daniel J. Deasy, the wife of the Exalted Ruler of the lodge. Nearby as a body guard were Exalted Ruler Deasy, Representative Hultman, President Piper of the City Council, Secretary Courtney, Treasurer Johnson William T. Shea, Dr. F. E. Jones, W. J. Coleman, John W. McAnarney Charles C. Hearn and others of the executive committee.

The reception lasted for an hour when the Governor took his departure. Mayor Thompson, however, remained for some time later and received.



MAYOR THOMPSON.

EXALTED RULER DEASY.

The grand six days carnival of Quincy lodge of Elks, about which so much has been heard for the past two months, was formally opened Monday evening at the Coliseum. The attendance was large and the thousand present opened their eyes in wonder at the scene of splendor.

The affair was carried out on a scale never before attempted in Quincy. No pains or expense were spared. The instructions to the several committees were get nothing but the best. They carried out this instruction to the letter, and the opening night sustained the reputation of Quincy lodge for excellence as entertainers.

Thousands of yards of bunting were used in the decorations, and the decorators outdid themselves. The low ceiling was almost hidden with the long streamers of pink, green and white bunting, while the booths, which were in themselves novelties were also lavishly decorated. Hanging from the ceiling about the electric and gas lights were doves and butterflies.

GOVERNOR GUILD.

With all of these there were a thousand or more electric light globes in red, blue and white, which transformed the hall into a fairy land, and showed some of the possibilities of electric lights in the way of decorations. In fact there was not a thing forgotten that would add to the effect or insure the success of the affair.

Supt. Austin of the Electric Light Company, with three experienced linemen were present all the evening in case anything went wrong. The electricians had done their work well, however, and no better electrical display was ever given in Quincy.

In addition to this precaution, Foreman James C. Gallagher, assistant foreman John F. Desmond and hoseman William Erickson of Combination No. 1 were on duty with fire extinguishes. They patrolled the hall the entire evening. Thus was every precaution taken to nip in the bud any incipient blaze that might start among the decorations.

The various sale booths were arranged on the sides and ends of the hall. Outside of this was what was known as "The Midway," where were located ring the knives, ring the canes, pitching quoits, African dodger and doll throw.

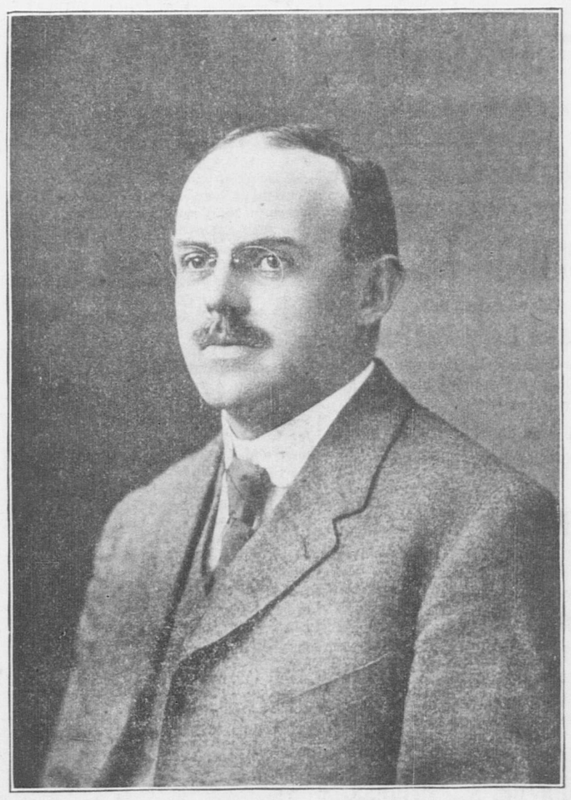
At the rear end was the room for refreshments, a pop concert cafe. One corner of this was decorated as a drawing room. Handsome rugs covered the floor while equally as handsome pieces of furniture were arranged about, the whole being set off by many beautiful potted plants.

Over the entrance to cafe was the large sign "welcome," and on either side of this were large handsomely mounted Elks heads with a circle of electric lights about their necks.

Immediately on entering the hall the program stand was met. After receiving a souvenir program, passing down the north side the first thing met is the $350 motor boat, upon which many a sportsman fondly rested his eye.

Then three massive grotesque figures meet the eye apparently standing guard over the gentlemen's furnishing and fancy goods booth.

Autumn, is the decoration scheme here, great clusters of luscious looking grapes hanging temptingly about the front.



REPRESENTATIVE HULTMAN.

Between these two booths is a large clowns head whose open month is the grab bag. Then comes a public telephone booth and the refreshment booth where cool refreshing drinks are served by bewitching young ladies.

Then came a tent wherein was seated "Adeline," the witch of Wall street.

On the opposite or south side the first booth is that of the family man. Here are found barrels of flour, bags of charcoal, and kettles of lard. A candy wheel is next in order, massive pillars representing high sticks of candy being used as supports.

The next booth is one of the most attractive in the hall in the way of decoration. It is occupied for the sale of toys and flowers. On the front of the booth are large paper poppies in whose buds were winking electric lights. On the top of this is Cinderella in her coach with mice as coachmen and footmen, and drawn by large white mice whose eyes were fitted with winking lights.

There came a booth of rich emblems exhibited by George H. Wilson, and next a booth where quantities of furs and other novelties were on sale. The last booth on this side is for the sale of segars.

Between all these booths are a number of cashiers stands at which tickets could be secured to be used at any of the booths.

Near the front of the hall is the confectionery booth where choice confectionery in boxes is sold. This booth represents in part a fort. On one side is a figure of "Jack and his beanstalk" while looking over the top of the fort in the massive head of a man-eating giant, lighted from within.

In the centre of the hall is a raised platform over which is suspended a massive white bell. Here the Salem Cadet band who furnished the music for the opening night was seated.

As stated above, the entertainment the opening night was by the Salem Cadet Band. Between their numbers, there were vocal solos by Miss A. McCarthy and Harry Hudson. The music by the band and the singing was greatly enjoyed.

Elks were present from Boston and all the South Shore towns, but none were more liberal in their support than Chief Engineer Salbador of the steamship Creole now at the Foro River. He was always surrounded by friends, and has a large block of shares in the launch.

Tonight's musical program will be by Rocketts orchestra, With selections by the Riverside Male quartette.

In wandering about the hall one was met with constant exclamations "what a lot of work some one must have done." It was true it did envolve a lots of work, but Exalted Ruler Deasy has the rare ability to enthuse all with some of his energy and the result was that all worked together for one common purpose, to make the carnival the grandest event of the kind ever held in Quincy, and it certainly is.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

The emergency call of Street Commissioner Prichard of Somerville might well be copied in Quincy and other small cities. His orders are:

"If at any time, day or night, Sunday or holiday, there shall be an accident on the railroad, a burst water main, a collapse of a bridge, a big fire, or any other thing in the same line that would be likely to cause injury to life or limb, or be a menace to the safety of public travel, all employes of the highway department will be required to report at the city stables immediately and receive further orders there."

Eight blows sounded twice on the fire alarm circuit will be the emergency call.

At the last meeting of the City Council there was passed without consideration a resolution asking for more Sunday trains between Quincy and Boston, and now a Boston paper says that the Citizens' Association and Board of Trade are out for more trains, and that there is much dissatisfaction in Quincy over the service. The two associations have taken no action on trains, and it is not a fact that there is much dissatisfaction. Hardly any improvement could be made in the week-day service unless it be an additional train from Boston between 9.30 and 10 P. M. Undoubtedly on Sundays, extra trains would furnish better accommodation, but no great necessity for more trains exists, and we should be charitable to railroad men and require no more Sunday work than is necessary. There would be less accidents on railroads if men were not required to work as many hours in a week.

The men of Massachusetts who have a pride in the government of its political affairs will see in the present campaign an issue beyond those which have thus far been discussed. This is the issue of sober and sensible conduct of the campaign machinery of the state. The men who have the management of the Democratic party in this state at present, if we are to accept the Springfield convention as a specimen of such management, deserve rebuke even from the members of their own party. The Republicans welcomes a party of honest and decent opposition. The present management of the Democratic party of the state deserves to be ousted and the members of that party should be glad to aid in the work. As a means to this every self-respecting man who has a pride in the state and its high traditions should vote for Guild and Draper.

EVERY RHEUMATIC INVITED TODAY

TO TEST URIC-O FREE!

75-Cent Bottle Given Free To All Who Apply.

If there are still any sufferers from Rheumatism in this county or wherever this paper reaches, that have not yet tried the wonderful Rheumatic Remedy Uric-O, we want them to try it now at our expense. We firmly believe that there is not a case of Rheumatism in the world that will not yield to the wonderful effects of Uric-O, and we want to prove it to every doubter beyond all possibility. The best way to do this is to give a large trial bottle of this remedy outright to every suffer and let him test and try it to his own satisfaction. If you or any of your family suffer from Rheumatism, no matter what form, just cut this notice out of the paper and send it together with your name and address, also the name of your druggist, to the Smith Drug Co., 288 Smith Building, Syracuse. N. Y., and they will send you by return mail a liberal trial package free of all expense. There is no reservation to this offer. You take the remedy home and use it according to directions until thoroughly satisfied of its merits.

We could not afford to do this if we did not know that after you are freed from this dreaded disease that you will recommend it to all your friends who have rheumatism. We know from experence that personal recommendation from one person to another is the most valuable advertising, and that is the way we intend to acquaint the world with Uric-O. Don't put off writing because this offer will soon expire, and then it will be too late. Do it today and start yourself upon the highway to perfect health and happiness. Send for Uric-O, no matter where you live. It is sold by Druggists all over this country, and we want you to ave a bottle free.

A POLITICAL MIXUP

Bartlett and Whitney to Fight For the Governorship

NOMINATION PAPERS FILED

Those For Whitney Are In Two Forms --His Opponent Has Anti-Merger Ticket, With Some Names Not Presented at the Springfield Convention

Boston, Oct. 15.—Charles W. Bartlett of Newton and Henry M. Whitney of Boston will both appear as candidates for governor at the November election, if their nomination papers, which were filed shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, are approved by the state authorities.

Two tickets, headed by these same men, are now before the ballot law commission on the question of which was nominated at the recent convention at Springfield, and in case a decision is reached by the commission within the next 48 hours, either has a right to withdraw all nominations from the state ticket.

The Whitney papers were filed at 4:40 p. m., and were in two forms. The first was the nomination of Whitney for governor on an Independent Citizens' ticket. The second nominated Whitney on the Democratic Citizens' ticket and also the balance of the ticket nominated at Springfield by the so-called Whitney convention.

Six minutes after the Whitney ticket was filed, another petition, bearing, it is claimed, 1400 signatures, was filed, nominating Bartlett for governor on an anti-merger ticket, as well as other candidates for state offices. There was some difficulty, however, with the balance of the Bartlett ticket. At the convention at Springfield John A. Thayer of Worcester was nominated for lieutenant governor and O. Z. E. Charest of Springfield for secretary of state. Both of these men have declined to run, so the names of J. T. Cahill of Lawrence for lieutenant governor and T. P. Riley of Malden for secretary of state appeared on the Bartlett ticket when it was filed yesterday afternoon. The ticket also contained the name of W. P. Connery of Lynn for treasurer, D. T. Shea of Holyoke for auditor and H. H. Pratt of Abington for attorney general. As neither Riley nor Shea filed acceptance, their names, it is stated, will not appear on the ballot.

The Bartlett leaders, in filing their nomination papers, attempted to place "Democratic" before the words anti-merger, but were compelled to erase it at the direction of the assistant secretary of state.

The ballot law commission, in its investigation of the recent Democratic state convention at Springfield, at which two tickets headed by Bartlett and Whitney, respectively, were nominated, heard the evidence yesterday of witnesses called by the Whitney faction.

At the outset, William S. McNary of Boston, an ardent Whitney supporter, admitted that he refused to compromise with the Bartlett leaders on the organization of the convention by accepting the permanent chairmanship.

When asked why, if the Whitney nomination was favored by a majority of delegates, as claimed, there should have been such opposition to Bartlett men as convention officers, McNary turned the question aside by saying that no fair play could be expected from a convention which was packed. He also admitted that he never knew of a case where there had been a roll-call for temporary chairman for a convention, although he had laid particular stress in his direct examination on the fact that the opportunity was denied the Whitney men.

Josiah Quincy, another Whitney leader, corroborated most of McNary's direct testimony, but also admitted that he never heard of a rollcall for temporary chairman.

The most important testimony was that of Sergeant Norris of the Springfield police, who said that when he arrived at the theatre before the convention he ordered the auditorium cleared. He found the first four rows filled with men and, in company with one of the Bartlett men in charge of the hall, he had the latter collect tickets from them all. Later he ordered the doors of the theatre thrown open to those bearing tickets.

An officer who followed him stated that from the time the sergeant entered the theatre to clear it until he ordered the doors open, only a few people were able to exchange their credentials for tickets at the box office. This apparently bore out the Whitney claim that many persons were admitted to the theatre without going through the formality of exchanging their credentials for tickets at the box office.

Not Much Accomplished

The Hague, Oct. 15.—Four months have expired since the first meeting of the second peace conference, and for the past 122 days representatives of all the civilized states in the world have been working here with little practical or immediate results, although they have perhaps started in motion machinery that in the future will lead to what now seems a Utopia, namely, a federation of all peoples and all races under the same laws willingly agreed upon and impartially applied.

WORMS

Unsuspected worms are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children. When a child is sick you rarely think that its sickness is caused by worms, yet worms, either directly or indirectly, are the cause of three quarters of all the ills of childhood. Children, and often-times adults feel out of sorts, are irritable, feel listless and unrefreshed in the morning; suffer with indigestion, have a variable appetite, foul tongue, offensive breath; hard and full belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; eyes heavy, and dull; itching of the nose; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; slow fever; and often in children, convulsions—in the majority of cases the cause of all the trouble is worms though you may not suspect their presence.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

a pure vegetable compound, has been the standard household remedy since 1857; it never fails to expel not only worms but all waste matter, leaving the blood rich and pure, the stomach sweet, the bowels regular and the whole system strong and healthy.

The mother who gives her children Dr. True's Elixir regularly is wise, because it not only increases the appetite, acts as a preventative of coughs, cold, fever and worms but gives rugged, robust health.

PATRIOTIC SWEDES

Will Leave Nothing Undone to Secure America's Cup

Stockholm, Oct. 15.—William Olsson and Goesta Kyhlberger, who are at the head of the movement here to build a challenger for the America's cup, say that a large portion of the money required to construct and sail a 90-footer, estimated at about $189,000, has already been subscribed. Many large manufacturers have offered to furnish material gratis, the captain and the three mates of the yacht will sail her without pay, the designer will accept no compensation for his work and the builders only will charge the net cost of the construction. Olsson and Kyhlberger think they will now be able to guarantee funds even for a 95-footer, if required.

The seeming nonchalance of the New York Yacht club in replying to the inquiry of the Swedish club was commented upon in strong terms at a meeting of prominent Swedish yachtsmen. The majority of those present believed that was in fact an advantage, as it had aroused keener interest in Sweden, which was resulting in a determination to do everything possible to bring about a race.

Firemen Before Grand Jury

Boston, Oct. 15.—Nearly 100 members of the Boston fire department, each wearing his uniform, appeared at the court house yesterday. District Attorney Moran was closeted with the grand jury and conducted the examination of witnesses. The firemen were called so that Moran might have a chance to question them regarding what they might know of the methods of promoting members of the department, it having been alleged that some advancements were secured through pulls and other unlawful means in violation of the civil service laws.

Blame on an Engineer

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 15.—Justice King of the superior court, in the inquest on the death of J. B. Hathaway, a railroad employe, who was killed at Campello by the collision of trains, finds that Thomas L. Hallett, the engineer of the passenger train, "was not in a proper condition, through drinking, to drive the engine under the circumstances that night on tracks not protected by a signal system." King also finds that the railroad does not maintain a proper signal system within the limits of the city of Brockton.

Melodrama In Real Life

Elkton, Md., Oct. 15.—Three years ago Miss Lulu Wilson, then 15 years old, eloped with John H. Hoffman. Shortly after Hoffman disappeared. Mrs. Hoffman heard nothing from him, and last spring married John B. French. Several weeks ago Hoffman returned and had her arrested on the charge of bigamy. When her trial was called, Hoffman again disappeared.

Jailed For Flagging Express

New York, Oct. 15.—For holding up a New Haven train by waving a danger signal between Mamaroneck and Larchmont, Miss Eva Bellows was committed to jail for one month. When the conductor hurried out to learn what the trouble was the girl said she stopped the train because she wanted to board it.

Four Killed In Auto Crash

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 15.—As the result of a grade crossing automobile accident here last night, four persons were killed and one probably fatally injured. The automobile, which was run down by an express train and broken into bits, contained five persons from Kimberton, Pa.

Schmitz Must Go to Penitentiary

San Francisco, Oct. 15.—According to the district attorney's office, Eugene Schmitz, formerly mayor of San Francisco but now a convict for accepting a bribe, has lost the right to appeal to a higher court through a blunder of his attorney, and must go to the penitentiary forthwith.

Money Stored Around House

New Castle, Del., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Frank Vallely, whose husband died a few weeks ago, has been removed to an institution, because she is aged, a cripple and has no person to look after her. In every nook and corner of her home rolls of notes and receptacles with coins were found.

Elopers Not Yet Found

New York, Oct. 15.—Martin Maloney's efforts in London to locate his daughter and Samuel Clarkson, with whom she is supposed to have eloped, have not yet been successful.

Of Oil Companies Supposed to Be Independent

FINE WORK ON STATISTICS

Standard Oil Knew What Business Was Being Done by Competitors--Government Seeks to Gain Information Concerning Big Loans

New York, Oct. 15.—Hampton G. Westcott, vice president of the Standard Oil company of Kentucky, testified, in the hearing of the federal suit against the oil combine, that in several of the southern states the Standard had found it expedient to sell much of its products through companies which the public believed to be independent. The practice of selling through putative independent companies which were owned by the combine was discontinued two years ago, according to Westcott.

Mr. Kellogg, counsel for the government, drew from the witness that the Standard Oil company of Kentucky, which acts as a selling agent of oil in Kentucky, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Alabama, had purchased numerous small independent selling companies and through many of them sold oil to the consumer. Some of the plants of these independents were dismantled and the business taken over by the Standard.

Mr. Westcott threw a sidelight on a business department of the Standard concerning which the federal counsel has been seeking information since the beginning of the inquiry. He testified that each month the main office of the Standard Oil company of Kentucky, at Covington, sent to him not only the reports of the business operations of the Standard, but statements concerning freight shipments and sale of oil by all competitors.

These statements, according to Westcott, gave the name of the consignees, the amount of oil shipped and any information that might be available. Westcott said that after examining these statements he filed them with the statistical department of the Standard in this city. This statistical department, said Westcott, was in charge of W. E. Bemis, who kept compilations and records of the business of both the Standard and its competitors.

Alfred H. Brainard, comptroller of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and many of its subsidiary companies, was questioned concerning large loans made to James McDonald by the Anglo-American Oil company. Testimony was given last week that the Southern Pipe Line company had lent over $20,000,000 to McDonald, and that the books of the company showed that it had never been paid back.

Mr. Brainard said he was the American secretary of the Anglo-American company, and that McDonald was the managing director in London. He was asked concerning loans made by the Anglo-American company of $2,125,000 in 1905, and $1,427,907 in 1906 to McDonald. Brainard said that the loans had been ordered from London, and that was all he knew about them.

"Is it not a fact that this money was furnished to Mr. McDonald that he might hold either the Manhattan Oil company of Ohio, or the Security Oil company of Texas?"

"I do not know," replied Brainard.

Mr. Brainard was asked concerning the loans made by the Southern Pipe Line company of over $20,000,000 to P. S. Trainor.

Mr. Brainard said it was likely that Trainor reported his losses to the Standard Oil company of New York and that the Southern Pipe Line company reimbursed the Standard for the losses and charged the amounts to the account of P. S. Trainor. Brainard said that these losses were incurred by Trainor, he thought, in the purchase and sale of oil. Brainard said he knew nothing about the loans made by the Standard Oil company, aggregating $32,761,620 in 1906, to "interests other than Standard Oil." William G. Rockefeller might know something of the loans, the witness said.

Mr. Kellogg expects to call William G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, to the stand today. It is believed that at the end of this week the hearings will be adjourned for several weeks to give Kellogg an opportunity to go carefully over the mass of information he has obtained since the hearings began.

Wireless Station About to Open

North Glace Bay, C. B., Oct. 15.—Mr. Marconi expects to open his wireless telegraph station here for the transmission of press dispatches between America and Europe on Thursday next. For the present the service will be limited to 12 hours daily. During the last few days messages have passed between the local station and the station at Clifden, Ire., with regularity and accuracy.

Adopted Boy Taken From Doctor

New York, Oct. 15.—Carlton Kremer, 4½ years old, the adopted son of Dr. Carlton G. Kremer, has disappeared and the police are searching for him. Kremer alleges that the boy was taken by his mother, Mrs. Maud Clark, and he caused the arrest of Miss May Bradley, who, he asserts, engaged the doctor's sister in conversation while Mrs. Clark seized the boy.

ROBERTS WANTS SENTENCE

Declares He Is Innocent of the Murder of Dickinson

Houlton, Me., Oct. 15.—"I guess I better have my sentence; I've got all through fighting and don't want any more trials," was the announcement made to the sheriff at the country jail by John Roberts, who, on Saturday night, was found guilty of the murder of J. Edgar Dickinson.

"They are bound to murder me and I might as well commence my sentence now as any time," said Roberts. "I will not live long. I am pretty well used up. I am innocent of the crime."

Typewriters May Lose Jobs

New York, Oct. 15.—Typewriter girls may find their occupation gone if what is said of a new invention turns out to be true. It is exhibited at the business show now in progress in Madison Square Garden, and is an automatic typewriter run by compressed air and capable, it is said, of writing from 5000 to 10,000 words an hour for 24 hours at a stretch.

California League an Outlaw

Cincinnati, Oct. 15.—The California State league has been declared to be an outlaw organization by the national baseball commission. All players who are now with the California State league who have jumped their contracts with national agreement clubs are forever ineligible to participate in any games played by the national agreement clubs.

Not Satisfied With Small

New York, Oct. 15.—The telegraphers held a meeting last evening at which resolutions were passed calling upon President Small to immediately resign his office. There was considerable discussion over the resolution, a few of the telegraphers declaring that Small was guilty of nothing more than a tactical error and should not be so severely censured.

Reported Capture of Spies

Berlin, Oct. 16.—A correspondent of The Tageblatt at Emden telegaphs that, according to a dispatch received there from Borkum, a spying yacht with English naval officers on board has been captured by two Wilhelmshaven torpedo boats. The officers are suspected of having taken soundings and made photographs in forbidden waters.

Bears Still Dodge President

Stamboul, La., Oct. 15.—President Roosevelt and his companions at Bear lake are in high spirits and hopeful of better fortune than has yet attended the hunt. Several members of the party have seen bears at the lake, and bear tracks are reported to be numerous. Two timber wolves passed within sight of the camp on Sunday.

Textile Workers' Convention

Providence, Oct. 15.—The seventh annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America begun here today with about 100 delegates present. The convention will have no important strike situation to consider this year, but there are many other problems which are to be discussed.

Refused 25-Cent Compromise

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 15.—In the trial of the $1000 slander suit brought by Mrs. Anna Whitten against Frederick Strosser she testified that after Strosser had found the money he accused her of having stolen he offered her 25 cents "to square matters," but she refused it.

In Love With Mother-In-Law

Indianapolis, Oct. 15.—Declaring that her husband was in love with her mother, Mrs. Walter Marshall appeared in police court to prosecute her husband on the charge of child desertion. The husband was bound over to the grand jury, which will investigate his case.

Postoffice Robbed of $3500

North Sydney, N. S., Oct. 15.—The postoffice at North Sydney has been robbed of a package containing $3500 in bank notes, and the police departments all over the province, as well as Boston and Montreal, have been wired to look out for a man who is suspected of the theft.

Pallbearers Form a Union

Washington, Oct. 15.—Across the river in Alexandria they have organized Pallbearers' union No. 1. It consists of colored brethren. According to the handbills the union was formed "for the purpose of aiding bereaved families by serving them as pallbearers."

John Mitchell Seriously Sick

La Salle, Ills., Oct. 15.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, was operated on yesterday for appendicitis. He rallied after the operation and is resting easily, although his condition is still serious.

Poor Fishing Off Labrador

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 15.—Advices from Newfoundland state that the Labrador fishery this year has been more unsuccessful than in the past 20 years. The failure is due, it is claimed, to the bad weather conditions.

Snoring Kept Neighbors Awake

Logansport, Ind., Oct. 15.—Carson Emery was arraigned in court, charged with snoring so loudly he kept neighbors from sleeping. Police Judge Smith put Emery under $50 bonds to keep the peace.

The Weather Forecast

THE RALSTON

Ralston Health Shoes

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

WON'T BE ABSORBED

Austria Will Remain Outside German Imperial System

BEST FOR ALL CONCERNED

An Official Expression of Reasons Why a Change Would Be Undesirable--Danger of Rekindling Religious and Other Controversies

Berlin, Oct. 15.—Regarding the persistent reports published in the English press that Germany desires to absorb Austria in the event of the death of Francis Joseph, it may be stated that the policy of Germany, with reference to the internal affairs of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, has been declared to be one of entire aloofness.

The foreign office, some months ago, sent a dispatch on this subject to Baron Speck Von Sternburg, German ambassador at Washington, for the information of President Roosevelt. The relations between Austria and Russia were reviewed in this communication historically, beginning with the controversies in the old German federation which were settled by the war of 1866, and it was further set forth how Prussia since then had maintained the headship of the German states.

The entrance of Austria into the German imperial system would, according to the Prussian view, tend to revive the old antagonisms which had come to an end with the entire exclusion of Austria from the German councils. Furthermore, a strong Austrian empire was shown to be of advantage to Germany because it was friendly to the government of Emperor William and a support to the present equilibrium of Europe.

In addition to the foregoing reasons, embodied in an official expression, there are two or three other considerations why Germany should not absorb Austria which are regarded as vital to the German empire. The process of German unification is not yet so far advanced that Austria could be taken in with safety to the interests already firmly established.

It is known also that the Hohenzollern dynastic influences are against a course of action which might increase the numbers and strength of the Catholic party in Germany. This party already is very powerful, comprising about one-third of the total population, and should Austria come in with an immense addition of Catholics it would rekindle religious controversies and make the problems of government more difficult.

In addition to all this the German official view is that the Austro-Hungarian monarchy is not in the slightest danger of dissolution.

Train Went Into Ravine

Middletown. N. Y., Oct. 15.—One man was killed, five others will probably die and eight were badly injured when 17 cars of a work train crashed through a trestle at Stony Ford. The cars were loaded with dirt and stone and 20 laborers went down with them to the bottom of the ravine, 90 feet below. The engineer felt the trestle giving way and succeeded in getting across with his engine and one car. The coupling with the second car broke and all the rest of the train went into the ravine.

Trolley Collis on on a Switch

Erie, Pa., Oct. 15.—Twenty-five persons were injured, a majority of them seriously, in a trolley collision at Moorehead switch. The car reached a switch said to have not been properly set and crashed into a work car on the siding. Fortunately the brakes on the work car were not set and the impact sent it several hundred feet along the tracks. The passengers were thrown from their seats and showered with broken glass.

Francis Joseph Much Better

Vienna, Oct. 15.—There is a distinct change for the better in the condition of Emperor Francis Joseph. The doctors consider that the immediate danger has passed, unless unforeseen complications arise. Although he still coughs frequently, the fever has disappeared and the spread of the inflammation has ceased.

Football Player Knocked Out

New Haven, Oct. 15.—Henry M. Wheaton, left halfback on the Yale football team, was sent in during practice to try a drop kick. One of the opposing players, in trying to block the kick, accidentally kicked Wheaton's leg. The latter went down and the whole of the second eleven went down on top of him. The ligaments of his leg were badly twisted and wrenched.

Funds a Subj ct of Dispute

Washington, Oct. 15.—The department of justice has under consideration representations made to it by United States Marshal Hubbard regarding questions of dispute between him and the federal court in Porto Rico concerning expenditures of insular funds. It is expected that the department will take action on the matter immediately.

Rather Expensive Kiss

St. Louis, Oct. 15.—James Skarnos, proprietor of a confectionery store, was fined $250 by Judge Pellard for kissing Blossom Squires, 12 years old, when she entered his store to buy candy.

Many Attractive Spots in Quincy

Editors of Daily Ledger:

In addition to the views from the Third Hill Reservation, which certainly deserves all the praise it received in a recent article in your paper, permit me to mention some others, which will well repay anyone who cares to try them.

From the top of the rocky hill, which has been called Mt Ararat for generations, on the premises of the Merry Mount Granite Company, which can be reached easily by walking the entire length of Quarry street, which leads from Granite street and runs through the quarries, an extremely lovely panorama may be viewed. There is nothing whatever to obstruct the views in any direction.

From the rocky hummock a few hundred yards east of the water tank on Penns Hill, called the "Lookout," another fine prospect is before you. A stroll from here through Faxon Park and vicinity towards Quincy avenue, will reveal several other points where the view is interesting and extended. Some lover of nature has cleared off the brush which formerly obstructed those views. Notice particularly in Faxon Park the grass carpeted walks once the wood-roads of the old settlers, the rapidly growing trees, all oaks, and the granite lined glens and gullies on the way to Wendall's Quarry, where, nearby is the rocky pinnacle the boys call the "Pulpit."

But best of all let me suggest a walk some crisp October morning through the Furnace Brook Reservation, until the sign on the right is reached reading, "Foot Path to summit of Wampatuck." This noble granite hill was named for the Indian chief who signed the deed to the first settlers here. A few minutes scramble over a rocky road, and you are on the summit, well paid for the effort.

Yours truly,
James L. Edwards.

Famous Stewart Famous Domestic

The free demonstrations this week at the furniture store of W. G. Shaw in City Square, which opened on Monday were magnets which drew a large number of people. All day Monday, and in the evening, the store was thronged with people.

Two demonstrations are in progress. One of the famous Stewart ranges, and the other of the equally famous Domestic sewing machines. At the former boxes of good things to eat in the pastry line are given to all callers.

The Domestic sewing machine demostrations is in charge of William C. Ellis, who is certainly a wizard in his line. He accomplishes almost impossible things with his light running, noiseless machines and his specimens are beautiful to behold.

All callers are given samples which include initials worked in three colors of silk on a piece of black silk. The work is all done free hand and is beautiful. In this age when men's hats are constantly getting mixed at gatherings a hat band is indispensible.

Mr. Ellis quickly works a handsome and useful hat band. It only goes to show what is possible for the machine.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

Mr. Robert P. Porter, formerly head of the U. S. census bureau and editor of the New York Press, and now correspondent of the London Times, visited the yard this morning and spent some time in looking over the plant. He was escorted on his trip by President Bowles and Electrical Engineer Crain.

The work of getting the collier "Everett" in shape for her trial is being pushed today. The propelling machinery has been given a test; the pumps and winches tried; her water ballast tanks filled and her dishes, linen, stores, bedding and all the great number of articles of equipment are now being loaded. The coal barge Saucon is run alongside putting in coal for the ship's bunkers. When she goes out in her trial her bunkers will be filled with coal and her water ballast tanks as well.

The work of putting in the heavy foundations for the keel of the 20,000 ton battleship North Dakota is going on rapidly. The new staging will soon be up.

The freighter Altamaha is taking shape and the same is true of the tugboat for the New England Steamship Co. The two vessels have grown very fast in the last week.

Two Discharged.

A dispatch in a morning paper says that Engineer Gifford of the Granite branch train derailed at Atlantic on Sunday night and G. W. Clifford, the tower switch man at Atlantic, were discharged on Monday.

TODAY'S COURT.

Peter A. McLean and Daniel L. Walsh were fined $10 each for drunkenness at Quincy.

William Robinson was fined $15 for the larceny of a fowl from Mrs. Forrest at Quincy.

Duncan McDonald was arraigned for larceny at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday.

The Other Captain.

Captain (witheringly to private)—My friend, you ought to be eating hay. Are there any more like you in your family? Private—I have only one brother, sir. Captain—Oh! And what is he? Private—Captain, sir.—Bon Vivant.

His Act of Charity.

Mrs. Henpeque—So you did an act of charity to commemorate the twentieth anniversary of our wedding. Mr. Henpeque—Yes; I refused a raise in salary to one of my clerks who wanted to get married.

One Use For It.

"I notice that you writers use a great deal of tobacco. Does it stimulate your brains?"

"I don't know, but it makes you forget that you're hungry."—Cleveland Leader.

The Bachelor's View.

"What is the most aggravating thing in married life?" asked Dorothy.

"Sometimes," said the bachelor friend, "it's the husband, and sometimes it's the wife."

Hit Them Both.

Jones—That was a scathing sermon on mean men the parson gave us last Sunday. Wonder what Smith thought about it? Brown—Singular! I met Smith yesterday, and he said he'd like to know your opinion on it.—London Telegraph.

Confidence.

Jackson—Heaven bless him! He showed confidence in me when the clouds were dark and threatening. Wilson—In what way? Jackson—He lent me an umbrella.—London Telegraph.

—Save the broken lens; we can match it. We grind them at 1473 Hancock st., Quincy. You may watch the operation. Williams Tel. 279-3.

Opening Supper Bethany Brotherhood

Bethany Brotherhood opened the season on Monday evening under auspicious circumstances. From 6 to 6.30 there was a social hour in the chapel and at 6.30 a supper which appeals to men was served in the ladies' parlor, about fifty being in attendance. The menu included baked beans and brown bread, pickles and relishes, cold meats, celery, hot apple pie, coffee and chocolate.

President L. J. Myers opened the speaking which followed the supper. He introduced in turn E. E. Craig, the assistant pastor of the church; George H. Maxwell of the Y. M. C. A.; Leroy Pease, R. D. Chase and Rev. Thomas Simms. The address of the evening was by the last named gentleman, who is a pastor at Braintree. His subject was "A call for men," and was directed largely to the young men.

Several members of the Makaria Fraternity were among the guests of the evening.

Ralston Health Shoes

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

BRILLIANT WEDDING

Miss Wilde Of Atlantic The Bride of E. A. Burkhardt

One of the most notable weddings of the season took place in Atlantic on Tuesday evening, Oct. 15, when Miss Corinna Prescott Wilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Henry Wilde of Billings street was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Arthur Burkhardt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Burkhardt of Jamaica Plain.

The ceremony was performed at 7.30 o'clock at the home of the bride 214 Billings street, by Rev. Adolph Breivend, pastor of the Lutheran church, Roxbury, in the presence of relatives and a few friends. Miss Wilde's unusual prettiness was set off by an exquisite gown of messaline and chiffon with elaborate trimmings of Duchess lace and pearl embroidery. Her long veil was caught up by lilies of the valley in a wreath effect and her shower bouquet was of the same flower. She was one of the most charming of Atlantic brides.

The maid of honor, Miss G. Louise Wilde, sister of the bride, wore corn-color liberty silk, accordion plaited, and lace trimmed. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Louise was a most attractive maid.

Miss Vera Burkhardt of Jamaica Plain, sister of the groom, and Miss Helen Bates of Braintree were bridesmaids and were both gowned in white liberty silk, accordion plaited, and carried white chrysanthemums which were pretty and effective with the soft gowns.

The best man was Mr. Herbert Waldemar Burkhardt, brother of the groom. The ushers were Mr. Carl L. Mittell of Jamaica Plain, Mr. Winward Prescott of Fall River, Mr. Harold Burkhardt Boyd of Jamaica Plain and Mr. Charles C. Waterman of Roxbury.

Little Miss Beatrice Hargh of Highland, Mass., was flower girl and wore a dainty gown of ruffled white muslin with trimmings of lace and carried a large basket hat full of yellow marguerites.

During the ceremony, a harp, violin and cello, led by Miss Ethel Peace of Malden played Tramerie, after the rendering of Lohengrin for the bridal procession. The parlor and living room were in green and white, the laurel in its crisp verdure making a most effective background for the bridal party. The dining room was in green with crimson roses and in this room Jesse Dill of Melrose, served ices and dainties. The hall was in autumn coloring.

After the ceremony, a large reception was held and about five hundred guests offered congratulations to the bride and groom, who were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb F. Burkhardt and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Wilde. Among the most noted guests were Mayor Thompson of Quincy and ex-Mayor Hart of Boston.

After a two weeks' trip Mr. and Mrs. Burkhardt will reside at 21 Grosvenor road, Jamaica Plain, where they will be at home after January first.

Camp Inspection.

Department Assistant Inspector James Otis Leman of Boston inspected John A. Boyd camp of this city Tuesday evening. After the official duties were completed, Commander Henry J. Matthews introduced the several speakers to the camp, among whom were, Chaplain Thos. F. Lackey Jr. of Camp Geo. J. Whitten No. 1 of Boston; P. C. John R. McGrath of John A. Boyd Camp and several others. After the usual collation, the camp adjourned until Nov. 19.

SWEDISH CONFERENCE

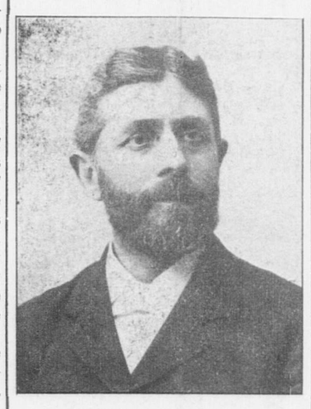
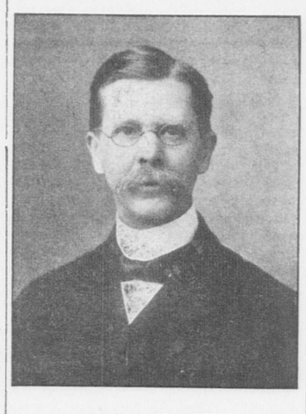
Revival and Other Meetings Planned at St. Pauls Church

The Boston district conference for the Eastern Swedish churches opens in Quincy this evening at St. Paul's M. E. church with a lecture by Rev. H. W. Eklund of Worcester.



REV. S. L. CARLANDER.

Fifteen pastors belong to this conference and are expected to attend. Private meetings for the ministers will be held on Thursday and Friday from 9 to 12 A. M. and 3 to 5 P. M.



REV. C. J. WIGREN.

Rev. C. J. Wigren the presiding elder, will be chairman.

Revival meetings for the public will be held in the church every evening this week at 7.30.

Rev. H. W. Eklund will stay over Sunday, and will preach both morning and evening. At the service last Sunday evening four were admitted to membership, and it is expected that a large number will be admitted the coming Sunday.

Next week an effort will be made by the church to wipe out the balance of the mortgage note, now $1,500. Rev. S. L. Carlander, the veteran and beloved pastor, is sanguine of success.

Arrangements are also being made for the annual union Swedish rally at this church for No-License in the city to be held in November. The pastor and people are determined to keep the saloons out of Quincy.

Pies Take Tumble.

Although the price of pie has advanced to ten cents a wedge, Hancock and cottage streets were paved with this good old New England luxury this morning when one of Ferguson's teams ran away. The team was left standing for a few minutes in front of Dennen's restaurant. Something frightened the horses and they ran down Hancock street and turned into Cottage street and brought up against a pole near the residence of Dr. Davis on Chestnut street. As the horses speed along the row of drawers in the rear of the team containing pies came out and there was a string of pies along the whole street. First came a luscious custard, then a squash closely followed by apple, cranberry, Washington and other varieties in a confused mass. As they struck the street they lost their original shapely appearance and were anything but inviting. Not being exactly suitable for paving they were gathered up and carried away. That is what the small boy did not get.

TRIAL OF EVERETT

New Collier Built at the Fore River Must Make 11 Knots

At high water this morning the big steel steam collier Everett left the yard of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company and proceeded to sea on her builder's trial. Her contract calls for an average speed of 11 knots an hour for four hours, the ship to be loaded with 300 tons of bunker coal, 25 tons of fresh water and stores, and all water-ballast tanks filled. The total weight of this water ballast is 3000 tons.

Port Captain T. E. Evans of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, the builders of the vessel, was in command, and on board were President Bowles, Chief Engineer Edwards, Electrical Engineer Crain of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company; Marine Supt. Skettelbery of the Massachusetts Steam Ship Co., and Messrs. Linden Stuart and John R. Middleton of his staff and Capt. Hadlock, the compass adjuster.

The engine room force of 21 men is made up entirely of Fore River men under Engineer Paige, who are out to make the vessel do her best. The trial is over the Cape Ann course from Boston Light ship to Thatcher's Island.

The Everett when in commission will have these officers: Capt. P. Frostead, First officer A. McGray, 2d officer E. H. Holland, 3d officer, A. H. Anthony, Chief Engineer A. Hearns 1st asst. W. H. Queen, Chief Steward Philip Harris. Capt. Frostead was formerly master of the S. S. Ligchter of the Guffey Oil Company.

The Everett was built for the Massachusetts Steam Ship Company and will be used for carrying coal between southern ports and Boston. She is an important addition to the American merchant marine, as her equal in ships of her class does not exist under the American flag. There are two other ships of the same size and type building at Fore River for the same Company. One, the Malden was launched on Sept. 10th the other, the Melrose is nearly ready for launching. These three colliers will work a great change in the tide water coal carrying trade of the North Atlantic seaboard.

An inspection of the ship will open the eyes of seafaring men for there was never such equipment and appointments in a collier. The quarters of the deck officers and engineers are finer than in many passenger ships. The pilot house and bridge are particularly handsome structures, being finished in natural teak. There are bath rooms, toilet rooms, electric lights, telephones and all such conveniences. On the flying bridge is a powerful electric searchlight. One of the ship's boats is equipped with a gasoline engine which can be used in going ashore and for many other purposes. The quarters of officers and men are heated by steam. The vessel is very handsomely painted; her railings in aluminum, her name in gold leaf. She has towing bitts and towing rail aft. She has two metal life boats, a gig and a dingey. The Everett is completely fitted out with flags, stores, bedding, linen, dishes and ware and ready for immediate service.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

Manager H. G. Smith has issued this notice: Beginning Monday, Oct. 21, the hours of labor in the ship and engine works will be as follows: 7.00 A. M. to 12.00 noon; 12.30 P. M. to 4.30 P. M., Mondays to Fridays inclusive. The hours of clerks and others in the main office will be from 8.15 A. M., to 12.00 noon, and 12.30 P. M. to 4.45 P. M., Mondays to Saturdays inclusive. The hours of the drafting rooms and forge will remain as at present.

TO HOLD CONFERENCE

The Citizens Association Makes Dates with Both Parties

An adjourned meeting of the Citizens' Association was held Tuesday evening. At the annual meeting the Board of Directors was instructed to confer with the parties entitled to nominate candidates at the Municipal caucuses in regard to placing names in nomination for municipal offices.

George H. Brown, vice president, presided, and Emery L. Crane was secretary.

The Board of Directors announced that they were not ready to report any names at this meeting. That they were to hold conferences with the Republican and Democratic City Committees on Thursday evening.

The meeting with the Republican committee will be held at 8 o'clock and that with the Democratic committee at 9 o'clock.

After some discussion it was voted that when the meeting adjourn it be until Tuesday, Oct. 22, and that the board of directors report at that time.

A general discussion followed as to the best manner of getting names before the citizens in case the two parties in question did not nominate the names suggested by the directors. The latter said they had names in mind that had been considered, but thought it unwise at this time to mention them.

A motion to reconsider the vote in relation to adjourning until Oct. 22 brought out another discussion and a sharp tilt between J. W. McAnarney and A. F. Schenkelberger.

Mr. McAnarney suggested that if but one of the two parties accepted the names suggested by the directors, the association could, if it saw fit, support the party which did accept their suggestions.

Mr. Schenkelberger replied that this meant the election of Mr. Shea, and he admitted he was opposed to that.

Mr. McAnarney—The nomination papers are not opened until the 31st. We should not go further than to urge the nomination of good men. After the nominations are made and they fail to please let us get together and nominate a man, and work for his election. We are not here to defeat any one man. If we are, let us be men enough to say so.

The motion to reconsider then prevailed.

Brooks Adams offered an amendment that the adjournment be for three weeks.

Andrew Milne further amended to adjourn subject to the call of the directors, which prevailed.

A motion by Mr. Schenkelberger, that the secretary write to all members and request them to send names to the directors for Mayor, Councilmen and School Committee failed, as it was not seconded.

The members, however, were requested to suggest names to the Board of Directors.

An adjournment was then taken.

Big Potatoes.

They are telling a good potato story of County Sheriff Capen. Adjoining the County jail at Dedham is a piece containing 38,172 square feet of land. This year Sheriff Capen planted the piece with potatoes, and this week he has harvested his crop.

There were 312 bushels of fine potatoes. The largest tipped the scales at two and one half pounds, and there were hundreds of them that weighed one pound or over.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

If the New York Herald succeeds in its attempt to sell the Philippines, it will at once achieve an international reputation as a highly successful but extremely dangerous captain of industry.

Senator Cullom is sure that Speaker Cannon will be the choice of the Republicans if President Roosevelt will only step aside. At present, however, Mr. Roosevelt seems disposed only to sidestep all talk on the subject.

The President's recent speeches cover a good deal of space in the newspapers. The late Sam Jones, doubtless, would have condensed the bulk of them into a shorter and not less impressive expression "Quit your meanness."

"The Japanese wrestler now in this country is believed to be as fat as is Secretary Taft, now in Japan," says the Charlestown News and Courier. Perhaps that accounts for the fact that the world is just as well balanced as ever.

The Bee's Feet.

Naturalists say that the feet of the common working bee exhibit the curious combination of a basket, a brush and a pair of pinchers. The brush, the hairs of which are arranged in symmetrical rows, is seen only with a high grade microscope. With this brush of fairy delicacy the bee brushes its velvet robe to remove the pollen dust with which it becomes loaded while sucking up the nectar of flowers. Another delicate apparatus is the spoon shaped appendage that receives the gleanings that the bee wishes to carry to the hive. Finally, by opening the brush and the basket by means of a neat little hinge, the two become a pair of pinchers, which render important service in constructing the cells for the reception of the honey.

THIRTY-FIVE KILLED

Lowest Estimate of Fatalities In the Fontanet Explosion

AT LEAST 600 ARE INJURED

Once Thriving Town Reduced to Wreckage by Explosion of Powder Mills--School Buildings Two Miles Distant Destroyed by the Shock

Fontanet, Ind., Oct. 16.—The number of dead as the result of the explosion of the Dupont powder mills here yesterday is believed to be 35. Of these five died in hospitals at Terre Haute last night. At least 600 were injured, and a large amount of property was destroyed. The exact number of dead and injured, along with the property loss, will not be known for several days.

Governor Hanley arrived at 7:30 o'clock last night and took charge of the situation and later proclaimed martial law. The governor ordered all places where liquor or intoxicating drinks are sold shall be closed.

The town is practically wiped out. Not a building stands intact and throughout the day fires kindled in the ruins cost the lives of several persons who were pinned in the wreckage.

Where stood a thriving and busy town of 1000 people there is ruin and scattered wreckage. The dead and more seriously injured have been taken away. Five hundred inhabitants, all more or less wounded, remain to gather their scattered household goods and sleep under tents and on cots, guarded by soldiers of the state.

Without warning, the powder mills, seven in number, blew up yesterday. They employed 200 men, and of these 75 were at work when the first explosion occurred in the press mill. In quick succession the glazing mill, the two coining mills and the powder magazine blew up, followed by the cap mill. In the magazine, situated several hundred yards from the mills, were stored 40,000 kegs of powder. When it blew up the concussion was felt nearly 200 miles away.

Farmhouses two miles away and schoolhouses equally distant were torn to pieces and their occupants injured. A passenger train four miles away had every coach window broken and several passengers were injured by flying glass.

The mills went up with three distinct explosions, followed 90 minutes later by a fourth, even more serious than the others, when the magazine went up. Immediately following the explosions the wreckage caught fire and the inhabitants of the town who rushed to the rescue of the mill employes found themselves powerless to aid those burning in the ruins.

They worked frantically, in constant danger from possible succeeding explosions, unmindful of their ruined homes. Dead and dying were picked up and collected. Eighteen bodies, burned and mangled, were carted to a protected spot to await identification, while the badly injured, numbering upward of 50, were put on a special train and taken to Terre Haute for hospital treatment.

Nearly all of the 1000 inhabitants carried blood on their hands and faces from their own wounds or those of others whom they assisted.

The mills were located one mile south of the town. With the first explosion the employes ran for safety, but most of them were killed or wounded by the quickly following explosions in the other mills. When the heat from the burning mills exploded the giant powder magazine later, practically destroying the town by the concussion, many of those engaged in rescue work were badly injured and several killed.

Superintendent Monahan of the plant was killed while sitting in the office, and his wife and sister-in-law were killed in their home some distance away. That the death list is not far greater is due to the fact that the people of the town had left their houses at the first explosion and were not in them when the explosion of the 40,000 kegs of powder in the magazine shattered their homes and piled their household goods in heaps of debris.

Among the buildings totally destroyed in this town were the Methodist and Christian churches, the depot, all business blocks, including a large block just completed, a large warehouse and 500 residences.

The fronts and sides of many were blown away, the roofs of others were hurled into space, while some were reduced to a mass of collapsed wreckage.

Three school buildings were destroyed, two at Fontanet and one at Coal Bluff, two miles away. All were filled with school children and every one of these were more or less injured by the collapse of the buildings.

A four-room schoolhouse was torn to pieces and not one of the 200 children escaped unhurt. None was fatally hurt. The school building at Coal Bluff was turned over and collapsed. The teacher and 90 pupils were more or less injured.

The force of the explosion destroyed all telephone communication with outside towns, and it was with great difficulty that aid was summoned.

Terre Haute and Brazil sent physicians and nurses with supplies in carriages and automobiles across country, while special trains were made up and run over the Big Four railroad for the care of the injured.

Governor Hanly ordered the Terre Haute company of the Indiana National Guard here to patrol the ruined district and protect life and property. The governor arrived last evening about the time the soldiers reached here. He brought with him 700 tents and cots for the use of the homeless.

The country school near Fontanet, with an attendance of 50 children, had just been called to order when the explosion occurred. The roof collapsed but none of the children was badly injured. The teacher, Miss Susan Bishop of Terre Haute, was struck by a falling beam and is seriously injured.

Conflicting stories are told by the pupils concerning the crash that followed the explosion. It is understood, however, that a class had just been called. One of the pupils is said to have raised her hand in response to a question when the terrific explosion shook the earth, the walls bulged outward, and the roof crashed down on the crowded room.

Two boys wriggled through the debris, but the townspeople who had not been injured by the explosion rushed toward the powder mills. No one gave heed to the boys, who sought in vain to attract attention to the wrecked school building. In the meantime several others struggled out of the debris and finally the public began to realize that possibly a greater tragedy than that at the mill had occurred. A few hastened to the wrecked building and men were soon lifting timbers off the imprisoned children and carrying the injured away.

Owing to the fact that the families of the pupils are scattered, it is not possible as yet to give a complete list of the injured. It is believed that not more than a half dozen of the 53 pupils escaped injury.

Small Repudiates Suspension

Chicago, Oct. 16.—S. J. Small, the suspended president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, has arrived in Chicago from New York. Asked if he would make an effort to have himself reinstated at the convention to be held soon in Milwaukee Small replied: "I shall not ask for reinstatement for the simple reason that I am not suspended. I am the president of the union, and so far as I know no call for a convention has been issued.

Harriman's Power Curtailed

Chicago, Oct. 16.—E. H. Harriman was, by an order of court, deprived of the voting power of 286,731 shares of Illinois Central stock in the annual meeting of that railroad company today. The shares of stock ruled out are those held by the Union Pacific Railway company, the Railroad Securities company of New Jersey and the Mutual Life Insurance company of New York.

Banquet to Lord Bishop

New York, Oct. 16.—On the eve of his departure for home, Rt. Rev. A. F. W. Ingram, lord bishop of London, was given a farewell banquet by the Pilgrims' Society of the United States. The bishop has been in the country for about three weeks, during which time he has visited President Roosevelt and delivered several sermons. There were about 300 guests at the dinner.

Small Sealing Catch

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 16.—The sealing catch of this season is the lowest on record, and about one-third that of last year. Last year 17 schooners took 9645 skins; this year 15 schooners will take about 3500, to which is to be included 38 sea otter skins, as compared with 13 taken the previous year. The average Behring sea catch is 250, as compared with 504 last season.

Disastrous Wreck In England

Shrewsbury, Eng., Oct. 16.—Nineteen persons were killed and 39 were injured by the wreck of a train while it was entering the station here. There is still no explanation of the cause of the accident. This is the third accident of a similar kind within a year to a train entering a station on a curve.

Reinforcing Mogador Garrison

Tangier, Oct. 16.—The French steamer Artois left here for Mogador with 500 Moorish soldiers to reinforce the local garrison. This step is taken in view of the expected attack by forces of Mulai-Hafid. At the same time Caid Anfloos is marching rapidly to intercept Mulai-Hafid's men.

Bears as Beasts of Burden

New York, Oct. 16.—Captain Ronald Amundsen, the Arctic explorer, who arrived on the steamship Oscar II, says he will make an attempt to reach the North Pole in 1910. He is having four big polar bears trained to haul sleds in Hamburg and intends to use them in the far north.

Woman's Life Crushed Out

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 16.—An iron railing which formed a guard for a scaffold which had just been hoisted to the cornice of a six-story department store building fell to the street among women shoppers. Mrs. W. H. Flegg was struck by the iron and crushed to death.

A POINT FOR WHITNEY

Affidavits of His Delegates Admitted by Ballot Law Commission

Boston, Oct. 16.—The Whitney forces gained a decisive victory when the ballot law commissioners allowed the motion for the admission of the affidavits of 434 delegates to the recent Springfield convention who either were admitted to the Court Square theatre and were prevented from taking part in the convention or else were refused admittance on their credentials, all of whom signed affidavits stating that they would have voted for Whitney as the candidate for governor.

This decision undoubtedly means a great deal in the final decision of the commissioners, and it also establishes a precedent in rulings regarding election law cases. Chairman Cunningham, in announcing the decision, made no further announcement than to say the affidavits would be admitted.

That the decision was a crushing blow to the Bartlett forces was apparent. Attorney Albers, junior counsel for the Bartlett men, immediately addressed the commission, saying: "I ask that there be recorded our protest, objections and exceptions." Chairman Cunningham nodded assent to the request.

Girl and Man Missing

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 16.—The disappearance of Mary Ellen White, 16, has caused consternation. Charles S. Spencer, who has been employed by a shoe manufacturer of Marblehead, is also absent. Spencer is thought to have a wife and child in New York. A letter was received from Spencer written to the girl's aunt saying that the couple were in Boston and that Spencer wished to show the people in Marblehead that he could legally marry again.

Robens Wants Another Trial

Houlton, Me., Oct. 16.—Evidently having changed his desire for a speedy sentence, as previously announced, Juan Robens, convicted of the murder of J. E. Dickinson, signed a statement prepared by his counsel, setting forth to the public that he has been wrongfully convicted, that he did not have a fair trial because of prejudice, that he expects to have another trial and believes there are witnesses enough to prove his innocence if they will come to his assistance.

His Chest Crushed In

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 16.—An autopsy performed on the body of James E. Kelley, aged 48, who was found unconscious on Lamper's wharf yesterday and who died later at a hospital, revealed the fact that the man had suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and that eight ribs had been fractured, the entire chest being crushed in. The medical examiner declared that death had been due to violence. Evidences of liquor were found on the man.

Automobile Fatalities

Boston, Oct. 16.—A report issued by the Safe Roads Automobile association shows that in three months up to Sept. 21 last 41 persons were killed and 313 injured as the result of automobile accidents in the state of Massachusetts, as far as they were recorded by the association. This covered 211 collisions. In the same time 345 other serious collisions were reported by the newspapers, and many horses and cattle were killed or injured.

Alleged Murderer on Trial

South Paris, Me., Oct. 16.—An unusual murder trial has begun in the supreme judicial court. The prisoner is Wallace G. Everett, aged 50, employed as watchman and custodian of the powder and explosives at the Crocker Hill mine at Paris hill. He is charged with stabbing Edgar L. Radcliffe, aged 22, and after placing his body in a shed, terribly mutilating it by blowing up the shed with several sticks of dynamite.

Would Deal Direct With Employer

Providence, Oct. 16.—The fact that it is much more profitable for the laboring man to deal direct with his employer than by statute law was emphasized at the session of the annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America by President Golden and Secretary-Treasurer Hibbert in their annual reports to the meeting. An eight-hour day was also advocated by both men.

Pressing For Congo Reform

Boston, Oct. 16.—The officers of the Congo Reform association have issued a statement in which they announce that the association has determined to adopt a more active policy of public agitation. The association will direct its efforts toward having the United States government press for immediate intervention in the Congo issue by the powers.

Ten Years For Manslaughter

Boston, Oct. 16.—Joseph Mosconi, an Italian, who pleaded guilty to manslaughter in causing the death of Jeremiah J. Crowley, was sentenced to serve not less than 10 or more than 12 years in state prison. Mosconi went to a stable to hire a team. A heated argument arose and Crowley was stabbed.

Heavy Verdict For Accident

Boston, Oct. 16.—As a result of injuries sustained while boarding a train on the "L" at Haymarket square, Mrs. Catherine Hennessey recovered in the superior court a verdict of $5375. Her husband received a verdict of $1000 for medical attendance.

Earthquake In New England

Boston, Oct. 16.—An earthquake shook central New England last night at 7:05. The zone of disturbance extended as far east as Portland, Me., and as far south as Lawrence. The earthquake was not felt in Boston.

Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title—Incorporated 1892.)
The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.
Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.
The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889
The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.
Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.
The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

PROBE CALLED FOR

Milk Producers Present Petition to Governor Guild

A SLAP AT CONTRACTORS

Say They Maintain Absolute Control of Boston Market Without Competition--Restrictions Placed Upon Farmers Declared to Be Too Heavy

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 16.—The petition of the Worcester county farmers asking for an investigation into the dairy conditions of the state which was presented to Governor Guild yesterday was made public last night by the farmers' committee which has had the matter in charge.

The petition states that about 85 percent of the milk used in Boston and the metropolitan district reaches the city by railroads and is controlled by five contractors; it stated also that an investigation will disclose that the territory producing milk for the Boston market has been so divided by the five contractors that they maintain absolute control without competition, and that the cars leased from the railroads by the contractors are the only means afforded by the railroads for a proper transportation of the product.

The restrictions placed upon the farmers are also gone into at considerable extent by the petition, which claims that should the laws governing the standard of milk when sold be properly enforced the farmers would be constantly liable to fine and imprisonment, as it is practically impossible to meet the standard.

The petition claims that the percent of solids in the milk has nothing to do with its purity. It also asks the governor to determine whether milk brought in from other states comes from sanitary sources and from cows subject to tuberculosis tests.

An investigation is asked for into what restrictions are placed upon the contractors who, it is claimed, have opportunities to adulterate the milk from the farmers with milk of an inferior grade, and alleges that by taking out some of the solids required of the milk as furnished, and selling it in the form of some by-product, they deprive the consumer of what is legally his.

Rather than pay the high charges for grain and feed and because they claim that the big milk contractors are taking all the profits, farmers all over the big milk belt embracing Massachusetts and New Hampshire, are said to be planning to sell their unproductive cows to the butchers.

Two of the biggest milk producers of Newmarket, N. H., yesterday estimated that within the next five months fully 2500 dry cows would be turned into beef, and that if something was not done very soon to improve the farmer's lot the contractors would meet with determined opposition from the producer's end by Nov. 1.

Bookkeeper's Life a Mystery

New York, Oct. 16.—Sitting half bent over her books, as natural as in the busiest moments of the day, Miss Annie Dunn, a beautiful young girl of 21 years, employed as bookkeeper by Parker & Greensburg, was found dead by one of her employers. Considerable mystery attached to the personality of Miss Dunn. She had worked for the firm of shirt manufacturers only eight months and little was known about her. Miss Dunn lived entirely alone in a furnished room house and no one knew of a single relative.

Practice Flight of Big Balloon

St. Louis, Oct. 16.—After traveling through the air a distance of almost 100 miles in three hours and 10 minutes, J. C. McCoy and Captain Chandler brought the balloon Psyche down to earth three miles north of Jacksonville, Ills., ending the first trial trip taken by the aeronauts who are to contest in the international races to be held here next week.

To Govern All Utilities

Manila, Oct. 16.—The Philippine commission has authorized the creation of a permanent public utilities commission, consisting of three members, with power to adjust, increase or reduce the rates to be charged for all utilities. The law bearing on this subject covers every utility at present and also provides for future contingencies.

Gossips Hint at "Difficulty"

Budapest, Oct. 16.—Rumors have reached here from America of a reported difficulty between Miss Gladys Vanderbilt and her fiance, Count Szechenyi. Inquiry in aristocratic circles and to members of the Szechenyi family failed to elicit anything that would justify credence being given them.

Starched Shirt Front Is Passe

Paris, Oct. 16.—Dress reform in Paris has taken a sensational turn. Instead of wearing starched white shirts, men are now wearing for evening dress pale yellow, green or blue silk shirts as soft as handkerchiefs, with waistcoats to match.

Deal With Raisuli Fell Through

Tangier, Oct. 16.—It is stated on good authority that the French offer to take up the question of the release of Kaid Sir Harry MacLean was due to the fact that the British negotiations with Raisuli had lamentably failed.

OIL TRUST HAD SPIES

Obtained Information Concerning Business of Rival Companies

New York, Oct. 16.—The taking of testimony in the United States suit for the dissolution of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey is being rapidly concluded in this city and on next Friday it is planned to adjourn the hearings for several weeks in order that counsel on both sides may carefully go over the evidence already adduced.

Most of yesterday's session of the oil suit was given over to placing on the records statements compiled from the Standard's books showing the cost and selling prices of oil in various territories. The statements were not read. Mr. Kellogg also placed on the records statements prepared by the Standard's agents in the selling field, showing the shipments of the independent oil companies.

L. J. Drake, selling agent of the Standard Oil company of Indiana, testified that five years ago the Republic Oil company was organized to do business in Michigan and other states as an independent company, but that the Republic was a Standard subsidiary in reality. Drake also said that he had given orders to all agents of the Standard to obtain all information available concerning the business done by rival companies. He testified that the Standard furnished no funds to secure this information and that only honorable business methods were to be employed in obtaining knowledge of competitive shipments.

Mr. Kellogg wanted to place W. G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, on the witness stand yesterday, but Rockefeller was out of the city.

Separate Bills of Lading Wanted

Washington, Oct. 16.—That the uniform bill of lading which it is proposed to put into effect on all the railroads of the country on Jan. 1 next by the interstate commerce commission is not satisfactory to the commercial interests, and that two separate bills of lading should be adopted instead, was pointed out at a hearing of these interests before the interstate commerce commission. At present the railroads use separate bills of lading, and it is the desire of the commission, the shipping and the railroad interests to secure uniformity in the matter, the only question at issue.

Bond Is Not the "Whole Show"

London, Oct. 16.—There has been published a Blue Book giving the correspondence in the Newfoundland fisheries dispute. It shows that Premier Bond of Newfoundland was informed that while his majesty's government would prefer, in matters of this kind, to rely on colonial legislation, it would not hesitate, if necessary, to use such other means as were open to it to obtain sanction for arrangements which it considered essential "for the preservation of relations of peace and amity with a friendly nation."

Suit Against State Dismissed

Washington, Oct. 16.—By agreement of counsel the supreme court of the United States dismissed the case of Abe Strauss vs. the commonwealth of Massachusetts. The case involved the constitutionality of the Massachusetts law making it a misdemeanor to sell goods on condition that the purchaser shall not buy from any other venders of the same articles. Strauss was found guilty of selling plug tobacco on terms which were violative of this law.

Italy and Mexico Agree

The Hague, Oct. 16.—Representatives of Italy and Mexico approved definitely yesterday the text of the Italo-Mexican arbitration treaty. The contracting parties agree to submit to arbitration all differences except those affecting the national independence or honor. They are free, however, not to submit to arbitration any differences which, according to the territorial laws, must be referred to the national jurisdiction.

Transport's Crew Drunk

Odessa, Oct. 16.—The Black sea transport Pruth ran ashore yesterday on Berenzan. There were no casualties and it is believed that the steamer can be refloated. The Pruth was conveying several Russian deputations to Otchaekov. It is asserted that drunkenness on the part of the crew was responsible for the accident.

Charged With $3500 Theft

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 16.—Charged with the theft of a package containing $3500 in cash from the postoffice at North Sydney, C. B., James S. McDonald was arrested here. He was found at the residence of his father-in-law. The police found $2600 in cash on his person.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Another of Great Britain's cherished art collections, the Ashburton collection, is about to be dispersed, and it is probable that the best examples therein will find their way to America.

Fifteen horses perished in the burning of the big barn of Cheney Bros. at South Manchester, Conn. F. D. Cheney was seriously injured. The damage is about $25,000.

The Bay State Auto company, manufacturers, made an assignment to James J. Irwin of Boston. The liabilities are placed at $60,000.

In a series of trials at Newport, R. I., for the purpose of standardizing the propellers, the torpedo boat Thornton made a speed of 24 knots for three of the runs.

A comet of the eighth magnitude was discovered by Professor Mellish at Madison, Wis. The comet was moving slowly in a northwesterly direction.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Half of October gone.

All nominations for the City caucuses must be filed before Nov. 1, which is near at hand.

It will be seen by advertisement that boys are wanted to compete for the medal given annually by the Q. W. T. U.

The Independence League will hold a rally Thursday evening in Associates hall on Washington street. Good speakers are expected to be present from Boston.

There was a great call among the Elks for the Daily Ledger of Tuesday. They evidently are sending them to out-of-town Elks to let them know there is something doing in Quincy.

Quincy people were told that if they went to the Elks' Carnival they would be told what "Hello Bill" means. As yet those secrets have not been revealed that is to every body.

Miss Annie Carter of South street is taking the place of Miss E. G. Hayden at H. H. I. Smith's store at Quincy Point. Miss Hayden is enjoying a two weeks' vacation in New Hampshire.

The body of Albert Correa, the 16 year old Somerville boy, who was drowned off Peddock's island Oct. 6, was found Tuesday near Prince's head by the Hull police who were dragging for it.

The Registrars of Voters added 38 names to the voting lists Tuesday night, in which all wards shared. Ward Three was the banner ward with 14, Ward One had 4, Waad Two 5, Ward Five 6 and Ward Six 5.

About 100 enjoyed the whist and dance given by Chester Brown at Electa hall on Tuesday evening. Whist was the attraction until 10 and dancing followed until 11.30. Eight whist souvenirs were given.

A regular meeting of the Methodist club will be held in the vestry of the Wollaston Methodist Episcopal church, Thursday evening, at 7.45 o'clock. Rev. J. Frank Knotts, of Boston, will deliver the address. There will be melodious music and refreshing refreshments. As this will be the first gathering for the winter months, a large attendance is desired.

More Granite Shipped.

Returns from the two shipping terminals for the month of September show that the total amount of granite shipped by rail from Quincy that month to have been 14,041,907 pounds as against 13,962,045 for the month of August. Of the amount shipped in September 9,268,600 pounds was forwarded from West Quincy and the Quarry railroad, and 4,773,307 pounds from Quincy Adams. This shows that the business is holding its own. If the facilities for shipment at Quincy Adams were better there is no doubt but shipments would have been larger.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Mrs. Walter E. Burke of Adams street is to entertain the Junior Friday club at her home on Monday afternoon.

Atlantic people are taking considerable interest in the Dorothea Dix entertainment to be given at Music hall Atlantic, on Oct. 30, by the Atlantic members of the Civic committee of the Quincy Woman's club. The entire proceeds will be devoted to the improvement of the Atlantic Station environments.

Though the club women are beginning to realize that the management of a home requires executive ability of no mean order, and she is learning to employ the same scientific methods in house-keeping and child-rearing which are used by the man of business. The result is a happier home, healthier children, and a mother both happier and healthier. She is learning that running around with a dust cloth all day does not always conduce to the wholesome and happy living of the family, so much as a little energetic work for the pure food bill or on the forestry committee. The clubs of today are turning the attention of women more and more to a study of the things pertaining to the home and the community. No longer are clubs purely literary and social, as in former years. They have become more practical in their aims. In their arts and crafts committees they are teaching women how to beautify their homes. They are making an earnest study of the servant girl problem in the household economics department; also of what to eat and how to provide better sanitary conditions for the family. They include in their study, too, the public schools and the civic and industrial conditions of the community. All these things appeal powerfully to woman, when she realizes the importance of their connection with home life.

The club has revealed to her new responsibilities and given her fresh inspiration. Her endeavor to grasp and utilize all these new forces toward the fulfillment of her ideal, cannot but have a direct effect upon her own character. With these purposes before her she can no longer be petty and narrow and selfish. So I believe that the woman's club of today is giving woman a higher sense of honor and making her more reasonable and stronger and nobler in every way.—Florence Lee Whitman.

The Shakespeare club of Atlantic will hold its first meeting of the season on Thursday of this week with its president, Mrs. Ward Whitcher of Webster street. They will take up the study of Macbeth.

The New England Associate Alliance meets tomorrow (Thursday) in the Unitarian church at Manchester N. H., to which a cordial invitation has been extended to all branches in New England. Delegates will attend from the Quincy and Wollaston Alliances.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

Everything is active now at the club house of the Quincy Women's club. On Tuesday morning five different committees met there to discuss work and plans for the winter.

The Philanthropy and Educational committees gathered to hear an interesting account of the work of the juvenile court; the Civic and House committees to talk over improvement of the club house grounds and the art and literature committee for planning their future work.

The club meeting next Tuesday Oct. 22d will be at three o'clock and in charge of the Civic committee. The lecturer will be Mrs. Charles E. Cameron of Cambridge, who will speak on Heraldry. Dr. Brackett comes on Nov. 12th to speak on Philanthropy.

FIRST CHURCH ALLIANCE.

The season of 1907-8 of First Church Alliance opened most auspiciously on Monday afternoon with over fifty present at the meeting in the chapel. In the absence of Mrs. F. S. Davis, who has been president the past two years, Mrs. Wilson Marsh introduced the new president Mrs. George W. Morton who was very warmly greeted.

After the usual devotional exercises, reports were read by the secretary Mrs. E. B. Marsh. The several appeals for help from various Alliances were responded to.

Mrs. Morton announced a miscellaneous program for the afternoon and introduced Mr. Butler, pastor of the church, who told of the difference in the Unitarian churches in England and this country. In England the pastor is at the head, preacher, manager, etc., while in this country the pastor preaches and the parish committee and women's societies look after the management of the church.

Mrs. John W. Sanborn told of the New England Associate Alliance and its needs and work and of an interesting paper recently given on "How to interest young people in the church."

Mrs. William Nichols gave a few hints to Alliance workers and told of the work of the cheerful letter guild and how much a letter or magazine meant to a shut-in.

During the social half hour Mrs. Henry M. Faxon and Mrs. George E. Pfaffmann presided at the cocoa urns, being ably assisted in dispensing the hospitalities by members of the Alliance.

Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney will be the speaker at the next meeting on Oct. 28th, her subect being "Putting off the Evil Day."

NEIGHBORING.

By invitation of the Milton Woman's club the Massachusetts State Federation will meet in Milton at the Town hall on Saturday, Oct. 26. The general topic of the day will be "Education." At the morning session Miss Jane Brownlee will speak on "Moral Education of Children in Schools," and a discussion will follow. In the afternoon Dr. H. B. Frissell, principal of the Hampton Normal Institute, will speak on the "Hampton Idea of Industrial Training," and fine stereoptiocon views will illustrate the interesting work at Hampton. Miss Bertha Wesselhoeft Swift will sing. The yellow Federation tickts will be necessary for admission to the sessions, and may be obtained from club secretaries. Two white tickets have been sent each club for this meeting for the use of the appointed delegates, entitling them to reserved seats. Luncheon tickets at fifty cents each may be obtained from Mrs. Murray Ruggles, 25 School street, Milton, Mass., by sending an order with money enclosed, and addressed and stamped envelope for the return of the ticket. All orders must be sent on or before Monday, Oct. 21.

At its opening meeting the Reading Woman's club had an interesting display of the products of the Children's gardens, for which prizes were offered by the club. There was also a collection of compositions on garden subjects.

Somerville is discussing a federation of all the Somerville women's clubs.

Concord's Woman's club has outgrown the vestry of the Unitarian church, where it has met for six years, and this season is occupying the Town hall. It opened the season on Oct. 9th with a reception to its president.

John N. Cole of Andover, Speaker of the House of Representatives addressed the Current Events club of Hyde Park this morning on "The Anti-Merger Bill."

John Kendrick Bangs will give a reading from his works at the meeting of the Somerville Woman's club on Oct. 19th and a ladies quartet will sing.

The Old Colony club of South Weymouth observed its tenth anniversary on Oct. 10th. It was also the first meeting of the season. Mrs. Gordon Willis, president, gave an address of welcome, followed by several appropriate papers. The afternoon closed with music and a reception. On Oct. 24th, Col. Thomas Wentworth Higgingson will speak on "Reminiscences of Famous Men."

The New England Woman's Press club gives a reception this afternoon at hotel Vendome, Boston, in honor of Miss Katherine E. Conway editor of The Pilot. The reception will be at five followed at six by a high tea.

The Massachusetts society of the Daughters of 1812 are to observe their tenth anniversary on Monday in Sewall hall, Boston. Following the business and literary hour, with Mrs. Nelson V. Titus president, in the chair, there will be whist and afternoon tea. The society is to be congratulated on the good work done by it to preserve the old frigate "Constitution."

Valuables Stolen.

A dress suit case containing valuables belonging to Miss Helen McQuestin, a student at the Quincy Mansion school, was stolen from an express team in Boston on Tuesday. Later in the day two men were arrested by the police at South Boston having the dress suit case in their possession.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. Charles Howard and Mr. and Mrs. E. Z. Stanley of Field street desire to express their thanks to the many friends and neighbors who helped them in their recent bereavement, and especially to the employees of the Quincy E. L. & P. Co., whose kindly sympathy and generosity will be forever remembered.

A VIOLATION OF LAW

Southern Pacific Paid Rebates on Charges For Shipment

ADMITTED BY ITS OFFICERS

Regularly Organized System by Which Refund of Money In Rebates Aggregated About Half a Million Dollars During the Past Year

Washington, Oct. 16.—That rebates on charges for shipments of freight have been paid by at least one great railroad system since the enactment of the Hepburn rate act was ascertained definitely by Commissioner Lane of the interstate commerce commission on his recent trip to the Pacific coast. The offending line is the Southern Pacific, controlled and practically owned by Edward H. Harriman.

The evidence of this violation of the law was adduced at a hearing before Lane, acting for the commission, in San Francisco. It was developed that some of the rebates had been paid on interstate shipments of freight, but that the bulk of them were paid on interstate shipments. It was admitted by officers of the company on the witness stand that the Southern Pacific had a regularly organized rebating system, covering state business from one end of California to the other.

Although the company's counsel resisted Lane's demand for the books showing the character and extent of the rebating, they finally were produced. The disclosures from them settled the matter definitely. The evidence showed that the refund of money in rebates during the past year aggregated about $500,000. Many of the items on which rebates were paid were interstate shipments.

It was disclosed, too, that the company had what is known as "inside rates," that is, rates which are less than the regular published tariff rate intended for the use of the general public. These "inside rates" were given by the Southern Pacific to favored shippers.

Commissioner Lane, just returned from California, has not submitted yet his report to the interstate commerce commission, but last evening he authorized a statement bearing upon his investigations, saying in part:

"The hearing in California demonstrates beyond all question the necessity for regulation; for the railroads will not, or cannot, without the help of prohibitory legislation, make and enforce uniform rates to all shippers. It is not true that all rebating upon interstate shipments has been stopped. The old method of giving a direct return of a portion of the rate has been abandoned very generally, but the railroads themselves will grow in time to see the wisdom and the benefit coming to them from the strict enforcement of the law."

Mr. Lane said that no facts were developed at any of the hearings on the Pacific coast connecting Harriman with any knowledge of rebates given by his subordinates.

Queen's Letters Made Public

London, Oct. 16.—The London papers publish elaborate extracts from "The Letters of Queen Victoria," which make their appearance today by authority of King Edward. These letters form an interesting autobiography which, without revealing any important political matters not already known, present a deeply absorbing picture of the queen's life and character from her own hands.

Railroad Telegraphers May Strike

New York, Oct. 16.—Chairman Russell of the strategy board of the striking telegraphers says that the convention of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, which meets on Oct. 23, will endeavor to bring about a strike of railroad telegraphers in support of the commercial men.

Says Killing Mother Was Accident

Kansas City, Oct. 16.—George Smiley, aged 17, shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Lizzie Scholfer, aged 42 years, in her home here. Smiley told the police he shot his mother in defending her against a burglar. He is being held pending investigation.

Francis Joseph's Sickness

Vienna, Oct. 16.—According to the most trustworthy information, the condition of Emperor Francis Joseph is no better, but he has not grown worse. The fever has returned to a moderate extent, but in spite of this the patient remains in good spirits.

Ready For Wireless Business

Glace Bay, N. S., Oct. 16.—William Marconi announces that the office here and at the European terminal at Cliffden, Ire., will be ready for the reception of trans-Atlantic wireless messages under commercial conditions tomorrow.

Record Crop of Apples

Halifax, Oct. 16.—Reports from the Annapolis valley indicate that this year's apple crop will approximate 700,000 barrels. This is the largest yield on record here.

Telegraphers Tired of Strike

Washington, Oct. 16.—Nine striking telegraphers, formerly in the employ of the Western Union, yesterday applied for reinstatement. Six of the applicants were taken back.

Second Night Of the Carnival

There was another large attendance Tuesday at the second night of the Elks Carnival at the Coliseum. Many of these were presons who would liked to have attended the opening night but were unable to do so. They were equally as well pleased with the decorations as were those who saw them for the first night. The excitement of the first night was over and everything is in good working order.

In addition to being a carival for the sale of articles, it is a carnival of instruction for there are many things of an instructive nature to see.

The entertainment of Tuesday night was by Rockett's orchestra. They were assisted by the Riverside male quartette, and between the two there was a concert that was well worth the price of admission.

All of the sales booths reported a good night's business, and although the expenses of the carnival will run up into the thousands of dollars it is at this early date safe to say it will be a financial success.

Tonight the attraction will be the Salem Cadet band again. A fine musical program has been arranged which includes cornet solos by Nelson Bernier, tenor solos by Martin Sherry, and soprano solos by Miss H. Gavin.

Less Crime The Past Year

Probation Officer Francis A. Spear reports that the total number of criminal cases brought before the District court for the year ending Sept. 30, 1907, was 1850, to which should be added 179 delinquent and juvenile cases, making a total of 2027 against 2168 for the corresponding period last year, a decrease of 141.

Of the adult cases, 176 were for assaults of various kinds, 33 for disturbance on public conveyances, 44 for disturbing the peace, 857 for drunkenness, 99 for larceny, 30 for non support, 23 for threats, 13 for tramps, 32 for violation of automobile laws, 27 for violation of bylaws, 20 for violation of fish and game laws, 66 for violation of the Lord's Day act, 69 for violation of park rules, 33 for search for stolen goods, 72 for search for liquor, 14 for liquor nuisance, 29 for illegal keeping and exposing liquor, 18 for sale of liquor; 2 for illegal transportation of liquor and 1 for soliciting sale of liquor.

The total adult cases by months for the year were:—October, 230; November, 175; December, 111; January, 103; February, 90; March, 147; April, 148; May, 180; June, 162; July, 214; August, 139; September, 151; total 1850.

Several Republican nomination papers have been taken out for signatures, both for Mayor and Councilmen.

Majestic Webster.

Theodore Parker gave the following graphic description of Daniel Webster in the famous three hour sermon preached soon after Webster's death:

He was a man of large mold, a great body and a great brain. He seemed made to last a hundred years. Since Socrates there has seldom been a head so massively large save the stormy features of Michael Angelo. Since Charlemagne I think there has not been such a grand figure in all Christendom. A large man, decorous in dress, dignified in deportment, he walked as if he felt himself a king. The coal heavers and porters of London looked on him as one of the great forces of the globe. They recognized a native king. In the senate of the United States he looked an emperor in that council. Even the majestic Calhoun seemed common compared with him. Clay looked vulgar and Van Buren but a fox. What a mouth he had! It was a lion's mouth, yet there was a sweet grandeur in the smile and a woman's softness when he would. What a brow it was! What eyes—like charcoal fires in the bottom of a deep, dark well! His face was rugged with volcanic fires—great passions and great thoughts. "The front of Jove himself; an eye like Mars, to threaten and command."

Came Near It.

Wit and humor are such elemental, fundamental things that it has always been found difficult to analyze them. Upon some points, however, those who have essayed this puzzling task agree, for they all hold that wit is an intellectual, humor an emotional, quality; that wit is a perception of resemblance and humor a perception of contrast, of discrepancy, of incongruity. The incongruity is that which arises between the ideal and the fact, between theory and practice, between promise and performance, and perhaps it might be added that it is always or almost always a moral incongruity. In the case both of wit and humor there is also a pleasurable surprise, a gentle shock which accompanies our perception of the hitherto unsuspected resemblance or incongruity. A New England farmer was once describing in the presence of a very humane person the great age and debility of a horse that he formerly owned and used. "You ought to have killed him," interrupted the humane person indignantly. "Well," drawled the farmer, "we did—almost."—Atlantic.

A Strenuous Statesman.

In his "Eclipse and O'Kelly" Theodore Andrea Cook tells a story of the English statesman and sport Fox. He had wagered something about a waistcoat which could only be obtained in Paris; went off to Dover by night, caught the mail packet, posted to Paris and back to Calais, and remembered he had a horse racing at Newmarket. He chartered a fishing boat bound for the eastern counties, just got to Newmarket in time for the race, took the post back to London and stopped on the way to dine. In the middle of the port and dice after dinner he was caught by a special messenger who had been tearing over half of England in search of him and reminded that he had to move to bring in a marriage bill in the house of commons. He rushed to the stables, reached the house in time to make a brilliant speech in reply to North and Burke and defeated North on a division by a single vote.

Two Brothers Killed by Gas

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 14.—Giacchino Ruocco is dead, being the second victim of poisoning by inhaling gas at the home of his brother, Dominic Ruocco, on Saturday. Three men were overcome at the time, Salvatore Ruocco, another brother, dying a few hours later. The third man recovered.

Big Demonstration.

Interest in the two free demonstrations at the furniture store of W. G. Shaw is in no way abated. In fact it is on the increase for more people visited the store Tuesday than on the opening day.

Free presents are given to every man and woman calling at the store this week. These include maps of the city of Quincy, boxes of good things to eat baked in one of the famous Stewart ranges at the store and your initials worked in colored silk on the Domestic sewing machines.

A good stove and a good sewing machine are indispensable articles in every home and here is an opportunity to get one on credit and enjoy its use while paying for it. One dollar down places a stove or a range in your house and a small weekly payment soon does the rest.

Attendance Increases At Elks Carnival

Wednesday night there was another large crowd at the Elks' Carnival at the Coliseum. If anything the crowd was even larger than on the first two nights. Many of those present had been present on the other nights, but there was a very large number who saw the beautiful decorations for the first time. They like others were enthusiastic in their exclamations of delight at the arrangement of the booth, and of the untiring efforts of the various committees to make all feel at home and enjoy themselves.

The tent of the witch of Wall street has become so popular a resort that it was found necessary to have two tents so that hereafter those who desire to see into the future will not have to wait.

It is said that paramount question visitors to these tents wish answered is if they are to be the lucky person who gets that dandy power boat or elegant sweet toned piano. Someone is to be made happy with these, and someone is to carry home those barrels of flour, bags of charcoal, gas stove and pieces of furniture as well as numerous other articles that are offered.

The children are looking forward to Saturday for the afternoon of that day is to be for them. Elks always look after the children, andon Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 and 4.30 all children will be admitted free of charge. This of course means that thousands of youngsters will be present. A special entertainment for their benefit will be given.

Tonight special cars and automobiles without number have been chartered to bring large parties from Hingham and Nantasket.

The entertainment Wednesday night was by the Salem Cadet band, with selections by the Winthrop Male quartette, tenor solos by Martin Sherry, and soprano solos by Miss H. Gavin.

On Default Warrant.

Inspector McKay left Wednesday night for Schenectady, N. Y., to bring back T. J. Fitzgerald, who has been arrested in that city for the Quincy police. Fitzgerald formerly lived in Quincy and was employed as a lineman for the Telephone company.

He was put into court for the larceny of personal property and the case was continued until August. When the case was called he did not answer, having skipped to pastures new. A default warrant was issued and it is upon this that he was arrested. Fitzgerald is also wanted for the larceny of a diamond ring from T. L. Williams.

Loss $500.

Minot Savage of South Quincy mourns the loss of a horse and wagon and a load of goods, all valued at $500, which was stolen from him in Boston on Wednesday. He went to Boston for a load of goods. Backing his team up to the sidewalk in front of a store he went inside. Coming out a few minutes later he was surprised to find his team gone. The police were notified but no clue of it could be found.

KNOT BETTER

The Everett Shows Speed And Fills All Requirements

The collier Everett built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company had her builders' trial Wednesday and realized the expectations of her designers and constructors by developing a speed of twelve and twelve one-hundredths knots and demonstrating in every way her capabilities for the business in which she will be engaged.

The ship was built for good hard service rather than for speed but the fact that she did a knot and a fraction better than her contract called for was very gratifying to her builders.

It was half past six when port Capt. Evans of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, who was in command of the vessel, backed her away from the dock. Safely negotiating the narrow channel and the draw-bridge in the river the Everett headed out into Boston harbor and the first vessel to salute her was the turbine Steamer Yale hurrying into Boston on her trip from New York.

The Everett was abeam of Boston Lightship at exactly 7.54 o'clock and the test was on. Her contract called for an average speed of eleven knots an hour for four hours, the ship to be loaded with three hundred tons of bunker coal, twenty-five tons of fresh water and stores, and all water ballast tanks filled. Under these conditions the test began, the total weight of the water ballast being three thousand and thirty tons. She drew twelve feet one and one-half inches forward and eighteen feet nine and one-half inches aft.

The morning was cool with a fresh breeze from the northwest. Capt. Evans lay his course north-east and the ship moved steadily through the water toward the whistling buoy off Thatcher's island, a distance of twentyand three-eighths miles.

When she reached Thatcher's island buoy the chronometers were watched and the time taken, and it was seen that the vessel had developed a speed of 12.12 knots, a most gratifying showing. The ship kept on her course until off the Salvages, when Capt. Evans turned and made a letter S, showing the great ease with which the vessel can be steered. The return over the course was begun at the Thatcher's island buoy at 10.06 o'clock and was finished at Boston Lightship at 11.49 o'clock, and on this run she developed a speed of eleven and eight-tenths knots.

Her average main steam pressure for the four hour run was 160 pounds and the average revolutions per minute of the main engine for the four hour run was 70.7.

After completing this run the ship slowed down off Boston Light and her two anchors were lowered and hoisted. On the starboard anchor thirty fathoms of chain cable were taken in by the big winch in seven minutes and five seconds.

The top side ballast tanks ten in number were also emptied and the time consumed was exactly forty minutes.

The Everett reached the yard of the Fore River Company at 2.35 P. M., her siren whistle screeching the message to the men in the yard that the ship had done all that was expected of her. President F. T. Bowles of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company said: "It was a very satisfactory trial. The ship has given every evidence of an ample margin of speed over and above the contract."

The engine room force on this trial was made up entirely of Fore River men under the supervision of Chief Engineer Edwards and Engineer Paige. On board the vessel were: President Bowles, Electrical Engineer Crain of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company; Marine Superintendent Skentelbery of the Massachusetts Steamship Company and Messrs. Linden Stuart and John R. Middleton of his staff; Miles M. Erb, chief engineer of the powerhouse, and James Lyman, chief engineer of coal operating machinery of the N. E. Gas & Coke Company; Capt. W. E. Hadlock, the compass adjuster; Capt. W. M. Smith and Capt. A. Abbott, who will command the Malden and Melrose, sister ships of the Everett; and the following officers who will be on the Everett when she goes into service: Captain, P. Frostead; 1st. Officer, A. McGray; 2nd. Officer, E. H. Holland; 3d. Officer, A. H. Anthony; Chief Engineer, A. Mearns; 1st. Asst. W. K. Queen; Chief Steward, Philip Harris.

The Everett's official number is 204579 and her code signal is K. W. H. T.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

The navy department has accepted from the Electric Boat Company of New York the submarine torpedo boats Cuttlefish and Viper, both of which were built at Fore River. These two, with the Octopus and Tarantula, which are now being overhauled at the Fore River shipyard, will form the second submarine flotilla, under command of Lieut. Charles E. Courtney.

Clancy Kidds.

The play of "Clancy Kids" and a candy sale were the attractions Wednesday evening at the Bethany church chapel by the Rekrous for the benefit of the Floating Hospital.

In the cast were Lulu Hadden, Annie Laing, Marion Mitchell, Ella Morrison, Claud Bergfors, Marjorie Taber, Florence Farquhar, Helen Damon, Dora Smith, Ruby Hudson, Annie Jones, Kittie Laing, Helen Mitchell and Helen Johnson.

In addition, there were piano solos by Maude Pearl Craig, and violin solos by Grace Marion Wood.

Over 7000 Now Enrolled And Ward Four Is Leading

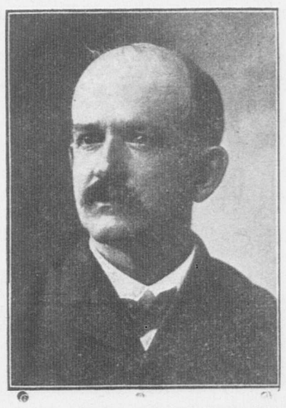
Charles H. Johnson has just completed the annual school census of the city which is now taken in September, and finds a grand total of 7258 children who are over five years of age and under fifteen years, divided as follows.

| | WARDS | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| | I | II | III | IV | V | VI |
| Age 5 | 72 | 90 | 189 | 161 | 59 | 58 |
| Age 6 | 106 | 118 | 182 | 192 | 85 | 101 |
| Age 7 | 119 | 116 | 189 | 184 | 75 | 135 |
| Age 8 | 100 | 104 | 164 | 159 | 93 | 109 |
| Age 9 | 100 | 113 | 180 | 151 | 81 | 91 |
| Age 10 | 101 | 101 | 153 | 174 | 90 | 88 |
| Age 11 | 106 | 93 | 154 | 175 | 97 | 103 |
| Age 12 | 97 | 98 | 155 | 144 | 91 | 80 |
| Age 13 | 105 | 100 | 147 | 172 | 76 | 96 |
| Age 14 | 126 | 96 | 167 | 175 | 106 | 116 |
| | 1032 | 1029 | 1680 | 1687 | 853 | 977 |

The total of 7258 is a net increase of 356 over a year ago. Every ward with the exception of Ward Three (the South Quincy ward) shows a gain. The largest increase was in Ward One, due partly to the fact that there are more families who live at Houghs Neck the year round. The Atlantic ward was second in gain, and is leaving the Wollaston ward away behind.

For a year Ward Three was the banner ward, but that honor has usually gone to Ward Four, and West Quincy is again in the lead by a margin of seven. The total of Ward Four is 1687 and for Ward Three 1680.

Wards One, Two and Six are now in a class by themselves with totals of 1032, 1029 and 977, a remarkably close race. While the Wollaston ward is in last place there is no danger of race suicide there.



CHARLES H. JOHNSON,
the Census Taker.

The totals by wards are compared below:

| | 1907. | 1906. | 1905. | 1900. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Ward One, | 1032 | 880 | 915 | 633 |
| Ward Two, | 1029 | 954 | 853 | 586 |
| Ward Three, | 1680 | 1734 | 1420 | 1183 |
| Ward Four, | 1687 | 1633 | 1483 | 1457 |
| Ward Five, | 835 | 817 | 769 | 770 |
| Ward Six, | 977 | 884 | 846 | 470 |
| Total | 7,258 | 6,902 | 6,286 | 5,099 |

The increases by wards for one year and seven years were as follows, Ward Six making the biggest gain in seven years:

| | One Year. | Seven Years. |
|---|---|---|
| Ward One, | 152 | 399 |
| Ward Two, | 75 | 443 |
| Ward Three, | *54 | 497 |
| Ward Four, | 54 | 230 |
| Ward Five, | 36 | 65 |
| Ward Six, | 93 | 507 |
| | 356 | 2157 |

* Loss

Ward Four has the largest number of 6 year old children, also 10 year old, 11 year old, 13 year old, and 14 year old.

Ward Three has the largest number of 5 year old children, also 7 year old, 8 years old, 9 year old, and 12 year old.

In Ward One those of 7 years predominate; in Ward Two, 6 years; in Ward Three, 5 and 7 years; in Ward Four 6 years; in Ward Five, 14 years; in Ward Six, 7 years.

Royal Send Off For Newly Weds

Mr. Robert P. Sullivan of Quincy and Miss Mollie E. Callahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Callahan of East Milton, who were united in marriage Wednesday evening, were given a right royal "send off" by the Iroquois club of which Mr. Sullivan is a member.

The ceremony took place at St. Mary's church at 7. 30, the ceremony being performed by Rev. William J. Duffy. Miss Katherine E. Byrne of East Milton was the bridesmaid and Mr. Leo T. Ford of Quincy the best man. The ushers were Leo Elcock, Daniel Driscoll, Davis MacIntosh and William A. Carey all of Quincy.

The bride was becomingly gowned in white liberty silk trimmed with val lace, en train, while the bridesmaid wore light blue silk with torchon trimmings.

A reception followed the ceremony at Colonial hall which was very prettily decorated, blue and white the colors of the Iroquois club predominating.

A closed carriage had been provided to convey the wedding party from the church to the hall, but the club members had made different arrangement. As the bridal party left the church they were seized upon bodily and placed in an open carriage. Guards occupied seats carrying large transparencies giving information to the world that the occupants had just been married. In addition to this members of the club formed on either side of the carriage and a line of march was taken to City Square.

All the way down there were constant cheers and the procession was made more conspicuous by the light of red fire, quantities of which was burned. Arriving at City Square they were escorted around the fountain and thence to the hall. Here the club members were assembled and they were cheered to the echo. Then came the reception the bridal party being assisted in receiving by the best man and the bridesmaid.

Following the reception there was dancing, and a wedding supper was served. Shortly before midnight with more cheers, Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan took their departure for a trip to Jamestown.

Mr. and Mrs. Sulivan received many handsome gifts from their large circle of friends.

Surprise Party.

Miss Annie Foy, a popular South Quincy young lady, was tendered a surprise party Wednesday evening at her home on Quincy street my a number of her friends. Games, music and refreshments made the evening pass pleasantly. During the evening William J. Shea in behalf of those present presented Miss Foy with a gold signet ring.

BARTLETT INNINGS

Some Important Points Are Scored Against Whitney

COMMISSION CHANGES MIND

Will Not Consider Preferences of Men Who Were Not Able to Get Into Convention--Some Testimony Suffers In Cross-Examination

Boston, Oct. 17.—The supporters of the aspirations of Charles W. Bartlett, one of the nominees for governor at the recent Democratic state convention at Springfield, had their innings before the ballot law commission and scored a number of important points in the contest against the other nominee, Henry M. Whitney.

At the outset yesterday the Bartlett side won a victory when the commission reversed its decision of Tuesday on the question of the introduction of affidavits from alleged Whitney delegates, who were unable to get into the convention, by striking out that portion which gave their preferences for governor.

This was followed by the testimony of a long array of Bartlett witnesses, which reached nearly a score before the hearing was adjourned late last evening. Nine of the witnesses were lawyers, five others were policemen who attended the convention, while three more were ardent supporters of Bartlett.

Nearly all were familiar with Democratic conventions and they were, as a rule, unanimous in claiming that there was very little difficulty in getting into the theatre, that the exchange of credentials for tickets was not unusual in former conventions, and that the opening proceedings were conducted in a fair manner, all of which was in direct contradiction to the testimony of the opposing witnesses. They also declared that the Bartlett convention was conducted in an orderly manner, but that the proceedings were interrupted by Whitney followers armed with megaphones, and that less than 100 participated in the so-called Whitney convention.

Some of the testimony, especially that of Chairman Feeney of the state committee, who called the convention to order and announced the election of Kiley as temporary chairman, as well as that of George F. Williams, suffered somewhat from the cross-examination by the Whitney counsel, and both admitted that the method of exchanging credentials on the morning of the convention was unusual.

The Bartlett side was somewhat disconcerted by the testimony at the evening session of W. F. Aiken of Greenfield, a brother of the chief justice of the superior court, who, although called by the Bartlett lawyers, corroborated the Whitney claims to a great degree.

The commission held three sessions yesterday, and announced that it would sit today until the case was finished.

Investigating Coal Prices

Boston, Oct. 17.—District Attorney Moran began an investigation yesterday of the recent advance in the prices of anthracite coal made by several dealers of Boston. He sent for Alderman Woods of Brighton, who is connected with the Brighton Coal company. Woods, it is claimed, made a statement to the effect that there was no reason why the price of coal should be advanced 25 cents a ton.

Skilled Mechanics Wanted

Washington, Oct. 17.—The situation at the Pacific coast naval stations and yards is such that some means must be found to secure additional skilled mechanics, for not only is there insufficient labor to put the battleships in order when the fleet arrives on the coast, but there is actually not sufficient force to keep up with the demands for current repairs of the ships now on the station.

Root Party Homeward Bound

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 17.—Secretary Root and party arrived in San Antonio yesterday afternoon and after a stopover of 20 minutes the train left for the northward journey. The Root party is taking home hundreds of gifts from Mexico, and among them is a handsome pottery vase for President Roosevelt.

Emperor's Cough Hangs On

Vienna, Oct. 17.—The condition of Emperor Francis Joseph was favorable all day yesterday until evening, when a slight increase in his temperature again was recorded and he complained of accompanying fatigue. The catarrh is stationary, but the cough continues and is rather violent.

Churches May Amalgamate

Cleveland, Oct. 17.—The triennial council of the Congregational church, in session here, by a unanimous vote adopted the report of the committee of 28 on the proposed amalgamation of the Congregationalists, Methodist Protestants and United Brethren churches.

High Pressure at Navy Yard

New York, Oct. 17.—Acting on orders from the navy department, a double shift of men are working night and day at the Brooklyn navy yard to rush the repairs to the Atlantic fleet in preparation for the cruise to the Pacific. Four battleships are now in the yard.

THE CANADIAN FUR STORE

Canadian Furs at Canadian Prices.

The high quality of Canadian Furs is well known to Americans. A custom's duty of 35 per cent prevents Americans who do not visit Canada from buying Furs there.

Our American house, 167 Tremont Street, Boston, will interest American buyers of Canadian furs. Here we receive our supply of raw skins from our own Canadian houses where they are collected direct from the trappers and admitted to the United States duty free in the undressed state.

All garments for our American business are manufactured by skilled American designers and finishers, and in selling direct to the wearer we eliminate intermediate profits.

Owing to its rigorous climate Canada produces the finest furs known to commerce. Silver Fox, Hudson Bay Sable, Mink, Otter, etc., are seen at their best. In dealing direct with us you secure the advantages that flow from a large and influential business following in our own stores in four Canadian cities, and a feeling of security and reliability that is always present when dealing with a house whose reputation has been merited by a constantly increasing patronage extending over a period of forty-two years, and whose products have been awarded five gold medals in different Canadian Expositions.

In comparing prices remember that quality is of first importance. Canadian Furs average 35 to 50 per cent higher grade than those of more temperate climates, because nature produces the quality; the furriers make only the garment, and the dyer's art can make a southern mink to imitate the Canadian article. To insure reliability and value, buy Canadian Furs from Canadian furriers.

ANOTHER BIG SLUMP

A Break In Stocks of Almost Panic Proportions

COPPERS ALL OFF SHARPLY

Suspension of Firm Known as the Principal Brokers of the Heinze Interests Added to the Turmoil--Bought Stocks That Were Refused

New York, Oct. 17.—Trading in both the New York Stock Exchange and the curb stock market was in a turmoil yesterday as a result of excited movements and violent declines in the price of United Copper stocks in the latter market. The suspension of the firm of Gross & Kleeberg, members of the New York Stock Exchange, contributed materially to the declines in both markets. This firm has been trading actively in United Copper stock and it was reported that they were members of a pool formed to support the price of the stock.

Apparently there was a break in this pool Tuesday, as the result of which the common stock broke from $59 to $36 a share and the transfer agent of the company declined to record the transfer of a block of 16,930 shares which, he said, had been sold in violation of the rights of parties having some interest in it.

It was reported that Gross & Kleeberg, acting for the interests identified with F. Augustus Heinze, had bought in some of this stock, and that the Heinze interests refused to accept the stock because of the manner in which it had been placed in the market.

United Copper common, which closed at $36 Tuesday, opened at $25 yesterday, and during the excitement of the afternoon went as low as $10, from which it recovered to $15 before the close. The preferred stock, which, before yesterday, had been quoted last at $74, reached the low point of $24 for the day. Trading in these stocks was confined to the curb market.

Evidences of active liquidation in the New York Stock Exchange appeared in the closing hour of the market and was attributed to heavy selling by interests which had suffered in the copper movement in the curb market. Active stocks declined at the rate of a point per sale until net losses ranged from 2½ to 7½ points.

The copper stocks were seriously affected. American Smelting and Refining losing 5 1-4 points for the day and Amalgamated 2 7-8, the latter stock dropping to 49 and closing at 50 3-8. This was accompanied by rumors of unfavorable action on the dividend. Missouri Pacific, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific and St. Paul showed net losses of 5 3-4 to 2 7-8 points. A rally set in before the close of the market on the belief that the effect of the failure had been discounted.

The Gross & Kleeberg Failure

New York, Oct. 17.—Following the collapse in United Copper, the Stock Exchange firm of Gross & Kleeberg, known in the street as the principal brokers of the Heinze interests, suspended. No statement of the condition of the firm's affairs has been made, and the only authorized explanation of the failure was the remark of a representative of the house that its troubles were due to the repudiation of orders by customers.

The suspension was announced on the floor of the exchange just before the close of trading and after violent declines in the metals and affiliated stocks had been checked by the appearance of some buying orders.

Gross & Kleeberg have been credited with managing a pool formed for the purpose of supporting the Heinze group. They bought heavily of copper in the face of the sensational break Tuesday and continued their purchases in the falling market yesterday.

"We bought a lot of copper stocks for the Heinze people," said the representative of the firm, "and when we came to deliver it they refused to accept it. As a consequence the firm was forced to suspend. The assignment was general and for the benefit of creditors."

The firm of Gross & Kleeberg was organized on Dec. 31, 1904. It consisted of Albert H. Gross, who was the floor member of the firm, and Philip Kleeberg. Gross has been a member of the Stock Exchange since November, 1904.

Not only did the firm do a rather large business on the floor of the Stock Exchange, but it also operated quite extensively on the curb market. During the campaign of the past few days in United Copper shares, the copper company of which F. Augustus Heinze is president, Gross and Kleeberg did much business in these issues. The shares of the United Copper company are dealt in on the curb market, not being listed on the Stock Exchange.

Must Have People's Confidence

Atlantic City, Oct. 17.—The annual convention of the American Railway association has begun here. In his annual report President Beggs of the association declared that politicians who attack corporations to impress their constituents threaten ruin to many of the street railways of the country. He urged the members of the association to take the people into the confidence of railway officials as a means of meeting the danger.

Ralston Health Shoes

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it!

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

AXE OUT FOR DRAPER

Candidacy of Lieutenant Governor Condemned by Union Men

Milford, Mass., Oct. 17.—The state branch of the American Federation of Labor elected officers and adopted resolutions condemning the candidacy of Lieutenant Governor Draper of Hopedale for re-election, on the ground that he is an enemy of organized labor.

The convention, in acting on the evidence which was presented in the Draper case, recommended that President Gompers revoke the commission of F. R. Gordon, special national organizer of the Federation of Labor, and passed a vote of censure upon C. H. Winslow, formerly first vice president of the state branch. It is claimed that these men had not made satisfactory reports of their investigations of labor conditions at Hopedale to the Lawrence convention last year. The following resolution regarding Draper was adopted:

"That we condemn Lieutenant Governor Eben S. Draper and his attitude towards organized labor at Hopedale, where he discriminates against union labor, and from which town he drove out the union machinists and union iron moulders, and we call on organized labor to exercise itself in an effort to defeat his candidacy for the office of lieutenant governor."

New Place For Lovering

Boston, Oct. 17.—Colonel Henry Lovering, sealer of weights and measures, was appointed deputy soldiers' relief commissioner yesterday by Mayor Fitzgerald at a salary of $2000 a year. Thomas A. Mullen was named acting sealer of weights and measures. Lovering's resignation was presented some time ago, after an investigation of his department by the finance commission. Lovering is a Civil war veteran, was formerly mayor of Lynn, and was at one time candidate for governor of the state.

Stunt of Army Officers

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 17.—Thirty-seven army officers from various forts took part in a 15-mile horseback ride under the test ordered by President Roosevelt for officers attached to the department of the east. No accidents happened during the ride and there were no unusual incidents, all the riders reaching Fort Ethan Allen in fairly good condition.

What Searchlight Might Do

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 17.—A plan has been suggested whereby a powerful modern searchlight could be installed at the Isles of Shoals, off the Maine coast. Captain Manning, U. S. N., retired, states that with modern equipment, the searchlight could be made to work with a radius reaching from Eastport, Me., to the tip of Cape Cod.

City Marshal Out For Good

Boston, Oct. 17.—George M. Stebbins, formerly city marshal of Springfield, has lost his suit against the police commission. He sought to have the body reinstate him in his position. The full bench of the supreme court holds that the police commissioner had full power to discharge Stebbins without a hearing, which they did last July.

Voters Apparently Lack Interest

Boston, Oct. 17.—Registration for the state election, which closed at the office of the election commissioners at 10 o'clock last night, showed that there are 110,881 voters in Boston this year as against 112,077 last year, a falling off of 1196. The falling off in the registration is attributed to the lack of interest taken in the state fight.

Women Hurt In Auto Crash

Barrington, R. I., Oct. 17.—Three persons were injured, two seriously, in a collision between an automobile and a trolley car here. Miss Laura Maguire of Fall River sustained a compound fracture of the skull and may die. Her mother was injured internally. Mrs. John T. Campbell escaped with a bruised shoulder.

Took Overdose of Morphine

Providence, Oct. 17.—A man believed to be Rudolph F. Stahl of Boston was found at the point of death, probably from an overdose of morphine, at the Newman hotel here and was taken to a hospital, where he later died. Nothing is known of him here, except that he appeared at the hotel and registered as R. F. Stone.

Killed by Fall From Cart

West Sutton, Mass., Oct. 17.—Bertram D. Adams, 36, a butcher, was killed here by being thrown from his cart. Adams' horses became unmanageable at the top of a hill and started down at a fast clip, throwing the driver out. It is believed the cart struck rocks in the road, throwing it to one side.

Trousers to Bear Union Label

Providence, Oct. 17.—That the working man will wear the union label on the back portion of his trousers, if a less prominent place cannot be found for it, was a resolution adopted at the convention of the United Textile Workers of America in this city.

Acceptance of Submarines

Newport, R. I., Oct. 17.—The navy department has accepted from the Electric Boat company of New York the submarine torpedo boats Cuttlefish and Viper, both of which vessels are now at this port.

AN ELABORATE DEFENSE

Standard Oil Declared to Have a Great Batch of Evidence

New York, Oct. 17.—Counsel for the Standard Oil company have prepared an elaborate defense in the government's suit for dissolution of the oil combine, which they say will be developed in its entirety when the government's attorneys have concluded taking their testimony.

The Standard's lawyers said yesterday that they had not sought to adduce testimony on cross-examination of officials and employes of the so-called oil trust which would refute the allegations made in the federal complaint, but had deferred bringing out much evidence until later, when it could be produced continuously and in bulk. No intimation was given of the nature of the testimony which counsel for the Standard said would be brought out.

A telegram was sent to William G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, by counsel of the Standard, that the government desired him as a witness before the adjournment is taken on next Friday for a month.

Frank B. Kellogg, counsel for the United States, spent the entire day in placing on the record statements submitted by several witnesses showing the profits made by the Standard in various localities of the country. Statements were also produced showing that the Standard not only secured information concerning competitive shipments in the United States, but in foreign countries.

Wanted Organ Used at Grave

Milford, Mass., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Harriet Smith, aged 83, who died last Sunday, wanted the last sad rites at the grave softened. In her will the woman stated: "I wish the last rites at my grave, which are usually extremely sad, be made as cheerful and buoyant as possible. I therefore direct that my parlor organ be used in the cemetery to accompany the vocal music I desire to be rendered." The will was executed Jan. 4, 1884. The parlor organ referred to in the will was not used at the grave because it was disposed of several years ago.

Filipinos Not Yet Fit to Govern

Manila, Oct. 17.—Secretary Taft formally opened the Philippine assembly here yesterday. In his opening address, Taft declared that his views announced two years ago regarding the independence of the Philippine people were unchanged. He did not believe that they would be fitted to govern themselves for at least a generation. The secretary denied that the United States had any intention of disposing of the islands. He refrained from making any specific suggestion regarding legislation on the part of the Philippine assembly.

Cannot Remain In America

Washington, Oct. 17.—Commissioner General Sargent of the immigration bureau has ordered the deportation of Lizzie Rocks and Annie McGrogain, aged 18, to their home in Scotland. The girls were held up at Boston, as they were entering the country in violation of the alien contract labor law. They admitted they had been engaged to work in a thread factory.

Directors Not Voted For

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The meeting of the Illinois Central stockholders, called at noon yesterday, was finally adjourned late in the afternoon until today. No vote on the directors was taken. The delay was caused by the inability of three election inspectors who were appointed to act as a committee on credentials, in considering the proxies, to finish their work.

Arrest of Eloping Husband

Hot Springs, Ark., Oct. 17.—Daniel B. Brennan, Jr., who secretly married Miss Lilly Ammerman, said to be a niece of Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer of St. Louis, was arrested here and will be held pending the arrival of Brennan's father. The reason for the arrest has not been made public here.

Prince Takes First Train Ride

Seoul, Oct. 17.—The Emperor and Crown Prince of Korea left Seoul for Chemulpo yesterday afternoon. This was the first time the Crown Prince of Korea had ever ridden on a railroad train and he showed a child-like interest in the proceeding.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

The City Council Committee on Finance will meet tonight.

Charles H. Burgess is confined to his home on Whitney road by illness.

The lost dog of Brooks Adams was found on Blue Hill avenue, Milton.

A special car carried a party of Wollaston Masons to Campello to attend the annual visitation.

The engagement is announced of Miss Elizabeth W. Klingenhagen to Mr. Leonard L. Titus, both of Wollaston.

A series of weekly whist tournments will be held every Wednesday evening the coming winter at the rooms of the Granite City club commencing next Wednesday evening.

Dr. William Everett sailed for England on Tuesday by the Steamship Ivernia. He will lecture at Oxford on the orators of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries.

Mrs. Maria Freeman of Portland, Maine, and Mrs. Jessie Newcomb and Mrs. Edwin Freeman of Somerville were the guests on Tuesday, of Mrs. E. A. Snow of West Elm avenue.

Theta Sigma club of the Downs, will enjoy "Sky Farm" as played at the Boston theatre on Friday evening, instead of meeting in their club rooms as is their custom.

The hightest temperature this month has been 68. For the past eleven years the maximum has ranged between 71 and 85, so that the temperature this month is averaging lower than usual in October.

J. H. Welch and family of Botolph street are to take up their residence in one of the suburbs of Boston later in the month. Mr. Welch was formerly proprietor of the Hannaford Drug Co., of Atlantic.

Friday evening, Nov. 22, is the date for the grand ball to be given by the Quincy Firemens Relief Association at Quincy Music hall. Tickets have been issued.

The date of the annual concert and ball of the Quincy Letter Carriers Relief Association has been changed to Wednesday, Nov. 13, at Quincy Music hall.

The dancing class held by Mr. Baker in Quincy Music Hall Wednesday evening had a very satisfactory opening, upwards of 50 pupils joining the first night. The class is held every week and pupils can join at any time.

The Ladies' Benevolent society of Memorial Congregational church, Atlantic, held its annual Harvest supper in the church vestry on Wednesday evening. An excellent attendance did justice to the bountiful provision of seasonable viands.

Quincy Man A Delegate

Brooks Adams of this city has been delegated by Gov. Guild to represent Massachusetts with 14 others at the "National Conference on Trusts and Combinations."

The aim is to discuss the construction and limitation of corporations, and Governors of 41 states and territories and by national labor, agricultural, manufacturing, financial, economic and trade organizations by chambers or commerce, boards of trade, bar associations and shippers' organizations will send delegates. These delegates include governors, attorneys-general, senators and representatives.

The first day will be devoted to problems involved in the controversies between state and federal government respecting jurisdiction over interstate commerce. The second will be devoted to a study of the corporation, its construction, capitalization, control, and the protection of investors and public. The third and fourth days will be given to a discussion of the limits of restriction and regulation, federal and state, of combinations in transportation production, distribution and labor.

Mr. Adams has made the subject a deep study.

Probate Court.

The following business was transacted at the Dedham session of the Norfolk County probate court Wednesday:

Wills allowed: Of George L. Howe of Dover, Anna N. Littlefield of Brookline, Frederick Voggt of Wellesley, and Harriet W. Morse of Norwood.

Administrations granted: On the estates of John Crory of Brookline, William H. Burke of Quincy, Bela French of Weymouth, Stephen B. Burch of Quincy, Helene M. Trudeau of Walpole, and Margaret O'Brien of Dedham.

There were no Quincy inventories or accounts.

Clerk Churchill's Report.

The report of John P. S. Churchill, clerk of the district court for the year ending Sept. 30, differs somewhat from that of the probation officer. Mr. Churchill's report shows the grand total of criminal cases to have been 2034 or 110 less than the previous year. Of the total number 1776 were adult cases, the balance being delinquents and search warrants.

TODAY'S COURT.

James F. Brady of Randolph was fined $15 for drunkenness.

BEHIND THE TIMES

No Progress In Steam Transportation In New England

ROADS ARE NOT INFLUENTIAL

Due to Their Failure to Work Together--Many of Present Rates Should Be Reduced--Some Advice From a Prominent Railroad Official

Boston, Oct. 17.—"New England as a whole has not greatly improved its steam transportation during the past 15 years and is far behind many parts of the country in this respect. Our transportation is in many places local, slow, wasteful and expensive," declared Vice President Byrnes of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company before the Boston Boot and Shoe club at a banquet here last night.

President Hoag of the club presided and the principal speech of the evening was by Byrnes. Continuing, he said: "No railroad in New England has kept abreast with the demands of present traffic needs, and little or nothing has been done to stimulate new traffic. All our roads are so pushed now with business that it cannot be done efficiently and economically.

"All lines leading from Boston to the west should have four tracks, instead of two. Business cannot be properly handled on the present basis. Even the bridges are not strong enough to hold the modern locomotives, and our road is rebuilding them as fast as possible.

"New England roads, too, have little influence today in shaping the general railroad policy of the country. The trouble with us here in New England is we do not work together; our roads, for whatever reason, do not join in an effective effort to insist upon fair treatment for New England, yet our roads are owned chiefly here.

"Many of the rates are too high and it is important they should be reduced. Rates should be made right and if we do not make them right the railroad commission of Massachusetts should compel us to do so. The day of the arbitrary railroad official is gone."

Mr. Byrnes stated that New England railroads were made up chiefly of junctions and terminals, which tended to allow of freights being sidetracked and that "it is an unimportant junction that does not delay freight 24 hours, and, if the truth were known, some times many days."

Mr. Byrnes urged that less time be consumed in unloading cars and especially that the home market be more fully developed. The fact that New Englanders did not trade more among themselves was laid to the fault of the railroad service, in part, by Byrnes, because of the lack of co-operating in expediting the movement of freight about local points.

"There are points in Connecticut," said Byrnes, "from which it will take a package 10 days to get to New Hampshire. A competitor in St. Louis can ship the same kind of goods to the same point and beat the local shipper out by almost a week."

Mysterious Woman Eludes Police

Athol, Mass., Oct. 17.—An unknown woman, apparently demented, and clothed so that her identity is impossible to determine, is creating all sorts of difficulties for the residents of Five Points, a section of this town. Although constantly seen by couples who walk the streets and also seen peeking into windows, the woman cannot be located by the police, despite the fact that extra precautions are being taken and a special detail of patrolmen are watching the locality.

Police Commissioner Arrested

New York, Oct. 17.—Police Commissioner Bingham was placed under arrest following the service upon him of papers in a civil suit in which damages of $25,000 are asked. The complainant is former Police Captain Reynolds, who was ejected from police headquarters, where he had called to lodge a formal protest against his forced retirement from the department. The commissioner furnished bondsmen.

Fishermen Working In Harmony

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 17.—The United States government gunboat Gresham has arrived in port from Bay of Islands, N. F. The Gresham looks after the interests of American fishermen in Newfoundland waters. Captain Perry reports everything quiet along the Newfoundland coast, American fishermen and those of the colony working side by side in perfect harmony.

Going to Adirondacks Camp

Newport, R. I., Oct. 17.—Count Szechenyi, who is a guest at the residence of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, will leave on Monday for Camp Sagamore in the Adirondacks as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Sr., and Miss Gladys Vanderbilt will also be members of the house party at Camp Sagamore.

Floods Cause $16,000,000 Damage

Barcelona, Oct. 17.—The total of the damages in this region resulting from the floods is estimated at $16,000,000. In the Manresa district alone 71 factories have been destroyed, involving a loss of $1,000,000.

That Story About Water Meters

The manager of the National Water Meter Co., which was the subject of a recent sensational article in a Boston paper, under date of Quincy, takes decided objection to the article, and is seeking for the authority for the same.

The article in question referred to the meters as being of iron and painted. The superintendent of the Water department and Citizens' Association also figured in the story.

This morning, Mr. Fitzpatrick the reporter who it is alleged wrote the article in question for the Boston paper, was put on the rack before the parties at interest. He refused to disclose the full source of his information at the present time, although he admitted that his information in relation to iron meters was obtained by telephone.

He was confronted by Supt. Gleason, who it was alleged made the statement about the iron meters, and the latter denied in toto any conversation by telephone or otherwise about the meters.

Mr. Kincaide who was president of the Citizens' Association at the time the article was published was invited to be present at the meeting but could not attend. He sent a letter, however by messenger.

The meeting lasted about an hour but failed to bring out any definite information as to the authority for the statements made.

High Defeated.

The Quincy High football team was defeated at Somerville on Wednesday by the score of 17 to 0. The Somerville High scored all its points in the first half. Three times in the second half Quincy had the ball on Somerville's 10-yd. line, but were held for downs. On the whole Quincy played a good all-round game.

Beware of Dogs.

Officer Olsen found still another case of rabies at Houghs Neck Wednesday. Dr. Abele the inspector of animals, Dr. Whiton of the Board of Health, and a State doctor were called before it was killed. Dog owners should keep their own dogs close about home these days and not allow strange dogs about their premises.

Many New Voters.

The Board of Registrars added 85 names to the voting lists in their ten-hour session on Wednesday, and registration has now closed for the State election. On the final day Ward One gained 16, Ward Two 15, Ward Three and Four 12 each, Ward Five 24, and Ward Six 6.

Pardon For Life Prisoner

Boston, Oct. 17.—Richard Currie of Charlestown, aged 50, a life prisoner at the state prison, was pardoned by Governor Guild yesterday, having served 23 years in prison. Currie's record was without a flaw and as his health was breaking a serious malady was probably averted by his pardon. Currie shot his wife in a moment of passion, finding that she was untrue to him, and he pleaded guilty to second degree murder. During his long sentence Currie has become an able bacteriologist and it is said could pass examination as a qualified dentist.

No Half Fares For Students

Boston, Oct. 17.—According to a decision handed down by the full bench of the supreme court, a student who is attending a college or a professional school is not entitled to ride on a railroad for half fare, even though riding to or from school. The decision was reached in the case of the Connecticut Valley Street Railway company. Fred H. Chapin, a student, complained against the railroad because the company would not sell him a half-fare ticket from his home to the college in accordance with the laws relative to student tickets.

Would Have Got a Bear "If"

Stamboul, La., Oct. 17.—If President Roosevelt had been stationed a few hundred feet further south than he was Tuesday, he would possibly have procured the bear he came to the Mississippi canebrakes to slay. That a bear was discovered by four dogs within a short distance of the president was the news brought into Stamboul by one of the members of the hunting party. The animal escaped by going in a direction opposite to the president's post. The bear which escaped was of good size, but lean.

Dangerous Practice.

Parents cannot too strongly impress upon their children the danger of jumping on and off cars. On Wednesday there were two very narrow escapes by children doing this same thing.

One was in the depot yard when two little girls jumped onto the step of a street car to steal a ride. They rode a short distance and then jumped off, only to land on their backs in the street with torn and soiled clothing besides numerous bruises.

The other case was when two boys attempted to steal a ride on a freight train that had slowed up nearly to a stop south of the Quincy depot. Officer Murry spotted the boys and lost no time in getting them off.

It is a very dangerous practice, and when parents remember that a little boy lost his life on Quincy avenue a week ago by doing this very same trick they should have frequent heart-to-heart talks with their children.

Quincy People Reserve Judgment

With reference to certain reports from Cleveland, Ohio, that have appeared in print during the last 24 hours, concerning a prominent Quincy pastor, most people will wisely prefer to at least reserve their judgment until further authentic information has been received. His friends and parishioners who know of his interest and experience in the study of social conditions in this country and abroad readily understand how it would be possible to become the victim of circumstances in the individual case as reported, without the slightest reflection upon his character or standing, and have no doubt he will be able in due time to vindicate his case. Many have strongly expressed their sympathy with, and confidence in him.

The editor of the Daily Ledger was called up by Cleveland parties by telephone at noon on Thursday, and gave information which identified the clergyman. The Ledger was also pleased to speak highly of his long pastorate at Quincy, his high standing in the community, his scholarly attainments, and said there must be a mistake.

The Ledger might have been the first eastern paper to have told of the arrest, but preferred a different course.

Those acquainted with Cleveland say the clergyman must have been the victim of a plot, and Quincy people in general criticise the police and the judge.

The Ledger finds that the people of the city, generally, of all stations in life, believe in the innocence of the accused, and are confident he will be vindicated.

Value of Good Character.

Editors of Daily Ledger:

Allow me space in which to submit to the people of Quincy for their careful and thoughful consideration, an extract from an opinion delivered many years ago by one of the most famous jurists of America, Chief Justice Cooley. My purpose in publishing it at this time will readily occur to those whom I desire to reach:

"Good character is an important fact with every man, and never more so than when he is put on trial charged with an offense which is rendered improbable in the last degree by a uniform course of life wholly inconsistent with any such crime. There are cases where it becomes a man's sole dependence and yet may prove sufficient to outweigh evidence of the most positive nature. The most clear and convincing cases are sometimes satisfactorily rebutted by it, and a life of unblemished integrity becomes a complete shield of protection against the most skilful web of suspicion and falsehood which conspirators have been able to weave. Good character may not only raise a doubt which would not otherwise exist, but it may bring conviction of innocence."

I may add that "character" as used in the above extract means reputation; the words are used interchangeably in legal phraseology.

Yours truly,

Citizen.

THE COPPER CRASH

Speedily Followed by Turmoil In the Financial World

THE HEINZES ARE HARD HIT

One Suspended by Stock Exchange, Another Resigns Bank Presidency and Their Bank In Montana Suspends--Other Money Troubles

New York, Oct. 18.—Sensations followed each other in rapid succession in the financial district yesterday as the result of the collapse of the projected corner in United Copper and the suspension of a prominent brokerage firm on Wednesday.

The firm of Otto Heinze & Co. was suspended on the Stock Exchange; F. Augustus Heinze, the Butte copper magnate, resigned the presidency of the Mercantile National bank of New York; the Amalgamated Copper company, at its directors' meeting, cut its quarterly dividend from 2 percent to 1 percent; the directors of the Boston and Montana Copper company declared a quarterly dividend of $6 in place of a former dividend of $12; the failure of Haller-Soehle & Co., prominent bankers of Hamburg, Ger., with liabilities that may reach $7,500,000 was announced; the State Savings bank of Butte, Mont., of which the Heinzes are the principal stockholders, suspended.

As a result of these sensations the stock market was halting and irregular, but there was an apparent feeling that the break of the attempted corner in United Copper had cleared the atmosphere somewhat, and the market rallied before the close.

The suspension of Otto Heinze & Co., of which firm Max M. Schultze is the Stock Exchange member, was based on a complaint to the exchange made by Gross & Kleeberg, the Stock Exchange firm which failed Wednesday. In a communication to the president of the Stock Exchange this firm charged Otto Heinze & Co. with refusing to accept 3202 shares of United Copper said to have been bought on the order of the Heinze firm. This action, Gross & Kleeberg stated, was responsible for their failure. Attorneys for this firm state that the amount owing to the firm by the Heinze firm aggregates $600,000.

The Heinze firm announced that it is perfectly solvent and that all its legal obligations will be met. The attorneys say that the suspension by the Stock Exchange was accepted by the firm in order to give the latter an opportunity to shift its legal obligations from numerous claims which have been made against it, and which, it is alleged, are not legal obligations.

The resignation of F. Augustus Heinze from the presidency of the Mercantile National bank, it is said, was decided on at a midnight meeting at the home of C. W. Morse, who is largely interested in the bank. Heinze gave out a statement in which he said that his resignation was due to the fact that he wished to devote all of his time to straightening out the business of his brother's firm. He stated that he had not disposed of his holdings in the bank, and that the control would remain where it had been, and that he would continue as a director. William B. Ridgely, at present United States comptroller of the currency, has been tendered the office of the president of the Mercantile National bank, but has not yet decided whether or not he will accept.

The announcement of the Amalgamated quarterly dividend of 1 percent came as a surprise. The failure of the Butte bank followed closely on the news of the suspension of the Heinze firm on the Stock Exchange. The Butte bank was largely controlled by the Heinze interests, F. A. Heinze being the principal stockholder, and news of the Otto Heinze suspension on the Stock Exchange and of the failure of the Hamburg firm precipitated a run which immediately caused the suspension of the bank. In a statement issued by the officers it was declared that the bank is solvent and that the suspension is solely for the purpose of gaining time to arrange the bank's affairs.

Liabilities May Reach $7,500,000

Hamburg, Oct. 18.—The old private banking firm of Haller, Soehle & Co. has failed. The Hamburger Wachrichten says it is informed by a banker who is in a position to know the facts that the liabilities will reach $7,500,000. The difficulties of the firm arose chiefly from its connection with a mining company at Teplitz, Bohemia, in which much capital was locked up. In addition, the firm had interests in several other enterprises. Haller, Soehle & Co. had been in existence for 77 years and ranked as one of Hamburg's old patrician houses.

Old Concern Goes Under

Houston, Tex., Oct. 18.—T. W. House, a private banker, has filed a general assignment under the state law. Inability to realize on securities not readily convertible into cash is the only cause given for the assignment. The House bank was established in 1838 by the father of the present banker. The bank was not incorporated, and has never made a statement of any character of its affairs. It is said the bank has deposits of more than $2,000,000. The failure of the banking house in Hamburg is said to have had a direct bearing on the failure.

LEGISLATIVE MILK INQUIRY

Governor Guild Favors Commission With Plenary Powers

Boston, Oct. 18.—The price of milk to the consumer will remain at 9 cents a quart until the next legislature convenes, as far as any legislative or executive action looking toward a reduction in price is concerned.

Governor Guild will, if he deems it necessary, following a conference with a committee of milk producers at the state house, request the incoming legislature for a commission of three with plenary powers to go further into the milk situation.

This was the executive decision arrived at last night, following the representations of the committee regarding the production and inspection of milk.

The governor's position was based on the ruling by Attorney General Malone that the governor had no authority under the law to appoint a commission with power to summon witnesses and examine books until he had been invested with such power by the next legislature.

Speed Brings Profit to Steamers

Washington, Oct. 18.—By reason of their speed, the new Cunarders, the Lusitania and Mauretania, will receive from the United States government from $4000 to $6000 every time they leave New York for carrying first-class mail destined to Europe. An order to this effect has been issued by the postoffice department. No contract to this effect is necessary, as the rate to be paid—35 cents a pound—is fixed by international arrangement between the postal authorities of America and Europe.

Kipling on Asiatic Problem

Toronto, Oct. 18.—Immigration from the old country is the solution Rudyard Kipling suggests for the Asiatic problem on the Pacific coast. "Immigration is what Canada wants in the west," said Kipling. "You want immigration and the way to keep the yellow man out is to get the white man in. Pump in the immigrants from the old country; England has five millions of people to spare."

Prince Witnessed Fatal Accident

Hamburg, Oct. 18.—Prince Von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, started for Hamburg and hired an auto cab to take him to the residence of the burgomaster. While on the way an aged woman was run down by the cab and killed. A physician who examined the woman said that her death had been instantaneous. The prince continued his journey to Hamburg on the electric cars.

Earthquake Not Located

Washington, Oct. 18.—Official statements regarding the violent earthquake recorded Wednesday and followed by a disturbance of less magnitude yesterday indicate that the earthquake occurred at some point between 3900 and 5000 miles away, varying according to two estimates. The only direction indicated is that the motion was either east or west.

Forty-Three Years With College

New York, Oct. 18.—At a meeting of the president and fellows of Middlebury (Vt.) college, the resignation of Dr. Ezra Brainerd, for 23 years president of the institution, was accepted. Brainerd has been connected with Middlebury college for 43 years, 20 years as a professor before he became its chief, and wishes to retire from active life.

Countess Mysteriously Missing

Warsaw, Oct. 18.—Countess Zemoyska left Bialystok on a train for this city Wednesday, but she disappeared mysteriously on the way hither and there is reason to suspect foul play. Blood-stained garments were found in the compartment occupied by the countess, and it is supposed that she was robbed and murdered.

Royalty Interested In Cup Race

Stockholm, Oct. 18.—William Olsson, one of the promoters of the idea of a challenge from Sweden for the America's cup, was summoned to the palace by Prince Gustave Adolph, son of the Crown Prince of Sweden, to confer regarding the proposed challenge. It is said that the prince promised Olsson a large subscription.

Telegraphers Tired of Strike

New York, Oct. 18.—Striking telegraphers to the number of 26 applied for reinstatement in the western division of the Western Union Telegraph company yesterday, according to an official announcement made by the company. Other applications were 15 in New York and several at other eastern points.

Confesses Stealing $3500

North Sydney, N. S., Oct. 18.—At the preliminary examination of James S. McDonald, the former manager of the Cape Breton Enterprise, a newspaper, charged with the theft from the postoffice of a package containing $3500, the prisoner pleaded guilty and was committed to the supreme court.

Cuban Bandits Give Up

Havana, Oct. 18.—The group of bandits under the command of Gil Calder, which recently had been committing extensive depredations in the vicinity of Cienfuegos, surrendered to Captain Wittenmayer, the American officer in charge of rural guards in the Cienfuegos district.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Saturday, Oct. 19.
Sun rises—6:01; sets—4:58.
Moon sets—3:46 a. m.
High water—9:30 a. m.; 10 p. m.
The indications point to fair and colder weather in New England.

What Do YOU DO for Quincy?

A Little Wad of Common Sense.

A New Aid Fable.

This is not a George Ade fable, though it may sling some slang. It is a Home Aid fable.

Once there was a Geezer, who sat around and cut Kindling too small for Cook Stove purposes. He Whittled against Time and Flabbergasted against his Town. The town was No Good, he said—strictly on the Blink. Yes, it was N. G. Why, hadn't he lived Here since '84 and found that the Place was Punky? Sure, Mike!

Look at that town over in the next County. Grown like Jonah's Gourd. Must be a Jonah here. We've grown some, but I don't see that we're knocking any particularly Big Persimmons. That's the way this Gazaboo knocked his town.

One day a Sarcastic Stranger floated into the Town that was Knocked from the burg that had Blossomed like Jonah's Gourd. He Heard some of the Flabbergasting and Dropped to the situation.

"Look here, you," he remarked to the citizen who was Handing Out the Knocks. "What do you do for this town? Are you doing your part to put this Burg on the Upgrade? What's that hefty Bunch of literature sticking out of your Clothes?"

"That's a Mail Order Catalogue from Chicago—a town that is a town," replied the Geezer.

"So I thought," said the Impertinent Arrival. "Now let me hand you out a nice little Wad of common sense. For the past ten years you have been sending your money to the Chicago Mail Order houses instead of spending it among your home merchants. What would have happened to Chicago fifty years ago if all the First Settlers had shipped their Loose Coin to New York on catalogue inducements? Why, you'd have to use a sand dredger now to find the Original Site of Chicago. Now, in the Burg from which I have just Blown in we got over all this Bum Business years ago. We passed Resolutions that we would trade at Home and help our own town to Spread out so that you could Sight it on the map without using Opera Glasses. But you and a Bunch of other folks in this town have wasted your Substance in Riotous Expenditures in Chicago by mail and let the sheriff hang out the 'Nothing Doing' sign in front of some of your own town's mercantile Emporiums. Look at our Town and then look at yours. What makes the Difference?"

Whereupon the Whittling Gazaboo threw a few well chosen Thoughts into his mental makeup and went down to the village store to Annex a linen collar in place of the Paper Circles which he had bought from Chicago at Two Bits a Box.

PLUNGED INTO DOORYAAD

Trolley Car Overturned and Killed Motorman and Conductor

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 18.—A trolley car jumped the track at the foot of a steep grade last night and tipped over on its side, crushing and killing the motorman, Lucio T. Randlett, and the conductor, Christopher P. Ferriss. There were no other persons on the car.

It is supposed that the rail was made slippery by fallen leaves and that the motorman was unable to control the speed of the car in descending the hill. The accident occurred at the corner of Oak avenue and Central street, where the track curves. As the car reached that point it bounded from the rails and came to a stop on its side in the dooryard of a house. The motorman jumped, but left the car on the side on which it fell and was crushed beneath it. The conductor also was found pinned under the rear of the car.

A car on the same line, and said to have been in charge of the same conductor and motorman, caught fire and was burned yesterday afternoon. No one was injured in that accident, but the property loss is $4000.

Would Govern Hub by Commission

Boston, Oct. 18.—Government by commission was advocated for Boston at the meeting last night of the Commercial club. Several hundred prominent Boston men were present and stirring addresses on local affairs were delivered. It was claimed that "the present condition of city affairs is disastrous," "the payrolls must be reduced," "the city work could be done for $4,000,000 less expenditure than at present," "5000 of the 20,000 men now employed by the city could be dispensed with," and that the "mayor of Boston is a victim of a system."

May Be Case of Murder

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 18.—Jacob Jamruz was arrested last night and held without bail pending an investigation into the death of Stephen Yammotz, whose body was found floating in Sumner creek. He was last seen, it is said, in Jamruz' company. An autopsy showed that Yammotz' death was not the result of drowning, but as a consequence of a blow on the head with a blunt instrument.

Proposed Strike and Death Benefit

Providence, Oct. 18.—The proposition of providing for a strike and death benefit, by raising the amount for the per capita tax, was referred to the executive council for action by the United Textile Workers of America. Some of the delegates argued that the proposed action would make the textile worker go into the field of insurance and try to become a competitor of various other beneficial orders.

Fuse Near Scene of Explosion

South Paris, Me., Oct. 18.—Testimony as to the discovery of two pieces of fuse near the scene of the explosion of the dynamite house at the Paris Hill mine was brought out by the state in the trial of Wallace G. Everett, charged with the murder of Edgar L. Radcliffe. This testimony was given by two employes of the mine.

Alleged Postoffice Robbers

Boston, Oct. 18.—Basil Smiera and Charles Elderkin, members of the crew of schooner George N. Warner, from Barton, N. S., were placed under arrest here on suspicion that they were concerned in the robbery of the postoffice at Plympton, N. S. Both men are said to have confessed. They were ordered deported.

Held Up by Trio of Thieves

Hartford, Oct. 18.—Held up at the point of a revolver, Mrs. John J. Carroll was compelled to stand by and see her flat ransacked by three strangers, who got into the apartment, where Mrs. Carroll was alone with two small children, on the pretext that they had come for the luggage of her brother-in-law, Patrick Phelan.

Was In Love With Chinaman

Boston, Oct. 18.—Because her Chinese lover or husband had disappeared, it is believed, Mrs. Mildred Smith committed suicide by taking strychnine. A bottle which had contained the poison was found beside the body, also a note addressed to a Chinaman. Mrs. Smith was 27 years old and a Hebrew.

Poison Bottle by His Side

Boston, Oct. 18.—Harry McLean, aged 23, was found dead in his bed at 5 Ottawa street last night, and a bottle supposed to have contained poison was found by his side. No reason for the young man taking his own life is known.

Stork to Visit Crown Princess

Berlin, Oct. 18.—The superior consistory of the church has ordered public prayers to begin on Sunday for the safe accouchement of Crown Princess Frederick William. Duchess Cecilia of Mecklenberg-Schwerin was married to Crown Prince Frederick William June 6, 1905. A son was born to her July 4, 1906.

Vessel and Ten Men Lost

St. Johns, Oct. 18.—Portions of wreckage washed ashore on the east coast indicate that the fishing schooner Alma was lost in the recent gale, together with her crew of 10 men. Little hope is entertained that any of the fishermen have escaped.

Death of Poet McNeill

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 18.—John C. McNeill, poet and raconteur, died at his home in Scotland county, aged 33 years. In 1905 President Roosevelt personally presented him with the Patterson memorial cup for the most gifted work of the year.

Hunting a Grave.

[Original.]

My cousin Mary and I were very intimate, and our fathers' farms adjoined, though the distance by the road between the two houses was half a mile. I had been at Mary's one evening, staying much later than usual. There was no man to escort me home, and I was forced to go alone. Mary suggested that I take the dog with me, and I did so. It was 11 o'clock when I started, and it was bright moonlight. We farmers' daughters are used to going about alone in the country, and I didn't feel afraid. If there was timidity in me it was rather due to superstition than any real danger, a superstition that every one feels, more or less. Of course I made figures out of the stumps and patches of moonlight, but they always turned out stumps and moonlight, and I was becoming more or less used to them when suddenly the dog set up a howl and, putting his tail between his legs, ran off in the direction from which we had come.

I was the more astonished when I saw the object that had frightened him, a man, for I had relied on the dog for protection. I proceeded on my way, and the figure advanced slowly toward me. When we met I saw a young man about twenty-five years of age, very handsome and evidently a gentleman. I was not unused to seeing city folk in the region, for we were near the ocean, and there were summer resorts above and below us, though the season had passed, and the visitors were mostly gone. I felt no fear of injury, for the man raised his hat politely, though with apparent effort. Whether it was the moonlight that shone full in his face or not I couldn't tell, but he seemed to be very pale. It seemed also that there was an odor of the sea about him, but this may have been borne on a light puff of air that passed as I met him.

"Can you direct me to the churchyard?" he asked.

"Follow the road in the direction you are going for about a mile," I replied, "and you will come to it. It lines the road. You can't miss it."

For heaven's sake, what did the man want at the churchyard at that time of night?

"Do you know the hour?" he asked.

"A litle past 11."

Was he ill, staggering about in the road, or was there something the matter with my vision? He seemed rather to be swaying with a motion similar to that of waves. He looked at me appealingly. A cloud passed over the moon, and when the light came again he was standing before me perfectly tranquil, looking into my face with a persuasiveness I had never encountered before.

"I came out for a walk," he said, "from the ocean. I thought I'd go inland. I heard there was a churchyard near here, and I wanted to see it. But I don't feel equal to proceeding further. I think I'll go back. Would you mind my walking with you—that is, as far as you go?"

He was so gentle, so deferential, so spiritual, that I had nothing to fear. Indeed, his very presence threw over me a singular spell. I gave the desired permission, and we walked along together.

"Why did you wish to visit the churchyard?" I asked.

"Well, there are peace and rest about a churchyard, such a contrast with the living world. One day we are a part of the turmoil of living beings, with our ambitions, hates, loving; the next we are inhabitants of a dead city. We speak neither to our companions nor to the living. The sun and the rain fall on us, the winds rock the branches above us, but nothing disturbs us. How different a burial at sea! There we sink to the bottom or drift into some cove in the rocks, but if we are not far enough beneath the surface we undulate with the waves that are rolling over us, now sucked partly out, now slowly driven in again, never knowing what is in store for us except that we must drift, drift, drift."

The last three words were almost a wail.

We had by this time come to the farm. I pitied my companion. He seemed so miserable out in the night, as if he were seeking a place to rest among the dead. I offered to awaken my father and take him in for the night, but he shuddered and declined.

"I must go back to the sea," he said.

Leaning on the gate, I watched him as he retreated. There was again about him that swaying I had noticed before, and I sniffed the salt sea smell. When I could see him no longer I went in and to bed, but not to sleep. All night I seemed to be rising and falling with the waves and smelled the odor of seaweeds.

In the morning I saw some people coming up the road carrying a bier. I questioned them, and they told me that the body of a young man who had been drowned while bathing during the season had risen to the surface and they were taking it to the churchyard for burial. I asked them to let me see the corpse, but they told me the coffin lid was screwed down. Besides, it was no object for a young girl to look upon.

This happened years ago, but I have never been the same woman since. In the autumn when the moon is near the full I often walk between Mary's and our place, thinking to meet the stranger who seemed to be hunting for a grave. He has never appeared. I wonder if the dead ever do appear to living beings. F. A. MITCHEL.

THE RIVALS' CLAIMS

Presented to Ballot Commissioners For Their Consideration

MUST MAKE QUICK DECISION

Total Number of Delegates at Springfield Convention Accepted as 412--Whitney Men Claim Votes of Those Shut Out of Hall--What Kiley Says

Boston, Oct. 18.—As the evidence in the Bartlett-Whitney contest for the Democratic nomination closed last night before the ballot law commission, 412 credentials which were exchanged by delegates at the convention hall were introduced by the attorneys for Charles W. Bartlett. This number was accepted as being a total of delegates who attended the now famous convention at Springfield Oct. 5.

The counsel for Henry M. Whitney about the same time submitted affidavits from 116 of their supporters who obtained admission to the hall and participated in the convention which nominated Whitney. If the affidavits are accepted by the commission, as has been intimated that they would be, the number of Bartlett delegates who voted for his nomination numbered 296. In addition, the Whitney lawyers also submitted 284 affidavits from persons who could not obtain admission to the hall. It is claimed by the Whitney faction that these delegates would have voted for their candidate, and, with 116 who actually did so, would have given them a majority over the Bartlett faction on a joint vote.

The evidence in the case was not closed until after 10 o'clock last night, so that the arguments were postponed until today. Each side will be given an hour and in addition the commission will hear briefly E. G. Brown of Brockton on his petition that the entire proceedings at Springfield be declared void. In order to render a decision at the latest hour today allowed by the secretary of state, the commission will have but a comparatively few minutes to consider the matter and reach a conclusion.

Yesterday's hearing, which covered three long sessions, was given up to the Bartlett side with the exception of the last few minutes. Twenty-five witnesses were heard, and in spite of the urgent request of the commission much of the evidence was of a cumulative nature. The principal witness of the day was Daniel J. Kiley, chairman of the executive committee, and presiding officer at the convention which nominated Bartlett.

Kiley had full charge of all the arrangements for the convention, the printing of the calls, credentials and tickets, the selection of the hall in Springfield, the choice of doorkeepers and box office officials, and general charge of the proceedings before the convention was called to order. Within a few minutes after that event he was in the chair as presiding officer.

In his direct evidence he stated that he considered his system of requiring delegates to exchange credentials for two tickets, one for admission and the other for voting, as one which guaranteed an honest convention and which prevented packing. He recounted at great length various offers from the Whitney faction of a compromise on some other candidate besides himself as one of the convention officers. He claimed that the Whitney people would not even permit him to act as permanent chairman, although they claimed to have a majority of delegates and could in such case have won the nomination for governor.

Under a rigid cross-examination he admitted that he gave the custody of tickets to men who were not members of the state committee, and that while he endeavored to be fair and knew that the convention was nearly equally divided on a choice for governor he was not surprised at the small opposition on the vote making him temporary chairman and that he made no attempt to delay proceedings until delegates who were then outside the hall could obtain admission.

The ballot law commission has been considering the Bartlett-Whitney contest since last Friday. It has devoted 20 hours to hearing Whitney testimony from about 25 witnesses, and about 15 hours to hearing 46 witnesses introduced by the Bartlett side. It is not generally the custom of the commission to comment on its decision.

WATER TUG OF WAR

Contest That Supplants Class Rush at Iowa State College.

FRESHMEN THE CONQUERORS

Ames Students Engage In Clean, Manly Sport Which Is Not Lacking In Excitement and Is Approved of by the Faculty.

With their class yell upon their lips and their nerve never giving way for a moment, though they were pulling in water up to their waists, the forty Iowa State college freshmen of the first squad in the tug of war contest at Ames, Ia., were dragged into the water, receiving a thorough ducking at the hands of their older and more steady brothers, the sophomores, says an Ames dispatch to the New York Herald. The pull started at just twenty-five minutes past 3, and twelve minutes were required for the sophomores to pull their young brothers into the water. Again everything was ready, and the starting pistol was fired, only to see the freshmen second squad follow in the tracks of the first in twenty-one minutes. But the freshmen were game to the finish. One defeat or even two did not make them waver. They were ready for the third in very short order.

The tug of war was arranged for the freshmen and sophomores that they might settle their differences and have a manly sport deciding the superiority of one class or the other without any class rush or brutal hazing. Hazing was one of the regular items on the programme of affairs at the Iowa State college a few years ago, but the past two or three years have marked a strenuous effort on the part of the authorities to stamp out the practice.

Last year a plan was tried in which the sophomores gathered around their class numeral and defended it from the freshmen, who attempted to paint out the sophomore sign and put up theirs in its place. The scramble lasted two hours, and the freshmen won, thereby getting leave to have their numeral where all the 12,000 people who gathered at the harvest home excursion might see it. The plan was considered quite satisfactory from most points of view, but the need of a plan which would answer the same purpose and allow less brutal treatment of the parties to the contest was seen. A number of persons have been endeavoring to work up such a plan the present term, and the result of their combined opinions and efforts was a tug of war across Briley's pond, a fair sized body of water a quarter of a mile west of the college.

The plan was finally agreed upon several days beforehand, and the novel contest was advertised until the whole neighborhood turned out to witness the pulling. From 3,000 to 5,000 people gathered on the banks of the pond and waited anxiously for the sport to begin. They gathered an hour in advance of the advertised time, and the game was delayed a trifle in preparation, but the crowd was entertained by the yells, most of them coming from the enthusiastic freshmen. The standard first year yell of "Up we go by step! Who are we? Prep, prep, prep!" was followed by a number of yells made up for the occasion. A yell that made much mirth was:

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven; freshmen, freshmen, go to heaven. One, two, three, four, don't you tell; sophomores, sophomores, go to ——."

There were so many contestants that it was impossible to let them all pull at once, so it was planned to divide them. Two hundred available sophomores were counted for the fray and an equal number of freshmen chosen to work against these. Each body of 200 was divided into squads of forty each, and five squads pulled from each body, the three best out of five being winners. Sophomore stock was high to start. Their men looked the more husky, and people reasoned they were used to the treatment. But they reckoned without knowing. The freshmen were men that were ready for the worst. Though they were defeated, they won. Defeat was not to be recognized. Twice pulled into the cold water, they drew the remaining squads together and made three final stands of such steady and persistent nature that they won the day and had the joy. They may rejoice, as the present sophomore class did when they were freshmen and won from the present juniors.

"I hardly need to call attention to the affair that is to take place in the afternoon," said Dr. Cessna in chapel recently. And he was correct, they all knew. After the crowd had gathered at the ground Jack Watson took both classes to one side and gave them a brief talk. "Sophomores and freshmen," he began, "you are gathered here to engage in a clean, manly sport to decide which class is the stronger. This contest taking place this afternoon is to be in lieu of all class fights or hazing incidents, and I am instructed to inform you that after this matter has been decided any of you who are caught hazing or engaging in a class scrap will be expelled from school. You come to school for another purpose, and, while we are glad to furnish you with a clean, manly sport, we want it understood that the winners and the losers must go away from here with the intention of keeping the peace of well behaved students." Jack's talk was brief, but to the point, and the crowds repaired to their respective sides with the familiar yell, "What's the matter with Jack?"

When the first gun was fired by Referee Watson the rope tightened at once, and a large knot in the middle of the pond told that neither side was gaining for several minutes. Finally the rope gradually began to go to the sophomores, and at the end of twelve minutes the freshmen, who were game to the finish, had been drawn into the water and given their ducking. The sophomores were jubilant and repeated the act on the second squad of freshies in twenty-one minutes. The third time up the people were beginning to remark that if the sophomores won again it would finish the contest. But not so. The gun was fired, and the rope drew taut, but it remained in its position otherwise. One minute, two minutes and finally five minutes had gone, and neither side had an advantage. Suddenly the sophomores gave way a trifle, only a few inches, but sufficient to let the freshmen know they had really started the pull their way. A deafening yell went up from their side of the pond, and even the thousands of supposedly disinterested persons on the ground yelled for the freshmen like the members of the class.

The effect was magical. Another yell, and at the end of seven minutes half the sophomore squad was dragged into the water for their turn at the ducking. Much time was used in preparation, and it was after 6 o'clock before the fourth squad was ready for their bout. Eleven minutes and the game stood even; the freshmen had won again. Both times they had won in less than the number of minutes required by the sophomores in their best pull.

Freshmen stock went up rapidly. Everybody yelled for the 1911 men. The rope was at last ready, and the pull began. Steadily the rope went. The sophomores stood their ground well, but they were not equal to the task. The freshmen were too strong. A few minutes of hard pulling told the tale, and the freshmen once more began reeling the rope their way. Ten minutes and the day was won for the "contemptible preps." Then they went wild with their joy. Beaten the first two times only to brace up and win the last three of the day, they proceeded to have one of the largest celebrations in the history of the school.

The sophomores took their defeat gracefully, and the plan was declared a success. The faculty are as happy as the freshmen at the college. Anything that will take away the dreaded hazing germ and implant in the annals of the institution clean sport in its stead is heartily welcomed by them, and the tug of war across the pond appears to be the solution. Men worked hard. Many pulled themselves "all in." But there were no broken bones and dislocated joints, no mashed heads and pounded hands and arms to keep the college physician busy until midnight. It was good and strenuous sport, and time is all that can be needed to recover from the effects.

Much credit is due Professors Bowman, Coover and the two Jacks, Prall and Watson, for this plan and the way it was carried out. The three former as a committee of arrangements formed the plan and rules and conducted the contest, while Jack Watson made the fairest referee that ever stood judge of any contest. Ames will no doubt have an event of annual occurrence that will be as popular and sportsmanlike as any of the annual contests in larger schools and older ones. The water tug of war requires strength and work. It is interesting and can be made more so by the elimination of some time used for preparation. A happy solution to a knotty problem has been reached if the students can be induced to live up to the conditions. This seems to be the least of the troubles of the school at the present time, for the contestants, realizing that the authorities were desirous of letting them have all the fun they could, but wished to eliminate the danger and brutal features, have fallen in line and are keeping the letter of the agreement to the minutest detail.

LOVERS' RETREAT ON SHIP.

Innovation With Snug Seat For Two on the Venezia.

The new Fabre liner Venezia, berthed in the Atlantic dock, Brooklyn, has an innovation in the feature of a real lovers' retreat, says the New York World. It is below a stairway leading from the boat deck down to the promenade deck. The seat, which is snug from the weather, is wide enough with a little squeezing for two persons of ordinary size.

"Ah, oui, messieurs," said Captain Jaubert of the Venezia at a reception the other day. "It is so that you have guessed it, but it is not right that I should tell that. It is for the lovers to complain that they cannot then by two and two enjoy it."

Among other features are a glass bulkhead across the ship, twenty feet from the bow, so that first class passengers may look into the eye of the weather; a luggage room accessible at any time and a dining room on the boat deck. The Venezia plies between Marseilles and Naples and the latter port and Brooklyn.

Fox's Liking For Golf Ball.

Foxes in the neighborhood of Winsted, Conn., are taking an interest in the gentle game of golf, says a Winsted special dispatch to the New York World. The other day when W. H. Phelps, Timothy Allen and Richard Hooker were playing on the Norfolk downs Hooker drove the ball a long distance and to his amazement saw a fox emerge from a wood lot, pick up the ball and scamper away into the brush. Some one suggested that the fox thought the golf ball was an egg. "No," said Hooker; "I am sure he thought it was a moth ball, and he is taking it to his winter quarters to preserve his fur."

GOOD AFTERNOON.

One of the chief considerations in the state campaign of this city, beyond that which aims at the best government of the state, is that question which is ever paramount, of the people endorsing what has been generally admitted to be faithful performance in their behalf by the governor and the lieutenant governor of the commonwealth.

The question can be asked this year as it has been in many years before, and always with the same pertinency, Why change? In Governor Guild the people have had a chief executive who has been mindful of every duty of his office, who has upheld the dignity of the state in every detail, who has suggested and led legislation, who has been unsparing of himself in his devotion to an office which has demanded the very best there is in him, and this has been given freely and cheerfully in behalf of the people of the state. There ought not to be any question of his re-election, and there is none, but the vote cast for him ought to be such as would show beyond all question the appreciation the people of the state have for such an official.

And this is also the opinion to be expressed regarding Lieut. Governor Draper, who has been no less assiduous in the care of the duties of his office. There has not for years been a man so deserving of the good will of the people and who has been so grossly maligned as Mr. Draper. He has grown steadily in public esteem as people come to know him, as they realize his high ideals of public service, his business capacity and his efforts to offer the best living conditions to those who are fortunate enough to secure his interest as employes under his jurisdiction.

These are the men the Republican party presents to the people for endorsement after their good service at the State House. There is no question as to the answer of the people, but every Republican should feel it his duty to show this apreciation by his attendance at the polls election day.

Harvest Supper And Entertainment

There were a number of attractions on Wednesday evening, but the Harvest supper, entertainment and sale held by the people of the Point, drew a good number.

The supper consisted of cold corned beef, cold corned shoulder, baked beans, mashed potatoes, sliced beets, Indian pudding, various kinds of pies, rolls and coffee.

The entertainment consisted of piano selections by Miss Helen Lincoln and the following selections by Miss Tyler of Emersons school of oratory: "The Kindergarten," "Three in the Parlor," "The Wild White Rose." "Are the Children Home?" "The School-Committee Man," "Ten O'clock at Night."

The sale was well patronized. Mr. H. D. Adams and Mrs. T. B. Thomas had charge of the ice cream table, Mrs. Charles Sherburne presided at the rug and apron table, while Mrs. C. W. Newcomb and Mrs. Marcus Wight were busy at the vegetable tables. The Priscillas decorated the vestry.

VERY UNSATISFACTORY MEETING OF THE CITIZEN'S ASSOCIATION

The secret, as to who the directors of the Citizens' Association desire the Republicans to nominte for Mayor, is out. There are just three men who they think should be considered, either one of which the said directors would favor the Association endorsing. The three are:

DR. JOHN F. WELCH.
GEORGE A. SIDELINGER.
GEORGE W. MORTON.

This was the sum total of the conference of the directors Thursday evening with the representatives of the Republican city committee.

The meetings between the directors and the leaders of the two great parties was somewhat mixed for the reason that the first letter sent invited the ward and city committees to meet them in conference. At the eleventh hour, almost, a second letter was sent out. This invited the chairmen of the several ward committees to meet in conference. This latter invitation was not generally accepted, as from all that can be learned, but two of the Republicans were present, and only three of the Democrats.

When the gentlemen of the Democratic affiliation came before the directors they were asked who they proposed to nominate for Mayor and very promptly replied that

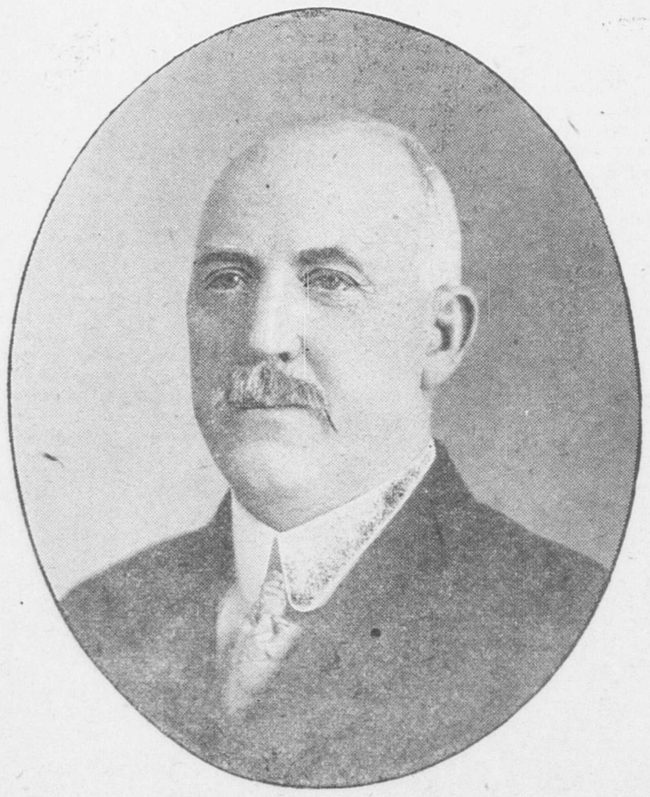
To the Republicans, however, the directors said the men they favored were as noted above, Dr. John F. Welch, George A. Sidelinger and Geo. W. Morton.

The directors were informed that the City Committee did not name the candidates. That anyone could take out nomination papers and put their name before the people at the caucus for nomination as a candidate. That the duty of the committee was to see to it that the parties, whoever they might be, who received the nomination were elected if possible.

The meeting from all that can be learned was very unsatisfactory, and as one of the gentlemen present expresses it, appeared to be a deep laid scheme on the part of some one to elect William T. Shea as Mayor.

Whether the Citizens' Association will place a man in nomination as its candidate, if the Republicns do not accept the wishes of the directors and nominate one of the three gentlemen they have selected, is of course a matter of doubt at the present time, but as a speaker expressed it at a recent meeting of the Citizens' Association that man would be putting himself up as a mark only to be defeated, for with a regular Republican and Democratic nomination an independent candidate would have put little chance of election.

GEORGE A. SIDELINGER.



WILLIAM T. SHEA.

WILLIAM T. SHEA

was the man. They were asked if there were not to be other candidates, and the answer was an emphatic no.

It was apparently somewhat of a surprise to the gentlemen of the board of directors that but one name should be placed before the voters at the caucus.

Whether either of the three gentlemen mentioned would be willing to make a martyr of himself, is of course a matter that can not be known at the present time. It would probably not be attempted, however, unless the friends of Mr. Shea in the Association were strong enough to have it pass a vote endorsing an independent candidate.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

P. H. Holman has returned from a trip to Maine.

Harold Thomas of Newton street left this week for Wolfville, Nova Scotia, to become a student at Acadia college.

The Quincy Y. M. C. A. mandolin club, assisted by Erastus Osgood, will give an entertainment in the Wollaston M. E. church Oct. 29.

First Rally.

A rally under the auspices of the Independence League was held Thursday evening at Associates hall. William Kelley presided at the meeting and there were addresses by Mr. Sawer, candidate for the senate from Ward 17 Boston; Thomas Phelan and William Read of Boston. Their remarks were greeted with rounds of applause.

William J. Sullivan Democratic candidate from the fifth district also made an address pledging himself if elected to work in the interest of all labor measures.

Between the speaking the audience were entertained with vocal solos and instrumental music by Thomas Wafer.

Future of Massachusetts.

The State Commission on Commerce and Industry will give a public hearing to all persons interested in the subjects within the scope of the resolve appointing this commission, on Wednesday, October 23, at 10 o'clock, in room 426, State House.

The Resolve providing for this commission requires the commission to "investigate the present conditions and future possiblities of investment in the Commonwealth, the present condition and future possibilities of transportation and facilities connected with it, of manufactures, of industries, the effect of the relations of capital and labor, or of local or state legislation upon such industries."

—The People's Savings Bank of Brockton, of which Ex-Governor William L. Douglas is president, is thus far the first in the state to declare its intention of undertaking savings insurance as soon as the law permits, but it is understood that several others are considering the matter.

The SHOE that Attracts TRADE

THE RALSTON

Ralston Health Shoes

not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

Ward Three May Nominate

It is among the possibilities that the Republican candidate for Mayor at the coming municipal election will be named tonight at the meeting of the Ward Three Republicans.

For some years past it has been the custom of the Republicans of this ward to get together in a friendly way and discuss who it desired to represent them in the City Council and other municipal offices, and incidentally to express its preference for Mayor.

A well known Ward Three citizen has been mentioned among others as a possible candidate, but nothing definite has been stated whether he would or would not enter the contest.

What tonight's meeting will develop cannot be foretold, but it would not be at all surprising if the man who will lead the party next November was boomed.

Failure of Granite Firm.

Charles A. Swingle & co., granite dealers, have filed a petition in the United States District Court asking to be adjudged bankrupt and scheduling liabilities at $42,926 and assets at $25,507.

On Sept. 5, the firm conveyed to Wellington Mitchell as trustee for its creditors all its real and personal property.

Of the total indebtedness $22,875 is unsecured. The principal unsecured creditor in this list is J. S. Swingle, Quincy, who holds a claim for $11,046 for machinery and polishing. The Empire Polishing Company, also of Quincy, is a creditor to the extent of $4,5000.

Among the secured creditors are J. S. Swingle, who holds a claim for $12,400, J. H. Elcock $3,000 and Empire Polishing Company $1,620.

The firm also holds itself liable on $1,500 worth of indorsed paper held by the National Granite Bank of Quincy.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

It is a pretty severe test of a man's capacity to take a new vessel up and down the winding channel of Fore River as Capt. "Ned" Evans of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company does on the trial trips of vessels constructed at its yard. Capt. Evans is as cool as a cucumber throughout the whole trip. On these trial trips, as soon as the vessel gets away from the Fore River dock it has to pass through the drawbridge, just beyond which the channel in the river makes a short turn. This is a particularly difficult point at which to manage a vessel. One captain who has navigated waters all over the world said on Wednesday after Evans in the new collier Everett had skilfully negotiated this particularly bad spot in the crooked channel of Fore river, "That is what I call scientific work."

The first charter of the Everett will be for carrying coal from Baltimore to Boston.

Mr. Wines, who is to be engineer of the lighter New England, has arrived at the yard.

The first paragraph of Manager H. G. Smith's notice (No. 169) should read as follows: "Beginning Monday, October 21, the hours of labor in the ship and engine works will be as follows: 7.00 A. M. to 12 noon; 12.30 P. M. to 4.30 P. M., Mondays to Saturdays inclusive.

Mr. Warrington, in charge of construction of the U. S. government light vessels visited the yard Thursday.

MILTON.

Officer O'Connell captured a burglar red handed early Wednesday evening. The officer came upon the man as he was entering a house on Hillside street. There was a tussel in which both men went down with the officer on top. The officer succeeded in snapping his handcuffs about the wrists of the burglar and thought he had him secure. Both got onto their feet and the officer was about to start for the patrol box with his man when with a sudden movement the fellow jumped and ran like a deer. It was very dark and although the officer chased his man he got away. Word was telephoned to adjoining towns, but the fellow had made good his escape, handcuffs and all.

The annual meeting of the Mission of Our Saviour church will be held Oct. 29.

A LIMITED SERVICE

Commercial Business by Wireless Over the Atlantic

5000 WORDS TRANSMITTED

Marconi's Work at Cape Breton Station Practically Finished--Plans Wireless Communication Across the North American Continent

Glace Bay, N. S., Oct. 18.—The inauguration of a regular trans-Atlantic wireless service has been accomplished by William Marconi and his assistants. Marconi states that more than 5000 words were transmitted yesterday between the station at Port Moren, six miles from here, and the Irish station.

Among those present at the opening of the service were representatives of a score of British and American papers. "I am entirely satisfied with the result," said Marconi last night. "Everything has worked splendidly; we are going to operate a limited service for a while. You cannot call it an inaugural or opening. We had our opening two years ago, when telegrams were passed by our system between the president and the king. We have not, therefore, addressed anything to crowned heads, but we are just quietly starting to do a regular business between Europe and America in continuation of the old service."

The inventor expressed absolute confidence in the triumph achieved in trans-Atlantic communication and in the vast future of long distance wireless telegraphy. He said the work at the Cape Breton station was now practically finished and did not longer require his attention, which would be turned upon the problem of overland wireless communication between the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of America, and other matters.

R. N. Vyvian, chief engineer of the Canadian Marconi company, received the press representatives at 2 o'clock and conducted them over the station. It is situated some miles from a railway, on a bleak projection of the Cape Breton coast, immediately overlooking the Atlantic ocean. The station is estimated to have cost $100,000, independent of expenditures for experimenting incidental to the first attempts to make practical use of a new invention.

The station is placed in the centre of a farm of 450 acres. The farm is wire-fenced. In a large clearing in the middle 24 pine masts 108 feet high are arranged in a circle of 3000 feet diameter. Eight of the masts are required for present duties; the others will be employed according as the full capacity of the station is developed. The masts are wired and connected with the four towers forming the centre of the circle. They are 215 feet high and surmounted by masts 50 feet in length.

The towers are arranged in a square 200 feet apart. Underneath and connected with them by elaborate wiring are the large wooden buildings housing the sending and receiving rooms, dynamo room, etc. Here are located also the telegraph instruments tapping the land lines of the Western Union and Canadian Pacific Railroad Telegraph companies.

A short distance away is the power station, containing a battery of boilers of a total of 600 horse-power, of which about a third is in use. Also a repair shop for supplying local coast stations with worn or broken parts and a storeroom with duplicates of nearly everything liable to damage or deterioration. There are houses for employes and a big artificial reservoir for supplying water to the boilers and a railway spur running into the ground to deliver fuel.

The principal advance in long-distance sending which Marconi has made in two years' work is described as the perfecting of a receiver many times as sensitive as the original instrument. Particulars are kept secret, likewise the electric voltage which is utilized.

"At what speed can you operate?" was a question propounded to Marconi's chief engineer.

"Twenty words a minute," he replied. "Today we cannot send and receive at the same time, but will shortly introduce the duplex and later the quadruplex system. For perhaps a month we will limit the service to 1000 words a day, to be increased very rapidly, as smoothness of operation is secured."

Perpetual Baseball Trophy

Chicago, Oct. 18.—The Chicago National league baseball team, winners of the world's championship, were guests of honor at an elaborate banquet here last night. A movement was launched for the purchase of perpetual trophy, emblematic of the world's' baseball championship, it being proposed to raise $4000 or more for this purpose. The trophy will be held for one year by the team winning the title, but cannot ever become the permanent property of any one club.

Trade With Japan Not Falling Off

New York, Oct. 18.—That there has been no falling off of trade with Japan following the Japanese-Russia war, but, on the contrary, a healthful resumption of normal requirements, was the statement of President Morse of the American Asiatic association at the annual meeting of the organization. Trade conditions in China, however, have not been so good, but there are prospects of recovery from depressed conditions.

AN ALLEGED BOOK THIEF

Vermont Minister, Arrested at Boston, In an Unfortunate Position

Boston, Oct. 18.—Rev. Frederick L. Bullard of Brandon, Vt., was arrested here on a charge of stealing books from bookstores in this city. He is specifically charged with the larceny of an English catechism, printed in 1753, and valued at $30, another book worth $20, and five less valuable books from some person unknown.

The minister was keenly sensitive of his position when placed under arrest and, refusing to be bailed, though offers of assistance were made him by friends, went to the city prison to spend the night.

Brandon, Vt., Oct. 18.—Rev. Frederick L. Bullard is pastor of the Congregational church here and has been held in the highest esteem in the community. Besides being most active in all church matters, Bullard is one of the trustees of the Brandon public library and has been most zealous in advancing its work. In fact he has been considered a bibliomaniac and is understood to have a fine library of old and rare works. It is believed here that his love of books must have turned his mind temporarily. He has a wife and five children who reside here.

Emperor's Condition Not Satisfactory

Vienna, Oct. 18.—Francis Joseph's catarrhal affection is slightly better, yet the coughing is frequent, dry and violent. The recurrences of the fever have taken a much milder form and now amount to almost unnoticeable changes in the temperature of the patient. In spite of these improvements, however, the general condition of the emperor is not quite satisfactory.

Directors' Election Delayed

Chicago, Oct. 18.—Until three men, who are locked in a room assiduously counting proxies, are able to report to the stockholders of the Illinois Central railroad, there will be no election of directors. Twice yesterday the stockholders assembled, only to be told that the proxy inspectors were not prepared to report. The meeting was carried over until this afternoon.

Rockefeller to Take Witness Stand

New York, Oct. 18.—W. G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, will be the last witness called in the hearing of the federal suit against the oil combine, whose session will be adjourned this afternoon for four weeks. Rockefeller telegraphed that he would be in the city today and would be prepared to take the witness stand.

Permanent Injunction Sought

New York, Oct. 18.—The application of President Pell of the United Typothetae of America, to make permanent the temporary injunction forbidding the pressmen and feeders from engaging in strikes and boycotts against the members of the typothetae in violation of contracts, was argued before Supreme Court Justice McCall. Decision was reserved.

More Preachers Wanted

Cleveland, Oct. 18.—The allurements of commercial life and fear of the "ministerial dead line" in losing their pastorates after middle age are assigned as reasons for the alarming decrease in the number of young men entering the ministry by the Congregational National council. Increased pay for ministers was the only solution suggested.

Explosion of Nitro-Glycerine

Petrolea, Ont., Oct. 18.—The magazine of the Petrolea Torpedo company exploded with terrible force. It contained about 400 quarts of nitro-glycerine. The company's factory is a complete wreck. Residences within a radius of a mile of the magazine were all more or less damaged. No one was in the buildings at the time.

Suicide In Unusual Manner

York, Pa., Oct. 18.—Jacob Dettinger, aged 59, a well digger, placed a stick of dynamite in his mouth and, holding it in his right hand, exploded the dynamite, blowing his head off and shattering the hand that held the explosive. Dettinger had brooded over the loss of some money.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A new naphtha spring and a large naphtha lake have been discovered near Nabilskaya bay, Russia. The new fields are accessible to large steamers.

Walter Bendig, aged 34, of Manchester, Eng., a sailor, was struck and killed by a train at Boston.

Rear Admiral George W. Melville, U. S. N., retired, of Philadelphia, was married to Miss Estella S. Polis, also of Philadelphia, at New York. Melville retired in 1903. He is 66 years of age and was a widower.

Benjamin Anthony, aged 73, a car inspector, was struck by a freight car at Taunton, Mass., and had both legs cut off. He died soon after.

Samuel W. Spence, aged 24, was killed by a fall of 100 feet from the top of a gasometer of the Worcester (Mass.) Gaslight company.

The annual report of the entire Baltimore and Ohio railroad system for the past fiscal year shows net earnings of $29,520,897.

Over $250,000 of public bequests was disclosed by the filing for probate of the will of Miss Florence Lyman of Boston, who died Oct. 5. Miss Lyman was a well known figure in Boston and Newport social circles.

Eli Ethier, a section hand, was killed at Spencer, Mass., by an express train.

Peter Mullen, aged 35, was beheaded while employed at his work as a coal handler at Boston, his head being caught in a hoist.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

Blanche Bates is to appear this year in a revival of "Madam Butterfly."

On account of ill health it is said that Forbes Robertson will not visit this country this season.

Viola Allen is to appear this season in "As You Like It," with special performances of "The School For Scandal."

Sarah Truax made her debut in Rochester in her new play, "The Spider's Web," by John Hutchins, under the management of John Cort.

Jeffreys Ellis is to open her London season in a play called "The Sugar Bowl." She ought to get some measure of sweet success out of a name like that.

Leo Dietrichstein in his comedy, "Before and After," is making a tour of the country. During this season he is to appear in every important city in the country.

Adelaide Prince has been engaged for an important role in "The Secret Orchard." It will be under the direction of Robert Hunter, Walter Bradford and Francis Reid.

During the holiday season Mrs. Fiske will appear in her new play, the Manhattan company will make its bow as a separate organization in the play that Langdon Mitchell is writing, and Mr. Fiske will produce a play by Rupert Hughes.

SPORTING NOTES.

J. B. Haggin says there's no money in raising thoroughbreds.

Tod Sloane says a man against the horse game is a 100 to 1 chance.

It looks very much as though The Leading Lady is the star two-year-old trotter of the year.

Jupe Girl, by Jupe, 2:07¼, carries a record of 2:25 and is the first of that horse's get to receive a record.

Jimmy Ryan, the famous major leaguer, will enter the Southern league next year as manager of the Montgomery baseball team.

Dan Kelly, the sprinter and broad jumper, has registered in the law department of the University of Michigan. Kelly comes from Eugene, Ore., and is the holder of the world's records for the 100 and 200 yard runs. He was in the University of Oregon last year.

Slieve Gallion, this year's Derby favorite and winner of the 2,000 guineas the Craven stakes at Newmarket, the St. James palace stakes at Ascot and for awhile regarded as the best three-year-old in England, has been sold to Baron Suzemere, an Austrian, for the nice sum of $75,000.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Do you give others as square a deal as you expect?

On the dead square, how much older are you than you confess?

Too much business makes a man cranky and too little makes him worry.

There are plenty of happy people, but they are unnoticed in the noise the wretched make.

The "well enough" that some people are willing to leave alone doesn't have to be very good.

Give a boy a nickel every day for a week and on Monday of the second week he will feel that you owe him a nickel every day.

It may be easier to talk to people's backs than it is to their faces, but there is one thing sure—the talk is bound to get around to their faces.—Atchison Globe.

LAW POINTS.

The use of voting machines is held in United States Standard Voting Machine company versus Hobson (Ia.), 7 L. R. A. (N. S.), 512, not to be prohibited by a constitutional provision that all elections shall be by ballot.

To hold a carrier liable for injury to a passenger by reason of a jolt of the vehicle it is held in Foley versus Boston and M. R. company (Mass.), 7 L R. A. (N. S.), 1076, that the passenger must show that the jolt was caused by the carrier's negligence.

A provision that after payment of a certain number of premiums an insurance policy shall become incontestable is held in Thompson versus Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company (Tenn.), 1039, not to apply to contests for failure to pay premiums.

THE COOKBOOK.

In cooking gooseberries add a pinch of soda the size of a pea to each quart of fruit, and less sugar will be required to sweeten it.

Scalding the milk for custard pie adds greatly to its flavor. An addition of a teaspoonful of brown sugar or molasses is also helpful.

The flavor of shrimps is much improved if boiling water is poured over them a short time before they are served. It must be drained away immediately.

It is said that potatoes will bake in much less time if the skins are greased before putting them into the oven. The skins will come off more easily and will be as thin as when boiled.

Danderine

Grew Miss Carroll's Hair

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT!

BEAUTIFUL HAIR

AT

Small Cost

WITHIN the last decade great and rapid strides have been made in Materia Medica. Many diseases that were considered incurable fifteen years ago are now cured in a few days, and in many cases prevented altogether. The scientists of late years have been searching for the cause, the foundation, the reason and the starting point of disease, fully realizing that the actual and true cause must be ascertained before a remedy can be created. Hair troubles, like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp, and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grown, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you are to expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment, and when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all of its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or even a tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural and logical thing to do in either case, is to feed and replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Dr. Knowlton's DANDERINE has a most curious effect upon the hair glands and tissues of the scalp. It is the only remedy for the hair ever discovered that is identical with the natural hair foods or liquids of the scalp.

It feeds and nourishes the hair and does all the work originally carried on by the natural nutrients or life-giving juices generated by the scalp itself. It penetrates the pores of the scalp quickly and the hair soon shows the effects of its wonderfully exhilarating and life-producing qualities.

One twenty-five cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself. Now on sale at every Drug and Toilet Store in the land. Three sizes,

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Ward Three Republican meeting at Doble's hall tonight.

The City Council Committee on Public Buildings will meet tonight.

J. H. Welch of Botolph street has accepted a position as druggist in the city, but for the present will make his home in Atlantic.

An inquest was held before Judge Avery this morning on the death of Howard H. Frye the boy who was killed by the electric cars on Quincy avenue, Oct. 5.

Michael Pitts of Hancock street, motorman on the street railway, and his brother Sam of South Walnut street have gone to Nova Scotia, having received word of the serious illness of their mother.

Chester Purtell, the genial night operator at the Quincy station, is on a two weeks' vacation. At present he is enjoying the hospitality of friends at Salem and next week will seek recreation in the Berkshires.

Norfolk lodge, A. O. U. W., of Atlantic, had a very enjoyable meeting Monday night. The members displayed their new initiation transparencies. Merry Mount lodge of Quincy and several Boston lodges were represented, and the visitors pronounced the work a great success.

A change has been made necessary in speaker at the meeting of the Mens club of the Congregational church at Wollaston next Tuesday evening. Secretary J. Frank Chase of the New England Watch and Ward Society will speak on the subject: "Our victory over the Bucket Shops." One of the Watch and Ward detectives will be present.

The Rev. W. G. Marsh of Adelaide, South Australia is to preach both morning and afternoon at St. Chrysostom's church, Wollaston, on Sunday, Oct. 27. The afternoon sermon will be especially for men. Rev. Mr. Marsh is the representative of the church primate in that section to the general convention of the Episcopal church, now being held at Richmond, Va.

Central Labor Union Cut Out Liquor

At the regular meeting of the Central Labor Union held Thursday night, James E. Corprew, former secretary of the Central Labor Hnion and secretary and business agent of the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers Local Union ,was unanimously endorsed for Representative in the Fifth Norfolk District on the Quincy Wage Earners nomination papers.

It was decided by the Central Labor union to request the Quincy Wage Earners club not to use any intoxicating drinks in their campaign to influence voters for the candidate.

A very liberal donation was made by the Central Labor Union to be used in defraying expenses for printing and hall rent in the campaign. A public meeting will be held at Wilson hall Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 8 P. M.

Three Sisters Become Brides

The unusual event of three sisters being married on one day at the same place took place at Christ church Thursday evening, when Miss Mabel Helen, Miss Florence Edith and Miss Alice Gertrude Hollingshead, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Hollingshead of Braintree became brides.

Miss Mabel was united in marriage to William J. Willey of Braintree, Miss Florence to James M. Smith of Quincy, and Miss Alice to Charles Howie of Quincy.

Shortly before four o'clock three carriages containing the three couples drove to the rectory, where they were met by Rev. William E. Gardner, the rector who tied the knots.

Owing to the illness of the mother of the brides, the ceremonies were made as quiet as possible.

After the ceremony the three newly married couples drove to Boston, where they had a wedding supper, after which they separated and started on their honeymoon trips.

Large Attendance At Elks' Carnival

But two more nights remain before the grand carnival of Quincy lodge of Elks, which has been in progress at the Coliseum all the week, will have come to an end, and passed into history. It will have left a mark, however, as being the grandest event of the kind ever held in Quincy.

Interest in the carnival has been at fever heat all the week. It has also been a trying week for the energetic committees who have worked day and night for its success, and will continue to work until Saturday night, when the thousands of electric lights are extinguished.

Thursday night's program included music by Rocketts orchestra with vocal selections by Mrs. Fannie Hatch Thayer and Harry Hudson of Holbrook.

The attendance Thursday night was fully as large as any night this week, and tonight promises to be fully as large. The Salem Cadet band will be heard again and in addition vocal solos.

Whist Party.

Electa hall was well filled Thursday evening, at the whist party given by the White whist club. The following received souvenirs: Mrs. D. Phelan, Mrs. W. Pratt, Mrs. S. Newcomb, Mrs. C. S. Murray, Mrs. C. P. Gould, Miss Mabel Cody, Mrs. Horton, Mrs. M. Pitts, Mrs. L. M. Shay, Mrs. Bessie Eddy, and Messrs. D. E. Henry, S. S. St. Clair, L. T. Horton, D. Bill, W. G. Shea, Chester D. Brown, and E. V. Warren.

Beautiful Quincy Scenery Unsurpassed

Among other beautiful spots in Quincy for sightseeing are the hills at West Quincy where are located the quarries of J. S. Swingle and the Granite Railway. A magnificent view is there obtained in all directions. At this season the foliage scenery is grand beyound description. From this eminence, Boston can be seen plainly, also a fine view of Boston harbor and Quincy bay, the Blue hills and the shipyard, and sightseers can realize the way that the famous Quincy granite is produced from the quarries. All should see to know the somewhat hazardous undertakings indulged in to quarry this the most beautiful and best granite quarried in the world for cemetery memorials. Take a day or afternoon off and enjoy the pleasure of a visit to these high hills these fine autumn days.

HOW TO TELL IF YOU HAVE WORMS

THE REMEDY THAT QUICKLY EXPELS THEM

The common symptoms of worms in children and adults are:—Paleness of the face with occasional flushing; indigestion accompanied by an unnatural appetite at times; foul tongue and offensive breath; itching nose; vomiting; grinding of the teeth during sleep; swelling of the upper lip; hard swelled bowels; griping or colic pains; also convulsions and many other unaccountable nervous symptoms, which, if not checked in time, lead on to something more serious.

TOOK DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR AND GOT WELL

SOMERVILLE, ME.

DR. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—

"For more than three months one of my children had been troubled with spells of vomiting and symptoms of fever nearly every week, together with canker-sores about the nose and mouth. I obtained, about two weeks ago, two bottles of your Elixir, and before the first bottle was exhausted the sores were entirely healed, and no appearance of his vomiting or fever-spells has ever returned. I really believe that the lives of thousands of children suffering from worms or canker might be saved by a timely and judicious use of your Elixir." Yours truly,

J. L. HAMMETT.

This is only one of hundreds of such testimonials. This marvelous remedy has been made and sold by Dr. J. F. True & Co. for fifty-six years, and in all that time nothing but words of praise have been bestowed upon it. This is what Mr. Wing thinks of it.

AUBURN, ME.

DR. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—

"For the past seven years I have constantly kept a supply of your Elixir in my house, and it never failed to give prompt relief. It has been a great blessing to my children, and unsolicited I give you this tribute of gratitude, hoping the merits of your unrivaled family medicine may be widely known and appreciated."

Very respectfully yours,

CHAS. E. WING.

Even though worms may not be found present Dr. True's Elixir tones up the stomach and liver. Read what Dr. J. Haley, of Brunswick, thinks of it:

"It is a safe and effectual remedy. For worms it has no equal, and is an excellent remedy for canker of the mouth and throat."

Dr. True's Elixir is sold by druggists everywhere at 35c., 50c., and $1.00 per bottle. The booklet, "Children and Their Diseases," will be sent free by simply addressing Dr. J. F. True & Co., Auburn, Me. We have a special treatment for tape-worm. Send for free book.

Methodist Club Open Season

The Men's club of the Wollaston M. E. church opened the season on Thursday evening with a good attendance. President Arthur B. Cassidy was in the chair.

The boys' choir of the church opened the program with a selection which showed that they have had careful training During the evening they sang three times and received applause.

Six or more candidates for admission to the club were present, and after an unexpected initiation ceremony, were elected members.

President Cassidy then introduced the pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Heath, who had words of congratulation and good cheer.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. J. Frank Knott of Boston, whose subject was "The advantage of being a Christian." In brief he said christianity emphasizes the immortality of the soul; it teaches that life is a tree, a school, an opportunity to enlarge; that it is constructive of good and destructive of evil; that it saves man from without and from within.

Councilman Walter S. Pinkham was then introduced to speak about government of cities. While a candidate for representative he said he did not wish this to be considered as a political rally.

In a heart-to-heart talk he told of the old town government of Quincy, and what led up to the city government adopted in 1888. The town meetings became unwieldly and it was necessary to adopt a representative government.

Under Quincy's unique city charter the responsibility rested almost wholly on the Mayor. He alone could appoint and remove officials. The schools were under the control of the School Committee. The duties of the City Council were to appropriate money, to grant rights in the streets, to say who shall have licenses, etc. The Councilman spoke at length on the pressure brought upon Councilmen to grant licenses and some of the evils. He also touched on finances, saying the trouble was not with the officials, but to the fact that Quincy was poor per capita; that it covered a large area, and had an unusually large number of school children. There was need of the equalization of taxation so that towns like Milton would not be favored at the expense of cities like Quincy.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Ladies Night Of the L. O. L.

Quincy lodge, L. O. L., held its third annual ladies night Thursday evening at Wilson's hall. The affair was largely attended, and as in other years the evening proved to be one of rare enjoyment.

Worthy Master Andrew Stewart presided, and after a piano solo by Mrs. Alberta Hewson made an address of welcome. He spoke of the growth of Quincy lodge and of the aims and objects of the order, urging all members to encourage eligible men to become affiliated with it.

Then followed a pleasing entertainment, the program including selections by a fife and drum corps from the Quincy band, whistling solo by Joseph Upling, recitation by Miss Beatrice Budd, Mandolin duet by Miss Annie and Miss Marion Wright, and violin solo by Miss May Stewart.

Then came a brief address by Rev. A. B. Thompson, followed by a piano solo by Harold England and song by Joseph Upling The entertainment closed with sleight of hand tricks by Charles Dornan. A social hour followed, during which a committee of ladies served ice cream and cake.

TODAY'S COURT.

Orient A. Tirrell was arraigned for being a railer and brawler at Weymouth. Case continued until Nov. 21.

George L. Piper was fined $5 for drunkenness at Milton, and David Gustafson $15 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Thomas J. Fitzgerald was arraigned upon three complaints, one for concealing leased property of T. L. Williams, and on two default warrants. All cases were continued until Saturday.

TO TEST URIC-O FREE!

75-Cent Bottle Given Free To All Who App'y.

If there are still any sufferers from Rheumatism in this county or wherever this paper reaches, that have not yet tried the wonderful Rheumatic Remedy Uric-O, we want them to try it now at our expense. We firmly believe that there is not a case of Rheumatism in the world that will not yield to the wonderful effects of Uric-O, and we want to prove it to every doubter beyond all possibility. The best way to do this is to give a large trial bottle of this remedy outright to every suffer and let him test and try it to his own satisfaction. If you or any of your family suffer from Rheumatism, no matter what form, just cut this notice out of the paper and send it together with your name and address, also the name of your druggist, to the Smith Drug Co., 288 Smith Building, Syracuse. N. Y., and they will send you by return mail a liberal trial package free of all expense. There is no reservation to this offer. You take the remedy home and use it according to directions until thoroughly satisfied of its merits.

We could not afford to do this if we did not know that after you are freed from this dreaded disease that you will recommend it to all your friends who have rheumatism. We know from experence that personal recommendation from one person to another is the most valuable advertising, and that is the way we intend to acquaint the world with Uric-O. Don't put off writing because this offer will soon expire, and then it will be too late. Do it today and start yourself upon the highway to perfect health and happiness. Send for Uric-O, no matter where you live. It is sold by Druggists all over this country, and we want you to have a bottle free.

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

The Location is the best of any hall in the city. The street cars pass the door with a turnout right in front of the Hall.

The Elaborate, Permanent Decorations which have just been put up are most attractive, and add much to the appearance of the Hall.

The Electric Light Festoon over the entrance way, flashing first red, then white, is a unique feature of much value.

The Moonlight Effect obtained by having the electric light come through Japanese lanterns is a pleasing innovation.

The Floor is of selected maple laid with the greatest care, and is kept in perfect condition, being covered with canvas when not used for dancing.

The Ventilation—a most important consideration—is such as to keep the air pure with even a crowded Hall.

The Hall is Lighted by electricity, brilliantly and pleasantly, and with a switchboard arranged so that all desired effects can be obtained in the Hall proper or on the stage. Gas is used as an auxiliary light.

The Heating is direct—indirect, ample, and giving the most healthful results.

The Stage has been designed with care, and is furnished with a particularly generous supply of attractive and appropriate scenery.

For Advertising, the Music Hall Billboards throughout the City are valuable.

To Darken the Hall, there are special window fittings so that at noonday the Hall can be made as dark as at midnight.

In case of fire there are pails of water and chemical fire extinguishers throughout the Hall. There is an asbestos fire curtain by which the Stage can be instantly cut off from the Hall proper. There are ten (10) doors opening from the Hall and six (6) separate exits.

As a whole, Quincy Music Hall has been carefully planned to meet the requirements of those who wish a large and really first class Hall.

PRESIDENT PIPER

Favorite Son Of Ward Three For Mayoralty Nomination

In response to the wishes of the Republicans of Ward Three, Walter E. Piper, the president of the City Council has consented to be a candidate for the Republican nomination. The declaration was made publicly last evening at a "caucus" of Ward Three Republicans called to nominate candidates for the regular Republican caucus to be held later.

Mr. Piper, as chairman of the ward committee called the meeting to order. John C. Murray was elected chairman and George Prout secretary, after others had declined to serve.

Chairman Murray asked if it was the wish of the meeting to place a candidate in nomination for Mayor. Our present Mayor of course is retiring after a term of three years. We have a very efficient gentleman who is available, a gentleman who has made one of the best presidents the City Council has ever had; one who has given the city service that Ward Three in particular should appreciate.

Assessor J. W. Pratt then moved

the nomination of Walter E. Piper for Republican candidate, saying his long service had qualified him for the position.

Without further comment the motion was put and adopted.

Mr. Piper, in accepting the nomination said he did not contemplate until a few days ago of becoming a candidate for the office of Mayor. When first nominated for Councilman six years ago I was camparitively unknown and untried. Perhaps I have been found not entirely wanting. I thank Ward Three in particular for cordial support for six years. Some months ago I positively refused to become a candidate for the nomination, but the pressure had been strong, especially during the last month, and I should not refuse to stand.

Mr. Piper said he had no platform at this time, but should the party ratify the choice of the meeting he should serve to the best of his ability. He thought it would be said that he had at least done conscientious work, as he had missed but three meetings of the City Council in six years, being out of the State each time.

The meeting voted not to put in nomination any candidate for Councilman at large.

Alexander Falconer, George Hunter and William H. Deacon were renominated as Councilmen from ward, but the last two declined after two years of service.

The nominees for the office after several declinations are: Alexander Falconer, Robert D. Craig, William A. Smith, John R. Nelson, Thomas Bishop, John Robie, and William T. Cummings.

Upon motion of President Piper, a vote of thanks was extended to the retiring Councilmen, Messrs. Hunter and Deacon.

There was some doubt whether John L. Miller would accept a renomination for School Committee, and it was stated that he would not. After several declined and the meeting had nominated John Elliot Sprague for the position, it was stated that Mr. Miller should be given a chance, and it was thought he would accept if elected, so he was placed in nomination.

As candidates for ward committee all the present committee were renominated also all the candidates for the City Council and some others.

About 9.30 the meeting adjourned. Mayor Thompson was present but took no part in the meeting.

Seventy Fourth Birthday.

At the home of her son-in-law, Charles M. Chase of Edwards street, a birthday surprise party was held Thursday in honor of Mrs. Sarah P. Hanscom, who is visiting there. Many kind remembrances was received from the ninteen members of her family present. Refreshments was served. With music and singing the company had a very enjoyable evening. A poem was composed and read by her granddaughter, Beatrice Hanscon of Cambridge.

Mad Dog.

A shepherd dog of W. T. Lelley of Water street went mad yesterday, and was shot by Officer Goodhue. The owner noticed that the dog was acting queerly and promptly shut him up and sent for the officer. Dr. Abele, who afterward saw the dog, said he had the dumb rabies.

LAHM CUP WINNERS

McCoy and Chandler Break Long Distance Balloon Record

START MADE FROM ST. LOUIS

Sailed All Thursday Night and All Day Friday, Covering Approximately Five Hundred Miles on a Straight Line Measurement

St. Louis, Oct. 19.—Swinging through the atmosphere at a speed estimated at 22 miles an hour, the United States signal corps balloon No. 10, in which Aeronauts J. C. McCoy and Captain Chandler of the signal corps ascended at St. Louis Thursday evening, passed over Illinois and Indiana Thursday night and across Ohio yesterday, and last night probably landed in the vicinity of Point Pleasant, W. Va. The distance covered, on a straight line measurement, is approximately 500 miles, and the length of the voyage won for the aeronauts the Lahm cup.

When the ascension was made Thursday evening it was the intention of the aeronauts to remain in the air all night as a test of the gas to be used by the balloons in the international aeronautic contests, which begin next week. However, considering the likelihood that they might be carried a long distance, they went all prepared for a long flight. Provisions in tin cans, self-heating by a lime-slacking device, were stored in the basket, and a number of different instruments for testing purposes were carried.

The balloon, with a capacity of 78,000 cubic feet of gas, was filled Thursday afternoon. A number of members of the Aero club of St. Louis and visiting aeronauts were present when the ascent was made at 4:10 p. m. The balloon rose gracefully and suddenly veered as a sharp wind struck it, colliding with the timbers that supported a huge coal pile in the gas plant yard. The basket scraped a moment threateningly, but prompt work by the aeronauts in throwing out sand ballast caused the balloon to shake itself free from the coal pile undamaged and shoot straight up several hundred feet. Then it swept toward the northeast and was soon lost to view.

The first report received from the aeronauts was a message dropped near Leesburg, O., and telegraphed by the finder to The Associated Press office in Chicago. The message stated that the balloonists had dropped it at 6 a. m. and that they were then traveling southeast rapidly.

Later the balloonists were seen passing over Gallipolis, O., and by the middle of the afternoon they were in West Virginia, near Point Pleasant. There the balloon started up the Kanawha valley, according to a telephone message to St. Louis. Members of the international balloon contest committee and other aeronauts say that the flight will establish an epoch in balloon sailing.

The Lahm cup was instituted by the Aero Club of America soon after the international races at Paris in 1906, when Frank P. Lahm won the James Gordon Bennett cup for the Aero Club of America. So joyful were the members of the club at the victory that the cup was named for the pilot of the balloon "United States" and it was put up by the club to be won by the aeronaut who traveled more than 402 miles, the distance traveled by the "United States" in the Paris races, provided the start was made from American soil. Lahm has never held the cup and this was the first time it was ever won.

The balloon Stevens No. 21, in which Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post ascended at 6:30 Thursday evening, landed yesterday 16 miles from Indianapolis and about 225 miles on a straight line from St. Louis. The balloon carried 55,000 cubic feet of gas and Hawley and Post made the ascension simply as a test flight. The bag was filled with gas of an inferior quality as compared with the gas used by McCoy and Chandler.

The world's balloon record, which has stood for seven years, was established in 1900 by Count Henri De La Vaux, who covered 1300 miles in a balloon from Paris into Russia. He broke the record established July 1, 1859, by Professor John Wise, who covered a distance of 1150 miles from St. Louis to Henderson, N. Y.

Smuggling In Mail Bags

Ogdensburg, N. Y., Oct. 19.—Customs officers accidentally discovered that bags used for transferring mail between Brockville, Ont., and Morristown were being used for smuggling articles across the border. The officers saw an unmarked package dropped from an unlocked bag. The packages contained 18 beautifully embroidered flannel dresses for children. Asked for an explanation, the Canadian mail carrier fled from the postoffice and escaped back to Canada in a sailboat.

Hearst on the Stump

New York, Oct. 19.—All the persons who could get into Cooper Union heard the speeches with which the county convention of the Independence League was opened last night. The principal speech was made by William R. Hearst, who urged the election of the Independence League and Republican Fusion ticket as representative of a sentiment opposed to unworthy public servants and party bosses.

DIVORCE A NECESSITY.

Lillian Russell Believes Marriage Contract Shouldn't Be Permanent.

In an article prepared for publication Lillian Russell recently declared a few thoughts on "love, divorce and matrimony," says a Cincinnati dispatch to the New York American. Excerpts follow:

"I do not believe a marriage contract should be permanent. Under existing conditions it is impossible for a woman to know what a man is and for a man to know what a woman is until they have been married.

"Divorce is one of the greatest blessings in the world today. It is moral degradation for a woman and a man to live together as man and wife after love has passed away. For the woman I can imagine no more terrible fate than to be fettered to a man she has ceased to love. Divorce is a necessity. The present condition of affairs is deplorable. Nine marriages out of ten are unhappy. I do not wish to give the impression that I am a free thinker, and I would not have marriage abolished. But the system as it now is is faulty.

"I think the responsibility for unhappy marriages lies mostly with the woman. If she did not feel she was obliged to marry there would be fewer unhappy marriages.

"There is less excuse for the stage woman to go astray than there is for others who are less independent. A woman's financial independence is her greatest blessing. It will keep many a one from saying the fatal 'yes' when it should be 'no.'

"I want to warn girls against proposals tainted with the smell of whisky. Such marriages are always unhappy.

"Every girl and woman should have some sort of religion. It may be Mohammedan, Buddhist, Christian Science—anything, just so there is a strong belief in something. Religion helps a girl over the rough places. With it she will be good—unless she wishes to be bad."

BASEBALL IN AUSTRALIA.

Game Thriving There, and Many Leading Cricketers Play.

Baseball is flourishing in Australia, according to a letter recently received by A. G. Spalding from Sydney, N. S. W., and all efforts are now being directed toward getting the public school boys interested in the game, says the New York Times. In Sydney eighteen teams occupy the diamond every Saturday afternoon during the winter, and if more ground was available more players would undoubtedly be identified with the sport. In Melbourne, Victoria, the southern state, many teams also play regularly every Saturday afternoon, and the public is being attracted for the reason that the teams get a chance of playing in advance of the football matches, which are liberally patronized.

In Hobart, Tasmania, baseball has been successfully inaugurated this year and is being played with great success. It is also conspicuous at Newcastle, N. S. W., and for a season flourished in Brisbane, the capital of Queensland, but owing to the scarcity of grounds and the migration of the pioneers it fell through. Every year an interstate series of games is played between Victoria and New South Wales in each capital city alternately, and players travel 600 miles and pay their own expenses to indulge in the contests. Many of the leading cricketers take part in the games.

It is expected that at no distant day baseball will be played on an organized basis, and in this direction the New South Wales association has been doing good work, and the present position of the game there is principally due to the efforts of the association.

Isles of Refuge For Birds.

Securing as permanent homes for the birds islands and remote tracts that are their favorite haunts is a humane and perfectly feasible plan of the Audubon society that has recently received a cordial indorsement from President Roosevelt, says the Boston Transcript. This project of enlarging birdland by purchasing from private citizens breeding places in the island and coastal region of the Atlantic, Pacific and of the gulf and of providing the birds in their homes with human guardians is one that may be depended upon to provide every race among our nation's birds with ample quarters for all time. And it is only by such a thorough and wide flung measure that this desired end may be assured. The aid of every American citizen is justly sought that the best success may attend the efforts of the Audubon society in this direction.

Hail to Thee, October!

Banner month of all the year,
Month of cool and balmy airs,
Of the fields that glow ablaze
With the goldenrod each bears—
October!

Month of ripened fruits and grain,
Of the brilliant flowers of fall,
Of the queen chrysanthemum,
Regal bloom that rules them all—
October!

Month of nature's gorgeous hues,
When the woods with beauty blaze,
Every color rainbow hued,
Pouring glory on thy days—
October!

Month of warm and sunny hours,
Free from summer's burning heat,
But with genial atmospheres,
With a crisp aroma sweet—
October!

Month of beauty, month of calm,
Free from cold or heat's excess,
Bringing ease and gentle peace
In a languorous loveliness—
October!

Month of all months in the year,
Queen of its maturity,
Splendor glowing in thy heart.
All the world sings hail to thee—
October!

The Scrap Book

Pat's Arithmetic.

They were driving around the lakes of Killarney on one of the jaunting cars and got to talking with the driver. Among the information he gave them was that the clergy exacted a tenth of every person's property for the use of the church.

"That's a big slice out of your income, Pat," said one.

"Arrah, that's nothing! Bless your soul, they'd be after takin' a twentieth if they could."

LOVING.

Unless you can think when the song is done
No other is soft in the rhythm;
Unless you can feel when left by one
That all men else go with him;
Unless you can know when unpraised by his breath
That your beauty itself wants proving;
Unless you can swear, "For life, for death!"
Oh, fear to call it loving!

Unless you can muse in a crowd all day
On the absent face that fixed you;
Unless you can love as the angels may,
With the breadth of heaven betwixt you;
Unless you can dream that his faith is fast,
Through behooving and unbehooving;
Unless you can die when the dream is past,
Oh, never call it loving!

The Coat With a Hole In It.

An old colored farmer near Washington, having sold his crops, came to town to find a safe place for his money. He consulted a friend, who took him to the People's bank, which had been established for colored people, introduced him, deposited his money and got a bank book for him. When the farmer came to deposit the money for the next crop he found a colored man in charge and asked:

"Whar's de pres'dunt, mister?"

"He has resigned, and I have his place now."

"You got de white gemman's place now?"

"Yes, and I hope to serve you just as well as he did and be equally worthy of your patronage."

"You mought be dat, Mr. Pres'dunt, but I'd lak fer you ter hand me dat money I jis gib you and gib me back what I 'posited las' time, too, if you please. I done tuck notus dat whenever a white man gibs a nigger his coat the coat is got a hole in it sho."

The bank soon afterward failed, and the depositors lost everything.—Lippincott's.

He Did His Best.

A hungry Irishman went into a restaurant on Friday and said to the waiter:

"Have yez any whale?"

"No."

"Have yez any shark?"

"No."

"Have yez any swordfish?"

"No."

"Have yez any jellyfish?"

"No."

"All right," said the Irishman. "Then bring me ham and eggs and a beefsteak smothered wid onions. The Lord knows I asked for fish."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Opened by Mistake.

The man had been rushed to the hospital and after a hurried diagnosis was operated upon for appendicitis. But the surgeon found nothing wrong with his appendix, so he sewed him up and sent the man back to his wife with this note pinned to his clothes: "Dear Madam—I opened your male by mistake. Humbly beg your pardon. Dr. Black."

Declining a Manuscript.

This is how the editor of a paper in China declines a manuscript: "Illustrious brother of the sun and moon! Look upon the slave who rolls at thy feet, who kisses the earth before thee, and demands of thy charity permission to speak and live. We have read the manuscript with delight. By the bones of our ancestors we swear that never before have we encountered such a masterpiece. Should we print it, his majesty the emperor would order us to take it as a criterion and never again print anything which was not equal to it. As that would not be possible before 10,000 years, all tremblingly we return thy manuscript and beg thee 10,000 pardons. See—my head is at thy feet, and I am the slave of thy servant."

As the Boy Saw It.

The Loan Was Returned.

Just why she was carrying a five cent piece in her hand as she climbed into the car was not quite clear. A stout gentleman in the cross seat in front of her turned as she entered, for she was very pretty. His hat brim struck the hand with the nickel daintily held between thumb and finger, and the coin dropped down his back.

"I'm really very sorry," she stammered as he gave a convulsive shudder, for it was evident that the nickel was sliding down the length of his spine.

"It's of no consequence at all," said the stout gentleman. "I don't feel it at all now. If you have a silver dollar or a gold locket or"—

"But," she began, still more flustered, "I really must have it back again, for it's the only change I have."

The smile dropped off the face of the stout gentleman, and he began to look apprehensive. His hands moved falteringly toward his collar button and then fluttered toward his belt buckle.

"Hold on there!" shouted a hale old gentleman farther along the seat. "If it's coming to that, we'll take up a collection. For the time being that nickel has got to stay right where it is."

And the stout gentleman, catching the suggestion, put his hand into his pocket and, with a low bow, said, "Permit me, madam, to return your loan."

Not a Sport.

A well known clubman of Boston was married during the early days of last winter to a charming Wellesley girl, who, of her many accomplishments, is proudest of her cooking.

The husband returned late one afternoon to his home in Brookline to discover that his wife was "all tired out."

"You look dreadfully fatigued, little one," came from hubby in a sympathetic tone.

"I am," was the reply. "You see, dear, I heard you say that you liked rabbit, so early this morning I went to the market to get you one. I meant to surprise you with a broiled rabbit for dinner, but I'm afraid you'll have to take something else. I've been hard at work on the rabbit all day, and I haven't got it more than half picked."—Lippincott's.

Against His Creed.

The noted Rabbi Hirsch had arisen to give his seat to a young woman in a crowded street car, but before she could take it a burly young fellow slid into it.

The rabbi looked intently at him, and, after an uncomfortable silence, the young fellow blurted out: "Well, what're you glarin' at me for? Want to eat me?"

"No," calmly replied the rabbi, "I am forbidden to eat you—I am a Jew."—Chicago News.

Dead Letter Office Mail.

A traveling man received the following telegram from his wife:

"Twins arrived tonight. More by mail."

He went at once to the nearest office and sent the following reply:

"I leave for home tonight. If more come by mail, send to dead letter office."

More Than They Wanted.

On his trip homeward by trolley a tired business man was annoyed by three middle aged ladies who stood near him. They seemed determined that he should offer one of them his seat.

He screened himself behind his paper and listened to plainly audible remarks about the decline of gallantry. This grated on his nerves, so he arose and, with a profound bow, addressed the three.

"Will the oldest of you ladies honor me by accepting my place?"

Whereupon they became interested in the advertisements over the windows, and the man resumed his seat.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Telescope Proprietor—Will the bald-headed gent please step away from the front of the instrument?

Two Foolish Situations.

A farmer went into a hardware store and while purchasing some tools was asked by the proprietor if he did not want to buy a bicycle.

"A bicycle won't eat its head off," said the man, "and you can ride around your farm on it. They're cheap now, and I can let you have one for $35."

"I'd ruther put the $35 in a cow," replied the farmer.

"You'd look almighty foolish riding round your farm on a cow," said the hardware man sarcastically.

"No more foolish than I would milking a bicycle."

A Sure Cure.

He was very sick, and his doctor told him that he had to change his mode of living and prescribed "going to bed early, eating more roast beef, drinking beef tea, a month's rest at some quiet watering place and just one cigar a day." A month later the invalid met the doctor, and the latter complimented him on his improved appearance.

"Yes, doctor," said the patient, "I look better because I am better. I went to bed early, ate more roast beef, spent a month in the country and took great care of myself, but that one cigar a day nearly killed me, for I had never smoked before."

Washington and Teacher Differed.

The teacher was announcing the holiday of Feb. 22 and asking them questions concerning its observance, among others, why the birthday of Washington should be celebrated more than that of any one else. "Why," she added, "more than mine? You may tell me," she said to a little fellow eager to explain.

"Because he never told a lie!"

The After College Girl's Complaint.

A lady was calling on some friends one summer afternoon. The talk buzzed along briskly, fans waved and the daughter of the house kept twitching uncomfortably, frowning and making little smothered exclamations of annoyance. Finally, with a sigh, she rose and left the room.

"Your daughter," said the visitor, "seems to be suffering from the heat."

"No," said the hostess. "She is just back home from college, and she is suffering from the family grammar."

THE WHITNEY TICKET

Declared Legally Nominated at the Springfield Convention

THIS THE OFFICIAL DECISION

Bartlett's Name Will Be Upon the Ballot, but Opponent Will Alone Have Right to Use Designation "Democratic" Thereon

Boston, Oct. 19.—The Massachusetts ballot law commission, having deliberated for an entire week and received voluminous testimony from both sides as to the respective claims of Charles W. Bartlett and Henry M. Whitney to the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts, in dispute as the result of dual tickets emanating from the tumultuous convention at Springfield on Oct. 5, last night rendered its decision that the certificate of nomination of Whitney and the remainder of the Whitney ticket be accepted as the expression of the will of the Democratic party of Massachusetts.

As both Whitney and Bartlett have already filed nomination papers, both will be on the ballot as candidates for governor at the election next month, but by last night's decision only Whitney will have the right to use the designation "Democratic" in connection with his candidacy. The name of Whitney, in fact, will appear three times upon the ballot in connection with the Democratic Citizens,' Democratic Independent and Democratic tickets. Bartlett's ticket will be designated as the anti-merger ticket.

The Democratic state ticket, as it stands approved by the ballot law commission, is as follows: For governor, Henry M. Whitney of Brookline; lieutenant governor, G. M. Schofield of Ipswich; secretary of state, O. Z. E. Charest of Holyoke; treasurer and receiver general, D. S. Doherty of Westfield; attorney general, (no nomination); auditor, Joseph A. Conry of Boston.

The decision of the ballot law commission ends a political battle, except for the final casting of the ballots at the polls, conceded to be the most critical and complex in the history of the commonwealth since the days of General Butler. The convention held at Springfield, for riot and disorder, hardly has a parallel in the history of either party in the state.

While the Bartlett forces maintained the apparent control of the convention and selected its tickets throughout without allowing any interference, the Whitney forces, realizing they could secure no recognition from the opposition controlling the session, withdrew to the rear of the convention hall and, following the exact forms of a convention session, placed in nomination a second ticket headed by Whitney.

To the Massachusetts ballot law commission fell the decision of determining which ticket should go upon the ballot as the Democratic ticket, the commission being composed of F. W. Estey, H. V. Cunningham and S. C. Brackett, all of Boston. A large number of witnesses were heard, including delegates for both Whitney and Bartlett, police officers, spectators and newspaper men, with the convention officers of both factions.

One of the first matters presented was a petition from E. G. Brown of Brockton, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Independence League ticket, praying that the commission declare both nominations void, owing to "gross fraud and disorder in the convention." Such a decision would have meant the failure of the Democratic ticket to appear upon the ballot either at the coming election or a year hence and effect an annihilation of the Democratic party for two years in the state of Massachusetts as a political party.

Swedes Seek Information

Washington, Oct. 19.—Secretary Ekengren of the Swedish legation left for New York last night to consult with the New York Yacht club relative to the challenge which it is expected will be made by the Swedish yachtsmen. Ekengren, in a private capacity, has been asked to confer with the New York Yacht club officials in order to facilitate an agreement on conditions under which the club would be willing to accept a Swedish challenge.

New Cable In Operation

New York, Oct. 19.—The direct New York-Havana cable of the Commercial Cable company has been completed, the final splice having been made at sea. Felicitious messages were exchanged between Governor Magoon of Cuba and President Mackey of the Commercial Cable company.

Wireless Line Kept Busy

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 19.—"Yesterday we transmitted 13,000 words by wireless across the ocean to Europe and received 2000 words in return from the other side," was the statement Marconi made yesterday of the result of the first day's working of the wireless trans-Atlantic service.

King Wants Facts Kept Secret

Brussels, Oct. 19.—The Soir says that King Leopold has refused to accept the decision of the parliamentary commission requiring the submission to parliament of all the facts concerning the Congo loans. The opinion is generally expressed that another ministerial crisis is inevitable.

PEACE CONFERENCE ENDS

Roosevelt's Initiative In Important Matters Is Highly Appreciated

The Hague, Oct. 19.—The second peace conference came to its end amid the condemnation of those who had, in good or bad faith, expected wonders from it, and the acclamation of those who had not drawn too far-reaching expectations from the first meeting of all the representatives of the civilized world.

There was unanimous acclamation of President Roosevelt for his initiative in convoking the conference, and in a new manifestation in favor of continuing the peace conference and the further developmet of the principle of a world understanding to regulate international relations, the delegates reiterated their approval of Roosevelt's course of action.

It is understood that a propaganda in favor of these ideas is to begin immediately and will continue until the meeting of the next conference. Baron D'Estournelles de Constant (France) already has invited the representatives of Latin-America to hold a meeting in Paris on Nov. 14 to discuss a proposal that the countries of Latin-America send to Paris special delegations, the members of which will be received by the government, parliament, and the municipality, with the view of establishing closer relations between these countries and France.

Loans by Standard Oil

New York, Oct. 19.—William G. Rockefeller, assistant treasurer of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, testified yesterday in the government's suit for the dissolution of the oil combine, that the Standard was a heavy lender of its surplus funds in Wall street. Rockefeller made this declaration when asked to account for the loans of $32,000,000 made by the Standard Oil company of New York in 1896 to "interests other than the Standard." Concerning the $20,000,000 loans to P. S. Trainor by the Southern Pipe Line company, Rockefeller said he had no knowledge.

Chinamen Resort to Violence

Philadelphia, Oct. 19.—The warring factions of Chinese in this city engaged in a fierce combat in Chinatown which resulted in the death of Lee Dick and Lee Ting and the probable fatal shooting of Leoy Tong. The authorities say the killing was the result of a premeditated plan made by members of the Hip Sing Tong society to assassinate witnesses who were to have testified yesterday in the trial of two Hip Sing Tong men, charged with the murder of Long Yung, a member of the On Leong Tong society.

Ray of Hope For China

Pekin, Oct. 19.—The speech delivered by Secretary of War Taft at Shanghai on the occasion of his entertainment there has created great interest among high officials, who are disposed to interpret the utterances of Taft as meaning that the attitude of the United States in the Far East is to be backed up by the presence of the fleet in the Pacific. Chinese of high standing welcome anything that promises even the slightest relief and digression from the exactions of Japan.

Arrest of Wounded Woman

New York, Oct. 19.—Miss Clara H. Stewart, said to be a magazine writer, received what is feared will prove a mortal wound through the discharge of a revolver at the home of her parents here last night. Though her parents stated that the shooting was accidental, Miss Stewart was placed under arrest. Her condition forbade her removal to a hospital.

Bulkheads Kept Steamer Afloat

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 19.—In a dense fog, steamer Tartar collided with steamer Charmer off the Sand Heads light, at the mouth of the Fraser river. The Charmer struck the Tartar squarely on the port bow. Both vessels began to fill, but the compartment bulkheads kept them from sinking. Both ships have arrived here.

To Keep Peasants at Home

Budapest, Oct. 19.—The Hungarian government is negotiating for the purchase of extensive estates owned by aristocrats in order to divide the properties into small farms to be sold or rented to the peasantry. The object of this course is to restrict Hungarian emigration to the United States.

Francis Joseph Losing Ground

Vienna, Oct. 19.—Emperor Francis Joseph's malady, a catarrhal affection, remains practically the same. One favorable sign is the absence of fever, but altogether the situation is more serious than it has been for some days past.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Dr. John M. Thomas, pastor of the Arlington Avenue Presbyterian church, East Orange, N. J., who was elected to the presidency of Middlebury (Vt.) college, has not decided whether he will accept.

Mrs. Lawrence Flannigan, aged 70 years, died at her home at Clinton, Mass., from burns sustained while trying to light a fire with kerosene.

In connection with the departure of the battleships of the Atlantic fleet for Pacific waters it is understood that a home squadron will be created.

The activity in the shipyards of Bath, Me., has been renewed by the recent award of the construction of two torpedo boat destroyers to the Bath Iron works.

Massasoit, the chief sachem of the Wampanoag tribe of Indians, who died in 1661, was honored by the erection of a tablet over the famous Massasoit spring at Warren, R. I.

Woman's World

MRS. KATE E. JONES.

The New President of the Woman's National Relief Corps.

Mrs. Kate E. Jones, the new national president of the Woman's Relief corps, who was elected to its highest office by the great woman's auxiliary of the G. A. R. at the annual encampment in Saratoga last summer, is one of the ablest of patriotic workers. In choosing her the Woman's corps has honored one of its best known veterans.

Mrs. Jones is a pioneer in the work of the W. R. C. She has been in the movement ever since it began, and she helped it to begin. It was Mrs. Jones who organized and was made president of the first Woman's Relief corps in New York state. That was in September, 1883. Six months later, through her efforts, the department of New York state was formed.

The first national convention of the Woman's Relief corps at Minneapolis in 1884 found her seated as a delegate.

She was elected national chaplain in 1888; has served two years as department president and four years as department counselor. For the past four years Mrs. Jones has been devoting her efforts to the new work of patriotic instruction, inaugurated by the Woman's Relief corps, in which she has done efficient work, traveling all over the country and introducing new features—the department presentation of flags, the badge pin contests and the flag mission to the white schools of the south.

MRS. KATE E. JONES.

Mrs. Jones gets her patriotic impulse directly, being a lineal descendant of the Herkimer-Schuylers of Revolutionary fame. A strong effort was put forth for her election last year. She won out this year in a lively contest for the leadership.

Why We Do These Things.

Many customs are so common that we have lost sight of their origin. Times and habits have changed. Relics of olden days have been handed on and carried down from generation to generation to our present day.

Shaking hands is an example and began in this way: When adversaries were making a truce with one another each found it wiser to grasp the other's weapon hand to insure himself against treachery. The truce concluded, they became friends, and so the custom grew as a salutation between friends. Even nowadays enemies do not shake hands till peace—a truce—is made.

Perhaps the modern woman discovered the origin of the courtesy, and that is why it has dropped out of use. At one time it was the custom for women to go on the knee to men of rank to beg for mercy, and later it became an acknowledgment of superiority. That is why it is still retained where royalty is concerned, but the example of the old country woman who still "bobs" to the squire's lady is not followed by the younger generation, and the pretty courtesy that was the fashion when our grandmothers held sway is now forsaken and almost obsolete.

A man when greeting a lady raises his hat. Why does his salutation take this form?

In the days when armor was more fashionable than silk hats or panamas the helmet was only raised when no danger was near, so to lift the hat was a sign that the wearer dared to stand in the presence of the person so greeted unarmed.

What of the oldest of old customs, the kiss?

To kiss is to adore, and the word adore signifies simply to carry the hand to the mouth. Kissing the hand to the statue of a god was a Roman form of adoration and as a mode of salutation expressed reverence and worship. To kiss the book when taking an oath is a public acknowledgment that you adore the deity whose book you kiss. To kiss the lips is to adore the living breath of the person saluted. In Scripture allusion is made to kissing the hem of garments, which signifies an adoration of anything belonging to or touching the wearer, while kissing the feet or ground was to humble oneself in adoration.

He Got Even.

A sculptor was praising the personality of the late Augustus St. Gaudens.

"He was a strangely generous and upright man," the sculptor said. "He could stoop to nothing mean or ignoble even in the case of his worst enemy.

"A few years ago there had been a squabble in certain art circles, and some rather ignoble things had been done. These things depressed St. Gaudens. He told me that in their nastiness they reminded him of a young Frenchman he had known at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris.

"This Frenchman was riding with St. Gaudens on a tram one summer day when the wife of an instructor at the school entered.

"'How do you do, madame?' said the French student politely. 'Did you enjoy your stay at Ostend last week?'

"'Thank you,' said the lady, 'but I have not been at Ostend.'

"The other looked amazed.

"'But surely,' he said, 'I saw your husband there and on the hotel register'—

"'Hush!' whispered St. Gaudens sharply. 'Hush, you idiot!'

"And just then, very pale, trembling slightly, the lady rose and got off the tram.

"St. Gaudens after she was gone said:

"'Did you really see old'—

"'No, of course not,' the French student interrupted, with an impatient, snarling laugh. 'But the beast flunked me last term, and I have been waiting to get even ever since.'"

The Genuine Rug.

The imitations are so clever that it is well to know when one is purchasing a genuine oriental rug. If real and not an imitation, each stitch will be found knotted, whether of cotton or wool. But if one can pull out a stitch then the rug is not genuine, no difference how much it may resemble one or what the dealer says. If a rug is accidentally burned and the charred part is brushed off, leaving the color the same, the rug is undeniably good, though this is no method for finding out when one is making a purchase. Even damaged rugs are brought here and sold, for the older some of the rugs are the more value is attached to them.

Don't Find Fault.

It doesn't pay to be continually finding fault. It is a very easy matter to pick flaws, for no one's work is perfect, but fault finding is apt to become chronic and grow on one just as an evil habit does, increasing day by day.

There is nothing so disagreeable as to visit a house where fault finding is continually going on, where, even at the breakfast, dinner and tea table, some one or other is constantly being found fault with for some trifling error.

Sometimes, of course, it is necessary, but not nearly so often, I fancy, as some of us are apt to imagine.

For Cleaning Silver.

Take two ounces of best yellow soap, four ounces of common soda, six ounces of whiting and one pint of boiling water. Shred the soap finely and dissolve in the water with the soda; then stir in the whiting and let it simmer on the stove till all comes to a cream, stirring often. To clean plate rub the paste all over the silver with a hot, wet flannel; then wash each piece in water and dry at once. No leather is required if a dry cloth is used.

Newest of Cooking Wrinkles.

This is the way a woman who has lived in Normandy serves her cabbage, after the Norman fashion: She takes out the center and saves it for cold slaw. Into the hollow left she fills a dressing made of cold cooked meat cut fine, a minced onion, boiled rice and seasoning of kitchen herbs, salt and pepper. She ties the stuffed cabbage into a cloth and boils it for an hour. A sauce made of the liquor in which it was cooked is served with it.

Not Her Forte.

The story goes that a pretty young lady once played in class a ballade by Chopin in a very amateurish way. Liszt walked up and down the room excitedly murmuring: "Heiliger Bimban! Heiliger Bimban!" the equivalent apparently of "Great Scott!" But when she had finished he went up to her in a most friendly manner, laid his hand upon her head as if in benediction and said gently: "My dear child, marry soon! Goodby!"

Fearless Women Travelers.

Miss Lavina Rudberg was chosen by Yale university to travel far up into the wilds of the Quinault Indian reservation to take the physical measurements of the braves and squaws there. She has just returned from a journey of a wild and dangerous character through forests, over mountains and over lakes in a frail canoe. Miss Rudberg and Miss Zoe Kincaid hold the record for fearlessness among women adventurers.

Keeping Graceful.

"I never eat rich or greasy foods; I never sleep in a closed room; I walk every day—that is all," a prominent actress is said to have answered when asked how she managed to keep her youthful grace and beauty of figure when actually a grandmother. Indolence and indulgence in eating what tastes good regardless of consequences have much to answer for as beauty killers.

If a person is seized with violent convulsions and loss of consciousness, you may know that he has a fit of some kind. The head should be raised a little and no stimulant given; the limbs should be allowed plenty of freedom, and a little beef tea or milk should be given on recovery.

To clean cut glass wash thoroughly with warm soapsuds and cover with sawdust for an hour or two or until perfectly dry, then brush off with a soft brush and it will be clear and sparkling.

New stockings should always be washed before being worn, for the washing causes slight shrinkage and makes them wear better.

A new range should be very gradually heated to prevent the possibility of cracking.

Blue White Granite.

W. L. Saunders of South Quincy returned this morning from Freeport, Me., where the firm of Long & Saunders recently purchased a quarry. Just previous to Mr. Saunder's leaving for home a very large block of granite was started in the quarry. Its dimensions were 40 by 30 by 15, and weighed in the rough about 1,000 tons. The granite is a blue white of fine grain and can hardly be told from the blue Westerly stock. It is used largely by Quincy manufacturers in preference to Westerly on jobs that call for considerable carved work. Three car loads of the granite was shipped to Quincy this week.

Sentence Suspended.

Thomas J. Fitzgerald, who was arrested in New York for the Quincy police on a default warrant, was given a hearing in the district court this morning. Fitzgerald purchased some articles of jewelry in January, 1905.

These he was to pay for on the installment plan. He paid for a time and then stopped. He was brought into court for concealing leased property and the case continued. In the meantime he skipped.

This morning he pleaded guilty to two complaints and the default was then removed. The court imposed a sentence of three months on each cases until next March to allow him to make restitution.

Little Girl Burned.

The 8-year old daughter of George F. Leat of 81 Brackett street had a narrow escape from being burned to death this morning. The little girl was playing in the street when some Italian boys chased her.

The boys carried a lighted torch on the end of a stick which ignited the girl's clothing, which blazed up, and but for the prompt work of Mary McGrath and Julia Crowell the girl would probably have been burned to death. They saw the blazing clothing and by prompt work succeeded in extinguishing the flames.

The girl's burns were attended by Dr. Jones. It is thought that she was seriously burned.

Farewell Reception To the Robertsons

Last evening in the First Presbyterian church, a farewell reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Dugald Cameron Robertson, who are about to leave Quincy to make their home in the far west. They were assisted in receiving over 200 of their friends by Rev. N. J. Sproul, pastor of the church, and Miss Margaret I. Shirley.

A short but pleasing program opened by a duet by Jeanie and Helen Cumming folowed by a solo by Mr. Ernest Collins. Mrs. John Capacicoli ous reading ,after which Mrs. Bingdelighted the audience with a humorham sang beautifully, having chosen songs that are ever dear to the heart of many who were present. Mrs. Grant, who has already become a great favorite, gave much pleasure in the beautiful rendering of the solos which she sang. Mrs. Bingham and Mrs. Grant were both accompanied by Miss Margaret Carruthers who added much to the pleasure of the evening.

As an expression of esteem and appreciation the members of the church and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, presented them with a purse containing three gold pieces. Through Mr. Sproul, the boys of Mr. Robertson's Sunday school class, presented him with a pair of gold cuff links, and from his fellow members of the session of the church he was given a black silk umbrella.

Mr Sproul in presenting these tokens of remembrance, spoke feelingly of the esteem in which both Mr. and Mrs. Robertson were held by members and by their friends in general throughout Quincy, and referred to the untiring work which Mr. Robertson had done for the church, to the faithful, willing and cheerful manner in which all had been done, and wished the couple God speed on their journey, and God's blessing in their new home, to which there would be many loving thoughts go out from friends in Quincy.

That Mr. and Mrs. Robertson carry with them the well wishes of their host of friends, was attested by the many expressions which were made before the close of the evening.

In responding, Mr. Robertson thanked one and all for their kindness, and spoke of the many pleasant memories that would be carried to the new home, and of the joy there had been in the work he had tried to do, especially in his labors among the children.

The gathering, which will long be remembered, broke up with the singing of "Blessed be the tie that binds," but many who were present lingered for a last farewell.

Children's Day At Carnival

Today is childen's day at the Elks' Carnival, and early this afternoon hundreds of children were seen wending their way toward the Coliseum, and the indications at 2 o'clock were that the hall would be packed to its doors. All children were admitted free, and a unique entertainment for their benefit was given by Prof. Jordan, consisting of moving pictures and illustrated songs.

Tonight the carnival will come to a close, and it will be known who was fortunate enough to be awarded that motor boat and the piano. For entertainment the Salem Cadet band will be present and give another of its popular concerts interspersed with vocal music by the Winthrop Male quartet.

Last night's attendance was fully as large as it has been any night during the week. The Salem Cadet band gave a concert and there were vocal selections by Martin J. Sherry and Grafton Walls the boy soprano.

Voting List Statistics

Althought the Registras of voters added a large number of names to the voting lists during the recent registrations, which closed Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock, the grand total of voter is 16 less than it was at the election in November 1906, and 159 less than at the close of registration for the Municipal election in December 1906.

During the year it is always necessary to drop many names from the lists for various reasons. Many of these re-register before the Municipal election and also before the State election if there is any particular interesting contest on.

This year it happens that there is no particular local or state interest and many have neglected to get their names on the voting lists, and therefore will be deprived of the right to exercise their suffrage at the coming election.

There is however sure to be considerable interest in the coming Municipal election and a heavy registracipal election and a heavy registration is looked for in November. The following table shows the names on the voting lists by precincts at the close of registration Wednesday, compared with the total number on the lists for the State election of 1906 and the Municipal election of 1906.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

The underbrush along Quincy avenue is being trimmed.

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held Monday evening.

The street car sprinkler broke another axle this week and is again hauled up for repairs.

A decided change in the temperature today from what it has been for the past two days.

The Atlantic Combination was called out ot midnight to extinguish a fire on Neponset bridge.

Charles H. Burgess has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to be about again.

With concerts and balls by the Letter Carriers' association and Firemen's Relief association next month, the month promises to be a social one.

The steamboat South Shore, built at Quincy, carried 126,212 passengers between Boston and Nantasket the past season, the steamboat Nantasket being the only boat to carry more.

The Granite City club will hold a series of weekly whist tournaments during the coming winter, commencing next Wednesday evening.

Charles Vergobbi returned this week after spending two months in his native town Milan, Italy.

Parties unknown visited the quarry of C. H. Hardwick & Co. last night and removed a lot of brass cups from the machinery.

The Houghs Neck steamboat line from Boston carried 19,401 passengers the past season, according to a report of the surveyor of port of Boston. This was more than was carried by the King Philip.

Mr. Baker the dancing teacher has been engaged to instruct a private class in dancing at Electa hall every Friday evening. The class opened last night and is composed mostly of married couples. Information regarding the class will be furnished by Mrs. D. Remick or Mrs. P. Kribs.

Reapers circle of Christ church is arranging for the entertainment of the Quincy Union of King's Daughters in the Parish house next Saturday from four until eight. Speakers at the afternoon session will be Rev. W. E. Gardner and Mrs. Sawtelle, who will speak of the Pond Home for the Aged. At seven Miss Mary Blodgett will tell of the work of the Travelers' Aid society.

No attempt whatever was made at the Thomas Crane Public Library today to observe the birthday of the generous benefactor owing to the unsettled condition incident to building the addition. A letter was received from Albert Crane, through whose generosity the addition is being built, stating that he would be on later.

Former Letter Carrier

James Copland, one of South Quincy's well known residents passed away, at his home 73 Quincy street this morning after a lingering illness of consumption.

Mr. Copland was born in Scotland but had been a resident of Quincy for many years. He was a stone cutter by trade working at this business until October 1898 at which time he was appointed a letter carrier from the Quincy office.

Previous to that time he had served for three years as a substitute carrier. A year or so ago owing to failing health he obtained a year's leave of absence hoping a rest would be beneficial.

The sought health did not return and last December he tendered his resignation as a leter carrier which was accepted with regret.

Postmaster Hammond and other officials of the post office department speak of him in the highest terms.

Mr. Copland was also a musician and for several years was a member of the City Band of Quincy. He was also a member of Clan McGregor, O. S. C., and the Quincy Letter Carriers' association.

He was 49 years of age and leaves a widow and three children.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. not only attract trade but they also hold it. We've proved it!

Why do they do it?

1st. Because Ralstons have no superiors in style and workmanship among shoes that sell for any where near the same price.

2d. Because of the anatomical construction of Ralston lasts (shaped like the bottoms of your feet) they have no equals in fitting qualities. Ralstons need no "breaking in."

3d. Ralstons wear longer and retain their shape longer because aside from the superior materials which they certainly contain, they fit properly and there is no undue strain on any part.

We'd like to show you our Fall styles.

ALL HAVE CONFIDENCE

Ministers Adopt Resolutions Favorable to Quincy Pastor

Dr. Hardy has not yet returned from Cleveland, Ohio, but Rev. John L. Sewall of Randolph, a fellow delegate has returned, and has explained the situation satisfactorily to Mrs. Hardy.

Mrs. Hardy wishes to repudiate all interviews in newspapers credited to her, especially that of the Boston Journal. She has also refused to give photographs. She has full confidence in her husband.

At the regular weekly prayer meeting of Bethany church last night there was about the usual attendance. Several present expressed their confidence in their beloved pastor of fourteen years, and a determination to stand by him.

Whether he will occupy his pulpit on Sunday is not known, as he may not reach home.

Full Confidence.

New England Congregational ministers who were present at the council in Cleveland this week, express confidence in the Quincy pastor.

Not one of the NewEngland attendants at the council was aware of the situation until just before they were to board the train for home. It was immediately proposed that a committee should remain in Cleveland to render him all the assistance he needed in defending himself from the charges made by the police. Later it developed that the Cleveland ministers had volunteered to undertake that task ,and they departed for home.

While en route the following memorial was drawn up and signed:

"We, the undersigned, who know Edwin N. Hardy of Quincy, Mass., hereby express our full and implicit confidence in Dr. Hardy as a Christian minister in good standing and a man whose character is absolutely above reproach and believe him to be animated by the highest motives in all his conduct."

This document was signed by the Rev. Asher Anderson of Cambridge, secretary of the national council.

Rev. Daniel Evans, Cambridge.

Rev. Henry H. French, Malden.

Rev. William H. Bolster, Nashua, N. H.

Rev. William B. Prentiss, Connecticut.

Rev. Everett A. Junt, Brunswick, Maine.

Rev. Frank J. Goodwin, Pawtucket R. I.

Rev. Philip S. Moxom, Springfield.

Rev. R. Dewitt Mallory, Massachusetts.

Rev. Arthur B. Pratt, Vermont.

Rev. Austin Hazen, Connecticut.

Rev. R. Y. Tyler, Connecticut

Rev. Henry H Kelsey, Connecticut.

Rev. Oliver B. Loud, Weymouth.

Rev. Samuel W. Dyke, Auburndale.

Rev. J. V. Clancy, Portland, Me.

Rev. J. L. Thurston, Whitinsville.

Rev. Willis A. Hadley, Keene, N. H.

Rev. C. H. Rickett, Connecticut.

Rev. Clarence S. Swift, Fall River.

Rev. C. H. Daniels, South Framingham.

Rev. Charles A. Dinsmore, formerly of South Boston, but now of Connecticut.

Rev. Frank W. Merrick of Roxbury.

Prof. Calvin M. Clark and Prof. Eugene W. Lyman of the Bangor Theological Seminary, Bangor, Me., and Mr. Charles M. Rutan of Brookline, the later being the only layman whose name appears on the memorial.

An Outrage.

Rev. John L. Sewall, pastor of the Randolph Congregational church, returned from Cleveland yesterday afternoon and to a Globe reporter expressed his indignation over the arrest of the Quincy clergyman.

"I think it no less than an outrage," said Mr. Sewall, "and that is the belief of the leading citizens of Cleveland and of the people who attended the triennial Congregational council. Mr. Hardy was there attending the meetings, and his interest in slum work led him to take a walk late Wednesday night.

"He was met, as your paper says, by a woman who told a most pitiful tale. Mr. Hardy is very sympathetic and the woman's condition, for she appeared to be very sick, led him to offer her any help within his power. She seemed anxious for the welfare of her family and told such a story of suffering that Mr. Hardy accompanied her to the house where she said she lived.

"As soon as Mr. Hardy had entered the house he realized its character. Turning about, he stepped outside and was promptly placed in custody by two 'plain clothes men.' He had not been in the house two minutes.

"It is the opinion of Cleveland's best people and of those who attended the sessions of the council that Mr. Hardy's arrest is a blackmailing scheme, pure and simple. Joseph G. Jennings and his father-in-law, Mr. Lamson, are leading merchants of Cleveland, and they, with others, are determined that the whole affair shall be thoroughly sifted and Mr. Hardy's name cleared.

"Some have even stated that the attempt to discredit Mr. Hardy was brought about because Mayor Johnson was not invited to give the address of welcome at the opening of the council, but that Congressman Burton, Mr. Johnson's opponent in the mayoralty contest, was on the program of speakers.

"People who know Mr. Hardy believe that the charge against him was preposterous. His personal character is above reproach. Today I talked with Theophilus King, president of the National Granite Bank of Quincy. Mr. King is a leading member of Mr. Hardy's church, and he says that he is confident that it is 'a put up job.'

"When all the facts are brought out by an investigation, as they will be, there will be no doubt in anyone's mind of Mr. Hardy's innocence."

Too Dangerous.

The Boston Tribune says editorially:

"It is rather a hazardous avocation for a clergyman with a church, this investigating the slums for sociological purposes, and we have no doubt that the Quincy pastor who was arrested and fined out in Cleveland for indulging too practically in that study is convinced of the truth.

"This is a censorious old world and particularly so in regard to the slightest lapses from the conventionally proper on the part of ministers of the gospel. It is inevitable and proper that that should be the case, for the standing of the head of a church cannot be under suspicion without grave harm to his work. And the towns are full of scoffers who will seize upon a ministerial scandal and roll it around with far more delight than any other sort. Noblesse oblige applies with tremendous force to the pulpit."

Quincy Rector There

Rev. Walter Russell Breed, rector at Christ church in this city from 1893 to 1900, and well acquainted with the Quincy pastor, and now rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church in Cleveland has added his declaration to the many vouchers of Mr. Hardy's good character. However according to a Cleveland dispatch, he declared Mr. Hardy was ill-advised in going on a sociological expedition in a strang city without a local preacher of prominence to vouch for him, however.

Collier Everett Delivered Today

The Fore River Shipbuilding Company delivered the new collier Everett to her owners, the Massachusetts Steamship Co. at 10 A. M. today at the Fore River yard. Her maiden voyage will be to Baltimore. There were no formalities connected with the transfer of the ship, although the amount of money involved was large. Papers were passed transferring owenership, all the things required by the United States government and the insurance companies having been completely done, the vessel is now ready for her work. Her officers will be uniformed like those in the regular lines, and the design on the front of the caps, with the letters "M. S. S. C." is very handsome.

Sinclair Stewart of New York, surveyor of the U. S. Standard Register of Shipping, was at the yard yesterday and delivered the Everett's three certificates of classification, machinery and boilers and electric light. The Everett is built to the standard.

Assistant Manager Brown has returned from a business trip to New York.

When the "Everett" had done her prettiest on her trial run, the men in the engine room were mightily pleased. But with the usual reticence of engineers they were not saying much. One man whose, beaming face showed his contentment over the ship's performance summed up the situation thus: "Oh yes! She's a good old mill." But it meant volumes.

Warren A. White of the hull drafting room has gone to the Jamestown Exposition for a two weeks' visit.

Joseph Carruthers of the Hull drafting room has gone to Tamworth, New Hampshire, for a few days' visit.

BRAINTREE.

Walter Deacon Co. of Quincy have this week reset the monument for the Randall family in the Pond street cemetery.

George Reviere, who is employed as conductor on the electric cars, has returned from New York, where he and his bride have been spending their honeymoon.

Harry Simonds has disposed of his boats and has arranged to have three new ones made, which will be placed in commission in the early spring in Sunset lake.

Cleveland Palmer of Middle street, who is at the Y. M. C. A. health resort at Edgewater, Col., has gained eight pounds in weight. His neighbors and many friends are glad to receive the good news.

Monatiquot Lodge, K. of P. will hold another rehearsel Monday evening Oct. 21 preparatory to working the Rank of Knights long, Monday Oct. 28. Monatiquot Lodge whist parties are progressing nicely and you are invited to visit them.

The warning signs to automobilists to moderate their speed because of thickly settled villages, are placed in position on the highways throughout Braintree. The plainly painted boards are neatly lettered and are fastened to substantial posts.

The meeting of the Norfolk and Pilgrim branch of the Women's Board of Mission will be held at Holbrook on Tuesday next.

Mrs. D. G. Doane of Bowditch street went as a delegate from All Souls Alliance to a convention held at Manchester, N. H., on Thursday.

The home of Miss Florence Henhessey was invaded by about forty of her young friends on Thursday evening and she was given a genuine surprise. Friends were present from Weymouth, Braintree and Quincy. Ice cream, cake, fruit and candy were served. Another surprise to the hostess was the presentation of a gold ring and two

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Krasinski of Quincy have rented the Alden Bowditch house on Quincy avenue. Mr. Krasinski is recovering from the fright and hurt occasioned by the abandoned pistol found in the house, Mr. Krasinski thought it unloaded and was examining the revolver when a sudden report was heard and his wife felt a blow over her right eye. Dr. J. F. Welch of Quincy was hastily summoned.

Mr. C. W. Daily and son Chester are having great luck hunting at Brewster, killing twelve geese out of a flock of hirteen at one time.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Clark of Norwood have been visiting their parents Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Clark this week.

It was a jolly crowd of members of the Royals baseball team that gathered at the home of Ralph Newcomb of Hollis avenue Monday evening, for the election of officers for the coming season and also for the purpose of forming a permament association which it was voted to be called the Royal Social Association. The following officers were elected: for the presidency William Perry elected over Joseph Drinkwater and Lloyd Weston was defeated by J. Drinkwater for the office of Vice President. Alfred DeCoste was elected unanimously for the position of Secretary-Treasurer. The Board of Directors constitute five members: A. DeCoste, W. Perry, J. Drinkwater, W. Levangie and Lloyd Weston. It was also voted to change the name of the Royals, the name chosen was the Royal White Sox.

On Wednesday evening of this week a social dance was held in Cochato hall under the direction of the house committee. Music was furnished by Mullally's orchestra. The attendance was not as large as usual but those who attended report a good time.

The fair held by the ladies of the St. Francis' society at the Town hall, during the week has been fairly well attended and it is hoped that a goodly sum will be realized. The opening was attended by Rev. J. J. Ryan, permanent rector of the Catholic church at Harvard square. Rev. John Coan of the mother church of Quincy, Rev. John P. Cuff of Atlantic, former curate of Quincy, whose place in the memory and affections of his Braintree friends is kept ever green. Rev. J. Fitzgerald, the newly appointed curate of the parish, all of whom spoke in praise of the object of the fair and urged the hearty co-operation of all, that the desires of the Rev. Pastor M. F. McDonnell may be speedily realized and that the near future may see the beginning of a new structure, that will be both a fitting tabernacle for the divine guest that is its constant occupant and where the fast growing parish may be decently and comfortably housed. It requires only that all show interest, that none hold aloof—that each realizes that necessity of compliance to the six commandments of the church each of which is equally binding the fifth as truly so as the second.

About twenty-five young friends of Miss Mildred Brown of Arnold street, Braintree, gave her a complete surprise Thursday evening, the occasion being her fourteenth birthday .They were all neighbors and were invited to the party by Miss Edith Hall who worked hard for the success of the affair. While Miss Brown was entertaining her guests with the graphophone she was interrupted by Miss Margaret Dam who in behalf of all present presented Mildred with a gold bracelet. Miss Brown was so completely astonished that for a moment she failed to find words to express her appreciation.

CONDITION OF THE BANKS

Declared to Be Satisfactory, but Changes In Directorates Are Forthcoming--Clearing House Aid Tendered the Mercantile Bank

New York, Oct. 19.—While by no means a "black Friday," yesterday was far from being a fair day in Wall street, and when trading closed genuine satisfaction was expressed that a short Saturday and a Sunday would force a lull, during which many things were possible of adjustment.

The prompt action of the clearing house committee in eliminating the Mercantile National bank as a disquieting factor should result by Monday in pretty well clearing the atmosphere. Yesterday, however, this influence was offset by frequent rumors that at the committee meeting at which the solvency of the Mercantile had been established, there had been a further discussion in which the names of other banking institutions were involved. The clearing house committee minimized consequent fears by declaring that the condition of the banks generally was satisfactory, though the qualification was made that in some instances changes in the directorates of other banks might be necessitated. It was insisted that there was nothing alarming in the local banking situation.

In the Stock Exchange the metals and affiliated stocks continued their downward movement, carrying with them the general list, particularly railway shares. The selling was heavy and the market feverish throughout, being susceptible to vague influences. Thirty railroad and industrial stocks closed at the average price of 85 1-4, against Thursday's average of 86 7-8. The same stocks a month ago averaged 95 5-8 and a year ago 139 7-8.

The change in the management of the Mercantile National bank, the presidency of which was resigned by F. Augustus Heinze Thursday, was made complete yesterday. Following its investigation of the institutions's affairs, the clearing house committee yesterday extended the bank cash assistance, but as a condition precedent to this demanded the resignations of the entire board of directors. These were immediately presented to the president of the Clearing House association, who will appoint a new board. Some of the old board may be reappointed.

Other developments yesterday consequent upon the collapse of the Heinze projected copper corner included an announcement that Otto Heinze & Co., at a meeting of creditors next week, would offer a settlement in full of all claims which the firm considered "legal." These were said to total about $2,000,000 and did not include the claims of Gross & Kleeberg, whose failure Wednesday was declared by the firm to be due to the repudiation of orders for copper buying received from the Heinze house.

In the supreme court an attachment was issued for $103,075 against property of the State Savings bank of Butte, Mont., in favor of the Mercantile for a balance alleged to be due on a demand note of $150,000 made by the State Savings bank on March 5.

Conservative Wall street men express the opinion that the flurry is over, so far as serious results are concerned. A representative of the clearing house said: "The situation is now under control, and no untoward developments are looked for."

Bank Examiner In Charge

Butte, Mont., Oct. 19.—There are no developments in the suspension of the State Savings bank except the arrival of State Bank Examiner Collins, who took charge. Collins said he would be unable to make a report on the institution's condition for at least a week.

Workman's House of the Future

New York, Oct. 19.—The laboring man who makes $1.50 a day can have an indestructible three-story cement dwelling built in 12 hours at a cost of $1000. The foregoing is one of several startling statements made by Thomas A. Edison when visited at his laboratory at Orange, N. J., by a delegation of 300 members of the American Electro-Chemical society. Edison exhibited a model of a Queen Anne cottage which he expects to build next spring by means of a system of patent moulds.

Condition of Trade

New York, Oct. 19.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that autumn retail trade broadens under the stimulating influence of favorable weather, and collections also improve. While reports are almost unanimous regarding the satisfactory volume of retail distribution of seasonable goods, in other sections of commercial and industrial activity there is some irregularity, attributed in most cases to higher rates for money.

Women In Dynamite Scrape

Joplin, Mo., Oct. 19.—Five persons suspected of being implicated in the dynamiting of the Joplin News-Herald plant were arrested here. They are Minnie St. Clair, Charles Smith, U. S. Martin, Bessie Beam and Hazel Pay. The arrests were made at the home of Minnie St. Clair.

SENTENCE LONG DEFERRED

Alleged Smugglers of Chinese Now Say That They Are Guilty

Boston, Oct. 19.—James B. Lehneman of Brookline and Goodman Phillips of Roxbury, the alleged principals in the Chinese smuggling expedition of the schooner yacht Frolic, which was captured over a year ago in the harbor of Providence, retracted their plea of not guilty before Judge Dodge in the United States district court yesterday and pleaded guilty to the indictment charging them with conspiracy to smuggle aliens into this country.

By agreement between Assistant United States District Attorney Garland and Harvey S. Pratt, counsel for the defendants, sentence was deferred until next February.

Dartmouth Adjunct Dedicated

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 19.—The new auditorium at Dartmouth, Webster hall, the cornerstone of which was laid during Webster centennial week, 1901, and which is named in honor of Dartmouth's greatest statesman and the "refounder of Dartmouth," Daniel Webster, was dedicated last night in the presence of over 2000 Dartmouth students and alumni. The dedication speech was by President Tucker.

Charged With Stealing Books

Boston, Oct. 19.—Rev. Frederick L. Bullard of Brandon, Vt., charged with the larceny of old and valuable books, was arraigned before Judge Wentworth and held in $300 bail, furnished by G. E. Talbot. It is alleged that several books belonging to a number of local bookksellers were found in his possession, and four separate charges are made against him.

Slayer of Aunt Sent to Prison

Boston, Oct. 19.—Francisco Cefala, an Italian, who shot his aunt, Anna Meta, inflicting wounds from which she died, pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter and was sentenced to state prison for a term of not less than 15 nor more than 20 years. Cefala was enraged because he heard that his aunt had made disparaging remarks about his mother.

Nothing Great From Grand Jury

Boston, Oct. 19.—After five days of probing in connection with the milk case and the charges that certain persons in the fire department had purchased their promotions through politicians, the grand jury adjourned yesterday without making any report. One secret indictment was returned, but it is said that it is only in connection with a routine case.

Labor Delegate's Complaint

Providence, Oct. 19.—The United Textile Workers voted to instruct the executive council to call an immediate strike in the mill of a nearby city, affecting several thousand, unless a woman delegate who had been employed at the mill 35 years and who was discharged because, she claims, she left her bench to attend the convention, is reinstated.

Boy Perhaps a Suicide

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 19.—Despondent because of a parental reprimand, Ralph I. Turner is believed to have drowned himself in Silver lake, Athol. Turner returned home from school Thursday afternoon with a note from his teacher, saying that he had been unruly for several weeks. His parents reproved him and he soon disappeared.

Claims Shooting Was Accidental

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 19.—The Rockingham county grand jury returned an indictment for manslaughter against Cyril Le Groleau, an aged farmer of West Derry, because of the shooting of his son, Fred, aged 30. According to the father, the son had been drinking and the shooting was the accidental result of a family quarrel.

Murdered His Sweetheart

Boston, Oct. 19.—Walter Stock was sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of his sweetheart, Mary A. Bates, at the street railway waiting room at Roxbury Crossing. The court accepted Stock's plea of guilty of murder in the second degree. The shooting followed a quarrel over religious matters.

Yale Loses Prehistoric Specimens

New Haven, Oct. 19.—Crashing down on prehistoric specimens which cannot be duplicatel, plaster fell in the Peabody museum at Yale, smashing fossils and other remains of animals which were discovered, restored and named by Professor Marsh.

Remembered the Reporters

Boston, Oct. 19.—Daniel E. Malone, aged 53, leaving a note for the benefit of the reporters, stating his name and age and the fact that he was married and a waiter by occupation, committed suicide by inhaling gas in his room in this city.

Moran Loses an Assistant

Boston, Oct. 19.—Philip J. Doherty, for some months assistant district attorney of Suffolk county, has tendered his resignation to District Attorney Moran, and it has been accepted. Doherty resigns to care for his private practice.

Lockjaw Followed Vaccination

Middleboro, Mass., Oct. 19.—Clara Gilbertini, aged 6, died from lockjaw, following vaccination. The Gilbertini child was attended by a doctor who states that some unclean matter must have found its way into the wound.

Six Years For Manslaughter

Boston, Oct. 19.—Convicted of manslaughter in causing the death of Vincenzo Longo, following a quarrel over cards at the North End, Domincio Augustino was committed to the Concord reformatory for a term of six years.

"JIGGERS" FOR COD.

Device to Catch the Fish Without Any Bait.

IS SNAPPED AT EAGERLY.

Captain Hires of Gloucester, Mass., Makes a Discovery Likely to Revolutionize the Codfishing Industry. The Lure Is Easily Made.

Captain Angus Hines, a weather beaten fisherman, has invented a new method of capturing cod without bait that promises to revolutionize the fishing industry of New England, says a Gloucester (Mass.) dispatch to the New York Telegram. All along the coast from Maine to Cape Cod the baitless method of taking cod has become a topic of interest.

For nearly a score of years the cost of salted clams, squid and eels and other cod bait has been an important factor in reducing the profits of New England fishermen.

Captains of fishing schooners that sail from Boston, Cape Ann and Cape Cod have been obliged to fill their vessels' holds with bait in barrels before proceeding to the fishing grounds. The salted clams have to be shipped from Maine for this purpose. Often days are spent on the fishing grounds in capturing squid for bait.

Captain Hines, who recently sailed into Gloucester in his vessel, the Annie M. Parker, with 375,000 pounds of cod, a record load, created a sensation among fishing concerns by catching fully half of this cargo by means of his latest fangled device for luring the cod from the depths.

Captain Hines when he started for Sable island in May carried 140 barrels of salted clams for bait. Before returning he threw fifty barrels overboard and gave away twenty barrels to other fishermen.

This new device for taking fish has been named "the jigger." It consists of a molded fish shaped piece of shiny lead about eight inches long, from the head of which projects a pair of big hooks.

When Captain Hines arrived on the fishing grounds at Sable island last May he discovered that the schools of fish were slow to take the clam bait. Instead the cod seemed to be pursuing the herring which infested the waters. Confronted with this problem, the captain set to work to solve it. It was impossible to obtain herring enough for bait, and the thought struck him that a device made to deceive the cod would solve his troubles.

With a piece of lead the captain fashioned a little fish over the upper ends of two large cod hooks and threw the device overboard at the end of a line as an experiment. A cod snapped at the jigger and was hauled aboard the dory. Another and another were caught by the same method in rapid succession. Immediately the crew of twenty-two on Captain Hines' vessel set to work modeling jiggers. In another day the men were busy hauling aboard scores of cod caught by the new device.

The codfish does not bite the bait, but swallows it whole, with the result that whenever one of the fish tackled a lead jigger he usually swallowed both hooks in his greed to gulp down the little lead fish above.

Captain Angus' discovery was due to his knowledge of the habits of the codfish. He knew the cod was one of the greediest fish in the sea. When hungry a cod snaps at almost any kind of a fish. Often fishermen have cut out of these fish stones and cockles, pieces of slate, wood and other articles which the fish had mistaken for prey and had gulped down ere it was too late.

Captain Hines' vessel was known as one of the ablest hand liners of the Gloucester fleet, carrying twenty boats, which during the stay at the grounds were each occupied by one fisherman with jiggers and lines.

In places where the bottom is sandy the fishermen upon their arrival last spring were able to see thousands of cod swimming below the surface. As a consequence when fish made a rush for the jigger and failed to capture the lead bait a little jerk of the fisherman's line would often result in impaling the prey in the side or hooking it by the tail.

So successful were the men on the Parker that Captain Robert Winslow of the Dora Lawson immediately equipped his crew with the jiggers and rivaled Captain Hines in filling up his hold.

Captain Winslow also recently arrived in Gloucester with 250,000 pounds of cod, fully half of which were captured with the jigger.

To Illuminate Battlefields.

An interesting novelty that has been recently introduced into the German army is a revolver which fires illuminating bullets, says the Washington Herald. The weapon has the general appearance of the regular service revolver, but is larger in caliber and in general dimensions. The bullets after being fired became highly illuminating. The discharge is practically noiseless. The bullet rises about a hundred yards and has a range of about the same distance. Wherever the bullet alights the landscape is lit up as brilliantly as by daylight for about half a minute. This enables attacking troops to reconnoiter effectively and readily to detect the presence of an enemy. On falling to the ground or on buildings these illuminating bullets do not set fire to combustible objects, and they are therefore not dangerous to use in localities where fire might be as dangerous to the attacking troops as to the enemy.

How the Chicken Was Hatched.

[Original.]

At one time during the civil war while we were campaigning in Virginia our brigade became separated from the main army, and we were in such a position between the Confederate forces that if they could have acted in concert they might have captured us. But neither one knew of the other's proximity—that is, we inferred they did not, for they made no move against us. But even if both knew of the other's presence they could not communicate with a view to making a concerted attack without sending a messenger through our lines.

One morning when I was in charge of a picket post a young girl came into the lines with a basket of butter on one arm and a basket of eggs on the other. She said she had come from a small plantation just without our lines and would like to sell us her produce. Since our rations had for some time been largely composed of salt pork and hard tack my mouth watered for her wares. I tasted the butter and found it delicious. As to the eggs, they looked tempting enough; but, yielding to an old habit when buying eggs, I held a number of them up to the light to make sure they were fresh. All transmitted a portion of the light except one, which transmitted none. It seemed to be of exactly the same weight, size and shape as the others; but, looking through it, I could not see a ray of light.

"There's a chicken in that one," I remarked to the girl.

"If there is, I don't see how it got in. I'll take it out. I think the rest are all right."

She took the egg out of my hands. I selected half a dozen of the others and a pound package of the butter—all I could take care of while on duty—intending them for our company mess. The girl went on in toward the camp, and I saw no more of her. We did not refuse citizens admittance within our lines. We reserved our refusal till they asked to go out. And we especially objected to their going out on the opposite side from which they came in. It was passed down among us from headquarters that we were between two fires and no person whatever should be permitted to pass through our lines.

We enjoyed our fresh eggs and butter immensely and wished all the dairymen in Virginia would come in with their produce. Several officers asked where we got them, and when I told them that a country girl had come into camp to sell them one of them went off to find her. This was in the evening after supper. The inclosure within the picket circle was not very large, and he might easily have come upon her if she had been in camp. Either she was not in camp or she was hiding. Some one suggested that she had gone through the lines. As our safety depended upon no one in the Confederate interest getting through the lines, this excited attention. I set out with several others on a still hunt, but we all came back with the report that no girl of the description given was in camp. I felt it my duty to report the matter to the general, only mentioning the girl and my having bought some of her butter and eggs. The general swore a good deal when he heard it, since he had given strict orders as to the departure of any citizen from our lines. Every officer of the picket was questioned, and all avowed that no one had gone out during the day. The only way I could account for the girl's disappearance was that she had stolen out between two pickets after dusk.

The next morning a flag of truce was seen coming, and when it arrived the officer in command presented a demand for the surrender of the brigade, stating that they had us surrounded. The general sent them back with a proposition which delayed matters till after nightfall. Then he ordered the four regiments composing the brigade to cut their way out in four different directions, each fighting on its own hook.

That was a terrible night. I shall never forget it. Our regiment took to a wood, where we came upon several regiments, and in the fight one half were captured, the other half getting through and away. I was with those who were captured. Two of the other regiments were taken entire, and a third had the good fortune to strike an unguarded opening and marched through it.

The next morning I with the other prisoners was undergoing an inspection by the general who had captured us when one of the officers with him, a beardless boy, rode up to me and put out his hand.

"How are you, captain?" he said. "I owe my life to your stupidity. If you'd been smart I would have swung within a few hours after you passed me into your lines."

"Who are you?" I asked, puzzled by a resemblance I could not explain.

"I'm the country girl who sold you butter and eggs. My neck being in a halter, I got nervous and left the wrong egg in the basket. That egg you couldn't see through was filled with sand and a message from my general to General B. here, arranging for a concerted plan to capture you Yanks. Of course you couldn't see through it. There was a chicken in it, as you said, and the chicken has been hatched."

When I was exchanged the war was over. I was glad of it, for I had no heart to continue in the service after the fearful results of my stupidity. From that day to this I have never been able to bear the sight of an egg.

Novel Offering Is a Miniature Fish Basket.

HINTS FOR XMAS PRESENTS.

Silver Bodkins In Sets With Scissors to Match Are Used In the Kits or Make Pretty Independent Gifts—A Case For Wash Ribbons.

One of the novel offerings in the line of lingerie ribbon kits is a miniature fish basket made of fine wicker and shaped exactly like the spacious receptacle for trout and pickerel. The ribbon basket is just large enough to hold two or three spools of baby ribbon. The cover lifts back, and the inside is padded with silk to match the basket lining. Thrust through a ribbon strap crossing the center of the cover lining are three silver bodkins made in the shape of fish, the heads forming the point and the tails being slit crosswise to admit the various widths of lingerie ribbon.

Flat silver bodkins in sets of four can be bought on fancy silk covered cards, and in the jewelry shops they are sold in leather cases. Some of them have tiny scissors to match. The bodkins range in size from the round one designed to go through the eyelets at the top of a chemise or nightgown to the broad flat one an inch across the opening. If wider ribbon than this is used, as is sometimes seen in fancy muslin petticoats, then a bodkin has to be made to order or else the ribbon must be folded. It is much better to have the bodkin eye the exact size of the width of the ribbon to prevent folding or twisting. That is why the set of four is necessary to any complete ribbon outfit.

These bodkins are plain or engraved with an all over design. It is smart to have one's initials or monogram cut on each one if the bodkins are plain. In selecting a set it is advisable to bear in mind the fact that any decoration or engraving that presents a rough surface is most unsatisfactory. Some of the etched silver bodkins in French gray are odd and pretty.

A pretty case for the wash ribbons is made of a wide piece of flowered ribbon. This is doubled to form a long pocket, through which different sized divisions are made by sewing down from the top of the pocket part to the bottom. Cards to fit each division are wound with ribbons and slipped into their cases. A silk or ribbon bag large enough to hold all the lingerie paraphernalia will add to the convenience of the worker.

A very roomy one is made with a square bottom, having a bag for each of the four sides and all drawn together near the top with a narrow ribbon. While plain silks and ribbons are dainty, the flowered ones are more effective and go better with the wash ribbons used in the lingerie. Even in these trifles a color harmony is observed. For instance, the woman who prefers all white lingerie ribbons has her "kit" made of white ribbon, with pink or yellow flowers in very delicate designs. For the violet devotee cases and bags are made of lilac or violet flowered ribbons, and the pink and blue sets have grounds of the lingerie trimming color, with designs or flowers in contrasting hues.

Baked Ham.

Materials.—One ten pound ham, one quart madeira, brandy, cracker crumbs, black pepper, spices (cloves, allspice, nutmeg, etc.), one tablespoonful brown sugar.

Way of Preparing.—Soak the ham over night in cold water. Drain it, put it in a kettle, cover it with fresh cold water and boil it slowly two hours.

Pour off the water, skin the ham, cover again with boiling water and cook slowly for one more hour.

Drain this water off again and pour over your ham one quart of madeira wine and enough boiling water to barely cover the ham. Boil slowly for one hour. Remove from the fire and allow it to cool in the liquor. When cold drain off the liquor and trim the ham into a nice shape. Keep the liquor.

When you are ready to bake it cover the ham with a combination of cracker crumbs, highly seasoned with spices (of your choice), with black pepper and a tablespoonful of brown sugar and moisten it well with brandy.

Bake slowly for two hours, basting it frequently with the wine and water in which you have boiled it.

This ham will be found at least the equal of the best Westphalian product. —What to Eat.

Cream Salad Dressing.

To three tablespoonfuls of thick sour cream add three of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and three tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Beat and use on lettuce, cucumbers or tomatoes. It should have the consistency of mayonnaise.

NOT AN OFFICE SEEKER

Hughes Will Not Seek Influence of Any Convention Delegate

New York, Oct. 19.—Governor Hughes last night made a declaration of his attitude toward the presidential nomination, when, in the course of an address at a dinner given in his honor by the Republican club, he said:

"I do not seek any public office. I have not sought, nor shall I seek, directly or indirectly, to influence the selection of the vote of any delegate to any convention, and with reference to the action of any delegate to any convention there will be no suggestion or thought of influence, protest or reprisal in the executive chamber."

It was at this same club that Hughes announced his acceptance of the gubernatorial nomination, and his speech last night was a review of his administration, particularly with reference to the legislation which has been accomplished for the state control of public service corporations and other important measures with whose creation and support he has been identified. Additional significance was given his speech by reason of the fact that he took occasion to refer to his position in regard to the fusion of the Republicans and the Independence League on the New York county ticket.

Countess Will Part With Child

Florence, Oct. 19.—Acting upon the advice of friends and after a conversation with an envoy from the court of Dresden, Countess Montignoso has finally consented to give up Princess Anne Monica Pia. The countess was divorced from the present King of Saxony when he was still crown prince. She was married last September to Enrico Toselli, an Italian pianist. Princess Anne Monica Pia is 4 years old, and was born after her mother left the Saxon court.

Will Sue For Brady Money

New York, Oct. 19.—The directors of the Metropolitan Securities company voted to retain W. J. Wallace to bring suit to recover $965,000 which was paid to Anthony N. Brady in 1902, according to his testimony, for the securities of the Wall and Cortlandt Street Ferries Railway company. Wallace is expected to begin suit at once on behalf of the company against P. A. B. Widener, W. L. Elkins, T. F. Ryan, T. F. Dolan and the estate of W. C. Whitney.

Still Checking Up Proxies

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The meeting of stockholders of the Illinois Central railroad yesterday was again postponed, this time until 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. No other action was taken. The delay was caused by the inability of the committee on proxies to present its report. The checking up of the proxies is a task of such huge proportions that it is uncertain when the committee will be able to report.

Roosevelt Brings Down a Bear

Stamboul, La., Oct. 19.—A late arrival from Bear lake brings the information that President Roosevelt shot a bear Thursday as it came out of the canebrake near the camp. The animal had been chased for half a day by Ben Lilley and an assistant, who followed close upon the heels of the hounds. The animal weighed 375 pounds.

An Unwelcome Midnight Visitor

Birmingham, Mich., Oct. 19.—A burly negro called on Dick Erwin at midnight and demanded protection from "three of the devil's imps" who were trying to murder him. He said they had sprayed him with oil and tried to burn him alive. He was taken to Pontiac, where his sanity will be questioned.

New Director of Insane Asylum

Trenton, Oct. 19.—Dr. Henry A. Cotton of Danvers, Mass., was appointed medical director of the New Jersey state hospital for the insane, to succeed Dr. John W. Ward. The latter was compelled to resign because of recent disclosures at the institution made by the assembly investigation committee.

Magill and Wife Acquitted

Decatur, Ills., Oct. 19.—Acting under instructions from Judge Cochran, a jury last night acquitted Frederick Magill and his wife, Fay G. Magill, of the charge of murdering Magill's first wife. The judge said that the state had failed to prove the charges. The verdict was greeted with cheers.

Awards From Hero Fund

Pittsburg, Oct. 19.—The regular fall meeting of the Carnegie hero commission was held here and last night it was announced that 24 persons throughout the country had received awards for bravery. With last night's awards 126 persons have benefited by the hero fund.

Shawnees Inaugurate Big Pow-Wow

Tulsa, I. T., Oct. 19.—What will probably be the last pow-wow of the Shawnees opened at Collinsville with Chief Spybuck as the host of the occasion. Besides the Shawnees the participants include delegations from a number of other Indian tribes, together with many white guests.

Typewriting Records Broken

New York, Oct. 19.—At Madison Square Garden last night, in a contest against time, blindfolded, Miss Rose L. Fritz, who previously won the world's speed championship on a typewriter, wrote 97 words a minute for 30 minutes, breaking all records.

OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. GAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

CITT OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace Of Two Burial Place Of Two

Old historic Quincy settled in 1625 has much of interest to visitors. When Braintree was incorporated in 1640, the territory now known as Quincy, was a part. In 1792 Quincy became an independent town, and in 1888 was incorporated as a city.

Quincy was named in honor of Col. John Quincy, descendant in the third generation from Edmund, 2d, who settled in Quincy, in 1634; grandfather of Abigail (Smith) Adams, the wife and mother of a President of the United States.

The city includes Wollaston, Atlantic, Quincy Point, South Quincy, West Quincy, Montclair, Norfolk Downs, Wollaston Park, Squantum, Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown and Quincy Neck, comprising in all over 16 square miles, of which 2,530 acres are in public parks.

BIRTHPLACES OF PRESIDENTS

Birthplace of John Adams, the first Vice President and second President of the United States, Franklin street, Quincy Adams; house built in 1681 and restored in 1897 by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution. Open to public. Admission charged.

Birthplace of John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, junction of Franklin street, Presidents road and Independence avenue. Built 1716, restored 1896 by the Quincy Historical Society. Open to public afternoons from 2 to 5. Admission charged.

ABIGAIL ADAMS CAIRN.

Penns hill, erected June 17, 1896, by Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, to the memory of Abigail Adams, who with her son, John Quincy, from the spot watched the smoke of battle at Bunker Hill. Cairn composed of many historic stones, the corner stone being part of the old sleeper of first railroad in United States which ran from Quincy quarries to tide water, Neponsit river.

BURIAL PLACE OF PRESIDENTS.

First Congregational Church (Unitarian) at Quincy centre. In auditorium each side of high pulpit, are mural monuments, to the memory of John Adams, the second president, and John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, and their wives. The funeral of John Quincy Adams was held in this church. Beneath the entrance is the Adams tomb, reached by stairways from the vestibule. Near the tomb is the box in which was brought from Washington the body of John Quincy Adams, also the old town hearse. Admission may be secured on application to W. E. Dewhurst, sexton, 3 Maple Place. A fee is asked for attendance, etc.

HANCOCK CEMETERY.

Hancock cemetery across the street from First church contains many old stones. Among the old graves are those of Henry Adams, founder of the Adams family who died Oct. 5, 1646; Rev. William Thompson, 1st pastor over the Braintree church who died Dec. 10, 1666; Rev. Henry Flint who died Oct. 11, 1668; Rev. John Hancock father of the Patriot who died May 7, 1744 and many other notable people.

JOHN HANCOCK BIRTHPLACE.

Adams street, junction of Dimmock and Hancock streets. A bronze tablet has been placed by the City of Quincy on Adams Academy to mark the place where the house stood in which the patriot John Hancock, the bold signer of the Declaration of Independence, was born.

PRESIDENTS ADAMS MANSION.

Adams street, corner Newport avenue Quincy. Residence of President John Adams and contains many family relics. Occupied by descendants. Not open to public.

PRESIDENTS LANE.

MYLES STANDISH SPRING.

On the beach to the left and back of Squantum Inn. Spring of fresh cold water, where Standish and his party breakfasted and thence started to explore the country around Boston Bay.

SQUAW ROCK.

Pile of rock, on which is a perfect head of a squaw, frequently mentioned in early Squantum history. Near by is also Sachem's Knoll.

MAMMOTH TERMINAL

The Great Hudson Tunnel Building In New York.

WILL HOUSE TEN THOUSAND.

Millions of Passengers Will Be Handled Yearly In the Big Structure. Trains For All Points—Miles of Terra Cotta Bricks Being Used.

Announcement was made recently of some interesting facts in connection with the facilities and plan of the Hudson company's terminal building in New York city, covering two blocks along Church street and north of Cortlandt street, which is being rushed to completion. It is estimated that when the building is finished and the various offices on the twenty-two floors are occupied the structure will house 10,000 souls, says the New York Sun. From this can be drawn the comparison that the building will be populated in an equal number with such cities as Portsmouth, N. H.; Helena, Mont., and Middletown, Conn., and will exceed in population the largest towns in four states—Arizona, Idaho, New Mexico and Nevada.

There will be thirty-nine elevators in the building, and it is estimated that about 182,000,000 persons will pass through the building in entering or leaving trains in the course of a year. The new Grand Central station is designed to handle 100,000,000 persons a year, and the new Pennsylvania station at Thirty-third street will be built to accommodate 146,000,000. The South station in Boston only takes care of 30,000,000 a year, and the Broad street depot in Philadelphia handles 20,000,000.

From this new terminal building one will be able to go to almost any corner of the country, as the trains running into it will connect with all subways and consequently with all the big railroads. The trains arriving from the terminals under the North river and connecting with the various city subways will enter and depart thirty feet below the street level. There will be five loading tracks and six huge platforms to avoid crowding. A great deal of attention has been paid to safety, and elaborate plans have been laid to eliminate any possibility of a tie-up. Careful provisions have been made for the possibility of fire. All the cars of the trains will be of steel, and the terminal building is so constructed that should a fire start in any one room of the building it will be hardly likely to spread to another.

The huge steel frame of the building weighs more than 24,000 tons and rests on foundations extending to bedrock, eighty feet below the street. At no point will this steel frame be exposed. Every inch will be covered with one or more courses of hollow terra cotta blocks, which form inclosed air spaces about all parts of the frame. In the San Francisco fire the exposed steel frames of buildings did not burn, but they buckled, wrecking the structures and causing much injury and loss. Before being placed about the frame the hollow blocks are heated to a temperature of 2,000 degrees. This terrific heat leaves the terra cotta in a perfect porous state, capable of resisting practically any heat without danger of disintegration.

If all the terra cotta blocks used on the building were built into a wall ten feet high the mass would stretch along for twenty-eight miles. Above the curb line there will be used a total of 16,300,000 bricks and 520,000 square yards of plastering. There will be over sixteen miles of plumbing pipe, twenty-nine miles of steam pipe and ninety-five miles of electrical conduit in the building when completed. Each floor of the building will provide an acre of office space, so that the entire structure will afford twenty-two acres for business purposes.

NAVY SWIMMING TEST.

Scheme to Have Officers Dive Off Docks and Swim to Ships.

Naval officers were much interested and not a little amused the other day by an interview with Assistant Secretary Newberry, in which he was quoted as saying that a swimming test may be demanded of navy officers just as a horseback ride was ordered to test horsemanship of army officers, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York Globe. Newberry's idea is to have captains and admirals dive from shore and swim to their ships.

The navy officers say such a test would not have half the terrors for them that the horseback ride had for the army officers, some of whom feared they would be retired after their try at a fifteen mile ride. Rear Admiral Cowles said he knew but one navy officer in all his acquaintance who could not swim. All Annapolis graduates are swimmers.

The Curb of Society.

Corporations are necessary, and yet, through nobody's fault, they tend to become soulless and lawless, says E. A. Ross in October Atlantic. By all means let them reap where they have sown. But why let them declare dividends not only on their capital, but also on their power to starve out labor, to wear out litigants, to beat down small competitors, to master the market, to evade taxes, to get the free use of public property? Nothing but the curb of organized society can confine them to their own grist and keep them from grinding into dividends the stamina of children, the health of women, the lives of men, the purity of the ballot, the honor of public servants and the supremacy of the laws.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Rev. Herbert W. Barker of Greenleaf street is to preach at Christ church on Sunday at all the services.

Mrs. Marie Louise Nadeau, who was for many years a well known resident of West Quincy, passed away on Oct. 4th at Winthrop Centre. She was eighty-two years old and her death was caused by a shock of paralysis.

Miss Gertrude Jones will be the leader of the Young People's Religious union on Sunday evening in the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church, with Miss A. E. Simmons as the speaker and "Daughters of the Pilgrims" as the subject.

At the meeting of the Men's club of Christ church on Wednesday there will be a debate on "Resolved: that the City Charter of Quincy should be changed." The committee are: Archibald MacLeod, Arthur Newcomb and A. C. Smith. Such a live subject should attract a large attendance of men.

The ladies of Atlantic connected with the Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostoms church are planning to give a supper in the parish rooms, from 6 until eight o'clock Thursday evening, Oct. 24. Miss Cook of Russell street, as chairman of the committee, is sufficient guarantee that the supper will be a good one.

Dr. W. G. Kendall was awarded seven first prizes on his exhibit of apples, pears and grapes at the annual fall show of the Massachusetts Horticultural society in Boston last week in competition open to all the horticulturists in the state, amateur and professional.

Mr. Horace S. Felris, a native of Quincy, and well known by many of our citizens, died at Silver City New Mexico, on Tuesday last of paralysis. He lived in Quincy some fifty or more years and took a very active part with the fire companies. He learned of his father, Mr. Alexander Feltis, the blacksmith's business, and was considered a very excellent workmen.

The alarm from Box 27 at 3.20 Thursday afternoon was caused by the automobile of Dr. Sidney C. Hardwick taking fire. The car was at his residence on Elm street, and ready to start out; he removed a check valve, and escaping oil started a fire. He endeavored to put it out with water and earth, but when he failed to make headway he summoned the firemen, and they did the trick quickly. The car was not badly damaged. He had no insurance.

The concert which was to be given by the Civic Government society of Atlantic in the local Music Hall on Oct. 30 has been postponed until after the holidays. This postponement is due to a misunderstanding on the part of the management in leasing the hall on October 30 to outside parties. The Civic Government society although it had first claim upon that date, gracefully gave way and it is hoped the delay of the concert will only add to the enthusiasm of the patrons when a new date is set.

Rule of Rabble Says Brookline

Brookline men have been tried in the office of Commissioner and found wanting; so that the following wail of the Brookline Chronicle is to say the least amusing. The stand of Mr. Darling and the Hyde Park Gazette are to be commended.

How long since the delegates of Hyde Park and Quincy; of Braintree and Weymouth; of Sharon and Dedham; and other Norfolk county towns, who selected such an honorable gentleman as Mr. Stone as their candidate, were a "rabble?" Neither are they a "mobocracy," because they take exception to Brookline's claim that that town must always have representation on the board of County Commissioners.

The Brookline Chronicle says editorially:

"Our neighbor the Hyde Park Gazette, a David who has come forth as champion of the rights of popular government to meet the Goliath of arrogant wealth, thinks that the nomination of a county commissioner who is not a Brookline man has cleared the atmosphere for some time. It considers Mr. Darling's views to have received strong endorsement at the convention by the nomintion of Mr. Stone. What Mr. Darling's views are in private life we do not know, but in the convention he stood for 'mobocracy' pure and simple. 'How long,' he said, 'since wealth was the basis of representation in this county? Such a principle would strike at the very foundation of popular government. The only recognized basis of political representation is political strength.' That is not sund democracy. Democracy, as we understand it, stands for political representation on a basis of fitness and of fairness. By fitness we mean the selection for office only of the man best fitted to govern, for the elevation of others means government not by the people but by the rabble. By fairness we mean a selection so arranged that no interest is deprived of that representation which is just and essential to the public good. To speak of 'political strength' as alone furnishing a guide for the selection of public officials is a great blunder. If the endorsement of this blunder has 'cleared the atmosphere,' it is quite useless to argue further the right of Brookline to a county commissioner."

Good Victory For Quincy High

The Quincy High school eleven journeyed to Wellesly yesterday and defeated the High school eleven of that town in a well played game by a score of 14 to 12.

Twenty and fifteen minute half were played although the second half was cut short on account of darkness. Lacy scored two touchdowns and two goals from touchdowns for Quincy. The line up:

There was an old fashioned "housewarning" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shaw of Braintree, when about a dozen of their friends from Somerville called on Thursday evening completely surprising them. Dainty refreshments, provided by the guests, were served during the evening, and the merry company departed well pleased with their surprise.

The engagement is announced of Miss Carrie Kaler of Weymouth and Mr. Leonard Hollis of Braintree. Mr. Hollis is leaving soon for Utah, where he is to become a mining engineer.

* * *

Miss Grace Preston, who has baen visiting friends in Wollaston Park the past month, returned to her home in Washington, D. C., Wednesday.

* * *

Miss Lida Tupper of Franklin street, South Braintree, was very agreeably surprised at her home Tuesday evening, Oct. 15th, by a jolly party of young people, with whom she spent some pleasant days in camp at Tyngsboro, the past summer. Accompanied by their chaperon, they came bringing many good wishes and pretty gifts to add to those already received.

* * *

Welcome Young of Prospect street has returned from a short visit to New York.

* * *

Mrs. Jennie Chase of Braintree and Miss Paty of Plymouth had a charming excursion to Saratoga, where they remained two days, the guests of their nephew, Mr. Will Carpenter of that city. They travelled down the Hudson, to New York and home with the excursion. Miss Paty remained in East Braintree two days with her niece Mrs. Krasinski of Quincy avenue.

Went Without Saying Good Night

Mr. M. Joseph Badot of West Quincy and Miss Juliette Vendret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Vendret of the firm of Reed & Vendret of Quincy, were united in marriage Wednesday evening. The ceremony took place at St. Johns church at 7 o'clock being performed by Rev. J. J. Coan.

The bride wore a dress of white lace over silk, the veil caught up by a crescent set with diamonds, a gift of the groom; she carried white roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Henrietta Vendret, a sister of the bride who wore silk muslin over pink silk, a picture hat with pink ostrich feathers and carried pink roses.

The best man was August Amet of West Quincy. The ushers were P. E Vendret, a brother of the bride, Frank Witry of Chicago, Leo Farveau of Quincy and Dick Ryan of Lowell.

Areception followed the ceremony at the bride's home, which was very prettily decorated with cut flowers. The wedding march was played by Miss Eva Hubert. Supper was served to 35 couples, during which Miss Rena Bizzozero furnished the music

Shortly before midnight Mr. and Mrs. Badot were missed,no one seemed to know where they were; all the doors were safely guarded by men of course;) but still they went without saying good night. Later it was learned that they had boarded the last train for Boston and were off for New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Badot received many handsome gifts from their large circle of friends. They were some present from Chicago, New York, Lowell, Milford, Milton, Braintree and East Weymouth.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

Tremont Theatre.

Numerous events of importance and interest took place in Advanced vaudeville during the past week. There are always events of importance taking place in Advanced Vaudeville. The bills at the Tremont theatre continue to grow in strength and favor. Every act is carefully selected, and furnishes real entertainment for the patrons of Advanced Vaudeville. It is easily true that never in the world before was there such a remarkable array of acts and artists in the varieties under a single management as there are now on this circuit. And it is also true that whenever the possibility arises the list of offerings is strengthened. The Tremont theatre matinees are rapidly growing in favor of ladies and children for the environment of these great entertainments is ideal.

Keith's Theatre.

Coming to Keith's next week is the most elaborate act yet presented in vaudeville. It is known as "The Song Birds" and requires the services of thirty people. Originally produced by the members of The Lambs' club, New York, the most famous of American theatrical clubs, it is a travesty on last season's operatic war between Conreid's Metropolitan Opera House, and Hammerstein's Manhattan Opera House with words and lyrics by George V. Hobart and music by Victor Herbert. William Burress plays the leading role, that of "Oscar Hammershine." A welcome return will be that of Arthur Dunn, the little comedian of "Babes in the Wood" fame. He is to play the sketch he originally presented with the assistance of Jennie Dunn, "The Messenger Boy," one of vaudeville's merriest skits. Miss Marie Glazier will give him adequate support.

Boston Theatre.

Manager Morison of the Boston theatre has good reason for satisfaction with the success attending the production of Edward E. Kidder's famous pastoral play "Sky Farm" this week. His modest announcement regarding this first presentation of the play by a stock company hardly prepared the audience of this week for the elaborate presentation given in this performance. The original designs for the stage settings which were so highly praised at the time were duplicated for the Boston theatre production and in spite of the excessive demands attending the presentation of this drama its first performance went as smoothly as many that are seen after weeks of preparation. The members of the company are seen to especial advantage in the principal characters of the play, the extra people enter into the scene of the barn dance in the last act with a spirit of abandon that gives a brilliant ending to the play.

The Orpheum.

"You can drop in at 10 o'clock and get your money's worth or begin at 8 o'clock and get more than that," says the conservative Boston Transcript in discussing the quality of vaudeville served at the Orpheum. Determined to maintain this high standard of efficiency the Orpheum management has prepared for the week beginning Monday, Oct. 21, another great bill of perfected vaudeville. The sensation of Europe and America, Charmion, the fascinating performer on the trapeze heads the array of talent. The artist was programed to appear at the Orvheum this week, but owing to the demand for her avpearance elsewhere, it was found necessary to vostpone her visit until next week.

TODAY'S COURT.

Fred G. Hollis was arraigned for the larceny of money from Harry W. Titus at Quincy. Case continued until Monday.

The two cases against T. J. Fitzgerald, for lareeny at Quincy, were called. The defaults were removed and Fitzgerald entered a plea of guiltv. He was sentenced to three months in the house of correction on each complaint. Sentences suspended until March 28, 1908.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS. PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

Music Hall In Gala Attire

For the past week decorators have been at work on the interior of Quincy Music hall, decorating it for the coming winter season, and they have transformed the hall so that it looks very attractive.

On the outside, on either side of the entrance, is a row of red globe electric lights, while above the entrance is a large arch formed of electric lights which alternate in showing red and white. Entering the main vestibule one sees that the side walls have lost their plain appearance, for the walls are covered with bunting of the National colors draped in a tasteful manner.

Entering the main hall one sees a mass of red, white and blue bunting. Across the ceiling are broad steamers of red, white and blue while under the balcony are broad steamers of blue and white. Across the front of the stage are steamers of red and white while over the stage are two large American flags, which have been tastefully festooned. Over the windows on the sides, between the windows, and the windows themselves, are covered with bunting while over the side wall lights are crossed flags. These lights are encased in large Japanese lanterns while a drop light from the centre chandelier also gives light from a massive lantern. A row of the same lanterns is also suspended across the stage. The whole effect is very attractive especially at night when the electric lights are turned on.

Two Arrests In Liquor Cases

Chief Burrell and a squad of officers were out Saturday night after illegal venders of intoxicating liquor.

Shortly before 9 o'clock the Chief with Officers Larkin, Thorne, Donovan and Phillips went down Franklin street, and Officers Donovan and Phillips who were in citizens dress entered the premises of Joseph Breman on Franklin street near the corner of Water street. The officers who were, unknown to Breman, told him that they had a burning thirst, and Breman, it is alleged, sold Officer Phillips a pint of whiskey for which he received fifty cents. Then Breman was arrested for the illegal sale of liquor.

About 11 o'clock Chief Burrell, with Officers Larkin, Doran, Phillips and Bishop, visited the premises of Matilda Anderson at 141 Elm street, and seized three cases of ale and beer, and a small quantity of whiskey.

Sunday morning the police again visited Mrs. Anderson and placed her under arrest for violation of the liquor law.

DR. HARDY'S STATEMENT

Explanation In Pulpit Satisfactory To His Church

Dr. E. N. Hardy returned from Cleveland Saturday afternoon sanguine of complete vindication. Callers of all ranks of society have given personal expression of faith in him and an enormous mail has been received expressive of confidence and sympathy.

He occupied his pulpit on Sunday morning. On the platform and in front of the platform were beautiful flowers. When Dr. Hardy came upon the platform, Mme. Morey at the organ played the Hallelulia Chorus, the entire congregation standing while he went to the desk and opened the Bible. When the pastor took his chair he was bowed in prayer for some time.

At the close of the voluntary Dr. Hardy read the following letter:

Dear People:—

"It is due that you should receive from my lips the simple truth concerning an unfortunate occurrence associated with my visit to Cleveland.

"Leaving the Council meeting after ten o'clock and while crossing the city to my hotel, I was accosted by a woman, large with child, in apparent distress, and who claimed to be destitute and in need of assistance. It is my custom not to give charity except on investigation. Her home being near by I went there to see conditions and to assure myself of her necessities.

"Almost immediately I saw what the place was, and within three minutes sought to leave. The door was locked and a man in citizen's clothes, who stated he was an officer, arrested me. My presence in that place, the character of which I was ignorant, for the purest motives of charity, was as I learned in court a violation of a city ordinance, for which I could be and was fined.

"As explaining the singular fact of such an arrest, I have been informed that no arrests for the violation of this ordinance had been made since about August first, that under the present keen political contest notice had been called to the laxity of the police, so that they were seeking to make a demonstration of which unfortunately in this way I was the victim."

(Signed) "E. N. Hardy."

Dr. Hardy then took his seat, and Theophilus King rose in his pew and addressed the congregation. He said:

"Friends:—It is a fact, that I have not heard one word from any man, woman or individual during these last two or three days but such as has been expressive of the most perfect trust in our pastor as to his pure character and personal worth. I know that not one of us members of or attending this church but has absolute faith and confidence in him in every way and manner. We and everyone coming in contact with his life and work have only one thought that of absolute confidence and faith in him. I know we do not want him to give one more disturbing thought to this matter of unexpected happening in connection with a charitable act. Let us by rising have the pleasure of giving him this assurance on our part."

Mr. King was visibly affected and almost broke down as he said Amen.

Without exception everybody stood, and then the regular service opened with the singing of the Doxology. When Dr. Hardy rose he said: "I thank you."

In place of the hymn scheduled, the pastor requested that the hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds" be sung, and it was touchingly rendered.

The prayer of the pastor was also touching, and Mrs. Moore sang beautifully as a solo, "Eye has not seen." After the offering, the congregation sang "My faith looks up to Thee."

The sermon by Dr. Hardy was a report of the convention, which he said was encyclopedic in character. Among the great question discussed were:

(1.) The Race problem which he said came very near home, as New England had become the most foreign part of the country. With us here it is the problem of the European immigrants; in the South, it is the color problem; in the West it is the Asiastic problem, or the impending clash between the Occident and the Orient.

(2.) The Industrial problem, with a discriminating discussion of its many phases.

(3.) The problem of men and the Churches. Dr. Hardy served on the committee of 15 to present recommendations to the Council.

(4.) The problem of Tri-union and the intense interest awakened in the effort to unite Congregationalists and two or three denominations.

Dr. Hardy closed his address with impressions of the Council, mentioning the smallness of New England and the power of her influence; the contribution of Congregationalistm to American history; the virility of the delegates; and the tremendous call to the church for loyalty, consecration and service.

The service closed with prayer, hymn 391—"The church for her dear Master," and the benediction.

Almost everyone in the congregation then pressed forward and shook the pastor's hands and expressed their confidence and faith in him.

It was plain that the service and the events of the past few days had been a very trying ordeal to the beloved pastor, and that at times he was almost overcome. But the love of the people cheered him and gave him courage, and he has the assurance that they are with him.

Needle Work Guild

The annual collection and exhibition of garments of the Quincy Branch of the Needle Work Guild will be held Friday Oct. 25th at the home of the president, Miss Abigail B. Wood, 68 School street. Last year over four hundred garments were collected and given to deserving people of Quincy. Some towels were sent to the City Hospital also garments, and some garments to the Day Nursery. It is to be hoped that all members will respond to the call with warm, strong garments as the winter may be a hard one to a great many.

HAS NO CANDIDATE

Dr. Welch Says The Citizens Association Was Incorrectly Reported

Editors of Quincy Daily Ledger:

It would be impossible to imagine a more incorrect report of the meeting of the directors of the Citizens' Association held on the 17th, than that contained in the Ledger of the 18th inst.

Your imformant certainly led you into error, for instead of having an unsatisfactory hearing, we of the committee agreed that it was the most profitable and satisfactory meeting ever held by us, and that it could not help but result in good.

There were present at that meeting, by our invitation, the chairman of the Republican City Committee and of Ward One, also the Chairmen of all the Democratic Ward Committees with the exception of Ward Six, the representatives of both parties being equally anxious to bring about the desired result.

The Citizens' Association has not a candidate for Mayor notwithstanding the Ledger's statement that there were four.

An authentic report of such meetings is important both in justice to the Ledger from which the public should be taught to expect accuracy, and to the Citizens' Association, whose only object for existence is the unselfish desire to benefit the city of Quincy. You evidently do not understand the object of the Association's activity, regarding the present municipal election. There is no desire, on the part of the committee representing the Association, to dictate to either party their choice of candidates. We want the best men, irrespective of party, to serve as Mayor, Councilmen and School Committee. With this in view we practically become an enlarged city committee giving our influence for the attainment of that result. We do however reserve the right of substitution should it seem necessary.

John F. Welch, M. D.

Quincy, Oct. 21, 1907.

Fatally Burned.

Antionette Cugini, aged 4 years, lost her life Saturday by being burned to death on Intervale street. The little girl with others was playing in the street, and it is supposed that the children had some matches, for suddenly the girl's clothing waa discovered to be on fire. Her shrieks soon brought her mother to the rescue but the child's clothing had all been burned from her body before the fire could be extinguish. The little girl died in a few minutes.

Sunday Night Fire

The alarm from Box 442 at 6.35 Sunday night was for a fire in the carriage sheds on Quarry street owned by the Quincy Quarries Co. near the Hitchcock quarry. The fire which was probably the work of an incendiary, made a bright light and was seen for a long distance. The firemen at the West Quincy station saw the blaze and started for the scene and had nearly reached there when the alarm sounded. The loss will not exceed $150.

Socialist Rally

A Socialist rally was held Saturday night at Keating's hall. Charles W. Hanscom candidate for Representative from the fifth district presided, and addresses were made by Mr. Hanscom, T. J. Carey of Haverhill, and John J. Gallagher of Boston. After the rally an oyster chowder was served.

Good Financiering

Sheriff Baldwin of Jackson County, Missouri, insured his life twenty years ago, paid less than five thousand dollars, received a dividend of nearly seventeen hundred, and at his death the New York Life paid his family ten thousand.

Haines--Van Amringe Home Wedding

One of the prettiest home weddings of the month was on Saturday evening at the future home of the bridal couple 25 Spear street. The bride was Miss Lois R. Van Amringe, daughter of Mrs. T. H. VanAmringe of Brockton and the groom Mr. Edward J. Haines, son of Mrs. Amelia Haines of Brooklyn, New York.

Only the immediate families and a few friends assembled for the ceremony which was most empressively solemnized at half-past seven by Dr. A. M. Hyde of the Porter Congregational church of Brockton.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister Mrs. Albert Sellman and the best man was Theodore A. Taylor, Jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y. The bride looked girlishly sweet in her wedding gown of white honiton lace over taffeta silk The veil was caught up with white rosebuds and she carried a large shower bouquet of bride roses. The matron of honor was in blue silk.

An informal reception followed the ceremony after which a wedding supper was served during which one of the guests wishing to toast the bride handed her a slice of toasted bread. She responded most happily and quickly saying: "She hoped through life her toast would be as good."

Throughout the reception and supper an orchestra played continuously, and such inspiring music that soon the guests were indulging in dancing.

Beautiful gifts of silver and cut glass were displayed in the upstairs den.

The house was very artistically decorated the color schemes of the rooms being carried out in the decorations; the entrance hall in autumn foliage with an arch over the stairway and the stair case banked with foliage; the music room of soft yellow was decorated with autumn leaves, garlands over the windows and fireplace and mantel banked with leaves, with jardinieres of red berries. The parlor in which the ceremony was performed was all in green and white; the bay window was banked with greenery and potted ferns, the curtains outlined with smilax and caught back with large bunches of white carnations. A large green arch above the bay window was outlined with white carnations and a white wedding bell, beneath which the bridal party stood.

The fireplace was banked with ferns and large bouquets of white chrysanthemums. The dining room was in autumn colors with foliage and clusters of red berries.

Owing to the auto, which had been engaged to convey Mr. and Mrs. Haines to Boston, not appearing, the guests had the pleasure of escorting them to the station for the 11.12 train. The way was plentifully sprinkled with confetti.

Just before the train arrived the auto came and Mr. and Mrs. Haines quickly boarded it and left amid a shower of confetti and good wishes. They will be away two weeks after which they will be at home to their friends at 25 Spear street.

Mr Haines is connected with the Northern Street railway at the Boston office and is very popular all along the line.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

Full moon at 4.16 A. M.

New voting lists will be issued in a few days.

The sharp air this morning is a forcible reminder that winter is near at hand.

Quincy lodge of Elks has a large class for initiation at its meeting Tuesday evening.

The Junior Endeavorers of Bethany church will hold a social this afternoon from 4.30 to 7 o'clock.

A whist party will be held tomorrow afternoon at G. A. R. hall under the auspices of Corps 103, W. R. C.

The sun rises after 6 o'clock and sets before 5 o'clock, making the days less than eleven hours long.

It was on Oct. 21, 1854, that the first inmate was admitted to the Saliors' Snug Harbor at Germantown.

The Norfolk and Pilgrim branch will hold a quarterly meeting tomorrow at Holbrook with sessions at 10.30 A. M. and 2.30 P. M.

The lecture which was to have been given Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, under the auspices of the Dorcas society, has been postponed indefinitely.

A Loyal Temperance Legion was organized at Faxon hall on Thursday, Oct. 17. All boys and girls over eight years of age are invited to attend the next meeting on Thursday, Nov. 14, at 4 P. M. when badges will be ready for distribution.

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held tonight. A street hearing has been advertised and in compliance with a motion passed at the last meeting of the City Council a report will probably be made by the Committee on Public Buildings on the Coddington school matter.

Mrs. J. V. Leland of 172 Safford street, Wollaston, had the pleasure last week of entertaining her cousins, Mrs. W. S. Comstock of Smith Mills, P. Q., whom she had not seen for 35 years also Mrs. H. A. Beerworth of Stanstead, P. Q., not having seen her for 15 years both of whom are sisters. There were also present Mrs. Abbie Huckins of Lowell, another cousin; Mrs. C. G. Marcy of Worcester, a sister of Mrs. L., and Miss L. A. Lee, of Fitchburg, a devoted friend. A very pleasant time was spent talking over reminiscenes of their childhood days.

Famous Trial of Henry Ward Beecher

Doubtless there are some readers of the Ledger who have heard much about the famous trial of Henry Ward Beecher but have very inaccurate information concerning it. To such people the following brief account will prove interesting. Every statement here made can be verified by proofs of record; in fact not one of them can be challenged. They are admitted as true even by the most relentless enemies of the great preacher and lecturer.

Some thirty years ago, the wife of one Theodore Tilton, after consulting frequently with Mr. Beecher, her pastor, concerning trouble she was having with her husband, was advised by him and one of his deacons to leave him. Mr. Tilton thereupon, according to an admission wrung out of him on cross examination at the trial which we are to tell about, resolved to "strike Mr. Beecher to the heart."

He then issued a public charge to the effort that Mr. Beecher had made improper proposals to his wife, but accompanied the statement with the solemn declaration that his wife was "as pure as an angel in heaven." Mr. Beecher at once challenged a full and immediate investigation. The investigation was begun, and then Mr. Tilton changed the charge to one of criminal conduct, and later brought suit against Mr. Beecher for alienation of his wife's affections. Three investigations took place, one by Plymouth church, one by a Civil court and jury, and one by a council of Congregationl churches. We will take them in their order.

The investigation on behalf of Plymouth church was made by a committee of six, including H B. Claflin, one of New York's leading merchants and John Winslow, a noted lawyer of Brooklyn. Their inquiry extended over two months and the following was their report:

"We find nothing whatever in the evidence that should impair the perfect confidence of Plymouth church or the world in the Christian character and integrity of Henry Ward Beecher." After reviewing all the evidence which had been submitted to the committee, the church adopted the report unanimously, the membership at that time being about fifteen hundred.

The trial in the civil court was heard by a jury and dragged through six months. It ended in a disagreement. Nine of the jurors went on record later as believing in the innocence of the accused. The leading lawyer for the plaintiff, was with difficulty prevented from withdrawing from the case shortly before it was ended. Later he made public avowal of his belief in the innocence of Mr. Beecher and expressed the opinion that he was the innocent victim of a peculiar coincidence of circumstances. The judge who presided at the trial indicated his belief by presiding eight years later at a meeting held in the Academy of Music in honor of Mr. Beecher and joining in the following resolution:

"Mr. Beecher, as a religious teacher, a public citizen, a generous neighbor and friend, and by the integrity of his life and the purity of his character has vanquished misrepresentation and abuse, corrected and counteracted misunderstanding, and converted public alienation into public affection."

A year or so after the court proceedings had ended a council of Congregational churches, representing all parts of the country, convened in Brooklyn to make an independent investigation. There were 244 delegates present. General Bates and Hon. Nelson Dingley were two of the assistant moderators, and among the delegates who took part were eminent lawyers who cross examined Mr. Beecher on every phase of the evidence. The inquiry was conducted in public, and the decision arrived at was expressed in the following resolution:

"We hold the pastor of this church, as we and all others are bound to hold him, innocent of the charges reported against him until substantiated by proof." The closing addresses were made by President Sturtevant of Illinois College and President Porter of Yale College, each of them assuring the defendant and the church of the unabated confidence of the council and the churches which it represented."

About twelve years later (1887) the great preacher passed away, full of years and honors. A few months ago his accuser died in Paris, in obscurity and poverty according to newspaper reports.

So long as the name of Henry Ward Beecher endures there will be people who will believe him guilty of the charges preferred against him, but those who read the evidence and know most concerning their remarkable mans career before and after the famous incident will be unshaken in their belief that he was the innocent victim of falsehood and prejudice and mistake, like many who have gone before him and come after him. It requires neither intllect nor character to make an accusation, or even to make one appear guilty to some people. Fair minded men will, however, continue to think for themselves in all cases and to cherish the doctrine of "proof beyond a reasonable doubt" as one of the sacred heritages of the Anglo-Saxon.

Reply Coupons For Foreign Correspondence

By a new arrangement of the Post Office department reply-coupon may be purchased for six cents at post offices, which upon presentation at a post office in either of the countries named below will entitle the person presenting it to receive (without charge) a postage stamp of that country equivalent to a five-cent stamp.

By this arrangement a person in the United States can furnish his correspondent in either of said countries with a postage stamp with which to prepay postage on a letter, or a reply to his letter.

This arrangement will also prove beneficial to those persons receiving their foreign mail unpaid and unstamped. As this class of mail is deliverable only upon payment of double rates (ten cents for ordinary letters,) a saving of four cents can be made by buying International reply coupons and sending them to foreign correspondents.

The list of countries follows:

Germany, the German protectorates and German post offices in Asia, Africa and Australasia.
Austria, and the Austrian post offices in the Levant.

Being Straightened Out by New York Clearing House

BANKS SAID TO BE SOLVENT

Financier Morse Resigns Position In Several Banking Institutions--Heinze and Thomas Also Drop Out, Thus Clearing the Atmosphere

New York, Oct. 21.—Late last night The Associated Press was assured by the clearing house committee that the Heinze, Morse and Thomas interests had been eliminated from the banking organizations of New York city. In the light of this fact, the Clearing House association announced its readiness to lend all necessary aid to any of the banks which have been under suspicion, the clearing house investigation having established their solvency. It is believed that this action will prevent any crisis in New York banking circles.

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the Mercantile National bank yesterday afternoon S. E. Milliken was elected president of the bank to succeed F. A. Heinze, resigned. At the same time William Skinner and G. H. Milliken were elected additional vice presidents, G. H. Milliken being added to the board of directors.

The clearing house committee met with the directors of the bank and the two boards were in session for about four hours. Later William Sherer, manager of the Clearing House association, on behalf of the association gave out the following statement:

"A committee of the clearing house has examined the several banks of the association that have been under criticism and find them solvent. The clearing house committee have decided, to render them such assistance to meet their deposits as the committee may think necessary."

Neither the members of the board of the Mercantile National or the clearing house committee would add to these announcements. The statement of Sherer is, however, taken to mean that the clearing house committee is perfectly satisfied with the reorganization of the Mercantile National and will see that the bank is enabled to meet any crisis which the widely published stories about its condition, following the collapse of the Heinze corner in United Copper, may force it to face.

After the meeting of the Mercantile National directors E. R. Thomas, one of the directors, announced that he had disposed of all his holdings in the Hamilton bank to a syndicate composed of men interested in the bank. This action had been expected.

Charles W. Morse has announced his resignation from the directorate of every local bank with which he was connected. He gave out the following formal statement:

"Owing to my connection with the affairs of the Mercantile National bank and the seemingly disturbed condition of the public mind, I have determined, without the slightest suggestion or solicitation on the part of anyone, that my resignation from the various boards of directors of the other banks with which I am associated might be for the best interests of the depositors, stockholders and others interested in those banks. Accordingly, I have this day tendered my resignation in all the banks in which I have been serving as director."

Mr. Morse was connected with the following institutions: The National Bank of North America, the New Amsterdam National bank and the Garfield National bank, all of which he was a vice president as well as director; the Mercantile National bank, the Garfield Safe Deposit company, the Fourteenth Street bank, New Amsterdam Safe Deposit company, New York Mortgage and Security company, New York Produce Exchange bank, Title Insurance company of New York, Van Norden Safe Deposit company, Van Norden Trust company, in all of which he was a director.

In addition to these financial institutions, Morse is heavily interested in the American Ice company, the American Ice Securities company and the Consolidated Steamship company, which latter company controls the most important coastwise steamship lines, including those operating between the United States and Cuba and the West Indies. Morse also controls the People's and Citizens' lines of Hudson river steamboats.

Following a conference of the directors of that institution last night, it was formally announced that W. O. Allison would succeed O. F. Thomas as president of the Consolidated National bank. Thomas, it was stated, had sold his holdings in the bank to Allison and T. J. Lewis.

After the meeting a representative of the bank made a statement in which he said that Thomas had sold his holdings and retired from the president on his own initiative. Thomas, it was stated, did not now owe the bank a dollar. Every loan made to customers of the bank during the presidency of Thomas had been approved by the full board of directors, after investigation, it was added.

W. F. Havemeyer, one of its directors, was yesterday elected to the presidency of the National Bank of North America, succeeding A. H. Curtis, resigned.

William Walling Taken Into Custody at St. Petersburg

A RICH AMERICAN SOCIALIST

Wife and Sister-In-Law Also Arrested and the Three Placed In Separate Prisons--Charge Against Them Not Made Public by Police

St. Petersburg, Oct. 21.—William E. Walling of Indianapolis, his wife and his sister-in-law, Miss Rose Stransky, were arrested in this city last night by a force of gendarmes because of their association with several members of the Finnish Progressive party.

Kellogg Durland of Boston, a friend of Walling's, who has been in St. Petersburg gathering material for a series of lectures, also was taken into custody, but later he was released. No evidence upon which to hold Durland was found.

After much telephoning by the authorities, places were finally found for the prisoners. The three Americans were separated. Walling was sent to the detention prison, his wife to the women's prison, and Miss Stransky, who apparently is regarded as the most important captive, to the new jail recently built for the famous third section, or the secret police.

Mr. Walling is a wealthy Socialist. He is a grandson of the late William H. English, who was vice presidential candidate in 1880 when General Hancock ran for the American presidency on the Democratic ticket. For several years past Walling has taken an active interest in the Russian struggle, and this is the third time he has visited Russia.

The Finns, with whom the Wallings have been associating, also were arrested. In this party there are three men and one woman. The woman is the wife of Professor Malmburg of Helsingfors university. The Finns have been in St. Petersburg for several days. They have been under close police observation all the time. Saturday and yesterday the Finns, Mr. and Mrs. Walling and Miss Stransky dined together, and last night the entire party was taken into custody.

The arrest took place at the Hotel De France, one of the leading hostelries of this city. The rooms of the Walling party and the Finns were thoroughly searched by gendarmes. This search lasted several hours. All the baggage and effects of the Walling party and the four Finns were opened and the gendarmes took possession of a large quantity of books and documentary material.

It was impossible to learn what the charge was against the four Finns. This will determine the accusation against Walling, but a member of the secret service who accompanied the gendarmes who made the arrests said the order of arrest had originated in his section and that the secret service had been shadowing Walling constantly for two years past.

Mr. Walling had just returned to St. Petersburg from attending the Socialist congresses in Germany and France. He has also spent several months recently in Geneva, where he frequented the headquarters of the Russian revolutionists. He is intimate with many leading revolutionists and liberals. Walling is accused by the police of furnishing financial aid to the revolution, though this charge is not the foundation for his arrest.

The arrest of Walling bears a striking resemblance to certain reports of his arrest in the Russian capital in January, 1906, which originated with the editor of a Jewish newspaper in New York, but which were at once denied from St. Petersburg and declared to be quite without foundation.

Walling is 30 years old and a son of Dr. Willoughby Walling of Chicago, formerly United States consul at Edinburgh. He inherited a considerable fortune from the estate of his grandfather, William H. English of Indianapolis, and after working among the poor of Chicago and New York city he associated himself with the university settlement at New York. He lived there for two years. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Walling is described as having been a quiet, reserved man until he was aroused on the subject of child labor. Then he forced himself to the front as an aggressive champion against children working in factories. His energies and his means were enlisted in this cause. At one time he was a state factory inspector in Illinois.

Mrs. Waling, who was Miss Anna Stransky, is a graduate of Leland Stanford, Jr., university, Cal. She has done considerable literary work. She is a Jewess, 26 years old, and was born in Russia. She has lived in the United States since childhood. Her father is a business man in San Francisco.

Ban on Worldly Evils

Milwaukee, Oct. 21.—The Evangelical General Alliance adopted resolutions denouncing dancing, smoking, theatre-going, card playing, and all efforts to raise money by questionable methods. Thoughtless, prayerless marriages were lamented. Ministers were requested to refuse to officate at marriages when one of the parties has been divorced on other than scriptural grounds.

KILLED THREE BEARS

Presidential Party Brought Down Other Game In Louisiana

Stamboul, La., Oct. 21.—"We got three bears, six deer, one wild turkey, 12 squirrels, one duck, one opossum and one wildcat. We ate them all except the wildcat, and there were times when we almost felt as if we could eat that."

This was President Roosevelt's summary of the results of his hunt on Bayou Tensas and Bear lake. He arrived yesterday afternoon at the residence of Leo Shields. The president was accompanied by a dozen hunting companions, all mounted and attired in hunting garb.

The executive is slightly more bronzed than when he entered the wilderness two weeks ago. He declared that his health had been perfect and his appetite good. With the exception of a day or two lost on account of rain, he had been in the saddle every day from dawn to dusk. He declared that he had never in his life had finer sport. The bear slain by the president was killed on Thursday.

Gold and Silver Statistics

Washington, Oct. 21.—George E. Roberts has completed the compilation of the statistics on the production of gold and silver in the various states and territories of the United States for the calendar year 1906. He estimates the production of gold in the United States during the calendar year 1906 to have been $94,373,800 as against $88,180,700 for the calendar year 1905, a gain of $6,193,000. The total production of silver in the United States during the calendar year 1906 has a commercial value of $38,256,400, as against the commercial value of $34,221,976 in 1905.

Borrowed From Standard Oil

Pittsburg, Oct. 21.—When asked concerning the testimony of William G. Rockefeller, in the hearing to dissolve the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, during which Rockefeller said that Theodore N. Barnsdall, the independent oil dealer, had been loaned nearly $8,000,000 by the Standard, Barnsdall said: "I have borrowed money when I needed it from the Standard Oil company. I paid interest like any other borrower. How much I borrowed is not the public's business."

Canal Plans Must Be Revised

Washington, Oct. 21.—The locks of the projected Panama canal must be made wider than they were originally planned, in the opinion of the naval member of the isthmian canal commission, H. H. Roseau, who arrived in Washington direct from the isthmus. This projected change of plan will involve the expenditure of many additional millions of dollars and perhaps the extension of the time required for the completion of the canal project.

Taft's Significant Statement

Manila, Oct. 21.—At a banquet given in his honor in this city, Secretary of War Taft, referring to the fact that he had already visited the Philippine islands three times and that he purposed to come here again, used this phraseology: "I hope in another two years to visit Manila again, but then I probably will come as a private citizen."

Countess Turns Up Alive

Warsaw, Oct. 21.—Countess Zamoyska, who was thought to have been murdered on a train between here and Bialystok last week, has reappeared safe and sound at her father's home. She refuses in any way to explain her disappearance or the finding of the bloodstained garment in the compartment of the train which she occupied.

King Fell Through a Bridge

Manresa, Spain, Oct. 21.—King Alfonso had a narrow escape from a serious accident near here. In his automobile the king was going over a temporary bridge when the light structure collapsed under the weight of the car, which was precipitated into the water. The king escaped with a wetting.

Japan Has New Warship

Tokio, Oct. 21.—The new armored cruiser Kurana was launched at Yokosuka today. The warship is 450 feet long, has a displacement of 14,500 tons and 22,500 horse-power. Her armament consists of four 12-inch, six 10-inch, six 6-inch and six 15-centimeter guns.

O'Leary Completes Long Walk

Cincinnati, Oct. 21.—Dan O'Leary, a long distance walker, finished a 1000-mile walk at Norwood inn. He walked one mile during each hour for 1000 consecutive hours. He is nearly 65 years old, but showed no signs of faltering.

Defiance of Public Opinion

Rome, Oct. 21.—In the face of the emphatic hostility of public opinion and their disavowal by the Socialists and Laborites, which they characterize as a betrayal, the railroad men of Italy have decided to go on a general strike.

NEWS IN BRIEF

There have been numerous recent thefts from the rooms of young women students at Wheaton seminary, Norton, Mass. The principal of the school is making an investigation.

William Barton, 10 years old, was struck and probably fatally hurt by an automobile, driven by its owner, Augustus A. Hennessey, at Wakefield, Mass.

Rev. William E. Noyes, for 12 years missionary agent of the New England Little Wanderers' home in Boston, is dead. He was born at Abington, Mass., 79 years ago.

James Whitcomb of Merrill, Me., was thrown out of his wagon and killed. His horse became frightened and ran away.

SEVEN CANDIDATES

All Will Battle For the Governorship of Massachusetts

THE ROW AMONG DEMOCRATS

Leads Republicans to Think Their State Ticket Is Secure--Moran Will Have Hard Fight to Remain District Attorney of Suffolk County

Boston, Oct. 21.—With the political situation somewhat cleared by the decision of the ballot law commission on the makeup of the Democratic ticket, the campaign for the state election in Massachusetts on Nov. 5 may be regarded as fairly under way.

Seven candidates for governor on nine tickets are in the field, including the Republican governor, Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, who is seeking re-election for a third and what will probably be a final term. The other candidates and tickets are as follows: Charles W. Bartlett, Newton, Anti-Merger; Thomas F. Brennan, Salem, Socialist Labor; John W. Brown, Worcester, Socialist; Harvey S. Crowell, Ashburnham, Prohibition; Thomas L. Hisgen, West Springfield, Independence League; Henry M. Whitney, Brookline, Democratic, Independent Citizen and Democratic Citizen.

There are several vacancies for the other state officers on the Anti-Merger and the three Whitney tickets, but only that for attorney general on the Democratic ticket can now be filled, which will probably be done within the next 24 hours.

The contests in the Democratic ranks for the party nominations and control is generally regarded as too bitter to ensure a victory, so that the Republicans have planned a much less energetic campaign than for many years. Guild, however, has been on the stump for about a week, and will speak a number of times before the campaign ends.

Mr. Whitney did not wait for a decision from the ballot law commission, but started his speaking tour within two days after the memorable conflict at Springfield. He is still arguing on national issues and economy in the conduct of the business of the state.

Both parties are being attacked by Hisgen, who will be heard frequently in his denunciation of trusts, notably the Standard Oil company.

Whether Bartlett, whose nomination at one of the Democratic conventions at Springfield was rejected by the ballot law commission, will also be heard in support of his issue that there should be no consolidation of the Boston and Maine railroad with the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, has not yet been settled.

Candidates for the other three parties, Prohibition, Socialist and Socialist Labor, will probably hold a few rallies, but it has not been usual for them to pursue a very vigorous campaign.

From statements made by the Bartlett leaders it would appear that the decision on the Whitney-Bartlett contest by the ballot law commission is not regarded by them as final, and they threaten to renew the contest for control of the party in the spring convention, where delegates to the national convention will be chosen, and in the event of a defeat they are to make an appeal to the national convention for recognition.

One of the most interesting contests, and one which at this distance from election day seems much in doubt, is that for district attorney in Suffolk county, which includes Boston. District Attorney Moran, who is completing a two years' term, during which he ran as a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket last year, is up for re-election on the ticket of the Independence League, and also on independent nomination papers. He is opposed by Joseph A. Dennison, who served as his assistant for a short time, and who defeated him for the Democratic nomination, and by Walter A. Webster, the Republican nominee. Moran is handicapped because his voice will not permit his speaking, so that his replies to Dennison's vigorous criticisms have to be made through the papers.

As usual there are a number of local contests throughout the state for membership in the next legislature, but it is not expected that the Republican control in both branches will be shaken materially.

War on Sunday Theatricals

Kansas City, Oct. 21.—All theatres in Kansas City were open in violation of the Sunday closing order of Judge Wallace of the criminal court, and all the actors and actresses who participated in the various performances will be indicted if Wallace's instructions are obeyed by the grand jury. The persons indicted will be released on bond, and Wallace believes this method, if adopted every Sunday, will prove so inconvenient to traveling actors that the theatres will be compelled to close.

Landing Places Picked Out

St. Cloud, France, Oct. 21.—Four balloons sailed away from here in the regular autumn competition of the Aero Club of France. Each competitor, before starting, left a sealed envelope in which was the name of the place where he purposed to land. The winner will be the man who comes down nearest to his objective point.

ANNEXED MANY ISLANDS

Bernier Enlarged Canada's Domain by Half a Million Square Miles

Quebec, Oct. 21.—Captain Bernier, with the government steamer Arctic, arrived in port yesterday after an absence of 15 months in the Arctic regions. He left here in July, 1906, and wintered at Pond's Inlet. During his absence he covered about 11,000 miles of sailing. The captain has annexed a number of islands in the far north, and the Canadian domain is now enlarged by the addition of some 500,000 square miles. All whalers in the north were visited and licenses issued.

Captain Bernier has also brought back records of Sverdrup, Peary and McClure, which will be forwarded to Ottawa with other records of the islands annexed. Last winter was a good one and there was very little sickness on board. One of the crew died from heart failure in February last.

Japanese Immigration Limited

Ottawa, Oct. 21.—When Rodolphe Lemieux, Canada's representative, reaches Tokio, he will make it perfectly clear to the mikado's government that when the treaty was entered into with Japan it was on the distinct understanding that Japanese immigration was to be limited, and if not carried out notice will be given for the abrogation of the treaty. Under such circumstances there should be no difficulty in securing a settlement of the existing difficulty.

Hissed by Former Followers

Chicago, Oct. 21.—S. J. Small, deposed president of the Commercial Telegraphers' union, was hissed and jeered by 600 members of the Chicago local union, before whom he appeared yesterday afternoon in an effort to justify his action in seeking a vote on calling off the strike. Nearly a third of those present left the hall after shouting insults at their former leader when he arose to speak. Those who remained would not listen to Small.

Great Journey of Balloon

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—The remarkable flight of Aeronauts McCoy and Chandler in the army signal corps balloon, which broke the record established by Lieutenant Lahm in London last June, has set a standard for aeronauts who will participate in the international balloon contest which begins this afternoon. The balloon landed safely in West Virginia, after a flight of over 21 hours, in which they covered a distance approximately of 475 miles.

Francis Joseph's Condition

Vienna, Oct. 21.—Emperor Francis Joseph passed a rather unsatisfactory night. He was disturbed frequently by fits of coughing, which were followed by nervous restlessness. The body physician was called frequently during the night. Archduke Franz Ferdinand, the heir to the throne, visited Schoenbrunn castle yesterday, but did not see the emperor.

Alleged Blackmailer Held

New York, Oct. 21.—Hugo C. Voecks, arrested on the complaint of Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, on a charge of blackmailing, was held in $1000 bail. Hitchcock alleges that Voecks accepted $1000 from him to suppress stories reflecting on the actor. Detectives who were in hiding during the transaction promptly placed Voecks under arrest.

Thomas Is Conscience-Stricken

Limoges, France, Oct. 21.—Antoine Thomas, who conducted a series of thefts of religious works of art from churches in France, has written a letter to the judge by whom he will be examined detailing the extent of his thefts, disclosing the names of his accomplices, furnishing dates, and indicating witnesses.

Fatal Football Scrimmage

Chicago, Oct. 21.—W. C. Albrecht, 20 years old, died last night of injuries sustained in a football game yesterday. Albrecht was playing right guard. While lining up after a scrimmage he fell unconscious. He was found to be suffering from cerebral hemorrhage, which caused his death a few hours later.

Burglars Got Church Jewels

Rome, Oct. 21.—Burglars have made a rich haul from a church which is within the confines of the palace of the chancellery. They got away with a valuable necklace composed of 20 rows of jewels. As the palace is Vatican territory, the Italian police have not been allowed to enter the church.

Special Mark of Favor

Tokio, Oct. 21.—Thomas J. O'Brien, the American ambassador to Japan, has been invited to take luncheon with the emperor and empress on Nov. 13. The purpose is to emphasize the desire for friendly relations between Japan and the United States.

Expensive French Expedition

Tangier, Oct. 21.—The Casablanca expedition has cost France $500,000 up to date for the land operations alone. Including the operations of the French fleet in Moorish waters, the expense totals $35,000 a day.

Hanged Off the Gallows

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 21.—Tom Upchurch, a negro, who was to have been hanged Wednesday next, hanged himself in his cell in jail. He committed an aggravated assault on a white woman.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Oct. 22.
Sun rises—6:05; sets—4:53.
Moon rises—6:01 p. m.
High water—12 m.; 12 p. m.
Fair weather is indicated for New England. It will be colder.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Ice this morning.

Albert Merritt of New York visited relatives in this city, last week.

Miss Annie Gibson of Granite street is enjoying a week's vacation.

Henry L. Kincaide & Co. carry a most complete assortment of draperies.

Bargains in men's underwear and sweaters at the store of George W. Jones.

John F. Hunt of Bigelow street has set the pace; he put on the storm doors at this house today.

A small grey purse containing some small change and a red laundry slip was lost this morning.

Charles Crane of Greenleaf street left this morning by trolley for a two weeks' sojourn with relatives at the Cape.

Auctioneer Johnson sold the estate of the late James J. Mahoney, at 42 Nightingale avenue on Saturday to L. Penizzi for $1,600.

The Ward One Republican Committee held a well attended and enthusiastic meeting Saturday evening.

Eaton Pierce of Arlington street left Saturday with a party of friends, for the woods of Maine, and will enjoy two weeks at gunning.

Mrs. Louise F. Beaumont of Portland, Me., was the guest of her mother, Mrs. E. E. Field of Hancock street last week.

The sewing circle of G. L. Gill Rebekah lodge will meet on Thursday afternoon at the home of the noble grand, Mrs. Adeline Young, Granite street.

Mrs. John Robertson and three sons of Quincy street leave today for Los Angeles, California, where they will make their future home. They will be missed by their may friends and associates in this city. Mr. Robertson has been in California for the past few months.

Everett Crane of President hill entertained on Friday evening Oct. 18, at his summer cottage at Post Island, eight gentlemen friends. All report a good time, and the supper and breakfast served by "Crane and Tupper" was fine, and more than enjoyed. Better cooks would be hard to find.

Proud of His Lemons.

Probation Officer Francis A. Spear is showing his friends a lemon tree at his home on Thayer street from whose branches there are suspended four lemons, each of which weigbs from 16 to 18 ounces. Frank says that the fruit has a different flavor from lemons bought at stores. They are very juicy and tart but delicious when allowed to ripen on the tree.

But Carnival Of the Elks Was a Grand Financial Success

The six days' carnival of Quincy lodge of Elks came to an end Saturday night and has passed into history as the most gigantic and most successful affair of its kind ever held in this city. Everything was carried out on a scale never before attempted emphasizing the fact that the Elks never do anything by halves.

The attendance Saturday night was the largest of any of the week. Just how many were present it is impossible to tell, but a gentleman who lives near the Coliseum had the curiosity to count for a while and is authority for the statement that between 7 and 8 o'clock over 800 passed into the hall. There was a perfect jam and it was with difficulty that one could get about.

Being the last night a rushing business was done at the several booths and practically everything was sold. Candy in boxes of pounds and half pounds was in demand and an average of over 100 pounds was disposed of every night at the rate of fifty cents per pound.

There was great interest in who would be the fortunate individuals to be awarded the power boat and piano. The former went to one of the employees at the Fore River, while the piano went to John Morrissey.

In the afternoon all children were admitted free, and the hall was packed( resembling a picnic on a large scale. For their benefit a pleasing entertainment was given, which included songs illustrated with the stereopticon. One of the most amusing features of the afternoon was the throwing a bag of peanuts into the crowd of boys and seeing them scramble for them.

The evening's entertainment was by the Salem Cadet band, with vocal solos and songs by the Winthrop male quartette, and was very pleasing, although owing to the large crowd was not as enjoyable as it would otherwise have been.

Today is cleaning up day and the thousand electric lights and hundreds of yards of bunting are being removed. Just how much was cleared by the week's carnival cannot be told at the present time, as all returns are not yet in. It is estimated that the expenses of the carnival for the week were upwards of $3,000.

The Everett Steams Away

At 10 o'clock this morning the Collier Everett was taken away from the shipyard by her owners, the Massachusetts Steamship Co. Her full crew of dock officers, enginemen and firemen, 35 men all told, were on board, and the ship is complete, and ready for service. She will anchor today off the Cunard dock and will be open for inspection to any who may wish to go on board.

Mr. Dunlop, who is to be chief engineer of the collier "Malden," was engineer on the "Bostonian" when that vessel made the famous rescue at sea of men from the steamship "British Queen."

The steam lighter "New England" has to receive a few finishing touches before her delivery to her owners.

The excavating for the machine shop extension has made a big hole at the ower end of the yard and the locomotives are kept busy hauling away the gravel.

The submarines Viper and Cuttlefish, built at the Fore River, have been ordered placed in commission at the torpedo station at Newport, and will be joined by the Octopus later, comprising the second submarine flotilla.

Capt. Frostead of the "Everett," had a party of friends at the yard on Sunday for a visit to that vessel.

The Fore River football team scored a victory Saturday from Howard & Bullough in the New England league series at Pawtucket by a score of 3 to 1.

Tinned Tongue.

"Are you studying Esperanto, Mr. Idiot?" asked the linguist.

"I am not," said the idiot. "I can talk too much in English if I want to."

"It is a very fine language," said the linguist—"condensed, concise and easily acquired."

"No doubt," said the idiot. "But I don't care for potted tongue."—Broadway Magazine.

Fifteenth Wedding Anniversary.

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Gillis assembled at their beautiful new home on Pleasant street Saturday evening to celebrate with them the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding and offer their felicitations. The house was crowded, but everyone's comfort was carefully looked after and all had a good time. Mr. Gillis does not hesitate on expense when entertaining guests and there were refreshments in variety and abundance; also music, both vocal and instrumental. Lack of space prevents publishing the program in detail.

The following presentations were made to Mr. and Mrs. Gillis: Punch bowl from Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. McNeil, Mr. and Mrs. F. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. D. McLeod, Mr. Daw and Miss Mamie Kennedy; electric lamp from Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Drummond, Mr. and Mrs. A. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. J. Robertson Mr. and Mrs. T. ## Cold Today For October

The temperature at noon today is the lowest it has been since last April when 42 was the low point. Today at noon it was 47. Last year the temperature in October did not go below 50 at noon and it was not until Nov. 1 that the 47 mark was reached. The change in the weather today from what it was last week is so great that the cool air cuts like a knife.

Many Years an Odd Fellow.

Joseph M. Francis, a well known South Quincy resident, passed away this morning at his home at 35 Centre street, after an illness of several months' duration. He was a stone cutter by ocupation at which he worked until poor health obliged him to give up work. He was a member of Mt. Wollaston lodge of Odd Fellows having been admitted on the day of organization in 1884. He was 62 years of age, and leaves a family.

—Snow fell near Worcester on Sunday.

TWO BROTHERS MAY DIE

They, With Other Boys, Were Victims of an Unexpected Explosion

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 21.—A five-pound can of powder thrown by boys on a fire in a dump on Barnes street exploded with great force, causing critical injuries to two of the boys and serious burns to four others.

The critically injured are George Beauchemin, aged 12, and Clement Beauchemin, aged 8. Theophile Patenaude, 10; Remi Renfret, 9; Oras Paquette, 8, and Leo St. Laurent, 12 years old, were badly, but not fatally burned about the face and head, but after receiving treatment were sent to their homes. The Beauchemin boys, who are brothers, were taken to the City hospital, where their condition is pronounced critical.

All of the boys were playing in the dump, where they had started a bonfire. One of them discovered a can which he thought was filled with coal dust. Thinking that this would make a good blaze, all the other boys gathered around as the can was thrown upon the fire. In an instant there was a loud explosion and the burning rubbish was scattered in all directions. The Beauchemins were nearest to the blaze and received the brunt of the explosion, while none of the others escaped the burning brands.

Crash of Trolley Cars

Kingston, Mass., Oct. 21.—Three persons were severely injured in a collision of electric cars here. A passenger car had stopped to take on passengers when a tower car used in making repairs on the line crashed into it, demolishing the vestibule of the passenger car and breaking the glass of the windows. It is understood that the tower car, which was equipped only with hand brakes, got beyond the control of the motorman.

Shotgun Used on Game Warden

New Haven, Oct. 21.—Game Warden David Edwards was very seriously, if not fatally, wounded by a shotgun in the hands of one of two men, apparently Italians, whom he was trying to arrest for hunting game on Sunday in the woods at Beacon Valley. Edwards arrested an Italian recently and it is thought he may have been recognized yesterday and shot in retaliation. The men have not been captured.

Brought Back by Bondsmen

Boston, Oct. 21.—Solomon Robitshek of Lowell, who was convicted in the United States court here of using the United States mails in an attempt to defraud the Salvation Army, and who defaulted, was arrested at the North station as he arrived from Canada. It is understood that Robitshek's bondsmen sought him out in Montreal and induced him to return.

Photographer Was Careless

North Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 21.—During an Independence League rally in Columbus hall a photographer, who was taking a flashlight picture of the crowd, used too much powder, with the result that 10 windows on one side of the hall were blown out. Many people made a rush for the doors, but a panic was averted by the presence of mind of persons on the platform.

Prosperous Fishery Season

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 21.—The salt bank cod-fishing during the season which has just ended was the most successful for several years. The 34 vessels report fares ranging from 101,000 pounds to 448,000. Disasters to the fleet have been few, and only one vessel, the Helen F. Whitten, was lost. The entire crew escaped without difficulty.

Guide Perhaps Fatally Shot

Portland, Me., Oct. 21.—While in the company of two New York men Herbert Mains, a guide in the Sebago lake region, was accidentally shot by one of his companions. He is weak from the loss of blood and the only hope of saving his life is the amputation of a leg below the knee. It is feared he will not survive the shock of the operation.

For Mayor of Boston

Boston, Oct. 21.—Postmaster George A. Hibbard will be the candidate for the nomination for mayor of the city of Boston for the Republican party at the coming caucuses, according to a statement issued last night by the Republican city committee. Hibbard states that he will accept the nomination for mayor.

Stabbed Himself In Heart

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 21.—The body of H. A. Barker, aged 60, a contractor and millwright, was found under a pile of straw in his cellar. Death was due to a knife wound in the heart, self-inflicted. Barker had been on the verge of nervous prostration for several days, due to ill-health and financial troubles.

Youth Drowned In Canal

Holyoke, Mass., Oct. 21.—The body of Leapoul Oligny, 16 years of age, was found in the first level canal, the cause of death being given by a medical examiner as accidental drowning. The boy had been missing since Thursday night, and it was thought that he had run away.

Boston to Have New Theatre

Boston, Oct. 21.—Klaw & Erlanger, the theatrical promoters, have practically completed a deal to lease the Parker estate at 607-617 Washington street, where, after the present six-story building has been razed, they will erect a new theatre and office building.

Fell In Front of Car

Cranston, R. I., Oct. 21.—In signalling a high speed electric car to stop, J. F. Canham stumbled in front of the car and was struck and killed at Silver Hook station. He was 50 years old.

POST OFFICE BUILDING

Conners Bros. Co. Begin Work On Washington Street Site

H. L. Riggs, the representative of Conners Bros. Co., of Lowell, contractors for the new government building at Quincy, arrived on the scene today, and says work will be commenced at once.

Batter board will probably be placed tomorrow, which will show about where the building will be located. The lot is on Washington street at the corner of Maple street and the city may realize when two two late that Washington street should have been widened.

Washington street, which is the main thoroughfare between Boston and Nantasket and the South Shore towns, and also between Quincy and the Fore River shipyard, is but fifty feet wide. If the government building is located but a few feet from the street it may be impossible to widen later, for the widening should come wholly on that side of the street.

The foundation for the new building will be largely of brick. Mr. Riggs is much pleased with the location, because the contractors can work to the best advantage. The contract calls for the completion of the building in December, 1908.

THE THIRD HOUSE.

Legislative Annex of the Special Interests In Congress.

The third house, as the lobby is sometimes called, is the legislative annex of the special interests. It is the house of special representatives, and its membership is a curious study in the widely different.

Its meeting place is the lobby and committee rooms of the nation's capitol, the hotel rotunda, the lawyer's office, the street, the banquet room, the little back room, the bar, the road house, the home, the brothel—anywhere the legislator may be found and personally approached. That is the object of a lobby—personal contact with the people's representatives and the influence upon legislation worked thereby.

If legislators were perfect, there would be no lobby. If they were perfectly wise, there would be no occasion for the lobbyist who desires "to inform" them; if perfectly honest, there would be no occasion for the lobbyist who desires to "make it worth while;" if perfectly patriotic, there would be no occasion for the lobbyist who desires for himself "a little personal favor"—at the people's expense. The existence of a lobby is premised on human frailty. It is present to prey on human weakness, to warp the action of the legislative body by appeal to vanity, ignorance, cupidity or fear.—Gilson Gardner in Success Magazine.

HARDY FERNS.

About Forty Species Are Suited to Outdoor Culture.

Among the hardy ferns are varieties greatly differing in size and form, from a hairlike creeping stem bearing a few simple mosslike leaves to the vigorous growing plants with large leaves, attaining a height of two or three feet. Ferns are interesting and extremely beautiful, especially when grown as specimen plants or in combination with other plants. The varying conditions in which the different species succeed are remarkable. Many of them require a warm temperature, while others do well in cool and shady places.

Of the 4,000 or more species of ferns not more than about forty species are suited to outdoor culture in ordinary soils and situations. These species can be planted in beds, borders or rockeries or in the foreground of shrubbery. As most of them require a somewhat shady place, they are especially useful for filling in places where grass and other light loving plants cannot grow. Perfect drainage is required. The soil should have leaf mold in it, or decayed peat or well decayed sod will answer.

Hardy ferns are best planted in the spring, but they can be planted in the summer if the fronds or leaves are cut back, making it easier for the plants to establish themselves before the winter sets in. From his florist the amateur gardener can obtain cuttings of varieties most suitable for the soil and climate in his vicinity. In the winter the ferns should be given protection, with a covering of leaves, hay or straw.—Washington Star.

Respected His Scruples.

In the mathematics class one day at Williams college Professor S., who was rarely made the subject of college jests, was excessively annoyed by some man "squeaking" a small rubber bladder. The noise seemed to come from near a certain Jack Hollis, and after querying each of his neighbors and receiving a negative answer Professor S. said sternly:

"Hollis, do you know who is making that unbearable noise?"

Hollis, who had been the guilty person all along, assumed an air of stoical bravery and said calmly, "I know, sir, but I prefer not to tell."

Professor S.'s angry face grew calmer, and with evident pleasure he replied: "I respect your scruples, Hollis. They do you credit and should shame the guilty man, sir."

John Milton's Cottage.

One of the best preserved historic country houses in all England is John Milton's cottage at Chalfont St. Giles, to which the blind and aging poet fled when the great plague swooped down on London. That was in July, 1665, and Milton had just finished "Paradise Lost" and received a five pound note for it, with a promise of three more five pound notes if the poem sold four editions of 1,300 copies each. The cottage stands at the top of the village, and it is in practically the same condition as when Milton left it. Here the poet received his distinguished guests during the latter part of his life.

Zephyr, Cipher and Zero.

"Zephyr" and "cipher" and "zero" are words that come to the English from the Arabic "sifr," which meant literally "empty" and so "nothing" and the figure that represents nothing. In medieval Latin this figure was called both "ciphra" and "zephyrum," the latter probably from association with "zephyrus" or something even lighter than air; hence through the Italian "zefiro" there is the word "zero" as a doublet with "cipher."

Run In Series.

"And is this to be your last tour of America?" asked the reporter.

"I hope not," answered the mature star of the dramatic world.

"But it's advertised as a 'farewell.'"

"Yes, a mere farewell. It's not a farewell farewell, you may notice."—Philadelphia Ledger.

CALVESTON COVERNMENT

To Be Considered By Special Committee of City Council

A regular meeting of the City Council was held Monday evening. Debates on the Coddington school question and trolley freight line on Randolph avenue were the important matters.

Councilmen Coombs, Curtin, and McKinnon were absent.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

A communication was received from the Mayor with inclosure from the Chief Engineer asking for transfers in his appropriation. Laid on the table until later when Councilman Stone offered the following orders:

Transferring $300 from horses and harness to the appropriation for coal and fuel. Referred to Finance Committee.

Transferring $200 from horses and harnesses to the appropriation for miscellaneous. Referred to Finance Committee.

BEACH STREET.

A communication was received from the Mayor asking for certain amendments in the order passed July 19, 1907 changing the grade of Beach street so as to provide that the cost of construction shall be borne by the Metropolitan Park Commission.

Laid on the table until later when Councilman Hobbs offered the necessary order, which was adopted.

PETITIONS.

A petition for the refund of half cost of permanent sidewalk on Prospect avenue was received from H. A. Harding. Referred to Finance Committee

A petition was received from the Electric Light Co., for a location for poles on Belmont street. Referred to Committee on Streets.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Finance reported that the claim of $25 for soldiers relief paid Sarah A. Cain by the town of Braintree as being correct and recommended reference to the Executive. Adopted.

The Committee on Finance reported ought to pass on the order for $800 for miscellaneous in the Board of Health. Rules suspended and order passed.

CODDINGTON PLANS.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported reference to the joint Committee of Finance and Public Buildings on the order to procure plans for a new Coddington school building. Accepted.

The Committee on Public Buildings reported reference to the joint Committee of Finance and Public Buildings on the order appropriating $70,000 for a new Coddington school building.

Councilman Stone moved the report be laid on the table. The Council ought to hear what the committee had done.

Councilman Hayward—This should be settled as soon as possible. The Council has a right to know why it is referred to a joint committee.

Councilman Polk—It was merely to hasten the matter.

Councilman Stone said he had heard of some friction between the School Committee and Public Buildings Committee.

Councilman Sawyer—The object of referring to a joint committee was to hasten the appropriation. The committee had five sketches prepared and the School Committee saw fit to approve but one. They sent back a revised plan with the school offices eliminated. The committee believe the School Committee rooms should be located in the building as the

Referred to New Joint Committee After Debate

Committee are now paying $500 a year for rent.

They returned a revised plan of Charles A. Brigham. They approved of no plan we sent them. We do not feel like offering an order under plan of School board so referred to joint committee that the School Committee could appear before it. The architects were instructed to confer with the School Committee before sketches were made and the sketches all contained rooms for the School Committee

Councilman Stone—It looks as though it was saddling the approval of plans on the Finance Committee. The Public Buildings Committee should say one thing or the other. The School Committee know what they want.

Councilman Polk saw no reason to lay on the table.

Councilman Hull opposed laying on the table.

Councilman Curtis—At a meeting held in the Coddington school yard, members of the School Committee favored having rooms in the building.

The motion to lay on the table was lost, and both orders go to the joint committee on Finance and Public Buildings.

PUBLIC HEARING.

A public hearing was held on accepting a part of Safford street. No one appeared for or against and the order was recommitted.

FIREMEN'S HOLIDAYS.

The Committee on Fire Department reported ought to pass on the order amending the Fire Department ordinance so as to provide for one day's leave of absence at the end of every seventh day.

Report accepted and order laid on the table until later when Councilman Stone moved suspension of the rules in favor of the order.

He said no money was needed for this change or no more men would be required.

Councilman Curtis said that he was in doubt about the wisdom of the change until he had consulted the Chief.

Chief Litchfield appeared before the

Ordinance Amended To Give One Day in Eight

Council. In reply to questions he said: It can be done without extra money and will not cripple the service. The only difference is that under the present arrangement there is a man absent at the Central station eight out of the ten days and under the proposed arrangement there would be a man absent every day.

Mayor Thompson asked if it would not mean the asking for more men.

Chief Litchfield—We ought to have more men now. We have a very efficent force of call men who respond to alarms promptly.

Councilman Donovan—In other towns and cities they have a day off in seven.

The order was passed to be ordained.

NEW CITY CHARTER.

Councilman Hayward offered an order for a special committee of five to consider the Galveston plan of government by commission and consider the advisibility of amending our City Charter. Adopted.

The President appointed Councilmen Hayward, Stone, McGilvray, Hobbs and Polk.

NEW ORDERS.

Councilman Teasdale offered an order for $300 for resurfacing Larry place. Referred to Committee on streets.

Councilman Stone moved that the joint Committee on Finance and Public Buildings on the Coddington school plans report at the next meeting. Motion lost.

Councilman Curtis offered an order designating the polling places for the election of Dec. 3, 1907. Adopted.

Councilman Curtis offered an order for the election of Nov. 5, 1907. Adopted.

TROLLEY FREICHT

Order Referred Back to the Committee After Debate

Councilman Curtis offered an order amending Ordinance No. 1 so as to increase the pay of the call men of Combination No. 3, at Houghs Neck from $10 to $25 per year. Referred to Committee on Fire Department.

Councilman Stone offered an order appropriating $600 for Miscellaneous Police department of 1907.

Mayor Thompson—This is an unusual course. Nothing was said to me about this until late this evening. This matter should come through the Executive.

Order withdrawn.

TROLLEY FREIGHT.

Upon motion of Councilman Hull the trolley freight order was taken from the table. He then moved reference to the Street Committee.

Councilman Hobbs saw no good reason for this. At the hearing before the Railroad Commissioners we were informed we could not get rates and could not trade for other matters. We were also given to understand if we did not grant the approval the Commissioners would.

Mayor Thompson—Under the ruling of the Commissioners we have no voice in the matter. The Commissioners gave me a copy of conditions they would approve and the Clerk of the Council informs me these, with one exception, are embodied in the order. The exception is a clause providing there should be no discrimination.

Councilman Hull said he had met Supt. Conway, who said we can get together, give and take, and fix this matter up. For that reason he wanted the order referred to the Committee.

Councilman Stone. It will do no good. Could not see why it should be put off.

Councilman Pinkham—The order puts the limit at five years. If the Railroad Commissioners will fix the limit it would be just as well to let them grant the approval.

Councilman Donovan thought it folly to refer back in view of the ruling of the Commissioners.

Councilman Teasdale doubted if any agreement made with the committee would be lived up to, but it would do no harm.

The motion to refer was then voted.

Adjourned at 8.57 to meet Nov. 4.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Going to Harvard

Through the courtesy of the Harvard athletic committee the junior members of the local Y. M. C. A., will enjoy a treat on Saturday. They are to be the guests of the Athletic Committee at the Harvard—Springfield Training School football game.

All three officers of the association here in Quincy are graduates of the school at Springfield and two of them have played on the teams of former years.

Thirty boys members of the Y. M. C. A. may enjoy the treat, the first 30 registering being the lucky ones to go.

A start will be made from Quincy at 10 A. M., Saturday. On arriving at the college grounds the buildings will be seen and visited. Members of the Boys' department are asked to hand their names in early if they would go. Boys are to be under 16 years of age and bring car fare and lunch.

Shipyard Men Indulge in Bowling

Employes of the shipyard are taking considerable interest in bowling, and some close contests are taking place on the Granite street alleys. On Monday evening two teams from the pattern shop met, and when the Yannigans took the first game by a total of 367 to 361 it looked as if it was all up for their rivals, but they say Wheeler's score was a mistake in the first game as he dropped to 68 in the next.

The Brannigans won the second game 366 to 354, Westland's 96 doing the trick. In the rubber game both teams increased their totals, but Westland's 104 was too much for the Yannigans, and the Brannigans won 382 to 364. On totals the Brannigans were 24 ahead.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

Today the collier "Everett" is taking out a party of friends of President James L. Richards of the New England Gas and Coke Company. A special tug conveyed the guests from Driscoll's Landing, Boston, to the vessel, which lay out in the stream opposite Lewis wharf. As soon as they were on board, the big collier which was gaily dressed for the occasion, proceeded down the bay, receiving the salutes of steam craft of all kinds. After a sail out into the bay the ship returned to the lower harbor where the guests were transferred to the tug. The "Everett" then turned her nose out to sea and started on her maiden charter trip to Baltimore. The guests included many of the big men in the coal business of Boston

Chief Draftsman George Simpson was a guest today on board the collier "Everett" on her trip down the bay with a party of gentlemen invited by President Richards of the New England Gas and Coke Company.

In the formal transfer of the collier Everett the Fore River Shipbuilding Company was represented by President F. T Bowles and General Manager H. G. Smith and the Mass. Steamship Company by Vice President and General Manager G. H. Finn and Marine Superintendent Charles Skentelbery.

The submarine "Tarantula" left the yard on Monday.

The arrow points to a popular new style of that best shoe for women — the La France—and where to get it. We should like to show this model to you, as well as other seasonable La France styles—all of them in high favor with particular women everywhere.

The reason why the La France is preferred by those who have worn it is because in every pair is provided a standard of quality that is never lowered. Not only are women pleased with their first La France shoes—they are gratified to find the same essentials to foot-comfort, style and wear in every succeeding pair they buy.

You, too, can find among the La France styles the shoe that best meets your special requirements, and a call at this store will prove it.

When you call, be sure to ask us to demonstrate the latest addition to La France models — the Flexible Welt —conceded by its wearers and by shoemen everywhere to be far "more comfortable than a turn."

The Somerville Journal reckons that the worst citizen in any community "is the one who goes to the polls to vote because he is paid to do so, and the citizen who does not vote at all is only one degree better."

The Lowell Mail, in referring to Henry M. Whitney's new issue of his candidacy as a means of saving the dignity of the state, well says that the state is in no danger and requires no redemption, it is only the Democratic party that is disgraced. The state is not to be redeemed by voting for Mr. Whitney, but the most effective rebuke that could be administered to the Democratic highbinders would be the piling up of an unprecedented majority for Guild and Draper.

FIGHTING HAS BEGUN

Real Combat Between Forces of Rival Sultans of Morocco

MULAI HAFID'S MEN VICTORS

Commander of Imperial Forces In the Field Made Prisoner--Protection Guaranteed Foreigners--Check on Clamor For Holy War

Tangier, Oct. 22.—The first conflict between the forces of the rival sultans, Abd-El-Aziz and Mulai Hafid, took place Oct. 17 near Hettat, according to reliable reports received here from Mazagan, with the result that the troops of the sultan of the north, contesting against eight regiments of the soldiers of the sultan of the south, known as the first division and commanded by Mulai Razchid, defeated the forces of Abd-El-Aziz and captured Kaid Bushta Bagddani, commander-in-chief of all the imperial forces in the field, who had with him eight pieces of modern field artillery.

The favorable effect of this victory to the cause of Mulai Hafid is incalculable. During the night of Oct. 17 some of Mulai Hafid's men made a third raid on the custom house at Mazagan and seized 100,000 cartridges, and on the following night they made a fourth raid on the same place and captured 200,000 more cartridges.

The first division of the imperial troops, consisting of 800 men, destined for Mogador, arrived at Tangier yesterday. Communication with Mogador is interrupted.

The officials at Mazagan have received information to the effect that Mulai Hafid started on Oct. 19 for Gharab, the district between Tangier, Rabat and Fez. Hafid has issued a notice to the effect that he guarantees the protection of all the foreigners at Morocco City, inviting certain foreigners who have gone to Mazagan to return to Morocco City and resume their businesses there and ordering his representatives to furnish them with everything necessary in order to enable them to make the return trip to the capital of the south.

Mulai Hafid is showing a strong hand in controlling certain Moorish sects which are demanding the proclamation of a holy war, to which he is unalterably opposed.

The importance of the disturbances in the southern part of the empire is proved by the departure from Tangier of the French squadron. The warships are running south under full steam. They were mobilized by means of the wireless telegraph.

The ambushing of a French reconnoitering party while proceeding yesterday from Casablanca in the direction of Taddert, resulting in the killing of Captain Jandey and a private of the Chasseurs D'Afrique and the wounding of six men, will, it is said, result in the resumption of hostilities on the part of the French troops commanded by General Drude.

Seventy-Footer Will Not Answer

Stockholm, Oct. 22.—The secretary of the Swedish legation at Washington, A. Ekengren, cabled to the Royal Swedish Yacht club that the New York Yacht club would not accept a challenge for the America's cup with a 70-footer. Not enough money has yet been subscribed to provide for building a 90-footer, so the Swedish Yacht club has deferred the question of challenge for the America's cup to a meeting called for Oct. 30.

Charged With Three Murders

Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The trial of C. H. Rogers for the murder of the two Olney brothers and Alice Ingerick was begun here late yesterday. Rogers is alleged to have killed the Olney brothers in the belief that they had a considerable sum of money with them, and to have beaten Alice Ingerick to death to prevent her from telling of the crime. He was captured in the far west, after a search extending over a year.

Further Reports of Earthquakes

London, Oct. 22.—Prolonged earthquake shocks have been recorded on the instruments on the Isle of Wight at at Larbsch, Austria. The distance of the disturbances is estimated at over 3000 miles. Telegrams from St. Petersburg report earth shocks in central Asia, which caused the injury or collapse of many buildings.

Government In Brandy Business

Berlin, Oct. 22.—The government has determined to ask the reichstag during its coming session to establish an imperial brandy monopoly. The agreement, in the event of the reichstag approving it, will, it is understood, provide for the government buying all the large works outright and equitably indemnifying the smaller ones.

Emperor's Condition Improved

Vienna, Oct. 22.—For the first time since Emperor Francis Joseph came down with his present illness the patient is remarkably better. The catarrh and the dry coughing still remain unchanged, but the general condition of the emperor is more favorable.

Injunction Against Pressmen

Cincinnati, Oct. 22.—A temporary injunction against the inciting of a strike by the International Pressmen's union for an eight-hour day was made permanent by Judge Thompson.

GREAT BALLOON RACE ON

America, Germany, France and England Are Represented

St. Louis, Oct. 22.—Drifting along in a direction just west of north, when lost to view in the haze of falling night, and with a freshening southeast breeze behind them, nine big balloons are competing for the honors attached to the winning of the second international aeronautic cup race. Throughout the middle west conditions seem ideal for a record-breaking flight.

A stiffer wind would have been more welcome to the occupants of the wicker cars, but the five-mile breeze of the lower air stratum gave promise of splendid racing currents in the higher altitudes. The Germans made for the upper courses right from the start. The French and the English aeronauts selected a middle depth, while the Americans raced away at an altitude which seemed to take them just clear of trees and housetops.

In the race there are three balloons representing America, three representing Germany, two for France and one for England. The basket of each balloon contains a pilot and his aide.

With a prospect that the breeze will hold towards the northwest, many predictions are made that the final landing place of the winning balloon will be in Minnesota or North Dakota Others hold the opinion that the upper currents will send the balloons further to the east, near Lake Huron.

Walling Party at Liberty

St. Petersburg, Oct. 22.—William E. Walling of Indianapolis, his wife and his wife's sister, Rose Strunsky, who were arrested and taken to jail because of their association with members of the Finnish Progressive party, were released last night. The police found nothing among the papers of the trio to warrant detaining them. All their papers and manuscripts have been restored to them. The officials expressed regret at the arrest, which, they say, was ordered upon the report of an over-zealous spy who had been shadowing the Finnish revolutionists with whom the Americans had been associated.

Alleged Coal Land Frauds

Santa Fe., N. M., Oct. 22.—Indictments were returned by the federal grand jury against the firm of Phelps, Dodge & Co. of New York, owners of the El Paso and Southwestern railway, as well as smelters in Arizona and coal lands in New Mexico. Further indictments were returned against Charles S. Spiess, one of the company's attorneys, Professor Douglas, formerly territorial engineer; David M. White, and 16 others. The charge is conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with coal land entries in San Juan county, N. M.

Taft Gets Loving Cup

Manila, Oct. 22.—There was a great demonstration last night in honor of Secretary of War Taft, the occasion being a banquet arranged by members of the Manila assembly. A silver loving cup of native make was presented to the secretary, who, in expressing his thanks, said he was gratified when he heard President Osmena say the United States had kept its every promise made to the Filipinos in letter and in spirit.

Man and Woman Stabbed

New York, Oct. 22.—A love affair that had its beginning in Havana ended in probably a fatal stabbing affray in this city. Alice Wilton, 30 years old, and Alexander Hall, 36 years old, both Cubans, were attacked in a furnished room by Joseph Burnett, also a Cuban, who escaped. Hall is not expected to survive. The woman has a slight chance to recover.

Receiver Asked For Railway

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Clarence H. Venner of New York has filed in the superior court a bill asking that a receiver be appointed for the Chicago City Railway company, which operates the street car lines in the southern part of Chicago, and also that the traction settlement ordinance passed by the city council of Chicago on Feb. 11 be declared illegal and void.

Gale Sweeps Newfoundland Coast

St. Johns, Oct. 22.—A violent storm, the worst of the present season, raged all along the Newfoundland coast yesterday. Many marine disasters are feared, as a large number of fishing vessels are moving along the coast from Labrador. Shipping at this point is tied up by the gale.

Open Fire In Boston Rally For Ratification of Ticket

LODGE GETS A CHALLENGE

Candidate For Governor Stands For State Righ s, Reciprocity With Canada and Removal of Tariff Protection--As to Election Expenses

Boston, Oct. 22.—Fireworks, music, rounds of applause and hundreds of waving American flags marked the Democratic ratification rally held here last night, at which Henry M. Whitney, candidate for governor, and other members of the Democratic state ticket and prominent Democratic leaders were heard in addresses.

Mayor Fitzgerald presided over the meeting. He stated that for obvious reasons he had kept out of the contest for the Democratic nomination for governor, but that as a member of congress and as mayor he had always endeavored to promote the very objects Whitney had so much at heart—reciprocity with Canada and a reduction of the tariff. He challenged Senator Lodge to show any act by him tending to advance the industrial and commercial welfare of Massachusetts in his 12 years of service at Washington. He closed by promising Whitney that he would carry Boston at the November election by 30,000 majority.

The introduction of Whitney was greeted with long cheering. The "Star Spangled Banner," played by the band, brought the audience to its feet, waving hundreds of small flags. Whitney said in part:

"We stand in the first place for the rights of the state as guaranteed by the Constitution. We are opposed to the further concentration of power in the hands of the general government. We are opposed to putting our business affairs under the supervision and control of the general government, deeming it wholly unnecessary, a bad business and bad political policy.

"There are no trusts or combinations of capital injurious to trade within our borders. The combinations of capital and of manufacturing enterprises, commonly known as trusts, have been very largely the result of the conditions invited by the high tariffs that have prevailed in the last half-century. The remedy for this condition of things is not in revolutionizing the methods of business that have prevailed with such good effect, but in removing one of the great and probably the most potent influence in the creation of these combinations of capital; that is, in removing tariff protection, thereby introducing the element of competition."

In meeting what Whitney claimed was an implied insinuation in a statement of Governor Guld, that the Republican party had no huge campaign funds, Whitney stated that whatever he had spent had come from his own pocket, and read a letter which he said that he had sent to Guild. The letter offered to enter into an agreement between Whitney and Guild that neither should use any money before or upon election day as a factor in determining the election; and further, that whoever should be elected governor should agree upon election to recommend to the next legislature that all corporations, including those which are the beneficiaries of tariff duties, should be included in the present prohibition of law.

George M. Schofield, candidate for lieutenant governor, followed Whitney. He complimented Mayor Fitzgerald for securing a commission to investigate the financial affairs of the city, and stated that he believed if Governor Guild had the courage to ask a similar commission to investigate the state's financial condition he would secure even more astounding results. He condemned Lieutenant Governor Draper for refusing laborers the right to organize, when, as he claimed, Draper demanded that right for himself. In closing, Schofield considered in detail the veterans' gratuity bill, which he declared he was firmly convinced was constitutional.

Charles S. Hamlin quoted Guild as saying that Whitney was not fit to be governor because he was "the self-confessed confidant and agent of a great express company." Hamlin deduced from this that if owners of stock in corporations were not eligible to public office the state would never have been permitted the magnificent services of Governors Crane, Long, Greenhalge, Russell and Brackett, and that only clergymen would be available as gubernatorial candidates.

John A. Sullivan, former congressman, said that Senator Lodge held Massachusetts in bondage and read a letter from Richard Olney, expressing his regret at being unable to be present and offering his support. Sullivan declared that Massachusetts would be compelled to fight for her very existance if the tariff was not reduced.

Congressman Kelliher and Congressman Peters were the closing speakers of the evening.

Gloucester Schooner Wrecked

Louisburg, C. B., Oct. 22.—The Gloucester fishing schooner Scepter, Captain Mulloney, was wrecked off Scatterie Island, C. B. The crew had a narrow escape, but all made land safely.

TENSION IS RELIEVED

Stability of Some Banks, However, Not Permanently Established

New York, Oct. 22.—The recent tension of the banking community has been considerably relieved and yesterday passed with no adverse developments of a serious character, but with much that was reassuring. At the same time there was evidence that some of the banks most affected by recent events were still in need of assistance, but the promptness with which the clearing house accorded it did much to allay further alarm.

The general improvement was reflected in the buoyancy of the stock market and the steady advance in prices from previous low levels. On the other hand, the conservative element deferred a too optimistic view until the relief given by the clearing house had continued for several days and had permanently re-established the stability of some of the weaker institutions, notably the Mercantile National bank and the New Amsterdam National bank.

The clearing house was called upon to meet debit balances of the Mercantile and the New Amsterdam banks to the extent of upwards of $2,000,000, of which the Mercantile owed about $1,900,000 and the New Amsterdam $200,000.

Last night the National Bank of Commerce gave 24 hours' notice to the Clearing House association that after today it would no longer clear for the Knickerbocker Trust company. The directors of the National would not comment upon their action. The National has for some time acted as clearing agent for the Knickerbocker.

Old Resident May Be Deported

New York, Oct. 22.—Thomas Neary, although he lived at Manchester, N. H., 24 years and has a son in the United States navy, had neglected to take out naturalization papers. He went abroad to visit friends a few months ago. Upon his return doctors at the immigration station here found a small varicose vein in one of his legs and recommended his deportation because, under the new immigration laws, an alien with a varicose vein may be deported. The case has been appealed to the authorities at Washington.

Religious Press Too Narrow

New York, Oct. 22.—Deploring the subservient manner in which the church press is conducted and urging more independence and broader views, Rev. J. W. Johnson, at a meeting of the Methodist Ministers' organization, declared that "had we an independent religious press that would permit the editor to criticise when he felt like it, you would see the knees of bishops tremble and presiding elders coming forward for prayer."

No Danger of Panic, Says Bryan

New York, Oct. 22.—William J. Bryan delivered three addresses in New York yesterday, the final one before a large audience at Cooper Union on "The Democracy of Today." Bryan expressed the belief that there would be no panic so long as conditions remain as they are. He said that individuals and heads of big corporations may have difficulties, but anything like a panic is not possible.

Gale Drives Schooners Ashore

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 22.—As a result of the storm that swept over the Cape Breton coast yesterday, three schooners have been wrecked in the harbor here and it is feared that vessels have been wrecked at other points. The wind blew 60 miles an hour, accompanied by snow. The vessels were seeking shelter from the storm and, being unable to ride out the gale, were driven ashore.

The Kremer Kidnapping Case

New York, Oct. 22.—May Bradley was held in $1000 bail in police court to answer a charge of aiding in the kidnapping of Carleton Kremer, aged 5, the adopted son of Dr. and Mrs. Carleton Kremer. The boy is the son of Mrs. Maud Clark of Boston and was adopted by the Kremers at the time Mrs. Clark and her husband were divorced.

Steamer Wrecked Off California

Crescent City, Cal., Oct. 22.—Freight steamer Queen Cristina struck on North Seal rock, eight miles northwest, yesterday. Sixteen members of the crew reached shore in boats and 16 others remained on board. The steamer will prove a total loss. She left San Francisco on Oct. 19, in ballast, for Portland, Or.

Failure of Glass Company

Pittsburg, Oct. 22.—J. A. Chambers, one of the best known glass manufacturers in the country, president of the Chambers Window Glass company of Pittsburg, admitted the insolvency of that company in a statement attached to a petition in bankruptcy. The petition was filed by a New York corporation.

Winter Weather In Nova Scotia

Halifax, Oct. 22.—Three inches of snow fell in Halifax yesterday and the temperature dropped six points below freezing. The weather is the most unseasonable for many years. The snowfall to the north is very heavy.

Jail Birds Take Flight

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Birmingham says that 15 prisoners escaped from the South Side prison and are still at large.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Wednesday, Oct. 23.
Sun rises—6:06; sets—4:52.
Moon rises—6:33 p. m.
High water—12:30 a. m.; 12:45 p. m.
The weather will be fair in New England, with slowly rising temperature.

CRUSADE AGAINST CROOKS

Plan to Have Aliens Deported by Authorities at Boston

Boston, Oct. 22.—The work of rounding up and deporting all alien criminals and professional crooks, who have succeeded in getting into this country, despite the unceasing vigilance of the immigration officials, is to be vigorously pushed as the result of a recent conference between George B. Billings, commissioner of immigration at this port, and Superintendent Pierce and Chief Watts of police headquarters.

Two alleged murderers, two alleged postoffice thieves and an alleged pickpocket, all aliens, have been rounded up by the police and immigration officials during the past month. Billings left for Washington yesterday, where he will confer with Commissioner General Sargent.

Carders Discuss Tuite Case

Pawtucket, R. I., Oct. 22.—The Carders' union last night discussed the situation arising from the discharge of Mrs. Elzabeth Tuite, president of the union, as an employe of the J. & P. Coats Thread company, and appointed a committee to seek again a conference with the officials of the company, in an effort to secure her reinstatement. It is understood that the mill officials declare the discharge of Mrs. Tuite to have been due to poor workmanship, while the union members assert that she was let go because of her activity as a union organizer.

Fell From Theatre Gallery

Boston, Oct. 22.—Frank Callahan, aged 23, died last night as the result of a frightful fall at the Columbia theatre. Callahan either climbed over or jumped from the screen guarding the gallery rail at the theatre and, tumbling down, struck the first balcony rail and was pitched into the auditorium. He struck and smashed into splinters three chairs in the orchestra.

Bondsmen Surrender Robitschek

Boston, Oct. 22.—Solomon Robitschek of Lowell, who fled to Montreal while out on bail awaiting sentence of his conviction for improper use of the mails in connection with an alleged attempt to blackmail the Salvation Army, and who was brought back here, was surrendered by his bondsmen in court yesterday. His case was continued and he was remanded to jail.

Death In Runaway Accident

Millbury, Mass., Oct. 22.—Frank J. King of Worcester, aged 47, was driving a pair of horses here last night when they became unmanageable and broke away from the wagon. There was no witness of the accident, but it is supposed that King was dragged over the front of the wagon when the pole broke, and was killed by striking headlong upon the ground.

Clinton Loses a Leading Citizen

Clinton, Mass., Oct. 22.—Christopher C. Stone, judge of the district court of Clinton, prominent in Clinton banking circles and founder of the Clinton Foundry company, died last night at his home here as a result of a paralytic shock. He was 78 years old and for more than half a century had been actively identified with many of the activities of the town.

Attorney General Candidate

Boston, Oct. 22.—James E. McConnell of Boston will be the Democratic candidate for attorney general at the coming election. The vacancy in the Democratic ticket, headed by Henry M. Whitney, was filled late yesterday, when McConnell's name was filed with the secretary of state as the candidate for attorney general.

Combination Liquor Bottle

Portland, Me., Oct. 22.—Liquor Deputies Fickett and Foley made a seizure of liquors at Pine Point. They found a bottle made of three-cornered bottles, secured at the bottom by a band, and at the top by wires. It has three corks and a cap. It contained whisky, gin and wine.

Business Men Raise Objections

Yarmouthport, Mass., Oct. 22.—The efforts of the postoffice department at Washington to curtail the railway mail service in this section is meeting with a vigorous protest from business men, who are opposed to hampering the service between Boston and the Cape Cod connections.

Nust Have Pound Keeper's Consent

Rutland, Vt., Oct. 22.—The right of a person to take his cattle from the pound without the consent of the keeper was decided against at Fowler when four men were each fined $5 and costs, amounting to $14.60, for such an action.

Sad Fate of Old Indian

Plainfield, Conn., Oct. 22.—Thomas Ford, the last Windham county survivor of the Mohegan tribe of Indians, and the only full-blooded member of the tribe known to be alive, has been compelled to go to the town poor farm.

Remarried After Long Separation

Sharon, Mass., Oct. 22.—After living apart for 23 years, during which time they seldom met, and when they did failed to recognize each other, John A. Lucas and his divorced wife, Annie P. Lucas, have been remarried.

To Review Crawford Sentence

Washington, Oct. 22.—The supreme court of the United States has granted the motion for a writ of certiorari to review the sentence of two years imposed on William G. Crawford, an attorney of this city, for complicity in postoffice frauds. The jury in the first Crawford trial disagreed, and sentence of the second was confirmed by the court of appeals.

CONSTIPATION

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets I suffered untold misery with luternal piles. Thanks to you I am free from all that this morning. You can use this in behalf of suffering humanity."

Moved Leased Goods

People who have been in the habit of purchasing goods on the installment plan, and then shipping the goods out of town, should take warning by the fate meted out to Eliza J. McDonald in the district court this morning. Some weeks ago the woman purchased furniture of H. L. Kincaide & Co., on a lease, the conditions of which were that the goods should not be moved without permission of the owner. Mrs. McDonald however, sent the goods to Nova Scotia and suspended payments on them. She was brought into court on a complaint for concealing leased personal property and was fined $50.

IS PRESIDENT OF ALL

Roosevelt Deeply Interested In Every State In the Union

PRAISE FOR NATION'S HEROES

Men of South Fought as Valiently as Northern Brothers--Will Urge Congress to Have Deep Channelway For the Mississippi

Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 22.—After a fortnight spent in the canebrakes, President Roosevelt, bronzed and vigorous, paid a flying visit to Vicksburg, and with Mayor Griffith and General Stephen D. Lee headed a parade which passed through the principal streets to the national cemetery.

The streets were packed with people, who cheered the visitors enthusiastically. From the cemetery the visitors drove to the Court House square, where an immense crowd had gathered. President Roosevelt made a speech, in which he said:

"It is indeed an honor for me to be today the guest of Vicksburg and of Mississippi, and I am inexpressibly touched by the greeting over the great arch of cotton bales which said 'Mississippi greets the president.' I should not be fit to be president at all if I did not seek to be in the full sense the president of Mississippi, the president of every state in this Union.

"It was from Vicksburg that a company of that famous Mississippi regiment, which won undying renown in the Mexican war under the gallant leadership of its colonel, who afterward became the favorite son not only of Mississippi, but of all the south, Jefferson Davis, came. Think how fortunate we are as a nation that it is possible for the president of the nation to come here today to be conducted through your national park by the surviving lieutenant general of the Confederate army and to feel that every instance of heroism recorded by the monuments, alike to the Union and to the Confederate dead on that battlefield, is a subject for just pride to every citizen of this nation, no matter where he lives.

"What other war is there of which we can say that before the generation that fought it had died away the whole country rises to feel the same triumph alike for those who fought so valiently for what they believed to be right and triumphed, and for those who fought valiently for what they, with equal sincerity, thought to be right and lost?

"It seems to me that no American president could spend his time better than by seeing for himself just what a rich and wonderful region the lower Mississippi valley is, so that he may go back to Washington with the set purpose to do everything that in me lies to see that the United States does its full share in making the Mississippi river a part of the sea coast, in making it a deep channel to the Great Lakes from the gulf.

"The people of Holland took two-thirds of their country out from under the ocean, and they have lived behind the dikes for centuries in safety. With one-tenth of the effort we, an infinitely greater nation, can take these incomparably rich bottom lands of the lower Mississippi out from all fear of flooding by the Mississippi.

"While I do not like to say in advance what I intend to do, I shall break my rule in this case, and say that in my next message to congress I shall advocate as heartily as I know how that the congress now elected shall take the first steps to bring about that deep channelway, and the attendant high and broad levee system, which will make of these alluvial bottoms the richest and most populous agricultural land on the face of the globe.

"We are now digging the Panama canal, and it is being well done. One reason why the work is handled well is that we refused to go into it until, after careful study, we did not make any false steps. I want, when we start on this epoch-making work of improving the Mississippi, to be sure that we start on principles that will prevent mistakes, extravagances, misapplication of effort. I shall have no small difficulty in persuading some people of the wisdom of a policy such as that I advocate. If that policy is tainted in any way by jobbers or folly it will be immeasurably more difficult to carry it through. What we must look out for is the action of the men, probably well meaning, who, in their anxiety to serve some particular district, will try to divert what should be a national effort to deepen a great national highway into a succession of efforts spread out so thin as to make all ineffective."

Prince Left Vast Fortune

Berlin, Oct. 22.—The late Duke and Prince John Henry XI of Pless, who died recently at Dresden, left cash accumulations amounting to $21,800,000. His successor is his eldest son, John Henry, Prince of Pless, who visited America as Emperor William's representative at the New York Chamber of Commerce celebration in 1892.

Conservatives Win In Russia

St. Petersburg, Oct. 22.—The parliamentary elections are now sufficiently advanced to disclose the general outlines of the composition of the third parliament, which the Liberals and Conservatives agree will be strongly Conservative in composition.

CARD PARTY PRIZES.

Novelties For Dining Room Acceptable Presents For Housekeepers.

"My turn for the next euchre? What on earth am I going to get for prizes?" is frequently the despairing thought of the card club member when she learns that she is to be the hostess at the next fortnightly meeting. She smiles pleasantly and assumes a shall-be-so-glad-to-see-you-all expression, while her mind skips to maids, dishes, tables, chairs, refreshments, and lingers with horror on—prizes.

In reality it is a simple matter to provide prizes for a simple afternoon euchre or bridge party. There are always so many novelties coming to hand, some expensive, some inexpensive, that it should be an easy task for a card party hostess to select a few little suitable articles that will please her fellow members. If she would only wander through the shops with a view toward choosing some novelties that she herself would like, she would surely succeed in securing a few that would appeal to the taste of her partners.

For the woman who keeps house there is nothing more acceptable than any kind of little novelties for her dining room. The accompanying sketch shows a number of these which would be appreciated for prizes, with the prices ranging from 10 cents to $12.

The holders for a vichy or a pickle bottle are in sterling silver in openwork design and will serve to make commonplace looking bottles of more decorative value. A leaf shaped plate is exceptionally dainty. It is of white china with the five lobes of the maple leaf and a pretty ornamentation of pink rosebuds.

There is a plank for fish, set in a pierced nickel dish, which is not alone useful, but is an ornament for the well fitted out dinner table.

YOUR COOK'S TEMPER.

Never Permit Her to Slam Dishes and Look Like an Angry Pirate.

A cross, ill natured servant should never be retained after having once exhibited her temper.

It is better to have a peaceful atmosphere in the home and to do one's own scrubbing and cooking than to be at sword's point with some tyrant of the kitchen.

When employing a housemaid or cook explain the work exactly as it is. Don't make it appear too easy.

If there are inconveniences, tell about them beforehand. If the man of the family is likely to be late for dinner three nights a week, put that unpleasantness before the applicant so she will know what to expect. Explain that such annoyances are part of the work for which she is paid.

The woman who permits a servant to flounce around and slam dishes and look like an angry pirate ought to be bullyragged by her maid.

The woman who is mistress of her home will stand that sort of thing just about half a minute or time in which to catch her breath for a fine burst of oratory.

Treat your servant with extreme kindness, but don't permit her to run the house.

That's your privilege and your pleasure and sometimes your despair.

An Autumn Dessert.

As grapes are one of the fruits of the month, try them in an ice. Bruise stemmed grapes and place over the fire until scalding hot, then turn into a cheesecloth bag and let the juice drip. For one pint boil together one pint of water and one cupful of sugar for three minutes, then set away until cold. Add the grape juice and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice and freeze. This may be turned into a sherbet by the addition, when half frozen, of the white of an egg whipped to a stiff meringue with one tablespoonful of sifted powdered sugar. Pack and let stand for a couple of hours before serving.

Knew All About It.

Lady Customer—I wish to tell you how these shoes of mine are to be made.

Shoemaker—Oh. I know that well enough—large inside and small outside. —Meggendorfer Blatter.

State Conference No-License Workers

The first annual confereuce of No-License workers of Massachusetts will be held Thursday, October 31, 3 to 9.30 P. M., at Bowdoin and Kingsley hall, Ford Building, Boston under the auspices of the Massachusetts No-Licence League.

BUCKET SHOPS

Watch and Ward Society Claim Credit for The New Law

The Men's club of the Wollaston Congregational church opened its season Tuesday evening with a supper and talk.

A hot roast beef supper with vegetables was served at 6.30.

This was followed by a short business session, President W. H. Hull presiding. The by-laws were amended so as to make the annual dues $3.

The committee on public improvements was instructed to confer with the officials of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad relative to hearing the Wollaston depot better lighted and the westerly platform extended.

The city editor of the Daily Ledger was elected an honorary member of the club.

The speakers of the evening were: J. Frank Chase secretary of the Watch and Ward Society, and Jefferson Parker, one of the detectives.

Mr. Chase, in opening, presented the work of the society and its possibilities. Much for the benefit of the world at large can be accomplished by legal means. The society was against vice as a business, but not as a diversion. There is no law that will prevent a man from sitting down with friends and gambling but when one enters it for business that is a public matter.

He spoke particularly of the victory of the society in having the Bucket Shop law passed. While the law has not closed all shops he could only speak with the assurance that results would be accomplished. The bucket shop, he said, imitates the legitimate brokerage business where a man deposits his money with a broker who enters the stock market with it as agent. That was a simple and honorable transaction.

The bucket shop is a gamble. A matter of chance. Before the law was passed there were 51 places in Boston, some fitted up elegantly, where from $1 up could be wagered. He explained at length the scheme of the bucket shops where investors simply bet with the keeper that stockes would go one way or the other. They are operated by men with long criminal records whose only business is to take your money and keep it.

In a bucket shop five men must lose for every three that win. He spoke of the fights before the legislature in years past, to have a law enacted, and paid a high tribute to Delcevare King of Quincy, whom he characterized as a man who did things. The enforcement of the law is now up to the police.

In closing he said that the difference between a legimate broker and a bucket shop was this. In a brokerage house if you win the broker wins, but in a bucket shop if you win the operator loses.

Mr. Parker confined himself to describing the game of policy. He showed what is called the dope or dream book. How the slips were made of drawings. There were 78 numbers in the game and the numbers that were to be drawn a certain day were made out two months previous, so that the operator knew just how to play to win. It was also possible for them to take out a number, if that number was being played for a large sum. He had with him a number of policy slips, dream books and other paraphernalia that had been seized during raids, etc.

Hewitson---Patterson Home Wedding

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson on South Central avenue, Wollaston, was very prettily decorated in white and red on Tuesday evening for the wedding of their daughter, Mary Webber and Mr. Lyman Franklin Hewitson of Dorchester, formerly of Wollaston. Palms, white chrysanthemums and red oak leaves made a most artistic decoration and was beautifully arranged.

Rev. Edward A. Robinson, former pastor of the Wollaston Congregational church, in simple but impressive words solemnized the marriage at half past seven. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Elsie M. Patterson, and the best man was Mr. Chester E. Tenney. The ushers were William J. Patterson and Lowell M. Baker of Wollaston, Frank T. White of Holbrook, and Arthur Paul of Braintree. Miss Mary L. Hunt of Quincy at the piano played the wedding march.

The bride was in white messaline and carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley. She looked charming as did the maid of honor who wore a pink batiste.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held from eight until ten o'clock, during which ices were served and the guests viewed the display of presents, which consisted of beautiful pieces of silver, cut glass and china.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hewitson are to reside in Dorchester, at Humphreys place, where they will be at home to friends after January first.

Independence League Rally Tonight

There will be a rally of the Independence League in Hancock hall tonight. Mr. Washington A. Coles, a life-long friend of Thomas L. ## DEATH OF QUINCY'S OLDEST GROCER.

SAMUEL F. NEWCOMB.

After a brief illness which confined him to the bed but a week, Mr. Samuel F. Newcomb, the veteran grocer of Quincy Neck passed away Tuesday noon in his 77th year.

S. F. Newcomb was the oldest grocer in Quincy. He was born in Braintree, now Quincy, in 1831 and belonged to the Newcomb family whose progenitor, Francis Newcomb, went there in 1638 and established the Newcomb homestead, being practically the whole of Quincy Neck. His father, Samuel Newcomb, Jr., was one of the pioneers in the granite business, furnishing many cargoes of stone for Boston. He furnished the foundation for Fort Warren. He also had a store in connection with his stone business. His mother, Charlotte Thayer of Braintree, was of the seventh generation in a descent from John Alden of Mayflower fame, and whose father did good service in the Revolution.

In 1845 the present store was built, and in 1855 Samuel F. Newcomb established the grocery business and has continued there uninterruptedly ever since. He had two sons who were associated with him, Arthur W. and Herbert H., the former having served in the Quincy city council for five years.

In 1850 much granite business was carried on there, but some of the parties died and as there seemed to be no successors the business gradually disappeared and the village became a quiet one, but its location was such as to make it a pleasant place to live in, especially in summer.

In 1900 the Fore River Ship & Engine Co., desired to change its plant from Braintree to a better location, and after looking over the ground decided to locate at Quincy Neck and purchased a part of the original Newcomb homestead and from then until now the plant has had an unprecedented growth, employing about 4000 men, having a plant surpassed by none, and having launched successfully the seven master schooner Thomas W. Lawson the six masted schooner W. L. Douglas, a freight steamer, the cruiser Des Moines, and the battleships Rhode Island, New Jersey and Vermont. With the coming of this plant a great change came and houses new, side by side with the old, also stores, hotels, boarding houses, a new bridge at the Point and everything to harmonize with the new condition of things sprang into life. Mr. Newcomb was on the ground and his business improved. A postoffice station was established and a lunch counter put in to accommodate the clerks in the office of the Fore River Company.

This plant has a large pay roll and not only the people from the Fore River district are feeling the benefit of the new development, but Quincy proper and Weymouth and Braintree are prospering because of it.

When Mr. Newcomb first went into business and for some years afterward there were no paper bags, no canned goods, nothing put up in packages; brown sugar was broken into pieces with a hammer at first and latter by a sugar mill. No delivery wagons for the customers took the goods home themselves. The first can of peaches Mr. Newcomb sold for 75 cents, and Rising Sun stove polish has been on the shelf since 1862. Mr. Newcomb's wife, who died in 1896, was Amey Allison of Weymouth. Besides the two sons mentioned he has one daughter, Amey F., and one grandson, all living on the original homestead, and the store is on part of this same tract of land.

Funeral services will be held from the late residence on East Howard street on Friday, at 2.30 P. M.

Enjoyable Party.

Miss Edith MacVitie was tendered a surprise party Tuesday evening at her home on Whitwell street by about sixty-five of her young friends.

About seven-thirty the young people gathered at a given place, and soon turned toward Miss MacVitie's home. The young lady had been invited to spend the evening at a neighbor's house and this gave the guests an opportunity to enter before she would see them. After all were seated the young lady's mother called her, saying a friend was waiting at the house. Miss MacVitie entered hurriedly and nearly collapsed at seeing such a crowd.

Music was immediately started up, William Pratt playing the violin, accompanied on the piano by Gilbert Booth. Miss Mildred Rogers furnished music for singing and Professor Charles Dornan displayed many marvelous tricks, and some skilled work at hypnotism. Games were played and all enoyed themselves.

During the amusement Lawrence Pratt demanded attention. Miss MacVitie was ushered in and after beating around the bush for a few minutes to tease the young lady Mr. Pratt presented her with a finely engraved gold locket.

The dining room was then opened and all partook of refreshments. Later in the evening ice cream and cake were served.

Games were again started, and more music was rendered, and at a late hour the guests departed for home.

Letter Carriers and Clan McGregor Attend

The funeral of James Copland was held Tuesday afternoon from his late residence on Quincy street and was very largely attended. Clan McGregor O. S. C., of which he had long been an active member, was present in a body, as were also the members of the Quincy Letter Carriers Association. There was also a large delegation from the Water street Presbyterian church.

The flowers were many and beautiful, and included several large set pieces and bouquets which almost hid the casket containing the remains from view.

The services were of a simple nature in keeping with life of the deceased, and were conducted by Rev. N. J. Sproul pastor of the Water street Presbyterian church. During the services a young ladies sang beautifully.

At the close of the services the remains were escorted to Mt. Wollaston cemetery by Clan McGregor, members of that order and letters carriers acting as bearers.

At the grave the burial services of the Scottish Clans was recited, and there was a benediction by Rev. Mr. Sproul.

Off for Salt Lake City.

J. Frederick Johnson of this city leaves today for Salt Lake City, where he is to engage in civil engineering. Fred has just completed a course at Harvard, where he received high honors. He is a graduate of Adams Academy and Dr. Everett always spoke highly of his work when at his school. He received the Price Greenleaf prize when he was graduated. He is a young man of exemplary habits, and well liked by all who know him, and it is the belief of his friends that he will make a mark for himself in his new field. A host of relatives and friends were at the station in Boston to bid him good luck and a safe journey.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

The gravel taken from the excavation for the addition to the High school is being used to resurface Butler road.

The water was drawn from Butler's brook while the bed of the brook was being cleaned. It has been turned on again and the brook is now a fine body of water.

The house committee of the Cochato club Braintree, is to give a bridge party at the club house next Wednesday evening, Oct. 30th, the second in the series of winter entertainments.

The November meeting of John Adams chapter, Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution, is to be a reunion of former and present members of the chapter, combined with a reception to new members, followed by a supper in the quaint living room at the birthplace of President John Adams.

Under the auspices of the Young People's Missionary union of Greater Boston, there is to be held soon a series of district missionary institutes. The institute for the district including Quincy, Milton, Braintree and Holbrook will be held in the Bethany Congregational church, Quincy, on the thirtieth of this month.

The Unity club will meet on Friday evening in the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church and will be under the direction of Houghton Schumacher. The discussion will be on "What They Are Doing for Children Today," by Miss Florence R. Faxon and Stacey B. Southworth. Mrs. Ross K. Whiton will be the soloist.

New Product.

A representative of the Daily Ledger was privileged to witness a demonstration of a new ash product, or coal saving idea. The product dissolved in water is mixed with ashes and then placed on the fire. It kindles as readily as coal and gives off an intense heat. One spoonful of the product and three pints of water are all that is necessary for a hod of ashes which is sufficient to maintain a good fire for nine hours. It is claimed that the product is not poisonous and that it will in no way injure stoves. A dollar can of the product produces the same results as a ton of coal.

GOVERNMENT'S HELP

Assured to Legitimate Business Interests During Panic

CREDIT GETS SEVERE SHOCK

Run of Three Hours on Knickerbocker Trust Company Takes $8,000,000 From Its Vaults and Causes Its Suspension--Financial Conditions Elsewhere Are Sound

New York, Oct. 23.—Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou made the following statement shortly before 1 o'clock this morning:

"I repeat what I stated before leaving Washington, if for no other reason than to emphasize the attitude of the treasury department. It will use its facilities to assist in every proper way legitimate business interests, and its action will be prompt and thorough.

"The national banks of New York city are in an exceptionally strong condition. The general situation here seems to be well in hand and is being looked after by many strong and influential men, such as those whose recent action in the clearing house received emphatic public approval. The movement for similar concert of action among the trust companies should have a helpful and far-reaching effect. I shall spend the day tomorrow at the sub-treasury."

Credit trembled for a time yesterday, and before confidence could be restored New York's second largest institution had emptied its cash vaults under pressure of the biggest run experienced here in a generation, a Stock Exchange firm had failed for $6,000,000, Wall street's principal securities had settled from $5 to $8 a share, call money had risen to 70 percent, and local bankers, unable to stem the tide of distrust, had been forced to appeal for relief to the secretary of the treasury at Washington.

All this was in the face of reassuring statements by the acting state superintendent of banks that the suspected bank was solvent, declarations by prominent bankers that there were no true bases for alarm, and assurances from Washington that Secretary Cortelyou would not hesitate to act promptly in any situation where legitimate business was threatened.

Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou returned last night from Washington at 9:30. He is here to thoroughly look into the financial situation, which he has had under observation for several weeks. He has come with no preconceived ideas of how much money will be required to relieve the situation, and the matter of treasury relief measures will be determined by what he learns.

The Knickerbocker Trust company, the storm center yesterday, paid out cash to depositors at the rate of $44,444 a minute for three hours and then closed its doors. The directors had, as they thought, fully prepared for a run, and caused to be announced in yesterday's papers that $8,000,000 in cash was on hand to meet all eventualities.

At 9:30 o'clock a few depositors withdrew their accounts and an hour later hundreds were in line to take out their deposits at the main offices and at the Harlem, the Bronx and the down-town branches. The $8,000,000 lasted until 12:30, when Vice President Brown announced that the bank had no more cash available and payments were suspended. Brown said that the bank had ample securities to meet all demands, was perfectly solvent, and it was only a question of raising the cash, when all depositors who wished to withdraw could do so. Desperate efforts were made by the officials of the Knickerbocker to get in their loans and otherwise replenish their cash vaults.

Acting State Superintendent of Banks Skinner, who throughout the day had expressed confidence that the bank would meet all obligations, qualified his position last night when he issued the following statement:

"This afternoon, about 4 o'clock, having received no positive assurance of help from the Knickerbocker Trust company, I conferred with the attorney general, telling him that, while its affairs were not hopeless, they were in so critical a condition that I thought he should be prepared to act at any time. At about 5:30 o'clock I again communicated with him, giving as complete a statement of facts as was possible over the telephone. I have also had a written statement made to him from the main office of the state banking department in Albany.

"The Knickerbocker Trust company is not without hope that it may still receive adequate aid from financial institutions. If it does not open its doors I shall act under the advice of the attorney general, who is made by law the legal adviser of the state banking department."

Bankers not directly associated with the Knickerbocker were quite as anxious that its integrity be maintained, and many conferences were held last night with a view to putting the Knickerbocker on its feet if this could be accomplished without weakening other institutions.

A. F. Higgins, who was chosen to the presidency of the Knickerbocker when C. T. Barney resigned, was not optimistic. When asked if the other trust company presidents were reluctant to help out his bank, he replied: "Reluctant is no name for it. They seemed to feel that they ought to hold on to all the money they had."

Shortly before 11 o'clock last night J. P. Morgan, George W. Perkins, George F. Baker, Frank A. Vanderlip and A. B. Hepburn reached the Manhattan hotel and went to the apartments of Secretary Cortelyou. The party remained in conference for some time.

The assignment of the firm of Mayer & Co., brokers and members of the New York Stock Exchange, was said to be due to the recent depreciation in the values of securities. The liabilities were given at $6,000,000, and it is said that the assets may prove sufficient to offset the firm's obligations.

FINANCIERS NOT WORRIED

General Conditions Outside of New York Appear to Be Favorable

Omaha, Oct. 23.—The financial troubles of the past few days have had no effect upon Nebraska banks, according to prominent financiers of this city.

Helena, Oct. 23.—Financial conditions in Montana were never better than this year. It has been the most prosperous in the history of the state.

Portland, Or., Oct. 23.—The financial situation in this city is remarkably good. The banks of Portland have more money on hand than at any time in their history.

Minneapolis, Oct. 23.—According to Minneapolis bankers, the time has passed when conditions such as are reported from New York can have any immediate effect on the financial situation here.

Louisville, Oct. 23.—Beyond a slight tightness in the money market, the financial situation in New York causes no uneasiness here.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 23.—Tacoma's financial condition has not been as substantial in years as at present. Recent bank statements show a great increase in savings, and general deposits are steadily growing.

Seattle, Oct. 23.—Local bank deposits have increased since Jan. 1 from $60,000,000 to $72,000,000. Large amounts are being sent east for call loans.

Boston Bankers Not Worried

Boston, Oct. 23.—In the complacent belief that their own houses are secure, Boston bankers view the financial troubles in New York with interest, but with no particular anxiety except as bearing upon the general situation. Local stocks all followed the decline in the New York list, but the drop was not so marked.

Apprehension at Berlin

Berlin, Oct. 23.—The difficulties of the Knickerbocker Trust company of New York have created the greatest degree of astonishment among the bankers of this city. The Boersen Courier criticises a banking system which allows deposits of $60,000,000 upon a capital of $1,200,000. "If some of these banks are found to be rotten," the paper says, "there is no knowing where the crisis will stop. We expect to hear of runs on other New York banks, which hardly all of them will be able to withstand."

British Investors Not Losers

London, Oct. 23.—The financial crisis in New York is attracting the greatest attention here. The financial editorial writers are of the opinion that, although the effect will be felt here, it is not likely to be felt to any great extent because British operators and investors of recent months gradually have been freeing themselves from commitments and the influence of Wall street; consequently some sections of the Stock Exchange will not be much influenced by the crisis.

Was Well Stocked With Uniforms

Boston, Oct. 23.—United States District Attorney French has nol-prossed the case against Wolf Moscowitch, a second-hand clothing dealer, whose shop was raided on Sept. 14, when over $700 worth of uniforms of sailors and marines was seized. The charge against Moscowitch was that he unlawfully purchased property belonging to the United States.

Receiver For Mining Company

Washington, Oct. 23.—Eugene Davis and Edward C. Bryan, vice president and treasurer, respectively, of the Capucaya Mining company, were indicted by the grand jury for false pretences, embezzlement and conspiracy. Justice Gould appointed J. F. Laskey receiver.

John Mitchell Seriously Sick

Indianapolis, Oct. 23.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, who is in the hospital at La Salle, Ills., where he recently underwent an operation, is suffering greatly and growing weaker and more nervous.

Big Decrease In Pensions

Washington, Oct. 23.—The decrease of 18,600 in the number of pensioners on the rolls at the end of the fiscal year 1907, as compared with the year previous, is the feature of the annual report of Pension Commissioner Warner.

Policeman Shot and Killed

New York, Oct. 23.—Eugene S. Sheehan, a policeman, was shot in the right eye and instantly killed at Chatham square by a one-armed man, who was captured after a chase of several blocks.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Oct. 24.
Sun rises—6:07; sets—4:50.
Moon rises—7:09 p. m.
High water—1 a. m.; 1:30 p. m.

SLUMP IN FINANCES

Will Not Affect the Policies Advocated by Roosevelt

SAYS HE IS NOT TO BLAME

Wants to Put a Stop to Process of "Gaining Wealth by Successful Dishonesty"--Practical Use of Decalogue and Golden Rule

Nashville, Oct. 23.—"I doubt if the policies for which I stand, to punish successful dishonesty, have had any material effect in bringing about the present financial trouble. But if they have it will not alter in the slightest degree my determination to persevere unswervingly in these policies for the remaining 16 months of my term."

In substantially these words President Roosevelt told an immense concourse of Tennessee citizens that cries of "wolf" from Wall street will not swerve him from the work of reform which he has undertaken. The declaration was received with cheers, and marked the culmination of his visit to this city.

Continuing his speech, the president said:

"I will permit neither the demagogue upon one side nor the reactionary on the other to drive me away from the course of policy which I regard most vital for the well-being of this nation.

"I want to see the process, the process of gaining wealth by successful dishonesty, stopped before it goes so far as to invite the very reaction of which I speak. And the man of property, the man of great means, will do well in turn, and in the loftiest way back up a rational movement for reform; a rational movement for such supervision and control over the use, over the accumulation and business use of these great fortunes, and will, if not eliminate, at least minimize the evil of which I complain.

"Such a movement as that in which we are now engaged is not in the least undertaken with any vindictive purpose. It is undertaken to cure evils and to prevent their recurrence.

"If the beneficiaries of those evils succeed, which they will not do, they will not succeed—but if they did succeed in stopping the movement it will merely mean that in a very few years it would break forth again, and that in time it would be in the control of men who would legislate with a vindictive purpose, who would legislate and act as executives with the desire to hurt and damage the men at whom the movement was not aimed.

"There is no movement in its proper sense that can more properly be described as conservative—using the word with its real signifificance—than the movement for the proper supervision and control in the interest of the general public of those colossal fortunes which singly or in combination are of such tremendous importance in the modern industrial world.

"Our whole movement is simply and solely to make the decalogue and the golden rule of some practical moment in the business life of the community."

Report Declared Misleading

Richmond, Oct. 23.—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway the charge was made that the annual report was misleading, and H. T. Wickham, counsel for the company, replied that the charge was made only by stock gamblers. Subsequently Wickham apologized, but those who had made the charge continued to criticise the report. It was announced that the business of the year had been prosperous.

Hunter Mistaken For Bear

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 23.—Roland F. Forbes, while hunting in the Granville woods, was shot and killed by an unknown hunter, who is supposed to have mistaken him for a bear. While hunting in Cambridge, Robert Bourne was shot in the thigh by the accidental discharge of his gun. He was obliged to crawl on his hands and knees to the nearest house, a mile distant.

Insurance Disbarment Order

New Orleans, Oct. 23.—The Mutual Reserve Life Insurance company of New York has been barred from operating in Mississippi for three years because of failure to satisfy a judgment rendered in favor of Eliza J. Saunders, a policyholder, at Vicksburg, Miss. Insurance Commissioner Cole announces that his action is mandatory.

Yankee Vessels Rode Out Gale

Port Hawkesbury, N. S., Oct. 23.—The storm that passed over the eastern coast was the severest of the season and there was considerable damage to shipping. Many fishing boats are ashore here. Three American schooners rode out the gale safely.

Killed While Racing Auto

Chicago, Oct. 23.—While racing an automobile on Michigan boulevard, Adrian Sibsone, 20 years old, of Cleveland, son of a prominent real estate dealer, was killed and five companions were injured.

A SERIOUS REPULSE

Seven Thousand Moors Drive Back Forces Under Drude

CASABLANCA IS MENACED

Details of Fighting Near Taddert Show That De Fretay's Column Narrowly Escaped Annihilation-Over Sixty Moors Killed

Tangier, Oct. 23.—According to semi-official information received at the Spanish legation here, the French forces at Casablanca, under the command of General Drude, suffered a serious repulse at the hands of the Moors on Monday.

Moorish troops, estimated to number 7000 men and equipped with field guns and modern rifles, not only drove the French back to the city walls, but menaced the town to the extent that the French authorities found it expedient to request aid from a Spanish warship in the harbor to repel the attack.

The French troopship Artois left here last night hurriedly with troops and machine guns on board. This force is going to the assistance of Caid Anfloos.

The transportation of troops is seriously hindered by the lack of ships and the outrageous charges of the transportation companies.

The timely arrival of General Drude with reinforcements alone saved Colonel De Fretay's column from annihilation near Taddert on Saturday. The troops which were sent out to search for the body of a Frenchman named Kuntzer, who wandered from the camp and was murdered, consisted of a detachment of cavalry, two companies of infantry and a section of a rapid-fire gun battery.

On arriving at Alvarez a group of 60 Moorish horsemen was seen on top of a mound. De Fretay ordered a squad of irregular Algerian cavalry to give chase and a hot pursuit was kept up for about three miles, when suddenly the hills beyond were seen to be swarming with horsemen. The Algerian troopers retired slowly. De Fretay occupied a position behind the walls of some tombs. The Moors began a circling movement with the object of turning the French position, but were momentarily checked.

The situation was growing critical, fully 5000 white-clad Moorish warriors threatening to overwhelm De Fretay's column, when General Drude, who arrived upon the Moorish flank unperceived, with two companies of infantry, two batteries of field guns and another section of the rapid-fire guns battery, opened on the enemy.

The Moors were taken by surprise and Drude quickly launched his cavalry in a furious and brilliant charge, resulting in fierce hand-to-hand fighting, the French troopers and Algerian irregulars sabreing the enemy right and left. The Moors broke and fled.

The French losses, which were all sustained during the charge, were Captain Ihler, killed while leading his squadron; Jardy, a private of the chasseurs d'Afrique, who was wounded and carried by his frantic horse into the thick of the enemy, by whom he was decapitated and horribly mutilated, and another chasseur d'Afrique, who was killed in the hand-to-hand fighting. Jardy's headless body subsequently was recovered. One of the French troopers sabred Mulai Rachid's standard bearer and captured a green flag, representative of the prophet. Over 60 Moors were left dead on the field.

During the height of the combat the French cruiser Gloire dropped shells among the Moors.

After the French charge Drude formed his troops into two hollow squares and moved eastward towards his camp, under the cover of the artillery. The Moors several times reformed and charged.

General Drude took back to camp the bodies of nine Moors, which were exposed in front of the Mosque at Casablanca for the purpose of disproving the reports spread among the natives that the French bullets were powerless to kill the followers of Islam.

The Moors participating in the attack were two of Mulai Hafid's armies, united under Mulai Rachid. In addition to the officer and two men killed and nine who were wounded, the French lost 19 horses killed and had 17 wounded.

TITLED SPANIARDS HURT

Identity of Victims of Auto Accident Was Closely Guarded

Boston, Oct. 23.—Through a cablegram sent the King of Spain it has been learned that two of the victims of the Brookline automobile accident of a week ago last night were Spanish noblemen and that both have been in a critical condition since at the Massachusetts General hospital, where their identity has been closely guarded.

The men are Count Petro Ganzalus, 29, and Nobleman Von Dume, 33, both of the court of Spain. They were the guests of Larz Anderson, the Brookline millionaire, who was also of the automobile party, but gave a fictitious name.

Count Ganzalus suffered concussion of the brain and was unconscious two days, but is rapidly improving. Von Dume had a similar concussion, but also came near losing the sight of his eyes and will have to remain at the hospital some time yet.

Bartlett to Remain In Field

Boston, Oct. 23.—The Post says: Charles W. Bartlett will break silence today and will state clearly the position he will maintain in the state fight, which ends on election day, Nov. 5. Bartlett has decided not to support Mr. Whitney, adjudged to be the legal nominee by the ballot law commission, and he will point out in his statement that his own name as the anti-merger candidate is on the ballot to be voted for by all Democrats who feel that he is the rightful nominee of the Democratic party.

New Haven Road Cuts Expenses

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 23.—The policy of retrenchment recently inaugurated in northern sections of the state by President Mellen of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company on railroad and trolley lines has hit Bridgeport and 200 trackmen have been laid off. No more work will be done until next spring. The reduction of expenses also applies to the forces at the car barns as well as the office force. The cut in these departments averages about 33 percent.

Many Would-Be City Fathers

Boston, Oct. 23.—There will be 162 Democratic candidates for the common council in the city primaries and 34 candidates for the board of aldermen. Yesterday at 5 p. m. was the last hour for withdrawals at the Democratic city committee. There were 23 withdrawals from the council and from the aldermanic fights. Withdrawals of the ward committees and city convention delegations ensures the warmest kind of a fight in nearly every ward in the city.

Wedded Late In Life

Boston, Oct. 23.—Rear Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge, U. S. N., retired, was married to Miss Gertrude Wilds of Jamestown, R. I., the ceremony being performed at the Hotel Abbotsford. The only witnesses were a few of the bride's relatives and the four sons of the admiral. Mrs. Selfridge, who is wealthy, is 65 years old, while Selfridge is 72. The couple left on a wedding journey immediately after the ceremony.

Sad Sight For a Father

Northampton, Mass., Oct. 23.—An electric car on which his father was a passenger struck and killed a 7-year-old boy. The victim was the son of Charles W. Hodges of Easthampton. The lad had alighted from a wagon just as a car came along, and stepped in front of it. He was mangled to death before his father's eyes.

Locomotive Hit Three Men

Boston, Oct. 23.—Jeremiah Cowie, aged 55, died last night as the result of being struck by a locomotive. Cowie, with William Colbert and Edward Dunn, were picking up coal in the railroad yards, when all three men were struck by a passing locomotive. It is expected the two other men will recover.

No Union Labels on Bread

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 23.—Worcester Hebrew master bakers have refused to stick union labels on their bread as demanded by the journeymen bakers, and have begun selling bread at rates reduced 1 cent a loaf and rolls 2 cents a dozen. Five bakeries are affected by the reduction.

Collision of Freight Trains

Durham, N. H., Oct. 23.—As the result of a rear-end collision between two freight trains at a siding on which was standing a third freight train, Conductor Stillings was seriously, if not fatally, injured, and Brakeman Keaney was badly hurt. Both tracks were blocked for a considerable time.

Train Killed Woman on Crossing

Malden, Mass., Oct. 23.—The body of Miss Emily Johnson, aged 45, was found between the railroad tracks at the Belleville crossing last night. The crossing at this point is unprotected by gate or guard, and it is supposed that the woman was struck by a train while crossing the tracks.

Had Separated From Husband

Boston, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Flora M. Smith, aged 21, committed suicide at her home here last night by inhaling illuminating gas through a tube placed in her mouth. She had not lived with her husband for a year and it is supposed she became despondent.

Long Deliberation of Jury

South Paris, Me., Oct. 23.—The jury in the case of Wallace G. Everett, charged with the murder of Edgar L. Radcliffe, went out to consider the evidence at 10:05 yesterday morning, but was unable to agree on a verdict and was locked up for the night.

BUILDING COLLAPSED

Boy Pulled Away Prop Which Held Up a Shaky Structure

Boston, Oct. 23.—One boy was fatally injured and three others slightly hurt by the collapse of a partially demolished building at the South End, the accident being caused by boys pulling out the props which sustained the structure. George Murphy, aged 13, received a fractured spine and other injuries and is not expected to recover. Three other small boys who were cut and bruised were Tony Bruno, James Valentine and Joseph Mortcelli.

The building which fell is a 2½-story tenement block and it is in the hands of a contractor to be razed, having been condemned. About a third of the building had been levelled and the rest braced up with posts.

After the men had been called off the job late yesterday a crowd of children romped over the ruins to pick up kindling wood. One lad, more eager than the rest, tore out a main support and the building came tumbling down on the children. Many were able to get away, but the Murphy lad was pinned down, the others extricating themselves.

The fire department was called out and aided in the rescue, overhauling the ruins in the fear that other children had been killed and buried under the debris.

Official Shot and Stabbed

Kingstown, B. W. I., Oct. 23.—Advices from St. George, Island of Grenada, state that a desperate attempt was made to assassinate the colonial treasurer and comptroller of customs, Norman Lockhart. A negro named Benjamin fired three shots at the official, two taking effect. When an attempt was made to arrest the would-be assassin he stabbed Lockhart in the side. It is thought that Lockhart will recover. Benjamin shows stolid indifference regarding his crime.

Balloons Speeding Through Air

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—Scattered through Ohio, with one or two in the vicinity of the Great Lakes, and another last heard from near Chatham, Ont., all nine of the big balloons participating in the second international aeronautic cup race are still in the air. Throughout yesterday afternoon reports of balloons at various points in Ohio came in, while Detroit first sent word of the contestant which afterwards passed the Canadian border.

Barnum and Bailey Show Sold

London, Oct. 23.—At a general meeting of the shareholders of the Barnum & Bailey show the provisional contract providing for the sale of the property for $410,000 to the proprietors of an American circus was ratified. This, with the other assets, will give the shareholders $2 to $2.25 a share. When the company was formed in 1899 British investors almost fell over each other in their anxiety to subscribe the capital of the company, $2,000,000.

Commercialism or Pleasure?

Providence, Oct. 23.—An attempt will be made to settle the question as to whether the water flow of Niagara Falls shall be utilized for commercial purposes or left for sightseers to view its natural scenic attractions at the convention of the American Civic association which will be held at Brown university during the week of Nov. 19. Agents of the corporations who desire power privileges will appear to present their plans.

No Interruption of Fisheries

St. Johns, Oct. 23.—The captains of American fishing vessels and the fishermen at Bay of Islands have made an agreement whereby fishing will be carried on without interference from the colonial government. The native fishermen will join the Gloucester vessels inside the three-mile limit and will supply herring to the schooners, but the Newfoundlanders will not actually ship on board the vessels.

Worthy of Commendation

Washington, Oct. 23.—Lieutenant Cronan of the battleship Connecticut, who lost two fingers in an attempt to prevent the closing of the breech block of an eight-inch gun upon loose grains of powder during target practice off Cape Cod a few days ago, will be commended by the navy department.

Judge Declares Against Closed Shop

Cincinnati, Oct. 23.—Having declared that the "closed shop" is against public policy, United States Judge Thompson has issued an injunction against the inciting of strikes by the officials of the International Pressmen's union against the United Typothetae of America.

Plot Accidentally Discovered

St. Petersburg, Oct. 23.—A supposed plot has been frustrated by the accidental discovery of preparations to undermine the railway near Tsarskoe-Selo.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Mountain Rest, a five-story hotel at Lake Mohonk, N. Y., was burned, together with a three-story frame annex and all the barns. Loss $75,000.

At a meeting of the Salem, Mass., common council a committee was appointed to investigate the commission system of city government for Salem.

The stockholders of the Casco Bay and Harpswell (Me.) Steamboat companies voted in favor of the consolidation of the two lines, the change taking effect Nov. 1.

A petition for a receiver for the Publishers' Press was filed at Boston by Mary A. Boltze, who says that she owns 60 shares of stock in the corporation and has not received dividends.

The New Post Office.

The contractor for Quincy's new post office building has already commenced work. The fence surrounding the old cellar has been removed and the batter boards are going up, giving an idea of the size of the building. The batter boards on the Maple street side are set in the middle of the sidewalk showing that the building will not be far from the sidewalk. On the Washington street front the building sets back a little ways. Work excavating will be commenced immediately.

SEA COAST TRAFFIC

Possibilities Great Says Speakers On Board The Everett

Evidently the railroads of New England do not recognize coastwise steamers in the coal trade as rivals. Vice—President T. E. Byrnes of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad was a guest Tuesday on board the collier Everett, built in Quincy, which was on her maiden voyage. He said that New England and Boston were not geographically handicapped as much as might be expected, and compared the great facilities on the lakes with those of New England, and claimed that coal and other merchandise can be handled just as expeditiously as at the lake ports.

"If coal were brought to New England at a fair price and reasonable profit it would help New England manufactures.

"If there is not a large reduction in the coastwise rates the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad will build a fleet of colliers and go into the coal carrying trade, not for profit, but as a protection to its interests.

"With the proper facilities and proper rates the New England manufacturers, with Yankee ingenuity, can maufacture and sell goods in competition with the world.

"If I were dictating the policy of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company, I would bring coal and raw materials free and make our profit by taking away the finished product. I would establish trunk lines to the West and secure better rates for Boston and New England."

Third Vice-President Frank Barr of the Boston & Maine railroad spoke of many improvements which the company was making which would add to its freight facilities for Boston and New England.

The party on the Everett included some of the biggest men in Boston interested in the coal trade and in transportations; and the speeches made were of great interest to shipbuilders, ship owners and men engaged in land and water transportation.

It was the opinion of the coal men present that the solution of the problem of providing a regular, steady supply of coal for Boston, and removing the delays, demurrage and other expenses incident to the use of sailing tonnage, had been solved by the Everett.

All expressed their satisfaction with the ship which is the largest and fastest vessel of her class under the American flag. Her significance as an addition to the American mercantile marine and the bearing which this and the two sister ships will have on the tide water coal transportation question was most instructively discussed at the luncheon which was served in the handsome saloon of the Everett.

President Richards presided and introduced as the first speaker President Bowles of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. who said that his company had studied the question of ocean transportation of coal and had been able to present the situation to those engaged in the business in a manner which had brought about the building of the Everett. His company, he said, has turned out eight vessels engaged in the carrying of freight on the Atlantic coast and he believed that the success which had attended these ships showed that the surface of the possibilities of sea coast traffic had only been scratched. He thought that the record of these vessels and the things confidently predicted for the Everett and her sister ships indicated very clearly what could be done by vessels of modern type and design in the transportation of freight by water on our coasts.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

The woman's club of today is very different in spirit and organization from what it was in the beginning. It began, of course, as a movement directed toward the individual betterment of club members. Today it has so broadened and diversified its interests and purposes that it has quite subordinated this original design to the larger mission of effort for all mankind.

At the meeting of the Alliance on Monday afternoon in the parlor of First church Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney of Wollaston will give a paper on, "Putting off the Evil Day."

The Massachusetts state Society of 1812 observed its tenth anniversary on Monday at Sewall hall, Boston. Mrs. Nelson V. Titus, president was in the chair. An interesting paper was read by Mrs. F. C. Babcock of Quincy also by Mrs. C. L. P. Couchier of Wollaston.

The meeting of the Wollaston Alliance in the vestry of the Unitarian church next Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 30, will be a sewing meeting.

The Friday club opened the season last week at the home of Miss Alice Putnam, Adams street and are preparing for the season's study.

Reapers circle of Christ church will be hostesses at the meeting of the Quincy Union of King's Daughters in the Parish house Saturday from four until eight. Speakers at the afternoon session will be Rev. W. E. Gardner who will give the address of welcome and Mrs. Sawtelle, who will speak of the Pond Home for the Aged. At seven Miss Mary Blodgett will tell of the work of the Travellers' Aid society.

The Hospital Aid association will be held next week Thursday, Oct. 31st.

The Junior Friday club met on Monday afternoon with Mrs. Walter E. Burke of Adams street. Miss Georgiana C. Lane was chairman of the program. The club is this year studying Italy from 800 to 1100. Club books were distributed and the members were delighted with them. They contain twelve pages of club data, meetings, officers, members, etc., attractively bound in red covers printed in black.

The Whatsoever circle, King's Daughters will meet with Mrs. Geo. H. York, Phillips street, Monday evening, Oct. 28, at 7.45.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

There was a large attendance Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Quincy Women's club. Mrs. George W. Morton 1st vice president opened the meeting conducting the routine business.

Mrs. Saville of the Art and Literature committee announced that there would be an exhibit at the club house of watercolor notes and sketches by Mrs. Everett C. Bumpus, first president of the club, from Oct. 30 to Nov. 2d inclusive. Also that a class would be formed for sketching, any desirous of joining to notify Mrs. Saville.

Mrs. Blanchard for the Arts and Crafts committee announced there would be classes in metal and leather and also millinery if enough members signified their desire for the classes.

Mrs. Arnold reported for the nominating committee that to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Chandler W. Smith as president the following names were proposed: For president Mrs. George W. Morton; 1st vice president Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney; 2d vice president Mrs. Dexter E. Wadsworth. Each was elected separately and by a rising vote. Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Gurney resigned from the 1st and 2d vice presidency to which they were elected last spring and accepted the new honors amid applause.

Mrs. Morton as president of the club was most heartily greeted and introduced.

Mrs. Ward Whitcher as chairman of the afternoon's entertainment. The program opened with two songs, "My sweet repose" and "The Miller's Song" by Miss Anna H. Ellis of Braintree, with Mrs. John F. Hunt at the piano. The lecturer of the afternoon was Mrs. Charles E. Cameron of Cambridge who spoke on Heraldry, her subject being illustrated by prints of shields, coats of arms, etc. Those who have made something of a study of this subject were much interested and helped in their research, while others will surely give Heraldry future thought. Many will now hang their coat of arms on the wall with their old samplers, china and pewter and be content to admire it there instead of using it incorrectly in many ways. The program closed with two more songs by Miss Ellis, "There's a ship at Sea" and "Little Boy Blue." Miss Ellis has a rich contralto voice and sings with feeling, her selections being pleasing and varied. She was heartily applauded.

Mrs. Morton and Mrs. Otho A. Hayward were elected delegates to the State Federation meeting at Milton on Saturday, Oct. 26.

An informal reception was given the new president and Mrs. Cameron, and members visited the arts and crafts rooms and the exchange before going home.

The next meeting of the executive board will be as usual on the first Thursday of the month, Nov. 7th.

The next regular club meeting will be on Nov. 12th, when Dr. Brackett will be the speaker. This meeting will be free to the public and to friends of the club and a large attendance is anticipated.

NEIGHBORING WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Monday club of Weymouth observed gentlemen's night on Monday evening in Odd Fellows hall, East Weymouth. The club officers received from half past seven until eight o'clock during which there was orchestral music. For entertainment Mrs. Maude Gordon Robey, in costume, gave "Legends and Songs of many Lands." Dancing and refreshments followed.

The Miltons Woman's club for a small club is unusually progressive and on Saturday is to entertain the members of the State Federation. Morning session at ten and afternoon at two. Neighboring clubs should plan to attend as the meetings are helpful and interesting.

—We examine in our dark-room with modern instruments. If we find disease we send you a reliable oculist. Williams 1473 Hancock street.

The New England Women's club opens its session on Nov. 5 with a reception to the association of collegiate alumnae. Officers and delegates from that society and from federated clubs in the vicinity of Boston will be invited, and it is expected the presidents of women's colleges in Massachusetts will be in the receiving line with Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Mrs. Ellen Richards and Mrs. May Alden Ward. Copley hall will be used in addition to the club parlors, and members are privileged to invite a guest.

The Medford Women's club presents the Adamowski trio, Nov. 5, and Com. Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., Dec. 17, at the Medford Opera house. Oct. 29, Miss Laura P. Patten will lecture on "Food Impurities and Adulterants," and has a good program for the whole season.

For a small town Whitman deserves first prize for having a progressive woman's club. The club was organized March 11, 1907 and federated June 19, 1907. In less than a month it had a membership of three hundred, and the waiting list grew so rapidly that the club voted to increase its membership to three hundred and fifty. It now has a waiting list of over thirty, and new names are constantly being added.

The philanthropic work done by women's clubs in Somerville is increasing every year. This year, as in many past, the Heptorean club supports a bed in the hospital and aids two young women in college expenses. The Forthian club is deeply interested and working hard for the benefit of the Boys' club. The Somerville Woman's club has given in many ways, and this year will continue its good work. The Old Power House club will work for its benefit fund, which has been of such valuable ready help for its sick members. Anne Adams Tufts chapter is especially interested this year in the placing of Anne Adams Tufts stone in Continental hall and also contributing to it. The Daughters of Maine will continue to work for the Home for the Aged, and other clubs will give strong financial aid to the many worthy objects in the city.

Thankful to Ladies And to the Press

The meeting of Quincy lodge of Elks in Greenleaf hall Tuesday evening was of exceptional interest, as the large attendance attested.

Daniel J. Deasy, E. R., reported for the executive committee that the carnival of last week had proved a success beyond all expectation. The financial profit is such as to enable the lodge to proceed with the plans for the reconstruction or enlargement of its present home, whenever the vote of the members gives sanction to proceed. That the carnival was a social success was shown every evening and Saturday afternoon by the large number of happy faces in the hall. There was never a dull minute.

The lodge is deeply appreciative of the important assistance of the ladies in the success of the carnival. A vote of thanks was extended them and a committee was appointed to arrange for further expression of gratitude to the attendants at booths and tables.

George A. Jordan came in for many compliments for his entertainment of the children, Saturday afternoon, in which he was assisted by Joe Mack, whose presence was due to the courtesy of the Hub theatre of Boston.

Appreciation of the Quincy Daily Ledger's covering of the carnival was heard on every hand. From the opening night until the closing, the Ledger reported the carnival in detail and the members of the lodge readily recognized what a valuable assistance this publicity was.

Osgood—Rose.

A very pretty reception was held last evening at the home of Mr. James Rose, in honor of the marriage of his daughter, Mary W., to Mr. Warren Andrew Osgood of South Braintree. The bride was gowned in blue rajah silk and carried pinks. Miss Annie Rose, sister of the bride was bridemaid; with Mr. Louis Wilmot of Roxbury as best man. The house was profusely decorated.

The bride and groom, assisted by their parents, received their friends under an arch of hydrangeas and autumn leaves. The gifts were numerous and beautiful.

At ten o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Osgood left for New York; taking with them the congratulations of a host of friends.

Quincy High Shuts Out Dedham

Quincy defeated Dedham High on Tuesday at Dedham 33 to 0. It was Dedham who only two weeks ago held Dorchester High to a 0 to 0 game.

The advancement made by Quincy in the last few games, since Fletcher Miller has taken hold and coached, has been rapid. Claflin is one of the best ground gamers around Boston while Goulie and Lacey are both fast. At left tackle Badger is putting up a star game and Lupton and Carlson, two more heavy weights, are playing fast ball. There is ample material for ends in Walker, Murphy, Coleman, Nash and Lakin, while at quarter back Curtis is running the team in great style with Harold Gore a close second. The feature of the game was the fine work of Lacey, who scored 5 of the 6 touchdowns, and the way Baker followed the ball recovering four fumbles. Friday Quincy plays Melrose at Melrose.

Referendum Union To Be Organized

The preliminary steps have been taken by a number of citizens to organize a non-political union of independent voters, who are in concurrence as to the necessity of immediate legislative action concerning certain important public issues. They agree to deny political support to any candidate for election to the General Court from this city who will not answer affirmatively such questions as the union may in a courteous, organized and systematic manner submit to them.

The organization shall be known as The Referendum Union of Quincy.

Briefly stated, the platform declares that the people can no longer trust politics to politicians and lobbyists; that the public verdict on each policy and each question, separate and free from every other issue, is essential for the preservation of self government. Therefore the initiative and referendum is the power of the citizen to vote direct at the polls on any public question which by petition of five per cent of the voters is submitted on the ballot for their verdict; to veto and enact legislation at the ballot box. The Union will energetically oppose the election of any candidate for the Legislature who will not support this measure.

The platform further declares that certain amendments of Chapter 11 of the Revised Laws, known as the "Luce Joint Caucus or Preliminary Law," denies to the voter the opportunity and the right to exercise political action independent of party bosses and machines, in placing in nomination the candidate of his choice Also that his industrial and economic welfare is embarrassed and harassed by the publicity of his political activities, and furthermore, his constitutional political privileges are otherwise hampered and encumbered and the secrecy of the ballot is vitiated by the operation of this insidious law. The union stands pledged to exert its unremitting efforts to secure its immediate repeal.

The by-laws of the organization are:

1—The union shall be strictly non-partisan.

2—Any citizen of Quincy desiring to secure the aforesaid legislation is eligible to membership.

3—Officers shall consist of president and secretary.

4—There shall be no membership fee; dependence shall be placed entirely upon voluntary contributions to pay the expense of the organization.

5—Additional public issues shall be taken up from time to time by concurrence of the members.

All persons interested in this movement are invited to attend the next meeing of the Referendum Union on next Monday evening October 28 at 7.30, at the following address,—Levi H. Turner, 463 Hancock street, Quincy.

MEN'S CLUB

Unanimous For Change In Quincy's City Charter

The subject for debate Wednesday evening at the meeting of the Men's Club of Christ church was:—"Resolved—That the City Charter of Quincy should be changed."

All the arguments were on the affirmative side, as there was no one who seemed to want to sponsor the negative.

Alexander C. Smith opened the argument. His belief was that the charter should be changed. First, he would reduce the number of Councilmen to eleven, and instead of electing a certain number from each ward he would have them all elected at large.

Then the discussion became general and many ideas were advanced. Levi H. Turner favored the scheme of property representation.

Another favored the election of Mayor and Councilmen for three years with a proviso that upon petition of a certain number a new election could be had and the objectionable men turned out.

Another brought up the Galveston scheme of government by commissions, but questioned if enthusiasm enough could be aroused to have the plan adopted. In Galveston it was the tidal wave that stimulated action.

Among those to take part in the discussion were A. C. Smith, Levi H. Turner, Archibald Maleod, J. G. McGregor, Rev. W. E. Gardner, William Walker, Arthur Thomas and Byron T. Miller.

A collation was served by Henry P. Furnald at the close of the meeting.

Surprise Party.

Mr. Desmond Reid of Squantum street, East Milton, was tendered a surprise party, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ward of Adams street, Quincy, by his many friends on Friday evening Oct. 18th, in honor of his eighteenth birthday. The guests arrived shortly after eight and found Mr. Reid unaware of the surprise.

The evening was pleasantly passed with games and other amusements. Piano selections were given by Miss Annie Ward and Miss Mabel Anderson, accompanied by Mr. Howard Ward and Mr. Arthur Allen. Mr. Arthur Allen also proved the star of the evening by his quick wit. Refreshments and fruit were served by Miss Mary McGue, Miss Annie Ward and Miss Isabelle Reid.

Mr. Reid was presented with a beautiful gold watch chain, in a neat well framed speech by Miss Hazel Green. Mr. Reid was so overcome by surprise that he was unable to express his thanks.

Among those present were Miss Bessie Josselyn and Miss Helen Millbery of Medford, Mr. Lester Carter of Malden, Miss Katherine Barr and Miss Mamie McGaffigan of Everett; Miss Florence Welsh and Mr. Lawrence Amann of Revere; Miss Hazel Greer, Miss Elinor Hamlin, Mr. Frank Partch, Mr. Robert Walsh and Mr. Horace Buchnam of Dorchester; Mr. Howard Ward, Mr. Arthur Allen, Mr. Clarence Tobin, Miss Annie Ward, Miss Mabel Anderson and Charles Harte of Quincy; Mr. Walter Appleby of Atlantic; Miss Alma Lowe, Miss Mary McGue, Miss Margaret Curren, Miss Dora Murray, Miss Lucy Wood, Miss Maggie Reid, Miss Isabelle Reid, Mr. Frank Lowe Mr. Albert Wood, Mr. Harold Freethy, Mr. William Ford, Mr. John Reid and Mr. Desmond Reid of East Milton; Mr. Geo. Shand of Milton; Miss S. Mathiesen of Cambridge.

The committee consisted of Miss Isabelle J. Reid, Mr. Howard D. Ward, Miss Hazel S. Greer and Mr. Arthur Allen.

NANTASKET FARES

No Extension To Outlying Parts of The City

The Railroad Commissioners reported today on the petition of the Quincy Board of Trade, asking that through tickets between Quincy and Nantasket, on the Old Colony street railway, be sold by conductors at 15 cents, and second, that the rate be extended to all parts of Quincy.

The board says that about a year ago it was petitioned to reduce the fares from Quincy to Nantasket, from 20 to 15 cents, and suggested that through tickets be sold at the lower sum. Complaint has been made that in complying with the request the company place tickets on sale at two stores only which were not conveniently located to serve the public, and thus deprive them of the benefit of the reduction. The complaint seems to be well founded, and the board recommends that through tickets be sold by conductors.

Relative to the second part of the petition, that the reduction be extended to all parts of Quincy, the board believe it should come about soon, but not at this time, as there are many lines operated the year round by the company which are not paying.

Pilgrimage to Quincy.

Fifty or more members of the Society of Colonial Wars in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts made up a party for a trip last week to Quincy, where, by special invitation of the Massachusetts Society of Colonial Dames, they visited the old-time "Dorothy Q." mansion, restored not long ago to its original look, and furnished completely with articles of the Colonial and Provincial periods. and now kept open by the Colonial Dames as a headquarters. The members of the Colonial Wars Society, had with them as a guest Bellamy Storer, and all in the party found much interest in going over the house. Barrett Wendell, whose wife is president of the Colonial Dames, spoke regarding the history of this mansion of Colonial days and its contents and the people who in the past were its occupants. Rev. Charles L. Hutchins of Concord gave reminiscences of the time when Peter Butler occupied the house as a place of summer residence.

Billboard Blight

As soon as we come to a realizing sense of what is ours by natural right we will not allow our highways and landscapes to be disfigured by these hideous monstrosities, says the Los Angeles Times. Billboards, which deface streets and vacant lots, are the only organized opposition to public betterment. Billboard advertising is a blight upon real estate values. It is an injustice to individuals by its encroachment upon homes and private property. It is a robbery of the right of individuals and of the community by damage to property which it adjoins in violation of the underlying principle of law of the greatest good to the greatest number. To place these boards along our public ways which have been made beautiful by taxation of the people is an imposition upon the whole community.

Dutch Lunch.

The Granite City club began its season of weekly whist tournaments on Wednesday evening. These are to be held every Wednesday evening during the winter and weekly and season prizes will be given. An appetizing lunch will also be served each evening after play. This week the prize winners were W. W. Ewell and George H. Field. A Dutch lunch was served, the menu including potato salad, sourkrout, lemon pounds, hot frankfurts, rolls, coffee, pickles, crackers and cheese.

—We examine in our dark-room with modern instruments. If we find disease we send you a reliable oculist. Williams 1473 Hancock street.

Independence League Rally

A rally under the auspices of the Independence League was held Wednesday evening at Hancock hall. Previous to the rally the Braintree Fife and Drum corps paraded through City Square and there was a display of fireworks.

William Kelly presided and addresses were made by Hon. William N. Osgood, who gave a history of the trust rule in Massachusetts, and how prices had been boosted. The speaker claimed the masses could throw off this yoke by voting for the Independence League candidates.

Junius T. Auerbach urged the election of Mr. Hisgen to slay the trusts.

Washington A. Cole, boyhood chum of Hisgen, told the audience what a good man he was.

Remarks were also made by Grenville S. McFarland.

Engineer Adams Awarded $15,000

William H. Adams, formerly an engineer, and Mrs. Anna Cook, widow of Edward C. Cook, a locomotive fireman, were awarded damages of $15,000 and $4,000, respectively, against the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad in the superior court on Wednesday. The suits upon which the two sums were recovered were brought as a result of an accident which occurred at South Weymouth, September 24, 1904, in which Cook was killed and Adams seriously injured. Mr. Adams formerly resided in Quincy.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Interested.

The demand for the privilege of going to Harvard Saturday to see the Harvard-Springfield Y. M. C. A. Training School game is so great in the local Y. M. C. A. boy's department steps have been taken to secure further concessions to take more boys. Already the required number 30 have enrolled and several have been disappointed that the entries were closed. It is hoped (and will be known tomorrow) that 20 more may be taken.

Those desiring to see the College and buildings will leave City Square on the trolley line at 9 A. M. Others who cannot go until noon may meet the crowd in front of Harvard Cooperative store, college grounds at 2 P. M. Members will wear dark red and white ribbons. Yells are being worked up.

Graham's Dancing School

Class for High School scholars will be formed at Friday, Oct. 25, at 2 P. M. also Children's class at 4 P. M. Term of 12 lessons, Girls, 3.00. Boys $4.00. Half down on first lesson, balance on third. Adult class from 7 to 8. Gents $6.00. Ladies $4.00. This includes the party held from 8 to 11.30.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

Five weeks to thanksgiving.

Have your regular news agent deliver the Daily Ledger at your house.

Edgar A. King of Clay street is now able to go out of doors, after being confined to the house for several weeks.

John Y. Hamilton has moved from Cushing street, Wollaston, to Lonsdale street, Dorchester.

The City Council Committee on Streets, and the special committee that is considering a uniform system of municipal accounting will meet tonight.

Some attractive gold letter signs have been placed on the glass windows of George W. Jones stores. One reads "Furnishings and Hats," and the other "Shoes and Rubbers."

Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith and Mrs. Alice D. Sanborn attended last week the meeting of the New England Associated Alliance at the First Unitarian church at Manchester, N. H.

The talk by Secretary Chase on the bucket shops before the mens club at Wollaston Tuesday evening showed conclusively that anyone who invested money in them would be a snre looser.

Country Is Now Just About at the Maximum Period

STATEMENT FROM RIDGELY

Financial Condition Absolutely Sound Throughout the Country--Concerns Discredited by Operations of Their Officers Caused Trouble

Washington, Oct. 24.—Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely late yesterday gave out a statement saying that the general feeling indicates an absolutely sound situation, that there is not the slightest need of apprehension about the banks and trust companies of the country, that the banks of the reserve cities have every disposition to leave their balances in New York and other central reserve cities, and attributes the trouble in New York to the condition of a very few concerns discredited by the operations of their officers and to the different prices of stocks and securities as between New York city and the country banks. Comptroller Ridgely's statement follows:

"I have talked by telephone today with bankers in practically every large city in reach of Washington by telephone and also with a number of bank examiners. I hear of no trouble whatever among the banks or trust companies outside of New York. The general feeling is that the situation is absolutely sound and there need be not the slightest apprehension about the banks and trust companies of the country. My advices from New York are that all the banks got through the day better than they expected, and that there is now entirely perfect concert of action, so that the situation is well in hand.

"There is every disposition among the banks of the reserve cities, as there should be, to leave their balances in New York and the other central reserve cities and in this way to avoid all disturbance possible.

"The trouble in New York has been due to the condition of a very few concerns who were discredited by the operations of their officers, and also to the fact that the prices of stocks and securities, which form the basis of such a large proporton of New York city loans, are now the lowest they have been for many years, while among the country banks just the opposite is the case. A very small proportion of their loans are based on collateral security. Mercantile, manufacturing, mining and agricultural operations are noticeably now very active and the prices of all commodities very high, but there is an active demand for material and product of all kinds at prices which are very profitable to the producers.

"We are now just about at the maximum demand for loans to carry these products in the country, but from now on within the next 30 to 60 days they ought to be producing large amounts of money, which will relieve the banks which have been carrying these loans, and within 60 days the country banks ought to be in very easy condition."

Bryan Defends Roosevelt

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 24.—"I notice that one of the officers of the bank that closed its doors yesterday attributed it to President Roosevelt. That is not the reason. Don't blame the officials who make and enforce the laws, but blame the criminals who make necessary such laws. Blame the unscrupulous financiers who have piled up predatory wealth and who exploit a whole nation as high finance." So spoke W. J. Bryan to a crowd of people who gathered at the railroad station in this city when they learned that he was going to change cars here, and who called on him for a speech.

To Ireland and Back In Five Minutes

Glace Bay, C. B., Oct. 24.—At a public demonstration given at the Marconi telegraph station a message was sent from here to Clifden, Ire., and a reply was received in five minutes. Independent persons were stationed at both ends, and the accuracy of the text was confirmed by cable. Marconi states that the local station is transmitting about 3000 words a day to Ireland.

Mrs. Hartridge Still Missing

New York, Oct. 24.—The body of a woman found in the Harlem river is not that of Mrs. Clifford W. Hartridge, as was at first thought. Mrs. Hartridge, who is the wife of Clifford W. Hartridge, Harry K. Thaw's attorney of record during the recent trial of Thaw, disappeared several weeks ago.

Kaiser Interested In Our Army

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 24.—It is announced that Emperor William of Germany has presented to the United States military academy busts of Frederick the Great and General Field Marshal Count Von Moltke as tokens of his interest in the American army.

Earthquake Panic In Italy

Catanzaro, Italy, Oct. 24.—A severe earthquake was felt here and at Messina and Regio last night. The people were thrown into a state of panic and abandoned their houses. They are camping out in the open.

Emperor on Road to Recovery

Vienna, Oct. 24.—Emperor Francis Joseph has no fever and he continues to make satisfactory progress toward recovery.

CARRIED OFF HIS SAFE

Boston Doctor Charges Mother-In-Law With Theft of $5500

Boston, Oct. 24.—Mrs. Anna W. Reed, aged 45, of 271 Tremont street, was placed under arrest last night, charged with the larceny of $5500, the property of John F. Kimball of 58 West Rutland square.

Mr. Kimball, who has a doctor's office at West Rutland square, is a son-in-law of Mrs. Reed, who is a card reader. On Oct. 17 Kimball received a message purporting to be from his wife in Greenville, Vt., which stated that she was sick and desired her husband's presence. Kimball left at once for Vermont.

While he was gone a team was driven up to 58 West Rutland square and Kimball's safe taken out of his office and loaded into the wagon. It was taken to a safe expert, who opened it, Mrs. Reed, it is alleged, claiming that the safe was her's. Besides $5500 in cash, it is claimed that $600 in jewelry and bank books having deposits of $18,000 were also extracted.

Princess Has Auc ion Postponed

Brussels, Oct. 24.—At the request of Princess Louise, the eldest daughter of King Leopold of Belgium, who was divorced last year, the authorities here have postponed for a month the sale at auction of the jewels of the late Queen Marie Henriette of Belgium. The sale was recently ordered by the courts for the benefit of the creditors of the princess, who now declares that, notwithstanding the king's refusal to come to her rescue in her financial difficulties, she will in 30 days have sufficient funds to save her mother's heirlooms. The sale was scheduled for today.

Vanderbilt Wrecks a Camera

New York, Oct. 24.—The effort of a persistent newspaper photographer to take a snapshot of Consuelo, Duchess of Marlborough, as she was landing from a steamer in Hoboken, was resented by her brother, William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., who smashed the camera to pieces. The photographer preserved his temper and told Vanderbilt he would expect him to pay for the instrument, which Vanderbilt promised to do.

Breach of Contract Cost $100,000

Washington, Oct. 24.—The Hartford Manufacturing company of Hartford, which had the contract up to July 1 last for manufacturing stamped envelopes and newspaper wrappers, made a cash payment to Postmaster General Meyer of $100,000 as a settlement for all damages and injuries which the postoffice department may have sustained by reason of the company's failure to furnish paper up to the contract.

Russia Pursuing Peace Policy

Paris, Oct. 24.—In an interview here M. Iswolsky, the Russian foreign minister, who is making a tour of Europe, said: "Russia does not want adventures, she wants peace. Se is pursuing today a thorough policy of peace. I am happy to say that the conversations that I have had with rulers of Europe during this trip have shown me that the same desire reigns everywhere."

Barely Escaped With Lives

Louisburg, N. S., Oct. 24.—Captain Maloney and crew of 18 men of the wrecked Gloucester fishing schooner Sceptre were taken off Scatterie island yesterday. The Sceptre was hastily abandoned and as the dories reached the shore they were smashed to pieces. The Sceptre had 70,000 pounds of fresh fish aboard, and 20 minutes after she struck the rocks she went to pieces.

Steamer Founders In Port

Lisbon, Oct. 24.—Steamer Borussia, from Brazilian ports for Hamburg by way of Lisbon, foundered while taking coal on board, owing to a strong tide giving the vessel a list which enabled the water to rush in through the coaling ports. All the passengers were saved, but three of the crew are missing.

Persian Cabinet Dismissed

St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—A dispatch from Teheran announces that the Shah of Persia has signed a decree dismissing the cabinet. The new premier has not yet been appointed. The situation in Persia is growing so critical that joint Russo-British action to restore order is regarded as being imminent.

Wreck Loss of $700,000

Tokio, Oct. 24.—A dispatch from Moji reports that the freight steamer Kokwo, from Hong Kong to Yokohama, went ashore in a storm off Pishma and is a complete wreck. The crew was rescued in lifeboats. The loss on the ship and cargo is $700,000.

Loss to Fruit Growers

Halifax, Oct. 24.—The apple crop of the Annapolis valley, which is the largest in many years, has been considerably lessened by recent severe frosts and heavy gales. It is estimated that the damage to the crop from these causes is fully $100,000.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Damage estimated at upwards of $100,000 was caused by a fire at Howards, a summer resort on Jamaica Bay, L. I. A small hotel, several boat clubs and a number of boats and bathing houses were destroyed.

As a result of a recent act of the Massachusetts legislature, authorizing an increase of membership in the corporation of Boston university, eight new trustees have been elected.

The national camp, Patriotic Order of Americans, which has been holding its annual session at Boston, elected officers headed by Anna V. Blackburn of New Jersey as national president.

THE CANADIAN FUR STORE

Canadian Furs at Canadian Prices.

The high quality of Canadian Furs is well known to Americans. A custom's duty of 35 per cent prevents Americans who do not visit Canada from buying Furs there.

Our American house, 167 Tremont Street, Boston, will interest American buyers of Canadian furs. Here we receive our supply of raw skins from our own Canadian houses where they are collected direct from the trappers and admitted to the United States duty free in the undressed state.

All garments for our American business are manufactured by skilled American designers and finishers, and in selling direct to the wearer we eliminate intermediate profits.

Owing to its rigorous climate Canada produces the finest furs known to commerce. Silver Fox, Hudson Bay Sable, Mink, Otter, etc., are seen at their best. In dealing direct with us you secure the advantages that flow from a large and influential business following in our own stores in four Canadian cities, and a feeling of security and reliability that is always present when dealing with a house whose reputation has been merited by a constantly increasing patronage extending over a period of forty-two years, and whose products have been awarded five gold medals in different Canadian Expositions.

In comparing prices remember that quality is of first importance. Canadian Furs average 35 to 50 per cent higher grade than those of more temperate climates, because nature produces the quality; the furriers make only the garment, and the dyer's art can make a southern mink to imitate the Canadian article. To insure reliability and value, buy Canadian Furs from Canadian furriers.

CONTEST WAS CLOSE

All Records Are Broken In the International Balloon Race

POMMERN PROBABLY WINNER

Unofficial Estimate of Flight Is 880 Miles, While L'Isle De France Is Close Second With 875--Journey Stopped Only by Reaching Ocean

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—With every balloon-racing record broken, the second international cup competition, which started from St. Louis on Monday, ended with the German balloon, Pommern, winning first prize for the longest flight. The finish of the race was so close, however, that the French contestant, L'Isle de France, which descended at 1:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Hubertsville, N. J., a few miles from the Atlantic coast, may possibly be declared winner after official measurements are completed. The Pommern landed at 9 o'clock yesterday forenoon at Asbury Park, N. J., apparently a few miles further from St. Louis than Hubertsville.

Another German balloon, the Dusseldorf, stands third in the race. American entries finished fourth, fifth and eighth, while a third German team finished sixth, another French team seventh. The one English balloon entered fell far short of the others. The Pommern was piloted by Oscar Erbsloch, aided by H. H. Clayton of the Blue Hills observatory, Boston, while Alfred Le Blanc and Edward W. Mix sailed L'Isle de France.

The unofficial estimated air line flight of the Pommern is 880 miles, and that of L'Isle de France 875 miles. The Dusseldorf, third, landed near Dover, Del. It is estimated to have covered 790 miles. The official measurements will be computed by the geological survey of the United States government at Washington.

Only the proximity of the Atlantic ocean stopped the flight of the Pommern. The balloon could have remained in the air many hours longer, and probably would have added several hundred miles to her record but for the expanse of water ahead.

News of the landing of the Pommern was followed by reports of the descent of every other contestant in the race with the exception of the L'Isle de France. The race was at once conceded to be between these two, and when a report was received to the effect that the French craft had been sighted in the vicinity of Asbury Park intense excitement prevailed. Evidently a contrary current caught the L'Isle de France and blew the vessel back to the southwest. Realizing that they were losing actual ground, the occupants of the French basket decided to make a rapid descent as near the coast as possible.

While losing the distance and the cup, the French team sailing L'Isle de France gained the world's record for duration of flight. Starting from St. Louis at 4:11 (Central time) they landed yesterday at 1:10 p. m. (Eastern time), making their time in the air 44 hours, minus 1 minute. The previous record was 41 hours 5 minutes, held by Count De la Vaulx of France.

The previous record of the international race, set by the balloon United States in the flight from Paris last year, was 402 miles. This was more than doubled by the Pommern and L'Isle de France. In fact, only one of the nine contestants in this year's race failed to exceed the 1906 record.

Germany, having won possession of the silver trophy presented by James G. Bennett, the race next year will be in the home of the German Aero club. Final possession of the trophy rests with the club which wins it three times.

The balloon "United States," which finished eighth in this year's contest, was the winner in 1906. Aside from possession of the cup the Germans won a cash prize of $2500, given by James G. Bennett.

The world's record for distance, but not in a race, is 1200 miles, held by Count Henri De la Vaulx.

Beachey Wins Airship Prize

St. Louis, Oct. 24.—Sailing to windward and return over a course measuring one mile and a half, from start to finish, Lincoln Beachey won the dirigible airship race which marked the close of the St. Louis aeronautic carnival. The prize was $2000.

Exposure Caused Death

Boston, Oct. 24.—The death of "Nick" McKinney of the crew of the fishing schooner Sadie Nunan at sea was reported at T wharf. McKinney's dory upset while trawling and the fisherman was obliged to cling to the overturned boat several hours before being rescued and later died as the result of his exposure.

Bulgarians Destroy Greek Village

Athens, Oct. 24.—A Bulgarian band totally destroyed the Greek village of Rakoven, burning more than 100 houses and killing or wounding several of the inhabitants. The majority of the villagers fled in terror.

Great Destruction by Floods

Madrid, Oct. 24.—The minister of the interior has received reports of the appalling destruction wrought by a renewal of the floods in the provinces of Spain. In some places the water has risen 35 feet.

CRISIS HAS PASSED

Panic In New York Is Expected to Speedily Wane

ACTION OF TRUST COMPANIES

Form an Organization For Purpose of Clearing Financial Atmosphere--Large Loans From Rockefeller--Shock of Big Run Withstood by Trust Company of America

New York, Oct. 24.—The crisis in New York financial circles has safely passed. After prolonged conferences at J. P. Morgan's office an organization of the presidents of the New York Trust companies was effected, not different in principle from the Clearing House association.

It was in the nature of a protective combination. All of the leading and admittedly conservative trust companies participated. John A. Stewart, chairman of the board of the United States Trust company, presided and was elected chairman of a committee whose duties are to be analogous to those of the clearing house committee. This organization is regarded as one of the most important adjustments ever successfully carried through in New York financial circles.

At the same time, and even more important, Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, having satisfied himself as to the condition of the New York banks, authorized an announcement that he had directed that government deposits be placed in the banks of the city to the extent of $25,000,000 today. These two measures are admittedly adequate for all the needs of the banking and trust corporations of New York in the present emergency.

John D. Rockefeller has taken an active interest in the present financial situation and he has arranged to loan very large sums to a number of New York financial institutions. "I think," said Rockefeller last evening, "that the existing alarm among investors is not warranted. Personally I have absolute faith in the future of the values of our securities and the soundness of underlying conditions. Everyone having the good of his country at heart should by word or deed lend a hand now to re-establish confidence, and I hope to do my part to the full extent of my resources."

There is a sharp turn of sentiment in financial quarters, renewed confidence in local banking institutions taking the place of the panicky feeling that has threatened solvent houses and demoralized the Stock Exchange for the past few days. Last night those financiers whose deliberate opinions are most highly esteemed by the public expressed the conviction that the worst was over and that out of the chaos a condition more stable than has for some time existed was rapidly shaping itself.

Many of the banking men who had labored day and night recently, that the integrity of New York's financial institutions might be maintained, are satisfied that suspected houses which had been found worthy of support have been fortified against incipient runs or other contingencies. Serious-minded men who have met the storm in sober mood left their offices last night smiling and chatting and with a general bearing that spoke volumes to those who are accustomed to read the news of The Street in the faces of its big men.

Several factors contributed to this change of feeling. Foremost was the determination reached yesterday by men of great influence in the financial world to restore confidence, insure safety and prevent panic. Throughout the day there were conferences at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. and the fact that such men were conferring, linked with their known personal standing and financial resources, did much to allay fear for the future. News of these conferences quickly ran through the financial district, allayed the fears of the extremely nervous, and certainly aided the stock market, where this influence brought about a recovery of prices toward the close of a day, during which new low levels had been reached.

Next in point of influence was the presence at the sub-treasury of Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou, who not only gave the moral influence of a representative of the government, but during the course of the day caused to be deposited with New York banks a large sum, said to be $10,000,000.

Another potent factor in bringing about a better feeling and the undoubted return of saner sentiment and improved confidence, was the ability of the Trust Company of America to withstand an all-day run. In the face of enormous withdrawals, the officials of the bank proclaimed their readiness to settle with all depositors on demand. Even for a few minutes after the regular hour of closing the company continued to pay out money and to certify all checks presented. So marked was the strength of the bank that many who withdrew their funds early in the day again deposited them before the doors were closed. The total resources of the company as last reported were in excess of $70,000,000. Several millions were withdrawn yesterday, but funds to satisfy every claim were said to be at hand. This was the only run of importance yesterday, and this fact was an encouraging feature.

The clearing house report was also favorable. Apparently the national banks have passed the crisis and those which have required assistance gave evidence of being able to help themselves. The condition of the banks as shown at the clearing house was first class.

The failure of the Knickerbocker Trust company, which suspended Tuesday, to be reopened yesterday, did not exercise such an adverse influence on the general situation as might have been expected. It is said to be a question whether the institution will ever reopen, at least under the present management.

Another favorable development yesterday was a sort of tacit understanding between the banks and the members of the Stock Exchange to aid each other; the banks by loaning money at something like normal rates, and the traders by preventing the bottom dropping out of prices on the exchange. Though call money ruled nominally at 70 percent and the final accommodation was secured at 90 percent, throughout the day several of the biggest banks renewed loans at 6 percent and millions were let out at half the interest rate that might have been squeezed from desperate borrowers. Then, too, minor influences, making for confidence, were at work. Taken as a whole, therefore, the day passed much better than had been expected.

The conferences at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. reviewed the affairs of the Trust Company of America. The company's securities were brought over in wagon loads, carefully scrutinized and were finally found so satisfactory that the trust company will receive assistance should it be needed.

Pittsburg Flurry Is Over

Pittsburg, Oct. 24.—A flurry in local financial circles, caused by the embarrassment of four concerns of the Westinghouse interests, was quickly ended here by the prompt action of the Pittsburg Clearing House association and the Pittsburg Stock Exchange. The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, the Westinghouse Machine company and the Security Investment company, a holding company for the Westinghouse interests, are in the hands of receivers. The Pittsburg Stock Exchange was closed when informed of the situation by the Pittsburg Clearing House association for the purpose of preventing any unnecessary sacrifice of values by a heavy liquidation of stocks. The inability to secure funds to pay off maturing loans caused the embarrassment. The local situation is now believed to be in better condition than it has been for some time.

Vermont Banks Not Affected

Hyde Park, Vt., Oct. 24.—Carroll S. Page, president of the Lamoille County National bank and also of the Lamoille County Savings Bank and Trust company, says that, so far as he is aware, none of the Vermont banks is affected by the conditions in New York, and he does not look for any extension of the difficulties to financial institutions in this state.

State Bank Closes Its Doors

Reno, Nev., Oct. 24.—The State Bank and Trust company, with headquarters at Carson and branches at Goldfield, Tonopah, Manhattan and Blair, closed its doors yesterday. The state bank examiner is in charge. The difficulty was due to inability to realize on stocks placed as security for a loan made to the Sullivan Trust company last year.

Finances Solid In Boston

Boston, Oct. 24.—The local financial situation is unshaken by the upheaval in New York, beyond fractional declines in some stocks in sympathy with the New York list. Boston bankers speak more hopefully of the outlook in New York and there seems to be a feeling that the worst is over.

Aid For Pittsburg Banks

New York, Oct. 24.—Secretary Cortelyou has given substantial assistance to the Pittsburg banks. The amount of United States deposits which he authorized to be made in that city was not made public, but it is announced that he is prepared to give them further aid if necessary.

Assets Exceed Liabilities

Pittsburg, Oct. 24.—The United States court last night appointed H. S. A. Stewart and W. L. Abbott receivers for the Iron City Trust company of this city. The papers filed in court show that the company has assets exceeding $4,000,000 and liabilities to depositors of about $1,700,000.

In the Granite State

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 24.—A well known national bank president here states that the national banks of New York are in a strong position, owing to their Clearing House association. New Hampshire's financial institutions, he says, were never in better condition.

No Disturbance In Rhode Island

Providence, Oct. 24.—Treasurer Brown of the Industrial Trust company says that everything is moving as usual in Rhode Island banking circles. He says that he does not expect any trouble among Rhode Island banks or trust companies.

Jury Failed to Agree

South Paris, Me., Oct. 24.—The jury in the case of Wallace G. Everett, accused of the murder of Edgar Radcliffe at Paris Hill, reported a disagreement.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Friday, Oct. 25.
Sun rises—6:08; sets—4:49.
Moon rises—7:49 p. m.
High water—1:45 a. m.; 2 p. m.
Fair and somewhat colder weather is probable in New England.

LABOR IN GREAT DEMAND

Some Interesting Data In Bulletin Issued by the Bay State

Boston, Oct. 24.—The Labor Bulletin for September, the first published by Chief Gettemy of the bureau of statistics and labor, has been issued. It shows there are 1467 trade unions in Massachusetts at the present time, as against 1417 in 1906. The building trades represent the largest number of unions, there being 402 under this caption.

Some interesting facts and figures are given relative to the free employment offices of the state, an office having been opened at Fall River Oct. 1 and another at Springfield Sept. 4. At the Boston office the total registration of men and women seeking employment in September was 1723; the total of positions offered, 4689; the total number of persons wanted by employers, 2300, and the total number of positions reported filled, 1285. The difference in the number of positions offered and the number of persons wanted by employers is due to the fact that many individuals were offered several different positions.

The report remarks that few trade unionists ever register in the free employment offices, notwithstanding the trade unions were the strongest advocates of these offices.

The Bulletin emphasizes the fact that there is a steady demand for factory women outside of Boston which is impossible to meet, and a great demand for skilled labor of nearly every class.

Bartlett States His Position

Boston, Oct. 24.—Charles W. Bartlett last night issued a statement stating that he will be a candidate for governor opposed to monopoly, with the title "Anti-Merger" against his name. He reviews the campaign, maintains that the Springfield Democratic convention was properly and legally held, speaks of the "astounding partisanship of the press," scores the ballot law commission for its "violation of justice," and declares that he is the "only Democrat on the ticket who represents the opposition to railroad monopoly."

Receivers For Menhaden Combine

Providence, Oct. 24.—Ancillary receivers have been appointed for the Fisheries company, otherwise known as the Menhaden combine, by Judge Brown in the United States circuit court. The company is incorporated in New Jersey, but its largest plant is located in Tiverton, this state, where it has property valued at $63,000. The corporation owns numerous plants for extracting and manufacturing oil and fertilizer from fish, principally menhaden, along the Atlantic coast.

Cruelty to Cattle Alleged

Boston, Oct. 24.—On the arrival of a trainload of cattle at the Boston and Albany yards and at the Brighton stockyards it was found that 18 of the animals had died, evidently from hunger and thirst. It is alleged that this train had been 56 hours on the way from Albany to Boston, and if the cattle were not unloaded and fed at any intermediate place the federal law has been violated. Representatives of the Humane society are investigating the case.

Staging Was Overweighted

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 24.—The collapse of a staging on the Shedd building brought death to John Gargan and Manuel Groome, and seriously injured Albert Cayer and Archie Perren. The men were at work on the fourth story of the building. A huge window capstone had just been placed on the staging. Its weight proved too much for the structure to support and it collapsed and the men crashed down a distance of 50 feet to the street.

Thought Friend Was a Bear

Middlebury, Vt., Oct. 24.—Seth McCalvin of Braintree, who shot and killed his hunting companion, Rollin F. Forbes of Northfield, in the woods near Granville, mistaking him for a bear, was held for the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter. Bonds of $1000 were furnished by C. H. Dickerman, who was with Forbes when the shooting occurred. McCalvin's shot struck Forbes in the back of the head, killing him instantly.

Yale University Finances

New Haven, Oct. 24.—The annual report of Treasurer McClung of Yale university shows that the total funds and assets of the university are returned as $8,704,199. The total expense for the whole university and departments for the year was $1,101,536. Less the payments from the library and other funds, the total increase of funds for the university for the year were $527,-645.

Victim of Unknown Hunter

Tunbridge, Vt., Oct. 24.—Aurin Porter, aged 17 years, died as the result of a shooting accident near the village. While hunting he was mistaken for a deer and shot by some person unknown. A companion assisted the boy to reach his home, but he lost so much blood that it was impossible to save his life.

Was Shot by His Son

Rutland, Vt., Oct. 24.—Joseph V. Emmons of Norwich, Conn., died here yesterday as a result of blood poisoning caused by a gunshot wound. He was shot in the leg by the accidental discharge of a rifle in the hands of his son on Sunday last.

Record Cargo of Cotton

Boston, Oct. 24.—The cargo of cotton carried out by the Leyland liner Winifredian, which sailed for Liverpool, is said to have been the largest ever shipped from this port. It amounted to 8000 bales.

The Observations In the Daily Walk

A session of the juvenile court was held this morning.

Some trees on the site of the new Federal building have been cut down.

Mrs. Dorman of Roxbury, formerly of Atlantic, visited friends in town on Tuesday.

The boulevard is progressing noticeably these pleasant days and by next summer ought to be fairly suitable for traffic.

The McGregor foot ball team will have a home game on the Ward Three playgrounds on Saturday afeernoon with the Brocktons.

The S. Agnes Parker sewing circle will meet with Mrs. Annie Wright tomorrow afternoon. Officers will be elected for the coming year.

The Melrose High football team, scheduled to play Quincy High on Friday, was defeated by Hyde Park High yesterday 10 to 0.

Miss Annie Harding of Botolph street and Miss Maud Read of Squantum street are employed as ushers at the Food fair in Machanics Building, Boston.

Inspector McKay recovered a box of drawing instruments in a Boston pawnshop on Tuesday that had been stolen from Frank Sass on Elm avenue Oct. 8.

The Carpenters' union will invite the candidates for the House and Senate to meet with them on the evening of Nov. 4 and give their views on labor questions.

The list of thirty Y. M. C. A. juniors for the visit to Harvard college on Saturday was quickly obtained. They will witness the football game with the Y. M. C. A. training school of Springfield.

At Livermore hall, Quincy Mansion school, Wednesday evening, Mr. Leon Vincent entertained the pupils and friends with a delightful talk on Dr. Johnson.

The sanitary conditions at the Atlantic station are deplorable. With such an exterior, the building should fulfill expectations of its excellence inside as well as out.

It is the United States Agriculture department that is doing the gypsy moth work on Quincy avenue. A half dozen or more men are taking strips on each side of the State highway about 100 feet wide.

John Adams Chapter of the Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution are to hold a Hallowe'en party on the evening of Oct. 31st at the birthplace of President John Adams. Surely ghostly visitors will haunt the old house that night.

The Citizens Gas Co. have laid about 19 miles of new mains this year. A similar amount was also laid last year, making 38 miles in all. It is expected that a similar amount will be laid next year. By that time the whole city will be practically piped for gas.

In Music hall, Atlantic on Monday evening Oct. 28, Merry Mount and Norfolk lodges of the A. O. U. W. offer to their many friends and acquantances a special good time consisting of an illustrated lecture with 170 stereopticon views of "Historic Quincy Past and Present," by the popular and well known citizen. Charles H. Johnson. Music and dance is also on the program.

Beautiful fall morning. The air is a little sharp but very bracing.

George M. Rex, city auditor of Pawtucket, R. I., is in town today the guests of City Auditor Fairbanks.

Carl Hill of Portland, Maine, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Hill of Walker street this week.

Peter M. Sullivan of Quincy is captain of the Boston college basket ball team this season.

George H. Priest of the State bureau of statistics is in Quincy today examining the books in the several city departments.

Ex-Councilman Alfred H. Gilson is to be a candidate for Councilman at Large. If elected he will enter the contest for the presidency of the council.

Mrs. Alice M. Granger of Adams chapter, State regent of Massachusetts, atended the fall meeting of the board of directors of the General Society, D. R., in New York on Monday, and reported the part taken by the Daughters of the Revolution in Boston's old home week.

The meeting of the Wollaston Unity club will be held on Friday evening, and promises to be of great interest. Mr. H. Houghton Schumacher has charge of the evening and the subject to be discussed is, "What we are doing for children today." The speakers are: Miss Florence R. Faxon and Mr. Stacey B. Southworth. Mrs. Ross K. Whiton will be the soloist.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

Electrical Engineer J. J. Crain will deliver a lecture on "Steam Turbines' with lantern slide illustrations before the Wollaston Unitarian club on Nov. 14, in which occasion Vice President and General Manager Spear of the Electric Boat Co. will deliver a lecture on "Submarines."

The four mast, mainmast and smoke stack of the collier "Malden" are in place.

Chief Engineer Salbador and Steward Wyman of the Creole picked up the jib and mainsail boat Swan on Sunday afternoon. During the heavy storm the boat had gone adrift and was seen by them floating down the river. They put out in a boat and picked her up. She is now at the yard awaiting the appearance of the owner.

William Vinderman, of submarine celebrity, has returned from his vacation spent with friends in New York.

Odd Fellows Funeral.

The funeral of Joseph N. Francis was held Wednesday afternoon from the West Quincy M. E. church and was largely attended, Mt. Wollaston lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he was a member, being present in a body. The services were conducted by Rev. C. H. Ropoch, pastor of the church. During the services a quartette from the church choir sang several selections. Following the regular service the burial service of Mt. Wollaston lodge was conducted by the officers of Mt. Wollaston lodge. The remains were then escorted by the lodge to Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

War Claims.

Gov. Guild hopes to get more for the Spanish war veterans than recently allowed by the government. On Wednesday he refused to accept the draft for $101,943, taking the ground that the commonwealth is entitled to $50,000 more. The award was made by the auditor of the war departmene, and the draft was made payable to the Governor. Immediately upon receipt of it the Governor conferred with Atty.-Gen. Malone, and the decision to return the draft and take an appeal was quickly reached. An appeal will be taken to the comptroller of the treasury for the additional amount.

—An informal dancing party will be held in Quincy Music Hall, on the evening of Tuesday, November 12. Mr. Walter G. Field, a popular young man of this city will act as floor director, and Cuff's orchestra, which is so well known in Quincy, will furnish "up-to date," music.

—Andrew L. Curtis of Scituate was on Wednesday sentenced by the Superior court of Plymouth to not less than ten years and not more than fifteen yeats for assault with intent to murder Fred A. Shaw and Walter S. Harrub.

—H. H. Clayton of the Blue Hill observatory was in the balloon Pommern which made the record trip from St. Louis, 880 miles in 41 hours.

ELECTRONOTES.

One of the most up-to-date cotton mills in the world is located in Kyoto, Japan, employing 2,000 hands. Representatives of Japanese government scoured the world to secure the best machinery for the plant and it is a credit to the industrials of America to note that nearly all the equipment was secured in this country. The motive power and lighting is by electricity to be obtained from General Electric Company's equipment

To facilitate the collection and delivery of letters and packages in Vienna the Ministry of Commerce is engaged upon a plan for an underground electric railway to link together the chief district post offices of the city—sixty-four in all. The line will be built twenty-five feet below the surface and the trains will run at twenty miles an hour.

Battleship No. 29, now in course of construction in the Boston Ship Building Yard, will be the first battleship to be propelled by steam turbines and startling results are expected. Curtis steam turbines with capacity of 25,000 horsepower will be used. Four other small Curtis turbin units of 300 kilwatts capacity will be used to furnish electricity for the eight large searchlights, the 100 electric motors, and other electrical apparatus aboard.

Electricity is being widely used for such purposes as the drying of photographic plates, prints, blue prints, negatives, etc. The electric fans quickly dry the negatives and prints, enabling the photographer to complete work in short order.

In 1869 Japan had no telegraph. Today there are 95,000 miles of wire and 2,600 offices. The telephone service cover 45,000 miles of wire with 483 offices, of which 143 are automatic.

In the illumination of Niagara Falls, just accomplished by General Electric Company, vari-colored shafts of light representing 1,150,000,000 candle power are thrown on the falling water. The combined lights from the 50 large projectors thrown into the air are visible for 100 miles. Half a million square feet of tumbling, roaring water are illuminated.

For the crimping of ladies hair it is no longer necessary to use the dangerous hot iron, and there is no longer fear that the capillary artist will forget and leave the iron in the heating apparatus too long. The new electric curling irons heat themselves. When they are brought to the proper temperature they will stay there indefinitely.

In the White House at Washington, the electric plate warmers recently installed have a capacity of 300 to 400 plates. Electrical heating devices have also been applied in other ways to insure good service at the important State functions.

It is expected that the total business of the General Electric Company in the current fiscal year will run close to $70,000,000, thereby establishing a new high record.

The electric portable saw mill is the latest in lumbering circles. The electric mill is not unlike the portable steam saw mill except the machinery is motor driven. The power is supplied by cable and the mill is easily moved from place to place by adding additional transmission lines.

The Oliver Chilled Plow Works at South Bend, Ind., boast of an electric sign 250 feet long. The letters in the word "Oliver" are 81 feet high and 14 feet wide. A total of 3,200 lamps is required to illuminate this mammoth sign.

The "gap" between Kansas City and Denver has been closed by a long distance 'phone. This completes a long distance telephone service between the eastern and western telephone regions. A telephone communication between Boston and Omaha is no uncommon occurrence and it is predicted that in a few years it will be possible to telephone from Boston or New York to San Francisco or Seattle.

Plans have been completed for the erection of a $1,000,000 power plant on the headwaters of the Sandy River, a few miles east of Portland, Oregon.

"Savage Europe."

Mr. George Nox McCain, a newspaper man in his youth, who has been pretty well over the face of the earth and seen about everything worth seeing, is coming to Tremont Temple next month to tell Boston people about "Savage Europe," as he styles the countries he is to talk about and illustrate. He names as the subjects for the three lectures which he will give on the Saturday afternoons of Nov. 2, 9, and 16, "Servia and Bulgaria," "The Western Balkans," and the Cities of the Adriatic."

Mr. McCain has but recently returned from a four months tour in these little known countries and while visiting them he had exceptionally good opportunities to become acquainted with not only the scenes of activity in the distant sections he is to tell about, but with the habits, customs, and opinions of their people. He shows motion and panoramic pictures taken during his travels which represent the best work of the most advanced photographers and colorists.

Quincy Historical Society.

There will be a meeting of the Quincy Historical Society at the chapel of the First (Unitarian) church on Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 8 o'clock P. M.

Brooks Adams Esq., the president of the society will preside and a lecture on "Historic Quincy, Past and Present" will be given by Charles H. Johnson, a member of the society. The lecture will be illustrated by 200 views taken expressly for this lecture by an expert photographer.

Two tickets of admission will be mailed to each member and additional tickets may be secured by members of the society by applying to Emery L. Crane, Secretary.

Governor's Day.

Friday, Oct. 24 will be Governor's day with John Hancock chapter, D. A. R., of Boston, it being the 127th anniversary of the inauguration of John Hancock of Quincy as Governor, the first Governor under the constitution. A reception will be held at the residence of Mrs. Wesley A. Rand, whose house stands on land that was once the garden of John Hancock which adjoined the historic old mansion in Boston.

TODAY'S COURT.

Dwith B. Hill and James McCaffery were fined $20 each, Robert Mawkinney $15, and Ernest L. Davis $10, for violation of the automobile law at Milton.

C. H. Clark was fined $10 for digging clams on forbidden territory.

William Dean was fined $15 for drunkenness at Randolph.

A Yankee Trick.

[Original.]

The colonies of North America, having been composed of different nationalities, were diverse. New York was Dutch, while the adjacent colony on the east, Connecticut, was English, and the two no more mingled than oil and water. Indeed, the border line was the scene of a continuous quarrel.

On one side of this line lived Jonathan Pym, a young Yankee, while on the other lived Katrina Bleeker, a young Dutch girl. Pym used to stray across the boundary line to hunt and fish in the Dutchmen's territory, which only tended to increase the hostility between the two peoples, especially firing the sluggish Dutchmen against the sharp witted New Englander. But when it was learned that Jonathan's incursions were for very different game than fish or fowl, indeed that he was courting Katrina Bleeker, all the Dutchmen on the border laid down their clay pipes, set their schnapps mugs on the table and vowed that no Dutch girl should marry with the hated Yankees. Then they took up their pipes and their mugs and began to consider how they should prevent such a horrible catastrophe. The result was that Katrina was shut up in one of those little forts built along the eastern edge of the Dutch colony.

When Jonathan next stole over the border to the trysting place he did not find his love, but a note scribbled in a mixture of Dutch and English telling that she expected to be shut up immediately in the fort. Jonathan went back to his people and told them of his misfortune. They listened to him with occasional interruptions such as "Dew tell!" and "Want t' know," and when he had finished and asked them to help him out of the difficulty they volunteered to a man.

The next day all the Yankees living near Jonathan's home collected, with pikes, matchlocks, scythes and pitchforks, and set out for the fort where Katrina was a prisoner. The approach was over an open field, and the Dutchman on guard in the fort happened to be awake. He raised the alarm, and presently a little six pounder sent a shot over the heads of the advancing Yankees. Jonathan called a halt.

Now, Jonathan did not wish to sacrifice the lives of his friends simply to gain a wife for himself, so he invested the fort, hoping to starve out the garrison. But, whether it was that fear had taken away the Dutchmen's appetite or that the fort was well stored with provisions, the starvation process was a failure. Still there must be a dearth of fresh food, for the Yankees had kept the venders of perishable property away. Jonathan, true to his Yankee blood, preferred stratagem to bloodshed and concluded to try to reduce the fort by the former method. He withdrew his forces from one of the approaches, a swampy piece of ground, leaving the Dutchmen to suppose that he had been driven off by the mosquitoes. Then he concentrated the principal part of his force behind a barn that had been incautiously left standing quite near the fort

The next morning the Dutchmen saw a number of women, with baskets on their arms, making their way across the swamp. They came on, chatting among themselves, and when a short distance from the fort sat down their baskets and themselves for a rest. The baskets contained butter and eggs, and the women kept up a clatter, discussing the merits of their produce and what prices they would get for it when they reached the settlement. The sight of the rolls of fresh butter and the white eggs tickled the stomachs of the Dutchmen gaping at them over the parapet of the fort, and it was not long before the women were hailed to know if they would sell and why so many of them were together. They replied that they would sell if they could get as much for their wares as at the settlement and that they were going together for protection from the Indians, whereupon they were invited into the fort. This was part of Jonathan's Yankee trick. He had dressed himself and a dozen of his adherents like Dutchwomen, and each had arms concealed under his feminine apparel. He alone replied to the hail from the fort, for he alone had learned enough Dutch from Katrina to reply and could sufficiently conceal the Yankee nasal twang to prevent being discovered for what he was, though the Dutchmen were not quick at seeing through stratagem and he might well have strained a point. Be this as it may, the gates of the fort were thrown open, and the butter and egg venders entered.

They had scarcely got inside and set down their baskets when the main Yankee force concealed behind the barn made a rush upon the gates. The Dutchmen were about to run to the assistance of those who were shutting them when they were set upon by the women and either held or driven back, while those coming from without overcame the gatemen, and in a few minutes the whole Yankee army was in the fort. A Dutchman is no hand to defend himself against surprise, and those defending the fort surrendered at discretion. Jonathan told them that his only requirement was that Katrina should be permitted to choose between going with him or remaining with them. Katrina was brought forth and chose to go with her Connecticut lover.

Then there was a wedding at which much Holland gin was consumed and a peace. Before leaving the Yankees had sold all the butter and eggs they had with them to the Dutchmen for a good price, but when the latter came to break the eggs they found them to be of white stone, while the butter was painted wood.

Married Men Win at Bowling

A most interesting bowling match was rolled Wednesday night at the Granite street alleys between the married and single men of the Roger Wolcott court of Forresters. The married men took the first two strings, but the single men came back strong in the third and won easily. The rolling of Bowton, well known to the old time bowlers, was a feature, while Hastings and R. Smith did the best work for the single men.

The summary:

QUINCY'S GOVERNOR

Anniversary of Inauguration of John Hancock October 25, 1780

Today is the 127th anniversary of the inaguration of John Hancock, born in Quincy, as Governor of Massachusetts.

When the Constitution of Massachusetts was adopted, John Hancock was elected its first governor, in 1780, to which office he was annually chosen until 1785, when his health again proving poor, he was obliged to resign Subsequently, after a rest of two years from the tedious and constant labors of public duties ,he was again called to the gubernatorial chair in 1787, where he continued to serve until the 8th of October, 1793, when he died at the age of fifty-five years.

It was in 1792, when Quincy was set off from Braintree and incorporated as a separate town, that Gov. Hancock had the pleasure of signing the act of incorporation. In 1800 the population of the town was but 1081. At agricultural pursuits the people made a comfortable living. The homes were hives of industry and the music of the spinning wheel was heard from early morn till late at night, fabricating their old-fashioned substantial home-spun cloth which amply protected them from the chilling blasts of our northern winters. In those days there were no railroads, no street railways or even coach lines, and people had to walk when they went to Boston.

John Hancock, the son of the Rev. John Hancock and Mary his wife, was born Jan. 12th, 1736-7, in the North Precinct of Braintree, now Quincy, says Pattee's History of Quincy. His father was then the pastor of the First church, and resided in a house that was located on a lot where the Adams Academy now stands, and always called the "Hancock Lot." His father died while he was quite young, and the youthful Hancock was adopted by his paternal uncle, of Boston, one of the most opulent merchants of the Colony. Under his care he received his education preparatory to entering college.

Mr. Hancock graduated at Harvard College in 1754, and at Yale in 1769. While in college he held a respectable rank as a scholar, but was in no wise distinguished; he gave little promise of the high eminence to which he afterwards achieved. On leaving college, he entered the counting-house of his uncle, and in 1760, made a tour to England for the purpose of a personal acquaintance with the distinguished merchants with whom his house was intimately engaged in business transactions. Shortly after his return from England, in 1764, his uncle died, and the nephew inherited this large mercantile business, as well as the princely fortune of his uncle, then considered the largest estate in the Province. This large fortune, together with an upright and honest character, gave him great influence and a high position in society.

In 1766, he was elected to the Provincial Legislature. This important event seems to have given direction to his future career, as he became associated with such patriots and strong opponents to the oppressive laws of the Home Government as Samuel Adams, Otis and others.

March 5th, 1774, he was called upon by the citizens of Boston to deliver the fourth consecutive address in commemoration of the Boston massacre, which was an able and eloquent production. When the time came for the great struggle between the Home Government and the Colonies Mr. Hancock was found to have arrayed himself on the side of the Americans. His high position and influence was such, that he was chosen a delegate to the first Provincial Congress, held at Concord, Mass., and was chosen its first president.

Mr. Hancock was also a member of the Continental Congress, held at Philadelphia, and was elected for its second president.

After the committee appointed had completed the draft of the Declaration of Independence, Mr. Hancock, with a clear, bold and steady hand, without a quiver, was the first to sign this instrument declaring the "United Colonies should, and of a right ought to be, Free and Independent States."

In 1772, Mr. Hancock subscribed towards the erection of the second Brattle-street Church, 1,000 pounds.

In 1775, Mr. Hancock married Miss Dorothy Quincy daughter of the fourth Edmund Quincy, by whom he had an only son, who was named John George Washington Hancock. This son, at the early age of five years, was inoculated for the small-pox. So great was this event considered that Mr. Quincy thought it worthy of a letter. This only son met with a sudden and sad death while skating on the ice, Jan. 27th, 1787, at the age of nine years. Mrs. Hancock was married at the age of twenty-four, and filled her illustrious position with great dignity, and dispensed with queenly grace the hospitalties of her house.

So obnoxious was Mr. Hancock and Samuel Adams to the parent government, that Gage, while governor of the Province, issued a proclamation offering a general pardon to all who would proselyte themselves to the royal authority, excepting Hancock and Adams. Mr. Hancock held the distinguished position as president of the Continental Congress until October, 1777, when he was obliged to resign on account of ill-health.

Thus lived and died one of the noblest men of the American Revolution of 1776, who sacrificed his health, life and property to secure the independence of the United States. "Full justice was done to his memory, at his death in the expressions of grief and affection which were offered over this patriot's remains by multitudes who thronged his stone mansion house on Beacon street, while his body lay in state, and who followed all that was mortal to the grave."

The Lighter New England Off For Her Builders' Trial

At 10 oclock this morning the steel steam Lighter "New England" built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company for the New England Steamship Company left the Fore River dock on her builders' trial. The Lighter was manned by Fore River men, with Port Captain T. E. Evans in the pilot house and Engineer J. F. Paige in charge in the engine room.

The owners were represented by J. Howland Gardner, marine superintendent of the New England Steamship Company, and Mr. William S. Rogers, assistant superintendent. F. O. Wellington, assistant to the president of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company was in charge of the trial for that company.

The "New England" was contracted for on March 3, 1907, and has been completed six weeks before the time stipulated. Her contract calls for a successful run of four hours' duration.

The "New England' is a first class steel, steam lighter of modern type and is of these dimensions:—length overall, 130 feet; extreme beam, 31 feet 6 inches; depth moulded at centre, 13 feet 6 inches; gross tonnage, 417 tons; net tonnage, 265 tons.

The "New England" has one heavy Oregon pine mast, 68 feet to the top of the truck, and a boom 55 feet long. She has one 7 inch by 10 inch twin drum hoisting engine and all gear is designed for 7 tons. The propelling engine is direct acting, with cylinder 26 inches in diameter and 26 inches in stroke of piston, making 100 revolutions per minute. Steam is provided by two horizontal return tubular boilers, each 66 inches in diameter by 14 feet long with a grate area of 70 square feet. The propeller is four bladed, cast solid, with a diameter of 7 feet 6 inches and a pitch of 10 feet 6 inches. The smoke stack is 40 inches inside diameter and the outside stack measures 50 inches in diameter. The deck house contains the pilot house, rooms for the Captain and Mate, and the galley is at the extreme after end. She has three fatertight bulkheads. In the main deck forward is a hatch 8 feet 6 inches square. She is equipped with a Blake duplex donkey pump, a Williamson steering engine, a metallic life boat and axes, fire extinguishers and all other appliances required by Law.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

Mr. Charles Corey, was a visitor to the yard on Wednesday.

To see the officers of the collier "Everett" in full uniform makes one thinks he is on a trans-Atlantic liner It all makes for discipline however. Each day the ship is to be inspected at 9 A. M.

All the coal men are watching the performance of the "Everett." If she does what is predicted it is up to them to build some ships like her.

What might have been a serious conflagration was averted by the bravery of the Chief Engineer G. W. Salbador of the Steamship Creole at 10.30 A. M. Thursday. A fire started on the pier near the Creole in some canvas covering on machinery. The blaze spread quickly to some rubbish and oil soaked lumber which was in the vicinity. Chief Salbador while promenading the deck discovered a wreath of smoke issuing from behind an unused boiler on the pier and with his usual alertness he immediately investigated and with assistance put out the fire.

A shift of the vessel moored at the dock has put the "Creole" next to the dock on Bents creek side, so that the big crane can be used in putting in her turbine..

Another Reservation In Town of Milton

The park system of Milton will benefit by the bill of Amor L. Hollingsworth, late of Milton, which instrument was filed in the Norfolk Probate Registry at Dedham this week. The widow of the testatrix, Marion B. Hollingsworth, is to have the use, occupancy and improvement of a parcel of sixty-two acres of land on Brush Hill road and Blue Hill avenue, Milton, for life. Upon her death, the Commonwealth will receive it as a public park or reservation.

Should the Metropolitan Park Commission decline the bequest, the trustees of public reservations of Milton will receive the same for their purposes and $3000 in addition, the income to be used toward keeping the land in proper condition for the park purposes, which are intended by the gift.

The First Congregational Parish of Milton receives $2500, the Swift Charity of Milton $2000, the income to be used for the aid and comfort of needy and deserving children; the trustees of the Milton Academy $5000, the income to be applied towards the salaries of teachers.

Marion B. Hollingsworth, Amor Hollingsworth and George W. Wheelwright are nominated as trustees and executors. The will is dated June 13, 1905.

From Australia.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Marsh of Adelaide, South Australia, are the guests of Rev. and Mrs. A. Edwin Clattenburg. Rev. Mr. Marsh is to preach both morning and afternoon in St. Chrysostom's church. The afternoon address will be especially for men, although all are invited. It may interest many to know that Rev. Mr. Marsh calls himself a Yankee as he was born in Hingham.

A Nation of Cripples Rheumatism Beyond Control

The Only Hope to Rheumatic Sufferers Is Uric-O Treatment

If Rheumatism continues to spread as it has in the past few years, it would seem as though we would before long become a nation of cripples. The terrible destructiveness of this disease is apparent on every side of us. Almost nine out of ten of the cripples one meets had their affliction brought on by Rheumatism. How many thousands more there are that are hopelessly bed-ridden and whom we never see. Rheumatism, fro the very nature of the disease, can never cure itself and if neglected is bound to grow worse rather than better. If you ever have any twings of Rheumatism go to your druggist and get a bottle of Uric-O, the wonderful new Rheumatic Specific. It will cure you and it is the only treatment in the world that will cure you permanently and thoroughly. Uric-O cures by its direct action on the muscles, blood and kidneys. It seeks out the poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acid and drives it from the system and it is only a treatment of such a nature that will ever cure Rheumatism. Liniments and plasters only serve to drive it from one spot to another. They never cure Rheumatism, because it is primarily a blood disease, and until the blood is cleared from the poison, a cure cannot take place.

There never was a case of Rheumatism that Uric-O could not cure and you should not put off taking it. You can test Uri-O free of sharge if you wish. Just cut out this advertisement and send it to the Smith Drug Co., 288 Smith Building, Syracuse, N. Y., together with your name and the name of your druggist, and state that you have never used Uric-O and would like to try it. They will give you free, through your druggist, a 75-cent bottle, which you can test and try to your own satisfaction.

Uric-O is sold and personally recommended in Quincy by E. J. Murphy.

WEATHERED STORM

Trust Company of America Stands a Two Days' Run

WAS THE CENTRE OF FLURRY

Three State Banks Forced to Suspend Payment--Noted Financiers Relieve Market by Dumping Millions Into Stock Exchange

New York, Oct. 25.—As a result of yesterday's developments in the financial world there is every indication that the crisis in the banking and trust company situation has been safely passed.

The Trust Company of America all through the day's banking hours paid out money to depositors as rapidly as possible and closed the day with all demands having been met. A very favorable feature of the situation respecting this company was that it was able to make its payments with very little assistance, and another was that the company received over its counters in the morning hours in ordinary deposits more than $1,000,000.

It is the general impression in financial circles that this company, having withstood a two-days' run with so little trouble, is undoubtedly in good condition to continue its business. In fact the company and its its affairs are not considered as a factor any longer in the general situation. As the Trust Company of America had been the center of the recent financial storm it is accepted that the ability it has thus shown to weather the storm is a clear indication that the financial sky has cleared and that a period of fair weather is now well in sight.

The day was marked by three noteworthy episodes. First came the announcement of trouble in three minor state banks in the outlying districts of Harlem—the Hamilton bank, the Twelfth Ward bank and the Empire City Savings bank. These banks transacted only a neighborhood business, and their suspension of payment was absolutely without significance as bearing on the general situation. Although these banks were obliged to close because of lack of ready cash, State Bank Examiner Judson declared that all three were solvent and that their depositors would lose nothing.

The second episode was a rather more serious run inaugurated against the Lincoln Trust company. The run against this company was steady throughout the day, but was not serious at any time and the sums withdrawn were not large. It is an uptown institution, with a great many women depositors, and it carried mainly pesonal household accounts. The run against it was without importance to the city's banking interests as a whole.

By far the most notable, even dramatic, episode of the day was the emptying of millions of money into the Stock Exchange through a pool headed by J. P. Morgan and other financiers in order to avert a ruthless selling out of stocks held by brokers, which was threatened because of their inability to obtain renewals of loans on which these stocks had been carried.

A remarkable condition brought about this extreme stringency in money, which had gradually forced the interest rate up to an almost unprecedented figure. Certain large interests of great financial resources had been charging recently what was in effect, if not legally, usurious rates of interest on call loans.

One institution that had been engaged in this practice was itself a member of the clearing house and was severely criticised by other bankers for its action, on the ground that this added an unnecessary complication and strain to the money situation. As a result of the criticism this institution withdrew its support and declined to offer money on call on the Stock Exchange. The effect of this was to run the rate for money up to 100 percent, and when that figure was quoted an extremely sharp decline resulted in the stock market, Union Pacific, a 10 percent stock, selling down-to par.

Notwithstanding the high rate for call money that might have been obtained, the National City bank, John D. Rockefeller personally, and other prominent moneyed interests sent funds to the Stock Exchange to be lent at the normal rate of 6 percent. These sums, however, were not sufficient to meet the demand and for a time there was great confusion and hurried selling of stocks on the exchange. At the time when the excitement was at its height the announcement was made that a pool had been formed with J. P. Morgan at its head to come to the rescue of the brokers for whom it was necessary to provide funds at once in order that they might carry the stocks they were holding for their customers. The Morgan pool brought about $25,000,000 into the loan corner of the exchange, where it was quickly distributed in such lots as would be most effective in rendering support.

The effect of this relief measure was instantaneous and the rate on call money dropped from 100 percent to 10 percent. Stocks advanced more rapidly than they had declined and it was only a few minutes until the rally was complete. Seldom if ever had the veterans of finance seen a great situation saved so quickly and so effectively by such a Napoleonic stroke. When the Stock Exchange closed everyone was getting all the money he wanted.

The close was marked by a memorable scene in which the brokers gathered around the principal trading posts and gave three cheers for J. P. Morgan and the members of the pool which had saved the day.

The aggregate amount of money contributed yesterday in order to weather the storm and restore confidence assumes truly colossal proportions. Roughly estimated, it includes $25,000,000 which Secretary Cortelyou deposited in the New York banks, $25,000,000 which the Morgan pool brought to the floor of the Stock Exchange, $10,000,000 which John D. Rockefeller deposited with the Union Trust company as a means of stemming the tide at the Trust Company of America, and finally another $50,000,000 which, it is understood, Rockefeller stood ready to advance to meet any further stress of conditions, in all considerable in excess of $100,000,000.

At midnight Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou said: "The situation has improved so much that I shall make no statement."

Run on Providence Institution

Providence, Oct. 25.—For three hours yesterday a steady stream of depositors passed before the window of the paying teller of the Union Trust company of this city and withdrew the amounts they had deposited with the institution. The demand of the depositors for the return of their money began at noon, and when the bank closed its doors for business at the usual hour, 3 o'clock, there were between 100 and 150 depositors waiting in line to withdraw their savings.

An unofficial estimate of the number of persons withdrawing their deposits placed the figure at about 700. The bank officials claimed that the institution was in no danger and that it would be fully able to meet all claims against it.

The Union Trust company was organized in 1894 with a capital of $500,000. Its main headquarters are in this city and it conducts branches at Olneyville, Westerly, Central Falls and East Greenwich.

Financial Stress In Colorado

Goldfield, Nev., Oct. 25.—All banks of Goldfield were closed yesterday in consequence of the governor's proclamation declaring a holiday. The proclamation came as a great relief to local banks. The state banks and trust companies had already suspended payments. A big run was in progress at the Nye and Ormsby banks and probably would have continued yesterday had the banks opened. A run was also anticipated upon the bank of John S. Cook & Co.

Back to Normal Condition

Pittsburg, Oct. 25.—The condition in financial circles is normal. The position is taken that the appointment of receivers for the four Westinghouse companies places all of them on a better footing. The failure of the Iron City Trust company had no bad effect and the millions of dollars deposited by the government caused a feeling of confidence.

No Comment From Roosevelt

Washington, Oct. 25.—President Roosevelt has been thoroughly informed regarding the financial stress in Wall street and Pittsburg, and is understood to regard the crisis as over, and also to approve of the measures of relief which Secretary Cortelyou afforded both cities. The president, when asked if he would make any statement on the situation, indicated that comment from him was unnecessary.

Swift Loses Command of Ship

Washington, Oct. 25.—The unexpired portion of the sentence suspending from duty Captain Swift, who was in command of the battleship Connecticut when it went aground on Culebra island, has been remitted. The court of inquiry sentenced Swift to one year suspension from duty, which later was remitted to nine months. He had served six months of the time. He will be assigned to duty other than commanding a ship.

Rogers Prosecution Closed

Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The prosecution has closed its case in the trial of Charles H. Rogers, charged with the murder of the Olney brothers and Alice Ingerick. Mrs. Georgia Ingerick, mother of the murdered girl, who was herself murderously assaulted at the same time, testified yesterday that she was unable to positively identify Rogers as the man who assaulted her.

Striking Telegraphers Give Up

Butte, Mont., Oct. 25.—The Anaconda Telegraphers' union, with which Butte is affiliated, decided to call the strike off and return to work today. The Western Union opened its office in Great Falls yesterday and the Billings office will be opened today.

Election Law Violated

Jersey City, N. J., Oct. 25.—More than 1000 warrants were issued in the two police courts here for men who are alleged to have broken the election law. Illegal registration and the stealing of registry lists are among the offenses charged.

Four Killed In Dynamite Explosion

Ashland, Wis., Oct. 25.—Four men were killed by the blowing up of a mixing mill of the Atlantic Dynamite company's factory near here. Two hundred pounds of nitro-glycerine exploded.

The Weather Forecast

THE ITALIAN QUAKE

Number of Deaths Estimated at More Than Five Hundred

FLOODS ADD TO THE MISERY

Two Villages Completely Destroyed and Houses In Several Others Reduced to Ruins--State of Panic Exists Throughout Calabria

Rome, Oct. 25.—The details received here regarding the earthquake in Calabria every way tend to show that the damage done was much more extended than at first estimated. Nothing definite will be known on the subject until the ruins are cleared away.

The earth shocks continue, but they are very slight. The people are still in a condition of apprehension, which is increased by each tremor. In spite of the torrential rain that is falling, they absolutely refuse to remain under any cover. They have made their beds in the open. Mattresses have been spread about the squares and the fields surrounding the stricken villages and the people are covering themselves and their children as best they may. Many thousands passed the night in this manner.

The only buildings that the frightened people will consent to enter are the churches, and even there they will not stay long. They make supplication before images and then hurry again to the open. Sacred relics have been exposed in the cathedral of Catanzaro, and this served in a measure to calm the population.

The heavy rains have caused floods at several places, and the waters make more difficult the work of rescue which, under these circumstances, is necessarily proceedingly slowly. The people are too frightened to assist in the rescue work.

It is now estimated that the deaths will surpass 500, but it is impossible to get accurate information on this subject, as many villages are still cut off by the floods and the destruction of roads and telegraph lines, and no word from them can be had.

This earthquake bids fair to rival that of 1905. It is hoped, however, that it will not last so long. The second shock lasted for 24 seconds. It seemed as if the earth never would stop rocking. Many persons cried out that the end of the world had come. The oscillation was so violent that the needle in the recording instrument at the observatory at Calabria was broken.

The shocks were especially severe in the southern end of the Calabrian peninsula, but throughout Calabria there are scenes of desolation and despair.

The first shock was a tremendous one and was followed by two others of longer proportions and which entirely destroyed two villages and reduced many houses in several others to a mass of ruins.

The first shock, fortunately, brought the entire population of the villages into the open, many succeeding in making their escape to the hills or open plains, which accounts for the few people who were killed. To add to the desolation caused by the earthquake it was raining in torrents, which greatly increased the suffering among the homeless people.

Half the houses at Ferruzzano and Brancaleone collapsed and a number of persons were buried in the ruins, and at Sinopoli and St. Ilario more people are said to have lost their lives. Panic prevailed everywhere. Rocella, Jonica, Reggio, Cosanza, Baracdio, Cittanova, Palmi Gerace, Marina and other towns also suffered from the shocks, but not severely.

The cathedral at Torre di Gerace, which arose from the ruins of Locri Epizephyrii, the once celebrated colony of the Locrains, founded in the year 683 B. C., and famous for its wealth and art, was thrown down, as was also an ancient tower which had withstood all the Calabrian earthquakes for centuries past.

Half the houses of the village of Gerace are in ruins and similar conditions prevail in a number of other points in Calabria.

During the confusion caused by the first earth shock the prisoners in the jail at Catanzaro mutinied and were only subdued with great difficulty. The female prisoners were particularly alarmed.

Great Bridge Disaster Recalled

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—The Canadian royal commission which is investigating the Quebec bridge disaster inspected the plant of the Phoenix Bridge company at Phoenixville, where the steel for the collapsed structure was made. The members of the commission said it might be several days before the point is reached where they will begin taking testimony.

CUBAN CONDITIONS

Political and Financial Outlook Not Very Encouraging

FUTURE SEEMS IN DARKNESS

Question of Independence Should Have Been Settled a Year Ago--Leniency on America's Part Interpreted as Weakness

Washington, Oct. 25.—Among the persons most intimately familiar with present conditions in Cuba there are a good many to whom the outlook of the island seems dark. They are pessimistic about the future of both the political and financial positions. A man whose facilities for observation and study have been unexcelled has recently returned from Cuba after a stay in the island of nearly a year. In the course of a conversation he said:

"I was in Cuba for more than a year, and all the time that I was going about the island I tried to keep in close touch with political thought and political conditions. The impression gained of conditions existing in Cuba today are of such a character that the future of that country may be said to be clouded in darkness. It is my firm opinion that practically all of the good learned by the Cubans during the first intervention has been wiped out and to all intents and purposes forgotten. The unity of thought, or what passed for it, which guided the Cubans to the idea of independence has been changed to personal egotism.

This is the best evidenced in the attitude of the self-elected leaders of the two rival political parties. The overturning of the republic last autumn, it seems to me, was a fatal and definite sign that peace in Cuba in the future has been made impossible. The question of Cuban independence might just as well have been settled then as to postpone it until a later day. At present the island is in a state of political decomposition, and a lack of confidence exists among the better element, notwithstanding they are in the majority."

There continues to come to Washington in private letters and through word of mouth from people returning from Cuba reports that the demanding attitude of the leaders of last year's insurrection has been strengthened because of the flattery and cajolery ladled out to them by the chief officers of the provisional government. It is reported from a number of sources that these one-times jefes of the bush have interpreted Governor Magoon's geniality toward them and his counsellings with them as weakness.

Their interpretation, it is declared, has been that they were bending the intervening power by their demands, and it has been predicted by competent observers that they will not hesitate to force another revolution should the government at Washington not decide in their favor in the coming second attempt at self-government. It is reported from trustworthy sources that these men, who seem to have Governor Magoon's ear, have been heard to threaten that if they do not obtain the power they are seeking they will throw the country into disorder. Such men as these, native Cubans though they be, are the gravest menace to the future peace and prosperity of their country.

Many reports come here from people who claim to see in the present intervention the reason for the disordered condition, on account of its unduly polite relations with the revolutionaries of last August, and who assert that what the former intervention built up is now beng destroyed. They make the point that the first intervention, following the war with Spain, was of an educational nature, and to a certain extent elevated morality and justice. It applied severity in order to improve the body social.

These home-coming critics of the provisional government in Cuba now assert that the present, or second, intervention, is slowly effacing these healthy lessons in respect for law and order, and is as slow in punishment as it is liberal in forgiveness. These critics are inclined to hold Secretary Taft in part responsible for Magoon's leniency. They say he does not seem to grasp the idea that there are certain people who respect and love force of character and severe justice; especially so if they do not possess these characteristics themselves.

"Anxiety among the thinking element in Cuba grows," said the informant quoted above, "as the preparations for the elections are hastened and they fear that trouble will ensue, no matter which party wins. Great desire and desperate eagerness for office and possession of the full treasury were at the bottom of the last insurrection. The ease with which the Palma government was overthrown and the gratifying prominence and power obtained by the so-called generals by reason of our attempts to establish peace by methods of conciliation instead of dictating it, cannot fail to produce new crops of adventurers."

Father Found Child With Gypsies

Albany, Oct. 25.—At Ravena, 12 miles from Albany, a posse, armed with shotguns, rescued a kidnapped girl from a band of gypsies. John Guy of New York, father of the girl, said his daughter was taken from him about a year ago. He refused to prosecute the gypsies.

WORMS IN CHILDREN

6 YEARS SUFFERING RELIEVED IN 8 HOURS

DANVILLE.

DR. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—One of my boys had been troubled for about six years with cramp in the stomach, and suspecting that it might be brought on by worms, we gave him different medicines, but without effect. Last January he had a more severe attack than usual, and hearing of the almost miraculous effects of your Elixir, we gave him about a teaspoonful, and in about eight hours it brought from him a living creature about eighteen inches in length. He has had no return of them since, and is now very hearty. G. W. VICKERY.

Thousands of people have worms and don't know it, yet the symptoms are easily recognized. Even though worms might not be present this extraordinary remedy will effect wonderful changes in the run-down system. It is a great stomach and liver tonic and regulator.

Worms in adults and children can be readily detected from the following symptoms: Indigestion; a variable appetite; offensive breath and foul tongue; eyes heavy and dull; itching of the nose; short, dry cough; grinding of the teeth; starting during sleep; slow fever and often, in children, convulsions and bed-wetting; looseness; hard, swelled bowels. No matter how pronounced or how light the symptoms, will restore the patient to normal health again.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

TURNER, ME.

DR. J. F. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—Having used your Elixir in my family for many years, after having satisfied myself of its superior merits, I recommended it to my neighbors, who now very generally use it. I consider it the very best medicine now in use, especially for children.

Very truly yours, JOB PRINCE.

NEW GLOUCESTER, MASS.

DR. TRUE, DEAR SIR:—The Elixir I purchased of you cured my boy, who had been troubled with worms ever since he was a child. He had tried many other medicines, and I had employed physicians until I found it of no use. I despaired of his being restored to health till I heard of your Elixir, which, I am happy to say, effected a speedy cure.

Very truly yours, W. G. COOMBS.

Dr. True's Elixir is sold by druggists everywhere at 35c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. A booklet entitled "Children and Their Diseases" will be sent free by simply addressing Dr. J. F. True & Co., Auburn, Me. We have a special treatment for tape-worm. Send for free book.

OCCUPIED BY THE FRENCH

Warships, Aided by Moorish Force, Land Marines at Mogador

Boston, Oct. 25.—Ten of her crew lost in a squall on the Georges was the report which the schooner Clara G. Silva of Gloucester brought in as she worked her way up to T wharf, her colors half-masted.

Captain Silva and men were exhausted as the result of their experiences in the terrible seas which had robbed the vessel of more than half its crew. Silva said that 12 of the men were out in their dories, when about 4 a. m. Monday a squall ripped out of the north. It burst in a twinkling and the thick rain was worse than the densest fog.

"We were heartsick as the day advanced," said Captain Silva, "and none of the missing men could be found, but we stuck to it and drove the schooner back and forth over the shoal in the direction the dories should have drifted. Late in the day the schooner Francis P. Mosquita came up and reported she had picked up two of our men. All that night and Tuesday and part of Wednesday we cruised for the others, and it hardly seems possible that any of the 10 could have survived."

Held on Blackmail Charge

New York, Oct. 25.—Hugo C. Voecks, charged with blackmail by Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, waived examination in police court and was held in $2500 bail to await the action of the grand jury. Hitchcock told how Voecks had demanded $1000 from him, threatening, if it was refused, to have published in a newspaper a story reflecting on Hitchcock. Hitchcock was closely examined regarding his acquaintance with Voecks' 12-year-old sister and other young girls. His conduct at all times had been above reproach, he said.

Soldiers Honor Helen Gould

Fort Leavenworth, Kan., Oct. 25.—Miss Helen M. Gould was accorded the honors of a general officer of the American army by the officers and enlisted men of Fort Leavenworth in the review yesterday. The compliment was the first of its kind to a woman at this post. As the soldiers passed the reviewing point the command was given "eyes right." The men turned their heads and looked into the smiling face of Miss Gould. She showed much pleasure over the high honor.

Imperfect Vision Led to Death

Chicago, Oct. 25.—After having been shot four days ago while attempting a hold-up, captured by the police and escaping while under guard at the county hospital, John Krell was instantly killed by an express train last night at Avondale, a suburb of Chicago. Krell left the hospital without his eyeglasses. His vision being imperfect, he failed to see an express train when he alighted from a local and was ground to pieces under the wheels.

Opening of Big Canal

Sterling, Ills., Oct. 25.—At 2 p. m. yesterday T. J. Henderson opened the gate which permitted the waters to flow through the Illinois-Mississippi canal. This marked the completion of work on the $7,500,000 government undertaking which was started by Henderson 25 years ago. Congressmen Caldwell, Lowden and Lorimer, Senator Hopkins, Governor Dineen and other prominent men were present and made addresses.

Receivers Asked For Steel Company

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 25.—Application for the appointment of a receiver for the Southern Steel company was filed in the United States court here by attorneys representing creditors. The petition alleges that the company is insolvent and has admitted its inability to pay its debts. The Southern Steel company is capitalized at $25,000,000.

Fast Long-Distance Running

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Albert Corey, the long distance runner of the First Regiment Athletic association, set a new mark for the 100-mile run between Milwaukee and Chicago, his time being 18:33:00. The previous mark was 19:54:00.

Fisheries Case Going to The Hague

Ottawa, Oct. 25.—At a meeting of the cabinet it was formally decided that the fisheries case between Canada and the United States in respect to the Magdalen islands would be submitted to The Hague conference.

Supper and Sale At St. Chrysostom's

Beautiful weather conditions helped to make the supper and candy sale given by the Woman's Guild of St. Chrysostom's church in the parish room Thursday evening a most successful one. The decorations were all pink and white, and the ladies and waitresses dressed in white with pink ribbons and flowers combined to make a pleasing effect.

The supper which was an excellent one and sale, was in charge of the ladies of the parish residing in Atlantic. Miss Elizabeth Cook, chairman, assisted by the Misses Clean, Mrs. Theodore Parker, Mrs. George A. Bean, Mrs. Henry B. Barham, Mrs. George W. Hight, Mrs. Charles A. Thorne, and Miss Catherine Nelson.

Jewish Wedding At Electa Hall

A very largely attended Jewish wedding was held Thursday evening at Electa hall. The bride was Miss Ida Kaufman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kaufman, and the groom, Isaac Cutler son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cutler.

The bride was attended by her sister and the groom by his brother. The ceremony was preformed by Rabbi Sandbolitz.

A reception followed the ceremony and the happy couple were showered with congratulations and good wishes.

Following the reception a wedding supper was served, the festivities lasting until a late hour.

Councilman Stone Has Not Withdrawn

Councilman Eugene R. Stone is quite indignant over the report that he has withdrawn from the Mayorality field. He informs the Daily Ledger that such is not the case and promises a letter for Saturday's paper. His four years in the City Council on Finance and other committees have given him experience in city affairs.

MILTON.

The Thursday Evening club has elected these officers; President, Rev. W. D. Roberts; Vice president, Thomas McQuirk; secretary, A. B. Cooper; treasure, George Arnold.

The alarm from box 43 at 11.23 Thursday morning was for a fire on the roof of a carpenters' shop at Godfrey's wharf. The fire started from sparks from a chimney and did but little damage.

Adams street is being resurfaced west of the railroad track.

A private dancing party will be held at Ellsworth hall Monday evening.

The Patriot and Daily Ledger are on sale at Hammers' drug store.

A girls' choir is being formed at the Mission of Our Saviour church. It is planned to have the girls' choir sing at the morning services and the boys at the evening services.

Currant Facts.

Greece has an absolute natural monopoly of currant production which averages about 160,000 tons a year. The seedless grapes, which, when dried are known as currants, grow nowhere else in the world.

It takes about four pounds of fresh grapes to make a pound of dried currants. No artificial processes are used in curing; the best qualities are dried in the shade, all others in the sun.

The United States consumes 35,000,000 pounds of dried currants a year, less than half a pound a head. Great Britain's consumption is three pounds per capita, and Holland's six pounds.

Dietists who have made a study of the food value of currants say that 97 per cent. of their weight is soluble in water, and that currants contain 75 per cent. of nutrtiive value or more than twice as much nourishment as elan beef.

As a concentrated food, Sir Francis Laking, King Edward's physician, has lately pointed out that the 73 per cent. of grape sugar contained in currants makes them a valuable aid in digestion, allays nervousness, and prevents nervous exhaustion.

To safeguard the industry upon which the wefare of the whole nation depends, owing to the fact that currants form 65 per cent. of Greece's total production, heavy penalties are imposed upon growers who pick their crop before it is ripe or pack it before it is thoroughly dried and cleaned.

TODAY'S COURT.

John J. Needham was fined $10 for drunkenness at Quincy.

Musicale and Dance Of the W. Y. C.

A very pleasing and largely attended entertainment and dancing party was held Thursday evening at the Wollaston Yacht club house. The entertainment was in charge of Vice Commodore Dawes, and an excellent program was given, lasting for an hour. The doctor himself contributed rich tenor solos. Other artists were: Miss Viola Bicknell of Hingham, contralto; Miss Margaret Morawski, soprano; Miss Gallagher, soloist; P. M. Hussey, tenor; and J. A. Fenno, reader. Miss Lucy Bagley was the accompanist. Following the musical there was general dancing.

WRITING FOR THE PRESS.

The Daily Ledger wishes the new edition of "Writing for the Press" by Robert Luce might be in the hands of all who forward news items and letters. Begun twenty-one years ago as a pamphlet to get better copy from reporters and correspondents when the writer was desk-editor on a Boston daily, this book has grown with his experience as reporter, editor, author, printer, publisher of books and periodicals, legislator, and man of affairs, until now it is a book for instruction and for reference that should be on the desk of every literary worker and of every business man who has to write letters, prepare advertising copy, or deal with printers. It treats of Typography, Paper, Book-making, and Publishing; Illustrations; Handwriting, Typewriting, Stenography; Spelling, Abbreviation, Punctuation, Proof-reading; Matters of Grammar and Rhetoric; The Art of Condensation; The Preparation and Sale of Manuscript; Work for Newspapers and Periodicals; Copyright; Libel; and other topics. As a text-book of journalism, it is invaluable to the novice, helpful to the expert. As a manual of the technique of literary work, it is a trustworthy guide. As a reference book for the office, it is a saver of time and money.

The utility of this volume can scarcely be over-estimated. It is a journalistic text-book, an invaluable companion for every one engaged on the editorial side of newspaper work, and a book of reference which will be welcomed by all who have to do with newspapers in any capacity or are engaged in any form of literary work. It is, in brief, a book of instruction by a master literary workman for practical use in a literary workshop.

Samuel F. Newcomb.

The funeral of Samuel F. Newcomb, one of Quincy's long business men, was held at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon from his late residence, 98 East Howard street, and was largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. George Benedict of North Abington and Rev. Edward Anderson of Quincy, both former pastors of the Washington street Congregational church. The burial was at Mt. Wollaston cemetery.

The Tri Phi club met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Lulu Cochrane of Hamilton street.

Wollaston whist players took part in the Mitchell system tournament of the American whist club Thursday night but received minus scores.

Mrs. Sumner Litchfield of North Scituate, who is in her 90th year, is a guest of her granddaughter Mrs. E. E. Miller of Bigelow street. She is in good health and promises to become a centenarian. She has two sons living, Elwood of Quincy and Milton of Scituate, also seven grandchildren and sixteen great grandchildren.

Birthday Party.

Twenty-five of the school friends of Miss Sadie Mellen's gathered at her home Thursday night and tendered her a party in honor of her sixteenth birthday. Many games were played and several selections rendered on the piano, including solos by Miss Margaret Kennedy, Miss Hilda Miller, and Miss Marie Brutan. There were also songs by Miss Miller and Miss Mellen. Refreshments were served. Miss Mellen received many gifts in honor of this happy event.

La France

SHOE FOR WOMEN

The reason why the La France is $3.00 AND 3.50

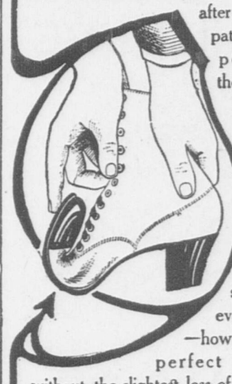
the first choice of the particular woman is because no quality, style or feature that should be a part of the ideal woman's shoe is ever omitted in any La France shoe.

This explains why the makers of this best shoe for women have never ceased their efforts to reach shoe-perfection, till after long and patient experiment they recently solved successfully a problem that has baffled shoemen everywhere—how to secure perfect flexibility without the slightest loss of style, fit or durability.



In the new La France

is embodied the most satisfying combination of shoe-qualities known to shoemaking. It has greater ease than the "turn"—the beautiful appearance and splendid wearing powers of the "welt." It yields to every movement of the foot, yet never ceases to hold the instep with a firm but kindly grasp. Let us demonstrate to you this new Flexible Welt.

QUINCY MUSIC HALL.

The Location is the best of any hall in the city. The street cars pass the door with a turnout right in front of the Hall.

The Elaborate, Permanent Decorations which have just been put up are most attractive, and add much to the appearance of the Hall.

The Electric Light Festoon over the entrance way, flashing first red, then white, is a unique feature of much value.

The Moonlight Effect obtained by having the electric light come through Japanese lanterns is a pleasing innovation.

The Floor is of selected maple laid with the greatest care, and is kept in perfect condition, being covered with canvas when not used for dancing.

The Ventilation—a most important consideration—is such as to keep the air pure with even a crowded Hall.

The Hall is Lighted by electricity, brilliantly and pleasantly, and with a switchboard arranged so that all desired effects can be obtained in the Hall proper or on the stage. Gas is used as an auxiliary light.

The Heating is direct—indirect, ample, and giving the most healthful results.

The Stage has been designed with care, and is furnished with a particularly generous supply of attractive and appropriate scenery.

For Advertising. the Music Hall Billboards throughout the City are valuable.

To Darken the Hall, there are special window fittings so that at noonday the Hall can be made as dark as at midnight.

In case of fire there are pails of water and chemical fire extinguishers throughout ths Hall. There is an asbestos fire curtain by which the Stage can be instantly cut off from the Hall proper. There are ten (10) doors opening from the Hall and six (6) separate exits.

As a whole. Quincy Music Hall has been carefully planned to meet the requirements of those who wish a large and really first class Hall.

POLITICAL ALLEGORY

Two Old Tubs Towed Out On Flats Where They Got Stuck in Mud.

On a certain part of our New England coast there was once a prosperous town by the name of Quincimas. The people of this town were honest, well-meaning folk, quite capable of managing their public and private affairs in a simple common-sense way. They were to some extent a sea-faring people, or at all events were interested in boating, and they had a good harbor which, though rather small, was ample for all home craft that had legitimate business in it.

But there must be mentioned a strange circumstance. Notwithstanding the fact that the harbor was small, and that no one had just cause for using it but the townspeople themselves, yet for many, many years there had been two old lumbering, square-rigged 74-gunships moored there right in everybody's way. Nobody could tell what right they had to be there, and everybody agreed that they were a nuisance; yet by the force of long usage and immemorial tradition they were allowed to remain. They generally managed to tie up at the best wharves, with their big, clumsy sterns sticking out into the channel so that no other craft could manoeuvre without bumping into them. One was named "Republican" and the other "Democrat."

Once in a while there was a race in the harbor which was supposed to be managed solely by the citizens; but on these occasions the two old tubs always "butted in" in the most high-handed manner, taking up the whole harbor and crowding citizens' craft ashore or swamping them, as suited their convenience. The result of the race was of no sort of consequence to the citizens themselves, because they were always virtually shouldered out of it, and always found themselves in the same helpless plight at the finish.

One queer circumstance about these two old crafts was that while they were both equally bothersome to the citizens in meddling with their private affairs, they were at the same time always quarrelling with each other. So constant was their squabbling, and so fequent were mutual desertions from one ship to the other that a state law was finally made to govern certain of their contests. This law was called the "joint caucus law," and it was framed by a lineal descendant of Mr. Justice Dogberry, of Shakesperian fame. It provided that, in order to give both of the square-riggers an equal chance in the race, they should be lashed firmly together, side by side! Every one must admit that this supient scheme effectually prevented either boat from "getting ahead of" the other!

Incidentally ,the right of the citizens to manage the affairs of their own harbor was infringed worse than ever.

Now the people of Quincimas were patient and long-suffering, not to say phlegmatic; but there came an end to their patience finally, as it gradually dawned upon them that the two old hulks were nothing but an unmitigated nuisance in their harbor, and that there was no good reason for their remaining there. So having first satisfied legal requirements, they went to work with quiet determination, and one fine morning, having provided themselves with a powerful new turbine steamer named "Goo-Goo," they made fast to the two old tubs at high water and towed them out on to the flats until they stuck in the mud and there left them!

Of course there was speechless indignation and important rage on the part of the two proud old crews; but it availed them nothing, for their long reign of usurpation was ended for good and all, and nothing remained for them but to wait for low tide and then wade ashore and make the best of their way to the Sailors' Snug Harbor or the Home for Decayed Politicians!

After being thus rid of this ancient Republican-Democratic incubus, the people of Quincimas went about managing their own affairs in their own simple and business-like manner, unhampered by the selfish meddling of two rival crews of office-holders and office-seekers.

And thence the town throve mightily, and the people made the agreeable discovery that Good Government was not only a pleasant and comfortable thing in itself, but that it attracted and included most other desirable things which go to make up a prosperous community. Civis.

Chiefs' Degree On Six Candidates

Hodenosaunee tribe, I. O. R. M., of Wollaston conferred the chief degree upon five of their own candidates and one from Nahanton tribe on Thursday evening in Odd Fellows hall, Wollaston. Past Great Sachems Scampton and Calder was present, and about fifty brothers from Uncataquessett, and Kitchanaukin of Milton and Dorchester, and Nahanton of Weymouth. After the degree the members sat down to a bountiful repast of steamed clams potato chips, rolls, coffee, doughnuts, etc.

Long talks were made by the Great Chief and by the other visiting members.

At a late hour all departed for home satisfied that old Hodenosaunee tribe can carry out the principles of the order, freedom, friendship and charity, and also entertain in first class shape.

The tribe has six palefaces and confer the degrees upon next month, and the Warriors are busy scouting the forests of Quincy for more scalps. Just keep your eye on Hodenosaunee tribe and watch it grow.

$100 for Assault.

Marcus Arestedes the Greek fruit pedler who was arrested at Wollaston some weeks ago for assault on a little girl, is again in the toils of the police, having been arrested yesterday. This time it was for an assault on a Swede woman. The man at first tried to sell her some bananas, but she refused to buy. He then followed her into the house and made the alleged assault. The woman's husband swore out a warrant against the man and he was arrested by Officer Goodhue. He was arraigned in court, and was fined $100 which he paid.

TO BE REORGANIZED

Shipping Combine Passing From the Control of Morse

GREAT MERGER BY MORGAN

Consolidated Steamship Lines and Marine Lines of New Haven System Will Control Coastwise Shipping Trade of Atlantic and Gulf

New York, Oct. 26.—The recent report that Charles W. Morse was planning radical changes in the management of the constituent companies comprising the Consolidated Steamship lines was confirmed when the directors of the different companies met in this city and made various changes in their management. The effect of these changes was the practical restoration of the active management of several of the subsidiary companies to their former owners and managers.

It is reported that the changes in the Consolidated Steamship company mean that J. P. Morgan & Co. and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad have entered the affairs of the shipping combine with powerful influence, and that thus is foreshadowed a greater combine, including the Morse companies and the New Haven road's marine lines, to control the entire American coastwise shipping trade of the Atlantic and the gulf.

An officer of one of the larger subsidiary companies said of the changes: "While this is no time to consider the formation of combinations, those already formed must be taken care of in the interest of those who own the stocks and bonds."

When Morse acquired the Ward and other lines for his combine it was said that he had guaranteed the bonds taken in part payment at a certain figure. The difference between that figure and the present market rate is probably considerable.

This would give the sellers opportunity to regain control of all lines except those actually brought into the combination by Morse and his associates.

A representative of the Consolidated steamship lines, when asked why the changes had been made, said: "You can draw your own conclusions. You know there has been a lot of talk recently in regard to certain people."

Reorganization of the Consolidated Steamship company, the Morse-merged lines, will take place Monday in relation to the method of operating the various companies, though no financial reorganization will occur, and it is said none is contemplated.

At a meeting of the directors of the various companies, held in New York yesterday, Calvin Austin was relieved from duty as president and C. M. Englis was appointed in his stead.

In New York the lines running from port will be under the control and supervision of C. H. Mallory and Albert E. Smith, both of whom are stockholders in the Consolidated.

Japan Buying American Rails

Pittsburg, Oct. 26.—A contract for steel rails, amounting to 15,000 tons, is said to have been closed between the United States Steel corporation and the Imperial railway of Japan. The rails are to be of the standard section kind, 72 to 90 pounds, and are to be delivered at Yokohama. The price is reported to be $30 a ton.

Retail Trade Is Active

New York, Oct. 26.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says that the events of the week in this city tend to cause conservatism in preparations for the future, but retail trade is active throughout the nation, and the leading industries maintain active machinery at most plants. Cotton mills have orders far ahead.

How Bryan Views Nomination

Kingston, N. Y., Oct. 26.—W. J. Bryan authorized the following statement: "Mr. Bryan's decision as to being a candidate for president will not depend on who the Republican candidate is. The question will be considered entirely from the standpoint of Democratic principles and Democratic advancement."

Cousins Probably Drowned

Liverpool, N. S., Oct. 26.—Harry Feener and Isaac Feener, cousins, left Gull island early Wednesday on a fishing trip and failed to return. Three oars and a box compass from their boat have been picked up on the beach at Western Head. Both fishermen were 19 years of age.

Chaplain Jones Acquitted

Norfolk, Oct. 26.—Former Navy Chaplain Jones, convicted by a naval court martial of financial irregularities and dropped from the service of the government, was acquitted here by a jury when arraigned upon an indictment for grand larceny.

Helped Wife to Kill Herself

New York, Oct. 26.—James Wardwell was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree for aiding his wife to commit suicide in her apartments. The penalty that may be inflicted may be 20 years' imprisonment.

Plague Situation at 'Frisco

San Francisco, Oct. 26.—Bubonic plague's totals to date follow: Verified cases, 76; deaths, 48; death rate, 63.1 percent; under treatment, 9; suspects, 35. The situation has not materially changed.

THE BUSINESS GIRL.

Don't Be Afraid of Undertaking New Ventures.

If you want to succeed you must dress the part. Don't be wasteful or extravagant in your dress, but keep yourself neat looking and well groomed. Don't go about with a slipshod, hangdog air, as though you and success were as far apart as the poles. If you look helpless and incompetent no one will trust you with work of any kind.

When you apply for a post do so in a modest yet confident manner.

Business men are not looking for helpless, dependent femininity in their employees.

What they want is a well-behaved, capable business woman.

Dress as well as you can afford to, but don't make the mistake of wearing beads and laces and elbow sleeves while on duty.

Many an applicant has failed to win a position because she was untidy or overdressed.

If you look capable, alert and interested, opportunities are sure to come your way.

When there is something important to be done your employer will say: "I will put it in the hands of Miss K. She looks trustworthy."

The first steps in the ladder of success are the most difficult ones to climb.

But nothing succeeds like success, you know, and when you have once made yourself known as a capable, successful worker half the battle is won.

Don't be afraid of undertaking new ventures or of doing more than your share of the work.

Failure once or twice or half a dozen times does not mean failure for good and all.

These rules hold good with men as well as women.

CHILDREN'S TROUBLES.

Treat Them Seriously and Try to Gain Their Confidence.

When your child first comes to you in tears and complains bitterly of this or that petty wrong or injury, he forces you to one of the most important decisions in your parental career. Your path lies open before you—to treat his trouble seriously, to speak to him "man to man" or to laugh at it as of no consequence.

Beware before you too hastily make your choice. You are choosing between your little one's future confidence, even his self respect and his final alienation from you.

To the child all his woes are real and important. His little fears and angers are as great factors in his mental development as your large ones are in yours.

Many a timid child has been frightened into convulsions and death by something which would not cause an adult even to start, and many a passionate one has lived to regret that all his infantile naughtinesses were treated as jokes and made simply the cause for laughter.

There is no occasion to overestimate their importance. It will not be necessary. Simply accord to the child the same consideration, help and criticism that you would give a grown person suffering from proportionately heavy troubles, and do not let him feel that always he is to be the butt for the mirth of his audiences, "just because," as one small boy plaintively remarked, "they woke up a few years before I did!" His philosophy was inadequate, but his sense of justice was in the right place.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A ripe tomato cut and rubbed on t face tones and freshens the skin and in some cases will remove yellow spots, including freckles.

Cucumber juice is the best of all bleaches for the skin. When cucumber cannot be obtained fresh ripe grape fruit will be found a good substitute. Cut open and rubbed on the face, it is a tonic as well as a bleach.

Copperas is a perfect disinfectant and should be dissolved in boiling water and poured down any of the drainpipes about the house. Be careful in pouring this where there is white enamel, as it will turn the enamel yellow.

Complete relaxation after eating—a suspension of mental and physical activity—will favor the processes of natural digestion not only because of its tranquillizing effect upon the nerves, but because the stomach may use the surplus unusued energies of the body in the processes of digestion. Happy the man or woman who can take an after dinner nap. It means health, happiness and long life.

Mullagatawny Soup.

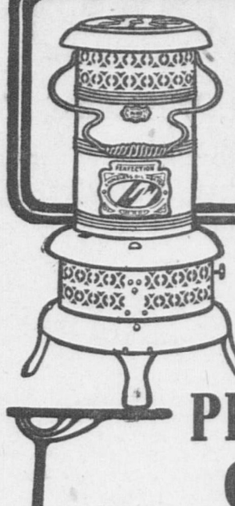
Put into a soup pot a jointed fowl, cut into small pieces a pound of chopped veal, two sliced onions fried in a little butter, two sliced apples and six quarts of cold water. Cover, set at the side of the range and simmer until the fowl is so tender that it falls from the bones, putting in at the end of the first half hour a half dozen whole cloves and peppercorns. When the chicken is tender take it from the liquor and cut the meat from the bones, setting the meat aside and returning the bones to the kettle, adding to the liquid a paste made of a level teaspoonful of curry powder, a teaspoonful each of salt and sugar mixed to a paste with a little water. Cook very slowly until the liquor is about one-half the quantity it was in the beginning, take from the fire, strain, set aside to cool and remove the fat. Return to the fire, cut the chicken into bits and stir these into the soup with a cupful of boiled rice. Boil up once and serve.



When the Furnace Fails

On many a cold winter morning you will wake to find the fires "out." What are you going to do about it—shiver? Prepare now for the emergency with a

TROUBLESOME REDSKINS

Squadron of Cavalry Starts Out to Take Uneasy Utes In Hand

Omaha, Oct. 26.—One squadron of the Second cavalry, including 10 officers, 200 men and 250 horses, from Fort Des Moines, started on their way to the scene of the Indian troubles in South Dakota this morning. Orders for the movement were sent from the army headquarters of the department of the Missouri in Omaha last night.

The squadron is under the command of Major Sibley and will be at the scene of the trouble by 12 o'clock tonight. No official advices have been received at the army headquarters in this city of a continuance of the Indian disturbances.

Rumor Says Scalping Has Begun

St. Paul, Oct. 26.—A special to the Pioneer Press from Sturgis, S. D., says that Sergeant Baker, in charge of the distribution of rations to the Ute Indians on the Cheyenne river reservation, has been killed by Indians. There is also a rumor, which, however, is not credited, that the Indians have begun scalping. Fort Meade is near Sturgis and the troops there are awaiting orders to move.

Woman Counsel In Murder Case

New York, Oct. 26.—For the first time in many years a woman lawyer yesterday appeared in court as associate counsel for a man on trial for murder in the first degree. She is Mrs. Henrietta Johnstone-Wood, whose husband, William H. Wood, and Emmett J. Murphy, also appear for the defense. The defendant is Bedros Hampartzoomian, an Armenian, member of the Hunchakist society, who shot and killed Hovannes S. Tavashanjian, a wealthy importer of rugs. That the defense will be that the Armenian was temporarily insane at the time of the deed was evident by the questions put to the talesmen.

Charges Ruled Out In Gould Case

New York, Oct. 26.—The appellate division of the supreme court has affirmed the decision by Justice McCall, who had ordered certain passages stricken from the complaint of Mrs. Katherine C. Gould in the action brought against her husband, Howard Gould, for separation. Mrs. Gould charged that her husband had associated with various women and that he had ordered the superintendent of his estate to open her mail. McCall ruled that these matters were not properly included in a suit for separation, but could only be made use of in a suit for divorce.

Pommern Winner of Balloon Race

Washington, Oct. 26.—The officer of the signal corps of the army, who was designated to make the official measurements of distances covered in the balloon races at St. Louis, has accepted the figures made by the United States geological survey and these will be made official records by the Aero Club of America in governing the award of prizes. These figures made the Pommern the winner by six miles over its next competitor, the Isle de France.

Clergyman Not Prosecuted

Boston, Feb. 26.—Rev. Frederick L. Bullard of Brandon, Vt., who was arrested in a bookshop, was discharged in the municipal court. It having been learned that Bullard had been suffering from the effects of an operation recently and that he had at times apparently not been in his right mind, bookstore representatives deemed it unwise to prosecute further, and Judge Parmenter at once discharged him.

Receivers For Lamp Company

New York, Oct. 26.—T. W. Selman, E. W. Childs and C. B. Hill have been appointed receivers for this federal district of the assets of the Westinghouse Lamp company. The appointment of receivers was made as the result of equity proceedings filed yesterday in the United States circuit court of New Jersey against the corporation, which resulted in the appointment there of receivers.

Battleship Kentucky's Accident

Washington, Oct. 26.—The report of the board of inquiry in the case of the grounding of the battleship Kentucky in Hampton Roads fully exonerates from blame Captain Barry, the commander, who was on the bridge at the time the vessel ran ashore. It is shown that the accident was due to the crowded condition of the roadstead.

TOOLED LEATHER.

Some Hints as to How the Designs Are Evolved.

Much is owed to the arts and crafts movement, and one of its most important bequests is the tooled leather articles it has evolved and made possible to the buyer with a limited purse.

A few years ago tooled leather was almost prohibitive because of its limited supply. It requires not only skilled labor, but a certain amount of artistic ability, for, while the work is known as a craft, the most successful pieces are evolved when the manipulator is an artist as well as an artisan.

As for materials, the requirements are more specific than elaborate. The only leather that adapts itself to the work is the best quality of natural calfskin, while the tools are simple in construction, but varied in size. The professional has the full set, while the amateur or aspirant has been known to do most creditable work with blunted nut picks.

The design is first drawn upon the leather; then the leather is dampened and laid over wet clay, and the process of tooling the design in relief is begun. The work is most painstaking and very slow, sometimes hours being given to the bringing out of one wee bud or leaf. The girl who does this kind of work will be interested in the illustration, which shows a pattern to be used on a chatelaine bag. The design of conventional iris is distinctive in style and beautifully worked out either in shades of tan and brown if the iris is yellow or in greens if the iris is blue.

FOR SCHOOL WEAR.

Nothing Is Better Than Sailor Frock With Loose Blouse.

For school wear for little girls too young for shirt waists nothing surpasses the sailor frock with loose blouse and tie. It is always becoming and serviceable. Early in the season such frocks are made of duck or khaki and later of serge or flannel. Here is a pretty model of light gray French flannel finished with bands of blue and machine stitching in coarse saddler's silk. The yoke under the sailor collar is of white crossed with black soutache braid, and the tie is of black and white striped silk.

The other dress is more suitable for afternoon than for school. It is of plain tan veiling, with a plaid of tan, blue and black used for the jacket effect and the box plaits on the skirt. The vest and sash are of blue silk, the vest being edged with black soutache. The buttons are covered with blue taffeta. The slight showing of ecru lace may be omitted if so desired. The girl of twelve or fourteen looks better in a shirt waist suit, with skirt and waist of the same material. A dress on this order may be made up in serge, henrietta or mixed cloth for later in the season.

For cool weather the average child needs two cloth school frocks and one afternoon frock, but the afternoon frock should not be really more elaborate than those worn to school, for a little girl looks better simply gowned. In course of time, then, the afternoon frock can descend to everyday wear when its freshness is lost.

Fall Fashions.

The seven-eighths sleeve, ending just above the wrist, is prophesied.

Hard finished worsteds will be leading favorites.

These come in stripes, plaids, checks and plain colors.

Checks are predicted to enjoy a vogue this fall.

The leading colors will be somber.

Blue will be more worn than ever before.

Navy, royal, nattier and copenhagen are shades of blue that will be rivals in popularity.

Greens and coppery browns are also picked as winners.

You can't make a mistake in getting navy blue.

French Ensign's Price For Valuable Military Secrets

SPY IS CAUGHT IN A TRAP

Possessed Secret Code Signals, Plans For Mobilization of Navy and Other Information Which Might Have Gone to Foreign Powers

Paris, Oct. 26.—The arrest of Ensign Charles B. Ullmo of the French navy at Toulon Thursday, on the charge of being a spy, and who later confessed to having abstracted a secret naval signal book and the naval cipher code, was followed yesterday by the arrest at Vendome of an army reserve officer named Berton, who is charged with negotiating with an agent of a foreign power for the sale of military secrets. The arrests are creating a great stir, and as Ullmo is a Hebrew the papers term his case a second Dreyfus affair.

It appears that Ullmo offered certain documents to the minister of marine for $30,000, saying that unless his offer was accepted he would sell them to a foreign power. Thereupon a dummy correspondence was begun, ending in Ullmo's capture. A search of his lodgings revealed that he not only possessed the secret code signals, but was in possession of complete plans for the mobilization of the French navy, the location of harbor mines in the event of war, photographs of the mechanism of France's famous 75-millimetre field gun, etc.

The case of Ullmo and Berton added importance of the debate which opened in the chamber of deputies yesterday afternoon on the interpellations regarding the state of the national defenses in connection with the charges made in the book entitled "Are We Defended?" recently published by Charles Humbert, an ex-army captain and staff officer of former War Minister Andre, and the magazine article on the same subject, of which General Langlois is the author.

Gauthier and Lasies, authors of the interpellations, spoke at length on the disorganization said to exist in the army, citing statements made by Humbert and General Langlois, and contending that this deplorable state of affairs was the result of the unchecked anti-military propaganda and the alleged system of political favoritism introduced since the days of General Andre.

General Picquart, minister of war, made a warm defense of the army, denying seriatim the allegations. The chamber almost unanimously voted confidence in the government and devotion to the army.

King Afonso Has Tuberculosis

Madrid, Oct. 26.—The alarming reports circulated regarding the health of King Alfonso appear to be confirmed. It is understood that the king, during his coming visit to London, will submit to the examination of a specialist in tuberculosis, from which disease his father died. The king's open-air life has thus far kept the hereditary disposition in abeyance and an operation was performed on him recently in the hope of checking the growing symptoms of consumption.

An Optimistic Prediction

Kansas City, Oct. 26.—Robert F. Sutherland, speaker of the Canadian house of commons, in an address here last night, predicted that Canada would have some day a 21-foot channel from the upper lakes to tidewater. When that day arrives, he said, Quebec, Halifax and St. John, and perhaps some quiet harbor that is as yet only dreamed of, will be the busiest ports of the North American continent.

No Amalgamation of Telegraphers

Milwaukee, Oct. 26.—That the Order of Railway Telegraphers will refuse to admit the union of commercial telegraphers to membership under a plan of amalgamation suggested by the strikers is the declaration of a Milwaukee railroad operator, who says a large majority of his organization is opposed to the proposed move.

Another Strike at New Orleans

New Orleans, Oct. 26.—Because the Illinois Central railway freight handlers could not come to an agreement as to the time period in their contract, the 10,000 or more freight handlers and other laborers employed on the river front here have again gone on strike.

New Trophy For Balloonists

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—Adolphus Busch announces that he will offer a cup valued at $1000 as the trophy for a balloon race to be held from St. Louis yearly, beginning next year. The cup is to be retained by any contestant winning it three times.

Strikers Giving Up the Struggle

St. Louis, Oct. 26.—Manager Bowle of the Western Union Telegraph company's offices in St. Louis says that 22 striking telegraphers yesterday applied for their former positions and that most of them will return to the keys today.

Accident Due to Spreading Rails

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 26.—Spreading rails caused a passenger train to jump the rails at Klondike station. An express messenger was fatally hurt. Many passengers received bruises, but none was seriouly injured.

PILES

The End of the Feud.

By Charles Sloan Reid.

Copyright, 1907, by Charles S. Reid.

"WELL, ye've got me, Tom, hard an' fast, an' that's a fact."

It was even difficult for the man to speak, so complefely was he wound with ropes. Beginning at his shoulder, the ropes, by numerous tightly drawn coils, bound his arms fast against his body and held his feet and legs so close together that his knee joints worked as one. The man's captor sat opposite on the ground, dangling his hands over his knees and grinning.

"Yes, Joe, I've got ye. Ye're slippery, Joe, slippery as a greased eel, but I've got ye now."

"It's all on account o' them dinged ing-urns I eat this mornin'. Allers would sleep like a dead hoss arter eatin' ing-urns."

"I reckon so, Joe."

"Didn't think about anybody wanderin' into this place nohow."

He looked up and around. They were sitting at the bottom of a deep gorge, with perpendicular walls of granite rising more than a thousand feet above them, and these walls almost surrounded the little basin in a small compass. There was only one narrow outlet.

"But, ye see, I been trailin' ye for two or three days, like a hungry coyote on the track of a crippled jack rabbit."

"I reckon so."

"Hadn't been for that don't reckon I'd 'a' found my way in here for some time. Somehow never had tried to come down in here in all my born days b'case this place sort o' seemed to be on your side."

"What air ye goin' to do about it now ye've got me?"

"Hain't decided, but maybe I'll jest open a vein in yer neck an' let ye peg out that way."

"Can't ye make it quicker'n that? I allers done my work clean, Tom, an' ye know it, don't ye?"

"So ye did, mighty clean. Ye're a pesky good shot, Joe."

The feud was an old one and had claimed many victims on both sides. In fact, it had reduced the two families to four members. Joe Dunston had an only son left, and Tom Wylie had an only daughter. Hardly a gorge or ravine there was throughout the mountains that had not seen its tragedy, that did not bear some ghastly legend of the feud. Over there a young man kneeling to drink at a clear spring had dyed its waters with his lifeblood ere he could rise, and down there the bones of a bleaching skeleton had remained above ground for months before the tragedy of a missing member had been learned, and so the epochs of the family feud had been marked.

Joe Dunston sat at the bottom of the gorge and cursed himself for eating onions, and Tom Wylie grinned over his victory. He seemed in no hurry to put an end to the work he had begun. It was an unusual circumstance, the opportunity of capturing a victim before putting him to death. Usually it was a quick shot, a well aimed weapon, a bullet speeding to its mark, but now the last of the Dunston tribe but one sat bound and utterly helpless before old Tom Wylie, awaiting the end which he knew was inevitable.

"LOOK AROUND, JOE," HE SAID.

Occasionally Joe allowed his gaze to wander a zigzag course along up the opposite wall of the gorge. It might chance that Jim would come that way, in which case he would give a signal to his son, one that would of course seal his own doom quickly, but would also put Jim on his guard, with a chance to get a speedy revenge. But the broken top line of the cliff showed no sign of the presence of a human being.

"Joe, ye're slippery—powerful slippery. It's a pity, I reckon, that a man like you has to die."

A leer of sinister admiration trailed from old Tom's eye, but he did not weaken from his purpose.

"Yes, I reckon so, Tom. Ding the ing-urns!"

Tom grinned. "There's jest one more, Joe, an' the feud 'll be ended. Have ye thought about that since ye woke?"

Joe gulped. Jim's big form and handsome face rose in his mind. Jim was the baby and had always been nearest to old Joe's heart. All the rest had gone the way of the feudists. A vision of Jim toppling from some high cliff with a bullet in his heart passed through his thoughts, and Joe's chin sank on his breast.

"Tom, ye're countin' purty fast," he said presently, lifting his head again. "Maybe the bullet will come the other way."

"Maybe so. Some have come that way in time."

It was Joe's turn to grin.

"Don't reckon ye've got any talk ye want to make afore I slit that vein in yer neck, Joe?" Tom had drawn a knife from his pocket and was whetting a small blade of it on the leather vamp of his shoe.

"No, guess not, Tom, an' if ye're determined to do it that way there's no use wastin' any more time, though it ain't the clean thing, Tom, an' ye know it. Ain't nary a Dunston before that died any other way than by a long range bullet. That's all, Tom—all I got to say."

Old Tom chuckled and continued to whet the blade of his knife. At length he tried the point of it with his thumb and was apparently satisfied with its keenness. Then he arose and went over to Joe, where he knelt by the latter's side.

"Look around, Joe," he said, "for where ye see all the sunlight now will be midnight to ye in a few minutes. Ye're a brave man, an' it's a pity for ye to die this way, but there ain't no regulations in the feud, ye know."

Tom began to feel about Joe's neck for the vein and presently pressed it outward with his thumb. Joe had thrown his head backward, and Tom was bending low and looking upward under his victim's chin. Presently the sting of the knife thrust started old Joe into madness. His head darted forward with the suddenness of a serpent's, and his long, amber hued teeth snapped down upon the throat of his captor. There was a gurgle in Tom's throat; then his windpipe closed, and as Joe's lifeblood, gushing from the wound in his neck, dyed the young ivy shoots and the green grass in the bottom of the gorge the death set of his jaws sealed the doom of his slayer. In a little while every quiver of the flesh had ceased, and one more tragedy of the feud had left its story more plainly readable than words could make it.

The midday sun looked down into the chasm. A pheasant preened herself in a narrow trail among the laurel, while a woodcock ran up the tall, limbless trunk of a dead spruce pine and after a shrill call that pierced the deep silence of the gorge sent out the long, low roll of his drumming.

* * * * * * *

Ruth Wylie stood in the cabin doorway watching the trail that led down the ravine, winding from one side to the other as it sought the easier ascent or descent of the projecting bowlders. Darkness was stealing slowly up from the depths of the hollow, and still no sign of old Tom gliding along up the path in his habitually stealthy manner.

"Dad's uncommon late tonight, it 'pears to me." The girl took a step down and sat upon the doorsill. Her cheeks glowed like red ripe cherries in the sunshine, for she had been bending over the evening fire baking the corn pone and frying the bacon for the night's meal. From the table came the odor of the meat. It floated out through the doorway on the evening atmosphere and was appetizing to the sense.

"If dad could smell the meat I reckon he'd be comin' in home without waitin' any longer. I wonder what he can be doin' anyhow."

A feeling of uneasiness darted through her as she thought of the feud; but, suddenly rising, as if to escape some burden, she hurled the thought from her. "'Tain't that. No, 'tain't that," she declared as she sat down again.

But the twilight deepened into darkness, the stars came out, the meat grew cold on the table, and its odor no longer told of its savor. Still old Tom had not come. Ruth peered into the darkness at every crackling of the twigs, but nothing materialized to her longing. It had been years since old Tom had spent a night away from home, not since the night when young Tom was shot down on the side of Little Craggy. The girl fell to counting the stars and saying to herself:

"Before I can count a hundred he will be here."

But the hundred grew to 200, then to 300. Then she began and counted them all over again. Hour after hour dragged away, and the moon had climbed to a position in the heavens whence its light shone down the cabin chimney. The occasional hoot of an owl or the cry of a catamount pierced the silence and fell upon Ruth's ear with startling effect, though these were but common noises of the night. Again and again came the thought of the feud, but just as often as it came, shuddering, she cast it from her.

"It can't be, it can't be," she invariably murmured. "Dad's too quick for that."

The moon slipped over the roof of the cabin, and Ruth watched the shadow of the house lengthen away from the doorstep, and she counted the points of its serrated edge.

Suddenly while thus engaged the the shrill, ear splitting shriek of a mountain cat struck upon her ear with terrible distinctness and nearness, and at the same instant came the flash of a long, angular body, splitting the moonlight, from the high branch of an old chestnut oak and terminating in a pigsty a few yards away. There followed one answering squeak from an unfortunate pig, and Ruth, springing to her feet, ran inside the cabin and slammed the door shut behind her.

"I reckon I ain't myself somehow, jumpin' an' runnin' at the scream of a cat, but there's one pig less, poor thing!"

She threw herself across the bed and closed her eyes with her hands.

"Strange I ain't sleepy by this time an' it past midnight. If dad ain't in by daylight I reckon I'd better start out after him. If I could jest keep from thinkin' about the feud. If there was only Jim I'd feel easier about it, because Jim is—Jim's about— There, now, if dad only knowed I was a-thinkin' that way about it—about one o' the Dunstons—I don't know what would happen."

A tall, handsome young mountaineer came into Ruth's vision, and, forgetting the feud, she fell asleep.

At the first peep of dawn among the hills Ruth Wylie set off down the ravine. She knew every pig trail or cow path among the hills, and she now traversed them, one after another. She knew every hiding place among the rocks, and she sought in them all. She knew every dangerous passage of the cliffs, every point of exposure to the fire of an enemy in ambush, and she searched at the base of all these rocks.

Tirelessly she pursued her quest all through the morning and until a late

"YES, RUTHY, I SEE IT ALL."

hour in the afternoon, when she paused and peered over the brink of the giant of all cliffs overlooking the Hellshole chasm. Once only had she ventured to make the perilous descent into that gorge, but now—it was the last place she could think of in her search—she lowered herself to the first ledge of the narrow way.

The descent was too difficult to be accomplished in a few minutes, and the sun had already dragged its rays far up the side of the cliffs when Ruth reached the bed of the chasm. The long search, the past night's sleeplessness and the fears that now had complete hold of her heart were telling upon her strength, and she was compelled to throw herself upon the grass for a moment of rest before taking up the search again.

But the scene of the tragedy of her fears lay not far from her, and when she came upon it, the awful spectacle telling its own terrible story, it struck such horror into the girl's heart that she sank to her knees and clasped her hands in the voiceless agony of her soul. Sitting upon her feet, she stared vacantly before her, contemplating the fixed contortion of death.

Time was passing, and still Ruth sat motionless on the grass. The sun continued to drag its rays higher and higher up the face of the rocks, but it was not until the twilight began to thicken that Ruth arose, still bewildered, but realizing that she must get out of the gorge before darkness came on.

Bending over, she laid her hand upon the cold forehead of old Tom, then turned away, but she had taken only a step when she stopped suddenly and put out her hand.

"Oh, Jim, you see it all?" Her hand slipped into one which silently had been outstretched toward her.

"Yes, Ruthy, I see it all." Jim Dunston had drawn nearer. "I been standin' here agin this tree ever since ye come an' some time before. Ye passed me an' didn't see me."

"It's awful, Jim."

"Yes, Ruthy, it's awful, an' I been thinkin', jes' thinkin', if ye'd be willin' we'd call that there the end of the feud. Ye're alone in the world, Ruthy, an' I'm the only Dunston there is left standin'. I've been lovin' ye across the border a long time, but there was the feud that had to be fought out, but it's ended now, Ruthy, if ye'll jes' say ye'll have me, an' there'll be no two sides of another generation raised to the killin'."

Ruth hung upon Jim's hands for a moment; then she bowed her head upon his breast.

"It's the end of the feud, Jim," she said.

Hunting Up Statistics.

"What does your father do to earn his living?" asked a New York principal of a pupil who was being admitted.

"Please, ma'am, he doesn't live with us. Mamma supports me."

"Well, then, how does your mother earn her living?"

"She gets paid for staying away from papa," replied the child artlessly. —Harper's Weekly.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title - Incorporated 1892.)

The Directors of the Young Men's Christian Association of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.

Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.

The Treasurer, William F. Cummings, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, Ernest G. Gay, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL

(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889

The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60.000, but a fund of at least $100.000 is urgently needed.

Five Thousand Dollars ($5.000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need, will be most gratefully received.

The Secretary, Timothy Reed, Adams St Quincy, or the Treasurer, Richard D. Chase, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

GOOD AFTERNOON.

An item for your diary: The first work for the new Granite Post Office, on Washington street, Quincy, was commenced on Tuesday, Oct. 22, 1907. It is an item worth remembering, to tell your children and grandchildren many years hence.

The Massachusetts Agricultural College has a course in shade trees which is something of a novelty. It is an idea of Professor George E. Stone, who has charge of it and who is gradually developing it along original lines. The title of the course is "Physiology and Pathology of Shade Trees," Seven men took the course last year, all of them having had practical experience during their summer vacations, working for some of the best firms in the country. Men who have taken this course are especially well fitted for municipal positions involving the care of public shade trees. Two graduates who took the course are employed by the Newark Shade Tree Commission. There is a crying need of trained men for shade tree work and the college does well in undertaking to supply that demand as far asit may. If every Massachustees town could have for its tree warden a man with such distinctive training for the responsibility he assumes, the efficiency of our shade trees laws would be vastly increased.

Dangerous Practice.

It seems as if no warning would keep young boys from stealing rides on the street cars, and the only wonder is that there are not more serious accidents. Nearly every day boys going to and from the High school can be seen stealing a ride on the steps on the side where the vestibule door is closed. When the conductor sees them they jump off in a hurry and never look to see if there is a car coming in the opposite direction. There have been several narrow escapes on Hancock street recently. It would not be surprising any time to hear that some boy had lost his life.

Had a Cinch.

The Dedham Transcript says Dedham High was given a most unpleasant surprise at Stone Park, Tuesday afternoon, when Quincy High rolled up a score of 32 to 0, the worst in local high school history. The previous worst ever was the 30 to 0 defeated by Waltham of the eleven of three years ago. Dedham was outclassed. The Quincy line opened up holes big enough for ox-teams to drive through and their backs had a cinch most of the time advancing the ball. They took advantage of their opportunities.

Memorial Tablets To Former Ministers

At the first Parish church at Milton on Sunday morning, says the Milton Record, services of an exceptionally interesting and special nature will be conducted by Rev. Roderick Stebbins, the pastor. The occasion is the unveiling or dedication of the first four memorial tablets to former ministers of the church. The services will not be formal in nature, but it is expected that Rev. Mr. Stebgins, in his sermon will discuss the bins, in his sermon will discuss the memories these tablets are to preserve.

The movement to erect in the church suitable memorials to the former ministers was undertaken several years ago and the present plans call for eight such memorials, of which four have already been completed, put in position and will be seen for the first time tomorrow. The other four, which will be to the first four ministers of the church, will probably be undertaken at a later date.

The four ministers to whom the tablets now in place have been erected are Rev. Joseph Angier, Rev. John Hopkins Morison, Rev. Francis T. Washburne and Rev. Frederick Frothingham, the four immediate predecessors in the order named, of the present pastor.

Rev. Angier was installed as pastor on September 13, 1837, and resigned on June 22, 1845. His home was on Milton Hill. In his history Dr. Teele says of Rev. Mr. Angier, "He was a man of rare qualities of heart and mind, genial, sympathizing, full of kindly feeling and possessed of a high degree of culture."

Rev. Mr. Morison served the church as minister for a period of forty years. He took charge of the Parish on January 18, 1846 and resigned in 1886. During the latter part of his ministery he had assistant or associate ministers. The first of these was Rev. Francis T. Washburne, a "young man of excellent abilities and noble aspirations," who became connected with the church March 2, 1871. His work lasted only two years for he died in office December 29, 1873.

Rev. Mr. Frothingham was elected associate pastor October 8, 1876, and upon the resignation of Rev. Mr. Morison in 1886 became minister of the church. That same year, Rev. Mr. Stebbens was ordained and began his connection with the First Parish as Rev. Mr. Frothingham's assistant.

The memorials are all of marble and while they are of different designs their general features are harmonious. The general supervision of the preparation of the tablets has been in the hands of Professor William R. Ware, and that to the memory of Rev. Mr. Morison was designed by him. The Angier tablet is from the design of Robert Bacon, and George T. Tilden designed that to Rev. Mr. Washburne. The Frothingham tablet design is the work of C. Howard Walker.

Missionary Institute.

All are cordially invited to attend the Missionary Institute on Wednesday afternoon and evening, October 30 at Quincy Bethany church, Rev. E. N. Hardy pastor.

Afternoon session begins at 4, evening session at 7.15. A Sunday School hour in the afternoon is to be conducted by Dr. L. W. Cronkhite, to be followed by a discussion on Missions in Sunday Schools led by Rev. E. A. Gardner.

The evening session, will be opened with a devotional half hour followed by an institute on "How to promote Mission study" and an exposition on the two text books (home and foreign.) The former book is to be treated by Rev. F. H. Mean, and the latter by Dr. L. W. Cronkhite. The closing inspirational address will be made by Dr. W. F. Beard.

Come yourself and tell others of this opoprtunity of getting better informed upon this important subject.

FREE LECTURE.

The subject of Christian Science has been so much discussed of late in the public press, and so many unfounded reports concerning its teaching and practise have been circulated by irresponsible parties, that fair-minded persons, irrespective of religious affiliations, will welcome an opportunity to hear the subject presented by one who, as an authorized representative of the denomination, is qualified to speak intelligently regarding the work.

Mr. Bicknell Young, of Chicago, who is to lecture at Music Hall, Quincy, Monday evening October 28th, at 7.45, is widely known as a public speaker, and those who attend are sure to be amply repaid for the trouble.

The lecture is free to the public, and no tickets are required.

New Residence of Perley Barbour

The new house on Maple street just completed for Mr. Perley Barbour, son of Mr. John Barbour was built from the plans and under the superintendence of Mr. Edgar Norris. The house is shingled and has wide overhanging eaves with the rafter ends finished exposed. The entrance is very hospitable and on the south side is a large and attractive piazza. A dutch door opens into the vestibule which is paneled in wood to the spring barrel shaped ceiling, on either side is a coat closet, the floor is laid to a pattern in red Philadelphia face brick, the wood-work is white enamel and the ceiling a deep yellow. A full length glass door separates the vestibule from hall giving a pleasing effect from without.

On the right of the hall is the drawing room, 14 x 24, entered through full length glass doors, opposite is the fireplace, plain but dignified, built in above the mantel and toning beautifully into the wood-work is a carbon copy of "His Majesty" representing a lion lying down apparently aroused with head raised to see who the intruder may be, but with all peaceably inclined. On either side of the fireplace are French windows opening onto the piazza. The windows in the room are paneled underneath in wood to the floor which is of oak with a border laid in a simple pattern, the wood-work of this room is gum wood and embellished with papier mache, ornaments picked out in gold leaf. The hardware is particularly nice being of French gilt and brass, the gilt hardware was ordered from France three months ago. The electric fixture are of brass and have cut glass shades. The paper in this room is a satin finished paper in browns to harmonize with the woodwork, the ceiling is a lighter shade of the same color.

To the left of the hall is a large dining room paneled up rather high, surmounted with a plate rail, above this the wall spaces are formed into large panels. Over the buffet is a plaster cast of the "Vintage" both buffet and cast built in, a leaded glass sash swings in from the stair landing. The room is enameled white with doors, buffet, plate rail, stained a very dark mahogany to match the mahogany furniture, the floor has a wide oak border, below the plate rail the panels are filled in with a blue burlap, and the large wall panels above have a paper of dark rich blues and mahogany, the ceiling is a delicate blue to blend with the wall, the hardware is brass and glass, suspended from the ceiling by a heavy silk rope is a dome shaped silk covered shade mahogany in color, concealing the table lights, at the ceiling is also a cluster of three lights to light the room independent of the lower lights.

Connecting the dining room with the service portion is the the butler's pantry which is epuiped with a china sink with hot and cold water, glazed cases, drawers, lockers, a rack for various sized table trays and a cupboard for extra table leaves. The kitchen is a large well lighted room with a pantry, broom closet, pot and pan closet, etc. The rear hall connects the kitchen and main hall and contains space for refrigerator and servant's toilet.

The main hall is in white enamel with the doors and stair rail done in a rich dark mahogany, the floor is of oak with a border, the stairs have oak treads and are paneled under in wood, there are three landings from the last landing to the left, one enter through a glass door the den or living room a large room 13 x 22, occupying the entire ell of the house and entirely apart from the sleeping apartments, this room has a large brick fireplace, on the chimney breast built into the brick-work is a large plaster cast from "The triumphal entry of Alexander into Barbylon" a built in seat runs the entire end of the room and around to the fireplace, this room also contains the large collection of books which the owner has never before been able to shelve, the sides of this room are formed into large panels in scales with the size of the room and the plaster walls are finished semi-rough and treated to two coats of cold water paint of a rich dark indescribable tone of red, the wood-work is a dark brownish black

From the stair landing going up three or four steps to the right you reach the level of the second floor hall, from which opens out the three bedrooms, the nursery and bath rooms the linen and medicine closet are here also. Between the two front bed rooms is the sewing room with a cutting board which is hinged and drops down when not in use, glass doors open onto the roof over the front entrance the roof is protected by an iron railing. The attic contains the maid's room, which has both heat and light, also trunk room and an unfinished room which later on will be made into a playroom for the young son. The house is heated by hot water and altogether makes a most attractive a livable house.

Councilman Stone And the Mayoralty

Mr. Eugene R. Stone, the Republican candidate at the caucuses to be held November 12th in the City of Quincy, for the office of Mayor, is one of our well known citizens.

He has served four years as a member of the Quincy City Council, three years from Ward Two and one year at large. He has always been an active Republican, for six years a member of the Ward and City Committees.

It is a matter of record and needs no explanation of the successful way in which he handled the finances of the City Committee in the two years he was treasurer of that body.

Mr. Stone has ably represented the City of Quincy as a member of the District Attorney committee, which takes in the whole of southeastern Massachusetts, and at every convention has been able to land a Quincy man in the chair. He has also represented the City on the County Committee.

Mr. Stone's record as a member of the City Council is public, having served two years on the Finance Committee and two years as chairman of the Committee on Police and Fire Department, and he has always done what he thought to be for the best interest of the city, and has used his own judgment in all things pertaining to the affairs of the city government.

He has a special interest n the City of Quincy, has large real estate interests, and believes Quincy, with the proper management, can be made not only one of the best residential cities in the State of Massachusetts, but one of the most successful business centers in the Metropolitan district.

Mr. Stone's attitude regarding his platform was ably and plainly put forth in his open letter to the public and if elected to the office of Mayor, he will use his best efforts for the interests of the citizens of the City of Quincy.

On Sunday Rev. Oliver B. Loud of Lawton, Oklahoma, was in town, and having been invited by the pastor preached to his old friends and neighbors from his great grandfather's pulpit. He being a great grandson of the Rev. Jonas Perkins who ministered to this people for fifty years. His text was "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." His message was given with earnestness and sincerity and held the close attention of its hearers. He spoke without notes.

The members of the Matrons' whist club met Friday evening with Mrs. H. A. Simonds of Franklin street. The souvenirs were secured by Mrs. F. W. Brett, Mrs. M. C Gillette and Mrs. H. W. Bosworth.

The residents in this community were greatly shocked to learn of the death of Miss Eliza J. Mansfield, Friday morning. It seems she had been in rather poor health for some time but concealed the fact from her friends. She passed away at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nichols of Hancock street.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Nellie Tenney of Hancock street, whose father died very suddenly Thursday morning at the Deaconess hospital, Boston. William Van Buren Hinman lived for about twenty years in South Braintree and was one of the founders of the M. E. church in this town. The burial will be at Marblehead.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Demmock entertained, Monday evening a few friends from Boston, Randolph and Braintree, the occasion being the twentieth anniversary of their wedding. Whist was played and the first prize was awarded to Walter Hollinshead and the second to Mr. Spaulding. Ice cream and cake were served and music cheered Mr. Spaulding.

The Daughters of Rebekah were honored Thursday night by a visit from the grand officers. A bountiful supper was served and the evening delared a success.

Rev. Joseph Kyte of Abington, Conn., has been spending a portion of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitman of Frederick road.

Two of Braintree's fast horses will be on the Franklin Field speedway this Saturday afternoon, Altro L. owned by Harry C. Thayer and India Paris by George A. French. Both horses are entered in class A, trotting.

Mrs. A. S. Pennock, Miss Clara Green, Mrs. R. F. Randall, Miss E. Thompson and Mrs. C. F. H. Crathern attended the quarterly meeting of the Woman's Board of Missions at Holbrook, Tuesday. It was an all day session and proved to be very interesting.

Master Russell Randall is attending the East Greenwich academy of East Greenwich, R. I., a town about fourteen miles from Providence, R. I. He was in town several days recently and visited his grandmother, Mrs. R. F. Randall of Pearl street.

The Rev. Charles A. Dawson received word Friday of the death of his father, the Rev. William C. Dawson at Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Dawson had been ill for some time of heart trouble and death came suddenly.

Nearly all the entertainments at the Cochato club are scheduled for Wednesday evenings. They are up to the usual high standard and under the direction of able committees. Next Wednesday evening there will be a bridge party in charge of the house committee.

Miss Sophie Hamilton sister of Mrs. James Cox, a former resident died at Hyde Park, Sunday. Miss Hamilton was nearly one hundred years old. The funeral took place Tuesday and the service was conducted by Rev. William Hyde rector of Trinity church, Weymouth, who also conducted the committal service at the grave. The interment was in the family lot at Village cemetery, Weymouth.

Thomas Baldwin of Lisle street arrived Sunday from a two months' trip through the south and west where he has been traveling in the interest of his firm. He spent a week ago Sunday with Mr. Mercer in Kansas City parents of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Mercer of Lisle street and also met Clayton Voshees of Weymouth in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Emerson of Bellevue road enjoyed the Worcester Musical Festival this fall. The fiftieth anniversary of the Musical association was celebrated and the most noted artists were present to add lustre to the occasion. Horatio Parker's "Hora Novissima" was one of the great works performed.

WEYMOUTH.

An automobile party went to New Hampshire on Saturday last Judge Flint and Mrs. Flint and Mary DeNeil also Mr. Albert P. Worthen, Mrs. G. D. Bullock and Miss Susie C. Richards. All had a delightful trip to Lawyer Worthen's camp among the granite hills.

RESISTING PRESSURE

Large Financial Concerns Appear to Be Holding Their Own

SIX CONCERNS CLOSE DOORS

Savings Banks In Sound Condition, but Require Notice For Withdrawal of Deposits--Issue of Clearing House Certificates Will Release Currency

New York, Oct. 26.—Another nerve-racking day has passed, but the financial institutions of New York have shown extraordinary power of resistance to the pressure put upon them. While it is true that several institutions have been forced to close their doors, yet the depositors are for the most part located in the well-to-do quarters of the city and many of them are people of wealth who have suffered no great inconvenience.

In the light of the general excitement the savings banks have put into effect the rule requiring 30 to 60 days' notice for the withdrawal of deposits. The savings banks, if they continued to make payments, would be obliged to withdraw funds from the national banks, thereby causing an additional strain on the general banking situation. There is no hint that any of the savings institutions are in anything but sound condition.

The institutions which closed their doors yesterday, with the sums due depositors, were: The United States Exchange bank, Harlem, $600,000; International Trust company, about $100,000; The Borough bank of Brooklyn, $4,000,000; the Brooklyn bank, $2,300,000; Williamsburg Trust company Brooklyn, $7,500,000; the First National bank of Brooklyn, $3,500,000.

The First National bank of Brooklyn, the Williamsburg Trust company and the International Trust company were allied institutions. None of these companies had any important business connections with the larger banks which are representative of the city's financial affairs.

On the other hand, a number of favorable features marked the day. The Trust Company of America and the Lincoln Trust company, the two organizations which suffered most from runs, slowly paid out to their depositors and closed with all demands having been met. In the case of the Trust Company of America the run has well night spent its force, as the great bulk of the depositors have been paid off. At the close of business there were a good many in line at the Lincoln Trust company.

The most favorable incident of the day was that the Stock Exchange was provided with funds ample to meet its immediate necessities by a money pool headed by J. P. Morgan, which sent about $15,000,000 to the exchange during the afternoon. The stock market had held relatively firm all day, but when the pool money was offered in the loan corner there was an immediate upturn of prices and the market closed strong at the best prices of the day. As all of the loans made yesterday hold over until Monday, the Stock Exchange situation will not be a factor in the problem that the bankers may be called upon to solve today. An encouraging feature of the afternoon's developments was a signed statement by Clark Williams, the newly appointed state superintendent of banking, affirming the solvency of the local institutions.

A further encouraging development of the afternoon was the decision arrived at unofficially to issue clearing house certificates. The immediate effect of this will be to enable the banks to settle the balances between themselves with these certificates, and thereby release large sums of currency for the regular needs of business.

The decision to issue clearing house certificates is likely to end any further anxiety in regard to the supply of currency. The decision means that hereafter large balances against any particular bank at the clearing house can be settled in clearing house certificates and the bank allowed to retain its cash to meet other demands.

The first issue of clearing house certificates was in 1860 and there were several issues during the period of the war. Other issues occurred in 1873 and 1884. The last occasion on which they were availed of was in 1893.

The clearing house certificate is practically a guarantee by all the banks in the clearing house that the certificate shall be redeemed at par, but the clearing house banks are protected against loss by the fact that first-class securities are required before the certificates are issued. The certificates are used only between banks in the settlement of their balance at the clearing house. They do not appear in general circulation, but by relieving the banks of the strain of large local balances, they enable them to keep their cash reserves comparatively intact.

Late in the afternoon a favorable light was cast upon the prospect of imports of gold by a sudden fall in the rates for foreign exchange. The market has been practically at a standstill for several days, with large offerings of bills and few takers. Yesterday afternoon, however, the rate dropped to 4.83, which practically makes imports of gold possible at a profit. Leading bankers and foreign exchange houses have been looking for this development, but hardly expected that it would come so soon. The tide of gold, once it sets this way, will undoubtedly reach a large volume in view of the considerable amounts due this country for the outgoing crops and for securities.

The fact that the banks and the Stock Exchange will be open for business but two hours today and that Sunday, with its opportunities of calming public sentiment, will intervene, adds to the more hopeful view of the situation taken by the leading financiers, and will do much toward clearing the financial skies before another week begins.

Panicky Feeling at Providence

Providence, Oct. 26.—A temporary receiver has been appointed for one trust company, another company is enforcing the rule requiring a notice of 90 days for the withdrawal of deposits, while a third withstood throughout yesterday an unusual drain, caused by the withdrawal of deposits.

The bank for which a receiver was appointed was the Union Trust company, an institution with headquarters in this city and operating branches in Olneyville, Central Falls and East Greenwich. This is the bank on which the run started Thursday. Long before the hour of opening yesterday there was a long line of depositors waiting to withdraw their accounts and the bank officials decided not to open the institution.

The New England Trust company put into operation the rule requiring all depositors to give 90 days' notice of withdrawal of deposits. The officers of the bank declined to discuss the matter, referring inquiries to the bank's counsel, who stated that in his opinion the company was in no condition to stand a run, and that the 90 days' rule had been invoked for the protection of the bank and its depositors.

Pawtucket Depositors Scared

Pawtucket, R. I., Oct. 26.—Following the posting of a 90-day notice to depositors by the local branch of the New England Trust company of Providence, and the closing of the Central Falls branch of the Union Trust company, runs were started yesterday at all the banks in Pawtucket. With the exception of the New England Trust company, all the banks in the city met the demand.

Pittsburg Exchange Remains Closed

Pittsburg, Oct. 26.—There has been no development to change the optimistic view of the local financial situation. The Stock Exchange was closed again yesterday, and will remain so until Monday. Bankers express themselves as being satisfied with conditions and the outlook.

Wanted to Be Own Counsel

New York, Oct. 26.—Frank H. Warner, formerly a prosperous hat dealer, insisted upon acting as his own lawyer when he was put on trial, charged with two murders. Counsel had been assigned by the court to defend Warner, but the defendant brushed them aside. Warner began personally to examine the talesmen, but after a time, upon suggestion of the court, he gave way to the attorneys who had been assigned to defend him.

Plea of Mental Incapacity

Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Unexpectedly to the prosecution and the crowd in the courtroom, Attorney Taylor, who is defending Charles H. Rogers, on trial for the Olney murders, suddenly closed his case. Only seven witnesses had been sworn by the defense. Two physicians had testified to Rogers' mental irresponsibility and his wife declared that she had lived in constant fear during the eight years of her married life.

Grabbed, but Lost, $9000

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—Two men walked into the sub-treasury here, grabbed $9000 that was being paid and started to run from the building. Clerks and others gave chase and the two men were so hotly pursued that they threw the money away. Both men were captured. The money was in notes and was all recovered. The men gave their names as C. D. Bales and Charles Mathias of New York.

Big Steamer's Rudder Broken

New York, Oct. 26.—Steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which sailed from here Tuesday, broke her rudder while just east of the Grand Banks of Newfoundland and approaching mid-ocean, according to a wireless dispatch to her agent. She is due at Plymouth Monday, but may be somewhat delayed by the accident.

Receivers For Southern Steel

Huntsville, Ala., Oct. 26.—Judge Hundley has appointed E. G. Chandler, J. C. Thompson and Morris Alder, all of Birmingham, receivers for the Southern Steel company. It is expected the plants of the company will continue without interruption.

Mica Trust Out of Business

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The dismissal by Judge Kohlsaat in the United States circuit court of a patent case, on the ground that it lacked equity, is said to put an end to a monopoly which had existed for about 15 years—the so-called mica trust.

Daring Work of Robbers

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Two young men, armed and masked, robbed County Commissioner Blumenfeld and 14 other patrons of William Seifried's saloon in Blue Island avenue, obtaining money and valuables to the amount of $1000.

Big Steel Plant Closes

Columbus, O., Oct. 26.—The Columbus plant of the United States Steel corporation, employing 900 men, was closed indefinitely today. The orders give no reasons for the suspension.

The Scrap Book

How the Old Man Spelled It.

"Look here, Charley," said one young collegian to another who had been asked to run his eye over a letter which his friend had written to his father in which there was the inevitable request for money, "you've spelled jug j-u-g!"

"I know," said Charley, "but, you see, I need the cash and don't want the old man to think I'm putting on airs. That's how he spells it."

A TRAGEDY.

That's him thar on his coffin in the cart,
An' that's his wife a-creepin'
In the crowd, 'way off, an' weepin'.
Oh, the law is jest a-breakin' of her heart!

That's him thar on the scaffol'. See! He speaks.
Thar's a woman thar a-holdin'
Of the hands they'll soon be foldin',
An' the tears is jest a-rainin' down her cheeks.

That's him thar in the coffin, lyin' low,
An' the woman—first to love him
An' the last to bend above him
Is his mother—but I reckon you would know. —Frank L. Stanton.

Emancipated the Mule.

When the mule cars in Jacksonville, Fla., were replaced with modern electrics, an old time darky watched the first car go by with a great deal of interest.

"Um-m-pah, dem Yankees sho is cuyus folks," he mused. "Fus' dey cum down yar en 'mancipate de nigger, den dey cum down en 'mancipate de mule."

He Couldn't Oblige Her.

An American actor, who is old enough not to consider himself a matinee idol by any means, was somewhat pleased in a western hotel when a pretty girl stopped him in the corridor and presented him with a rose without saying a word. He received a note the following day reminding him of the incident and asking him to send the giver of the flower two seats at the theater in which he was playing "as a memento of the occasion."

"My dear young lady," he wrote in reply, "I should be glad to send you the seats you ask for; but, on consultation with the manager of the theater, I have been informed that the seats are all fastened down and that he is opposed to having them sent away as souvenirs."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Helped the Mayor Out.

An imposing cemetery was about to be opened in a western town. The mayor, who had charge of the laying out of the grounds, was puzzled for an appropriate inscription to put over the gate. Riding along in his automobile one day, he was cogitating over different holy texts, so he explained his difficulty to his chauffeur. "What would you suggest?" he asked.

"We have come to stay," was the prompt reply.

Where She Should Live.

"What under the sun," asked a father of his daughter who wanted her to make a match with a young man whose only qualification was the possession of a goodly fortune—"what earthly objection can you possibly find to Mr. Spriggins?"

"He has habits," replied the daughter, "which I detest! When I marry I want a husband who does not smoke, chew, drink, swear, belong to clubs, play cards, stay out late or go motoring by himself."

The father looked at his daughter for a moment or two in silence and then said:

"My child, you are but a stranger here; heaven is your home."

One of Whittier's Admirers.

An admirer of Whittier's works was granted an interview and talked incessantly for over an hour. In speaking of the patiently endured infliction to a friend the poet paused for a moment and then added, with the suggestion of a smile, "And all the time he called me 'Whitaker.'"

Jefferson Didn't Know.

The home of Joseph Jefferson at Buzzards Bay was not far from the Wareham road. Some years ago when certain ladies affected the bloomer costume when riding bicycles Jefferson came upon a lady in such a garb who had evidently mistaken her road. As Mr. Jefferson approached she asked:

"Will you kindly tell me if this is the way to Wareham?"

"Well," said Mr. Jefferson, "I'm sure I don't know; it's the first time I've ever seen any."

No Time For Conundrums.

During the war a teamster with the Cumberland army got stuck in the mud and let fly a stream of profane epithets. A chaplain passing at the time was greatly shocked.

"My friend," said he, "do you know who died for sinners?"

"Damn your conundrums! Don't you see I'm stuck in the mud?"

The Educated Flea.

It was at a banquet. A rule had been agreed upon to the effect that every person called upon for a toast must respond with speech, song or story. As a last number on the improvised programme, a retiring sort of chap was called upon to do his part.

"I—I can't make a sp-speech," he stammered, "b-but I heard that fleas could be trained to do tricks, and some time ago I tried to train one. Would you care to see him?"

A place was cleared off in the center of the snowy tablecloth, and in the middle the owner set the small pillbox he had taken from his vest pocket. Removing the lid of the box the trainer called out:

"Jump out, Henry!" Henry jumped out.

"Play dead, Henry!" Henry played dead to perfection.

"Lie down and roll over, Henry!" Henry did so.

"Jump backward, Henry!" Henry obeyed.

"Jump forward, Henry!" Henry jumped forward with such enthusiasm that he landed upon one of the ladies.

Quite a search was necessary before Henry could be recovered from the lady's clothing, but finally the black mite was retaken and set in his accustomed place.

"Jump through there, Henry!" Henry didn't move.

"Henry, I say, jump through there!" Still nothing doing.

"Henry, jump through there, I tell you!" Still the most abandoned disobedience.

The flea trainer bent low above his pet and looked at him a moment intently. Then straightening up, with a look of relief on his face he said to the woman from whom the flea had been taken:

"I beg your pardon, madam, but that's not my Henry."—Lippincott's.

Jenny's Problem.

A little girl stood at her mother's knee and from the expression of her face was evidently evolving some knotty problem.

"What is it, Jenny?" asked the mother.

"Mamma," said the child seriously, "if I grow up and marry, shall I have a husband like papa?"

"Yes, dear, I hope so."

There was a long pause. Then the youngster asked:

"And if I don't marry, shall I grow up to be like Aunt Susan?"

"I hope so."

Then the little girl put her hands to her head and said in a tone of despair, "Well, I am in a fix!"

Wanted to Be Obliging.

A lady visitor, wishing to be polite to the little son of her host at table, said:

"What a pretty dimple you have, Benny!"

"You think that's a pretty dimple?" said the boy. "Mamma, can I show the lady the one on my stomach?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

Detailed For Baptism.

At the beginning of the civil war Colonel Brown and Colonel Smith were raising regiments in Wisconsin. One day Colonel Smith's chaplain paid a visit to Colonel Brown. On leaving he stated that the cause of religion was prospering in Colonel Smith's regiment; that no longer ago than the last Sabbath day he baptized ten of Colonel Smith's men.

"Sergeant major," exclaimed Colonel Brown, "make a detail of fifteen men to go and be baptized. I'll be blamed if I allow Colonel Smith's regiment to get ahead of mine in point of religion."

Wanted a Permanent Grievance.

An Irish landlord returning home after an absence of several weeks saw one of his tenants sitting on a stone wall whistling away to his heart's content. The moment that he greeted him, however, the man scowled and began abusing him.

"Why, what's the matter, Pat?"

"Matter enough when your stheward is afther evicting me, bad luck to him!"

"Evicted you! What for?"

"The ould liar pretinded me cabin wanted repairing, and as Oi wouldn't let him in, shure, he put me out."

"Never mind, Pat. I hear the cottage you have always wanted is vacant, and I'll let you have that at the same rent."

"No, thanking your honor, I couldn't think of it."

"But why not? What is to hinder you?"

"No, your honor; Oi'd rather have me grievance."

How She Got In.

A lady accosted a little girl who was entering one of the fashionable New York flats where she knew the rules were exceedingly strict and, after some little conversation, said:

"How does it come that you live in these flats? I thought they would not take in children. How did you get in?"

"Why," replied the child, "I was borned in."

Not Needed In His Business.

An Irish clergyman wandering over the fields one quiet Sunday afternoon saw a young fellow well known to him by reputation, accompanied by a fierce looking bull terrier. He was evidently engaged in the reprehensible sport of "ratting." The clergyman, observing the ragged appearance of the man, thought to accomplish good in a roundabout way.

"George Cullen," said he, "I am afraid times are hard with you. Now, if you would mend your ways you could mend your clothes. That dog is probably worth something. Sell him, and you could buy a good pig, which, fattened, would be far more valuable."

"An' wouldn't I look fine goin' rattin' wi' a pig."

"A Devil of a Show."

A Massachusetts town recently installed a trolley system. Pedestrians among the visiting rural population still come to a standstill when the cars go by.

One countryman was watching the other day as a trolley car, with a crowd on board, whirled up the hill and dashed by. He asked a bystander where it came from.

"Down by the depot," was the reply.

"Goshermity, they mus' hev give her a devil of a shuv!" he exclaimed.

THE COWTHORPE OAK.

Tree in Yorkshire, England, Is Said to Be Five Hundred Years Old.

One of the oldest of British trees is the Cowthorpe oak, which has been standing near Wetherby, in Yorkshire, for 500 years, according to veracious chronicle. It is a tree that has been described often and has figured in works of fiction.

It is related of this tree, says the New York Sun, that on occasion as many as forty persons have been gathered within the hollow of its trunk, although it must be confessed that some of these were children. The most recent measurement shows that its girth of trunk at the ground was fifty-four feet three inches, and the cavity was eleven feet by nine feet.

The tree is not now so very tall, reaching only thirty-seven feet into the air. There are twenty-five props about the tree to support the falling branches.

The cavity has been noticeable only since the beginning of the nineteenth century. Many of the earlier measurements show that the tree once was much greater in girth than now.

Aged as it is, the tree bore acorns in 1901 and 1905 and always produces a fair amount of foliage. In 1893 an acorn borne by the Cowthorpe oak was planted near by, and a tree is growing up slowly as a memorial to the parent.

New Chinese Shadows.

The following is a very simple method of producing on the wall a series of new Chinese shadows, the operator as well as the little folk delineated remaining behind the lookers-on, which is sometimes an advantage.

Place a candle on a table and on the wall opposite affix a sheet of foolscap for a screen. Between the candle and the screen interpose some opaque body, such as a cardboard calendar or a large volume. Now, how are you going to project your shadows on the screen when it is already dark? Very simply—by means of a mirror fixed at the edge of a table. The reflection of the mirror will be thrown on the wall either in a parallelogram or in an oval, and if your screen is in the suitable position and you work your pasteboard dolls correctly between them, the mirror and the wall, your audience will see the figures dance without finding out the way it is done.—Magical Experiments.

HOW TO PERFORM THE TRICK.

Said to Be Jacob's Well.

A German traveler, writing from Palestine to a Cologne paper, says: "Our guide, a tall, swarthy, long bearded man, who could earn much money as a model, grew eloquent when we came to Schechem, a place which should be sacred to the Hebrews because its history is so closely interwoven with theirs. Here we saw what is known as Jacob's well, which is in the shadow of Mount Gerizim. It is about seventy feet deep, they told us, and eight feet in diameter. 'Here,' said our guide, 'stood the oak of Moreh, where Abraham, when he came to Canaan, built the first altar. In the days of Jacob, Schechem had become a business town, and here it was that the traders of that time came with their live stock and products of the field to trade.' All its commercial greatness has vanished, but it will attract religious people as long as the well, which is still in a good state of preservation, remains."

Jesse's Adventure.

Jesse, who is just learning to talk, always speaks of himself as "she." Not long since he ran in, trembling with excitement, and announced:

"Oh, mamma, she tum to de henhouse, an' she see er ole hen, an' she shake her wing at she, an' she wun away."

The Clock.

He stands in the corner from morning till night,
A patient old thing with no feet.
His face is as shining and round as a moon,
And, oh, so exceedingly neat.
From breakfast to supper,
Right on through the day,
"Tick-tock, tick-tock! I'm only a clock.
Tick-tock, tick-tock!" he'll say.

His hands are quite tidy and grow on his face.
When I get to be big I shall know
Why one is so long and the other so short,
And one he moves fast and one slow.
From breakfast to supper,
Right on through the day,
"Tick-tock, tick-tock! I'm only a clock.
Tick-tock, tick-tock!" he'll say.

At night, when I'm sleeping, he keeps wide awake
To see what the little mice do,
And he watches the brownie creep in through the blind,
His little red shoes soaked with dew.
From supper to breakfast,
From nighttime to day,
"Tick-tock, tick-tock! I'm only a clock.
Tick-tock, tick-tock!" he'll say.

And when it comes morning I wish he would tell,
I ask him, but never a trace
Of the wonderful doings he saw in the night
Does he show in his sober old face.
From breakfast to supper,
Right on through the day,
"Tick-tock, tick-tock! I'm only a clock.
Tick-tock, tick-tock!" he'll say.

CONSERVATOR ASKED FOR

Aged Man's Love and Financial Affairs Before Probate Court

Greenfield, Mass., Oct. 26.—A bill in equity was filed in the superior court here in behalf of James Robinson, aged 87, by his next friend, Thomas White, against Miss Fanny J. Conaty of Taunton, aged 25. The bill alleges, among other things, that Miss Conaty, by "fraudulently pretending that she loved Mr. Robinson and would become his wife, obtained from him property valued at about $17,000."

A temporary injunction is asked for in the bill to prevent a transfer of the property by Miss Conaty, and the court is asked to order the defendant to turn over the property to the plaintiff. It is alleged that Robinson, on account of his advanced age, was of unsound mind and incapable of managing his own affairs.

Mr. Robinson was married on the 9th of the present month to a young woman in Dighton and he and his wife are understood to be living at Chelsea. Recently, at the request of counsel for Robinson, Mrs. Robinson is said to have turned over property valued at about $3000 which Robinson gave her on the day following the marriage.

It is alleged that the transfer of property to Miss Conaty took place a year or more ago. Friends of Miss Conaty are said to claim that this transfer was affected before the aged man became of unsound mind, even if he is in that condition today.

Mr. White, who filed the bill in equity, also asked the probate court to appoint him conservator of Robinson and his property, but no action has been taken on his petition in the probate court.

Three Women Badly Hurt

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 26.—A large automobile, while going at a rapid rate along Barnum avenue in this city last night, struck and instantly killed Mrs. Ann Leavey, aged 50, who was crossing the street. The car then dashed along and plunged over an embankment, turning turtle and pinning the five occupants beneath. The Misses Kittie and Mamie Brennan and Miss Julia Small were badly hurt. The fourth passenger, Thomas Tierney, escaped serious injury. William Logan, the chauffeur, was placed under arrest.

Wants to Be Mayor of Boston

Boston, Oct. 25.—John A. Coulthurst, secretary of the Democratic state committee, last night received the unanimous endorsement of the Boston Independence League for mayor at the coming primaries. Coulthurst accepted the endorsement and immediately resigned from the Democratic state committee. In his acceptance of the Independence League endorsement Coulthurst stated that his sole issue would be municipal reform.

Government by Commission

Salem, Mass., Oct. 26.—President Eliot of Harvard university gave an address here last evening on "Government by Commission." As the subject is one in which Salem is particularly interested, his address was followed with close attention. The common council of Salem recently appointed a committee to investigate the subject and a similar committee is shortly to be appointed by the board of aldermen.

Autoists Attacked by Boys

Fitchburg, Mass., Oct. 26.—While passing through this city in his automobile last night, Spencer Borden of Fall River, a cotton manufacturer, was attacked with a volley of stones and apples by boys on the street, and one of the missiles hit Borden, discoloring one eye and cutting his nose. After Borden's injuries had been attended to by a physician he returned with his party to Boston.

Left Jewelry In Thieves' Way

North Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 26.—Daniel Chisholm, a traveling salesman for manufacturing jewelers of this town, was robbed of gold jewelry samples, valued at $600, while riding on a trolley car last night. The jewelry was in a sample case, which Chisholm left in the vestibule of the car and which was taken by two unknown young men.

Case of Red-Eye In His Grave

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 26.—Phineas G. Wright of Putnam, 75 years old and known in eastern Connecticut for his eccentricities, has had his grave in the Putnam cemetery opened and a case of whiskey placed beside the coffin, which has been in the grave for more than a year, ready to receive his body when he dies.

Priest's Life Threatened

Taunton, Mass., Oct. 26.—Terrance Hyland, who escaped from the Taunton insane asylum last spring, is haunting his old home here and the police are taking special precautions to guard Rev. James Coyle, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church, because Hyland believes it is his mission to slay him.

Went Ashore In Gale

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Oct. 26.—Schooner Hannah F. Carlton, Bangor for New York, with a cargo of lumber, went ashore in Vineyard sound. The vessel is in a very bad position. Revenue cutter Mohawk is at Wood's Hole, and will render assistance when the gale moderates.

Girls Strike For Higher Pay

Woonsocket, R. I., Oct. 26.—Three hundred and twenty-five girls employed in the shoemaking department of the Alice mill of the Woonsocket Rubber company have struck. They say that they are given only 5 cents a pair and cannot make a fair day's pay.

TEN MEN DROWNED

Swept From Dories During a Fearful Squall on Georges Shoal

Tangier, Oct. 25.—Mogador was occupied yesterday afternoon by 300 French marines, operating in conjunction with a Moorish force under Ghazi Pasha, a general in the service of Sultan Abd-el-Aziz.

Mogador is on the Atlantic coast of Morocco, due west of Morocco City, where Mulai Hafid has had his headquarters and where he was proclaimed sultan of the south. It is in the district in which his forces have been operating. The recent disturbances in the southern part of the empire, including the fight of Oct. 17 between the armies of Abd-el-Aziz and Mulai Hafid, in which the latter was victorious, made it desirable to send an expedition to Mogador. A number of French warships left Tangier for the south four days ago and two days ago 500 Moors under Ghazi Pasha went south by sea, with Mogador as their objective.

Must Look Out For Defects

Boston, Oct. 25.—That it is obligatory upon telephone, telegraph and electric light companies to inspect their poles for interior defects which can be discovered by reasonable inspection, and that such companies are liable for damages for injuries to employes caused by the falling of rotten poles, was decreed in a decision handed down in the United States circuit court of appeals.

Umpire Settles Wage Strife

Boston, Oct. 25.—Charles S. Hamlin, as the umpire in the wage controversy between the 800 members of the Boilermakers' lodge No. 9 and their employers, has rendered a decision granting the men a 9½ percent increase, to be effective from June 3 last. The men asked for a wage increase of 15 percent and the employers offered a 7½ percent increase.

Crew Want to Leave Ship

Stonington, Conn., Oct. 25.—The crew of schooner C. B. Wood, with lumber from St. John, have refused to discharge the cargo, owing to the refusal of Captain Bishop to discharge them. The men claim that on the voyage down the vessel became leaky and on this account they do not want to continue because of alleged unseaworthiness.

Suicide of Young Farmer

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 25.—The body of Otis E. Chandler, a farmer, aged 28, was found in Hilton pond, at Auburn, after a search. It is supposed that Chandler jumped into the pond while temporarily insane.

Daily Paper Suspends Publication

Boston, Oct. 25.—The Boston Daily Tribune, started Jan. 1, 1907, as a financial sheet by C. F. King and converted into a regular morning newspaper on Sept. 16, suspended issue this morning.

Robbers Blew Up Three Safes

New Haven, Oct. 25.—Four burglars entered the postoffice at North Haven and, after blowing open three safes, got away with several hundred dollars in money and stamps.

Gillette Convicted of Perjury

New York, Oct. 25.—The first conviction in the cases based on the disclosures in the legislative investigation of insurance affairs in 1905-1906 was obtained by the district attorney's office last night when a jury found Walter R. Gillette, former vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, guilty of perjury. The verdict was accompanied with a recommendation for mercy.

Indian Outbreak Checked

Pierre, S. D., Oct. 25.—Reports from the Cheyenne river Indian reservation say that the threatened outbreak of Ute Indians yesterday was controlled before dark by the Indian police of the reservation. The Utes showed signs of starting serious trouble, and the situation became so threatening that the officers in charge called for troops to control the uneasy redskins.

Crushed by Molten Metal

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 25.—Fifteen tons of molten metal fell on Agosto Martino, working at the Dominion Iron Steel plant, and he was burned to a crisp. Another workman was badly burned. The man in charge of the machinery for moving a ladle lost control of it, and a sudden jar of the car caused the accident. Martino was working underneath the ladle and he received the whole weight of the metal.

Heavy Bail For Alleged Swindlers

Washington, Oct. 25.—Eugene Davis, who, as vice president of the Capuzaya Mining company, was indicted with Treasurer Bryan on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, conspiracy and embezzlement, has been released on $10,000 bonds. Bryan already had been released on $5000 bonds.

Injunction Against Mine Workers

Wheeling, Oct. 25.—At Philippi, W. Va., Federal Judge Dayton granted a temporary injunction restraining the officers of the United Mine Workers of America from organizing or interfering in any way with about 1000 non-union miners employed by three coal companies located in the Wheeling district.

Bryan and the Presidency

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 25.—William J. Bryan says, regarding a dispatch from Omaha that his brother-in-law, Thomas Allen, has declared Bryan a candidate for the presidency next year, that he did not believe Allen had said such a thing, but if he had the statement was entirely unauthorized by him.

Last Week of Food Fair.

The New England Food Fair and House Furnishing Exposition at Mechanics Building, is drawing to a close. Many interesting and important events are scheduled for this week. There is an entirely new Band, the Banda Roma. With the band as a special added attraction will come the Metropolitan Quartet. The singing contest bids fair to prove most successful. The Old Fashioned circus has proven the biggest kind of an attraction and the fact that it is entirely free to patrons of the fair is a surprise which most people find hard to believe. The same is true of the motion pictures of the Passion play.

More Work for Our Shipyard

A Washington dispatch to a Boston paper says President Roosevelt will recommend to Congress the construction of at least three new battleships of the 20,000-ton class. Mr. Roosevelt understands it is unfortunate for the plan of enlarging the navy that Congress was asked for only one battleship two years ago.

Mr. Roosevelt, has, therefore, decided to ask for three ships this year which will enable the United States to produce a squadron unit in 1911, and also one battleship as a start toward another squadron of the Delaware class, should this type of construction be continued.

THE NEW ENGLAND.

The steel, steam lighter "New England" built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company for the New England Steamship Company, made a most satisfactory showing yesterday on her builders' trial. She is a sturdy vessel, built for hard service and her towing bitts, bulwarks, ice guards and in fact all her ship carpenter work is very heavy. She ran up to Boston, then turned and put out to sea as far as Harding's Ledge, and then came back to the Fore River yard. During the four hour run from 11 A. M. to 3 P. M. she developed a speed of 11.3 statute miles per hour and manoeuvred very handily.

F. O. Wellington, assistant to president of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company was in charge during the trial with Port Captain T. E. Evans in the pilot house and an engine room force of Fore River men under the direction of Engineer J. F. Paige. The owners were represented by J. Howland Gardner, Marine Superintendent of the New England Steamship Company and his assistant William S. Rogers. Freeman Wimes, who will be engineer of the lighter and W. E. Hackett who has inspected her construction were also on board.

When the "New England" left the Fore River dock she was very quickly put into service. The collier Malden had to be moved to let the new lighter out into the stream. As soon as the "New England" was clear she passed a tow line to the Malden and pulled the big collier back into place. "That beats all records," said Capt. Evans, "when a lighter will go into service and do a towing job almost before she gets clear of the dock."

In addition to the officials named above there were on board the lighter General Foreman E. B. Hill, Messrs. Stephen Whorf and F. N. Horton of the engineer force, and Steward Cogan all of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company. Capt. W. E. Hadlock adjusted the compasses of the "New England" during the trial.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

The collier "Everett" arrived at Baltimore yesterday in good time. She is expected to load and get back to Boston on Monday unless plans are changed.

The steam yacht "Starling," tender for the Electric Boat Company, is off the marine railway, after finishing some repairs. She will leave the yard soon for her winter berth.

Charles Miller is "making the dust fly," in the work of excavating for the machine shop extension.

Norfolk Conference.

Frank E. Parlin of this city will preside next Wednesday at the Norfolk conference of Unitarian churches at their annual meeting at Hyde Park. The speaker at the 10.30 A. M. service will be Mr. Myer Bloomfield of Boston, on "The New Neighborliness."

At the 2.30 P. M. service, Rev. Edward A. Horton of Boston, on "The Sunday School at its Best."

There will be discussions at both meetings.

—Public bequests amounting to $9,000 are among the provisions of the will of the late Howard C. Colburn of Westwood, filed at Probate court this week, of which amount $5,000 is for the Baptist church and $2,000 to town and Public Library, respectively.

Arrest Three About 2 P. M.

Edward S. Brown, William A. Ayer and John Carver, three young fellows who claim to hail from Boston, were arrested by Officer Bowtin at the Norfolk Downs depot at 2.15 o'clock this morning, and locked up for being idle and disorderly persons.

Officer Boutin approached the depot from Hancock street and saw a man standing near Poland's building who was apparently on watch. On the platform of the Norfolk Downs depot were three other men stooping down, evidently trying to hide themselves from view.

When the Officer approached the men made an attempt to run. Drawing his revolver he commanded them to stand still or he would shoot. During the excitement one of the four men made his escape. Officer Donovan then showed up and the other three were sent to the police station.

From the three men arrested, the name of the one who escaped was learned to be Stoddard, who also hails from Boston.

Upon being searched at the police station the pockets of Brown were found to contain keys enough to start a locksmith shop. There were 35 keys in all. Among them were Yale lock keys, skeleton keys and ordinary door keys in great variety.

Carver gave his age as 17 years, and his residence 7 Bulfinch place; Brown, as 18 years of age and his residence as 44 St. James street; and Ayer as 19 years and his residence 7 Bulfinch place.

They claimed to be with Stoddard and were waiting at the depot to jump a freight for Boston.

There have been a number of breaks of late in Wollaston and in the vicinity of the Norfolk Downs depot and the depot itself. All of these breaks have had the appearance of being the work of boys, and the police think that the three arrests may be part of the gang that have been making the breaks. They were arraigned in court this morning for being idle and disorderly. The cases were continued until next Monday.

Houghs Neck Mixup.

An inoffensive cow was the cause of a mixup yesterday morning at Houghs Neck between Mary J. Brown and Rose Holbrook. At the start the two women threw bouquets at each other and the argument eventually reached a fever heat. Then Mrs. Brown alleges that Rose threw a bucket of water at her, and followed it up by tapping her on the head with a dish pan. This was too much for human nature, and Mrs. Brown claims to have pushed Mrs. Holbrook away. As she stepped back a bucket of water got in the way and Mrs. Holbrook sat down in it. Falling over, she wrenched her wrist so badly that the services of a physician was needed.

Mrs. Holbrook, however, says that this did not wrench her wrist, but that it was the result of a blow with a sledge hammer in the hands of Mrs. Brown. The affair will be aired in court.

TODAY'S COURT.

Rose Holbrook was arraigned for assault at Quincy. Case continued until Saturday.

Edward S. Brown, John Carver and William A. Ayer were arraigned for being idle and disorderly at Quincy. Cases continued until Monday.

John Whalan was arraigned for trespass of cows at Quincy. Case continued until Dec. 7.

Marcus Arestedes was fined $100 for assault at Quincy.

BOSTON AMUSEMENTS.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE.

It would be hard to imagine a better combination of star and dramatist than that which Charles Frohman has provided for "The Ranger," which will be the attraction at the Hollis Street Theatre for two weeks, beginning Monday, October 28. Dustin Farnum, who plays the chief character needs no introduction here, for he is a Boston boy, and the notable triumph which he made at this house last season in "The Virginian," is still vividly remembered. He seemed especially gifted by nature to portray the brave hero of the western mountains, and his splended effectiveness won nothing but sincerest admiration. Now he comes forward in a new play, "The Ranger," which was writen by Augustus Thomas, whose pictures of western life like "Arizona," and "In Mizzoura," are among the brightest features of the American stage—dramas for Americans, written by an American. The stage settings will be especially vivid, as Mr. Frohman has given the piece a magnificent production, with a wealth of detail which provides each setting with a realistic atmosphere impressively true to the picturesque locale of the play.

BOSTON THEATRE.

The best possible evidence of the merits of the play "Sky Farm" and of its performances by the Boston Stock company is found in the fact that the demand for seats to enjoy its performances continues so heavy that Manager Morison has decided to retain the pretty drama of life in the Berkshire as his attraction yet another week. The audiences test the capacity of the big theatre at every performance and show a keen appreciation of the play and the work of the players. It has been decided to follow "Sky Farm "on Monday, November 4, by the long promised production of "The Soudan," a play unfamiliar to the public of today but pleasantly recalled by play patrons of the early nineties. It is a melodrama in five acts and fourteen scenes, dealing with domestic and military life in England and tells an intensely interesting dramatic story which affords splenedid opportunities for effective scenes and situations.

CASTLE SQUARE THEATRE.

Gounod's "Faust" will be the opera at the Castle Square theatre next week, an announcement that will delight all lovers of grand opera. "Faust" needs neither description nor praise. It has been heard in Boston many hundred times, and its romantic story of Faust and Marguerite has taken hold of many hearts. Its music has caused its popularity the world over, and the oftener it is sung the greater enthusiasm it arouses. For the Castle Square production there will be an all-star cast, an enlarged chorus including all the old favorites of the company, with several important additions. An excellent production and the Castle Square theatre next week will be the mecca of all devotees of good music. Owing to the length of time required for preparation the grand production of Wagner's "Lohengrin" has been postponed till next week.

KEITH'S THEATRE.

Seldom, if ever, has any vaudeville act made so great a hit with the patrons of Keith's Theatre as that scored by "The Song Birds," Messrs. Victor Herbert and George V. Hobart evidently built better than they knew when they wrote this extremely bright operatic travesty for a Lambs' Club gambol, for it is as clever a bit of work in its line as the stage has ever known. The manner in which it is presented has much to do with its success, for a better performance than that given by Mr. William Burress and his talented supporting company could not be asked for. Cressy and Dayne are playing a few farewell weeks in vaudeville prior to starting on their starring tour in Mr. Cressy's new play of New England life. Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, in their rapid-fire act, "The Busy Bell Boy," will be welcome visitors.

THE ORPHEUM.

Enjoying a popularity which has been commented upon by the Boston press as phenomenal, the Orpheum has solved the secret of successful business by submitting each week massive bills of features. From the unlimited resources of the United Booking Offices the Orpheum's programs are selected with care and attention to the demands of New England. The result has been the building up of a patronage that presages big dividends at the conclusion of the season.

For the week beginning Monday Oct. 28, a bill rich in novelties and replete with features has been prepared. Maggie Cline, known to every theatregoer young or old as "The Irish Queen" heads the array of artists. Maggie Cline's "Throw 'Em Down McCluskey" song has long been a classic but on her visit here next week she will have some new numbers to please her admirers.

Florist Ring Passes Away

Michael C. Ring, the Washington street florist, passed away at his home, 467 Washington street, Saturday afternoon, after an illness extending over two years, the result of a shock.

Mr. Ring was born in Ireland in 1830, and came to America in 1855. He has resided in Quincy nearly all the time and for the past twenty-five years has conducted conservatories at his home. His specialty was tea roses and in this line he acquired widespread fame.

He leaves a widow and three children, Daniel J. Ring, who is employed in the Boston Post office; Edward F. Ring, associated with the General Electric Co., and Mrs. Charles S. Byther, who resides in Oklahoma, where she is a teacher.

The funeral will be held from St. John's church Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock.

No Record Against Three Arrested

Edward S. Brown, William A. Ayer and John Carver the three youths arrested near the Norfolk Downs depot early Saturday morning were taken to Boston on Saturday after court by Lieut. McKay, to see what could be learned of them from the Boston police, as well to see if there was any police record against them.

At 7 Bulfinch place where two of the men said they lived it was learned that all three roomed there as well as Stoddard, the man who got away. The fourth man was seen but as he gave a good account of himself he was not placed under arrest.

Nothing was found in their room of an incriminating nature and the landlady claimed that the keys found on Brown belonged to her. She said that the young men usually worked but had not done anything of late.

At police headquarters there was no record against the men and it was learned that they had been arrested in Boston. They were measured and then brought back to Quincy. The cases against them for being idle persons came up in the district court this morning.

Easy Victory For Fore Rivers

In four minutes after the ball was put in play on Saturday, Fore River scored a goal against Marshall's Olympics in the New England Association League on the new grounds at Quincy Point. The kick was by Mellen, and five minutes later Drysdale had another. It took D. McDonald but three minutes to get the third, and six minutes later Gillespie scored one. Another by D. McDonald left the score at the end of the first half 5 to 0 in favor of the shipyard men. At no time did the visitors threaten the home goal, although they made a few good dashes. The Fore River men found it very easy to fool their rivals and passed the ball very cleverly.

In the second half the Fore Rivers might have piled up a much higher score than they did, but four were made inside of eight minutes (three by Fleming) and then the shipbuilders simply played on the defensive. The final score was 9 to 0.

SHIPBUILDING ABROAD.

Lloyd's Register of British Shipbuilding for the quarter ended with September shows a further decline. Sept. 30 there were under construction in the shipyards of the United Kingdom 450 vessels of 1,080,087 tons, showing a decrease of 170,000 tons as compared with the end of June and a falling off of 185,000 tons as compared with the end of September.

The number of steel steamships building is 417 compared with 477 in 1906. Only 31 of the 450 vessels building are sailing vessels.

The Clyde yards, while still retaining pride of place as the largest shipbuilding centre, also show the largest reduction in tonnage under construction as compared with last year.

At Glasgow the work in hand at the end of September amounted to 218,236 tons, as compared with 304,777 tons 12 months previously; and at Greenock 148,120 tons, against 210,464 tons. Newcastle now runs Glasgow very close in the matter of tonnage, and has to acknowledge only a small reduction as compared with the previous year.

As regards shipbuilding in other countries, Germany, as usual, leads the way with 236,348 tons under construction, the United tSates following with 113,072 tons, France 107,955 tons, Japan 80,000 tons, and Italy 71,885 tons.

FORE RIVER NOTES.

The collier "Everett" reached Baltimore at 6 P. M. on Friday, loaded on Saturday, and is now on her way to Boston. She behaved very satisfactorily, although some rough weather was encountered.

The railroad track running down the upper end of the launching slips will have to be cut off before it reaches slip of the North Dakota, as the concrete block which will support the bow of the ship will be placed just where the track is now. The ram bow of the vessel will project a good many feet beyond that point. The concrete foundation for the keel is very heavy.

The lighter "New England" will be delivered to her owners in a day or two, as soon as a few small alterations are made. She may lie here some time.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

President Roosevelt has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation for Nov. 28, which reads:

"Once again the season of the year has come when, in accordance with the custom of our forefathers for generations past, the President appoints a day as the especial occasion for all our people to give praise and thanksgiving to God.

Copyright, 1900, by Rockwood, N. Y.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"During the past year we have been free from famine, from pestilence, from war. We are at peace with all the rest of mankind.

"Our natural resources are at least as great as those of any other nation. We believe that in ability to develop and take advantage of the resources the average man of this nation stands at least as high as the average man of any other. Nowhere else in the world is there such an opportunity for a free people to develop to the fullest extent all its powers of body, of mind and of that which stands above both body and mind, character.

"Much has been given us from on high and much will rightly be expected of us in return. Into our care the 10 talents have been entrusted; and we are to be pardoned neither if we squander and waste them, nor yet if we hide them in a napkin; for they must be fruitful in our hands. Ever throughout the ages, at all times and among all peoples, prosperity has been fraught with danger, and it behooves us to beseech the giver of all things that we may not fall into love of ease and of luxury; that we may not lose our sense of moral responsibility; that we may not forget our duty to God and to our neighbor.

"A great democracy like ours, a democracy based upon the principles of orderly liberty, can be perpetuated only if in the heart of the ordinary citizen there dwells a keen sense of righteousness and justice. We should earnestly pray that this spirit of righteousness and ustice may grow ever greater in the hearts of all of us, and that our souls may be inclined evermore both toward the virtues that tell for gentleness and tenderness, for loving kindness and forbearance one with another and toward those no less necessary virtues that make for manliness and rugged hardihood, for without these qualities neither nation nor individual can rise to the level of greatness.

"Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, do set apart Thursday, the 28th day of November, as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer, and on that day I recommend that the people shall cease from their daily work, and in their homes or in their churches meet devoutly to thank the Almighty for the many and great blessings they have received in the past, and to pray that they may be given the strength so to order their lives as to deserve a continuation of the blessings in the future."

Three or More Candidates

Ex Mayor John O. Hall has announced himself as a reform candidate for Mayor at the coming caucuses. This means that there will be there candidates at least for the Republican nomination, Walter E. Piper, Eugene R. Stone and John O. Hall. Papers may be filed for George A. Sidelinger.

Eight Candidates In Ward One

The Republican nominations for the City Council in Ward One are not going begging this year. All three of the present Councilmen are willing to return, and there are said to be about five others, the list to date being:

Jesse F. Curtis.
Otto Gelotte.
Carle R. Hayward.
George W. Abele.
Joseph L. Whiton, Jr.
Joseph A. Sedgwick.
Edward H. Angier.
John H. Anderson.

Ex-Mayor a Possible Candidate

Among the gentlemen from the Wollaston ward, whom it is said will be candidates for the City Council are W. H. Hull, Ex-Mayor, Charles R. Bryant, ex-Councilman Richard R. Freeman, John Johnson and James H. Broughton.

Gave a Luncheon.

Mrs. Harry Lombard (Grace Batson) of Huntington Park, Los Angeles, Cal., gave a luncheon recently in honor of Miss Lottie Bevins of New York, who is visiting her brother in Los Angeles. Miss Bevins will be remembered by Quincy young people, she being the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Breed at the parsonage during their stay in Quincy. Covers were laid for eight. The decorations of pink and white were from Mrs. Lombard's garden. After luncheon was served, a dance on the lawn was enjoyed music being furnished by the Italian Girls' orchestra of Los Angeles. Miss Harriet Birnie, formerly of Quincy, was one of the guests.

Paid $20 Each.

William Maxwell and Thomas Wafer boarded the 11.27 train from Boston on Saturday night for Quincy. Before taking the train, however, they had taken more or less liquor, and they were in the condition where they thought they could run things to suit themselves.

They commenced their disturbance soon after the train left Boston. All efforts of Conductor Page to quiet them was unavailing. When the train reached Atlantic they were handed over to Officers Boutin and Hultman. In court they were fined $20 each which they paid.

Life Insurance Companies Unaffected.

The financial troubles through which New York is now passing, emphasize the fact that life insurance companies are about the only financial institutions which are not affected. Their membership is widely distributed and their liabilities are of a different character.

Big Majority For Candidate Pinkham

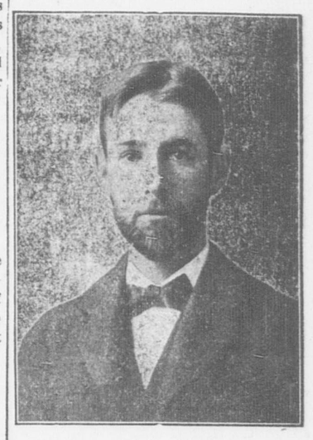
A Boston paper intimates that Councilman Walter S. Pinkham has a hard fight for election as Representative to the General Court, because some of the Swedish Republicans will vote for the Democrat.

With such a clean, able and well qualified candidate as Mr. Pinkham, however, defeat seems impossible.



COUNCILMAN PINKHAM.

Friends of Mr. Pinkham predict his election by a larger plurality than was given Edward J. Sandberg last year, when the vote was:

| | Sandberg. | Flaherty. | Donovan. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Ward 4, pre. 1, | 78 | 290 | 9 |
| Ward 4, pre. 2, | 149 | 220 | 20 |
| Ward 5, | 571 | 112 | 27 |
| Ward 6, pre. 1, | 170 | 93 | 12 |
| Ward 6, pre. 2, | 130 | 99 | 25 |
| | 1098 | 814 | 111 |

This was a plurality of 284 for the Republican nominee.

All the Swedish Republican voters in the district are in Ward Four, and do not number many over 100, as there were only 218 votes cast in that ward for Gov. Guild last year.

The Republicans have elected to the City Council several Swedish Americans, and have given Edward J. Sandberg two years in the Legislature. Others have filled city offices, and it is not probable that the Swedish-Americans will desert their friends at this time.

Mr. Pinkham is sure of a larger vote in Ward Five than was given Mr. Sandberg, although the latter led Gov. Guild by one vote. In Ward Six also Mr. Pinkham is strong and will run ahead of the Governor, while in Ward Four he will have over 200 votes. On a full vote Mr. Pinkham is sure to win.

Representative Hultman should have an easier victory than last year, when the vote by precincts was:

| | Hultman. | Smith | Hanscom. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Ward 1, pre. 1, | 191 | 125 | 19 |
| Ward 1, pre. 2, | 240 | 109 | 23 |
| Ward 2, pre. 1, | 109 | 64 | 21 |
| Ward 2, pre. 2, | 157 | 116 | 28 |
| Ward 3, pre. 1, | 148 | 227 | 16 |
| Ward 3, pre. 2, | 103 | 188 | 30 |
| | 948 | 829 | 137 |

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

Mild today.

State election next week.

Sixty degree temperature at sunrise.

No meeting of the City Council this week.

The recent cold nights have nearly striped the trees of their foliage.

A spin through the country at this season of the year in an automobile is delightful.

Milton Academy and the Groton school both scored six points in their football game of Saturday at Groton.

A number Quincy sportsmen are in Maine woods after game, and their friends are looking forward to venison steak.

The special committee of the City Council, who are considering a system of municipal accounting, will meet tonight.

Quincy lodge of Elks are arranging for a testimonial to be given the ladies who assisted them so materially at the recent carnival.

Members of the Firemen's Relief Association report a ready sale of tickets to the ball to be held next month at Music hall.

Mrs. Stephen Penniman, who has been passing the summer with her daughter, Mrs. James B. Pollock in Whiteplains, N. Y., returned to Quincy for the winter on Saturday.

Nomination papers of the Republican and Democratic parties will be opened Thursday evening, The Republican at headquarters in the Adams building, and the Democratic at the office of Secretary LeCroix on Hancock street.

The fallen leaves when they are wet become very slippery, especially when they accumulate on the street car track. The utmost care has to be used by motormen to prevent accidents. The company keeps its sand car in constant use sanding the rail, but this does but little good. The best thing to do is to rake the leaves into piles and burn them.

New York Banks to Restrict Payments In Currency

PLANS OF CLEARING HOUSE

They Will Aid Materially In Clearing the Financial Atmosphere--Banks Have Interest-Bearing Securities of Very Best Character

New York, Oct. 28.—The feeling among banking authorities is that united action and wise counsels have already accomplished much in providing a solution for the financial problem with which they have been called on to deal during the past week, and that, with remedial plans now further perfected, the promise is strong for the uninterrupted maintenance of financial stability.

Yesterday was marked by the usual Sunday calm, which gave the financial leaders an opportunity to ease the tension of overwrought nerves experienced during the past week. Most of them remained at home throughout the day and there was a noticeable absence of those hurried conferences of recent days.

The departure of Secretary Cortelyou for Washington removed a conspicuous figure from the field, but it was felt that with President Roosevelt's strong support Cortelyou's presence in Washington was favorable to such further governmental assistance as might be required. In the churches many of the sermons were marked by references to the financial situation.

At the clearing house there was much evidence of activity in preparation for the issuance of loan certificates today. Another evidence of activity was the small knot of people gathered at some of the institutions where runs were in progress last week, waiting for an advantageous position on the opening of business today.

The indications are that banking institutions will not pay out large amounts in currency today, except to meet legitimate requirements of their clients for current business. If currency is demanded in unusual amounts it will be refused unless evidence is given that it is required in good faith and for other purposes than hoarding.

Currency will be paid on small checks, where desired, and to provide funds for payrolls and other legitimate and ordinary uses. It may be thought advisable to stamp checks "payable through clearing house," as was done in 1893. The suspension of currency payments at that time extended to all the banks, and also to the trust companies, which were then a comparatively small factor in the situation. Little inconvenience resulted from the payment of checks instead of currency, except in cases where there was special need for currency.

A large force of clerks were at the clearing house yesterday preparing for the issuance of loan certificates today. These are in $5000, $10,000 and $20,000 denominations. In 1893, when these certificates were last availed of, they were of great benefit and aided materially in clearing the very serious situation then existing.

When New York adopted the certificates in 1893 the system became almost universal throughout the country and everywhere the result was beneficial. One prominent banker pointed out that the present situation is one dealing solely with the supplies of currency and that neither the business credit of the nation nor its industrial and agricultural prosperity are affected.

In this respect there is a sharp contract with the conditions prevalent in 1893. At that time many manufactories were closed, railroad business at a low ebb, and all parts of the country were feeling the strain of acute business depression. On the contrary, today the country is extremely prosperous; manufacturing plants are running at full time to keep up with orders demanding output to their fullest capacity, railroad earnings are the highest ever known and the crop prospects are excellent.

The banks themselves have in their vaults interest-bearing securities of the very best character, on which in all ordinary times they would be able to realize large sume of money. It is with these securities and gold commercial paper as collateral that the clearing house loan certificates will be issued to the extent of 75 percent of their saleable value. Thus it will be seen that every $75 of loan certificates issued is secured by $100 worth of property.

Cortelyou Thinks Trouble Is Over

Washington, Oct. 28.—Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou declines to make any statement regarding financial conditions, except to say that he will not return to New York. It is known, however, that the secretary looks for no further trouble among the banks and trust companies of that city.

Easier Feeling at Providence

Providence, Oct. 28.—The period of comparative calm which was manifest in banking circles here Saturday, marking a sharp contrast to the exciting scenes of Friday, is generally taken as indicating that the flurry is over. The adoption of the 90-day notice rule by several of the institutions and the decision of the banking interests to stand together has gone far, it is believed, to set at rest the feeling of alarm which has begun to spread among depositors. All the other local institutions with the exception of the Union Trust company, will open their doors today for business as usual. G. S. Sweetland, receiver of the Union Trust company, which suspended on Friday, is busying himself in examination of the affairs of that institution.

Favorable Situation In Boston

Boston, Oct. 28.—The financial situation in Boston is very favorable, according to all classes of bankers. There has been no abnormal demand for funds at any of the banks. Chairman Jay of the state bank commission says the trust companies are in better condition than last year. The other institutions are also in excellent shape. A special meeting of the Boston Clearing House association has been called for today to discuss the question of issuing clearing house certificates. It is pointed out by bankers that should this action be taken it would simply be a move to head off the possibility of any sudden development of money stringency and should not in any way be construed as a danger signal.

In the Granite State

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 28.—The banks of New Hampshire are not experiencing any inconvenience due to the money stringency. Since the disaster of the 90s they have been more careful of their loans. In Manchester all the banks have large surpluses, and the presidents of each say they anticipate no heavy demand on their resources.

Portland Bankers Not Worrying

Portland, Me., Oct. 28.—Most of the business of the city is transacted through Boston banks and so long as the latter are able to transact their ordinary business the Portland bankers are not worrying.

Time to Invest In Securities

Berlin, Oct. 28.—The violent financial squall in the United States is regarded here as having passed as quickly as it came up. The representative of powerful Holland financial interests, who happens to be here, has sent word to Amsterdam that now is the time to invest in American securities, and many Berlin brokers advise customers to go in for American stocks now, while they are under a pressure that probably is only temporary.

Maine Mystery Not Solved

Danforth, Me., Oct. 28.—The mystery surrounding the death of Harold Whitney, the North Bancroft boy who disappeared on Sept. 24 while hunting, and whose body was found in the Mattawamkeag river, was not solved by the autopsy nor the coroner's inquest. The body was in good condition and doctors could discover no visible means of death. There was no water in the lungs to indicate that he was drowned. Every organ of the body was examined carefully. The jury rendered a verdict that the cause of death was unknown.

To Raise $10,000 For Irish Cause

Boston, Oct. 28.—A monster mass meeting of Irish-Americans was held here last night to welcome to the city Michael J. Ryan of Philadelphia, national president of the United Irish League of America. A resolution was passed voting to raise immediately in Boston the sum of $10,000 for the Irish cause and to give all the aid and assistance possible to John Redmond and the other workers for the Irish national movement.

Fire Destroys Car Sheds

Boston, Oct. 28.—The car sheds connected with the New England Gas and Coke company works at Everett, Mass., were totally destroyed by fire, the loss being $15,000. The fire was started by a spark from the company's engine. In driving to the fire "Jim," one of the most valuable horses of the Everett fire department, was killed by coming in collision with a heavy team.

Roosevelt a "Forty-Niner"

Washington, Oct. 28.—Sunday was President Roosevelt's 49th birthday. He did not depart from his customary Sunday program of worship, work and recreation. Much of the day, however, was spent at the White House fireside in a quiet family rejoicing. Congratulations in large numbers by mail, telegraph and telephone were received at the White House.

"Katy" Road's First Killing

Dallas, Oct. 28.—The record of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, which never before in its history had a passenger killed on its lines, was broken yesterday when a train carrying excursionists ran into a locomotive near Dallas. An engineer was killed, as was a passenger. Some of the 40 injured may not recover.

Searles Tried to End Life

Farmington, Me., Oct. 28.—Information regarding what is believed to have been an attempt at suicide on the part of Harvey A. Searles, who is to be tried on Nov. 4 upon the charge of killing his wife at Chesterfield, is made public. The officials believe that he obtained a drug of some sort and had it in his cell.

San Francisco's War on Rodents

San Francisco, Oct. 28.—This city is waging a war against rats, because rats are carriers and breeders of disease. Rats are worth 5 cents apiece and the city will pay that much for every rat, dead or alive, at any of the stations which have been established.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Tuesday, Oct. 29.
Sun rises—6:13; sets—4:43.
Moon rises—11:16 p. m.
High water—5 a. m.; 5:15 p. m.
Rain in New England will be followed by fair and cooler weather.

Four Trolley Cars at Providence Meet With Disaster

FOUR SCORE PERSONS HURT

Some May Not Recover, While Others May Be Maimed For Life--Forty-Eight Hurt In One Accident and Sixteen In a Second

Providence, Oct. 28.—Forty-eight persons were badly injured, eight of them seriously, as the result of a collision of electric cars here last night. The accident occurred at the junction of Livingston street, Branch avenue and North Main street, and was caused by the inability of the motorman on a north-bound car for Pawtucket to stop his car on approaching the switch, owing to slippery rails. The car jumped the switch which was open to Branch avenue, and crashed into a south-bound car coming from Pawtucket to Providence.

The Pawtucket-bound car was hurled into the vestibule of the Providence-bound car, telescoping it. Miraculously, neither of the motormen were hurt, but almost every passenger in both cars were hurled from their seats and more or less injured by being crushed or by falling glass.

The most seriously injured are Adolph Anderson, chest crushed, right leg broken; Miss Maude Broadbend, shoulder fractured; Miss Celia McLaughlin, neck injured, right leg crushed; Louis Ceppoe, right leg crushed; Miss Smith, internal injuries, right shoulder injured; Miss Towers, back sprained; John Henry, right foot crushed; Fred Anderson, right leg crushed. Most of the above may be maimed for life, with a possibility of several fatalities.

Lloyd Parker was conductor and Fred Vendell motorman on the north-bound car for Pawtucket, which jumped the switch and caused the collision. According to the railway men, the car which had preceded the Pawtucket car turned into Branch avenue and left the switch open on the main line. The motorman attempted to slow up his heavy car in time to turn the switch, but was unable to do so, owing to the slippery rails. Reaching the switch the car jumped and landed across the path of the approaching south-bound car for Providence.

James Mulrain was conductor and Thomas Turgeon motorman on the Providence-bound car. That neither motorman was injured was due to their quick work in jumping across the vestibules of the cars as they came together, and the fact that the front vestibules were not completely demolished by the impact.

The scene inside the cars was one of great confusion and all were crying out with pain, as hardly a person escaped without some painful injury. The seats of the car run lengthwise and so all were thrown into heaps at the forward ends of the cars. The falling glass from the windows cut many, and many were hurt and cut by trying to escape from the tangle of arms and legs.

Several houses nearby were opened up and the injured were taken indoors, while six doctors and a score of ambulances and conveyances were called into service to care for the injured. As the minor injuries were dressed the people were taken to their homes in carriages. The more seriously injured were allowed to remain for a time in the private houses near the scene and eventually all were taken to their homes, none being removed to the hospital.

The second serious electric car collision in this city occurred on the steep hill on Broadway going down into Olneyville square, when two persons were seriously hurt and 14 others sustained less serious injuries. Both of the seriously hurt were girls, one of them, Grace O'Leary, suffering, it is believed, from concussion of the brain. Rose Larkin suffered probable internal injuries.

The accident was caused by slippery leaves on the rails. A small four-wheeled car was standing on Broadway, about half way down a long hill, when a large eight-wheeled car came down the hill and its great weight on the slippery rails was too much for the brakes and it crashed into the Broadway car, pushing it ahead of it down the hill for an eighth of a mile into the square.

There was a panic on both cars. The heavy car was well filled, mostly with women, and when the crash came they ran for the door. Taking in the situation at a glance, Conductor Lyons closed the door and hung on to it, while the frenzied passengers within tried vainly to wrench it open. Lyons' strength and courage prevailed, however, and none of the passengers was able to leap out, as the front vestibule was closed automatically and regulated by the motorman.

Motorman Maynard of the little car stuck to his post and set his brakes hard, but the heavy car was too powerful to be checked. Conductor Killen of the small car also stuck to his post and tried to calm his passengers.

Doctors and ambulances were rushed to the scene and after receiving "first aid" all of the passengers and all of the car crews were taken to their homes with the exception of Motorman McConisky of the heavy car, who was taken to a hospital.

A BRIEF HONEYMOON

Young Doctor Worried Over Gossip Concerning Self and Wife

HAD BEEN QUIETLY MARRIED

Had Left Boston For New York and Tongues Were Set Wagging--Husband Returned to Hub and Took His Life by Shooting In a Parkway

New York, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Albert C. Day, whose husband, an assistant at the City hospital in Boston, committed suicide in that city Saturday, is prostrated at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gustavus Wilson, in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Day, who was Miss Estelle M. Callahan, a nurse in the relief hospital at Boston, believes that her husband killed himself while temporarily insane through illness contracted while caring for scarlet fever patients, his condition being aggravated by worry over reports circulated in Boston after he and his wife had left the city. It was to correct these reports that Day left her and returned to Boston.

Dr. Day's mother and two other sisters also live in Brooklyn. The mother is in a serious condition as a consequence of her son's death. Mrs. Day says that her marriage to the doctor occurred in Somerville, adjoining Boston, last Wednesday, and the marriage certificate was signed by Dr. W. S. Thompson of that city. Miss Harriet M. Callahan, a sister of the bride, was the only witness.

Dr. and Mrs. Day left Boston Wednesday night on the steamer Yale and reached the home of his mother in Brooklyn the next day. Day was about to complete arrangements to come to this city, where he purposed to practice medicine when his hospital experience had been completed.

On Thursday Day received a message from Boston in which it was said that the disappearance of Miss Callahan and himself had created something of a sensation. The physician was greatly vexed over the message and, in talking the matter over with his wife and family, decided that he had better return to Boston at once and put an end to the gossip. Friday he left for Boston and the next word received from him was the news of his suicide.

Mrs. Day and the physician's mother and sisters say that the only possible explanation of the suicide is to be found in mental derangement, due to distress of body and mind.

Body Found In Parkway

Boston, Oct. 28.—The body of a man who had committed suicide by shooting which was found in a parkway off Weld street, West Roxbury, was identified Saturday night as that of Dr. Day, for the past two years an assistant at the Boston City hospital. Two shots were heard by boys, who, upon investigation, found the man's body. Day had opened his underclothing and fired, with the revolver against the skin over the heart.

Dr. Day and Miss Callahan were secretly married in Somerville last Wednesday. The former was a surgeon at the Boston City hospital and the latter a nurse in the Boston relief hospital. The wedding was kept quiet that both parties might continue their work in the hospitals until their time had expired.

Day's body was found Saturday in a secluded spot in Roxbury, with two bullets in the heart, he having committed suicide. It was supposed that both Day and his bride were in New York, where they had gone after the wedding. No trace of the bride could be found until the message came last night from New York. The message also stated that Mrs. Day would remain in Brooklyn for the funeral of her husband.

Mrs. J. F. Callahan, mother of Mrs. Estelle M. Day, stated in an interview last night that she "had heard Dr. Day's mother cut off his allowance because he had married" and gave that as her opinion as the cause of Day's suicide.

Child Burned to Death

Peterboro, N. H., Oct. 28.—An explosion of gasolene which was being used for cleaning clothes caused the death of Florence Durant, aged 7, while her mother suffered terrible burns. Mrs. Durant's condition is very serious, but she is believed to have a chance of recovery.

Over $300,000 For Trousseau

Paris, Oct. 28.—The trousseau ordered by Prince Roland Bonaparte for the marriage of his daughter, Princess Marie, with Prince George of Greece, will rival in magnificence those prepared for wealthy American brides. The cost of the trousseau will exceed $300,000.

Much Damage by Earthquake

Rome, Oct. 28.—The official telegraph agency in its estimates of the damage done by the recent earthquake in Calabria gives 28 towns and villages as having been badly damaged and 32 less seriously so.

Strikers Return to Keys

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 28.—A majority of the telegraphers who have been on strike in Birmingham since Aug. 11 resumed work today. About 100 men walked out at the time of the strike.

BY A CIVIL CEREMONY

Second Matrimonial Venture of Former Archduke Leopold

Zurich, Oct. 28.—The civil marriage of Leopold Woelfling and Maria Magdalena Ritter was celebrated at the city hall here yesterday.

Leopold Woelfling formerly was Archduke Leopold of Austria. He was a major general in the Austrian army when he became enamored of Mlle. Adamovics, a Bavarian actress, and to marry her he renounced his title. His father, the Grand Duke of Tuscany, cast him off, and Emperor Francis Joseph ordered his name stricken from the army list and from the roll of the Knights of the Golden Fleece.

Woelfling divorced his wife last July, his charge against her being that she had offended him by joining a sect of vegetarians and had acquired such eccentricities as taking sun baths without her clothes.

Fraulein Ritter is a daughter of Albert Ritter, who is described as a proprietor of horses. Woelfling is a brother of former Crown Princess Louise of Saxony, whose escapades for several years as the Countess Montignoso have made her notorious.

Tragedy Due to Jealousy

Holyoke, Mass., Oct. 28.—Jealousy probably prompted the killing by shooting of Eugenie Maley in an isolated spot here Saturday night. A large number of small shot entered Maley's body, showing that he must have been shot at close range with a shotgun. Maley formerly lived in Derby, Conn., boarding with the woman who was with him at the time of the shooting, finally eloping with her. They had lived here as man and wife for the past six months. The woman is detained as a witness. The police meanwhile are seeking the former husband of the woman, who is believed to have been in this city Friday and Saturday.

White Plague May Be Controlled

Washington, Oct. 28.—Cordial sympathy with the anti-tuberculosis movement was expressed by Cardinal Gibbons in a letter which has been received by Secretary-General Fulton of the international congress of tuberculosis. The cardinal affirmed the belief that the white plague would ultimately be brought under as complete control as small pox, yellow fever and other scourges of humanity have been.

Negro Lynched and Cremated

Byron, Ga., Oct. 28.—John Wilkes, a negro, robbed two small boys here of 75 cents. When Marshal Johnson made an effort to arrest him the negro attempted to shoot the officer. Quick work prevented this, and the negro was arrested and locked up. At a late hour unknown persons forced the jail, dragged the negro from his cell and riddled his body with bullets. The body was then burned.

Booth Recovers Energy

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—General William Booth of the Salvation Army, who was suffering from exhaustion upon his arrival here Saturday night from Columbus, O., attended three meetings yesterday and was apparently much improved. Booth, who seemed on the verge of a collapse Saturday night, was greatly benefited by a night's rest and showed but slight evidence of his recent illness.

Sailors Rescued In Nick of Time

Bridgeport, Conn., Oct. 28.—Schooner Racer, loaded with sand, sank in Long Island sound. The captain and two men were completely exhausted by their efforts to keep ahead of a leak. The schooner had listed badly before tug Babcock sighted her and sank in a few minutes after the men were taken off. The Racer was worth about $5000.

Too Much Smoke From Briquettes

Norfolk, Oct. 28.—The first test of briquettes as fuel by the navy department was made aboard the torpedo boat Biddle, and while better steaming conditions were obtained than from coal, the presence of considerable smoke was disappointing. The latter, it was declared, was due to the inexperience of the firemen in using the new fuel.

Missing Woman's Body Found

Amesbury, Mass., Oct. 28.—The body of Miss Laura E. Brown of Bradford, aged 50, was found in the Powwow river. Three weeks ago she disappeared, leaving a note indicating that she had become despondent and saying that she was going to drown herself.

NEWS IN BRIEF

In a raid made by the Boston police on three pool and billiard rooms 51 men and two proprietors were placed under arrest, charged with gambling.

Liquors valued at $2000 were seized from seven express companies at Portland, Me. The liquors included many varieties.

Slippery rails are believed to have been responsible for a collision of electric cars at Rehoboth, Mass., by which a motorman and one passenger were injured.

Irving Cousens of Kennebunk, Me., aged 30, was drowned by the capsizing of his sailboat while off Kennebunk beach.

Charles G. Foster, managing editor of Foster's Daily Democrat of Dover, N. H., and equal owner of the papen with his brother, is dead, aged 48. Foster was a native of Dover and had lived there all his life.

Alfonso Wheeler, a negro, once official dentist to the court of Dom Pedro of Brazil, died at Worcester, Mass., of pneumonia, aged 90. Wheeler was born in Canton, Vt., and studied dentistry in the United States.

A LONG BALLOON TRIP

Ben Franklin Sailed From Philadelphia to Berkshire Hills

Springfield, Mass., Oct. 28.—The balloon "Ben Franklin," having a gas capacity of 92,000 cubic feet and said to be the largest in the world, landed in Belchertown after a successful trip from Philadelphia. Professor Samuel A. King, who is 79 years old, was the pilot of the balloon. He is a veteran aeronaut, and the trip was his 452nd flight in the air. Accompanying him were J. E. Rech, Dr. G. H. Simmerman, J. L. Mayer and Dr. T. E. Eldredge, all of Philadelphia.

The party ascended at Point Breeze, near Philadelphia, on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. There were seven men in the car at that time, but the balloon made a landing Saturday evening at Aura, N. J., and two of the party remained there, preferring not to continue the trip.

The balloon reascended at 1 o'clock Sunday morning in moonlight, and took a northerly direction. After several hours the wind changed and carried the balloon apparently directly east. Lights from several cities were plainly seen, but the voyagers were unable to identify any of them. After daybreak they passed over the Berkshire hills and at 9 o'clock landed safely in the middle of an open lot in Belchertown.

Schooner Loses Three Men

Boston, Oct. 28.—Schooner Thomas S. Cromwell came into T wharf with her flag at half mast, her captain and two of the crew having been lost by drowning when the schooner was off Chatham. Miley Ward and Matthew Ward, both of Boston, went out in a dory to take in trawls, were capsized and both men drowned. The next day Captain Williamson fell overboard while trying to repair the mainsheet and was drowned. Williamson was 65 years of age and lived in Somerville.

Probing Construction Company

Boston, Oct. 28.—Mayor Fitzgerald has issued an order to City Auditor Mitchell to stop all payments to the Atlas Construction on the $51,500 contract which the company has with the city of Boston for building a dividing wall between the government and city property at Deer island. The mayor's action is said to have been taken as a result of a request from the finance commission, which is investigating the departmental affairs of the city. Senator Linehan is president of the company.

Three Killed In Train Wreck

Millinocket, Me., Oct. 28.—The bodies of three Italian workmen were removed from the wreck of a work train which was overturned by the undermining of a trestle foundation on the Schoodic railway here. A dozen workmen were thrown into the water of a pond and it was feared at first that nearly all had been drowned. Later, however, all were accounted for, except the three whose bodies were found.

A Republican Ratification

Boston, Oct. 28.—A characterization of the recent Democratic state convention as tending to show that that party stood for men, rather than any principles in the state fight, and a denunciation of the condition of affairs of the city of Boston, were the features of the speeches at a ratification meeting of Republicans held here Saturday night.

Fatal Quarrel Over Liquor

Millinocket, Me., Oct. 28.—Angus Grant, aged 40, was shot through the head and instantly killed in the dooryard of Fred Peluso's place in the settlement known as "Little Italy," and the alleged murderer, an unidentified Italian, escaped. The shooting, it is said, arose over liquor in the barroom of Peluso's boarding house.

Death From Asphyxiation

Haverhill, Mass., Oct. 28.—Mrs. May Currier was found dead in her apartments. Gas was escaping from a tube attached to a heat radiator, and it is supposed that the woman accidentally knocked the tube from its connection and then fell asleep on a couch, where she was found. She was 51 years old and a widow.

Man's Dead Body In Street

Boston, Oct. 28.——A lamplighter going his rounds in the West End of Boston discovered the dead body of a man in the street. There was a bruise on the man's face and one on his hand. In the man's hat was the name "J. Y. Scruton, Lewiston, Me." The man was evidently a laborer, about 60 years old.

A $20,000 Freight Wreck

Otter River, Mass., Oct. 28.—Twenty-two cars were derailed and many of them piled up in a heap on both tracks here, completely blocking both tracks. The accident was caused by the breaking of a wheel on a car near the middle of a freight train. The loss is estimated at $20,000. No one was injured.

Dropped Dead While Campaigning

Taunton, Mass., Oct. 28.—While conducting his campaign as Republican candidate for representative in the Fifth Bristol district, Carleton F. Sanford dropped dead of heart disease in Berkeley. Sanford had been in poor health for several days. He was 33 years old and a lawyer.

Body Laid Long In Woods

Pawtucket, R. I., Oct. 28.—With the bones of the right hand clutching a rusty revolver, the skeleton of a man was found in a piece of woods on the John Hyde farm. It is supposed that the man committed suicide as long ago as last spring.

NEEDLEWORK HINT.

Carrickmacross Lace and How to Make It.

This lace, which is most effective for the outlay of time and money required, comes in two distinct varieties—applique and guipure. The former is a design of muslin appliqued on net, the net being filled in at intervals with embroidery stitches. The guipure lace is without a net foundation, but is worked on the muslin alone. Sometimes the two styles are combined in one piece.

The materials required are a sheer, rather firm lawn, Carrickmacross lace net and two sizes of Carrickmacross crochet thread, which comes in Nos. 50, 80, 150 and 200. Designs ready stamped come on a stiff glazed white cambric.

Baste the net and lawn very smoothly over the cambric foundation. Tack not only on the edges, but in the center also, so that there will be no creases and the pattern cannot possibly slip.

Then outline the design, which shows very clearly through both net and lawn, with 80 cotton, whipping it on with 200 cotton. Guide the coarse thread with the left hand over every line of the pattern and overhand with the fine, as shown in the diagram, taking great care to catch both net and lawn. In making the loops take one firm stitch where the threads cross, but do not stitch all the way round, as the loops must be free when the outside edges of net and lawn are cut away.

Then cut away the lawn from all the spaces, leaving plain net exposed. Cut up close to the outlining thread, but be very careful not to snip the meshes of the net.

At this stage any veins that the pattern may require should be put in. This is done by simply making a long stitch down the middle of the leaf with the fine cotton and overcasting it two or three times to give a twisted appearance.

Next the little spots which are marked at intervals on the pattern by black rings should be made by working a complete circle in buttonhole stitch into one mesh of the lace net.

Certain spaces of the pattern are marked with a cross. These spaces are to be filled up with some of the ordinary lace stitches, well known to amateur lace workers. This should be done very loosely, as if the thread is thrown tight the lace will not be flat.

All the marked spaces being filled with one or more of the lace stitches, cut away from the edge of the pattern both net and lawn, leaving the little loops to form a dainty edging.

The finished work should be placed under a damp cloth and pressed with a warm iron.

Recipes For Pears.

We often let pears go to waste when not choice enough of texture and flavor to be eaten raw. They may be made into good pear marmalade heightened with lemon. This is nice for cake filling and little tarts during the winter.

Pears may be dried and used in all sorts of boiled puddings, instead of part of the raisins and currants that such recipes call for, and also they can be used in dark fruit gingerbreads and raised bread cakes.

Pears may be made into dessert fritters. To do this have them cut in quarters, if of moderate size, or else in long slices. Make a batter by beating the yolks of two eggs and diluting them with half a cupful of water, adding gradually. Into this stir by degrees a cupful of flour into which has been sifted a teaspoonful each of salt and fine sugar. Season with a tablespoonful each of brandy and sirup from preserved ginger. Let this stand for two hours and do not cut the pears until nearly the time to use them. When ready to dip the slices and fry, beat the whites of the two eggs very stiff and add to the batter. Cover each quarter and fry in deep frying basket in hot clear fat. The sauce must be made from more ginger sirup, a little brandy and lemon rind and juice thickened with cornstarch. The proportions are two teaspoonfuls of cornstarch wet in cold water, so that it can be poured into a quarter of a cupful of ginger sirup and brandy each, and two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice. Cook this for five minutes before adding to it a tablespoonful of butter, a little of the ginger cut fine—about one-fourth of a cupful—and a little of the lemon rind grated.

A Rebuke to Brookline.

The Brookline Chronicle doesn't get over the idea that Hyde Park and Quincy opposed Dr. Bowker for unworthy reasons. The Record thinks The Chronicle is mistaken. The nomination of Mr. Stone was not because of any "deals" or a desire to get even. It was a rebuke, if anything, to "deals" of previous years and a proof of the determination on the part of the average delegate that he would not allow any more of that kind of manipulation, this year. Brookline will receive every consideration to which she is fairly entitled, according to her Republican voters in a Republican convention, and not according to her wealth, which is owned by such Democrats as Henry M. Whitney and others, all of whom are estimable gentlemen, but who, properly enough, have no special influence in the nomination of Republican candidates. Dr. Bowker certainly enjoys the highest esteem of Stoughton Republicans, and if Brookline again presents his name it will be received with every consideration to which it is entitled. But in the recent convention, Stoughton "had other fish to fry," and that was all there was to it. Stoughton and other towns loved not Bowker less, but Stone more.—Stoughton Record.

A Literary Hallowe'en Frolic.

One or two literary clubs have asked for suggestions in Hallowe'en frolics that would be a little different from the usual celebration of witches' night. For them and for any other readers who might care for it, try a "Black and White Party." For invitations send out little cards on which are silhouetted black cats whose tails are bristling with importance! Tied by a black ink mark to the tail of each is the outline of a sauce pan on which is written:

Refreshments at the end of the Tale.

Below may be penned the invitation which requests each person to bring an "uncanny tale or verse" of their own writing-unsigned.

Each guest will vie with one another to have this tale as appropriate as possible. The decorations may be differen from the usual Jack-o'-lanterns by having strings of black and white Japanese lanterns swinging effectively—also little paper kites in the shape of black and white cats! The first contest is a "black and white one" as follows:—Upon the wall have white cats cut from stiff paper and mounted on each one a black and white illustration cut from a magazine. Each guest is given paper and pencil to interpret the pictures, each by a single word beginning with "cat." Here are some suggestions:

Some hounds chasing a fox—Catch

An advertisement picture of a bottle—Catsup.

A landscape of swamp with reeds Niagara Falls—Cataract.

The next contest is making a "black and white" masterpiece which is after the manner of old-time childish sport. Each person is given a sheet of white paper, a pen and ink bottle and by dropping a big blot of ink at the top of the sheet are told to make a picture by folding it over squarely. Blotters are provided and the artist can embellish the picture further with ink strokes until it is ready for a "gallery competition." Votes can be taken as to the most artistic, most ludicrous, and so forth.

Then can follow the "Tales" read by a dim light with all the other lights turned low, and as no names are given as to authorship it will make merry guessing as each one is finished; or if wished, each person can record a guess as to authorship and a small prize given to the one guessing the largest number correctly, for the hostess can be in the secret. With the lights still low a fearful witch can make her entrance accompanied by a live black cat. She can tell fortunes by bidding each person pull a "cat-tail" out of a tall vase, and by length of stem, and the shape which scattered fuzz of the "tail" formed in dropping it upon a sheet of white paper, can guess fearful and wonderful signs of fate! If the black pussy is rubbed with phosphorus the effect of the couple will be delightful.

Then can follow supper in a cheery bright dining room decorated with autumn leaves, cat-tails, bitter-sweet and chrysanthemums held in pumpkin jardinieres. A paper owl can make the centerpiece, perched on a mound of fruit arranged amid leaves, and the souvenirs can be kitten bonbon boxes.

LAND COURT.

To Nellie F. Adams and Mabel A. Keay, of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk; James J. Donnelly, of Boston, in the County of Suffolk; William H. Graffon, of Malden, in the County of Middlesex, all in said Commonwealth; Sarah A. Wood, now or formerly of Plymouth, in the County of Plymouth and said Commonwealth, or her heirs, devisees or legal representatives, and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Clara Selfe, of Wellesley, in said County of Norfolk, to register and confirm her title in the following described land:

A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated on Edwin Street, in that part of said Quincy, called Atlantic, and known as lot sixteen (16) on a certain plan known as "Plan of Land owned by the Atlantic Land Company, Quincy, Mass., H. T. Whitman, Civil Engineer" and duly recorded in Norfolk Deeds, end of Lib. 720, page 640; being also a part of the same parcel conveyed by George A. Brown to Clark J. Brown by deed dated April 27, 1895. Said parcel is bounded as follows, viz: Northerly by Edwin Street as shown on said plan; Easterly by lots 14 and 15 as shown on said plan; Southerly by lot 28 as shown on said plan; Westerly by lot 17 as shown on said plan; containing six thousand (6000) square feet of land.

You are hereby cited to appear at the Land Court to be held at Boston, in the County of Suffolk, on the eighteenth day of November A. D., 1907, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted. And unless you appear at said Court at the time and place aforesaid your default will be recorded, and the said petition will be taken as confessed, and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

Witness, Leonard A. Jones, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-sixth day of October in the year nineteen hundred and seven.

Attest with Seal of said Court.

Last Week of Food Fair.

The New England Food Fair and House Furnishing Exposition at Mechanics Building, is drawing to a close. Many interesting and important events are scheduled for this week. There is an entirely new Band, the Banda Roma. With the band as a special added attraction will come the Metropolitan Quartet. The singing contest bids fair to prove most successful. The Old Fashioned circus has proven the biggest kind of an attraction and the fact that it is entirely free to patrons of the fair is a surprise which most people find hard to believe. The same is true of the motion pictures of the Passion play.

"I WOULD RATHER NOT."

[Original.]

Colonel Robert Sears and his daughter Charlotte were all in all to each other. They were only two, there being neither mother nor brothers nor sisters. All Charlotte knew of her mother was what she had been given to understand—that she had died during Charlotte's infancy. Charlotte had often tried to induce her father to talk about her mother without success. She naturally inferred that his loss was too great to dwell upon. She had also asked for a picture of her mother, but was told that none was in possession of the family.

Colonel Sears was wealthy and not only gave his daughter everything she needed or desired, but made her the medium for what he bestowed in charity. Strangely enough, she took a fancy to establish a home for erring women—a small affair in which temporary shelter and encouragement were given to a few who had been unfortunate, but who had not yet started on a life consequent upon their misfortune. Her father was away when she conceived this design, and when he returned he tried in vain to dissuade her from it. But she had a strong will and was loath to yield. Besides, she had gone so far that in case she abandoned her home all that had been invested would be a dead loss. Her father consented, but Charlotte could never persuade him to enter the place. Indeed, it seemed to have some strong repulsion for him.

One day a carriage stopped at the door of the Sears residence. A lady entered the house and asked to see the colonel. He was not at home, and the maid took the message to Charlotte. Charlotte went down into the room where the lady was waiting. She found a woman with a sad face, from which great beauty was fading. She was richly dressed and in appearance and manner a lady.

"Father is not at home," said Charlotte. "Can I do anything for you?"

"I told the maid to announce me only to your father. She did wrong to go to you. No, you can't be of service to me."

Charlotte wondered what business the lady might have with her father, but was too well bred to ask. The lady made no move to depart, but sat looking at the girl, who stood before her waiting. It seemed to Charlotte that she had a very kindly face.

"I fear you are disappointed in not finding my father. If you will give me your name, I will tell him as soon as he comes in that you have been here, and he will call upon you."

"How are you getting on with your home?" asked the lady without noticing the offer.

"My home? You mean the home for girls who have been unfortunate? It isn't mine; I only manage it. Father has given all the money for it."

"You mean, I suppose, by unfortunates, girls who have sinned without suspecting that they were sinning, pure in mind and impure under the law. Would you take in one who had transgressed the law knowingly?"

"I would rather not."

The lady winced.

"Are you very happy?" she asked presently.

"I have nothing to make me unhappy."

"Your father is very good to you. He is a good man."

"Every one agrees with you in that."

"And your mother—was she a good woman too?"

Charlotte's happy expression at hearing her father's praises left her. "I know nothing of my mother," she said. "Nobody seems sufficiently informed of her to satisfy my craving for knowledge of her. But I'm sure she must have been a good woman."

"Why?"

"Well, father seems to feel her loss so keenly. He hasn't the heart to speak of her."

The lady was silent for a time. Her eyes were wandering, lighting occasionally on Charlotte with an expression that Charlotte could not fathom. Presently she said:

"Your mother was a good woman."

"You knew her?"

"Well."

This was the last word the visitor spoke. She arose. Charlotte begged her to tell her more, but a resolute expression came over the visitor's face, and she went out without looking back.

"Who shall I say called?" asked Charlotte. But there was no response. The lady got into her carriage, and as Charlotte listened to the sound of retreating wheels she felt that her longing for more information on the subject nearest her heart would never be gratified.

Later Colonel Sears called at the home of the woman who had visited him.

"You were at the house yesterday," he said.

"Yes. I had an important announcement which I intended to make to your daughter, explaining all to her, but I could not do it."

"What announcement?"

"The man the law called my husband has died in the asylum, where he had existed for a quarter of a century. I went to you to claim you openly and tell Charlotte that hereafter we might live together a happy trio. I dared not break in upon her innocence. Her impressions must remain as they are."

"And you—I?"

"We must continue to suffer."

Charlotte did not see her mother again till after she had been married and had children of her own. Then when her father was old and lonely he engaged a housekeeper. As soon as Charlotte saw her she recognized the visitor of some years before.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

A Correcting of Human Beliefs; Scientific Bases For Religion

The lecture on Christian Science at Quincy Music hall on Monday evening drew a large audience, including ladies and gentlemen from Braintree and Weymouth and Milton, as well as all parts of Quincy.

Samuel Davis, Esq., of Braintree, the second reader of the First church of Christ, Scientist, of Braintree, under whose auspices the lecture was given, was the persiding officer. In introducing the speakers, he said there had been many misrepresentations of Christian Science, and therefore it was a pleasure to have an opportunity to present the tenets in their proper light by an authorized speaker. These lectures were being given all over this country and abroad, and were well received.

The lecturer was Bicknell Young, C. S. B., of Chicago, a member of the Christian Science board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston. He spoke for an hour and twenty minutes, so that a stenographic report is impossible. A brief sysnopsis follows:

That human thought has not always been correct in foundation is self-evident when we remember that there are many contradictory opinions and beliefs concerning God, some of them unreasonable, unnatural and even grotesque. If the right idea is to be gained, wrong beliefs must be put aside. Christian Science gives definitions of God which are found to be universally acceptable and satisfying to human reason. It declares that God, as Cause and Creator, must be infinite Intelligence, and it makes this fact clear to us and available through the use of the word Mind as a synonym for the word God. It declares that God is Mind and that Mind is God. It never confuses the use of the word Mind in this relationship, however, with what is ordinarily called a mortal's mind, supposedly dependent upon matter or brain for intelligence, but on the contrary, uses it always in the divine sense. The thought of God as humanly personal has made His omnipresence seem impossible ,but when we understand that He is Mind, His omnipresence is natural, reasonable, and real to us. In fact, it is clear that this constitutes he actuality of all true existence. Christian Science therefore, in this process of correcting human beliefs and opinions, and giving a scientific basis for religion takes away the old personal thought concerning God and establishes a better one. Suppose one who thinks that God is personal in the same sense that human beings are should possess the skill to depict his thought upon canvas or paper, and were to do so. And then suppose that he were to kneel down and pray to that picture. The act would seem absurd to every one who might behold it. The comment would be, "Why, what is the use of doing that? That picture isn't God. It can't answer prayer nor do anything else." After all, is the situation changed when one not possessing the ability to outline a picture of a person, still continues to think of that picture and prays to that mental image? A mental image is no more God than is a material picture, and it is no wonder that humanity's prayers have not generally been answered—prayers uttered to a mental image.

Christian Science shows that the personality of God is infinite and cannot be depicted or outlined by any human being, nor are we losing anything in changing our thought upon this point, but rather gaining everything. One who feels that he doesn't know how to pray because he learns that this mental image is not God, should remember that he did not know how to pray when he supposed that it was, and that he can lose nothing, either in relation to prayer or to God, by getting rid of a false belief concerning both. Furthermore, Christian Science makes prayer more personally available because it gives the right idea of God which becomes personal knowledge, revealing man's unity with Him. Christian Science also shows that to regard God as changeable or variable has tended to separate us from Him, and has nullified faith. It declares the unchanging, invariable, and constant nature of God—shows that He is good always, and never knows anything unlike Himself. It uses a word to broaden, amplify, and uplift our thought, and that word is Principle, and it uses this word interchangeably with God. This necessarily includes the discernment that God is good, and this word Good is used in Christian Science as a substantive and interchangeable with the word God. Let us remember in all of this that words cannot in any way effect God or change Him in the least. These words and others used in Christian Science are intended to help mortals, and do so in proportion as they are understood. This word Good is an effectual help in relieving one of the wrong consept of God's personality and other incorrect notions concerning Him. Many people have been enabled to take their first steps in the Christian religion through understanding that God is Good and that Good is God. Many intelligent and educated persons have not been able to accept the prevailing thought regarding God's personality and the mystical theories involved in the belief that although He is infinitely good, He also provides for evil, a belief which is more or less promulgated by scholastic theology, and such persons have therefore often considered themselves to be outside of the pale of religion. Yet one never encounters such a person without finding that he will cheerfully admit his belief in good. Although declaring perhaps that he knows nothing of God, because of the association of these old material concepts with that word, he will say that he knows something of good —that he knows it to exist and that he strives continually to manifest it. This shows conclusively that he knows something of God, for God is good, and infinite good is God, and to know anything of good or to manifest it in any degree is to know something of God. There is no such thing as an agnostic or unbeliever in all the earth.

Historic Quincy Past and Present

The Merrymount Lodge 127 and the Norfolk Lodge 178 of the Ancient Order of United Workmen gave an illustrated lecture in Atlantic Music hall on Monday evening, followed by dancing.

Brother Charles H. Johnson, speaker of the evening, chose for his subject "Historic Quincy Past and Present," beginning with descriptions and datas of buildings in which Quincy abounds and covering an area of churches, schools, industries, cemeteries and the interesting exterior and interior of the Fore River works. The stereopticon views accompanying the lecture were of unusual excellence—clearly defined, accurately placed and restful to the eyes. There were 170 views in all. All were taken expressly for this lecture and there were twenty-two pictures of the Fore River.

Brother Johnson covered his subject thoroughly. In his history of Quincy churches, he touched upon the present earnest work and popularity of Rev. E. C. Butler and the excellent picture thrown upon the screen aroused instantaneous applause. The photograph of the new Quincy High school brought out an unexpected enthusiasm from the young boys who occupied the gallery, and when the picture of Supt. Frank E. Parlin succeeded that of the school, the enthusiasm grew into shouts.

Among the industries, Brother Johnson spoke of our granite quarries and showed a view of the railroad that used to carry granite from these rock beds to all parts of the world. He spoke of our electric light plant which is as well equipped as any in the country; of the Quincy Savings banks and its prosperity and of our daily and weekly papers, the Ledger and Patriot, which hold such a sacred place in the heart of Quincy people. A splendid picture of the Ledger office was thrown upon the screen.

One fact that was exceedingly interesting, was the original date of the ringing of the curfew, which first was practiced in the year 1715 and continued for many years.

In the details of the Fore River Works, the battle ships under construction were shown, and afterward the launching and trial trips of the same ships. Also the palatial interiors of such boats as the Desmoines and the Rhode Island.

Brother Johnson ended his lecture with a plea for patriotism—the same patriotism that burned in the hearts of our John Hancock and John Quincy Adams, and the applause that answered his plea spoke for itself.

Dr. A. H. Gilson received his share of praise for his skill in operating the stereopticon.

Dancing followed the lecture from 10 to 12. Beside the last waltz on the order was the title of the music—"Good night, come again."

Milford Priest Defends Hopedale

Milford has a clergyman who has the courage of his convictions and his remarks are significant. At the 10.45 A. M., mass at St. Marys church in Milford on Sunday, the pastor, Rev. Fr. D. F. McGrath, took occasion of the speedy coming to Milford of a new shoe industry to warn his parishoners against any more strikes, especially as $50,000 of the stock is being held in Milford made the well-being of the concern a public and community concern. He defended the industrial conditions in Hopedale, and characterized the resolutions adopted by the state branch of the American federation of labor here, attacking those conditions as false.

"The state branch of the American Federation could not have chosen a more suitable place from which to draw a practical lesson of the evil effect of strikes to any community," said he. "Before they left here, however, they drew a black mark throughout their resolutions in the resolution in which they undertook to criticise the treatment of the Hopedale corporation, and especially one of the principals members of the firm, who holds a high state position as the working men's greatest enemy.

"Now, you and I know this to be false, and I am sorry that some of you here who listened to that resolution when proposed did not have the spirit to repudiate the falsehood. We are here on the ground. We visit Hopedale often.

"We show the beautiful homes and the well-kept grounds of the operatives, the up-to-date athletic fields and parks and the band concerts.

"What would the town of Milford be without this industry? If anything happened to this corporation the business men in Milford would close their doors. The whole fact of the matter is, my dear people, that if every large industry in the country was as prosperous and treated its help with the same consideration as the Hopedale corporation, there would be no strikes."

Several Building Permits Issued

Warren S. Parker, the inspector of buildings, has issued the following permits:

To C. F. Parlee for a house on Arlington street.

To Harry L. Rice for a garage on Adams street.

To Nellie A. Parmenter to alter a shop on Gay street to a two-family house.

To W. A. McConnell for a cottage on Winthrop street, Houghs Neck.

Joseph Lizzotte for an addition to a storage building on Town river.

To Mrs. Susan G. Vinal for a house on Farrington street.

To Mrs. E. H. Sears for a house on Elm avenue.

To Patrick Downey for a store house on Squantum street.

To A. A. Brown for a dwelling on Sea avenue, Houghs Neck.

To Alex Kemp for alterations to office and stone sheds on Gilbert street,

To Samuel DeCento for a shop on Phipps street.

An Improvement.

The grounds of the Faxon property on Saville street near the residence of Dr. Garey have been greatly improved in appearance, and Mr. Faxon is deserving of a vote of thanks by the improvement society. The old trees have been cut down and the plot nicely graded. Then a new fence has been built between the property and that occupied by the grain store. Along this fence row of trees has been set out which will eventually hide the old grain sheds from view.

Mr. Faxon also has a gang of men at work on the grounds adjoining the Nancy Brackett estate. A number of old trees have been cut down and the lot is to be filled and regraded.

Price of Shave Also Goes Up.

On and after Monday, Nov. 11, the price of shaves in the union barber shops of Quincy will be fifteen cents instead of ten cents as now. This raise was decided upon at a meeting of the Barbers' Union held Sunday.

In order that the general public who patronize barber shops for shaves may become informed of the raise and be prepared to shell out an extra nickel, the date of the new rule going into effect was set ahead two weeks.

In the meantime those who object to paying the advance in price will get their razors sharpened ready for use, or start a full beard.

Men who must patronize barbers would not object to the increase in pay if they would have a first class barber shop, but today there are too many one and two-chair shops, necessitating long waits. Then they are not clean, and it is difficult to get hot towels. With large shops it would not be necessary to close at noon on Mondays, to the great inconvenience of many who cannot shave before that hour, but desire to attend a social gathering in the evening; large shops could give one or two men a day off on Monday and others on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Street Railway Union.

A largely attended meeting of the Quincy local of the Street Railway Employees Union was held Monday evening, when President William Walsh made his report of the doings of the national convention at New Orleans which he attended.

The total membership of the Association now numbers 89,000, and it is proposed to raise a defense fund of one million dollars. In order to do this dues will be increased on January first. The next convention will be held at Toronto, Canada, in 1909.

Whist Tournament.

Another whist tournament will be held at the rooms of the Granite City club on Wednesday evening, and it is expected that a large number of members and their friends will take part. The entertainment committee who have charge of the tournament have arranged to serve an appetizing lunch at the conclusion of the evening's play as the following menu will show: Shrimp salad, oil dressing, home made hot rolls and butter, hot coffee and cream, pickles, crackers and cheese. The whist game begins at 8.15, and prizes will be awarded to the two receiving the best scores.

Passing of Steamship Combination Organized by Morse

OLD INTERESTS IN POWER

Officers of Subsidiary Lines Will Conduct Financial Affairs of Consolidated Company, Though There Will Be No Official Reorganization

New York, Oct. 29.—It is formally announced that there will be no official reorganization of the steamship combination which was organized by Charles W. Morse and his New England associates. The finances of the various companies and their management will, however, be in the hands of the interests that formerly controlled the lines. The offices of the Consolidated Steamship company will be closed and President Austin will make his headquarters in Boston.

In the future each line, it is announced, will look after its own equipment, including the new vessels now in the course of construction. As a matter of economy the management of the Mallory and the Clyde lines will be consolidated under the direction of H. H. Raymond. The Santo Domingo service of the Clyde will be taken over by the New York and Porto Rico Steamship company.

After an informal meeting of the newly elected officers and the directors of the Eastern, Clyde, Mallory, New York and Cuba Mail and New York and Porto Rico company, F. K. Curtis, counsel for the Consolidated company, gave out the following statement:

"There will be no official and legal reorganization of the Consolidated Steamship lines at this time, nor will any special financial committee be appointed. However, the power to sign checks and otherwise conduct the financial affairs of the company has been given to the officers of the subsidiary lines and it is understood that Henry P. Booth, Henry R. Mallory and C. W. Englis are to take the lead in working out the problems which undoubtedly will present themselves.

"The reasons for the steps that have been taken are self-evident. Recent occurrences with which all are familiar have reacted on the securities of the combination to such an extent that the holders are unable to use them as collateral; therefore, it was deemed best to place men in charge of affairs whose names are a guarantee of able and conservative management. Every one knows that the lines in the combination are in first class condition and have at least a 6 percent earning capacity. With the old management in control the public need have no fear that every obligation will be met."

Waiting to Hear From Taft

Washington, Oct. 29.—The war department is daily in expectation of hearing from Secretary Taft by cable regarding the proposal to discontinue the work of fortifying Subig bay. Officials are anxious for an early decision owing to the necessity for having the estimates ready for submission to congress early. Work is now being prosecuted at Subig bay under the appropriations designed by congress for other purposes.

Women and Children at Polls

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 29.—Jefferson county, after one of the hottest campaigns in its history, has gone dry by a majority of about 1500. Thousands of women and children paraded the streets with banners, sang hymns and pleaded with voters, and it is believed that they played an important part in carrying the county for prohibition. The vote was the largest ever cast in the county.

Must Not Counterfeit Trademarks

Washington, Oct. 29.—A dispatch from Shanghai announces that a proclamation has been issued by the taotai, forbidding all Chinese subjects in the Shanghai district from infringing or imitating Amercan trademarks. Complaints have come to the department from American merchants that well known brands of goods are imitated by Chinese manufacturers.

At Least Fifteen Cents For Cotton

Atlanta, Oct. 29.—Prsident Barrett of the National Farmers' union has issued a call for meetings of all county and parish unions on Nov. 9 to arrange for holding cotton for a minimum of 15 cents. In his call Barrett urges the farmers to hold together now for that price, as a firm stand at this time will bring them the result they desire.

Agitation Over Censor of Plays

London, Oct. 29.—The petition to the premier praying for the abolition of the office of censor of plays has been issued. It bears 70 signatures, including the names of practically all the prominent authors and dramatists. The names of theatrical managers are notably absent. Most of them favor the retention of a censor.

End of Street Railway Strike

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 29.—The Yonkers street car strike is over and the conductors and motormen returned to work this morning. The company agrees to recognize the union and the question of wages will be arbitrated. The men demanded 25 cents an hour, an increase of 2½ cents.

DOUBTS OF CONVICTION

Cases Against Telephone Company and Individuals Are Dropped

Boston, Oct. 29.—District Attorney Moran's office has ordered nol prossed the indictments against the New England Telephone and Telegraph company in regard to placing persons at work on the request of office holders. Assistant District Attorney Dwyer says that there are doubts as to the conviction on the indictments returned. The telephone company has ceased placing men at work on requests from office holders.

Besides the indictment against the company there were indictments against Senators Bromberg of this city and Macleod of Cambridge, Representative MacDonald and former Representative Gethro of this city and Aldermen Baldwin and Curley.

The company was charged, in substance, with putting men at work illegally at the request of politicians, who were holding public offices at the time the request was made. The individuals were charged, in substance, with requesting the company to give employment to men in violation of the law, the company being a public service corporation.

Alleged Victim of Black Hand

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 29.—Guiseppe Vazzanni, 50 years of age, was shot through the left lung and in connection with the shooting the police are looking for Demetrio Maesanao, aged 23, who is alleged to be an agent of the "Black Hand" organization, with whom Vazzanni had trouble. Vazzanni, in an ante-mortem statement, accused Maesanao of the act, and claimed that he was an agent appointed by the organization to take his life.

Lincoln's Sentence Deferred

Providence, Oct. 29.—Levi C. Lincoln, formerly treasurer of the Woonsocket Electric Machine and Power company, pleaded nolo contendere to two indictments in the superior court, they charging embezzlement of $47,500. In view of the poor health of the wife of the respondent, sentence was deferred for three weeks and bonds of $11,000 were furnished.

As to Fisheries Receivership

Providence, Oct. 29.—The hearing on the temporary ancillary receivership for the property of the Fisheries Company of New Jersey was postponed in the United States circuit court here. It was the disposition of the court that the local matter should rest, pending the settlement of the suit against the company in the court of New Jersey.

Lynn Shoe Man Fails

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 29.—Joseph Dickinson, a shoe manufacturer, whose firm was petitioned into bankruptcy a few weeks ago, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy as a member of the limited partnership of the James T. Lennox company of Lynn. Dickinson's liabilities are $196,709, with assets of $22,699.

Carelessly Handled Gun

Littleton, N. H., Oct. 29.—Charles Cummings, 17 years old, was engaged in hunting ducks on Forest lake. He alighted from his boat, grasping his gun by the muzzle. The weapon was discharged, the shot entering the boy's left breast, neck and arm, causing his death.

Pedestrian Weston's Courage

Portland, Me., Oct. 29.—Edward P. Weston, 69 years old, the champion walker of this country, has started on a tramp from this place to Chicago, a distance of 1235 miles. Weston, in spite of his age, is, he says, in excellent condition.

Steamer Struck Breakwater

Dover, Eng., Oct. 29.—Steamer Finland, from New York for Dover and Antwerp, struck the western end of the southern breakwater last night while entering this port. She sustained extensive damage to her bows. No lives were lost. The tremendous force of the impact greatly damaged the stonework of the breakwater. The Finland is now moored at a pier. Her bows are severely buckled, the plates having been driven back for about 20 feet. A survey has been made and her bulk-

Criminal Assault Charged

New York, Oct. 29.—Raymond Hitchcock, the actor who is starring in this city, was arrested on a charge of criminal assault. The arrest was made by Superintendent Moore of the Children's society and an agent of the same organization. Hitchcock was held in $3000 bail. Hitchcock recently caused the arrest on a charge of blackmail of the brother of one of the girls who made the charge against him yesterday.

Satisfactory Test of Military Airship

Berlin, Oct. 29.—The military dirigible balloon made a trip yesterday and remained aloft for over eight hours. The trip was in the nature of an endurance test. No endeavor was made to cover any great distance, but the machine was continually maneuvered over a small area. It was a most satisfactory voyage.

A Heinze Receivership

New York, Oct. 29.—Lindsay Russell, an attorney, has been appointed receiver for the suspended brokerage firm of Otto Heinze & Co. on the petition of creditors. The firm was suspended from the Stock Exchange after the sharp decline in United Copper.

Conservatives Lead In Russia

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—As a result of two days' balloting, 327 members of the lower house of the Russian parliament have been chosen. They are divided as follows: 159 Conservatives, 98 Octoberists and Moderates, 41 Cadets and 29 Radicals.

A Nation of Cripples Rheumatism Beyond Control

The Only Hope to Rheumatic Sufferers Is Uric-O Treatment

If Rheumatism continues to spread as it has in the past few years, it would seem as though we would before long become a nation of cripples. The terrible destructiveness of this disease is apparent on every side of us. Almost nine out of ten of the cripples one meets had their affliction brought on by Rheumatism. How many thousands more there are that are hopelessly bed-ridden and whom we never see. Rheumatism, fro the very nature of the disease, can never cure itself and if neglected is bound to grow worse rather than better. If you ever have any twings of Rheumatism go to your druggist and get a bottle of Uric-O, the wonderful new Rheumatic Specific. It will cure you and it is the only treatment in the world that will cure you permanently and thoroughly. Uric-O cures by its direct action on the muscles, blood and kidneys. It seeks out the poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acid and drives it from the system and it is only a treatment of such a nature that will ever cure Rheumatism. Liniments and plasters only serve to drive it from one spot to another. They never cure Rheumatism, because it is primarily a blood disease, and until the blood is cleared from the poison, a cure cannot take place.

There never was a case of Rheumatism that Uric-O could not cure and you should not put off taking it. You can test Uri-O free of sharge if you wish. Just cut out this advertisement and send it to the Smith Drug Co., 288 Smith Building, Syracuse, N. Y., together with your name and the name of your druggist, and state that you have never used Uric-O and would like to try it. They will give you free, through your druggist, a 75-cent bottle, which you can test and try to your own satisfaction.

Uric-O is sold and personally recommended in Quincy by E. J. Murphy.

KILLED BY A WOMAN

High Russian Official Becomes Victim of Terrorists

SIX BULLETS IN HIS BODY

Was Sponsor For Three Prison Governors Who Have Been Assassinated--Corsage of Maximoffsky's Assassin Lined With High Explosive

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—General Maximoffsky, director of the department of prisons of the ministry of the interior, was shot and killed by a woman. He was the highest responsible official connected with the Russian prisons and it is supposed that this was the reason he was selected for assassination by the terrorists.

The young woman appeared at the weekly reception of Maximoffsky and remained in the crowded ante-room until it was her turn to enter the general's private office. She then drew a revolver and fired seven shots point blank into the general's body, six taking effect.

The general's assassin, who was captured immediately after firing the shots, unhesitatingly avowed herself to be an emissary of the northern flying section of the Social Revolutionists who had been entrusted with the task of punishing Maximoffsky for the stern regime which he lately had introduced in the treatment of important political prisoners, whom he ordered to be treated like ordinary criminals.

General Maximoffsky was sponsor for Governor Borodulin of Akatui prison, Siberia, who recently was killed at Pakoff, where he was spending his vacation, and who was the jailer of Mlle. Spiridonova, whose three torturers were assassinated. Maximoffsky was also sponsor of Governor Metus, head of the prison at Riga, who was assassinated for alleged tortures inflicted on revolutionary captives, which was the subject of an interpellation of the government in the last parliament.

Colonel Ivanoff, governor of the political prison at Viborg, who was assassinated in September, was another of Maximoffsky's instruments. The introduction of soldiers into the prisons to preserve discipline was one of the most detested measures of Maximoffsky, as a number of male and female prisoners were killed by the soldiers for transgressing prison rules.

The assassination of Maximoffsky apparently was designed to be only a prelude to a greater act of terrorism, the destruction of the headquarters of the secret police, which has been the object of at least three terrorist plots of recent months.

When the slayer of Maximoffsky, who was last night identified as Mlle. Ragozinnikova of Perm province, the daughter of a teacher in the imperial conservatory of music, was taken to the police station her agitated attempts to free her bound hands and reach her breast led to an investigation, and it was found that she carried inside her corsage a case containing 13 pounds of a high explosive, containing a charge powerful enough to blow the entire building and its occupants to pieces.

Mlle. Ragozinnikova's portrait is in that part of the police gallery marked "dangerous suspects." Nevertheless, she remained for three hours in Maximoffsky's reception room unrecognized. She pretended that her mission there wa to secure a better diet for her brother, who is sick in prison. It is understood she will be court martialled this week.

Failure Hits Construction Company

Lancaster, Pa., Oct. 29.—The failure of the Knickerbocker Trust company of New York has caused the McCall's Ferry company to lay off 300 men who were at work on the dam over the Susquehanna river. At the time it closed its doors the trust company is said to have had on deposit about $800,000 belonging to the McCall company. The company is under contract to supply the city of Baltimore with electric light and power service in 1908.

Miners Return to Work

Springhill, N. S., Oct. 29.—The Springhill miners' strike has been settled and the men will resume work at once. After receiving the assurance of the Canadian labor department that a new conciliation board would be appointed to consider any matters in dispute not decided upon by the previous board, the men decided to call off the strike. The strike lasted nearly 13 weeks and the 200 men lost in wages $250,000.

Robbed of $14,000 Worth

Washington, Oct. 29.—William J Payne of Richmond, who is connected with many large enterprises, while on his way from Washington to New York city was robbed of a leather grip containing $14,000 in bonds and stock certificates. The robbery was committed, it is said, while Payne was taking a nap in a Pullman in which he was riding.

Handicapped by Loss of Rudder

London, Oct. 29.—A wireless message has been received from Captain Pollack of the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, saying that he expects to reach Plymouth this evening. The steamer should have reached Plymouth yesterday morning. She was delayed, however, by the breaking of her rudder off Newfoundland.

IF MOTHERS ONLY KNEW

When children are cross, irritable and peevish it does not signify that they have bad tempers; it shows that there is something wrong with the child which it is not able to explain, and which the mother—If She Only Knew—could easily and quickly cure. Mothers, study your child's symptoms; if cross, peevish, nervous, grits the teeth, wets the bed, picks the nose, has variable appetite or bowels; suffers with wind-colic or headache, is irritable and restless, has furred tongue or offensive breath, you may be sure that child is troubled with worms, which cause nearly all the ills of childhood.

Don't delay—disease comes suddenly—a few doses of the wonderful old-time remedy—will give your children that vigorous health which is so important to their future happiness. Dr. True's Elixir expels the worms, if there are any—if not it acts as a gentle laxative and tonic. It cleans out all waste matter from the stomach and bowels, tones and strengthens the entire system of adults as well as children. Dr. True's Elixir is a safe, pure, vegetable tonic and has been the standard household remedy for fifty-five long years.

"I write to let you know how I appreciate your Cascarets. I commenced taking them last November and took two ten-cent boxes and passed a tape-worm 14 ft. long. Then I commenced taking them again and Wednesday, April 4th, I passed another tape-worm 28 ft. long and over a thousand small worms. Previous to my taking Cascarets I didn't know I had a tape-worm. I always had a small appetite."

RUNS ABOUT ENDED

No Further Suspensions of New York Institutions

RELIEF PLANS EFFECTIVE

Large Payments Only In Certified Checks Avert Crisis--Normal Routine Aided by Large Gold Imports--Favorable Turn In Exchange Rates

New York, Oct. 29.—The principal events in the financial district yesterday indicate that the worst of the crisis is over and that matters are settling down to comparatively normal conditions. There were no further bank suspensions and reports are favorable for the resumption of most of the banks which closed temporarily last week.

The engagement of $18,750,000 in gold from Europe for importation to New York was followed later by the announcement of sales of American copper abroad which will further increase the tide of foreign money to this country to an aggregate of over $25,000,000. This, with the rise of good securities on the Stock Exchange and the policy of the trust companies not to pay out currency for hoarding purposes, all contributed to strengthen the feeling in banking quarters and among the public at large.

Runs upon banks practically ceased yesterday, partly because of recognition that they were unnecessary and unjustifiable and partly because of the policy adopted to pay large checks only in certified checks on depository banks. This system of payment worked no apparent hardship and was the cause of very little protest. Small checks were paid promptly in currency, and larger amounts where it was demonstrated that currency was required for purposes other than hoarding.

That the story of New York's bank runs may now be written in a concluded chapter of financial history was the conviction stoutly expressed in Wall street when the banking day ended. Wall street resumed its normal condition, and the thin little line of depositors waiting at the Trust Company of America ceased even to draw the attention of the usual throng in the financial thoroughfare. When the banking day was ended it was announced at the Trust Company of America that the deposits during the day had exceeded the withdrawals by $296,000 and that the company had been able to collect $223,000 of outstanding loans, so that the day's business showed an increase in cash of $519,000.

There was a distinct diminution of the run on the Lincoln Trust company. There were less than 50 depositors in line all day, though many of these had waited in front of the company's building since the closing last Saturday. Officials of the company said that the run was about over.

The run on the Colonial branch of the Trust Company of America, which is the largest branch in the institution, has ended. The few depositors that came to the company's office were quickly paid off and business resumed its normal routine.

Reports from trust companies all over the city state that normal conditions obtain and that incipient runs on several minor companies failed to develop.

The importation of $17,000,000 in gold, which comes largely from London, is having a moral effect almost as important as its direct financial effect. It means that credit can be sustained under the 25 percent reserve law to the amount of $68,000,000 and that the banks will be in position to keep their cash reserves intact, even against considerable demands.

The fact that exchange rates turned so quickly in favor of this country and that the gold was so readily obtained is accepted as an indication that the solvency of American financial institutions is not seriously questioned in Europe.

The executive committee of the Merchants' Association of New York adopted resolutions tendering a vote of thanks and appreciation to Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou and to J. P. Morgan and the bankers and merchants associated with him in the efforts to meet and solve the problems arising from the acute financial situation.

Week's "Holiday" In Oklahoma

Washington, Oct. 29.—"It was a surprise to me," said Governor Frantz of Oklahoma, in speaking of the action of Acting Governor Filson in issuing a proclamation declaring a legal holiday of six days and the closing of the banks of the territory as a result. Filson notified Frantz of his action by telegraph late yesterday. "I do not see how it can injuriously affect the railroad or cotton business," said Frantz, "as seems to be feared on the New York exchanges. The closing of the banks simply protects them against any run that might be made against them."

Bath Trust Company Closes

Bath, Me., Oct. 29.—A run started on the Bath Trust company of this city forced the institution to close. Its paid-up capital is $100,000 and its deposits are estimated at $540,000. State Bank Examiner Shelton says that he will be unable to complete the examination of the bank's condition probably before Wednesday.

La France SHOE FOR WOMEN $3. AND $3.50

Whether viewed from the bottom or the top, the La France bears convincing evidence to the never-lowered quality of its materials. Sole or upper—vamp, tongue or toe-box—each in its appropriate leather is selected, tested, prepared and put together by skilled workmen of long experience in their various lines.

Inside—or out—the test of wear convinces the most skeptical that underneath the surface-beauty of the stylish La France is a durability which only quality-materials and honest construction can assure. A test of these claims by making your 'next' a La France will result to the comfort of your feet and the profit of your purse.

There's just one word that even partially describes the new La France Flexible Welt. "Comfort"—a greater foot-ease than was ever provided by the 'turn'—durable as any 'welt.' It's here in the style you prefer.

MANY HAVE PERISHED

Eskimos Around Ungava Bay Have Resorted to Cannibalism

St. Johns, Oct. 29.—Cannibalism has been resorted to by the Eskimos in the Ungava bay district and on the shores of Hudson strait, according to Rev. Mr. Stewart, an Anglican missionary to the Ungava Bay Eskimos. Stewart states that owing to the severely cold weather and the unusual scarcity of game many of the natives in remote regions have perished from starvation and exhaustion, and the survivors have been forced to cannibalism to sustain life.

Recently the crew of a Newfoundland vessel, which was in Ungava bay, discovered 30 skeletons lying unburied on the beaches. It is supposed that these were the remains of some of the victims of the famine.

The entrance to Ungava bay and Hudson strait from the Atlantic ocean is through McLean strait and Gray strait, at the northerly extremity of Labrador, and about 1000 miles northwest of St. Johns. The only settlements are Georges River, at the mouth of the George river and a station of the Hudson Bay company at the mouth of the Whale river, about 75 miles west of Georges River. The climate is very rigorous.

Greene and Gaynor Lose Appeal

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 29.—B. D. Greene and J. F. Gaynor, contractors, who were convicted of defrauding the government out of a large sum of money, were denied a rehearing by the United States circuit court of appeals. Unless the defense procures a writ of certiorari from the United States supreme court, the defendants will have to spend four years in the penitentiary, besides paying a fine of $2,000,000 each. They were convicted of frauds in connection with harbor improvements at Savannah, Ga. They are now confined at Macon, Ga.

Freshies Forced to Parade

Rolla, Mo., Oct. 29.—As a result of class rivalry 20 sophomores of the state school of mines were routed out of bed and, half clad, tied to trees on the campus, where they remained until daylight, shivering in the cold. The entire sophomore class later captured 75 freshmen, bound their arms with ropes and chains and marched them around town, accompanied by the school band. The trouble arose over the refusal of the freshmen to obey the order of the sophomores to wear green caps with yellow buttons.

Discrimination Is Charged

Washington, Oct. 29.—One of the most comprehensive complaints ever filed with the interstate commerce commission has been presented by two dry goods companies of Wichita, Kan. against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe and 221 railway lines in the country. It is alleged that the defendant lines exact unjust, unreasonable and discriminatory rates on goods shipped from points in the Atlantic seaboard territory to Wichita, as compared with rates to Kansas City.

Argument For People's Lobby

Indianapolis, Oct. 29.—Asserting that good government depends on the quality of public men, and that information of the people as to the action of such servants of the people go to make up that quality, Senator Beveridge last night presided at a meeting in the interest of the People's Lobby, an organization composed of "high-minded men who demand that the people shall have a lobby at Washington."

Archduke Ferdinand Dying

Vienna, Oct. 29.—Archduke Ferdinand IV, Grand Duke of Tuscany, is dying at Salzburg. He is 72 years of age, and has suffered from a nervous malady. The latter years of the archduke have been embittered by the notorious conduct of his two eldest children, the former Crown Princess of Saxony and the former Archduke Leopold.

Alleged Larceny of House and Lot

New York, Oct. 29.—Mrs. May Pepper-Vanderbilt was held for trial by Justice Aspinall in Brooklyn on the charge of the larceny of a house and lot which belonged to her husband. The property, it was stated, was given to her by her aged husband, who recently was declared incompetent to manage his own affairs.

Liabilities of Over a Million

Trenton, Oct. 29.—Receivers were appointed for the Atha Steel Casting company of Newark in the United States circuit court here. The liabilities of the Atha company are scheduled at $1,191,263. The Atha company was one of the petitioners for the appointment of a receiver for the Westinghouse companies.

Booth Lunches With Roosevelt

Washington, Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt entertained at lunch yesterday General William Booth of the Salvation Army and Miss Booth. Booth said that he had entirely recovered from a chill which he sustained in the west and that he was about in his normal physical condition.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The Observations In the Daily Walk

Ed Kittredge is busy these days delivering seaweed.

Club notes will appear in the Wednesday Ledger.

Henry Kolseth of Walker street is convalescent after a severe illness.

The alterations to the interior of Kittredge's store are a decided improvement.

The Quincy High football team was defeated by Melrose on Monday 6 to 0.

A large flock of wild geese flew over City Square about 7.30 this morning going south.

Mrs. David Fulton and Miss Nancy Fulton of Brigg street spent the week end at Harvard, Mass.

Miss Helen Curtin of Atlantic street is recovering rapidly from an attack of typhoid fever.

Preparatiins are being made for the Memorial church fair to be given in Atlantic Music hall early next month.

Miss Helen Newcomb is very ill at her home on Hancock street. Her many friends hope for a rapid recovery.

The official nominations for the State election will be published in the Quincy Patriot this week by the Secretary of State.

Dr. M. E. Drew of Squantum street will soon occupy the lower floor of her new double house on Newbury avenue.

Miss Helen Rhines successfully opened her dancing school in Electa hall, Johnson building on Saturday afternoon last.

One report today says meat will drop ten per cent in cost, and another report says Vermont turkeys will cost forty cents at Thanksgiving time.

John D. Mackay, Esq. will be a candidate to succeed Dr. Hunting on the School Committee this fall if the latter will not seek re-election as reported.

Miss Agnes Dean of Whitwell street has returned from a delightful two weeks visit with her friend Mrs. John Francis Stanley, nee Gill, in the Bronx, New York.

Samuel J. Craddock of Neponset who was recently united in marriage to Miss Alice G. McKenna of Atlantic, was Monday presented by his fellow employes at the Union and Park breweries with a chest of silver.

The afternoon session of the Missionary Institute to be held in Bethany church tomorrow, will be of special interest to children and to all interested in Sunday school work.

George J. Fisher, a resident of Milton since 1898, died on Monday in his 80th year. In early life he was in the mercantile business in Boston, and afterwards purchasing agent for the Boston & Maine Railroad. His wife died last year.

FORE RIVER TONNAGE

Ten Vessels Launched By Company During Year

The record of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company of Quincy for the year 1907 shows ten vessels launched or to be launched. Two of these are submarines and two are scout cruisers built for the United States Navy; four vessels will be used in the freight service and two smaller craft, a lighter, and a tug, will be used in harbor work by the New England Steamship Company. In addition to this the company has in work on hand one United States battleship, the North Dakota, of a displacement of 20,000 tons and four United States light vessels.

Of the ships launched in 1907 the submarines Viper and Tarantula, the collier Everett and the lighter New England have been delivered and are now in service. It is expected that the collier Malden will be delivered and in service within a month. The following is a summary of vessels launched and to be launched at Fore River during the year 1907:

| Vessel and Type. | Tons gross. |
|---|---|
| Viper, U. S. Submarine, | 170 tons displacement. |
| Tarantula, U. S. Submarine, | 170 tons displacement. |
| Everett, Collier, | 3750 gr. tons. |
| Malden, Collier, | 3750 gr. tons. |
| Melrose, Collier, | 3750 gr. tons. |
| Salem, U. S. Scout Cruiser, | 3750 displacement. |
| Birmingham, U. S. Scout Cruiser, | 3750 displacement. |
| Altamaha, Freighter, | 2667 gr. tons. |
| New England, Lighter, | 417 gr. tons. |
| Transfer Tug, No. 21, | 425 gr. tons. |

What is a Watt?

In the electrical world one hears and reads a great deal about "watts." The current is measured by watts; the machinery is rated by watts; lamps burn by watts. To the ordinary layman all this talk of "watts" is as mystifying as the death of the late Akhood of Swat.

The man to whom we owe the idea of the horse power was a Scottish inventor, James Watt, and when the electric unit involving the idea of working capacity came to be formulated the name of Watt was chosen to indicate this unit, just as that of Volta has given us the term volt and Faraday the farad.

Watt considered that taking the average, a London dray horse was capable of doing the work of lifting 33,000 pounds through one foot of distance in one minute of time, against gravity. The introduction of this time limit, the minute, gave the unit of power or the rate of performing work. This or its equivalent has ever since been called a horsepower.

The electrical unit called the watt is capable of being represented in terms of the horsepower ,and in that form it is perhaps more intelligible to those who are familiar with mechanical rather than with electrical expressions. The electrical watt is the product of volts multiplied by amperes, where the volt is the unit of electrical pressure and the ampere is the unit measuring the density or volume of an electrical current.

Careful experiments have demonstrated that 746 watts per second, are equal to 550 foot-pounds per second, or to state the equation in its usual form, 746 watts equal one horsepower. The form in which electrical power is generally sold is computed on the basis of kilowatt-hours. The prefix kilo comes from the Greek Chilioi one thousand. A kilowatt, written also k. w., is therefore 1,000 watts. The kilowatt hour is the performance or work at such a rate that 1,000 watts per second shall be delivered continuously for one hour.

The kilowatt-hour has a special interest for the man who has his office or house lighted by electric lamps, because the kilowatt-hour is the unit upon which the power and light companies base their charges.

Close Bowling By Shipyard Men

An interesting and close bowling match was rolled Monday night at the Granite St. Alleys between the Departments I and E of the Fore River Shipbuilding Co. Team I won the first game by one pin. In the second game Wheeler weakened and Team E with the same score won by ten pins. Both teams did their best in the third game, but there were two weak spots in Team E, and Team I won the rubber by 9 pins. They led on totals by 10 pins.

Team E rollers are far from satisfied and say they will roll the I's again in the near future when they will be in better form.

The summary:

FORE RIVER NOTES.

A dispatch to the Boston Advertiser from Vallejo, Cal., says: all the hand riveters employed on the transport Sheridan at the Mare Island navy yard, have struck, following the refusal of chief constructor Evans to give them piece work at $12, $15 and $25 a hundred rivets. The situation has been telegraphed to the navy department and it is believed men will be rushed here from the east.

Captain T. E. Evans gets many salutes when he takes Fore River ships out on trial trips which a land lubber cannot comprehend. Of course a new ship gets the "glad toot" from all sorts of steam vessels, but a little "personal touch" is put on by a code of short blasts on the whistles which only the initiated understand. One signal goes like this "Three long blasts, then an interval, then a long "T-o-o-t" then a short quick "toot." Translated it means "Salutations to the new vessel; I am a member of the Pilots Association." The answer is three long blasts followed by one long and two short "toots," which means "Thanks for your good wishes, So am I."

News comes from Newport that the naval board of inspection and survey began today the final trial of the submarine boat Tarantula built at Quincy, prior to her acceptance by the government. She was given a three-hour run submerged in Narragansett bay. Tomorrow she will have an endurance run of four hours, and later a speed trial with her deck awash will complete the series of tests.

JAP SHIPS.

As the result of an investigation made in Europe by Admiral Count Yamamoto several changes have been made in the plans of Japan's proposed battleships of the Dreadnought type, says the Boston Transcript. Instead of being over 21,000 tons, as the construction committee recommended, it is now announced that they will displace only 19,000 tons, and that the gun armament will be ten instead of twelve-inch. This announcement is given as explanation of the delay in laying down the first of these ships. This ship is, it is further explained, to be fitted with American turbine engines, and will have a speed of twenty knots, or one knot less than the Dreadnought.

NEW FRENCH NAVY.

The general staff of the French Navy, says a Washington dispatch, has decided to recommend the construction of three battleships of twenty and twenty-one thousand tons, in order to keep abreast with the large ships building in England and Germany. The general staff is divided on the question as to whether the main batteries shall consist of twelve 12-inch or eight 12-inch or eight 10.8 inch guns.

THE NEW FUEL.

The first test of briquettes as fuel by the United State Navy Department was made Saturday aboard the torpedo boat Biddle at Norfolk, Va., says a dispatch to the Boston Transcript. While better steaming conditions were obtained than from coal, the presence of considerable smoke was disappointing. The latter, it was declared, was due to the inexperience of the firemen in using the new fuel. One boiler burned briquettes and the other coal. The trip was thirty miles out into the ocean and a speed of thirty-five miles an hour was reached. The Advisory Board of Fuel and Structural Materials were the guests of the navy officers.

QUINCY'S VOTE FOR GOVERNOR.

"As goes the city so goes the state and nation" is truer today of Quincy than of Hull. It has been verified in every State election since 1889, and in every Presidential election since 1875.

During these years the State of Massachusetts has gone Republican thirteen years and Democratic four years, and so did Quincy. The Nation has gone Republican at six elections and Democratic at two elections, and so did Quincy.

Therefore the Quincy returns November 5 will tell who is elected that day as Governor of Massachusetts. The vote in recent years has been:

| Year | Republican Candidate | Vote | Democratic Candidate | Vote |

Bold Burglars At Avon Post Office

The post-office at Avon was burglarized about 3 A. M. Monday. There were three men in the party, and one of them exchanged shots with Dr. R. A. Elliott who lives near by and discovered them at work.

Mrs. Elliott was first awakened by a noise that she believed to be a pistol shot. It was then about 2 o'clock and she did not awaken Dr. Elliott until she was alarmed by a second explosion.

"It came from the direction of the post-office," she told her husband.

Dr. Elliott surmised that the safe was being attacked and hastened to the telephone to notify Chief Alva M. Butler of the fire department, owner of the building, whom he knew had been watching there a little earlier in the night. In the confusion of the moment he gave the wrong 'phone number, this causing some delay. He went back, secured his revolver and awaited developments.

Another explosion was heard. Dr. Elliott saw a man looking hurriedly up and down the street. He fired. The watcher leaped under cover and in a moment there was an answering shot. Dr. Elliott fired again at the point where he saw the pistol flash, though at that time he could see no one because of the darkness.

"I saw you! We'll be over there!" called out a voice.

"It was the same voice I heard when the post-office was attacked and the safe wrecked last March," said Dr. Elliott in speaking of the matter.

Postmaster Knight found that there was little or nothing missing, only a few pennies and small coins having been taken. Stamps, valuables and government money were in the safe. The damage to the safe itself must be borne by him, however, as the government makes no provisions for safeguarding the postal property.

ULTIMATUM OF UTES

Say They Will Not Work or Send Their Children to School

St. Paul, Oct. 29.—A special to the Pioneer Press from Pierre, S. D., says that parties from the Cheyenne Indian agency report that troops are now marching toward the Ute camp and expect to reach there tonight or tomorrow. The Utes, says the dispatch, are well armed, and say they will fight if any attempt is made to compel them to work or to send their children to school.

A special from Sturgis, S. D., says that late reports indicate that the Sioux Indian police already have the Utes under control.

Banker Killed by a Fall

New York, Oct. 29.—Charles R. Henderson, aged 58, head of the banking firm of Henderson & Co. and an officer and director of several financial institutions, died following a fall from a second story window at his home here. He was found unconscious in the areaway at the rear of his residence and died an hour later without recovering consciousness. It is believed by the family that Henderson suffered from apoplexy and that he fell from the window which he had raised to get the air when he felt the illness overcoming him.

Robbery Story Not Believed

New York, Oct. 29.—Charged with contempt of court in failing to pay to the receiver appointed to take charge of his jewelry business $40,000 or its equivalent in diamonds, Solomon Orbach was arrested. Orbach claimed to have been robbed of $40,000 worth of unset diamonds while in a Pullman car. Detectives investigated the story and a petition in bankruptcy was filed against Orbach, whom the court ordered to turn over the diamonds or their equivalent in money. This, it is charged, he failed to do.

Cannon Campaign Launched

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Speaker Cannon's official campaign for the presidential nomination was started at a meeting of 14 Illinois Republican congressmen at the Auditorium. It was decided to place Cannon in the race whether he acquiesced or not. When Cannon was called in at the end of the three-hour conference, he said: "Well, boys will be boys. Do as you please." Five other Illinois congressmen, who were unable to be present, are also back of the movement.

Jury Quickly Convicts Rogers

Goshen, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Charles H. Rogers was last night convicted of murder in the first degree for killing Fred R. Olney. Rogers is also under indictment for the murder of Willis Olney and Alice Ingerick at the same time. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes before reaching an agreement. Attorney Taylor, for the prisoner, pleaded insanity. The prisoner smiled when Foreman Jones announced the verdict.

Huntington Going to Asylum

Versailles, Oct. 29.—Henry Huntington, son of the late Major Henry A. Huntington, an American who had lived for many years in Paris, has been pronounced by medical experts to be totally irresponsible. He will be sent to an asylum. Huntington recently shot and wounded his two brothers and two sisters at the bedside of his dying father in this city.

Thirty-Nine Years on One Committee

Springfield, Ills., Oct. 29.—The executive board of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church has accepted the resignation of Mrs. J. T. Grarey of Rochester, for 39 years a member of the central committee of mission study. Her place was filled by the election of Miss Elizabeth Northup of Boston.

Used Kerosene to Start Fire

Butler, Pa., Oct. 29.—Three men were burned, two of them fatally, by the explosion of a can of kerosene at Evans City. The men were endeavoring to start a fire to cook a meal, but owing to wet fuel the blaze was slow. They resorted to the use of kerosene with the explosion as a result.

Strike at Navy Yard

Vallejo, Cal., Oct. 29.—All the hand riveters employed on the transport Sheridan at the Mare Island navy yard have struck, following the refusal of Chief Constructor Evans to give them piece work at $12, $15 and $25 a hundred rivets. It is believed men will be rushed here from the east.

Perjuror Gillette Sentenced

New York, Oct. 29.—Walter R. Gillette, former vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company, was sentenced to the state penitentiary for six months for perjury. His conviction grew out of the disclosures before the legislative insurance investigation committee.

Premiums Must Be Paid on Time

New York, Oct. 29.—The report that gained credence to the effect that the big life insurance companies had decided to extend the time within which premiums might be paid proved incorrect. It appears to have been based on a misapprehension of the facts.

Kansas Trust Company Fails

Kansas City, Oct. 29.—The Bankers' Trust company, with deposits of $800,000, has failed. No other banks are affected.

OPEN LETTER

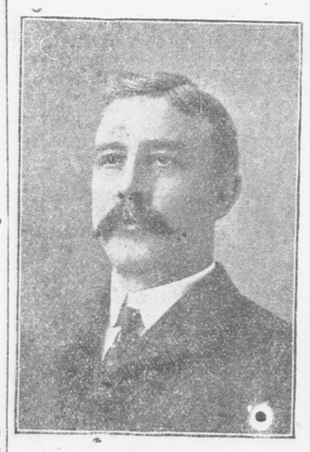
Candidate Piper Writes Relative to Nomination of City Officials

Editors Daily Ledger:

I have hesitated about appearing in the public press as I have the utmost confidence in the judgment and intelligence of the voters, but as there are so many rumors, circulated no doubt in many instances for political effect as to what I would do or would not do, if elected Mayor—rumors so at variance with facts, I feel that it is my duty to state my position so that it may not be misunderstood.



With an experience of six years as a member of the City Council, serving on the most important committees and as President of that body for two years, I feel that I am in a better position to understand the needs of the City and its financial condition than one with less experience in city affairs; that experience is no less valuable in the knowledge obtained of the various departments and in determining the qualification that the appointees to the heads of those departments should have.

My relations with the present Administration have been and are pleasant and friendly, but I am sure the present Mayor would not expect me to, and I certainly should not consider those relations, in making the appointments.

Every Mayor ought to, and undoubtedly does have his own ideas as to how the affairs of the city should be conducted, and to carry out those ideas must have as his subordinates men of his own choice—this I certainly should have.

The office of Commissioner of Public Works in all administrations seems to be the one most criticised—the duties of the office are many and varied—a condition not a theory is before us—and until this condition is changed by a revision of our Charter and Ordinances one man must hold the position.

The present incumbent of that office has been diligent, but under the circumstances I believe a change is desirable, and if elected should make a change not only in the office of Commissioner of Public Works, but in any other office where the good of the service requires it.

The rumor that I am to cause the removal of an efficient foreman of the Water department seems too absurd to deny, but if necessary I will emphatically deny that any change in the Water department is contemplated by me.

Respectfully yours,
Walter E. Piper.

Not In Time To Prevent Marriage

An elopement that tinged of romance was nipped in bud Tuesday by Lieut. McKay, when he made his appearance in Mansfield, armed with warrents for the arrest of Guissippi Guiliani, aged 24 years and Catherine Ardissino, aged 17 years.

The complaint against Gussippi was abduction, and that against Catherine, a stubborn child.

According to the parents of the girl she has not been living at home, and refused to come home. The girl claims that she was put out.

The pair secured a marriage license from the city clerk, the girl giving her age as 18 years although her parents claim she is but 17.

Armed with this they left Quincy on Monday and journeyed to Mansfield. Monday night they remained with friends, and Tuesday were married by the parish priest.

Their honeymoon was hardly an hour old, when Lieut McKay appeared on the scene with warrants and they were arrested. Friends immediately bailed them out and they came to Quincy.

When the case was called in court the certificate of marriage was shown, and the cases were continued until next Wednesday.

In the meantime family differences will probably be smoothed over, and the parental blessing bestowed on the pair.

Two Questions For Candidates

Editor Quincy Ledger:

The following questions have been submitted to each of the seven Representation candidates in the Fifth and Sixth Norfolk districts:

1st--If elected to the General Court, will you vote for the Initiative and the Referendum?

2d—Will you vote for repeal of the amendment to Chap 11 of the Revised Law known as the Joint Caucus or Primary Act?

Serious Accident To School Boy

Robert Jones, aged about 7 years, of Butler road, a pupil at the Coddington school, was seriously injured this noon while trying to steal a ride on the rear end of a team.

The accident happened at 1 o'clock on Hancock street, near the corner of Whitney road.

The boy was on his way to school when he overtook a team loaded with brewers' grain, going toward Quincy.

The boy attempted to get on behind. He hoisted himself up and as he did so his legs went in between the spokes of the rear wheel. The boy was carried over the wheel twice before it was stopped.

Frank Sampson, a street railway conductor, was riding on the seat with the driver, and at the boy's first agonizing scream he jumped off and grabbed the wheel to keep it from revolving if possible.

When the team stopped it was found that his clothing had been nearly torn from him, and that his legs were crushed and mangled in a horrible manner.

The boy was taken into the office of Dr. Sargent and his mother notified. Just how bad the boy's legs are injured can not be learned until the physician completes his examination.

It was given out however that the bones of one of his legs was fractured in several places. No blame is attached to the driver of the team, who left his name with the physician.

The Daily Ledger has recently called attention several times to the danger of boys jumping on behind moving teams and street cars.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

The lighter "New England" having been accepted by her owners, the New England Stamship Company, it is planned to take her to Newport, R. I., on Thursday.

The latest news is that Lieut. Commander Albert L. Key, who has been naval aid to President Roosevelt, is to command the scout cruiser "Salem." Both he and Lieut.-Commander Spencer S. Wood, who is to command the "Birmingham" will reach the grade of Commander before they assume these commands.

The Howard street team gate was used for the first time on Monday and the Howard avenue team gate will be discontinued now except for emergency. Captain Hayden, the gate keeper, is installed in the new gate house.

Engineer J. F. Paige has gone to Nova Scotia for a vacation, which he has been prevented from taking heretofore on account of the trial trips of the vessels, at which times he is in charge of the engine room force under the direction of Chief Engineer Edwards.

Port Captain Ned Evans of Fore River Company, will take the "New England" around to Newport. The rest of the ship's crew will be furnished by the owners.

A cable from Toulon to the Herald says the ill fated French submarine boat Lutin, which sank with all hands at Bizerta in October, 1906, had another accident today and went to the bottom a second time. The Lutin was raised recently and brought to Toulon to be refitted. Today she collided in the harbor with a steam ferryboat, had her bows smashed in and sank. No lives were lost.

Sporting Notes At the Y. M. C. A.

The first regular practice of the Basket ball teams of the Y. M. C. A. was held Tuesday night. Some of the old timers and a lot of new men showed up. Some of the new material made an excellent impression, and last year's players must hustle to make the team. Manager Howard is busy arranging a schedule which will include most of the associations near Boston. The first game will be played in Abington, Nov. 9.

Entries are coming in for the Thanksgiving run which is open to members of the Y. M. C. A. The distance will be between five and ten miles and good prizes will be given. Those who expect to run should begin training at once.

The gym classes for seniors, juniors, boys, intermediates, employed boys, and business men, are all running and steadily increasing in attendance.

Saturday evening Nov. 2, will be the first ladies' night. Regular class work, games and basket ball will be the program. The public are cordially invited to attend.

—Save the broken lens; we can match it. We grind them at 1473 Hancock st., Quincy. You may watch the operation. Williams Tel. 279-3.

☞On account of the inclement weather it was deemed advisable to postpone the entertainment, of the Y. M. C. A. Mandolin club, at the Wollaston M. E. church from last evening to next Tuesday, Nov. 5.

Reception to New Grand Guardian

Mrs. Emma E. Marnock was tendered a reception Tuesday evening, October 29th, at Electra hall, by Maple lodge, K. and L. of H., in honor of her election as grand guardian of the Grand lodge in Massachusetts. The large number present and the enthusiasm manifested, showed the esteem in which she is held, and the appreciation of the members of the lodge for her good work in their interest for the past twenty-four years.

Edwin B. Langley, in a felicitious speech, presented her in behalf of the members of the lodge, a gold locket and chain, inscribed with the monogram of the lodge. Mrs. Marnock feelingly responded.

She was assisted in receiving by Protector, Rose H. Reed and Vice Guardian Albert H. Taber. The hall was beautifully decorated with Japanese lanterns, potted plants and colored lights, and reflected great credit on the committee in charge. Mrs. B. McLeod, chairman, assisted by an able corps of ladies.

A very pleasing entertainment was tendered under the supervision of Mrs. E. L. Rhines which included: Piano solo by Miss Bessie Bowles, reading by Mrs. Rose A. Reed song by Mrs. Laura F. Tirrell, song by Master Bert Reed, original poem by Mrs. A. E. Fletcher, song by Joseph Beal, and reading by C. Beal

Refreshments were served from booths ,prettily decorated and presided over by Mrs. E. B. Langley, Mrs. Adelaide McGrath, Mrs. C C. Tirrell and Mrs. Edith Fletcher.

There were speeches by Past Grand Protector George W. Viles, D. D. G. P. Lottie Eldridge of Brockton, and G. G. Marie Vining. A very pleasant evening was passed by all.

Funeral of Florist Ring

The funeral of Michael C. Ring, the well known florist, was held Tuesday from St. John's church, and was very largely attended. Mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. John J. Coan, and on the altar was Rev. Fr. Fitzpatrick of St. Gregory's church, Milton, a lifelong friend of Mr. Ring.

Music during the mass was by the regular choir, assisted by John McDavitt soloist from the church of the Immaculate Conception, Boston, who beautifully rendered the hymn, "I love to hear my Saviour's voice."

There were many beautiful flowers, including a standing wreath from the Boston post office employes, and a cross from Quincy lodge of Elks.

The burial was at St. Mary's cemetery, the bearers being: T. J. Ring, T. J. Crowley, M. J. White, J. A. Avery, C. Leary and J. Ring.

Double Tracking Of Hancock street

The delay in the arrival of the special work for the double tracking of Hancock street between City Square and School street have prevented work being commenced. The special work was ordered early in July, but up to the present time only half of it has arrived.

The balance is due to arrive any day, and then work will be rushed. According to street railway officials but ten days will be required to complete the job after work has been commenced, and passengers will not be inconvienced by having to change cars but two days.

A Newsy Record Of Little Things

Councilman at large J. Leonard Ferguson has decided to be a candidate for re-election.

Ex-Councilman Moir of Atlantic, who served in the Council of 1906, will be a candidate again this year.

The present indications are that there will be many new faces in next year's City Council.

There was a sudden change in the weather last night. From a hard rain the weather cleared and came out sharp and cold.

The engagement is announced of Miss Lydia Laurette Pierce of Quincy, to Mr. George Kendall Boutelle, of Milford, New Hampshire.

John Adams Chapter, Junior Sons and Daughters of the Revolution are to have a Hallowe'en party tomorrow evening at the birthplace of President John Adams.

Mr. Charles H. Johnson is to give his lecture, Historic Quincy, illustrated by stereopticon, under the auspices of the Quincy Historical society this evening at First Church chapel.

J. T. Fuller and E. E. Hoxie of Wollaston have been playing great whist the past month, securing top scores at the tournaments of Oct. 3, 5. 10, and 24. They are a team hard to beat.

Work of Morgan Memorial, Boston, is to be the subject of the Wollaston Young People's Religious union at its meeting in the vestry of the Unitarian church on Sunday evening. Mr. George E. Brown is in charge of the meeting and the speaker will be Rev. E. J. Helms.

Andrew S. Odom, of this city, is in the extreme western part of the state. The past week was spent in Adams, the home of Greylock Mountain, the highest elevation in Massachusetts. Upon the summit, there is a four deck observatory, which overlooks any nearby trees and gives an unsurpassed view of the surrounding country.

EIGHT MILES IN AIR

Temperature and Air Currents Scientifically Recorded

PROF. ROTCH'S EXPERIMENTS

Balloons Carried Instruments Which Recorded Temperature of 111 Degrees Below Zero at Height of 46,680 Feet--Air Above Is Warmer

New York, Oct. 30.—That a balloon has reached a height of 46,680 feet and there recorded a temperature of 111 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, was one of the startling statements made in the course of an address at the last day's session of the aeronautical congress here by Professor A. L. Rotch of the Blue Hill observatory, Boston.

Professor Rotch told of his long series of experiments with miniature balloons for the purpose of testing air currents and obtaining temperatures at high altitudes. The balloons are made of rubber and carry special instruments for recording the distance traveled, altitude and temperature, which are attached to a parachute. When at a great height the hydrogen with which the balloons are filled expands to an extent where the balloon itself explodes and the parachute carrying the instruments and the records made on the trip floats down to the earth.

During the course of his experiments Rotch has sent up some 80 balloons and a great number of the parachutes have been returned to him, out of the last 56 sent up all but three having been sent back to him by the finders, a reward of $2 being paid by him for the return of the instruments and records. Practically all of the temperature balloons have been sent up from St. Louis in the past two years.

When the balloons are released they travel upwards with great velocity for about two hours and then remain nearly stationary for another hour before they explode. The descent of the parachute requires about an hour more. The longest flight of any one of the balloons was 155 miles.

Professor Rotch said that his experiments also showed that at a distance of about eight miles from the earth's surface, in the temperate zone, the temperature recorded, which had been falling at the rate of about one degree for each 200 or 300 yards, began suddenly to rise again, proving that there was a stratum of warm air above where intense cold had been recorded. These strata had also been discovered by similar experiments in Europe, he said, but at a lower altitude, and at about the same altitude in the Arctic regions. At the equator balloons had been sent up, but at the highest altitude reached the warm stratum had not been found.

It was announced that the United States weather bureau is to continue the experiments begun by Rotch at a score of places throughout the country, with the particular object of investigating the action of storm areas and cold waves.

Courtland F. Bishop, president of the Aero Club of America, addressed the congress and called attention to the great success of the recent races at St. Louis, the first races of the kind ever held in America. Captain Chandler of the signal corps, United States army, described his flight with Aeronaut McCoy in the race, and Oscar Erbsloch, the winner of the St. Louis race, told of the trip of the German balloon Pommern. Several meteorologists made addresses or read papers.

Perhaps Killed by Robbers

New York, Oct. 30.—A man who on Thursday registered at the Waldorf-Astoria as H. B. Potter, Jr., of Philadelphia, was found dead in his room last night. On the body were several wounds. Coroner Harburger emphatically stated his belief that the man had been murdered. Blood stains were found on the vest and shirt that he wore. Harburger believes that Potter died as the result of a fight in which he was robbed. The marks on the body showed that he had been beaten and kicked.

Was Hiding From Creditors

Kansas City, Oct. 30.—J. E. Brady, president of the Merchants' Refrigerating company, which was placed in charge of a receiver following his disappearance last Friday, was located here last night by a newspaper reporter. He made a general statement, the burden of which was that he had been in hiding in order that he might be able to make arrangements to straighten out his affairs.

Booth Speaks at Washington

Washington, Oct. 30.—General William Booth addressed a distinguished gathering that taxed the capacity of the First Congregational church here last night. He spoke for an hour and a half without exhibiting signs of fatigue. Associate Justice Brewer of the United States supreme court spoke briefly in praise of Booth and the Salvation Army.

Prisoner Cremated In Jail Fire

Enterprise, Ala., Oct. 30.—Leroy Brown, a prisoner in the city jail, was burned to death when the jail building was destroyed by fire. Aerie Goins, another prisoner, it is said, set the building on fire in order to escape. Goins made good his escape.

EVEN WOMEN ARE ARMED

Discontented Utes Are Now Camped on Edge of the Bad Lands

St Paul, Oct. 30.—A special from Forest City, S. D., says that the Ute Indians have promised Captain Downs, in charge of the Cheyenne River agency, to cause no disturbance while representatives of the tribe are sent to Washington to lay their grievances before the government. Chief Redcap, however, refuses to recognize the orders of Downs that Ute children be sent to school.

The Utes are camped at Thunder Buttes, on the edge of the Bad Lands, and all, including the women, are armed. Four troops of cavalry from Fort DesMoines have reached the reservation. Downs, with 20 policemen, is also near the Indian camp.

Birds Are Farmers' Friends

New York, Oct. 30.—That because of the decrease in birds the United States is losing yearly without protest a sum larger than the capitalization of all the national banks in the country was the statement made by President Dutcher of the National Association of Audubon Societies, at the annual meeting of the association here. The public, declared Dutcher, placidly allows agricultural crops valued at $800,000,000 to be annually destroyed by insects, which destruction is entirely due to the rapid decrease in the number of insectivorous birds in the country.

Quarantined In Freight Cars

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 30.—In reply to a peremptory demand of Japanese Consul Shimizu of Chicago as to the reasons for the isolation of Japanese laborers afflicted with beri-beri, Mayor Brown insisted that the laborers had left quarantine at Alvo without permission and that they would be isolated in empty box cars on a side track at Lincoln until there was no danger of their communicating the disease to other men of their race.

Many Applicants For Berlin Post

Washington, Oct. 30.—Although the announcement of the intended retirement of Ambassador Tower at Berlin has brought out a number of applications from various persons for that post, it is the present disposition of the administration to fill the vacancy by promotion. If this plan is adhered to, there is likely to be a general stir among the present incumbents, not only of ministerial, but of ambassadorial offices.

Grosscup on Corporation Control

Washington, Oct. 30.—What Judge Grosscup of Chicago said at a recent dinner regarding a committee to formulate legislation on corporation control is explained in a telegram to President Roosevelt from Grosscup, which says: "What I actually said was that the National Civic Federation had appointed a committee to ask you to recommend a national commission."

Spanish Rulers Visit England

London, Oct. 30.—The King and Queen of Spain arrived in London last night. The visitors drove at once to Kensington palace, where they will remain until next Monday. They will then visit King Edward and Queen Alexandra at Sandringham. The London populace displayed great interest in the infant son of the Spanish king and queen.

Won't Dismiss Graniss Indictments

New York, Oct. 30.—Justice Dowling, in the criminal branch of the supreme court, denied motions to dismiss the two indictments for false reports and forgery against Robert A. Graniss, formerly vice president of the Mutual Life Insurance company. Motions to dismiss on other grounds were immediately made, but no decision was rendered.

Valuables Were Only Mislaid

Richmond, Oct. 30.—W. J. Payne, the Richmond financier, who was reported to have been robbed of a handbag containing $14,000 in stocks and bonds while on a Pullman between Washington and Wilmington, Del., denies losing the valuables. His bag was mislaid, but he found it later.

Submarine Lutin a "Jonah"

Toulon, Oct. 30.—The French submarine boat Lutin, which sank with all hands at Bizerta in October, 1906, was raised recently and brought to Toulon to be refitted. Yesterday she collided in the harbor with a steam ferryboat, had her bows smashed in and sank. No lives were lost.

Lafollette In Presidential Field

Madison, Wis., Oct. 30.—A committee was organized here to promote the candidacy of Senator Lafollette for the Republican nomination for president. The conference at which the committee was appointed was attended by 30 Republican leaders of the state.

Missing Cadet Heard From

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 30.—Cadet Raymond L. Thompson of the military academy, who has been missing for several days, is, according to a message received here, ill at a hotel at Kingston. The message gives no explanation of his absence.

Steamer Split on Reef

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 30.—Steamer Spokane, with coal from Cleveland to Duluth, ran on a reef on Gull island, off Keweenaw point. The crew of 18 men and Captain McArthur got off safely in the ship's boats to Manitou. The steamer broke in half.

The Weather Forecast

Almanac, Thursday, Oct. 31.
Sun rises—6:15; sets—4:40.
Moon rises—12:16 a. m.
High water—6:45 a. m.; 7 p. m.
Fair weather is indicated for New England.

FOREIGN CREDIT

Secured Through Shipments of American Products

MEANS GREAT CASH SUPPLY

Gold Engagements Now Close to 20,000,000--Pressure For Money Not Over, but Banks Are Able to Meet All Reasonable Demands

New York, Oct. 30.—The enormous influence which American products are exerting in building up a credit balance abroad has been the most signal development of the financial situation. Reports from all quarters show that the great American staples—wheat, cotton, copper, tobacco, oil and meats—are on their way to Europe, this being the season of the year when American products are marketed abroad.

The immediate effect of these shipments is to give the United States a credit abroad which can be speedily converted into cash. These natural resources of the country promise to exert even greater influence than the sale of American securities abroad. The latter have suffered discredit under recent pressure, but the intrinsic value of American staples used abroad and their colossal aggregate at this period of the year is beyond the reach of financial distrust.

The foreign sales of millions of American copper Monday were supplemented yesterday by reports of similar heavy exports in wheat, yesterday's shipments alone giving a foreign credit of $1,000,000. The shipments of tobacco to Europe this year promise to break all records. Officials of the American Tobacco company estimate, from the orders on hand, that the year's exports will exceed 50,000,000 pounds of manufactured tobacco, which is far in excess of the amount exported last year. Europe will pay over $100,000,000 for this tobacco, and much of this money will soon be available in this market, as the contracts with the European importers call for payment immediately on delivery.

Several favorable events marked the close of the financial day in New York. The engagement of $2,000,000 in gold by the First National bank of Chicago and of $500,000 by a Boston bank brought the total gold engagements up close to $20,000,000.

The raise of the German bank rate, in order to prevent America from drawing German gold, produces little effect on the situation here, as none of the gold engagements thus far have been made in Germany and most of those anticipated were from the other European money markets.

Comparative calm reigns among New York bankers. They all realize that the pressure for money is not over, but they feel generally that unreasoning panic is at an end and they will be able to meet all reasonable demands for currency. These demands are coming in considerable amounts from the west and south in order to obtain money to move the crops, and it is feared that sections where the movement is largest may be more or less hampered in their efforts to obtain funds.

The general refusal to pay cash for hoarding in the west and south, as well as in New York, it is believed, will prevent the undue absorption of currency and permit the employment of what is available in the most effective manner.

The arrival of nearly $20,000,000 in gold, it is believed, will considerably relieve the situation and perhaps make call money a little lower on the Stock Exchange. The decline in stocks yesterday was generally attributed to the continued scarcity of money for speculative purposes, the refusal of brokers to make transactions except for cash and the absence of buying interest under present disturbed conditions.

Aside from the satisfactory local conditions reports from all points showed a favorable tendency. In New England there was no sign of serious unrest and the recent disturbance in Rhode Island is practically over. No failure was recorded at any point throughout the country. It should be borne in mind in this connection that there are over 12,500 banks in the United States and that the number of institutions which have recently failed is of insignificant proportions as compared with this total.

It is pointed out that the failure of a minor bank is immediately known from end to end of the country, whereas the public overlooks the fact that some 12,500 banks are open for business as usual and that not one of the really important banking institutions anywhere has shown the slightest signs of unsoundness.

Attell Retains Championship

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 30.—Abe Attell won from Fred Weeks in the fourth round of a scheduled 20-round contest for the featherweight championship. The title holder was a 2 to 1 favorite in the betting. He knocked Weeks down five times in the fourth round and the referee stopped the fight.

Francis Joseph Out-of-Doors

Vienna, Oct. 30.—Emperor Francis Joseph, who has been ill for the last four weeks, took his first open-air promenade since the beginning of his sickness in Schoenbrunn park yesterday. The emperor suffered no ill effects from the exercise.

MILK FARMERS ACT

Take Steps Toward Freeing Themselves From Contractors

LAWSON MAKES AN OFFER

Will Back Farmers In Any Fight to Eliminate Extortion--Co-operative Association to Be Formed to Assume Charge of the Sale of Milk

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 30.—Four hundred milk producers from all sections of Massachusetts, principally Worcester county, came to this city with a determination to free themselves from the grip of the Boston milk contractors. Charles W. Wood called the meeting to order. He brought messages of encouragement from Governor Guild, from business men in Boston, and from the Massachusetts railroad commission.

A proposition of Thomas W. Lawson was embodied in a statement read to the meeting by his secretary. In part, the statement was:

"Mr. Lawson has been informed of the manner in which the Boston milk contractors have throttled the milk producers, the farmers of this state; how this combine has practically annihilated the independent creamery business and brought to the verge of ruin many farms, which, in the natural order of events, should be increasingly prosperous.

"Mr. Lawson agrees, if such be the will of the milk producers in session here, to personally lease and guarantee the rental of as many cars as the milk producers who wish to ship milk independently may choose to fill. In a word, Mr. Lawson will back the farmers to the limit in any fight which the farmer makes to eliminate the contractor and his extortion."

John Albree, discussing the offer, advised the farmers to consider the proposition well before accepting it, as there was no certainty that they would be any better off under a contract with Lawson than they were in dealing with the contractors. He said he did not favor the offer and recommended that the farmers co-operate and establish an independent milk depot in Boston.

Burton W. Potter denounced what he termed the combination of contractors. Another speaker who severely criticised the contractors was Jonas Bemis, one of the leaders who is prominent in the fight. He said that the present was the time to act. C. D. Richardson, master of the State Grange, spoke in a similar strain.

The course which the farmers will follow was determined by the unanimous adoption of this vote: "A committee of 11 be appointed by the chair to prepare an agreement and bylaws for the formation of a co-operative association to carry on the business of the sale of agricultural products, and report such agreement and bylaws to an adjourned meeting."

To make this committee representative of the whole field, Chairman Wood will postpone the appointment until he has received from each district a signed nomination for membership on it. The committee will also consider the Lawson offer.

Pending the formation of the proposed association the farmers will keep on sending their milk to the Boston contractors and at the end of the month send in their bills for 38 cents a can in the middle zone, but will sign no more contracts. Further, the farmers will offer at once to submit to a special state board of arbitration the question of how much the contractors shall pay, until the co-operative association shall be ready to assume charge of the sale of milk. It is generally expected that the contractors will reject this offer. The convention adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Protest Was Effective

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 30.—Advices from Honduras state that President Bonilla decreed an export tax of 3 cents a bunch on bananas, but was forced to rescind the order. At present the export tax is 2 cents a bunch on coast fruit only, that brought from the interior being taxed in the heavy freight rate. The proposed tax caused a storm of protest that assumed ominous proportions.

Popular Vote to Elect Senators

Trenton, Oct. 30.—Governor Stokes has signed Senator Colby's bill providing for a popular expression in the selection of United States senators. The governor also signed the direct primary bill, which provides for the nomination of all candidates for office except governor, congressmen and presidential electors, by direct primary vote instead of through delegates.

Charged With Grand Larceny

New York, Oct. 30.—James E. Lytle, the alleged promoter of the now defunct Automatic Needle company of this city and the Self-Threading Needle company of Minneapolis, was arrested here, charged with grand larceny in connection with sales of the stocks of these companies. He was held in $15,000 bail for examination.

Navy Yard Strike Ends

Vallejo, Cal., Oct. 30.—As a result of a conference between the union men and the directors of work on the transport Sheridan, the striking riveters at the navy yard here have returned to work.

THE
Young Men's Christian Association
OF QUINCY, MASS.
(Legal Title – Incorporated 1892.)
The Directors of the YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION of Quincy, with a firm faith in the great value of the work which is being done for the young men and boys of our city, make their appeal for donations and bequests toward paying the mortgage indebtedness on the new Association Building. When the building is free from debt it will serve as an Endowment, as there is a goodly income from the dormitories.
Should the Donor prefer, such sum as might be given could be used as an Endowment for an educational class or classes, the Boys Department, or as a special fund in other ways, and could be designated with the name of the Donor.
The Treasurer, WILLIAM F. CUMMINGS, 7 Clive Street, Quincy, or the General Secretary, ERNEST G. OAY, will be happy to answer inquiries.

OUR HOSPITAL
(Legal Title: City Hospital of Quincy)
INCORPORATED 1889
The Trustees of the City Hospital of Quincy earnestly appeal for donations and bequests for the Endowment fund. This now amounts to over $60,000, but a fund of at least $100,000 is urgently needed.
Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) will endow a Free Bed to which such name may be given as the Donor may desire, but any sum for this noble institution which stands ready to serve us all in the hour of need will be most gratefully received.
The Secretary, TIMOTHY REED, Adams St. Quincy, or the Treasurer, RICHARD D. CHASE, Savings Bank Building, Quincy, will be very glad to confer with any one or to answer any inquiries.

DRESS IN BIRDS' SKINS

People Hitherto Unknown Discovered in Alaskan Wilderness

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—Dr. George B. Gordon, curator of the department of American archaeology of the University of Pennsylvania, who has just reached this city after penetrating the Alaskan wilderness for 2000 miles on the Mrs. C. C. Harrison expedition, reports the discovery of a small tribe of aborigines hitherto unknown to ethnologists.

Dr. Gordon calls these unknown American inhabitants "Kuskwagamutes." He brought here a collection of their clothing, arms, utensils, etc. The tribe was found about 800 miles from the mouth of the Kuskokowim river, and they were few in number.

These people, Gordon says, came of Athabascan stock, but have been conquered by the Eskimos and have almost been absorbed by them. They retain many of the ancient characteristics in speech and dress. Instead of wearing furs like the Eskimos, they make the skins of loons and other great birds into robes for clothing.

Explosion, Fire and Panic In Church

New York, Oct. 30.—A lamp used in a moving picture machine with which Rev. Adam Chambers of the Harlem Baptist church was illustrating a Bible lecture exploded last night, setting the church afire and throwing the audience of 500 children in a panic. Older ones made futile efforts to control the little ones, who fell over and trampled one another in their haste to reach the exits. The pastor was badly burned and two children were so seriously injured they required medical attention. The second floor of the building was burned out.

Full-Rigger Long Overdue

New York, Oct. 30.—Members of the Maritime Exchange feel some concern over the absence of news from the full-rigged ship Arthur Sewall, which sailed from Philadelphia April 3 for Seattle with a crew of 40 men. In ordinary weather the ship would have reached Seattle in four months, but is now 218 days out. The Sewall carried a cargo of coal intended for use of the navy on the Pacific coast.

Locomotive Boiler Exploded

London, Ont., Oct. 30.—A Detroit passenger train, due here at midnight, came in this morning two hours late with Engineer Rutherford dead and his fireman badly scalded. The engine boiler blew up when the train was passing Newbury, 40 miles west of here. The passengers were thrown about by the sudden application of the air brakes and bruised, but none was seriously hurt.

Against Woman Enfranchisement

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—At the biennial convention of the Universalist church, in business session here, Rev. Henrietta Moore of Ohio offered a resolution in which it was set forth that the Universalist church recognized no difference between sex in faith. The convention was asked to stand for enfranchisement of women and the resolution was voted down by a vote of 78 to 68.

Von Moltke's Libel Dismissed

Berlin, Oct. 30.—Maximilian Harden, editor of Die Zukunft, was acquitted in the suit brought against him for defamation of character by General Count Von Moltke, formerly military governor of Berlin. In addition, Von Moltke was condemned to bear the costs of the trial. Justice Kern made the verdict as easy for Von Moltke as was consistent with the conclusions arrived at.

Europe Ordering Wheat

Chicago, Oct. 30.—The break in the price of wheat brought large European orders for immediate shipment. Six hundred thousand bushels of red winter wheat were sold here yesterday for shipment east. Chicago bankers regard this movement as significant of the powerful aid which the west is bringing to the financial situation.

Collapse of Large Warehouse

Port Arthur, Ont., Oct. 30.—A large warehouse collapsed here, burying seven persons. One man was taken out dead, another died shortly afterwards, a man had his leg broken and the other four persons were slightly injured. It is thought all are accounted for, but a large party is digging in the ruins.

Will Fight Against Retirement

New York, Oct. 30.—It is stated that Charles W. Morse will attend the meeting of the presidents of the several companies constituting the Consolidated Steamship Lines, prepared to oppose any action looking toward his retirement from the company he promoted and organized.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The mangled body of B. McKay of Boston, a brakeman, was found on the railroad tracks at Valley Falls, R. I. It is believed that McKay fell from a freight train and was struck a few moments later by a passenger train.

Captain Bowyer has been selected to command the battleship Illinois. Captain Fiske, originally selected for the command, has asked to be relieved, owing to illness in his family.

Thomas Clark, aged 60, fell from a ladder while at work at the Boston Elevated company's power house, receiving a broken neck, which resulted in his death.

There is reason to believe that the marriage of Prince Wilhelm of Sweden to Grand Duchess Marie Pavlona, previously announced for this fall, will not take place until next April. The prince is now in Moscow on a visit to his bethrothed.

AMONG THE CLUBS.

Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead of Boston, so widely known by her great labors for the spread of the cause of peace and arbitration, will address the Ladies' Aid Alliance in the Wollaston Unitarian church next Wednesday, Nov. 6. The usual hour has been changed to 8 o'clock in the evening in order that gentlemen also may have an opportunity to attend. As Mrs. Mead has just returned from the famous Peace Conference at The Hague, she will bring the latest information of the work accomplished by that distinguished body. It is earnestly hoped that a very large audience will show that our city is awake on this important matter. Everybody is cordially welcome.

The November meeting of the Quincy Day Nursery association will be held on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 5th at three o'clock at the Women's clubhouse, Goffe street. A cordial invitation is extended to Quincy women to attend this meeting.

Mothers' association of Quincy will hold its November meeting on the afternoon of Wednesday, the 6th, at three o'clock. Mrs. H. E. C. Burns will conduct the devotional exercises which will be followed by a paper by Mrs. Wilson Marsh and a discussion. Mrs. Henry M. Faxon will contribute a group of songs.

The Friday club meets on the afternoon of Nov. 1st with Mss Edith Randall of Spear street. Mrs. Z. S. Arnold is chairman of the afternoon, the program being on "Noble Families of Florence and their Palaces 1010-1250." Their character, influence and feuds will be discussed.

The W. C. T. U. takes pride in announcing to the public their success in forming a Loyal Temperance Legion. The success is due mostly to the faithful and untiring efforts of Past President Mrs. E. Collins. It is hoped the principals of the public schools as well as Superintendent of Sabbath schools will prompt the boys and girls over eight years of age to attend the next meeting at Faxon hall on Thursday, Nov 14, at 4 P. M., to receive their badges and join in the pretty song singing. Also to listen to Mrs. Frisby's helpful advice. Mrs. Ida Brown of Wollaston is to speak at Rev. Atwood's church, Quincy Point, Friday evening, Nov. 1, at 7.30. Those interested are cordially invited to hear a most interesting speaker.

The Brackett house on Goffe street used by the Quincy Women's club as headquarters for their meetings and for meetings of charitable societies of the city is in most constant use. This week there has been an art exhibit all the week and Hospital Aid meeting. Monday the Quincy Charitable society holds its annual meeting there; Tuesday the Day Nursery; Thursday the Executive meeting of the Women's club and so on each week busy.

Quincy and its various clubs was well represented at the State Federation meeting at Milton on Saturday and most enthusiastic accounts of the meeting are heard.

Fragment society of First church is holding an all day sewing bee today, enjoying a box luncheon at noon.

The October meeting of the Hospital Aid asscciation will be held tomorrow, October 31st, at three o'clock, in the Quincy Women's clubhouse, Goffe street. All women cordially invited.

The Shakespeare club of Atlantic meets tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. A. E. Baker of Walker street.

Miss Georgiana C. Lane of Goffe street is to entertain the Junior Friday club on Monday afternoon, Nov. 4th, with Mrs. Perry Lawton in charge of the program. Empire and Papacy of Italy will be continued for study, with sketches on Henry Fourth, Gregory Seventh, Countess Matilda and early painting.

Adams Chapter Daughters of the Revolution are to entertain on Monday afternoon from three until five at the birthplace of President John Adams, the officers of the Massachusetts society and the Abigail Smith Chapter of the Daughters of the Revolution of Weymouth. There will be addresses, music and an informal reception with refreshments.

QUINCY WOMEN'S CLUB.

During this week the rooms of the Quincy Women's club on Goffe street are open to visitors from two until five for an exhibition of water colors by Mrs. E. C. Bumpus. The exhibit is under the auspices of the Art and Literature committee, Mrs. George G. Saville, chairman.

A meeting of the executive board will be held on Thursday morning, Nov. 7th, at ten o'clock at the club house.

On Nov. 12th the meeting will be held promptly at half past two for business and will be followed by a talk by Mr. J. R. Brackett. There will be music and a social tea.

A welcome is extended to the townspeople to attend this meeting as it is a public meeting and of general interest. Guest tickets will not be necessary.

QUINCY ALLIANCE.

Another large gathering of ladies was in attendance on Monday afternoon at the second meeting this season of the Quincy Alliance, over fifty assembling in the parlor of First church. Mrs. George W. Morton, president, was in the chair conducting the devotional exercises and regular business.

Mrs. Morton announced her committees and chairmen and outlined the worq for the year.

Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney of Wollaston gave an interestng talk on "Putting off the Evil Day." She talked in her usual pleasing conversational way, a heart to heart talk, thoroughly enjoyed by every one present. If every one could look on the bright side of life seeing only the good and working for the good the evil day would be so far off it could not be found at all. Mrs. Gurney was practical, sensible and her ideas livable.

Mrs. J. D. Buckingham sang two selections, her last one being, "A sweeter story still." Afternoon tea and a social half hour closed the meeting which had been unusually helpful and social.

FEDERATION MEETING.

The autumn meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's clubs was held on Saturday in the Town hall, Milton, on invitation of the Milton Woman's club. The day was perfect and there was a large attendance at both sessions from all sections of the state.

The morning session opened with a delightful short musical program with Miss na Kelley at the piano and Bruce Reynolds violinist, followed by most cordial greetings by Mrs. Hibbard, president of the Milton club. Mrs. May Alden Ward responded for the Federation. The speaker of the morning was Miss Jane Brownlee of Ohio, who spoke on "Moral and Civic Training of Children in the Schools."

She said in part: "Every child has to obey its elders, either willingly or grudgingly, consequently when the approach to its moral training is made, it appreciates the fact that its own little body is its servant and must be nourished, rested and receive due care. Then the development of he mind of he child is next considered, and thoughts have a new significance for things. Having reached the real child, he is fed by the teacher's thought.

"A month each is given to the subjects of kindness, cleanliness, health, obedience, courtesy, self-control and truthfulness. The child is now awakened to a sense of its personal responsibility and the building of its character, which," Miss Brownlee asserted, "is its sole business in life and is fairly started.

The balance of the year's moral training is acquired through the city government plan, in which each school elects a Mayor, because of his record, and in this way a sense of public need for honest citizens is made eviden.. Public trust has never been betrayed in this ideal atmosphere, and the benefits to children gained from such experience are almost incalculable.

Miss Bromlee made a decided impression and her listeners were most enthusiastic. Her experience and knowledge in character building of children was clearly and forcifully shown throughout her lecture and discussion.

Luncheon was served from twelve until two. The afternoon session also opened with music, Miss Bertha Wesselhoeft Swift singing charmingly songs by Hildach, Brahms and Beach, ending with a delightful group of children's songs. Miss Margaret Gorham accompanied at the piano.

Miss Florence Marshall was the first speaker of the afternoon. Her subject was, "Trade Training for Girls." Her experience as director of the Boston Trade School for Girls gave weight to her talk, and her listeners were in sympathy with the work being done by the school in fitting girls to become skillful milliners, dressmakers, etc., and to receive proper compensation for their services, instead of entering into some employment haphazardly with perhaps no prospect of ever becoming competent or capable of earning living wages.

Dr. H. B. Frissell, principal of Hampton Normal Institute at Hampton, Va., was the principal speaker of the afternoon. His talk was illustrated with lantern slides. The story of what is being done for the Negro and also the Indian at this school proved interesting. Northern people will continue to give their support and encouragement even more substantially after hearing of the good done as told by Dr. Frissell.

The meeting closed with a feeling of good cheer and companionship after a day most pleasantly and profitably spent.

NEIGHBORING.

The New England Women's club opens its season on Friday November first with a reception from eight until ten at its rooms in the Copley building, Boston.

Mrs. Margaret Deland speaks to the Old Colony club of Weymouth on Nov. 7th on, "The Changed Femimine Ideal."

The Household Economics department of the Brockton Woman's club is open to all women of that city. It opened the season today with a lecture on "Interior Decorations," by Miss Flora MacDonald.

At the November ninth meeting of the Wheaton Seminary club at hotel Vendome, Boston, Mrs. Helen Louise Thayer Bryant will give "An Afternoon of Pianoforte Story-telling.

The travel class of the Medford Woman's club will take up England this season beginning with London on November 4. The literature class will have its first meeting November 14. Hamlet and Winter's tale will be taken up this winter. The Arts class, will meet for the first time November 7. The Woman's order exchange will have its semi-annual exhibit every day from November 5 to November 9, inclusive, from 3 to 8 P. M.

The club women of Massachusetts are taking up with a great deal of vim the forestry question, and there are several clubs which will devote almost all their time to the discussion of forest preservation. The forestry committee of the general federation has sent out instructions to the different clubs interested in the subject. Some of them are: "Make the grounds around your own home as attractive as possible. Study local needs. Endeavor to improve the condition and increase the number of trees in your vicinity. Encourage systematic planting of street trees and their protection from injury. Encourage study of native trees, their characteristics and value."

Wilson--Pratt Home Wedding

Just as the day was drawing to a close a pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pratt, 79 Coddington street, the bride being their daughter Lillian Warren, and the groom Mr. John Miller Wilson of Newport News. The house was decorated with cut flowers and ferns, and the bridal party stood beneath an arch of evergreen.

The ceremony was performed at half past five by Rev. Dr Hardy of Bethany Congregational church. The service was simple and impressive. Miss Marion Pratt of Dorchester, cousin of the bride was maid of honor and the best man was Mr. Richard Jones of Quincy. The ushers were Miss Jessie Gardner, Miss Margaret Laing, Miss Florence Hewes and Miss Annie Blacklock, all of Quincy and young friends of the bride. Another cousin of the bride, Miss Alice Pratt of Dorchester played the wedding march.

Both the bride and her maid of honor were in white, wearing dresses of white net, the bride carrying white roses, and the maid of honor pink roses.

An informal reception was held in the evening from half past seven until ten. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Pratt, and the maid of honor and best man. Madam Beale Morey of Malden, organist at Bethany church, played during the reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left amid good wishes and showers of confetti. After a short trip they will go to their future home at Newport News, taking with them the hearty good wishes of their many Quincy friends.

WOMEN IN CIRCLE

Abigail Adams Circle Give Minstrel Show And Dance

Music hall was well filled Wednesday evening at the minstrel show and dance given under the auspices of Abigail Adams Circle, 529, C. of F. of A. It was the first time that many had seen the hall since it was redecorated and many favorable comments were heard.

The minstrel show was one of the best given in Quincy for a long time. Usually the end men and circle are made up of men, but in this case they were women.

South Quincy was drawn upon for its fairest blossoms, and sweetest singers, and while their usual attractive features were somewhat marred by burnt cork their voices were unimpaired.

It was but a little after 8 o'clock when the curtain was rung up for the opening chorus, disclosing a sea of shiny black faces, which served as a frame for the white faces of the interlocutor and the Mascot.

The six end women were dressed in flaring red costumes, while those in the circle were gowned in white. They however had red handkerchiefs tied about their heads and large red bows on their shoulders.

Then came the opening chorus and it was a rouser. The chorus was a unusually strong one, and rendered good support to the soloists. Mrs. Alice Nicol was the interlocutor and Miss Helen Kennedy the mascot.

Margaret Kelley, Henrietta Malcolm and Margaret Walsh shook the tambos, and Helen C. Troupe, Isabelle Park and Mary Guiven rattled the bones, making a group of end woman hard to beat.

In the circle were the following:

Sopranos, — Henrietta Malcolm, Margaret McKenzie, Margaret Raleigh, Jessie Kelman, Isabelle J. Park, Violet A. Pirie, Jennie M. Malcolm, Mary Smith, Helen Troupe, Annie Phelan, Margaret Fay, Gertrude Reinhalter Mollie Sullivan, Helen Ryan, Jennie Boyle, Nellie Nightingale, Margaret Walsh, Lillie Sugrue, Mamie Sugrue, Mildred B. Phelan, Ruth Phelan, Mae Lillie, Helen Kennedy, Mary Guiven, Mra-Helen Kennedy, Mary Gniven, Margaret Kelley, Alice Nicol.

Altos,—Gertrude L. Bradley, Elizabeth F. Fay, Ella Morrison, Lizzie McKee, Clara Bergfors, Annie Walsh, Ethel Caddy, Mabel McDonald, Susie F. Barry, Helen M. Hastings, Mary A. Morrison, Helen Kirkland.

In addition to the solos by the interlocutor, mascot and end women, there was a duet by Mildred B. and Ruth Phelan, and solos by Winifred M. Bradley and Helen Ryan. The grand finals was arranged by John J. Phelan, who was the musical director of the show.

The accompanist, who added no small part to the success of the show, was Miss Mamie J. Kennedy.

Between the songs there were the usual number of jokes by the end women. The city government came in for its usual number of raps, although as a rule the jokes were on South Quincy people. One timely joke was that all the Scotchmen and Irishmen were going to vote the Republican ticket this year as they wanted a Piper.

At the conclusion of the show there was dancing, music being furnished by Cuff's orchestra.

Miss Helen C. Troupe was floor directress, and Miss Margaret Smith assistant, and Misses Mamie Kennedy, Ethel Caddy, Henrietta Malcolm and Margaret Guiven were the aids.

The committee to whose efforts the success of the affair was due was composed of Mary Pritchards, Margaret Stronach, Jane Lillie, Mary Kennedy, Helen Kelley, Katherine Cotter, Mary Ford, John Troupe and John Pritchard.

High Scores At Bowling

Burrell's strong Weymouth team journeyed to the Granite street alleys Wednesday evening and took two out of three strings from the local team in a very close match, winning by just one pin in the total.

The Quincys bowled like professionals in the third game and their total was 465, leading the Weymouth by 31 pins.

Turner of the Weymouths was high man on totals with 287, and Keene of Quincy second with 279.

The two teams roll next Wednesday at Weymouth.

The summary:

HISTORIC QUINCY

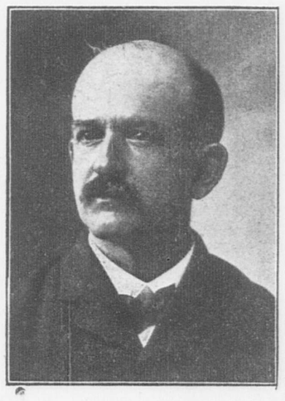
Beautifully Illustrated At Lecture By Chas H. Johnson

"Historic Quincy—past and present," was the very interesting subject on Wednesday evening at the public meeting of the Quincy Historical Society held in the chapel of the First church, and the large audience present should feel proud, if never before, of the "City of Presidents;" not only of its achievements of the past, but of its wonderful resources of today; its industries; its homes; its men of affairs; its schools; its churches; its institutions; its beautiful scenery.



CHARLES H. JOHNSON.

The evening was devoted to an illustrated lecture by Charles H. Johnson, a member of the society, and chairman of the Board of Assessors of the city, who was happily introduced by Brooks Adams, Esq., president of the society and a grandson of President John Quincy Adams. He said Mr. Johnson had at considerable trouble and expense prepared the lecture, and the society was much indebted to him, also the city of Quincy.

Mr. Johnson said he did not pose as a lecturer; but as a citizen loving the city of Quincy, he had prepared the lecture. All the views were original, and if they awake a civic pride in Quincy, which seems to be lacking, he would be pleased.

The first views shown were those of the earlier men and women who had made Quincy famous in Revolutionary times: President John Adams and Abigail his wife, President John Quincy Adams, John Hancock the patriot, Dorothy Quincy, Col. John Quincy for whom the city was named, and others. Also of Mt. Wollaston, or Merrymount, Squantum head and its Myles Standish cairn, Penns hill with its Abigail Adams cairn, and a view from the Third Hill reservation.

Next came the religious history of the town, with views of the old church which stood on the old "Training Field" and also the one replaced in 1828 by the present stone church. Exterior views and interior views of the First church were shown, also several of the pastors, including Rev. Peter Whitney, Rev. William P. Lunt, Rev. John D. Wells, Rev. D. M. Wilson and Rev. E. C. Butler. Also views of Christ church and several of the other churches. An excellent photo of the late Henry H. Faxon was shown, also his birthplace and home, and a photo of Henry M. Faxon.

Schools next received attention, and views were shown of some of the earlier schools,— those of a century ago—and also those of today; the High school, Adams Academy, Woodward Institute, Washington school and the Coddington. The latter (because of the efforts to get a new building) almost occasioned jeers. A fine photo of Supt. Parln was shown.

The 25 miles of seacoast were then illustrated, including the coal wharves at Quincy Point, the mammoth power station of the Old Colony street railway system, the beauty of Germantown, the Baker Yacht Basin, the plant of the Quincy Electric Light and Power company, the Quincy Home, the Coddington boulevard to Houghs Neck, beach scenes at Houghs Neck, views of the clubhouse of the Quincy Yacht club, also from Great hill. At Wollaston beach, the clubhouse of the Wollaston and Squantum clubs were shown also the Quincy shore parkway, Moswetussett, Squantum and Moon islands.

The industries of the city were illustrated including the granite quarries, granite manufacturing yards, the Tubular Rivet & Stud Co., the Translucent Fabric Co., the Wollaston foundry and the Fore River shipyard.

The cemeteries received attention, also such institutions as the Thomas Crane Public Library, the City Hospital, etc. Several of the business houses in City Square were illustrated, also many of the residences in different parts of the city, which would be creditable to any city.

The closing chapter included interesting views at the Fore River Shipyarding plant, and several of the battleships, cruisers and steamboats which have been built in Quincy. With a plea for patriotism and good old Quincy the lecture closed about 9 o'clock.

Nearly 200 views were thrown upon the canvas by ex-Councilman Gilson, and all were exceedingly clear. Indeed they were excellent. Some views were entirely new to most of the audience, while there many views of familiar scenes which were never before thrown upon the canvas. It is an illustrated lecture of which Quincy people will never tire, and the Ledger hopes that all residents of the city may have several opportunities to see the views and hear them explained by Mr. Johnson He certainly has collected considerable valuable and interesting data.

The lecture should be given in every school building of the city for the pupils, and also in each ward of the city for the general public. The Ledger understands it is the intention to give the lecture all over Massachusetts, and already some dates have been booked. The Historical Society, Board of Trade, or the Citizens' Association should lend their influence, and possibly their financial assistance, for the good of Quincy.

Trolley Tickets.

Vice President L. S. Storrs of the New England Investment and Security Company has just announced that beginning November 1, a new system of through trolley tickets, in place of the old method of repeated payment of single fares, will be inaugurated on the lines now held by this company in Massachusetts in cases where the fare exceeds five cents. The New England Investment and Security Company is the organization now holding the electric lines acquired by the New York New Haven & Hartford R. R. in this state, having been formed to take them over temporarily pending the decision of the General Court.

Joseph A. Sedgwick of Goffe street, treasurer of the Fore River Shipbuilding Company, says he is not a candidate for the City Council.

The Daily Ledger tomorrow will print all the nominations for the Republican and Democratic caucuses to be held in connection with the City election in December.

Several of the members of the Point Missionary society attended on Wednesday the annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary Society at Park street church, Boston.

Miss Anna M. Feeley of Main street left on Monday to spend the winter in Virginia. She was tendered a farewell reception and a delegation of friends accompanied her to the train.

Pens and Pencils.

More women than men were engaged as wage-earners by the census of 1905 in the production of pens and pencils the numbers being 2,287 and 2,132, respectively. In two branches of the industry men predominated, but in the other two branches the proportion of women was considerably greater; in the steel pen industry 553, or 83.4 per cent of the wage-earners, were women and only 58, or 8.7 per cent, were men; in the production of lead pencils 1,607, or 52.4 per cent, of the wage-earners were women and 1,282, or 41.8 per cent, were men.

—A special mail train, which will, it is expected, remedy the delay in the transportation of mail for the west between Boston and Albany, has been placed on the Boston & Albany railroad, the service opening this week. The train has five cars, and carries only mail. It leaves Boston at 6.30 P. M. daily.

SUICIDE OF DR. DAY

Act Was Due to Fear of Exposure of His Dual Life

SECRETLY WEDDED A NURSE

Already Had a Wife Who Contemplated Proceedings Against Him When She Heard the News--Had Broken Engagement With Another Woman

Boston, Oct. 31.—That fear of exposure of the dual life he was leading caused the suicide of Dr. Albert C. Day, the young staff physician of the city hospital who shot himself through the heart in the woods at West Roxbury last Friday, two days after his clandestine marriage to Miss Estelle M. Callahan, a nurse at the relief hospital, was made certain last night by the discovery that there was a former wife of the young doctor who was about to bring proceedings against him, following the announcement of his recent wedding.

It is learned that Day was married on March 16, 1904, at Brockton by a justice of the peace, Assistant City Clerk Packard, to Miss Martina Thompson, aged 16, a daughter of William A. Thompson, the Thompson family then living in West Roxbury, where Day made his home. The marriage was kept secret, as Day stated he wished to complete his medical course of study and hospital work before having his marriage made known to his own family.

Mrs. Day and her 3-year-old daughter, Olive, have been living in Brockton, while the young woman's father, who is connected with a Boston business firm, lives at Norfolk Downs. In addition to this earlier marriage, Day later became engaged to marry Miss Helen Morse of Haverhill, but Miss Morse recently broke off the alliance after an interview in which the young doctor told her he had planned to marry another girl.

On Oct. 16 last Day was secretly married to Miss Callahan, whom he had met in his hospital work here and had formerly known at her home in Rhode Island. The marriage was performed by a minister in Somerville, who had been a former pastor of the Callahan family in Rhode Island.

Dr. Day and his bride, both having secured a leave of absence from their hospital duties, went to Brooklyn that night to the home of Day's mother. Then followed the startling announcement that Day had committed suicide two days later in the woods near his home in West Roxbury. The recent marriage was unknown to his friends here and the cause of his death was for a time a complete mystery. A second mystery was caused when the young doctor's secret marriage to Miss Callahan was announced and no trace of the bride could be found.

The first news of Miss Callahan's whereabouts came in a telegram to her mother in East Boston, which stated that Estelle was dead in Brooklyn. The telegram proved to be incorrect and Miss Callahan was found to be alive and well with Day's sister in Brooklyn. However, the young woman could conceive of no reason for Day's suicide, and a theory of murder was advanced.

Investigation yesterday revealed that Charles W. Bartlett of Boston had been retained by a woman in Brockton, who claimed to be the wife of Day, to bring action of some sort against Day. What action was contemplated Bartlett refused to state.

It is believed, however, that Day was fully aware that some action was about to be taken and, realizing that his past life would be fully exposed, deliberately took his own life rather than face the consequences.

New Coal Fields to Open

Pittsburg, Oct. 31.—An investment of over $3,000,000 is involved in plans announced for the development of new coal fields near Zollarsville by the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal company, which has secured a tract of 14,000 acres of coal lands and has started work on what, it is said, will be the two largest shaft mines in the world. The company also will build a new mining town.

Modernists Excommunicated

Rome, Oct. 31.—The pope has excommunicated the authors of the reply to his recent encyclical on "Modernism." In their reply the modernists argued that the church always had and should now adapt itself to the exigencies of the age, and insisted upon the right to discuss the Bible and other sacred writings, which they held to be human productions.

Rush Order For Gold Coin

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—Pursuant to directions from Washington, the coinage of $15,000,000 of gold bullion will be undertaken immediately at the mint in this city. The mint force was considerably enlarged at the time the coinage of Philippine silver was undertaken and it is thought this force will be adequate to handle the rush order for gold 20s.

Liabilities or Nearly a Million

Baltimore, Oct. 31.—Receivers were appointed here for the South Baltimore Steel Car and Foundry company. It is stated that while the embarrassed company has liabilities of nearly $1,000,000, it has ample assets on which it is at present unable to realize and will pay dollar for dollar.

GUESTS BARELY ESCAPED

Largest Hotel in Dover Destroyed by an Early Morning Fire

Dover, N. H., Oct. 31.—Fire broke out in the American house, the principal hotel in Dover, at 1:35 o'clock this morning and a number of the guests narrowly escaped with their lives. Four of the guests were taken down the ladders by firemen and a fifth inmate was carried out. None of the five was injured.

The fire started in the basement of the hotel and rapidly spread throughout the lower portion of the building. When the firemen arrived the house was completely filled with smoke, and it was with difficulty that many of the guests, nearly all of whom were asleep, escaped. The fire was discovered by Mrs. James E. Lathrop, who smelled smoke and quickly aroused the employes.

The hotel, which is in ruins, was a three-story building, with two annexes, and was of wood and brick. The house was located on Central avenue and was owned by Adams T. Pierce and Thomas Cushman.

The hotel was well filled with guests and a few of them had time to put on their street clothing. One man was overcome by smoke, but was resuscitated. The loss is about $25,000.

Light on Jewelry Thefts

North Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 31.—For some months a systematic robbery of jewelry firms has been going on, resulting in thousands of dollars of loss, as a result of which detectives were set to work. Last night Gideon Phibodeau was placed under arrest, charged with the larceny of silver jewelry. The officers claim that Phibodeau not only confessed to taking jewelry from the Webster company, but that he also revealed the hiding place of jewelry stolen from other firms.

Art Dealer a Suicide

Boston, Oct. 31.—William B. Everett, aged 52, president of the Williams & Everett company, picture and fine arts dealers, committed suicide by inhaling gas at his home here. His body was found in bed, with a tube leading from a gas jet in his mouth. No cause for the act is known. Everett was widely known in art circles, and the works of the leading artists of the world have been exhibited from time to time for many years in the Williams & Everett galleries.

Fire Scare at Worcester

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 31.—A fire which started from the explosion of chemicals on the top floor of a five-story brick building here was put out by automatic sprinklers speedily, but a loss of over $10,000 was caused by water. Eighty young women of a business college, which occupies the fourth floor of the building, were greatly frightened when the fire was discovered, but all left the building safely.

Groom of 78 Weds Bride of 53

Lowell, Mass., Oct. 31.—With the groom 78 and the bride 53, Lowell saw a unique wedding when Miss Lillian Lyford was joined to Orrin M. Moulton, postmaster at Coaticook, Que., by Rev. George Dean of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church. The groom was formerly the husband of his present bride's aunt on her mother's side. Moulton does not look over 60 years of age. His bride is very beautiful.

Guilty of Killing His Son

Portsmouth, N. H., Oct. 31.—A sentence of not less than 12 years nor more than 15 years in state prison was imposed upon Cyrille Groleau of Derry, who was indicted for manslaughter for the killing of his son, Fred, at Derry. Groleau, who is 65 years old, had previously pleaded not guilty to the charge, but he retracted that plea and entered a plea of guilty. Groleau shot and killed his son after a quarrel.

Tarantula Exceeds Requirements

Newport, R. I., Oct. 31.—The submarine boat Tarantula, which is undergoing her final acceptance trials under the direction of the naval board of inspection and survey, exceeded her contract speed requirements in a four hours' endurance run in Narragansett bay. The wind was very stiff and the sea choppy, but the boat developed a speed of 9.4 knots an hour.

Big Navy Yard Force at Work

Boston, Oct. 31.—With a call issued last night for 500 more men to be added to the force of workmen now on duty at the Charlestown navy yard, the total force on duty today numbers 2800 men, the largest number of men employed there at any one time since the Civil war. Work is being rushed on the four big battleships in the yard.

Honor to Departed Editor

Dover, N. H., Oct. 31.—The stores and business places of the city of Dover were closed yesterday during the funeral services for the late Charles G. Foster, editor of The Daily Democrat. Rev. Dr. Hall of the First Congregational church officiated and the ritualistic service of the Odd Fellows was conducted.

Telegraphers Give Up the Struggle

Boston, Oct. 31.—Seventy-five of the telegraph operators who went out on strike last August have returned to their keys in Boston. The men have been coming back slowly, a few each day, until now the Postal company has reinstated 50 men and the Western Union 25.

Merchants Against Parcels Post

Boston, Oct. 31.—At the first annual banquet of the Retail Merchants' Association of New England, held here last night, a resolution was passed condemning the proposed new parcels post law. Retail merchants from all over New England were present.

NOW NEARLY NORMAL

Great Improvement In New York Financial Circles

CASH IN SUSPENDED BANKS

Being Gathered Up and Placed In Institutions Which Are Running--Serious Pressure For Money Expected From the South

New York, Oct. 31.—The financial situation is so nearly normal that there are few new features of importance. Bankers say that the calls for money from the neighborhood of New York and the entire east appear to be practically satisfied and such calls for currency of an urgent character as are being received come from points west of the Mississippi. These calls are being met as fast as conditions permit.

Mr. Williams, the New York state superintendent of banking, gathered up most of the cash in the suspended banks yesterday and deposited it with going institutions, thereby adding several million dollars to the funds available in the market. The debit balances against banks at the clearing house are smaller than usual under normal conditions, all such balances aggregating only a little more than $9,000,000 on clearings of $266,000,000.

One of the points at which the most serious pressure for money is expected is at New Orleans, in order to finance the movement of the cotton crop. The pressure there is always heavy at this season of the year, and promises to be even more intense this year than usual, unless special preparations are made. The New Orleans bankers appear to be fully alive to this situation and are endeavoring to arrange for transfers of money from Europe in payment for cotton through the fiscal agents of the United States in Europe and its direct transmission by cable to New Orleans.

A committee of New Orleans bankers is in Washington and hopes to secure a promise from Secretary Cortelyou for the deposit of substantial sums of public money in New Orleans and other southern institutions. Cortelyou appears to recognize the fact that the benefits conferred by this policy will not be limited to New Orleans and the south, but will aid in the movement for the prompt delivery of American products in Europe and the creation of a credit balance which will cover the imports of gold.

Cotton bills are being closely scrutinized in New York and cannot always be negotiated quite so promptly as in normal times, but where their character is unimpeachable, they are recognized as forming one of the best means of covering the gold import movement.

One of the most interesting developments of the situation is the large amount of the purchases of securities in small lots for investment. Most of the large private banking houses which sell stocks and bonds have been keeping the clerical force at work overtime executing such orders and attending to the transfer of titles to the securities on the books of the corporation by which they are issued. This is one of the decisive marks of investment buying.

It is estimated by good judges that there are 400,000 more names of stockholders on the books of the railway and industrial corporations than was the case a year ago. A single large firm reports sales of between $500,000 and $750,000 a day. Another firm states that their wires to outlying places are crowded with small orders, directing the transfer of the securities to the names of new owners, while still another firm declares that there has not been a movement of this kind of such volume for 20 years.

The absence of any failures yesterday, either financial or mercantile, in New York of any importance, except Kessler & Co., a private banking firm, and the offer of call money at lower rates are other favorable symptoms of the situation.

Roosevelt Not Apprehensive

Washington, Oct. 31.—E. W. Bloomingdale, director of the Phoenix National bank of New York and otherwise financially connected in that city, had an audience with President Roosevelt and is authority for the statement that the president is keeping minutely informed regarding financial conditions throughout the country, and that he feels no apprehension of serious trouble in any quarter.

A Series of Holidays

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—Following the closing yesterday of the California Safe Deposit and Trust company, Governor Gillett declared today a legal holiday by a formal proclamation issued before banking hours this forenoon. The governor states that like proclamations will follow each day until confidence is restored.

Calls Football Prize Fighting

Kankakee, Ills., Oct. 31.—Charging that football is prize fighting, Attorney Moore filed a bill in the circuit court for an injunction restraining high school students from playing the game. Moore declares that the game of football not only injures, but demoralizes the student body; that the members of the team use profanity on the field, and that the game is "degrading, un-American, un-Christian and uncivilized."

Liver Pills
Ask your doctor if he knows a better pill for a sluggish liver than Ayer's Pills. Then follow his advice.
It is impossible, simply impossible, for any one to enjoy the best of health if the bowels are constipated. Undigested material, waste products, poisonous substances, must be daily removed from the body or there will be trouble, and often serious trouble, too. Ayer's Pills aid nature, that is all. J. C. THE CANADIAN FUR STORE
Canadian Furs at Canadian Prices.
The high quality of Canadian Furs is well known to Americans. A custom's duty of 35 per cent prevents Americans who do not visit Canada from buying Furs there.
Our American house, 167 Tremont Street, Boston, will interest American buyers of Canadian furs. Here we receive our supply of raw skins from our own Canadian houses where they are collected direct from the trappers and admitted to the United States duty free in the undressed state.
All garments for our American business are manufactured by skilled American designers and finishers, and in selling direct to the wearer we eliminate intermediate profits.
Owing to its rigorous climate Canada produces the finest furs known to commerce. Silver Fox, Hudson Bay Sable, Mink, Otter, etc., are seen at their best. In dealing direct with us you secure the advantages that flow from a large and influential business following in our own stores in four Canadian cities, and a feeling of security and reliability that is always present when dealing with a house whose reputation has been merited by a constantly increasing patronage extending over a period of forty-two years, and whose products have been awarded five gold medals in different Canadian Expositions.
In comparing prices remember that quality is of first importance. Canadian Furs average 35 to 50 per cent higher grade than those of more temperate climates, because nature produces the quality; the furriers make only the garment, and the dyer's art can make a southern mink to imitate the Canadian article. To insure reliability and value, buy Canadian Furs from Canadian furriers.
Black Lynx Throws and Muffs from $22.50

TOWN IS ENGULFED

Overwhelmed by a Landslide Which Followed Earthquake

FIFTEEN HUNDRED ARE DEAD

Enormous Section of Mountain Thundered Down and Buried People Alive--Sequel to Quake Recorded at Many Points on Oct. 21

Tashkend, Russia, Oct. 31.—The town of Karatagh has been overwhelmed and completely destroyed by a landslide that followed the earthquake of Oct. 21. According to the latest reports of the disaster a majority of the inhabitants of Karatagh lost their lives.

The first reports of the casualties were exaggerated, the death list being placed as high as 15,000. Karatagh has about 2500 dwellers, and there is reason to believe that about 1500 were buried alive. Among those who survived the disaster are the governor of Karatagh and his mother.

Karatagh is remotely situated, and it takes a long time for news to get out from there, but, according to one courier who has come through, an enormous section of the Karatagh mountain, which practically hung over the town, broke loose and thundered down upon the village, which is almost completely buried from sight.

Efforts are being made to get into communication with the survivors and learn the actual state of affairs and to send in such relief as may be required.

Karatagh is a small town in the Hissar district. It is noted for its manufacturing of sabres, cutlery and fine silks, and is used as a summer resort by the people of Hissar, a somewhat larger town and capital of the district of Hissar.

Karatagh is located in a mountainous country at an elevation of 2500 feet above sea level. It is in Russian Turkestan, where severe earthquakes occurred Oct. 21, causing much damage. The shocks continued throughout the day.

On Oct. 21 the United States weather bureau at Washington announced that its instruments recorded an earthquake, beginning at 11 o'clock the previous night, and lasting until early in the morning of Oct. 21. The same day London announced that prolonged earthquake shocks, beginning at 5 a. m., Oct. 21, and lasting for several hours, had been reported on the instruments on the Isle of Wight and at Laibach, Austria.

The distance of the disturbances was at those points estimated as being over 3000 miles from the observatories which recorded them. The same day, Oct. 21, dispatches were received in London from St. Petersburg reporting severe earth shocks in Central Asia, at Lattakurgan, Khokand and other places, in addition to Samarkand, which caused more or less injury.

The last disastrous earthquake, outside of the Calabrian disturbances, was the one which devastated Kingston, Jam., last Jan. 14, and resulted in the loss of about 1200 lives.

In April, 1906, San Francisco was partly destroyed by an earthquake, which was followed by a terrible fire. Several hundred lives were lost and property valued at about $300,000,000 was destroyed.

The city of Valparaiso, Chile, was almost destroyed by an earthquake Aug. 16, 1906, the loss of life being estimated at about 1000, and the damage at about $50,000,000.

The most terrible earthquake of comparatively modern times was that at Lisbon, in November, 1755, which killed about 60,000 people.

Eloping Couple Sent Home

Washington, Oct. 31.—Commissioner General Sargent of the bureau of immigration denied the appeal of a confessed eloping couple from Berlin for admission to the United States. The man and woman were ordered deported and they sailed from Baltimore yesterday for Bremen. Several days ago Elizabeth Hesse, aged 35, and Hans Nachtigall, aged 21, arrived at Baltimore on the Rhein. The woman explained that she could not live happily with her husband. She had supplied the money for the expenses of both herself and Nichtigall.

To Form New Vaudeville Circuit

New York, Oct. 31.—Vaudeville managers from different states, representing 30 theatres, concluded arrangements at a meeting held in Brooklyn for the forming of a vaudeville circuit embracing 30 or more houses, reaching from Boston to San Francisco, in opposition to the Klaw & Erlanger syndicate, which has recently entered the field outside of New York.

Rich Haul by a Forger

Madrid, Oct. 31.—A clever malefactor obtained $53,000 from the Bank of Spain by means of a check to which he had forged the name of Senor Anselmo, a former member of the chamber of deputies. No trace of the man has yet been found.

Hotel and Barn Burned

Leicester Junction, Vt., Oct. 31.—The Junction house, a hotel of which O. C. Huntley was owner and manager, was destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $10,000. The barn was also burned and eight horses were killed.

MUTINY ON WAR VESSEL

Many Killed and Wounded in Battle In Vladivostok Harbor

Vladivostok, Oct. 31.—An exciting little naval battle took place in this harbor between the mutinous crew of a Russian torpedo boat destroyer and their loyal comrades. The mutineers finally were subdued, but not before a number of men had been killed or wounded. Captain Kurosch and Lieutenant Stoer are among the killed.

The mutinous boat is the Skory, and she gave fight to a gunboat, three destroyers and the garrison of one of the harbor forts, manned by artillery. The Skory soon was overwhelmed and she had to be beached to save her from sinking. This was not accomplished, however, before her guns had done considerable damage and several officers and men of the other ships had been killed or wounded.

The crew of the Skory were incited by agitators, including some Jews, who had managed to get on board and take charge of the destroyer. She steamed out into the harbor with the red flag flying and at once opened fire on the town and forts. The gunboat and destroyers went out to engage her and with the aid of the forts soon had the Skory riddled and helpless. She then turned and ran through the surf and was beached. Those members of the crew who had not been killed or wounded by the gunfire were arrested by soldiers as they made their way to land.

Several people in Vladivostok were killed by shells from the Skory. The city has been declared in a state of siege.

Could Not Bear Separation

Naples, Oct. 31.—Elisa Scalisi, a beautiful young woman, died a few days before she was to be married to a young man named Alessandro of this city. Alessandro was heartbroken and one night he dug up the body in the cemetery and carried it to his lodging. He embalmed the corpse of the young woman, dressed it in its bridal clothes, and kept it in his rooms for a fortnight. Neighbors finally grew curious and, peeping through his shuttered windows, they saw Alessandro seated alongside the dead body of the woman, affectionately holding her hand. The police were informed and Alessandro was arrested.

Said to Have Too Many Wives

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 31.—George W. Boarden, aged 35, employed by a local express company as driver, was arrested as a fugitive from justice for officers of Binghamton, N. Y. It is alleged that Boarden was named as corespondent in a divorce suit brought by Fred Clark at Catskill and at that time a woman living in Buffalo and another living in Auburn came forward and claimed Boarden was their husband. Boarden has been living in Lynn for the past two years with Nora E. Baker, whom he married in 1904 at Binghamton.

Maximoffsky's Slayer Executed

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The warrant for the execution of Mlle. Ragozinnikova, who on Oct. 28 shot and killed General Maximoffsky, director of the department of prisons of the ministry of the interior, was signed yesterday by General Hazenkampf, chief of the St. Petersburg military district, in spite of Maximoffsky's wishes, expressed before he died, that the young woman be not executed. She was hanged last night.

Indictments Against Hitchcock

New York, Oct. 31.—A general police alarm was sent out last night for the arrest of Raymond Hitchcock, the actor, against whom the grand jury returned six indictments for criminal assault and abduction, after hearing the testimony of three little girls. Hitchcock has been starring at a Broadway theatre, but did not appear at the matinee yesterday, and it was stated that he had dropped from the cast.

An Interesting Development

New York, Oct. 31.—For the first time since the murder of the rug merchant, Tavshanjian, it was declared under oath yesterday that Bedros Hampartzoomian, the defendant, had been acquainted with Fr. Martoogessian, who is under arrest on a charge of extortion and who is alleged to be a leader of the Hunchakist society.

Contest For University Rectorship

London, Oct. 31.—Contrary to expectations, neither Andrew Carnegie nor Lord Avebury has withdrawn his candidacy for the rectorship of St. Andrews university, Scotland, although the time for taking such a step expired last night. The election is to be held Nov. 1, and it will be the first contest of its kind in 12 years.

Mail Carriers as Census Takers

Pittsburg, Oct. 31.—Mail carriers, under direction of Postmaster Davis, have completed a house-to-house canvass of Pittsburg, which shows the population of the city proper to be 393,748 and of the postoffice district 461,319.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Joseph Kelly, manager of this year's Toronto Eastern League Ball club, has been engaged as manager of the Boston Nationals for next year.

The Friend Paper company of West Carrollton, O., has been placed in the hands of a receiver.

King Victor Emmanuel announces that he will present a cup for an international dirigible balloon competition to be held at Turin in 1911.

The clubhouse of the Hudson Rowing club at New York was destroyed by fire. Rowing shells and highly prized trophies were burned. The loss will total $25,000.

STRIKE MAY SPREAD

Many Mill Workers Out Because of Discharge of Second Hand

Lawrence, Mass., Oct. 31.—The discharge of Fred Hardy, a second hand, precipitated a strike of more than 1500 operatives at the Arlington mills, and others of the 7000 hands employed there threaten to join the strikers if the demands are not granted. Among the strikers are weavers from the room in which the second hand was employed, loomfixers and warp-dressers, many of them women and girls. They demand the reinstatement of Hardy and the discharge of Overseer Boulton.

A meeting of the strikers was held, at which a grievance committee was appointed to seek a conference with William D. Hartshorne, the agent of the Arlington mills. It is asserted that the discharge of the second hand was brought about through Boulton, who succeeded Hardy's father as overseer of the weaving department some months ago. Boulton came here from New Bedford. The strikers declare that since his arrival the work of the weaving department has been increased without any corresponding increase of pay.

Agent Hartshorne is understood to be firm in his refusal to grant the demands, saying that Hardy was discharged for cause and that Boulton is here to stay.

Gigantic Guns For Warships

London, Oct. 31.—It was rumored here recently that the new British battleships of the Dreadnought type were to have 13.5-inch instead of 12-inch guns. It was known that such guns were being constructed. It now appears, however, that they are for the two Brazilian battleships, the orders for which have been placed with the Armstrongs. It is declared that the piercing power of the shells thrown by these great guns will be greater than that of any others now in use.

Hunting For Convention Building

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Acting Chairman New of the Republican national committee spent yesterday listening to arguments in favor of holding of the national convention here next year and inspecting various buildings which are considered suitable for the purpose. "There was no contest in the 1904 convention," said New, "but there will be in the next one, with the probability of a much larger attendance. We want a building capable of seating 14,000 persons."

Shower of Human Flesh

Canonsburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—Fragments of human bodies, peppered with particles of rocks and earth, fell in a shower over the little town of Gwendolin, when 500 pounds of dynamite exploded with a terrific report. Four men were torn to pieces and six others received injuries. Little is known of the exact cause of the explosion, but a passer-by just before the accident occurred says a small fire had been lighted, presumably to warm the dynamite.

Society Woman Gets Divorce

New York, Oct. 31.—An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted by Supreme Court Justice Davis to Mrs. Natalie Schenck Collins from her husband, Charles G. Collins. The couple became acquainted at the home of George Gould at Lakewood, N. J. They were married in 1904 in California and started on a tour of the world. They parted at Honolulu. They have a son 15 months old. Natalie Schenck was well known in Newport society.

Grosscup Again In the Limelight

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Federal Judge Grosscup was served with a warrant charging him with manslaughter. Grosscup is a director in the electric railway at Mattoon, Ills., on which a number of persons recently were killed in a collision. Other officers and directors of the electric line have also been arrested. Grosscup was prepared to furnish a bond of $5000.

Couple Robbed While Asleep

Attleboro, Mass., Oct. 31.—Paul Prew, who resides at 36 South Main street, reports that about midnight a burglar entered the bedroom where he and his wife were asleep and took a pocketbook from the chiffonier and a purse from beneath Mrs. Prew's pillow. Mr. and Mrs. Prew had about $700, which they recently drew from a bank, concealed in the room.

Too Much For Longboat

Toronto, Oct. 31.—Tom Longboat, the Indian runner, did not finish his run of 43½ miles from Hamilton to Toronto yesterday. He left Hamilton at 12:40 p. m. and made good progress until he reached Oakville, 20 miles from here. He then began to show signs of distress and finally collapsed four miles from his destination. It was then 5:58 o'clock.

Aground In the St. Lawrence

Halifax, Oct. 31.—A dispatch received here says that steamship Montreal, Antwerp to Montreal, ran aground in the St. Lawrence at Lake St. Peter. No particulars of the accident have been received.

Long-Standing Record Broken

Philadelphia, Oct. 31.—On the Point Breeze race track, Ed Bryan, 2:17, owned by Mayor Reyburn of this city, trotted five miles to wagon in 13:03, lowering the world's record of 13:16, made in 1863 by Filmore.

The Weather Forecast

The Observations In the Daily Walk

The last day of October.

J. W. Pratt advertises several estates for sale.

There are rumors that one of the Republican candidates may withdraw.

Solomon Hall of Dorchester is visiting his sister, Mrs. Fred A. Gross of West Elm avenue.

Washington Street church choir rehearsals are now held every Thursday evening at 7.30.

The public schools will be closed on Friday because of the Norfolk County Teachers convention.

Miss Viola Bicknell of Hingham was the guest Wednesday, of Miss Amelia Linnell of Davis street.

The Quincy High football team is having an at-home game today with Brookline High.

It is reported that Sonoma Girl has won $26,000 for Miss Lotta Crabtree in the short time she has owned her.

Four of the Francis A. Spear's mammoth lemons are on exhibition in the show window at Johnson Bros. market.

The many friends of Mrs. Cora Johnson of Kendrick avenue are sorry to learn that she is confined to her home by sickness.

Mrs. Ida Brown, County president of the W. C. T. U., is to address the 7.30 service at the Point church, Friday evening of this week.

The Dorcas society are to give a Hallowe'en supper and social this evening in the vestry of the Universalist church on Washington street.

Rev. A. R. Atwood read a paper on Infant Baptism at Brockton on Tuesday, before the Congregational Ministerial Association of Norfolk County.

Mrs. Charles Winslow, and Miss Lilla Emerson of Pawtucket, R. I., are visitors for one week at the home of Mrs. Charles Field of 43 Pleasant street.

The social committee of the Y. S. C. E. of the Point church, gave a favorable report, at a recent meeting. Also the Outlook committee. Several have joined the society of late.

Chester Brown, cornet, Albion Bonney, violin, and Mr. Goodfellow, flute, with Miss Helen Lincoln, pianist, assisted in the gospel praise service at the Point church Sunday evening.

The Granite avenue bridge, from Dorchester to Milton, will be closed to all traffic except foot passengers at 8 A. M. Oct. 30, 1907, for a period of ten days, or until the necessary repairs are made.

Patrick Dolan, one of O'Keefe's drivers, was picked up in Milton Wednesday night in a bad shape of intoxication. When searched at the police station over $200 was found tucked away in his pockets. In court he was fined fifty cents, the costs in the case.

The Phi-Phi-Phi club of Wollaston Park and Downs gave a very pretty dancing party Tuesday evening in Colonial hall, Quincy. There were twenty couples present, many of the guests coming from Arlington, Winthrop, Dorchester and Boston. Mrs. Gaffney of Dorchester and Mrs. Elisha Atkins of Bromfield street, Wollaston Park, were the matrons. The hall looked very pretty, decorated with yellow and green; all the corners were made cozy with couch covers and sofa pillows. The stage was decorated with palms. Punch was served.

One of the strongest elements that must be reckoned with in the coming caucuses is the Ward Three Independent club.

Chief of Police Pierce of Milton is after smelts toff Houghs Neck today, and anticipates making a good catch.

A Boston dispatch on page two today shows that the suicide of Dr. Albert C. Day of Roxbury comes near home, as he leaves a widow and child at Norfolk Downs.

Friday night there will be a meeting of the boy's cabinet of the Y. M. C. A., when committees will be formed and plans for winter arranged.

A man under the influence of liquor created quite a little excitement on Whitwell street, Wednesday, by chasing another man with a knife. No arrests have been made as yet.

The yacht Pocohontas of Dr. Merrill, stolen from Wollaston some days ago, has been heard from. She is hard and fast on the rocks off Edgartown. From what can be learned she was sailed there by two young men.

Miss A. Maud Briggs of Appleton street lost her watch Tuesday morning on the way to the train. The gift was treasured as it was presented to Miss Briggs, for being valedistorian at Quincy High school. Mr. Sampson, principal of the Quincy school was notified of the loss so that he might instruct the pupils to keep their eyes open. Through this medium the watch was found on Walker street and returned to Miss Briggs who was delighted to recover her property.

Ex-Councilmen As Candidates

Rumor says that the candidates for the City Council from Ward Five will be Councilmen W. H. Hull and Vernon S. Brokaw, ex-Councilmen Richard R. Freeman, Eugene H. Sprague and Charles A. McFarlane, ex-Mayor Charles M. Bryant and ex-Tax Collector A. L. Baker.

Newsy Budget From the Shipyard

The engines of the collier Malden were hoisted in Wednesday by the big crane, under the direction of Foreman-Rigger Charles Pearson. She will be ready for her trial about Nov. 20.

Lieut.-Commander Roger Welles, U. S. N., inspector of equipment at Fore River, returned today from his vacation, much refreshed by his stay in the salubrious atmosphere of the White Mountains.

Walter E. Adams has resigned from the Fore River service and Nov. 1 will assume charge of the publicity department of a large Boston corporation.

A Newport dispatch on page two today shows that the submarine Tarantula built at Quincy exceeded her contract speed.

Mayor Thompson Signs Ordinance

Mayor Thompson has signed the order amending the fire department ordinance, giving the permanent men one day off at the end of every seventh day, instead of one day off at the end of every ninth day. This with an annual vacation of two weeks gives the permanent firemen 58 holidays in the year.

Progressive Whist.

Seven tables were in play at the weekly whist tournament at the Granite City club rooms on Wednesday evening. Twenty five hands of progressive whist were played and some good scores were made. Tom Smith was high liner and E. E. Morgan second, both securing over 70 plus. They were given souvenirs as reminders of their skill, and may be expected to hold nightly smoke talks in the near future with their new briers. At the conclusion of play an appetizing lunch consisting of shrimp salad, hot rolls, crackers, cheese and hot coffee were served. Another good lunch is promised for next week.

At a recent meeting of the directors of Quincy Cooperative Bank a semi-annual dividend at the rate of five and one-fourth percent was declared. Shares in the 38th series are now for sale as per advertisement. Nineteen years of uninterrupted success shows this bank as one proper place to interest those who do not choose to speculate and take chances with their savings.

How Quincy Broke the Record On the License Vote of 1906.

Quincy's vote on the License question last year was a record breaker in many ways:

1—It was the first time the majority against license has exceeded 2,000.

2—It was the first time the No vote has exceeded 3,000.

3—It was the first time since 1892 that the Yes vote has been less than 1,000.

4—The silent vote was the smallest 1899.

5—Every precinct of the city voted against licenses.

6—It was the 26th consecutive time that the voters of Quincy have declared emphatically against licenses.

7—But two cities in Massachusetts gave a larger majority against licenses, and they have many more voters.

The following summary shows the vote of Quincy since the present Local Option law went into effect:

| Year. | | No. | Yes. | Total. | Majority. | Silent. |

The Other Side.

Mrs. Holbrook of Houghs Neck says great injustice was done her by the newspaper reports of the mixup at Houghs Neck. She says she did not fall over a pail of water and wrench her wrist, but that Mrs. Brown struck at her forehead with a heavy hammer that she carried around with her for the purpose of driving stakes in the ground to hitch her cow. In saving her forehead, Mrs. Holbrook got the blow on her arm which is badly broken, and which now causes her suffering.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

NORFOLK, ss. Probate Court.

TO the next of kin and all other persons interested in Edward J. Ford, Anna L. Ford, Constance M. Ford and Mary R. Ford, of Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, minors:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Daniel J. Ford of Quincy, in the County of Norfolk, praying for the appointment of himself, or some other suitable person as guardian of said minors.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Quincy, in said County of Norfolk, on the thirteenth day of November, A. D. 1907, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why a guardian should not be appointed as aforesaid.

And said petitioner is hereby directed to give notice thereof, to the next of kin of said minors, and others interested, by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Quincy Daily Ledger, a newspaper published in Quincy, the last publication to be one day at least before said Court, or by delivering a copy thereof to the said next of kin, at least seven days before said Court.

Witness, James H. Flint, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this twenty-ninth day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven.

Hallowe'en At The Y. M. C. A.

The usual "stunts" of Hallowe'en made fun for fifty boys at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night. Bobbing for apples, crackers and water eating, a peanut race, blowing the candle, etc., occupied an hour and a half of sport A committee of older boys had the program in charge, and served pumpkin pie and other refreshments furnished by some of the boys' mothers after the sports. Two good ghost stories were told by Principal W. H. Bentley of the Coddington school around the open fire down stairs ended the fun.

Ten boys entered the jack o'lantern contest. The faces were as varied and grotesque as at a country fair. Walter Morrison won first prize with a boy's face cut out of a turnip. The booby prize went to Kendall Doble.

All Saints' Day.

All Saints' day, Friday, November 1, at Christ church will be commemorated by the celebration of the holy communion at 9 o'clock in the morning. This day is becoming more and more recognized as the most appropriate time for all Christian people to remember those who have died.

The service at Christ church is open to those who desire to come into communion with someone waiting for them on the other side, someone with whom they will be glad to meet someone whose memory is dear to them. Each year the rector is emphasizing the universalty of this invitation and many are accepting it.

Unwelcome Lodger.

A woman who gave her name as Emma Nicholson wandered into Milton from the Boston side Wednesday afternoon. She was considerably under the influence of liquor and wanted to sleep.

She was not particular in whose house she slept and coming to a house, she opened the door, walked up stairs, disrobed and went to bed. The family who occupied the house had decided objections, and besides they did not run a lodging house.

The police were called in and the woman finished her sleep in the police station. In the Quincy court she was told to contribute $20 or go to jail. Circumstances obliged her to accept the latter.

TODAY'S COURT.

Patrick Dolan was fined fifty cents for drunkenness at Milton.

Harry Ruggles was arraigned for assault on John D. Sargent at Quincy. Case continued until Nov. 9.

Emma Nicholson was fined $20 for trespass at Milton. A complaint for drunkenness was placed on file.

FEGGS AGAIN IN BOSTON

Suburbs Also Receive Visits From Professional Thieves

Boston, Oct. 30.—Driven back to the city by the approach of cold weather, a horde of yeggmen, second-story workers, sneak thieves and hold-up men have been at work in Boston and the surrounding section.

Burglaries are of nightly occurrence, hold-ups are frequent, and the police blotters are filled with petty larcenies, all of which tend to prove that Boston is experiencing its annual winter visit from denizens of the under world.

Brookline, Winchester and this city were the places yesterday where the members of the gangs got in their work, and thousands of dollars' worth of loot was taken. There were three breaks at 31 Exchange street, in the bank district, which showed the work of clever professionals, and in one of the places entered the safe was blown open in true yegg fashion. The burglars evidently had secreted themselves inside the building, for the front door, which has a Yale lock, was found to be in its usual condition when the janitor opened the building.

Freight Train Thefts Charged

Winsted, Conn., Oct. 30.—Ralph Brown, a freight conductor, was arrested on the arrival of his train here and locked up on a charge of alleged theft. Several other trainmen are wanted on similar charges and more arrests are expected. It is alleged that valuable goods have been taken from the freight train during its run.

Town's Chief Industry Halts

Lincoln, Me., Oct. 30.—The Katahdin Box and Paper company's mill has shut down and 150 employes are thrown out of work. The employes recently formed a labor union which advocated making three shifts instead of two of the mill forces and the company objected. The mill is the chief industry of the town.

Portland to Chicago on Foot

Portland, Me., Oct. 30.—Planning to duplicate his feat of 40 years ago, of walking to Chicago, a distance of 1230 miles, in 26 days, Edward P. Weston started at 5 o'clock last night from Portland postoffice amid the cheers and good wishes of a thousand people who had gathered to see him start. He is 69 years of age.

Vacancy In Probing Committee

Boston, Oct. 30.—Samuel Tarr, a member of the finance commission which is investigating the management of the departments of the city of Boston, has resigned from the commission. Tarr was appointed to the commission by the chamber of commerce and that body will have the filling of the vacancy.

Trolleys In Rear-End Collision

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 30.—Two persons were injured in a rear-end collision of trolley cars between here and Salem last night, the accident being caused by slippery rails, due to leaves and mud on the tracks. All the passengers in both cars were more or less shaken up by the impact.

Steamer's Great Apple Cargo

Boston, Oct. 30.—When the steamer Saxonia sailed for Liverpool yesterday afternoon she carried in her hold 15,000 barrels of apples, the record shipment of apples to Europe on any one steamer.

Holiday of Union Miners

Hazleton, Pa., Oct. 30.—Mitchell day was observed in the Lehigh region by a complete shutdown of the mines, all union mine workers taking the day off. For the first time since 1900 the miners held no parade here to mark the successful close of the strike of that year.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 30.—Mitchell day was observed throughout the Wyoming valley and not a wheel was turned at any of the collieries. The usual general demonstration did not take place in this city.

Sacrificed Life For Others

Pittsburg, Oct. 30.—Michael Mason, employed at the Union station, this city, last night sacrificed his own life in saving three other persons from what seemed inevitable death. A man, woman and child, becoming confused in passing through the train sheds, got upon the tracks in front of an incoming train. Mason leaped to their side and threw them from the track to the platform at the side. He was crushed to death.

Mulai Disinclined to Fight

Rabat, Oct. 30.—The firm attitude adopted by Sultan Abd-el-Aziz and the despatch of troops to Mogador has produced a most profound impression and resulted in securing the adhesion of the tribesmen surrounding Mogador. The column under Mulai Hafid, the sultan of the south, which consists of only 800 men, is obviously disinclined to fight. The leaders show signs of wanting to open negotiations.

Thousands of Men Out of Work

Omaha, Oct. 30.—The annual reduction in the construction and improvement corps of the western railroads began yesterday, when the Union Pacific railroad discharged several thousand workmen. The approach of cold weather and the necessarily shorter hours caused the action, which is similar to steps taken each autumn in this section.

Dynamite Decimates Family

Stevens Point, Wis., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Nicholas Kitowski of Carson was blown to pieces by the explosion of a stick of dynamite that had been placed in the kitchen stove to dry. Three of her children were fatally injured. A fourth child was also struck by a piece of the stove, but will recover.

Brakeman Killed.

Cornelius B. De Boer, a freight brakeman on New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, was found dead on the railroad tracks near Hyde Park on Wednesday. It is supposed that he fell from a train. He was 22 years of age and made his home in Quincy.

—Latest popular sheet music received daily at La Croix, corner Hancock and School streets.
